Alabama

Political — 1934

Elections.

CLEVELAND, O.
PLAIN DEALER
JUN 16 1934

Alabama Punishes Judge.

Alabama does not forget. It carries its resentment to the ballot box.

Judge James E. Horton of the Circuit Court, running for renomination in this week's primary, was defeated. Back of his rejection is the story of Scottsboro and a judicial officer who dared do his duty against the prevailing sentiment of his district.

It was Judge Horton who presided in the second trial of Heywood Patterson, one of the Scottsboro defendants, and who, after Patterson had been condemned to death, set aside the verdict. He ruled the testimony of the prosecuting witness was not corroborated and bore "on its face indications of improbability and is contradicted by other evidence."

Three times Patterson has been condemned to death. Once the United States Supreme Court sent the case back for new trial. That Alabamans have been intent on sending the Scottsboro nine to the death chair was made apparent throughout the three trials. And now they turn on the judge who dared to follow his own convictions and to insist on justice in spite of the unthinking clamor of his fellow citizens, and vote to retire him to private life.

The country knows little about Judge Horton, except for what he did in June of last year in setting aside Patterson's death sentence. Instinctively, however, it admires courage on the bench. It is one of the weaknesses of an elective judiciary that it tends to make cowards of judges. Obviously, it did not make Judge Horton one, however.

Patterson has since for a third time been condemned to death in the Scottsboro case. Alabama needs more judges like Horton, not fewer.

Athens, Ala., Democrat
June 14, 1934

JUDGE HORTON'S DEFEAT

The defeat of Judge James E. Horton Tuesday for re-election as circuit judge for no other reason than his action in the Scottsboro case will, we fear, harm Alabama much more than it will the man himself. It will emblazon to the world that the eighth circuit is actuated in selecting its chief judicial official, at least to some extent, by prejudice. This is not good advertising for Alabama in the world at large. It may punish the man for his independence, but it may likewise do much more harm to the state.

Judge Horton, here in Limestone where he was born and reared, today has the esteem, the respect and love of his fellowmen in greater degree than at any time in his whole life. His friends would rather see him go down in defeat because he had the courage and independence to do what he believed to be right than to see him victorious with the guilty knowledge in his own soul that he had failed to measure up to the high standard which he has set for himself as a jurist and man.

Birmingham, Ala., Age-Herald
June 19, 1934

Explaining Horton's Defeat

Elsewhere on this page is a letter from R. D'S. Robertson, Jr., of Cullman, who undertakes to assure us that it was the fact that his county had not contributed a single judge to the Eighth Judicial Circuit for 60 years which elected Mr. Griffith and defeated Judge Horton. The latter's connection with the Scottsboro cases had nothing to do with this development, we are told, since neither Mr. Griffith nor his supporters had urged that as an issue. The only thing which was considered by the voters of the circuit was whether Cullman County was entitled to its place in the sun. That is what Mr. Robertson contends, and he backs up his assertion with a circular letter distributed by friends of Mr. Griffith in which there appears not one word about the Scottsboro cases.

It may be that our correspondent is a naive person who believes that he has made out his case. But to an observer not so close to the field of action, it is clear that Judge Horton would have had no opposition if he had not rendered the famous decision. To an observer aware of the feeling aroused by this decision, it is equally clear that any opponent would "cash in" on such sentiment, without saying a word about the matter. Since the only complaint ever registered against Judge Horton from any quarter grew out of what he did at Decatur, it is evident that it was that which caused his defeat.

Birmingham, Ala.

South Alabama Supplies All The New State Officials

Atticus Mullin has an article in The Montgomery Advertiser which bears the heading, "South Alabama Skimmed Off the Cream in All State Races." In it The Advertiser's political writer points out that North Alabama came out badly in the recent primaries, and that, in fact, South Alabama candidates were nominated for every contested place on the state ticket from governor down.

6-23-34

This is hardly news, for the fact has already been widely noticed over the state, but Mr. Mullin's article is an interesting discussion of the circumstance that North Alabama, notwithstanding that it has the preponderance of the vote, did not elect a single state official.

South Alabama supplies the next governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor, commissioner of agriculture, attorney general and the two associate members of the Alabama Public Service Commission. Where a North Alabama candidate contested with a South Alabamian for any office he was badly beaten. Col. Graves, of Montgomery, defeated Frank Dixon, of Birmingham, for governor by more than 20,000 votes. Thomas E. Knight, Jr., of Hale County, piled up a large majority over Thomas W. Wert, of Morgan County, for lieutenant governor. Incidentally, the fact is not mentioned by Mr. Mullin, but Mr. Knight received the largest vote that any candidate with opposition had ever polled in Alabama, up to that time. Col. Graves' total in the June 12 primary surpassed Mr. Knight's mark.

Howell Turner, of Wilcox County, defeated his Jefferson County opponent for secretary of state in the first primary, and then in the run-off emerged victorious over his other opponent, from West Alabama. Judge Charles McCall, of Choctaw, had no opposition for state auditor, nor did Bob Goode, of Wilcox, have an opponent for commissioner of agriculture. John Brandon, of Montgomery, won easily over his North Alabama opponent, Paul Taylor, of Birmingham, for state treasurer. Albert Carmichael, of Geneva, far outdistanced his North Alabama opponent, Coleman Shepherd, of Walker County, for attorney general, and in fact received a clear majority over two opponents in the first primary.

In the Public Service Commission races, Frank Morgan, of Montgomery, disposed of his North Alabama opponent, James Bowman, in the first primary, and then in the run-off easily defeated his other opponent, Harry Hartwell, of Mobile, while Fitzhugh Lee, of Barbour County, was successful over his opponent in the first primary.

Not only did South Alabama in general come out 100 per cent on top, but the Black Belt in particular fared especially well. Black Belt candidates won out for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, commissioner of agriculture, and for one of the Public Service Commission places.

According to Mr. Mullin, a trifle more than 65 per cent of the voters of Alabama reside north of a line drawn east and west through the state and passing through Calera, in Shelby County. Thus North Alabama, if it ever decided to do so, he says, could easily outvote South Alabama in any election.

"Political observers," Mr. Mullin writes, "long ago reached the conclusion that the citizens of North Alabama are not politically-minded like the citizens of South Alabama. That is, they are not politically-minded in so far as state offices are concerned. They have hot county politics in every North Alabama county, but when the county politics is disposed of, the interest in state politics does not run high."

Of course, North Alabama has furnished the state with governors and other state officials, but it has not done so in the last few years. Thomas E. Kilby was the last governor from the northern portion of the state. Gov. Comer and Gov. O'Neal, both from North Alabama, preceded Gov. Henderson, a South Alabamian. After Gov. Kilby came Gov. Brandon, from West Alabama, and then Gov. Graves and Gov. Miller, both South Alabamians and Black Belters.

"Just why North Alabama politicians do not generally seek state office, and when they do they usually get defeated, is a problem hard to solve," Mr. Mullin concludes. "The votes are there, but somehow they cannot be garnered when voting time comes, that is by North Alabama candidates."

The situation is a puzzling one, for a fact. Offhand, one would think that the section having the larger vote would put its candidates in office in the greater number of instances. But that has not been true in Alabama.

A number of possible reasons for this might occur to anyone well versed in Alabama politics. As one reason, Mr. Mullin mentions the assumption that North Alabama is not "politically-minded," where state offices are concerned. If that is true, it is unfortunate—not necessarily because North Alabama candidates are not elected, but because it is regrettable if the section having the majority of the voters is not as much interested in state affairs as it should be.

Theoretically, at least, it would be better for the state as a whole if North Alabama had a greater and a more consistent representation in the state offices. For as things have been most of the time in recent years, and as they are now, the South Alabama viewpoint and interests are overwhelmingly dominant in the state's affairs.

In view of the geographical division of the state into the northern and southern parts, it might be that Alabama will one day come to adopt the device which is employed in a number of states to equalize political representation and responsibility. That device consists in having one section of a state having two broad divisions elect a governor one time, and the other section the next. In states where this practice is followed, a candidate from one section will not offer for governor when it is time for the other section to elect a man. In North Carolina, which extends a great length east and west, and which is roughly divided into the eastern and western portions for political purposes, Eastern North Carolina will elect a governor one time, and Western North Carolina the next. Similarly, in Vermont, which is divided by the Green Mountains, a governor is elected from one side of the mountain range one time, and from the other side the next.

The News does not mean to advocate the adoption of such a plan in Alabama, but is merely calling attention to how the problem is solved in some other states. Obviously, it has some advantages. But also it might have its disadvantages, such as promoting too great a feeling of sectionalism. Also, there are times when a candidate is so outstanding that he should be elected governor, no matter from what part of the state he comes. At the same time, however, the idea should not prevail that one section of the state is always lacking in acceptable gubernatorial timber.

ALABAMA WANTS NO JUST JUDGE

Alabama is at least consistent when refuses to reelect Judge Horton, the Decatur judge who granted the Scottsboro boys a new trial. There was nothing else for an intelligent man to do. The United States Supreme Court had held that the Scottsboro trial was not lawful because public opinion directed the verdict; the conditions in Decatur repeated those at Scottsboro; the evidence, if anything, was weaker, because one of the principal witnesses testified that her evidence in the first case was perjured. Judge Horton like a just judge, simply did his duty.

But Alabama does not want the Scottsboro boys to be tried according to law any more than it wanted them to get justice. Alabama lusts for blood. All along, pending the final disposition of their case, it has made their imprisonment not that of accused persons held for trial, but of condemned persons undergoing the penalty of their deeds. But even at that we had hoped that Alabama, bereft as it is of all kindliness, would still be intellectually honest.

In our discussion of the awful cost America pays for race prejudice we say elsewhere on this page, that even the most ideal states suffer for the way in which certain states violate the spirit of the Constitution. Here is Alabama defying the supreme court's plain command to try these Scottsboro boys fairly. That state gives them a second judicial lynching and then drives from the public service the one man in the judiciary courageous enough to tell it of its own. Every American bears part of the shame for this deliberate refusal to obey the highest court in the land.

An English law violator, who in a moment of passion used a pistol against a policeman, knew he outraged English public opinion and committed suicide rather than take the chance of being brought to trial. Alabama rings the court around with would-be lynchers when the Scottsboro boys go to trial, and not a single dominant white group, church, business or otherwise, can shame it into outward conformity with the Constitution.

Law violation is a fixed condition in the United States. It makes heroes of gangsters, and writes epics about night riders. Having permitted Alabama to apologize for disfranchisement on the ground that it maintained white domination though the census proved all along that Negroes were only a minority of the population, the American public has to swallow every thing that state does.

The Scottsboro boys are martyrs. They may have to die as the price of arousing the nation to the injustices committed in states like Alabama. It is a thought to make one shudder, but out of such sacrifices Providence has brought its most amazing advances in the social order. If the men who fought at Gettysburg did not die in vain, as Lincoln said, perhaps these boys, too, will serve a great purpose.

South Alabama Highly Favored In Recent Election Of State Officers

Look At This List — All From South Alabama—Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, Commissioner of Agriculture, Attorney General and the last two members of the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Monroe N. Work, Ed. Negro Year Book 8-18-34

Montgomery, Ala., June 20. —South Alabama candidates were nominated in every contested place on the State ticket from Governor down.

North Alabama came out badly in the recent State primary when a North Alabama candidate contested with a South Alabama candidate for any office in the last primary, he was badly beaten. Col. Graves of Montgomery County defeated Frank Dixon of Jefferson handily for Governor. Thomas E. Knight, Jr., of Hale County, ran roughshod over Thomas E. Wert of Morgan for Lieutenant Governor, Howell Turner, of Wilcox badly defeated his Jefferson County opponent for Secretary of State, and in the runoff defeated his West Alabama opponent. Judge Charles McCall of Choctaw had no opposition for Auditor and the same thing was true of Bob Goode of Wilcox for Commissioner of Agriculture. John Brandon of Montgomery easily defeated his North Alabama opponent Paul Taylor, of Birmingham, for Treasurer. Albert Carmichael of Geneva ran far ahead of his North Alabama opponent Coleman Shepherd of Walker for Attorney General, and in fact received a majority in the first primary against two opponents.

For the Public Service Commission Frank Morgan of Montgomery easily disposed of his North Alabama opponent Jimmie Bowman in the first primary and then piled up a huge lead over his South Alabama opponent in the runoff. Fitzhugh Lee, of Barbour, defeated his opponent in the first primary.

And the Blackbelt of Alabama fared well in the primary. The next Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Commissioner of Agriculture and one member of the Alabama Public Service Commission are not only from South Alabama but are citizens of the Blackbelt as well.

A trifle more than 65 per cent of the voters of Alabama reside North of a line drawn East and West through the State and passing through Calera in Shelby County. North Alabama if it ever decides to do so, could easily out-vote South Alabama in any election.

Political observers long ago reached the conclusion that the citizens of North Alabama are not politically minded like the citizens of South Alabama. That is they are not politically minded insofar as State officers are concerned. They have hot county politics in every North Alabama county but when the county politics are disposed of, the interest in State politics does not run high.

North Alabama has furnished Alabama with Governors and other State officers. But in the last few years it has not done so. Governor Kilby was the last Governor from what might be termed North Alabama. Governor Comer and O'Neal of North Alabama preceded Gov. Henderson of South Alabama in the Governor's chair.

Just why North Alabama politicians do not generally seek State office and when they do they usually get defeated, is a problem hard to solve. The votes are there but somehow they cannot be garnered when voting time comes, that is by North Alabama candidates.

Political -1934
Elections.

Alabama

Penalizing Greatness of Character

INSTEAD of admiring him for the able, courageous, learned, and justice-loving jurist that he is, Alabamans in Judge JAMES E HORTON's judicial district have voted three to two against him, thereby defeating him for renomination to the Circuit Court bench, for no other reason than that he rendered a decision in the celebrated Scottsboro case completely out of line with the hatred-twisted majority opinion of his benighted state.

When the managing editor of this paper went to Decatur in March-April, 1933, to cover the then current trial of the Scottsboro boys, he wrote in one of his dispatches: "My impression of Judge HORTON (after a week of observation) is that he is well versed in the law and as he sees it is trying carefully to administer it justly." On his return from Alabama he confessed to the editor that he had felt uncertain about the public reception of his estimate of the Alabama judge, and was fearful that those who read it would jeer: "No Alabama judge is giving those boys a fair trial!" But he had ample proof of the correctness of his estimate during the balance of the trial and some weeks subsequent to its conclusion, when Judge HORTON reversed the conviction of HAYWOOD PATTERSON and declared that not only was there reasonable doubt of his guilt—which should itself have resulted in his acquittal—but that the evidence itself gave more proof of PATTERSON's innocence than of his guilt.

JUDGE HORTON

In this decision the Lincolnesque jurist not only exhibited his moral courage and intellectual power, but his determination to ignore very powerful precedent, by which lawyers and judges are so frequently guided; for his decision was even counter to the findings of the Alabama Supreme Court, the highest tribunal in his state, when the cases were appealed to it following the first trials in Scottsboro.

Before the Scottsboro trial at which he presided, Judge HORTON was a respected, revered, and admired man, a veteran lawyer and a judge for ten years. His calmness and impartiality in the heat of the passions surrounding the sordid case were constant, and in the country at large his reputation grew in stature because of the lucidity and cogency of his verdict-reversing decision. He knew what awaited him, so when resentment and even threats were directed at him in Alabama he indicated his intention to retire at the end of his term of office.

The bar association of Athens, his home town, prevailed upon him to run again, however. What beat Judge HORTON was not lack of qualification for the office but the voters, who were swayed by prejudice and hate, rather than reason and fairness, the same low passions which have beset the Scottsboro case throughout. In defeat such as this is greater spiritual satisfaction than in victory.

It may be that we are hoping for too much, but we feel that this repudiation of a great judge will be a challenge to the better element of people in Alabama to drive out the demagogues and demand that justice be done to all men and that men like Judge HORTON be honored and not penalized for living up to their qualities of greatness. So far civilization has taken an awful beating in Alabama at the hands of barbarity.

White Counties And Blackbelt To Renew Fight

Advertiser 6-27-34

Reapportionment Looms Again As Major Issue In Legislative Program

Graves Pledged It

But No Plan Satisfactory To All Sides Has Ever Been Brought Forward

By ATTICUS MULLIN.

With reapportionment expected to be a major problem when the next Legislature convenes, it is not so easy to solve as it appears and the member of the Legislature who draws a reapportionment bill that is fair to every county will go down in history as another Solomon.

During the last gubernatorial campaign the three candidates for Governor in the first primary promised reapportionment. In the second primary both Col. Graves and Frank Dixon promised reapportionment, Col. Graves on population and Mr. Dixon on the basis of population and area of the counties of the State.

Those who have studied the inequalities of the present method of legislative apportionment and who admit it should be changed, express the opinion that neither a bill to reapportion the State on the basis of population or on the basis of population and area will stand much chance of passing.

The hidden bug in the reapportionment rug of course is Jefferson County. Jefferson County at the present time has nothing like the representation it should have, based either on population or the number of qualified voters. A plan of reapportionment based on population would give Jefferson County at least twice as many representatives as it now has, and perhaps more than twice as many. Jefferson now has one Senator and seven members of the House.

One method of reapportionment that might be adopted would be considerably to increase the number of members of the House. But this method would be opposed because the House is unwieldy now. The people generally do not look with favor on increasing either the number of House members or the number of Senators. Only last year the people of Alabama voted against a proposal to give each county in the State one Senator. They thought that would make the Senate an unwieldy body. The Senate is now composed of 35 members. The plan turned down by the people would have caused the Senate to be composed of 67 members.

It is freely predicted that whatever reapportionment plan is brought before the next Legislature, it will be bitterly assailed. And all of the opposition will not come from the blackbelt counties either. While some of the small blackbelt counties have more representation than counties more populous in other sections, the blackbelt counties are not willing for reapportionment by any plan which will throw them at the mercy of other counties.

And there are plenty of socalled "white counties" that will not be satisfied with any bill brought up to reapportion the State. Objections will be found to any measure that can be drawn and if reapportionment is brought to the front in the next Legislature and kept to the front, there will be a merry time before a bill is passed.

Montgomery County would not be affected by any reasonable plan for the reapportionment of the State, either through population or through population and area. Montgomery is not overrepresented. And neither is Mobile. As a matter of fact Mobile would pick up a member of the lower House in the event of a reapportionment bill's passage on a population basis.

Reapportionment would affect such counties as Wilcox, Macon, Bullock, Barbour, Marengo, and possibly Dallas Lowndes, Sumter and Perry. Some of the socalled "white counties" like Henry and Chambers would also most likely lose a House member in any reapportionment plan unless the number of House members were increased. So after all reapportionment presents a most difficult problem.

Montgomery, Ala. Journal
June 28, 1934

The Defeat of Judge Horton

Much is being said and written about the defeat of Judge James E. Horton for re-election in the Eighth judicial circuit. Many of those who are lamenting his defeat lay it to his setting aside a verdict in one of the famous Scottsboro cases. This criticism comes largely from people who do not know the two men who were in the contest. Judge Horton is a fine conscientious judge and we admire him for doing what he thinks is right regardless of public opinion, but when it comes to knowledge of the law and its interpretation, we doubt if he measures up to the man who defeated him. Quill Griffith is one of the best lawyers in Alabama. We doubt if Judge Horton himself would dispute that statement. Cullman county has been a member of that circuit for more than a half century and has never been honored with the judgeship, and has never had the solicitorship except one time and that was when W. E. James was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Solicitor Samples. As a matter of justice and fair play Cullman county was entitled to the judgeship this time, especially when she offered such an able man as Colonel Griffith. The fact that Judge Horton set aside a verdict didn't entitle him to re-election, and we do not consider that the people who cast their vote in that section on June 12 were passing on the correctness of the verdict in the Scottsboro case. They were exercising that American privilege of casting a true and honest ballot. The Scottsboro case may or may not have influenced the vote in the recent primaries, but in our judgment the judiciary of Alabama has not suffered by the elevation of A. A. Griffith to the bench.—From the Oneonta Southern Democrat, edited by Forney Stevens.

JUDGE HORTON DEFEATED

Judge James E. Horton, who set aside the lynch verdict of Heywood Patterson, one of the Scottsboro boys, has been defeated for reelection to the Circuit Court of his district by A. A. Griffith of Cullman, Ala. Judge Horton paid the penalty for deciding the Patterson case in keeping with what his conscience and the law dictated as justice and fair-play.

He refused to subordinate his higher spiritual ideals to the will of the mob. He refused to make a parody of the Constitution of his state and nation and for these reasons he was defeated. Nevertheless Judge Horton after all has won; he has won the higher admiration and respect of those who admire and respect the law. A. A. Griffith won the judgeship but with it goes the revolting conscience of those who elected him.

Judge-elect Griffith's success had its birth in sedition, violence and abhorrence of law and order. He begins his judicial career weighted down by the support of men whose conception of human rights is still undeveloped and who will expect him to act entirely in accord with their viewpoint. The task may be quite difficult for him to rise above the nauseating influences of his environment.

While Judge Horton has lost the office, he has won a place in the treasured memory and respectability of the judiciary of his country. The real loss is the loss sustained by the state of Alabama in losing a judge who asserted his superiority as shown by this decision, thus overcoming the brutalizing instincts made possible by inheritance from a slave-holding oligarchy.

Birmingham, Ala., News
June 22, 1934

TWO FINE ALABAMIANS WRONGED BY PREJUDICE

There are two men in Alabama who met a crisis in their professional lives, and because they obeyed their conscience and the dictates of right reason and maintained the integrity of their position, were trampled under foot by blind prejudice.

The first of these is Judge James E. Horton, who set aside a jury's verdict in the Scottsboro case and was defeated for reelection to the circuit judgeship by a majority of 2,500 votes. Although the case was not mentioned openly during the campaign, it was, according to all observers, the determining factor in the election. Morgan County, in which the trial was held, gave Judge Horton's opponent an overwhelming majority. Judge Horton during the long years he has been on the bench has distinguished himself by the efficiency of his work and the wisdom of his decisions, and his ability as a judge was not questioned during the campaign.

The other of the two men is Milo Moody, the oldest and most experienced member of the Scottsboro Bar. It was he who, after every other capable lawyer in his home town had refused, did his duty as a member of the legal profession and volunteered to defend the Negroes. He represented the defendants only a few days, refusing to have any connection with it after the International Labor Defense sent lawyers from New York. Reports are that Mr. Moody now has only a fraction of the practive which he had before the famous trial.

The fate of these two men is a blot on whatever reputation Alabama might have for fairness and broadmindedness. The question of the guilt or innocence of the Negroes is of minor importance. Whether the defendants were or were not guilty, these two men acted according to the highest principles of their profession—principles which must be maintained if justice is to prevail.

The actions for which they have been condemned were taken in the face of an aroused public opinion. Undoubtedly they knew what the consequences would be, yet they did not hesitate. Alabama should be proud of these two men who did the right thing, knowing what the cost would be.

According to The Huntsville Times, friends of Judge Horton have started a movement to have him appointed to a federal judicial post, and we agree with that newspaper that it would be an honor worthily bestowed if he should be given such a position.

Regarding Judge Horton's recent defeat, The Times says:

"Despite the excellence of his record on the bench, and the high order of moral courage displayed by him in the decision, the voters were determined to punish him for setting aside the verdict in one of the Scottsboro cases.

"It is to be hoped that the services of such an ornament to the judiciary will not long be lost."

The Selma Times-Journal sees in the defeat a telling argument for an appointive judiciary and it is easily seen how a conscientious judge can be punished by the voters for doing his duty in defiance of popular opinion.—Anniston Star.

ANNISTON, ALA.
STAR

JUN 20 1934

Two Fine Alabamians Wronged by Prejudice

There are two men in Alabama who met a crisis in their professional lives and because they obeyed their conscience and the dictates of right reason and maintained the integrity of their position were trampled under foot by blind prejudice.

The first of these is Judge James E. Horton who set aside a jury's verdict in the Scottsboro case and was defeated for reelection to the circuit judgeship by a majority of 2,500 votes. Although the case was not mentioned openly during the campaign, it was, according to all observers, the determining factor in the election. Morgan County in which the trial was held gave Judge Horton's opponent an overwhelming majority. Judge Horton during the long years he has been on the bench has distiguished himself by the efficiency of his work and the wisdom of his decisions, and his ability as a judge was not questioned during the campaign.

The other of the two men is Milo Moody, the oldest and most experienced member of the Scottsboro bar. It was he who, after every other capable lawyer in his home town had refused, did his duty as a member of the legal profession and volunteered to defend the negroes. He represented the defendants only a few days, refusing to have any connection with it after the International Labor Defense sent lawyers from New York. Reports are that Mr. Moody now has only a fraction of the practice which he had before the famous trial.

The fate of these two men is a blot on whatever reputation Alabama might have for fairness and broadmindedness. The question of the guilt or innocence of the negroes is of minor importance. Whether the defendants were or were not guilty, these two men acted according to the highest principles of their professions—principles which must be maintained if justice is to prevail.

The actions for which they have been condemned were taken in the face of an aroused public opinion. Undoubtedly they knew what the consequences would be, yet they did not hesitate. Alabama should be proud of these two men who did the right thing, knowing what the cost would be.

According to The Huntsville Times, friends of Judge Horton have started a movement to have him appointed to a Federal judicial post, and we agree with that newspaper that it would be an honor worthily bestowed if he should be given such a position.

Regarding Judge Horton's recent defeat, The Times says:

"Despite the excellence of his record on the bench, and the high order of moral courage displayed by him in the decision, the voters were determined to punish him for setting aside the verdict in one of the Scottsboro cases.

"It is to be hoped that the services of such an ornament to the judiciary will not long be lost."

The Selma Times-Journal sees in the defeat a telling argument for an appointive judiciary and it is easily seen how a conscientious judge can be punished by the voters for doing his duty in defiance of popular opinion.

SPARTANBURG, S. C.
JOURNAL

JUN 15 1934

Echo of Scottsboro Case

A victim of the recent election in Alabama was Judge James E. Horton of Athens, defeated for the judgeship of the eighth judicial district by A. A. Griffith. Judge Horton was the jurist who set aside the verdict in the "Scottsboro case" where some seven or eight negroes were found guilty of first degree murder for assaulting a white girl. The vote in the district stood: Griffith, 8,235; Horton, 6,206.

The Scottsboro case, says a Birmingham dispatch was not an issue in the race, "but it hovered in the background." No doubt about that, for in Morgan County, scene of the trial in 1933, Griffith secured commanding lead.

SELMA, ALA.
TIMES-JOURNAL

JUN 15 1934

AS OTHERS SEE US

The state of Alabama is so completely bankrupt that it cannot pay its school teachers and many of the public schools have been closed. One reason for this condition of affairs is plainly the administration of Bibb Graves as governor. This administration emptied the state treasury recklessly and left a deficit of many millions—a deficit that broke the back of the succeeding administration.

In Alabama last year a judge who tried one of the Scottosboro defendants later became convinced that an important part of the testimony on which the negro had been convicted was false. He promptly ordered the verdict set aside.

In Alabama primaries yesterday Bibb Graves was renominated for goevrnor and the judge who set aside the verdict was defeated. It is charged that the Ku Klux Klan has revived and has taken control of the state once more. At all events, it seems plain that Alabama likes a spendthrift governor and doesn't like a just judge. And what is to be done about Alabama we confess we don't know.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

Of course, attention might be called to the fac that two gruesome lynchings of negroes besmirch ed Maryland's recent history, but that would no palliate the indictment the Sun brings against us It would simply add to the sense of shame that a good citizens feel for the frailty of government.

The Ku Klux Klan is not being revived in Ala bama; it is as dead as the dodo. The Sun need no be permitted along that line. And hope still abideth We are not trying to penetrate the clouds that han over us, we are looking at the bow that shine through them. The mystery belongs to Providence the promise is ours.

CANTON, O.
REPOSITORY

JUN 18 1934

An Example To Judges

Judge James E. Horton, circuit judge of the eighth district, has been given a lesson by Alabama voters. His experience will serve as an example to other members of the judiciary.

In the Scottsboro case Judge Horton had a chance to build his political fences. By keeping an ear to the ground and heeding the will of his neighbors he probably could have assured himself a place for life. He refused.

Instead of drifting on the crest of public opinion he set himself resolutely against the mob and refused to send Heywood Patterson, one of the Scottsboro Negroes, to death. He set aside the jury's verdict of guilty because in his opinion the evidence was contradictory.

His courage and judicial honesty were hailed everywhere by Americans who agreed with him. Needless to point out, he was acclaimed by a great many persons who were capable of being just as unfair as most of Judge Horton's neighbors were. It is easier to see justice in the abstract when the case is being tried hundreds of miles away than when it is being tried in the next county seat.

There were some people in Alabama who stood by Judge Horton. Despite threats and insults directed against him, they believed he could be renominated and reelected. They persuaded him against his better judgment to enter the contest.

He was beaten soundly. Alabama had had enough of his kind of justice in cases where Negroes are affected. He acted as though he didn't understand how Alabama felt about Negroes. Judge Horton has had his lesson. An elective judiciary can be no better than the voters who elect it. He might have held his job had he been willing to cooperate with his constituents.

Political – 1934

Alabama

Elections

CINCINNATI, O.
ENQUIRER

JUN 15 1934

Judging Our Judges.

One of the many arguments against the popular election of Judges is illustrated in the recent primary elections in Alabama. Judge James E. Horton was a candidate for reelection. He was not considered by many of the voting public in terms of his record as a Judge, or in terms of his broad qualifications for the office. He was considered simply as the judicial officer who happened to conduct the famous "Scottsboro case."

Although his handling of that extremely difficult case was not satisfactory to Northern critics, his decision to set aside the death sentence six weeks after he had pronounced it was very unpopular in Alabama. Because he did not follow the most popular course, he was defeated at the polls. The vote is not in any way a measure of his competence. Neither does it take adequate account of his record in a great number of cases.

It is neither sound in theory nor workable in practice to provide an opportunity for the voting public to judge its major Judges. Inevitably, the spectacular case tried in a Court becomes the popular measure of a Judge. An unpopular decision, however sound in law and however just in equity, is a black mark against a Judge standing for reelection. There is likewise a constant temptation for every popularly elected judicial officer to temper justice with discretion, when popular feeling runs high in a case.

Judges in State Courts may properly be held accountable to some authority. Excepting on the Supreme Bench of the state and in Federal Courts, it may be that appointments for life are not desirable. But that does not need to mean that a Judge must administer the law and then submit his record to the emotional judgment of the voters. In Ohio it might be well to consider the advisability of revising our mode of choosing Judges, with a view to raising their status, removing them from the atmosphere of politics and protecting the rule of law from the hasty judgments of the voters.

JUDGE HORTON'S DEFEAT

The defeat of Judge James E. Horton Tuesday for reelection as circuit judge for no other reason than his action in the Scottsboro case will, we fear, harm Alabama much more than it will the man himself. It will emphasize to the world that the eighth circuit is actuated in selecting its chief judicial official, at least to some extent, by prejudice. This is not good advertising for Alabama in the world at large. It may punish the man for his independence, but it may likewise do much more harm to the state.

Judge Horton, here in Limestone where he was born and reared, today has the esteem, the respect and love of his fellow men in greater degree than at any time in his whole life. His friends would rather see him go down in defeat because he had the courage and independence to do what he believed to be right than to see him victorious with the guilty knowledge in his own soul that he had failed to measure up to the high standard which he has set for himself as a jurist and man.—Limestone Democrat (Athens).

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
ITEM

JUN 24 1934

THE SPEAKERSHIP AND SECTIONALISM

Colonel Bibb Graves, the next Governor, is quoted as saying that he thinks the Speakership of the House should go to a North Alabamian, since all of the Constitutional officers who will be inaugurated next January are South Alabamians.

This is a more or less natural opinion, in the circumstances, and yet, we are convinced, it would be a mistake to press it far.

We do not pretend to know how to explain why it is that "South" Alabamians gobbled up all of the Constitutional offices in the May and June primaries; we do not know why it is that that sort of thing happens oftener than not.

Certainly it is not because the people have any prejudice against North Alabamians, for they have not. It must be that middle and South Alabamians are more aggressive in seeking public office than the North Alabamians, possibly because they are poorer and need the offices worse.

That probably is a poor explanation, for come to think of it, practically every North Alabamian that The Advertiser knows is a politician. Apparently, however, the men in North Alabama do not cultivate South Alabama as assiduously as they might; they are not as well known down here as our boys are up there.

The truth is we don't know why the South Alabamians fare better in politics. All we know is that neither prejudice nor conscious injustice enters into the calculations of the voters.

The Advertiser would be very glad to see a North Alabamian win the Speakership, but it would regret to see him win solely because of his sectional affiliations. The Speaker should be a man who sees the State whole, a man who has had experience in legislation, who has intelligence and strength of character. It seems to The Advertiser that it does not matter greatly from what section or county such a man may come.

It is plain, however, that the dicta that only a North Alabamian should be elected will narrow the field of choice unduly. Such a rule would exclude men of the scope and character of Chauncey Sparks, of Barbour, and Earl McGowin, of Butler.

These gentlemen should not be beaten for the Speakership—in the event they should offer—solely because of their geographical situation. Neither should any North Alabamian fancy that he deserves the Speakership because of geography, with the planning of and history of which he had nothing to do.

This much is certain, however: If Colonel Graves has made up his mind that a South Alabamian shall not have the Speakership, no South Alabamian need offer.

Any new Governor can organize the House and name the Speaker. Only O'Neal and Miller have declined to intervene in that organization fight in recent years. All other Governors have named the Speaker. Graves can name the next Speaker if he wishes to do so, and if he is as wise a political leader as The Advertiser believes him to be he will name that official.

The Advertiser is free to say that it thinks the next Governor should feel free to take a hand in the Speakership contest. It hopes, however, that something besides sectional pride will be the issue.

There are just as many inferior politicians in North Alabama as in South Alabama, and "versa vica," as Jimmy Durante would say. It does not matter from what county or section a politician comes.

What does not matter will be found in his head and heart.

Disapproving Of Bibb

(New York Times)

ONE result of the Alabama primary on Tuesday has a national interest. Judge James E. Horton of Athens, circuit judge for the Eighth district, was beaten as a candidate for renomination. In June of last year he was respected and admired by the country in general. Amid the local passion about the trial of the Scottsboro Negroes his dignity, calmness and impartiality were constant. His opinion setting aside the verdict of guilty against Haywood Patterson as contrary to the weight of evidence was so lucid and cogent as to increase the high regard which he had already won.

His moral courage was worthy of his intellectual power. He knew what the consequences were likely to be. The air was full of threats to get even with him for doing his duty. At first he decided to leave the bench at the end of his present term. The bar association of Athens urged him to run again. It was hoped, rather than expected, that he would be renominated. He was beaten by voters who set prejudice and hate above reason and justice. Defeat for such causes is but another testimonial of honor.

Dear to sociologists and collectors, Bibb Graves turns up again, and his great name conquers. Governor from '27 to '31, he was of the straitest sect of prohibitionists. He venerated and was venerated by the hooded pontiffs of the K. K. K. In those glorious days that noble order was the government. It flogged everybody displeasing to its refined moral sense. In one Legislature Bibb prevented the passage of bills forbidding the Klansmen to wear their hoods in public. Later he threatened to scrimp the funds which the State Attorney General needed to lay the floggers by the heels. Hear an echo from that sweet time. The Grand Dragon writes to a smaller bigwig, believed to be an Exalted Cyclops, his confidence that the Governor "will lend us his full co-operation in the future as he has so nobly done in the past."

The Klan is done for. The noble co-operator won in the "run-off" Tuesday, and will be the next Governor—the first Governor in nearly a generation to get a second term. Such is the power of merit. Bibb is going to bring back "peace and prosperity" to Alabama. Proud and happy Alabama!

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
STATES
JUN 28 1934

Elective Judiciary

THE election in Alabama the other day offers strong evidence in support of those who contend against the wisdom of an elective judiciary.

Newspaper reports told of the defeat in the primary of Judge JAMES E. HORTON, a very able and competent member of the circuit bench. He was the victim of popular resentment against a courageous decision that a high sense of duty and fidelity to the law compelled him to render.

Judge HORTON was the presiding judge at the trial of HEYWOOD PATTERSON, one of the defendants in the noted Scottsboro case. In this trial, the jury rendered a verdict of guilty, with capital punishment. But His Honor set the verdict aside because the testimony of the prosecuting witness was not corroborated and bore on its face indications of improbability and was contradicted by other evidence.

The Scottsboro case involved an alleged attack on two girls of doubtful repute in a freight car by nine young negroes. One of the two girls repudiated her original testimony. Much of the evidence was of the most dubious character. Originally most of the defendants were convicted, obviously in response to public sentiment, created partly because of the color of the defendants, partly because negro organizations in the North and East raised funds to send indiscreet counsel to defend the cases and raise the color issue.

* * *

JUDGE HORTON believed the verdict was wholly unwarranted. Feeling so, he would have been recreant to his duty if he had not set it aside, whatever the consequences. But because he had the courage to take a stand against what in essence amounted to a demand for lynch law, the voters of his district rallied at the polls to unseat him, presumably in favor of another judge who would respect the sentiment of the mob.

Judge HORTON has paid a penalty for his uprightness, and the obligations to his oath. There are, of course, other jurists that are imbued with the same sense of honor as Judge HORTON. But it is inevitable that when judges, human like the rest of us, are dependent on the whims of voters for their retention on or removal from the bench, some at least will be influenced in their judgments by the clamor of the mob.

Democrats Win All Contests In Republican Chilton County

11-7-34

CLANTON, ALA., Nov. 6.—(Special)—Chilton County, a banner Republican county for years, yesterday gave its overwhelming approval to Democracy and the new deal, electing a complete slate of Democratic county officers.

With returns complete from 24 to 27 boxes in the county J. Lee Smith, the Democratic nominee for probate judge and storm center of the contest, had amassed a total of 2,350 votes to his opponent, J. Z. Mims's 1,796.

Only one Republican candidate stood a ghost of a chance of winning in returns to be counted from the remaining three boxes in the race for the county commission. This was J. P. Bean, who had 1,948 votes against J. R. Clements, his Democratic opponent's 2,061.

The victory was an occasion for tumultuous rejoicing in Clanton tonight.

The majority in the probate judgeship varied only slightly in the other races.

In the race for representative, C. B. Cox, the Democratic nominee, had 2,307 votes to 1,691 for Percy M. Pitts, who ran for reelection to the legislature.

E. C. Pattillo had 2,226 votes in the race for circuit clerk against H. A. Harris's 1,836 while J. R. Hardy had polled 2,459 in the race for sheriff against Dewey Hughes's 1,696.

In the tax collector's race, T. L. McKee had received 2,193 votes against W. G. Culp's 1,981, while A. D. Martin received 2,220 against 1,854 for Akin J. Collins in the race for tax assessor.

For superintendent of education, Luther E. Little was leading 2,230 to 1,769 for W. T. Bean, his opponent.

Howard Oden, Democratic nominee also had won over A. J. Davis for one of the two county commissioner's seats the vote being 2,249 to 1,775.

A. C. Nelson and J. Pope Payne, Democratic nominees for the board of education, had a lead of about 300 votes over their Republican opponents, D. S. Robinson and Pink Martin.

No Socialist or Communist votes were cast in Chilton County.

ELECTION DISORDERS.

In Hazelton, Penn., five Democrats were shot to death and 15 others were wounded as a Democratic parade marched by the house of a Republican leader.

It appears that local police had sufficient evidence against the Republican leader to place him in jail, charged with the shooting.

11-7-34

Yesterday a number of Negroes and whites were shot and two were killed when residents of Halland, Mo., objected because Negroes went to the polls to vote.

Shooting scrapes over political affairs are supposed to break out in the so-called hot-blooded South. But late yesterday afternoon no blood had been shed in Dixie, while coroners in the East were kept busy in several communities.

These election day disorders should be thoroughly investigated and the persons guilty of the shooting should be quickly and severely punished.

Americans can not settle political disputes with gunpowder.

Troops Ordered Into Fort Payne

11-12-34

Two Detachments Called Out By Col. Moon For Tuesday's Eventualities

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Nov. 11—(AP)—Col. Hartley A. Moon of the Alabama National Guard announced here today that two detachments of troops would be moved into Fort Payne, DeKalb County seat, to preserve order during a Grand Jury investigation of the election there Tuesday, which Republicans and Democrats both claim to have won.

Guardsmen from Gadsden, and Albertville will be moved into Fort Payne, but the definite hour of movement was not announced.

The order to mobilize 60 men from the two companies followed a conference last night in Fort Payne betwen county leaders and Col. Moon Capt. Sidney B. Hooper, of Albertville, and Lieut. Ralph Hurst.

In view of county leaders' statement to the officers of the guard that no trouble was anticipated tomorrow when Grand Jury which has been investigating alleged irregularities reconvenes, but Tuesday's developments might bring violence, it was believed the guard would move in late tomorrow night or early the following day.

The county leaders who were in the conference included both Republican and Democrat party leaders.

Quietude Prevails At County Seat

FORT PAYNE, ALA., Nov. 11—(AP)—This political strife-ridden section remained quiet today, as Adjutant General Hartley A. Moon made a survey to ascertain whether National Guards would be necessary to maintain order while a Grand Jury completed its investigation of alleged election law violations.

The situation developed from a close election last Tuesday in which Democrats claimed the county Republican administration had been ousted. The count, not including absentee ballots, showed the Republicans to have won by a small majority. In the absentee ballots still uncounted, the Democrats claimed sufficient strength to assure victory.

Sheriff S. W. Pope in a statement today countered charges that he had refused to bring witnesses before the Grand Jury with an assertion that he had done everything he could.

In his statement the sheriff said he had only few hours in which to serve summonses "from the Georgia state line to Jacksonville, Fla."

"I have been diligent in the discharge of my duty," said Sheriff Pope, "because I knew that I would be subject to unjust criticism. I have safely kept all election returns under many threats from opposite factions, and I am continuing to do so in fairness to all concerned."

Special Solicitor Claude Scruggs announced today that Judge A. E. Hawkins who called the Grand Jury into special session on Wednesday after the election had subpoenaed 60 additional witnesses.

Judge Hawkins yesterday issued a writ of prohibition to prevent the sheriff, judge of probate, and circuit clerk from certifying the returns until the absentee ballots had been counted.

Political-1934
Elections.

Alabama

Pope's Counsel Going To Court For His Release

Street And Isbell Here To Start Action On Behalf Of Republican Sheriff

Birmingham

Troops Recalled

11-15-34

Moon Satisfied Situation At Fort Payne Doesn't Require Military Guard

Birmingham News

A formal proceeding will be filed during the forenoon today in either the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals of Alabama, seeking the release from custody of S. W. Pope, Republican sheriff of DeKalb County, who was fined $50 and sent to jail for an indefinite period for contempt of court Tuesday at Fort Payne by Circuit Judge A. E. Hawkins.

The proceeding was being prepared last night by Oliver D. Street, of Birmingham, Republican national committeeman from Alabama and former chairman of the Republican State executive committee, and John B. Isbell, of Fort Payne, former U. S. district attorney. Neither attorney at that time, was certain of the form it was to take. One of a number of forms are available, including habeas corpus and certiorari.

It is believed, however, that the choice will probably be an application for a writ of certiorari for review by the high court of the action of Judge Hawkins in adjudging the Sheriff in contempt, as both Mr. Street and Mr. Isbell said the bill they would file would charge that the Sheriff was being unlawfully and illegally deprived of his liberty and that Judge Hawkins exceeded his authority in remanding him to jail for contempt of court.

Judge Hawkins's order fining the Sheriff and committing him to a call, was based on the alleged failure of the Sheriff to obey orders directing him and other members of the election board not to canvass official returns for the county from the recent general election, until absentee ballots had been counted.

Troops Called In

Though the DeKalb Grand Jury is still engaged in investigating alleged election frauds in the county, Col. Hartley A. Moon, adjutant general, on receipt of reports that no disorder had occurred there or was anticipated, in connection with the investigation and that the tense feeling noted several days ago had subsided, issued orders last night for the withdrawal of National Guard troops ordered into Fort Payne Monday morning to assist local authorities in the preservation of order and preventing demonstration of any kind.

Col. Moon said half of the force, which consist of detachments from guard units in Gadsden and Albertville, had been ordered to return to their home station at Gadsden last night, and that the remainder will be relieved from duty and entrain for Albertville during the forenoon today.

Knight Asked For Ruling

In connection with the Grand Jury investigation at Fort Payne and the controversy that has developed between Democrats and Republicans in DeKalb as to which party won the election in the county, the Democrats claiming count of more than 200 absentee ballots allegedly omitted from the official canvass, would give them the victory, Atty. Gen. Knight's office yesterday made public a request for a ruling as to the handling of absentee ballots, received by him on Nov. 6 and his reply by wire, addressed to Probate Judge G. L. Malone.

The request came from H. U. Gilbert, secretary of the DeKalb County Democratic executive committee, who in a telegram to Mr. Knight said he, Mr. Gilbert, had delivered in person to the probate judge, 234 legal absentee ballots in proper form as required by law, but that the probate judge refused to deliver them to the election board or officers to tabulate and count and that he also refused to deliver them back to him, Mr. Gilbert, to mail to him, and that the probate judge was keeping the ballots. A ruling was thereafter asked as to whether the absentee ballots could not legally be delivered to the probate judge in person as well as by mail, and request was made that this ruling be furnished to the probate judge by wire.

In compliance with the request, the Attorney General wired Judge Malone the same day as follows: "Absentee ballots may be delivered to officer authorized by law to receive them in person or by mail. All absentee ballots received by such officer should be turned over to the election officials for tabulation subject to challenge as in other cases provided for."

Over 50 Witnesses Before Grand Jury

FORT PAYNE, ALA., Nov. 14.—(AP)—More than 50 witnesses were examined today by the DeKalb County Grand Jury in its investigation of alleged irregularities in the Nov. 6 general election, while the county's sheriff remained in jail on a contempt of court sentence.

A second partial report by the jury was predicted tomorrow by Special Solicitor Claude Scruggs, who said "they spent two hours this afternoon voting on whether to issue certain indictments."

Meanwhile, Alabama national guardsmen, called after tenseness developed with both Republican and Democrats claiming county-wide victory, remained on duty and quiet prevailed.

Coroner John Baxter, Democrat, continued to hold the office of sheriff since the jailing of Sheriff S. W. Pope, Republican, yesterday on orders from Circuit Judge A. E. Hawkins, who held him in contempt and fined him $50 in addition to the sentence for failure to obey a writ of prohibition that directed that no official canvass of the votes be made until absentee ballots were counted.

It was on the 241 absentee ballots that the bitter election controversy had its genesis, Democrats claiming 239 votes favoring their candidates, Republican election officials refusing to count them, and the election board returning a certificate of election without including them in it.

Only one Democrat won on the original canvass.

Judge Hawkins's sentence was indefinite in that it read "until such time the order is complied with." (The absentee ballots counted and certified with the official canvass.)

In addition to the sentence and fine, Judge Hawkins directed that all Pope's deputies be suspended.

Pope said he did not count the absentee ballots "on advice of my attorney," who is Oliver D. Street, Republican national committeeman for Alabama.

Webster Blake, an election official and under indictment with A. L. Haas in the voting probe testified he refused to count the absentee ballots because there was at least one for a man dead 32 years. He also said, about 50 persons signed affidavits they did not ask for ballots.

Nothing, Scruggs reported, was done today about counting the absentee ballots, now in custody of the Democratic coroner instead of the sheriff.

DEMOCRACY MADE SECURE IN DEKALB COUNTY POLITICS

News

Under Auspices Of National Guard Republicans Lose Positions

11-14-34

SHERIFF POPE OUSTED UNDER COURT RULING

Birmingham News

Coroner Baxter Takes Over Keys And Records Of

Removed Official

BY RALPH E. HURST
The News-Age-Herald Staff Writer

FORT PAYNE, Ala.—Under the auspices of the Alabama National Guard, DeKalb County was literally "made safe for Democracy" Tuesday when the Republican sheriff, S. W. Pope, was sent to jail for contempt of court and replaced by Coroner John Baxter, a Democrat, in a climax of the bitter fight between the Republicans and Democrats growing out of last Tuesday's election in which both sides still claim victory.

Sheriff Pope was sent to jail by Circuit Judge A. E. Hawkins, a Democrat, who sat on his bench beside Circuit Court Clerk V. W. Stott, a Republican. The action was taken over the protest of O. D. Street, Republican national committeeman, and John Isbell, another Republican leader and attorney, who were present as counsel.

The entire proceedings were conducted in the presence of a Grand Jury, composed of 16 Democrats and two Republicans and directed in its probe of alleged election irregularities by Special Solicitor Claude Scruggs, a Democrat.

The sheriff was carried to the jail, one block from the courthouse by Coroner Baxter, while national guard troops stood on the alert to prevent any disorders. There was not the slightest demonstration, however, when the sentence was passed.

The sheriff's residence is on the first floor of the jail, where his wife and children reside, but he was moved upstairs to a cell.

Coroner Baxter was told that the ouster of the sheriff also meant the ouster of his deputies, and he was ordered to appoint new deputies, a new jailer and a new bailiff for the Grand Jury, which was ordered to renew the intensity of its investigation.

Judge Hawkins did not say what action, if any, he contemplated against Court Clerk Stott and Probate Judge G. L. Malone, Republican, who were members of the election board along with the sheriff, against which the judge issued a writ of prohibition to restrain them from counting ballots. It was the ignoring of this order that brought the contempt sentence for the sheriff.

"They are all equally guilty," Judge Hawkins declared.

He told the Grand Jury he understood many persons had been deputized and had been carrying guns and conducting themselves in an unlawful manner on the streets of Fort Payne.

He charged them to investigate this particular angle and to return indictments against any carriers of concealed weapons regardless of what kind of badges or permits they might have.

"I want you to act and if you cannot do that I will discharge you and get a Grand Jury which can," he said. "We are going to have law and order in this county and they needn't get it in their system that they can run over any class. We have the troops here. I hated to call them but they are here and they will stay as long as they are needed and 5,000 more are within quick call if we need them. You need not be afraid now of being driven out of the courthouse."

Street told Judge Hawkins he was leaving town on the 6 p.m. train which goes south.

"Yes, I know where you are going," Judge Hawkins, who had refused to grant an appeal or stay of sentence, replied.

Street planned to go to Montgomery Tuesday night, presaging that the next skirmish of the Gap's political battle will be in Montgomery before the Supreme Court.

Sheriff Pope was given a $50 fine and sentenced to jail "until he complies with the orders of the court."

Judge Hawkins was asked by newspaper men how long this meant, they pointing out that the sheriff cannot function in any respect while he is in jail but the judge had no enlightenment to offer.

No immediate action is planned by Judge Hawkins in regard to a count of Tuesday's vote. The Republicans have refused to count 241 absentee ballots of which 239 are Democratic. Without these votes being counted, the Republicans have a 75-vote margin for all county-wide offices.

Troops remained on duty Tuesday night but at least part of them was expected to be removed late Wednesday, there being no indication of further development until the Grand Jury completes its probe and reports near the end of the week.

Judge Hawkins told the jurors he was going to convene court immediately after they report and try every person indicted, and that if necessary more troops would be present at the trial.

Tuesday's development left the Democrats in complete control of DeKalb County law enforcement, the guardsmen being present to support the court and Fort Payne's Chief of Police Rufus Smith being a Democrat. A detachment of national guard troops was placed on guard of the ballot boxes Tuesday night.

National guardsmen from Albertville and Gadsden moved into Fort Payne at 8 a.m. and went on duty to preserve order and enforce any court decrees. They had been requested by Judge Hawkins, Solicitor Scruggs and Democratic leaders here, who feared

Court Fines, Jails Sheriff Pope In Contempt Case

11-14-34

Hawkins Deals Severely With County Official For Disobeying Bench Order

Absentees Ignored

Republicans Declined To Tally 241 Votes, 239 Of Which Were Democratic

By T. M. DAVENPORT
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT PAYNE, ALA., Nov. 13.—(A.P.)—The Republican sheriff of DeKalb County was sentenced to jail for an indefinite period and fined $50 for contempt of court, and the county coroner, a Democrat, took over the office here today as developments in the bitter dispute between the two parties in the Nov. 6 election.

Judge A. E. Hawkins, presiding over the Dekalb Circuit, sentenced Sheriff S. W. Pope for his alleged failure to obey orders directing the sheriff and other members of the election board not to canvass the official returns for the county until absentee votes had been counted.

Pope took the stand at the contempt hearing here, and said he proceeded with the canvassing of the returns last Friday on instructions of his attorneys, Oliver D. Street, Republican national committeeman for Alabama, and John Isbell, former United States district attorney.

Pope Surrenders to Coroner.

After the judge's decision, Pope surrendered to Coroner John Baxter, and was taken to jail, where, under the sentence, he will remain "until such time as the order is complied with."

All deputies sheriff under Pope were ordered suspended.

National guardsmen, called out to prevent possible trouble over the case, lined the court room when sentence was pronounced, but they found little to do. The throng which jammed the courthouse for the hearing remained quiet throughout the day.

In sentencing Pope, Judge Hawkins said he didn't "want to punish the sheriff, because we are the best of friends.

"The sheriff and other members of the election board were ordered to be here in the court room at 10 o'clock on Nov. 9 and none appeared. After being served with the order, they went ahead and canvassed the returns in violation thereof, so I am going to hold the sheriff in contempt and sentence him to jail until such time as the order is complied with, and in violation, fine him $50."

Pope and Webster Blake, one of the election officials at the courthouse box, were principal witnesses at the hearing. Blake told of the refusal of officials, including himself, to count the absentee votes.

Man Dead 32 Years Voted.

"Joshua Pointer has been dead for 32 years and his ballot was in there," Blake testified. He named others who, he said, were not out of the county on election day, but whose ballots were in the absentee box. He said 241 ballots were not counted. Democrats contend that 239 of these ballots were for the Democratic ticket, and that these votes would elect the entire party ticket for the county.

Baxter, after taking office as sheriff, said, "Pope is one of my best friends. I sure hate to turn him in. I am going to appoint a warden tomorrow, and he will be one of Pope's friends."

Pope, who maintained his jovial attitude throughout the hearing, lives with his family on the first floor of the jail building. This morning he said he would "move upstairs" if the judge so ordered.

The election certificates signed by Pope, Probate Judge G. L. Malone, and W. V. Stokes, Circuit Court clerk, was introduced in evidence. It was for signing this certificate, without counting absentee ballots, that Sheriff Pope was cited for contempt by Judge Hawkins.

Hawkins's Eligibility Doubted.

The morning session, which opened with the court room jammed and standing room at a premium, was consumed by efforts of Street to have Judge Hawkins recuse himself from sitting on the case on the grounds that he was disqualified by the fact that he was a candidate in the election involved.

Judge Hawkins, after listening to arguments from Street and Reed, overruled the motion. He also overruled a motion to quash the citation. During the discussion of the first motion, Reed answered Street's argument with the assertion that Judge Hawkins's election did not hinge on the ballots in question because he was unopposed.

Members of the Grand Jury, which has been investigating alleged irregularities in the election since last Wednesday, were called into the court room to listen to the proceedings.

Special Solicitor Claude Scruggs said the jury's inquiry probably would last until Friday. Two indictments were returned last week in a partial report of the jury.

trouble in event Sheriff Pope was jailed.

Individual Republicans expressed resentment at the presence of troops and Sheriff Pope said he saw no necessity for them. Nevertheless, Republicans admitted they had ignored court orders because they were so "palpably wrong."

On the surface Fort Payne was quiet with only a slight increase in the number of persons on the streets. There were some individual expressions of resentment against the guardsmen being on duty.

The sheriff said he would go to jail quietly if convicted, but would not give up his office until compelled to. He added facetiously that in event of conviction he would "move upstairs." At present he and his family occupy the ground floor of the jail, with the prisoners in the second story.

The fight which has intensified partisanship in DeKalb, centers on refusal of Republican county and election officials to count 241 absentee ballots, of which 239 are said to be Democratic. Without these ballots the Republicans had a 75 majority for all county offices except one. With these ballots counted, the Democrats have a clean sweep of the county.

The Republican officials say they have counted "all legal ballots" and have ignored Circuit Court orders to count all votes. Beyond this has been Democratic charges of intimidation of Grand Jury witnesses and failure of Sheriff Pope to serve subpoenas and bring in witnesses.

The sheriff answered that he had been given more work than he could do in the time allotted.

The DeKalb County ticket around which the proceedings revolve, was: Representative, R. L. Tolbert (D.) and Norman C. Wilkes (R.); probate judge, J. C. Kellett (D.) and W. A. Mitchell (R.); court clerk, L. G. McPherson (D.) and W. L. Traffans (R); sheriff, E. W. Stewart (D.) and L. H. Hixon (R.); tax collector, W. O. Crowley (D.) and J. C. Durham (R.).

The contempt citation against Sheriff Pope was served Monday as a result of his alleged failure to obey the judicial decrees of Judge Hawkins. At the same time, Special Solicitor Claude Scruggs ordered subpoenaes issued for 30 additional witnesses to appear before the Grand Jury, which is composed of 16 Democrats and two Republicans.

Troops were sent here at the request of Judge Hawkins and other Democratic court officials who feared that if the guardsmen were not present, trouble might develop when the contemplated action was taken against the sheriff and other officials.

The guardsmen were from Company G at Albertville and Company F at Gadsden. They were commanded by Capt. S. B. Hooper, with the following officers: Capt. Cecil C. Whitehead, Lieut. William Thomason, Lieut. Elmer A. Redmond, Lieut. Curtis A. Gibson and Lieut. Grady Leach.

Democratic leaders of DeKalb held a conference Monday night to discuss Tuesday's proceedings.

The afternoon session did not get underway until 1:45 p.m. when a motion to quash was overruled.

Reed then offered a copy of the court order of last Friday restraining the sheriff as a member of the election board from counting any votes. The certificate of last Tuesday's vote as reported to the secretary of state was offered in evidence. It showed Republican victory for all but one county office—a district commissioner—but showed Democrats won in the races for governor, lieutenant governor, Congress, chief justice and most other state offices.

Opposing counsel were unable to agree on facts and resorted to witnesses, the first called being Webster Blake, a Republican manager, who was indicted last Friday and placed under $100 bond in the vote probe.

Blake said 241 absentee ballots had been challenged and that he did not count them but instead placed them in a box with the return challenge and given to the sheriff.

Two Republicans Crash Democratic Lines To Win Seats In Legislature

Only two Republican candidates managed to slip through Democracy's lines in Alabama at the Nov. 6 general election, it was revealed by the official canvass of returns yesterday at the capitol. Both were elected members of the House of Representatives of the State Legislature. They are Norman C. Wilkes, who received a total of 5,458 votes, nosing out R. L. Tolbert, the Democratic nominee, in DeKalb County, whose total was 5,247; and J. A. Posey, who defeated Mose A. Fincher, Democrat, in Winston County. Posey receiving 1,737 votes to Fincher's 1,113.

In Chilton County, which is normally Republican, C. H. Cox, Democrat, retired Percy M. Pitts by the comfortable margin of 2,688 to 2,114, in the race for representative. All Democratic nominees for seats in the State Senate were elected.

Democratic nominees won hands down in the four congressional districts where opposition appeared. In the fourth district, Judge Sam F. Hobbs defeated his Republican opponent, Charles R. Robinson, by the overwhelming majority of 14,728 to 2,086. Maj. Joe Starnes, Democrat, received a total vote of 22,035 in the fifth district, while the total of Dr. J. C. Swann, chairman of the State Republican executive committee, who ran against him, was 7,282.

Congressman George Huddleston all but annihilated his two opponents for reelection in the ninth district. His total vote was 19,317. William H. McEniry, Republican nominee, received 832 votes, and William F. Spencer, Socialist, 186. Congressman W. B. Bankhead rolled up a total of 22,001 votes in the seventh district for reelection, to 5,361 cast for his opponent, John W. Dodd, Independent.

Though the canvass has not yet been completed, indications are final figures will show that the total vote cast in the general election, in the State as a whole, was between 170,000 and 175,000. The largest total shown by the canvass thus far, to have been cast for opposing candidates for a State office, is 171,366. It is estimated, however, that some 5,000 more ballots were polled in the governor's race than in any other. The vote for governor in general elections is always heaviest, it was pointed out, and should have run at least 5,000 ahead of that for other candidates for State offices on Nov. 6.

Three members of the Supreme Court who ran for reelection, were renominated in the Democratic primaries for additional terms, without opposition, but were all opposed by Republican candidates in the general election. They disposed of their opposition in each instance as follows. For chief justice, Chief Justice John C. Anderson (D), 147,189; Milton H. Lanier (R), 24,177. Associate justice No. 2, Justice Lucien D. Gardner (D), 147,248; J. Foy Guin (R), 23,131. Associate justice No. 2, Justice A. B. Foster (D), 146,838; J. T. Johnson (R), 23,363. All Democratic nominees for judicial circuit offices were elected.

Count will not be made by the State Canvassing Board now in session at the Capitol, of the vote cast for governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney general, State treasurer, secretary of State, State auditor, commissioner of agriculture and State superintendent of education. Canvass of the vote cast for candidates for those offices will be conducted by the Legislature when it meets in January and the results formally announced. It is known of course, however, that all Democratic nominees, wherever opposed won by sweeping majorities.

Yesterday the board canvassed the vote cast for candidates for the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, the Legislature, judicial circuit offices, and representatives in Congress—all except those participating in the races for associate judges of the Court of Appeals. Count of the vote cast for Presiding Judge Charles R. Bricken, unopposed for reelection, showed a total of 145,939.

Today the board will make the count in all the associate judgeship contests, and of the vote cast for the respective candidates for associate members of the Public Service Commission. The work will then be completed.

In addition to making the official count in the races for various offices yesterday, the board also canvassed the vote cast for and against the proposed constitutional amendment which was ratified, that will take off the present fee basis and place on a salary basis beginning in January, the probate judge, tax assessor, tax collector, circuit court clerk and register in chancery of Mobile County. By a vote of 91,947 for to 12,533 against, the amendment has become a part of the Constitution of Alabama.

In only one county was it rejected. DeKalb, where 1,034 votes were cast against to 774 for it. Through some oversight, it developed, it was not voted on at all in Russell County because of failure of election officials to provide the necessary blank forms for recording "yes" or "no" votes on the proposal.

The State Canvassing Board is composed of the Governor, the Attorney General and the Secretary of State. Acting for those respective officials who had to be out of the city yesterday, were W. F. Covington, Jr., the Governor's recording secretary; Assistant Attorney General James L. Screws, and Mrs. G. L. Baggett, secretary to the secretary of state.

Political - 1934 I

Alabama

Elections.

Dixon Platform

Alabama confronts today a period in its history as critical as that of Reconstruction.

The changing times of the first quarter of a century rendered inadequate and outworn a substantial portion of our governmental machinery.

The years 1927-31 were years of extravagant expenditures, of venal patronage and spoils, and of mounting public debt. They sowed the seeds of disaster, climaxed by the collapse of our economic system and by three years more of stubbornly ineffective groping.

Today our state nears bankruptcy. Appropriations for essential service cannot be met. Our schools are closing. Our teachers are unpaid. Our health protection is impaired. Our credit is at low ebb. We are blocked and hampered by an obsolete tax system. We are weighted down by a system of government departments, state, county and city, stagnant with dead wood and dangerously expensive and inefficient.

Upon the ashes of the "new era" of the twenties, we have in this third decade of the century the task of building a new structure. Many of our ancient methods are gone forever. Though many sound fibers from the past are left, we still have to contend with the obstacles of debt and obsolete machinery. Our state needs a governor who will not forsake the wisdom and experience of the past, but who looks forward to the future confidently—unafraid of change.

As a candidate for governor of Alabama in the Democratic primary of May 1, I believe that the people of Alabama are entitled to a full, explicit and unequivocal declaration regarding my position on major public problems. I subscribe to the Democratic platform of the Chicago National Convention. A platform is a covenant with the people to be faithfully kept by the elected official when entrusted with power; the people are entitled to know the terms of the contract to which they are asked to subscribe.

Given the opportunity, I pledge myself to put into effect the policies which I herein outline, and which I shall discuss clearly and specifically from the stump so that no one may misunderstand my exact position on each plank.

My platform is built on the fundamental principle that the welfare of the entire state must come before the interests of any one group or groups within the state: that public policies must be dictated by regard for the welfare of the greatest number, and not by the special interests of any organized minority, irrespective of how worthwhile such particular interests may be.

I advocate:

The reorganization of the state government and the installation of the system of appointment of department heads.

The reorganization along modern lines of the county and municipal governments.

The abolition of earmarked funds with the exception of trust funds, funds for debt service and school funds in sufficient amount to permit planning for the future.

Installation of a modern and less cumbersome system of taxation, if possible with a lessening of the ad valorem tax on homesteads.

Continuation of the present income tax.

The $5 automobile license.

Licensed sale of beer and wine in counties so voting.

Package sale of spirituous liquors from state warehouses, on a permit system in counties so voting.

Maintenance of the school system with recognition of the truth that the child in the rural districts is as much entitled to an education as the child in the cities.

Unification of the system of higher education to avoid duplication and waste of the public funds.

Elimination in the grade and high school system of overlapping and unessential offices.

Recognition of the principle that education and the public health are of paramount importance and that so long as there are taxable values in Alabama, they must go forward.

Lessening of school book costs, if necessary, by the abolition of the present system of depositories.

Restriction of the rule of legislative courtesy to the point necessary to preserve some systematic government in our counties and cities.

Installation of a system of uniform accounting in all counties.

Immediate legislative reapportionment on the principle of population and county units.

Constitutional changes to bring our governmental structures, state, county and city, in line with modern governmental forms, renovate our tax system and make the changes herein advocated.

Complete cooperation with the national government in its farm relief measures, with recognition of the principle that agriculture is the basic industry of our state.

Complete cooperation with the national government in its program for the national recovery.

Complete cooperation with the president in the great Tennessee Valley power project.

Adequate representation of the people before the Public Service Commission and the passage of any legislation necessary to give our people the right to choose between private and municipal ownership of utilities and to place into effect the system of their choice.

Establishment of a department of labor.

Prevention of child labor, first of all by our own efforts in this state and if those are not effective, then by ratification of the child labor amendment.

Installation of a system of old age pensions and unemployment insurance as soon as the financial condition of the state permits.

Inauguration of a civil service status for state employes.

Reorganization of our convict department, abolition of unnecessary costs in transportation and abuse of the present short-term convict system.

Use of our convicts on the public roads, both state and county.

Reform of the cumulative poll tax law with minimum requirement of two years.

Establishment of a legislative reference bureau.

Reduction of the legal interest rate to 6 per cent with a rate permissible by contract of not to exceed 8 per cent.

Recognition of the principle that the governor is the governor of the counties and the cities as well as of the state, with duties equal as between counties and as between cities and with responsibility to show favoritism to none.

Careful analysis by competent Alabama citizens of the present road system of the state, with recommendations to the Legislature as to necessary changes to avoid duplication, overlapping and waste of the public funds.

I am convinced that the economies and the revenue from liquor control herein suggested will do away with the necessity for new levies; without their adoption, new taxes are inevitable. However, should they not produce the necessary funds to maintain those essential governmental functions—schools, public health, law and order—new taxes will have to come.

The issues herein outlined, I consider the most vital in this campaign. There are others, some of almost equal import, which I shall discuss at a later time.

In conclusion, I will leave this thought:

The time has come when ancient minds and ancient methods can no longer meet the needs of Alabama. The old-time type of political leadership, which has so long controlled the destiny of Alabama and horse-traded it among themselves must be supplanted. It has brought us to the brink of chaos. It cannot lead us out.

I ask for the support of that great majority of Alabama citizens whose sole concern in this election is the regeneration of our state. To them I pledge an honest, open-minded and courageous administration.

McCord Platform

Education

Ever since Thomas Jefferson, the father of Democracy, first promulgated the cardinal principle that the survival of a Democratic system of government depended upon the education of its citizens, every true Democrat has given assent to that principle. I not only believe in this principle, but will insist that it be put into practice. The doors of educational opportunity must be kept open to the boys and girls of Alabama. Free schools and terms of standard length of not less than seven months must be maintained. The higher educational institutions must be maintained. If any officer or employe of the state is paid his or her salary, then every one, including the school teacher, must be paid. Education must have its pro rata share of funds.

School Books

The cost of school books must be reduced. The present system of book selection and distribution must be revised. The school children of Alabama must receive books at minimum cost.

Health

There is no higher duty of the state than to safeguard and promote the health of its citizens. There can be no lasting happiness without health. Adequate financial provision should be made for the Public Health Department.

Agriculture And Labor

The population of this state is predominantly agricultural. Our people as a whole cannot be prosperous until the farmers of Alabama prosper. Realizing this, I will work toward that end through every enlightened means and will heartily cooperate with the Department of Agriculture, the extension service, and every other agency for the benefit of those engaged in this basic industry. I favor adding to the Department of Agriculture and Industries a department of labor, the designation of such department to be Department of Agriculture, Labor and Industries.

Confederate Veterans

The Democratic party has always been the friend of these heroes of the sixties. In consonance with Democratic principle and practice I favor the most liberal and generous treatment of these men whom Alabama will always delight to honor, and the payment of Confederate pensions on the days they become due.

Hospitals

The state hospitals for the care of the insane should be adequately supported so that they may accommodate and treat all those unfortunates who, by reason of mental disease, need such service. All other eleemosynary institutions of the state should be adequately supported and maintained so that they may accomplish the purposes for which they were created.

Child Welfare

Civilization moves forward on the feet of little children. Child welfare work of the right kind means a lasting investment in future citizenship. Such appropriations as are necessary for this department are true economy.

Banks

Thousands of people throughout the state are today suffering through the failure of banks. The situation brings forcibly to our attention the need of a stronger banking department with revised laws. These I will favor.

Insurance

The period of depression has also brought to our attention the inadequacy of our insurance laws. Alabama citizens must be protected by insurance laws designed to meet twentieth century conditions. These I will favor.

Roads

The paved highway has proved not only the greatest blessing to the greatest number, but also the kind of road which is most truly economical. Alabama must have a complete paved highway system, and I favor the construction of such a system at the lowest possible cost. I pledge my best efforts towards that end. Feeder, county and lateral roads must be kept up to a high state of efficiency and safe for public travel. I pledge my best efforts toward that end.

Bridges

The 15 bridges built by the "Alabama Bridge Corporation" have been declared to be the property of the state of Alabama. That is, our court of last resort has ruled and decreed that the outstanding bonds together with the accruing interest thereon is a debt owing by our state; therefore, just as soon as is possible these bridges should be taken over by the state and made free bridges to the public.

Small Loans

I favor protecting the small borrower from extortion.

Labor And Capital

Absolute fairness to both labor and capital should be the principle and practice of every government. The good old Democratic doctrine: "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none," should apply here. Our president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, favors the child labor amendment, which would make permanent the freedom granted the child worker under the NRA. I follow the president.

Taxation

The tax burden should be more equitably distributed. Public office is a public trust, and public funds are trust funds. Every dollar spent except for a dollar's worth of public good is a breach of trust. I favor a careful and enlightened reorganization of the state government with a view both to economy and efficiency. There must be no increase in the tax burden of the people of Alabama, unless after every possible economy has been put into practice, it becomes absolutely necessary, in order to save the schools. I favor the exemption from taxation of homesteads "not exceeding in value two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars and in area one hundred and sixty (160) acres," and of household furnishings not to exceed five hundred ($500.00) dollars in value as soon as can possibly be done. I favor the reduction of the automobile license tag to such an amount as will pay not more than the road bonds to which it is pledged by our constitution. I pledge my best thought and effort toward efficiency and economy in the operation of the state government so that this lightening of the tax burden may be accomplished. I will not favor the repeal of the income tax amendment to the constitution of Alabama. The people have clearly spoken on this subject. The enabling acts giving life to it must be retained. Since the abolition of the convict lease system, the small counties of Alabama could hardly exist without the gasoline taxes. I favor the retention of these taxes by the counties as they are now apportioned. Tax laws must be enforced to the end that the storekeeper and dealer who buys goods on which taxes have been paid will not be penalized by the storekeeper and dealer who buys bootleg goods. I am not in favor of a sales tax.

Redemption Of Homes

Laws must be enacted whereby the thousands of citizens who have lost their homes and their property through tax sales may be permitted to redeem their property. Installment payments of such taxes should be provided, if necessary.

Crime

The heaviest burden on the taxpayer is crime. Alabama is paying too much for crime. Crime detection and punishment must keep pace with the modern criminal. Alabama must be a national leader in crime reduction. I pledge myself to the enforcement of the laws of the state of Alabama. I favor and will urge upon the Legislature the enactment of modern and scientific probation and parole laws.

Primaries And Suffrage

The liberties of our people and the protection of life and property rights depend in a large measure upon their full and free expression at the polls as to who shall rule over them. I pledge my influence in preserving the primary election system in Alabama. That vast number of men and women who have lost the right of suffrage belong to "the forgotten men." We must find ways and means to make them eligible and qualified voters in Alabama. This must be done without changing our constitution on suffrage.

Reapportionment

Representation in the Legislature should be upon the basis of population. I favor reapportionment of representation on that basis. I will call upon the Legislature to enact such laws as will bring about such legislation.

God's Great Out-Of-Doors

The innocent pleasure of field and stream must be preserved for the citizens of Alabama and their posterity. The departments having charge of the conservation of natural resources, including fish, game and forestry, deserve and will have under my administration, full cooperation.

Prohibition

The saloon must not be returned to Alabama. I am opposed to the repeal of the Alabama prohibition laws relating to hard liquor. I am in favor of temperance, and, as a temperance measure, I favor an amendment of these laws by the Legislature so as to permit the sale of light wines and beer, under such regulations as will exterminate the bootlegger. I believe and think that light wines and beer will solve this vexing question, and furnish a source of much needed revenue. I am unalterably opposed to legalizing hard liquor in any way unless and until ordered by a majority vote of the citizenship of the state. I am unalterably opposed to the saloon, the brothel and the bootlegger.

Roosevelt Administration

I am an original Roosevelt man, and have constantly sought to uphold his hands in his constructive program for national recovery for the relief of the unemployed, the homeowner, the farmer and the laboring man. I hereby pledge myself to support and to cooperate with our great Democratic president in all measures for the public good in every way whereby a state administration can be of such service. I am heartily in favor of the Tennessee Valley Authority program as announced by our president. I favor the production of nitrates at Muscle Shoals by the government to protect the farmer against the Chilian Nitrate Trust, thereby assuring him cheaper fertilizer.

Conclusion

On this platform I stand. I will stand on it after the election, as much so as now. It is built of sound planks, on good old Democratic doctrine, bound together with the nails of common sense. Standing thereon, I confidently await the verdict of the voters of Alabama.

Dixon Launches Campaign With New Deal Plea

Advertiser

Incompetence And Waste Must Be Dethroned, He Tells Florence Audience

1-28-34

Assails 2 Rivals

Montgomery Ala

Scores Graves On Record; Charges Alf Tunstall Is Backing Judge McCord

FLORENCE, ALA., Jan. 27.—(Special)—Frank Dixon, Birmingham attorney and World War veteran, lashed out here today in the inaugural address of his campaign for Government against incompetence and waste in the administration of State affairs, government control by organized minorities, and the political type of leadership which he declared has brought State finances to the brink of chaos.

Speaking before a cheering, overflow audience of North Alabama citizens in the same city where President Roosevelt disclosed his program for development of the Tennessee Valley, Mr. Dixon delivered what he called a "declaration of war" against "ancient minds and methods" in the government of Alabama.

"We are facing a new day," Mr. Dixon shouted. "To the shame of our former leaders it must be said that we face that new day with fear and indecision due to the desperate condition in which they left our State. We face that new day heavily burdened with a load that mismanagement in our government has placed upon our shoulders and the shoulders of our children and our children's children. Unlike other commonwealths, freed of debt, with modern simplified efficient forms of government, we have a mill stone around our necks. The question which confronts us is whether we shall seek as leaders in this new day, those ancient political ring masters of Alabama who have tricked and cajoled the people of our State through generations by their deception or whether we shall seek new blood—men coming without the stigma of a sorry political past, unshackled by past political favoritism, who seek zealously to do away with ancient minds and the ancient methods of Alabama politics, and to install here a modern State."

DIXON LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN WITH NEW DEAL PLEA

(Continued From Page 1)

Mr. Dixon was introduced by President Jimmie Jones of the Birmingham City Commission who was one of the large party of Birmingham citizens who came to Florence in a motorcade of 50 cars for the Dixon rally. Mr. Dixon opened his address with a comparison of national conditions when President Roosevelt took office and conditions which exist today in Alabama. "When President Roosevelt took the helm," Mr. Dixon said, "our national government was in a pitiable plight, brought about largely by the determined efforts of warring factions to control the national government for their own selfish ends."

"The same condition," he declared, "exists today in Alabama. Our State has never yet developed the psychology of a State. To the East, to the North, and to the West of us are commonwealths, which through wise guidance of their affairs, have intelligent control of their governments. Our failure has not been the failure of our people, but the failure of those who constituted themselves our leaders.

City Warring Groups

"Our whole State is divided into a number of groups, each warring the other, with the county government, with the State government and with any other force in the State which is not directly affiliated with that group. The candidate, who seeks office, immediately comes into contact with the spokesmen for these groups. Those who operate the Department of Agriculture naturally seek increased appropriations. Those who operate our schools demand more funds and that there be no lessening of school revenues; those who are interested in roads make a promise of better roads a condition of their support; those in charge of public health wish increased facilities; those interested in game and fish want more effective preservation of wild life. Similarly, those who are trying to avoid special taxes, try to force promises of decreased taxation for their special groups. In brief, each of these warring groups puts the interests of his group before the interests of the entire commonwealth.

"I sympathize most keenly with the worthy impulses which move these different groups. But the point I make is that it is high time for the people of this State to bring these groups to the realization that the welfare of Alabama as a whole is paramount. No limb of the tree can be sound while the trunk is diseased. That is what I mean by State psychology.

"The people of Alabama have the right to stand and point the finger of scorn at those who have been our political leaders in the past but who have not had the courage or the vision to face the powerful political groups in this State, and insist that the welfare of the State—the whole State—comes first. For the sake of their own power and petty political future, good leadership has been sacrificed and the State has suffered. Our political leaders have made a burnt offering of Alabama on the altar of their personal ambitions."

Tells The Remedy

As the remedy for this condition, Mr. Dixon urged the need for a complete reorganization of the State government and governments of Alabama counties and municipalities.

Pointing to the experience of other states, Mr. Dixon brought out that Virginia reorganized its State government in 1927 under Gov. Byrd, and in January, 1928, Byrd recommended a $1,200,000 tax reduction. Virginia's departments, he said, were reduced from nearly 100 bureaus, boards and commissions to only 12 departments; its financial system was reorganized by the adoption of the segregated tax plan and 48 separate funds handled outside of the State Treasury were put into the State Treasury and all revenues were disbursed upon approval of the State comptroller. Virginia, also, he said, adopted the short ballot for State offices. Mr. Dixon discussed in detail, showing through study of the subject, the State governmental reorganization plans of North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Indiana and other states which have modernized their obsolete governmental machinery with enormous resultant saving to taxpayers. Mr. Dixon was applauded when he referred to President Roosevelt's constructive reorganization program in New York State which Roosevelt served as governor when a young man of only 46 years.

Mr. Dixon urged that the progressive plans of these other states be put into effect in Alabama. He advocated the short ballot, which he explained meant appointment by the governor of heads of State departments in the same manner that members of the President's cabinet are appointed.

Turning to county and municipal administration, Mr. Dixon declared that the need of reorganization had been frankly stated to the people by President Roosevelt in his speech in September, 1932, in which President Roosevelt urged the abolition of useless county offices, consolidation of taxing districts, and the eliminations of some of the layers of tax units which had been superimposed one upon the other.

"It is in the securing of county and municipal reorganization that the greatest savings can be made," Mr. Dixon said. "Under our system of legislative courtesy each individual member of the Legislature or group of members representing any particular county has a right to change overnight, as the result of political whims, the entire governing set-up of the county. As a consequence there is a different form of county government in nearly every single county in the State of Alabama. There is no system of uniform accounting; no way to tell in many counties what is done with public funds. There is also tremendous duplication, and tremendous waste of taxpayers' funds."

Legislative Courtesy

Mr. Dixon declared that he would seek to modify the rule of legislative courtesy, and arrange for the submission to the counties of the State of two different plans for reorganizing county government, the plan to be selected to be adopted upon vote of the people of the county. Mr. Dixon declared that he recognized that this plank in his platform would draw the fire of old line politicians throughout the State who wanted to see jobs and more jobs created constantly but that he believed it would receive the support of those capable and characterful public servants who put the interest of the people before their own political ambitions.

On the utility question, Mr. Dixon declared unequivocally that the great experiment proceeding under the direction of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the Tennessee Valley must receive the wholehearted and considerate support of the people, and pledged his aid to its furtherance. "So far as our utilities may come in conflict with the plans of the Federal Government in this district," Mr. Dixon said, "there is no question but that the people of this State will demand and rightfully that private interest shall surrender to the greater good.

"There is a serious question," Mr. Dixon continued, "whether the present system of utility regulation and control has operated fairly in the public interest." For the protection of the public Mr. Dixon announced that he would advocate that the people have vigorous representation before the Public Service Commission through the Attorney General. He further stated he would uphold the rights of any subdivision of the State to own and operate its own utilities. In a speech to be delivered at an early date Mr. Dixon promised full and frank discussion of the school situation, a subject which he said was of such paramount importance that it could not be adequately outlined in the time at his disposal. Mr. Dixon drew prolonged applause, however, when he asserted that Alabama schools could and must be maintained, regardless of the cost.

Assails Opponents

In concluding his address at Florence, Mr. Dixon paid his respects to his opponents in the campaign, Col. Bibb Graves and Judge Leon McCord. He avowed his intention not to make any personal attacks on his opponents but reserved the right to assail their official records. He characterized the administration of Gov. Gibb Graves as an "amazing period in the history of our State," one of unlimited and unbridled government extravagance, of building on borrowed funds, of the maintenance of whole tribes of relatives on the public payroll, of "unlimited" legislative extravagances, of an army of tax adjusters

Political - 1934

Elections,

Alabama.

who swarmed through the counties and of State law enforcement officers who patrolled highways with flasks in their pockets. The effect of these days, he said, was very similar to the effects of days of Reconstruction in the similarity of the tremendous debt left to the people of Alabama to pay, and in the disregard of the maxim that a public office is a public trust. To those days, Mr. Dixon predicted, Alabama will never return. The campaign of Col. Graves, he said, had been one of platitudes and promises of jobs. It was an open and notorious fact throughout the State, he said, that Graves had made pledges to everyone formerly on the State payroll. No Governor, he said, can be all things to all men, and neither can a candidate for Governor promise all things to all people.

Paying his respects to Judge McCord, Mr. Dixon pointed out that Judge McCord had been on the public payroll of the State for over 20 years in one capacity or another. He declared that McCord had been intimate and friendly throughout his political career with that "group of political ringmasters of this State who have so long made the people of Alabama dance to their tune."

"During all the years that he held public office, until this good minute," Mr. Dixon said, "not one word has come from Judge McCord, demanding the reorganization of the State of Alabama, protesting against waste and extravagance or seeking a new deal or any sort of deal for the best interests of the people of the State." He charged that the campaign of Judge McCord, was backed by Col. Tunstall of Hale County, who for 30 years "has been intimately concerned with the conditions which have finally bankrupted us."

"The men who secured the entry of Judge McCord into the race are the same men," he said, "who have for generations schemed in back rooms of hotels in Montgomery for their own political advancement." He ridiculed Judge McCord's advocacy of the new deal in government.

"It is an absolute impossibility," he said, "for Judge McCord to represent the new deal, to represent any new thought, to represent anything but ancient re-actionaries of old line politicians, whom he has upheld for 30 years past."

THOMAS E. KNIGHT FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The Advertiser does not usually endorse a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, but at this time it is the considered judgment of The Advertiser that the people of Alabama would be unsporting and ungrateful if they should fail to give Thomas E. Knight, Jr., a vote of confidence.

Something more is involved than a contest between two able and high-toned Democrats for the Lieutenant-Governorship. Mr. Thomas W. Weet of Decatur, is a first rate man. Mr. Knight is a first rate man. Under ordinary circumstances there would be no reason to make an issue of their candidacies.

But Mr. Knight, as Attorney-General of this State, personally bore the abuse which the world intended to heap upon Alabama when Knight led the prosecutions of the "Scottsboro" rapists.

Our State was humiliated and outraged at the attacks made upon it in connection with those trials.

Knight received the full force of these attacks. He has been slandered on at least two continents for his courageous, sane and vigorous action.

Mr. Knight is an able lawyer; as an Attorney-General he has been indefatigable and brilliant. He is personally a gentleman of the highest character, and as an official has been honest.

If Alabama owes any one political debt it owes that debt to Old Tom Knight's boy.

The young man wishes to be Lieutenant-Governor. Let us grant his wish, and do it in the grand manner!

Moulton, Ala., Advertiser
May 24, 1934

WHY WE SHOULD VOTE FOR DIXON

We should vote for Dixon because he favors the governor appointing state officers. That would partially disfranchise us and concentrate power in one man's hands but we want young blood. He was born in California where Negroes and whites marry and educated, it's said, in New York where Negroes and whites patronize the same hotels and cafes and he's fully capable of telling us Anglo-Saxon Alabamians that we don't know how to govern ourselves.

We should vote for Dixon because he advocates reorganizing counties and cities along modern lines. We don't know what that means, we think it means the manager, one man, or the commission, three man, form of government but anything along this line Dixon favors we favor. We are tired of voting for a horde of state, county and city officers anyhow. Our daddies didn't know what they were doing when they warned us against centralization of power in our state, county and city govenments. Had they seen Dixon they'd have known that local self government was all bunk.

We should vote for Dixon because he'll give us a civil service status, a good easy job to one of us out of a thousand, life tenure and a pension at the end of the service period. Negroes and whites on the same basis, all at the expense of the common herd and beside this plan will give Mr. Dixon a little more power.

Vote for Dixon and get a legislative bureau. Give him complete control of all legislation and destroy free government. That old mudsill of American democracy which declares that the executive, legislative and judicial departments should be forever kept separate is just the hysterical fulminations of Washington, Jefferson and all American patriots and statesmen on down to Franklin D. Roosevelt. Discard all these ancient minded codgers and accept Dixon.

We should vote for Dixon and get your "ear marked" school funds put into the general pot which will shorten your school terms.

We should vote for Dixon because he does not stand for social justice, economic progress and promotion of the welfare of the masses but is a standpat reactionary who stands for the rights of property rather than those of humanity.

We should vote for Dixon because in the first place he has had no executive experience and is utterly incapable of porperly filling the governor's office. What we need right now is a radical program, governmental chaos and complete destruction of democratic government in Alabama. We need a man at this critical time in the state's history who can, without batting an eye or having a single regret, utterly destroy every county and city government in the state as welll as that of the state itself.

We should vote for Dixon because he proposes to take from the people right of local self government and make laws in all counties uniform. He's got more sense and experience and knows more about human nature and human needs than all the members of the house and senate put together and we are for him.

We should vote for Dixon because he is a master of language so much so that he speaks one language in the black belt and another in North Alabama.

We should vote for Dixon because his reapportionment plank will not give us reapportionment.

The Significance Of Judge Horton's Candidacy

In view of the deep significance of the race in the Eighth Judicial Circuit, in which Judge James E. Horton, of Athens, is a candidate for reelection, it is immeasurably gratifying to see various groups of leaders among his own people endorsing his candidacy.

Judge Horton probably would not have had any opposition if it had not been his decision granting a new trial in one of the so-called Scottsboro cases. In that instance he did his duty as he saw it; his decision was in the highest tradition of judicial integrity and courage. For that reason, regardless of whether his decision was popular or unpopular, he deserves admiration and respect. For that reason, he was even more entitled than before to reelection without opposition.

However, because his decision was unpopular, opposition to him developed. In the first primary, there were two candidates opposing him. Now Judge Horton is in the run-off with A. A. Griffith, of Cullman.

Before the first primary, the members of the Athens bar unanimously endorsed Judge Horton, praising him for his ability, courage and honesty as a judge. Since then there have been endorsements of Judge Horton by other groups, representative of the leadership of public opinion in his community and his county.

In addition, there has been widespread endorsement of Judge Horton's candidacy by the press. Both in the Eighth Judicial Circuit and over the state, many newspapers have praised him for his honesty and fearlessness and urged his reelection.

The Limestone Democrat, of Athens, thus sums up the situation:

In the selection of a circuit judge on June 12 the question is not so much whether Jim Ed Horton or "Quill" Griffith is the better man, nor in this particular case should the question of superior ability alone determine.

In neither of these tests, however, does the Limestone candidate run second, in our opinion.

In fact, his opponent, Mr. Griffith, admits Judge Horton's ability, his integrity and his integrity. He has, and deserves, the respect and confidence of our people.

The ministers of Athens have unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing Judge Horton. Their resolution, addressed to the public and signed by every minister in Athens, reads:

"The Christian ministers of Athens, Ala., feel that it is but simple fairness for us to say that Judge James E. Horton has spent his entire life in this place, where he is known by everyone to praising Judge Horton for "his ability as a lawyer, his honesty as a man, his character being absolutely upright and beyond any suspicion of any kind."

Another endorsement has come from 250 business and professional men of Limestone County praising Judge Horton for "his ability as a lawyer, his honesty as a man, his character being absolutely upright and beyond any suspicion of any kind."

Pinson Papers
Ala.
6-5-34

Political - 1934

Elections,

Alabama

who swarmed through the counties and of State law enforcement officers who patrolled highways with flasks in their pockets. The effect of these days, he said, was very similar to the effects of days of Reconstruction in the similarity of the tremendous debt left to the people of Alabama to pay, and in the disregard of the maxim that a public office is a public trust. To those days, Mr. Dixon predicted, Alabama will never return. The campaign of Col. Graves, he said, had been one of platitudes and promises of jobs. It was an open and notorious fact throughout the State, he said, that Graves had made pledges to everyone formerly on the State payroll. No Governor, he said, can be all things to all men, and neither can a candidate for Governor promise all things to all people.

Paying his respects to Judge McCord, Mr. Dixon pointed out that Judge McCord had been on the public payroll of the State for over 20 years in one capacity or another. He declared that McCord had been intimate and friendly throughout his political career with that "group of political ringmasters of this State who have so long made the people of Alabama dance to their tune."

"During all the years that he held public office, until this good minute," Mr. Dixon said, "not one word has come from Judge McCord, demanding the reorganization of the State of Alabama, protesting against waste and extravagance or seeking a new deal or any sort of deal for the best interests of the people of the State." He charged that the campaign of Judge McCord, was backed by Col. Tunstall of Hale County, who for 30 years "has been intimately concerned with the conditions which have finally bankrupted us."

"The men who secured the entry of Judge McCord into the race are the same men," he said, "who have for generations schemed in back rooms of hotels in Montgomery for their own political advancement." He ridiculed Judge McCord's advocacy of the new deal in government.

"It is an absolute impossibility," he said, "for Judge McCord to represent the new deal, to represent any new thought, to represent anything but ancient re-actionaries of old line politicians, whom he has upheld for 30 years past."

THOMAS E. KNIGHT FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The Advertiser does not usually endorse a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, but at this time it is the considered judgment of The Advertiser that the people of Alabama would be unsporting and ungrateful if they should fail to give Thomas E. Knight, Jr., a vote of confidence.

Something more is involved than a contest between two able and high-toned Democrats for the Lieutenant-Governorship. Mr. Thomas W. Weft of Decatur, is a first rate man. Mr. Knight is a first rate man. Under ordinary circumstances there would be no reason to make an issue of their candidacies.

But Mr. Knight, as Attorney-General of this State, personally bore the abuse which the world intended to heap upon Alabama when Knight led the prosecutions of the "Scottsboro" rapists.

Our State was humiliated and outraged at the attacks made upon it in connection with those trials.

Knight received the full force of these attacks. He has been slandered on at least two continents for his courageous, sane and vigorous action.

Mr. Knight is an able lawyer; as an Attorney-General he has been indefatigable and brilliant. He is personally a gentleman of the highest character, and as an official has been honest.

If Alabama owes any one political debt it owes that debt to Old Tom Knight's boy.

The young man wishes to be Lieutenant-Governor. Let us grant his wish, and do it in the grand manner!

Moulton, Ala., Advertiser
May 24, 1934

WHY WE SHOULD VOTE FOR DIXON

We should vote for Dixon because he favors the governor appointing state officers. That would partially disfranchise us and concentrate power in one man's hands but we want young blood. He was born in California where Negroes and whites marry and educated, it's said, in New York where Negroes and whites patronize the same hotels and cafes and he's fully capable of telling us Anglo-Saxon Alabamians that we don't know how to govern ourselves.

We should vote for Dixon because he advocates reorganizing counties and cities along modern lines. We don't know what that means, we think it means the manager, one man, or the commission, three man, form of government but anything along this line Dixon favors we favor. We are tired of voting for a horde of state, county and city officers anyhow. Our daddies didn't know what they were doing when they warned us against centralization of power in our state, county and city govenments. Had they seen Dixon they'd have known that local self government was all bunk.

We should vote for Dixon because he'll give us a civil service status, a good easy job to one of us out of a thousand, life tenure and a pension at the end of the service period. Negroes and whites on the same basis, all at the expense of the common herd and beside this plan will give Mr. Dixon a little more power.

Vote for Dixon and get a legislative bureau. Give him complete control of all legislation and destroy free government. That old mudsill of American democracy which declares that the executive, legislative and judicial departments should be forever kept separate is just the hysterical fulminations of Washington, Jefferson and all American patriots and statesmen on down to Franklin D. Roosevelt. Discard all these ancient minded codgers and accept Dixon.

We should vote for Dixon and get your "ear marked" school funds put into the general pot which will shorten your school terms.

We should vote for Dixon because he does not stand for social justice, economic progress and promotion of the welfare of the masses but is a standpat reactionary who stands for the rights of property rather than those of humanity.

We should vote for Dixon because in the first place he has had no executive experience and is utterly incapable of porperly filling the governor's office. What we need right now is a radical program, governmental chaos and complete destruction of democratic government in Alabama. We need a man at this critical time in the state's history who can, without batting an eye or having a single regret, utterly destroy every county and city government in the state as welll as that of the state itself.

We should vote for Dixon because he proposes to take from the people right of local self government and make laws in all counties uniform. He's got more sense and experience and knows more about human nature and human needs than all the members of the house and senate put together and we are for him.

We should vote for Dixon because he is a master of language so much so that he speaks one language in the black belt and another in North Alabama.

We should vote for Dixon because his reapportionment plank will not give us reapportionment.

The Significance Of Judge Horton's Candidacy

In view of the deep significance of the race in the Eighth Judicial Circuit, in which Judge James E. Horton, of Athens, is a candidate for reelection, it is immeasurably gratifying to see various groups of leaders among his own people endorsing his candidacy.

Judge Horton probably would not have had any opposition if it had not been his decision granting a new trial in one of the so-called Scottsboro cases. In that instance he did his duty as he saw it; his decision was in the highest tradition of judicial integrity and courage. For that reason, regardless of whether his decision was popular or unpopular, he deserves admiration and respect. For that reason, he was even more entitled than before to reelection without opposition.

However, because his decision was unpopular, opposition to him developed. In the first primary, there were two candidates opposing him. Now Judge Horton is in the run-off with A. A. Griffith, of Cullman.

Before the first primary, the members of the Athens bar unanimously endorsed Judge Horton, praising him for his ability, courage and honesty as a judge. Since then there have been endorsements of Judge Horton by other groups, representative of the leadership of public opinion in his community and his county.

In addition, there has been widespread endorsement of Judge Horton's candidacy by the press. Both in the Eighth Judicial Circuit and over the state, many newspapers have praised him for his honesty and fearlessness and urged his reelection.

The Limestone Democrat, of Athens, thus sums up the situation:

In the selection of a circuit judge on June 12 the question is not so much whether Jim Ed Horton or "Quill" Griffith is the better man, nor in this particular case should the question of superior ability alone determine.

In neither of these tests, however, does the Limestone candidate run second, in our opinion.

In fact, his opponent, Mr. Griffith, admits Judge Horton's ability, his integrity and his honesty and undoubtedly the respect and deserves, the respect and confidence of our people.

The ministers of Athens have unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing Judge Horton. Their resolution, addressed to the public and signed by every minister in Athens, reads:

"The Christian ministers of Athens, Ala., feel that it is but simple fairness for us to say that Judge James E. Horton has spent his entire life in this place, where he is known by everyone to be a man of recognized honesty and integrity. He has, and deserves, the respect and confidence of our people.

"Judge Horton always has identified himself with the forces of right and good morals."

Another endorsement has come from 250 business and professional men of Limestone County praising Judge Horton for "his ability as a lawyer, his honesty as a man, his character being absolutely upright and beyond any suspicion of any kind."

high standing as a jurist; he frankly admits he entered the campaign against him because he believed Horton's action in the Scottsboro case would militate against him.

So by Mr. Griffith's own admission, the issue is clearly drawn and in a few words it is simply this: Shall we have an untrammeled judiciary in the Eighth Judicial Circuit of Alabama, or shall we have judges ruled by fear?

These endorsements by the bar, the clergy, business and professional men and the press should have their weight with the electorate throughout the Eighth Judicial Circuit.

Without any reflection on Mr. Griffith, it can be said that in the circumstances it is regrettable that Judge Horton should have had opposition in this election. It is unfortunate that there should be any thought on the part of voters of punishing a judge of recognized ability and sincerity because he rendered a decision which he thought was right, but which happened not to meet with entire public approval. And it would be deplorable in the extreme if such a judge should be defeated on that ground, which would mean placing popular feelings above judicial ability and integrity.

This election has a profound significance for all Alabama. It means this: If such a judge as James E. Horton is defeated in the circumstances surrounding his candidacy, the effect will be to place a premium on judicial pandering to popular emotions, which inevitably would have an adverse effect on the quality of the judiciary in Alabama. On the other hand, the reelection of Judge Horton would have the effect of strengthening the tradition of judicial integrity and courage in Alabama.

Vote By Counties

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., June 12.—(AP)—Following is a tabulation of unofficial returns by counties on the race for Governor in today's Democratic primary:

County—	Boxes In	Dixon	Graves
Autauga	15	795	1,139
Baldwin	9	208	284
Barbour	21	999	1,319
Bibb	23	1,166	1,366
Blount	35	1,286	1,765
Bullock	17	611	791
Butler	32	1,293	1,818
Calhoun	38	2,628	1,946
Chambers	21	2,693	1,539
*Cherokee	32	1,283	1,886
Chilton	25	743	860
Choctaw	25	765	1,361
Clarke	20	931	2,289
*Clay	23	1,005	2,210
*Cleburne	16	772	1,101
Coffee	14	428	1,314
Colbert	23	2,940	1,498
Conecuh	2[illegible]	834	1,706
Coosa	..	....	.....
Covington	20	1,00[illegible]	1,272
*Crenshaw	21	1,294	1,738
*Cullman	[illegible]	1,908	2,409
Dale	23	1,358	1,458
Dallas	33	1,998	1,489
DeKalb	33	2,478	1,618
*Elmore	2[illegible]	1,804	3,138
*Escambia	30	1,126	2,656
Etowah	40	2,538	2,242
Fayette	28	1,150	1,482
Franklin	24	1,382	1,769
Geneva	17	928	1,403
Greene	9	407	421
Hale	16	714	994
Henry	20	960	1,119
Houston	17	1,188	1,487
Jackson	36	2,812	2,927
Jefferson	77	4,724	4,341
*Lamar	25	998	1,787
Lauderdale	22	1,756	1,542
Lawrence	25	1,097	1,186
Lee	16	485	1,087
*Limestone	23	1,713	1,583
Lowndes	15	555	709
Macon	11	439	991
Madison	30	3,245	2,624
Marengo	17	1,216	1,159
Marion	14	1,108	1,583
Marshall	36	2,474	2,194
Mobile	34	4,307	3,744
Monroe	25	1,339	1,470
Montgomery	42	3,903	7,997
Morgan	50	3,139	3,004
Perry	20	840	919
Pickens	13	669	904
*Pike	31	1,712	2,216
Randolph	12	988	1,054
*Russell	13	1,471	1,522
Shelby	26	1,355	2,785
St. Clair	25	1,031	1,367
*Sumter	20	856	847
*Talladega	35	2,046	2,427
Tallapoosa	2	145	222
Tuscaloosa	42	3,505	3,094
*Walker	61	2,749	4,401
Washington	26	995	1,535
Wilcox	20	713	859
Winston	14	410	411
Totals	1,685	98,415	117,678

*Complete.

For secretary of state, Howell Turner, of Montgomery, on returns from 1,418 boxes, had a commanding lead over Representative Gilbert E. Davis, of Gordo. The vote was:

Turner, 81,134.

Davis, 65,752.

For public service commissioner No. 2, Frank P. Morgan, incumbent, appeared the victor over Harry T. Hartwell, of Mobile. The vote from 1,478 boxes gave:

Morgan, 85,604.

Hartwell, 68,865.

Returns from the Fifth Congressional District indicated the defeat of Congressman Miles Allgood by Maj. Joe Starnes, of Guntersville. The unofficial returns from 213 out of 256 boxes in the district gave Starnes 14,980 votes to 13,898 for Allgood.

In the Ninth District (Jefferson County), Congressman George Huddleston, veteran of many fights, had a commanding lead over Walter Brower, Birmingham attorney. One hundred and fifty out of 235 ballot boxes in the county gave Huddleston 12,801 and Brower, 7,857.

Graves is the first governor in 31 years to go back to the office, and the only one since the Constitution of 1901 which prohibits a governor from succeeding himself to break the "jinx" of four years of public office.

The former Governor ran on his record of 1927 to 1931, which was the principal issues in the successful campaign of Gov. B. M. Miller four years ago. Graves held up his record as one of progress and declared his return to office would assure "peace and prosperity" in the State.

The Ku Klux Klan was made an issue by Mr. Dixon, who declared that after four years of somnolence, the Klan had been reorganized for the purpose of returning Graves to office. Graves denied Klan support and its grand dragon issued a statement declaring that only six klaverns in the State were active and that none were being organized.

Dixon ran on a platform of reorganization of the State Government installing the short ballot and also modernizing county administrative setups for efficiency and economy. His plan, Graves said, would make him a "Hitler."

Prohibition, Graves declared, should be settled by a referendum which he promised to ask the Legislature to provide on his taking office in January, 1935.

Judge James E. Horton, of Athens, who set aside a death verdict in the "Scottsboro case" six weeks after he had pronounced the sentence, was defeated for renomination in the Eighth District by A. A. Griffith of Cullman.

The vote from 131 boxes out of 143 in the district stood: Griffith 8,235; Horton 6,206.

The Scottsboro case was not an issue in the race, but it hovered in the background, and it was in Morgan County, scene of the trial in 1933, that Griffith piled up a commanding lead.

Former Executive Leads Dixon By 21,000 Votes With 356 Boxes Missing

Advertiser 6-13-34

Frank Morgan 18,000 Ahead Of Hartwell On Basis Of Returns From Most Of State; Gilbert E. Davis Trailing Howell Turner By 15,000 In 1,418 Boxes; Judge Who Set Aside Scottsboro Verdict Defeated

Montgomery, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., June 13.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Former Governor Bibb Graves assumed a lead of more than 21,000 votes early today in his race for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Alabama, in his race with Major Frank M. Dixon, of Birmingham.

The count from 1,840 boxes out of 2,191 in the State gave Graves 131,827, and Dixon 110,245, a lead of 21,582, with only 356 boxes lacking.

SCOTTSBORO JUDGE IS BEATEN IN RACE

Birmingham Post 6-13-34

Horton 2,000 Votes Behind Cullman Opponent

Birmingham, Ala.

ATHENS, June 13.—(Special.)—Circuit Judge James E. Horton, who set aside a death verdict in the case of one of the Scottsboro defendants was defeated for renomination in the eighth judicial circuit yesterday.

His opponent, A. A. Griffith, of Cullman, had a majority of about 2,000 votes with only a handful of boxes missing. Judge Horton carried Limestone county by a wide margin, but trailed in Cullman, Morgan and Lawrence counties.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Alabama

Graves To Find Tough Problem In County Rings

Likely To Find Them In Way If He Tries To Cut Local Government Cost

New Taxes Easier

Incoming Governor's Plan Is To Let People Vote On Changes Proposed

By ATTICUS MULLIN

Raising millions to match Federal road funds and Federal aid to schools will be an easy problem for Col. Bibb Graves as Governor compared to the accomplishment of his plan to simplify and make less expensive city and county governments, in the opinion of those who know something of the legislative mind.

It is much easier for the members of the legislature to create jobs and raise taxes than it is for them to abolish jobs and reduce taxes. Always the members of the legislature attempt to enact a law that does not meet the approval of county officials they run up against a stone wall.

The average legislator from a small county owes his election in large measure either to the neutrality of county officials or to their active support. The county officials in any courthouse in any average small county in Alabama, if they act together, can elect any man they want to the legislature or they can defeat any man they do not want.

Smooth On Surface

Col. Graves is in favor of working out a measure that will allow the people of any county a vote upon their form of government and reduce county offices and county expense if they want to. He has already conferred with the officers of the State organization of county commissioners and probate judges and to all outward appearances has enlisted their interest in economy measures applying to the counties.

But if all political observation experience has not gone awry in this New Deal age, the passage of a bill through the Alabama legislature that has teeth in it and provides for the people's passing on their forms of county and city governments and making economies therein will be in the nature of a miracle. Of course Col. Graves will go into the Governor's office with more backing at the hands of a legislature to start with than any man has ever had. But when the time comes to "monkey" with the gravy of city and county officials in a really serious way, the chances are that things will be popping as they have never popped before.

Helped To Beat Dixon

Frank M. Dixon had as a major plank in his platform the reorganization of county government. And when he wrote that plank he wrote the word 'doom' squarely over his name on the ballot. Ninety-nine per cent of the county officials in Alabama rose up at that plank and smote Mr. Dixon hip and thigh. He proposed to allow the people of a county the right to say which of several kinds of county government they wanted including the kind they now have.

Gov. Graves, if he secures reorganization and economy in county government in reality, will go down in history, according to political observers, as a doer of miracles. Of course he will have the whole-hearted and practically solid backing of the people but when it comes to the legislature political observers believe that he will have to mine deeply into his political resources and his tact to find the force and power to put over a reform that will adversely affect county officials and city officials.

Gol. Graves proposes to give the people of the counties and the cities the right to say what kind of county government they want and as the writer understands it, what offices they shall have and what pay they shall receive.

The whole State will watch Col. Graves's efforts along this line with more interest, probably, than they will in any other line. If he succeeds in getting anything through that is not hollow or full of holes like a piece of Swiss cheese, he will be going great guns according to those who know legislative phychology and how it works when county officials are at stake, to say nothing of city officials.

Political-1934

Elections.

California

San Bernardino, Cal.
SUN

APR 8 1934

Colored Voters See Candidates

Candidates for city and county offices spoke their minds to the Colored citizens of Redlands Friday night, when they addressed a mass meeting at the Second Baptist church, under auspices of the Colored Civic and Economic club. Candidates for city council were present besides Constable J. A. Rivera and two candidates for his office, Earl B. Jacob and Jack Evans.

The meeting attempted no endorsement of candidates. John Collins and James Guy, officers of the club, merely invited candidates to speak to the 75 persons present.

Mr. Rivera spoke favorably of his deputy, Mr. Jacob, who also boosted his own candidacy, and Mr. Evans declined to speak, although introduced.

San Bernardino, Cal.
SUN

MAY 27 1934

NEGRO LEAGUE CALLS SESSION

With several candidates for state offices slated as speakers, the convention of the Negro Economic, Commercial and Political league of California will be held in San Bernardino next Wednesday.

Several thousand members of the league will convene at the National Orange Show building for an all-day session.

Among the political candidates slated to address the group are Upton Sinclair, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, and Frank F. Merriam, lieutenant governor, and seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Political issues and problems are the only topics slated for discussion at the convention, which was called expressly for this purpose.

Theodore Howard of Los Angeles, president of the state league, will preside.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a. m. and will continue until late in the afternoon. Various concessions will be set up in the exposition building, and meals will be obtainable at the cafeteria.

A large delegation from San Bernardino is expected at the meeting, according to W. W. Muckelroy, president of the local organization of the league and also president of the Negro Progressive Study club.

Mr. Muckelroy has been in charge of arrangements for the event.

Mrs. Marie Muckelroy has been assisting in arrangements and Mrs. C. D. Jolly is chairman of the music committee.

VALLEJO, CAL.
TIMES HERALD

AUG 12 1938

Colored People to Hear Candidates

The Vallejo branch of the N. A. A. C. D. will hold a meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Second Baptist Church on the corner of Branciforte and Carolina streets. All candidates for office in the 1934 elections have been asked to attend the meeting and speak. The public is invited to hear the speeches of the candidates.

Sinclair Asks Check on Film Foes' Attacks

Herald 10-29-34

Demands Congressional Investigation of Screen Drive to Elect Governor Merriam

New York, N.Y.

Fake Propaganda Hinted

Message to Hays Calls for Repudiation of Activities

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Upton Sinclair today made public telegrams asking Congressional investigation of what he charged was "false propaganda in motion pictures."

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate addressed the telegrams to Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Representative Wright Patman, of Texas. A third telegram advised Will Hays, head of the Motion Picture producers and Distributors of America, of his action.

Sinclair's telegram said "The Hollywood Reporter," "official publication of motion picture interests, openly boasted in its issue of Friday, October 26, that Louis B. Mayer, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; C. C. Pettijohn general counsel of the Hays Association, and Carey Wilson and Irving Thalberg, producers," who he said had been most criticized for their pictures, "entered a war against me and are aiding the Merriam campaign."

False Propaganda Charged

"Have also made undenied charge," he said, "that these men produced false propaganda in pictures under the title 'Inquiring Reporter,' which is falsely influencing California voters.

"Whether or not you sympathize with me on my platform is beside the point. If the picture industry is permitted to defeat unworthy candidates it can be used to defeat worthy candidates. If it can be used to influence voters justly, it can be used to influence voters unjustly.

"I telegraphed Hays charging false propaganda and that Pettijohn claims to represent the entire industry and requested Hays to vertify by wire. Hays refused to verify, stating merely Pettijohn is a Democrat.

"I have evidence that Pettijohn . . . helped Hays elect Harding and Coolidge. . . .

"Will you assist me, regardless of the success of my candidacy, in a Congressional investigation of the motion picture industry, including efforts of the Legion of Decency to clean pictures of block book and blind buying that have crushed indeepndent exhibitors of the country, and also with the purpose of a full, fair and complete investigation of political activities of the motion picture industry in this and other campaigns to the end of Federal supervision as was effected in the meat packing industry through my activities in 1905?"

Repudiation Asked for Hays

In his telegram to Hays, Sinclair said, in part:

"I ask you to state whether your organization sanctions the making of lying motion pictures to defeat a people's candidate for the governorship of California. I expect and demand an explicit repudiation from your organization of Mr. Pettijohn's activities. I am wiring Senator Walsh and Congressman Patman asking an immediate investigation of this matter.

"I intend to let the people of California know what crooked political motion pictures are being made and who is making and sanctioning them."

Pettijhon spoke at a rally of Republicans and Democrats opposed to Sinclair at San Clemente today.

Hawkins Defeats Roberts for California Assembly

Herald 10-29-34

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Augustus F. Hawkins, 28 years old, former soda jerker, made history within the state when he defeated Fred Roberts for the seat in the state legislature which Roberts has held for sixteen years.

Mr. Roberts is alleged to have spent $25,000 among his friends in an effort to become elected. Mr. Hawkins spent less than $100 on his campaign.

Mr. Hawkins worked hard. He made two speeches or more, many evenings during the campaign. He was assisted by a group of young men. S.E.R.A.

California Voters Back Upton Sinclair in His Fight for Governor

Herald 10-29-34

LOS ANGELES (By Loren Miller for ANP.) — Upton Sinclair is the biggest news in California, and the nation.

Colored precincts went as heavily for Sinclair as did white precincts and despite the personal endorsement of Emmett J. Scott, George Creel ran far behind.

That can be accounted for by the fact that new colored persons here are industrial workers. The great rubber factories and other industrial plants discriminate against them. Most colored workers have been personal servants but the bankrupt white middle class is no longer able to employ them.

Daily newspapers carry columns of advertisements offering ten dollars a week for servants and there are plenty of replies. The Welfare Bureau forces single women to work for $15 a month by removing them from the charity rolls if they refuse such jobs.

Small wonder there is discontent. That discontent is not only reflected in the voting for Sinclair but in the constant demand on public authorities for jobs. Right now there is a drive on for high school teachers, positions colored persons have always been refused.

Political – 1934

Elections.

California.

Upton Sinclair, Radical

THE MOST INSPIRING news of the week from the West Coast is the $1,010,000 libel suit filed by the Rev. W. A. Johnson of Los Angeles against Upton Sinclair, defeated Democratic gubernatorial candidate of California, and the Nation magazine. The minister charges that Sinclair libeled him in a recent article in the Nation when he wrote that every Negro pastor in Los Angeles received $50 to preach a sermon against the former Socialist in the California election last November.

Christian News

12-15-34

The Nation article clearly exposes the latent prejudice of Sinclair and his ilk of radical. A Southerner by birth, Upton Sinclair, the most prolific of all radical writers, has bitterly attacked every phase of our social system except the race question. In "The Jungle" he ruthlessly exposed the oppression of (white) labor; "The Brass Check" hit at the evils of the press; "Boston" struck at the American conception of justice, and hundreds of other books and pamphlets have castigated our system for everything except its treatment of the Negro.

New York Times

And then in the Nation article Sinclair repays the support given him by thousands of California Negroes by calmly insulting the whole race through its clergy. This support had been given him, too, despite his repeated refusals to reveal just what he intended to do about the particular problems of the Negro under California's archaic statutes.

Equally guilty with Sinclair is the Nation magazine. As a liberal organ with definite leanings to the Left the magazine, should have insisted upon substantiation of such a serious charge against a whole race or should have demanded that the unsupported reference be stricken out.

We are rather ashamed of the Negroes whom we knew had voted for Frank F. Merriam in the recent California election, but it is possible that we owe them an apology. At least they knew that they could expect nothing from the figurehead of the state's reactionary Republican party. But even Frank Merriam would hardly have stooped as low as Upton Sinclair in defeat.

An Apology

Nation

TO THE EDITORS OF THE NATION:

I am informed that three Negro preachers returned fifty-dollar checks received from the Merriam headquarters. I owe these persons an apology. Of course many others, not regular preachers, did not receive such payments.

Pasadena, December 17 UPTON SINCLAIR

Nation Dec 26, 1934

[In Upton Sinclair's article in The Nation of November 28 he stated that "on the Sunday before Election Day every Negro preacher in Los Angeles received $50 to preach a sermon against me . . ."]

Political - 1934

Elections.

Communists.

Communists Name Slate In Chicago

Party Presents 11-Point Program in Spring Election Campaign

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 23. — The District Committee of the Communist Party has nominated the following candidates for offices in this city.

For Mayor, Karl Lockner, the outstanding mass leader of the unemployed.

For City Treasurer, Samuel T. Hammersmark, active for 40 years in the labor movement, former secretary of the Farmer-Labor Party of Cook County, at present District president of the International Workers Order.

For City Clerk, Herbert Newton, Communist Party leader among the Negro masses, known for his leadership in the struggles of the unemployed in the present struggle against the cut in relief and who has been arrested on the picket line in front of a relief station.

Demands Listed

The Communist Party enters the election campaign with a program of the following demands:

1) For the Workers Unemployment Insurance Bill H.R. 7598.

2) For Public Works: (a) Building of a subway in Chicago, (b) Building of workers' homes, (c) Building of hospitals, schools, parks and playgrounds. All workers on such public work projects to be employed at union wages and conditions, with a guarantee of 30 hours per week.

3) Pending passage of the Workers Unemployment Insurance Bill H.R. 7598, direct cash relief to be paid to all unemployed, at the rate of $8 per week for single workers, $13 per week for a family of two and $3 for each dependent.

4) For immediate winter relief shoes, new clothing, coal, blankets and other necessities.

5) For the right of the workers in the shops, on public works, work relief and unemployed to organize into unions and organizations of the unempolyed. For recognition of representatives of the unions and organizations of the unemployed at the Relief Stations.

6) Abolition of the Red Squad, against police terror, for the repeal of the sales tax, vagrancy laws, pauper act and the Illinois Criminal Syndicalist Law.

7) Against evictions and foreclosures of workers' homes. For the Farmers Relief Bill.

8) All funds appropriated for war and military purposes to be turned over for unemployment insurance and relief. Payment of soldiers' bonus.

9) Free hot lunches and clothing for the children of the unemployed and part time workers.

10) For full social, political and economic equality for the Negro people. Against Jim Crowism and segregation. Against discrimination of foreign born workers.

11) Against fascism, and imperialist war. For the defense of the Chinese people, the Chinese Soviet Republic and the Soviet Union. For the withdrawal of the United States army and navy from all colonics. For the support of the struggles of the Cuban masses against Yankee imperialism.

The Communist Party will, in cooperation with other working class organizations in every working class ward in the city, nominate united front candidates for aldermen on the same platform. The ward conferences will take place in December and a city-wide conference will take place in the middle of January.

Minor Is Chairman

To properly organize the election campaign in the proper direction, an Election Campaign Committee has been elected consisting of Bob Minor as chairman, A. Guss as manager, and the members of the committee are Karl Lockner, Herbert Newton and Beatrice Shields.

Ninety-one thousand signatures are required to place the Communist Party candidates on the ballot. The collection of signatures will start at once and end about February 21st. The Communist Party calls upon all voters in the city of Chicago to sign the petition of the Communist Party and for united front candidates in every ward and to abstain from voting in the primaries for Mayor, City Treasurer and City Clerk on February 26th. We urge and call upon all voters in every ward to go to the polls and vote for the united front candidates nominated in every ward.

The election campaign headquarters will be located at 101 S. Wells Street, Room 702.

Communists.

Political - 1934 Elections.

Ripe for Harvest

Post 10-5-34

Birmingham, recognized as the most vulnerable spot in the South, has been selected by the Communist movement as its Southern headquarters.

Birmingham, Ala.

Organizers and propagandists already have been sent into this field and are waiting for any cause which they can capitalize.

Widespread unemployment and our large negro population make this field ripe for the harvest. In view of such facts it would have been folly for the county board of registrars to have followed its first impulse yesterday and refused to permit Norman Ragland, illiterate negro, to enter the race for congress as the Communist candidate.

The Birmingham city commission already has provided the agitator with one issue when it passed an ordinance at its last meeting prohibiting the possession of more than one piece of Communist literature. The ordinance of course will not stand up in the courts and instead of helping to curb the agitator it will simply be so much fodder for his fire. All we need now is for some policeman to crack a Communist speech-maker over the head or lock a few up in jail for distributing literature and the "cause" will be off to a good start.

Communist Followers Enter Political Ticket

Post 10-6-34

Birmingham, Ala.

Candidates For Principal State Offices And Congress To Wage Active Campaigns; Negroes Join Whites In Demands For Protection Of Workers' Rights

By William B. Huie

When Jefferson county voters examine their ballots on Nov. 6, they will be convinced, once and for all, that politics does make strange bedfellows. For under the hammer and sickle of the Communist party will be written the names of four men—two of them white and two of them negroes.

Communism to the people of Jefferson county was once a vague doctrine which long-haired fanatics in the East spouted for the amusement of tourists. But today it is claimed that there are 3,000 members of the Communist party in Alabama and that there are thousands of other persons who are in sympathy with the movement.

John W. Davis, 58-year-old miner of Bessemer, is a candidate for the governorship, and Rance Smith, negro, is candidate for the lieutenant-governorship.

Norman Ragland, negro worker, of Ensley, has certified his candidacy to oppose Rep. George Huddleston for congress from the Ninth district.

A. M. Forsman, of Mobile, will complete the ticket. He will oppose Rep. John McDuffie for congress from the Firrt district.

Veteran In Fight

Davis, a Spanish-American war veteran, says he has been "fighting for rank and file control in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and carrying on the struggle of the worker against the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Co."

Ragland, unable to read or write, has been a T. C. I. miner for 24 years.

Communist leaders say equal numbers of whites and negroes are always chosen as candidates to symbolize the combined effort of the two races" to liberate themselves from the capitalistic yoke."

Has Paper's Support

The Southern Worker, weekly Communist organ published in Birmingham, will actively support the party ticket. It claims a circulation of 5,000, weekly.

Prominent demands in the party platform are for higher wages, shorter hours and improved living conditions.

The Communist party is unalterably opposed to what it terms the Roosevelt "Raw Deal" and contends that Democratic capitalism is no more or less vicious than the Republican variety.

During the recent textile strike, Communists were prominent on the picket lines. The party objected to Francis Gorman, national textile strike director, because "he turned yellow and compromised just as we knew he would."

Local Communist leaders claim that the majority of their support in this district is coming from families and persons on the relief rolls.

A major demand in the party platform is that all workers, irrespective of race or financial status, be allowed to vote without paying poll tax, and that negroes be accorded the same voting and office-holding privileges as whites.

Other planks in the platform are "against the growing trend toward Fascism," against compulsory arbitration, company unions, and the use of troops in strikes; against the sales tax, and against the taxation of persons with less than $3,000 per year income.

But Registry Board Threatens Workers Who Vote Communist

County Officials Declare They Will Find Out Names of All Who Dare to Cast Vote for Norman Ragland, Negro Communist Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 5.—The County Board of Registrars has been forced by the militant struggle of the Communist Party here to place Norman Ragland, Negro worker, on the ballot as candidate for Congress in the Ninth District.

Post 10-6-34

Birmingham, Ala.

In doing so, however, the Board made an ominous threat of discrimination against every worker who dares vote Communist here.

"Let him run," said Judge Horace B. Wilkinson to E. B. Cooper, chairman of the Board of Registrars in Jefferson County, "so we can see who votes for him."

Will Withhold Right to Vote

On the basis of this advice Cooper announced that Ragland's right to a place on the ballot would not be further contested but insisted that his name would be purged from the list of qualified voters in January on the grounds that he can't read and write.

"I couldn't conceive of anything more ridiculous than a nigger running for office on the Communist ticket in Alabama,' Judge Wilkinson said. This will be the first time since Civil War reconstruction days that a Negro has qualified as a candidate for a major political office in this county, which is the stronghold of the Tennesse Coal and Iron Company and industrial center of the deep South.

Worker Fined $50

"Neither Wilkinson, Cooper nor other officials could tell how it would be possible for them to "see who votes for him," but the implication of Fascist annulment of the secret ballot is obvious.

Helen Long was fined $50 and costs yesterday on a framed-up charges of "aggravated disorderly conduct for distributing the Communist Congressional election platform in Fairfield, an important industrial mill town controlled by the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company.

Ragland has been a railroad worker for the company for twenty years, and was recently thrown out of a job along with thousands of others.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
POST

OCT 5 1934

Ripe for Harvest

Birmingham, recognized as the most vulnerable spot in the South, has been selected by the Communist movement as its Southern headquarters.

Organizers and propagandists already have been sent into this field and are waiting for any cause which they can capitalize.

Widespread unemployment and our large negro population make this field ripe for the harvest. In view of such facts it would have been folly for the county board of registrars to have followed its first impulse yesterday and refused to permit Norman Ragland, illiterate negro, to enter the race for congress as the Communist candidate.

The Birmingham city commission already has provided the agitator with one issue when it passed an ordinance at its last meeting prohibiting the possession of more than one piece of Communist literature. The ordinance of course will not stand up in the courts and instead of helping to curb the agitator it will simply be so much fodder for his fire. All we need now is for some policeman to crack a Communist speech-maker over the head or lock a few up in jail for distributing literature and the "cause" will be off to a good start.

Rumblings in Army Resound In Big Scottsboro Rallies

Ford Tells of Rape Frame-Up During War in Bar Le Duc

By JAMES W. FORD

(Communist Candidate for Congress in 21st District, Harlem)

"Rape." The word spread through the garrison as if by invisible wires. It was whispered to me by one of my buddies. He told me that a woman had complained of an attack by one of the men in our regiment.

Ours was the 325th Field Signal Battalion. We were all Negroes except, of course, the officers, and we were stationed at Bar Le Duc, in 1918.

When the story of the supposed attack spread through the outfit we were all rather worried. In the first place, we did not believe the story. Our men all knew the danger of such a thing and that it would come especially hard on us because we were Negroes. The Negroes always got the worst of everything and war time was no exception despite the sweet promises that were handed out to us.

However, this woman, a camp follower, claimed that one of our men had attacked her and demanded to inspect our whole outfit to identify the offender. Our officers consented to this plan and picked a day.

We knew that, if only to save "face," this woman would probably pick on one of our men and have him framed-up for the crime. Everyone of us knew that he might possibly be picked and resentment ran high. Something had to be done.

Almost spontaneously we started rumors and rumblings to the effect that if anyone dared to pick on one of our men "something terrible" was going to happen. The officers and everyone around us received the implications of the whole affair.

Nothing definite was done by us. There was really little more that we could do. We were simply bluffing the whole thing by assuming righteous indignation.

It worked. We probably put the fear of Satan into the officers.

They lined us up like cattle. The woman walked past the lines of men but unfortunately she could not find the offender.

Now, it will always remain a question whether she had been politely warned that it would be a very bad idea to pick the "villain" from the line-up, or whether she really could not find him. But to the men in our outfit it was a victory brought about by organized potential pressure and the fact that we all stuck together in spreading fear into the hearts (if they possess them) of the officers.

The red herring of "rape" must be pickled by men and women of the Negro race today, together with the revolutionary white workers and sympathizers. The Communist Party has been the lone political party, during these three years of the frame-up of the Scottsboro boys, by its energetic fight and clear understanding of Negro oppression, to make this fight one for Negroe liberation. Every Negro should vote the Communist ticket in the elections, for the freedom of the Scottsboro boys.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA
POST
OCT 4 1934

NEGRO QUALIFIES TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Communist Party Supports Illiterate In Race

For the first time since reconstruction days, a negro today has qualified for a major political office from Jefferson county.

Norman Ragland, negro, who lives in the rear of 1420 Avenue K, Ensley, filed in probate court a declaration of candidacy for representative in congress from the Ninth District. Ragland will oppose Rep. George Huddleston.

Ragland was unable to sign his name to the qualification papers and was forced to make his mark before W. E. Shortlidge, notary.

Immediately after Ragland had filed his notice of candidacy, L. B. Cooper, chairman of the board of registrars, moved that his name be purged from the list on the grounds that Ragland could neither read nor write.

Mr. Cooper, however, withdrew his motion, after he had been advised by Attorney Horace C. Wilkinson to "let him run so we can see who votes for him."

Ragland is supporteed by the Communist party of Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
POST
OCT 6 1934

Communist Followers Enter Political Ticket

Candidates For Principal State Offices And Congress To Wage Active Campaigns; Negroes Join Whites In Demands For Protection Of Workers' Rights

By William B. Huie

When Jefferson county voters examine their ballots on Nov. 6, they will be convinced, once and for all, that politics does make strange bedfellows. For under the hammer and sickle of the Communist party will be written the names of four men—two of them white and two of them negroes.

Communism to the people of Jefferson county was once a vague doctrine which long-haired fanatics in the East spouted for the amusement of tourists. But today it is claimed that there are 3,000 members of the Communist party in Alabama and that there are thousands of other persons who are in sympathy with the movement.

John W. Davis, 58-year-old miner of Bessemer, is a candidate for the governorship, and Rance Smith, negro, is candidate for the lieutenant-governorship.

Norman Ragland, negro worker, of Ensley, has certified his candidacy to oppose Rep. George Huddleston for congress from the Ninth district.

A. M. Forsman, of Mobile, will complete the ticket. He will oppose Rep. John McDuffie for congress from the Firrt district.

Veteran In Fight

Davis, a Spanish-American war veteran, says he has been "fighting for rank and file control in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and carrying on the struggle of the worker against the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Co."

Ragland, unable to read or write, has been a T. C. I. miner for 24 years.

Communist leaders say equal numbers of whites and negroes are always chosen as candidates to symbolize the combined effort of the two races" to liberate themselves from the capitalistic yoke."

Has Paper's Support

The Southern Worker, weekly Communist organ published in Birmingham, will actively support the party ticket. It claims a circulation of 5,000, weekly.

Prominent demands in the party platform are for higher wages, shorter hours and improved living conditions.

The Communist party is unalterably opposed to what it terms the Roosevelt "Raw Deal" and contends that Democratic capitalism is no more or less vicious than the Republican variety.

During the recent textile strike, Communists were prominent on the picket lines. The party objected to Francis Gorman, national textile strike director, because "he turned yellow and compromised just as we knew he would."

Local Communist leaders claim that the majority of their support in this district is coming from families and persons on the relief rolls.

A major demand in the party platform is that all workers, irrespective of race or financial status, be allowed to vote without paying poll tax, and that negroes be accorded the same voting and office-holding privileges as whites.

Other planks in the platform are "against the growing trend toward Fascism," against compulsory arbitration, company unions, and the use of troops in strikes; against the sales tax, and against the taxation of persons with less than $3,000 per year income.

KANSAS CITY, MO.
JOURNAL POST
OCT 20 1934

Iowa's Radicalism.

For two years Iowa, one of the most conservative states before the depression, has been in a condition of resentment, as was indicated by the farm strikes. And now, for the first time, Communists are running for public office in Iowa. Indeed, they have a complete state ticket, including a Negro candidate for lieutenant governor.

This does not mean that many Iowans have actually turned Communistic. If the new party gets a sizable vote, it will merely mean that some of the citizens are using the ticket as a means of protest.

For Iowa radicalism is overwhelmingly agrarian, there being comparatively few industrial workers in the state. Agrarian radicalism, in this country or elsewhere, is seldom Socialistic. It demands inflation, lower interest rates and price fixing, but not government ownership of the means of production.

Tillers of the soil are the strongest believers in private ownership. Their ruling passion is to have land of their own. Their chief aversions are burdensome debts, high taxes, big landed estates and dictation by the state.

One of the most harassing problems of the Bolsheviks lay in the fact that the millions of Russian peasants are not genuine Communists. The Spanish peasants who took part in the recent rebellion under Socialist leadership do not want collective farming. They want the big unproductive estates parceled out to individuals.

What has upset the Iowa farmers is the fear that they will lose their farms. They are not Communists in any sense. They are enraged capitalists, seeking means of retaining their private holdings.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Communists

Communists Name Three Negroes For Congress Posts

RICHMOND, Va. — Communists at a state wide political meeting held here last week nominated three Negroes for congressional posts and laid plans for an intensive campaign in their behalf.

The nominations of two members of the party, one colored and one white an investigation of their qualifications is being made.

The three nominated by 26 party delegates from Roanoke, Newport News, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Charlottesville and West Munden are Alexander Wright, Norfolk, for United States Senator from Virginia; the Rev. Herbert Carrington, Norfolk, for congressinal representative from the first district and Addison Gale Newport News, representative from the second congressional district.

The candidates have already obtained the endorsement of the Jewish International Workers Order.

Wright is Tidewater elections director of the Communist party and National representative of the Marine Workers Industrial Union. Rev. Mr. Carrington is a member of the Norfolk staff of the International Labor Defense while Gale is the Newport News organizer for the I. L. D.

In addition to the 26 party delegates at the session held at the True Reformers Hall, there were 17 fraternal delegates and a large number of sympathizers who had no voice in the meeting.

Mr. Wright indicated to the press that a state wide tour which is being arranged for him will carry him to those places workers reside in greatest numbers as his platform, which is to be announced shortly, will appeal especially to the laborer.

IN THE HOME

By HELEN LUKE

Two of the women running for office on the Communist ticket of New York Ctate are Williana Burroughs and Rose Wortis.

Burroughs is the 'running-mate' of I. Amter, candidate for Governor. Amter (born in Montana) has been a well-known labor leader for many years, being a pioneer in the Unemployment Council movement. Along with Foster and Minor he was beaten in the great Unemployed demonstrations of March 6, 1930, after which they served terms at Welfare Island. At this time he is National Secretary of the Unemployment Councils.

WILLIANA BURROUGHS

Burroughs is candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. Her story appeared in this column May 1, 1934. She is the granddaughter of Negroes who were slaves. Her widowed mother brought Williana, with her two other children, to New York when the youngsters were very small, and sought housework as a means of subsistence.

Williana worked her way through school and college, becoming a teacher in the public schools. After a long record of successful teaching she and Isidore Begun were suspended by the school board for defending I. Blumberg, another N. Y. school teacher who was fired for activity in the economic interests of teachers.

As a candidate for city controller in 1933 she polled 30,749 votes.

Is now supervisor of the Harlem Workers' School and otherwise active in behalf of the working class.

Vote for Amter.

Vote for Burroughs.

Vote Communist for genuine Workers' Social and Unemployment Insurance and for the protection of academic freedom, civil rights and employment conditions of teachers and civil servants.

NEGRO WOMAN TORUN FOR MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE

BOSTON, Mass. - (CNA) A Negro woman will run for office in the Massachusetts state legislature for the first time this fall, when Mrs. Mary E. Moore opens her campaign for a seat in the House of Representatives. Mrs. Moore has been nominated by the Communist Party.

Horace Riley, another Negro, has been named by the Communist Party as its candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

Mrs. Moore organised the first neighborhood Scottsboro defense club in Boston. She was a delegate of the Boston workers to the Scottsboro defense march to Washington in 1932. In February of this year, she was arrested for her part in the picketing of Boston chain stores - a struggle which resulted in three Negro men being placed in various chain stores to train as managers.

LEADING COMMUNIST PARTY CANDIDATES FOR NEW YORK STATE ELECTIONS IN NOVEMBER

Daily Worker 8-22-34 New York Daily

The candidates (l. to r.) are: Israel Amter, for Governor; William J. Burroughs, for Lieutenant-Governor; Fred Bruel, for Attorney-General; Max Bedacht, for U. S. Senator; Rose Wortis, for State Comptroller; Clarence Hathaway, for Congressman, Seventh District, Kings County; Carl Brodsky, for Assembly, Eighth District, New York County; Emanuel Levin and Henry Sheppard, for Congress-at-Large, and Ben Gold, for Assembly, Seventh District, Bronx County.

Political-1934
Elections.

Communists-

The Story of Pettis Perry, Candidate for Lieut. Gov. of California

By PETTIS PERRY

I WAS born in 1897, January 4th, in Marion, Alabama (County seat of Perry County). Marion is a small town of between 5,000 and 7,000 population. My parents were tenant farmers. I began work on a farm when I was very young—about 7 years of age.

Daily Worker

I began to see the intense persecution of the Negro people when I was a boy of ten. Early one morning my uncle and I were in the little town of Marion Junction, which is about ten miles or so from Marion. We were there to gin some cotton. Seeing that there was a lot of cotton already waiting to be ginned, I realized that we would be quite a few hours waiting our turn. I decided to go walking all alone. I walked about three or four miles out of town. There I found a bunch of prisoners on the Dallas County chain gang.

PETTIS PERRY

One of the prisoners was not working to suit the chain gang boss. He ordered this man's clothes stripped off and began beating him. He was beaten until the blood ran from him like water runs downstream. The boss then remarked to one of the prisoners, who I learned was a trusty, that this man should be taken and "salted down." I later inquired as to the meaning of such a statement and was informed that when one of the prisoners was lazy and had to be beaten, it was customary to rub salt into the inflicted wounds in order to "teach him a lesson."

I was horrified at such brutality against a human being. Of course, I dared not mention this to my uncle. I knew that it was dangerous to visit prisoners that were on the gangs because very often there was an escape and guards started firing and there was danger of one being shot. I tried to figure out the reason anyone should be treated like this.

ONE day my uncle, who was deputy sheriff of Perry County, informed me that Bill George Shelly, who was one time Warden of the State Penitentiary of Alabama, had a ruling that when prisoners were unable to fulfill their task and had to be punished as much as two or three times and still couldn't come up to the task, they would then be stretched out on a blanket and "hospitaled." This meant that his shirt would be stripped off, he would be stretched out on a blanket and given three licks under the arm with a real heavy strap. No one was ever known to survive this treatment. I was told by my uncle that the warden's wife left him and threatened to get her divorce on these grounds (his brutality), and he resigned rather than lose his wife. Whether this same brutality existed afterwards I do not know; however, I don't think it was broken up.

After seeing and hearing such things in my own native state, I began to question whether or not there were better places in the world for Negroes. I was informed by my uncle, who raised me, and in whom I had a lot of confidence, that certain sections of the country were better. Before leaving the State of Alabama, I began to observe other things; such as, the share-croppers, wage workers and tenant farmers. The wage workers usually were promised $12.00 a month, but at the end of each month the majority of the landlords would have other business to attend to. This would go on until about the last of the year. Any money received by the wage workers during this time would seldom be in the form of back pay, but only as a loan. The result was that they would be continually in debt. My hate for Alabama then grew greater than ever before, but after leaving that state I could still feel the strong arm of oppression.

Leaving Hampton Roads on the eve of the armistice, I went to reside in Philadelphia. I noticed even after the war that conditions as far as the Negroes were concerned had not changed any. I gave up all hopes of freedom then.

In 1920 I came to San Bernardino, California, and went to apply for a job in the Santa Fe shops. I was chased out by a railroad bull. I then went to Colton and found employment with the California-Portland Cement Company for two years. In 1922, during the Brotherhood strike, this same cop wanted to get me a job in the Santa Fe shops. When I reminded him of this other occasion, he replied that he was only carrying out instructions, but having seen other cases where Negroes were used as strikebreakers I knew what would be the result after the strike. However, the company was able to ship in a lot of scabs, of whom a good many were Negroes.

One Negro boy that I was well acquainted with was among the scabs. I explained to him that he would have no job after the strike. Two days later, on his way home a bunch of strikers began chasing him. He fired a few shots and killed one of the strikers, and, of course, because the law was protecting private property, had the full protection of the law. This, of course, inflamed the worst kind of race hatred throughout San Bernardino County. After the strike was broken, as usual, the Negro workers began to find themselves back in the ranks of the unemployed.

AFTER leaving Colton, I went to San Diego and I began work for the Pacific Cotton Oil Company. This is seasonal work, usually fall and winter. Every spring and summer from 1924 to 1930 I was in Imperial Valley working in the watermelons, hay, etc.

Until this period I had no hopes that labor, white and black, would ever get together as a class. Just before the Imperial Valley raids and arrests, I did a little work in connection with the Cannery and Agricultural Workers Industrial Union. I was not a member. I had never been asked to join. Nevertheless, I saw the good work they were doing for the Filipinos and Mexicans, who suffered a lot under the most miserable conditions. This expression of solidarity gave me great hopes for the future.

Then the Scottsboro boys were arrested and the International Labor Defense came into the fight. I could see that there were great hopes for the future liberation of the Negro people. I recognized throughout the whole struggle that the Communist Party was the only political party that mobilized its entire membership for the struggle for the liberation not only of the Scottsboro boys but of the whole working class, while the Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, etc., were suppressing every expression of struggle in the name of law and order.

I became active in the Scottsboro Action Committee, later as a member of the Executive Committee of the Unemployed Council, after which I became Section Organizer, Section 2, International Labor Defense. I was instrumental in forming the first L. S. N. R. branch in Los Angeles. At present, I am District Organizer, District 14, International Labor Defense.

ON THE basis of these experiences, I feel that if elected to office, I am more capable of fighting for the needs of the working class than any of my opponents. However, during the campaign, I shall make it clear that a vote for me is not for an individual, but a vote for the only Party fighting in the interests of the working class—the Communist Party.

A vote for the Communist Party is a vote against wage cuts, a vote against discrimination, a vote against deportations, a vote against the C. S. law, a vote for unemployment insurance, a vote for economic, political and social equality and for the right of self-determination for the Negro people in the Black Belt.

It is a vote against war and against fascism. It means a vote for the freedom of Tom Mooney, the Scottsboro boys, Angelo Herndon, and all class war prisoners, a vote against vigilante terror and finally a vote against the whole system of capitalist oppression.

Vote Communist! Join the Communist Party!

Dispatch
RICHMOND
VIRGINIA
OCT 12 1934

Communist Candidate Opposes Sales Tax

A sales tax, such as has been suggested for Virginia as an emergency possibility already invoked by 16 States, would mean "chipping off a piece of the loaf of bread of the children of the working people," Alexander Wright, Communist candidate for the Senate, said yesterday.

"Why do not Mayor Bright and others who are for a sales tax for unemployment relief raise the question of taxing those who have the money—the power and textile companies, for example?"

He said he did not favor taxing working people and small business men through a sales tax, but wanted a "steeply graduated and greatly increased tax" on the Virginia Electric and Power Company "and other rich concerns which made their millions out of the toil of Virginia workers."

Mr. Wright favored a bill to give the idle cash relief and opposed the Wagner bill for unemployment insurance, which, he claimed, would exclude "the majority of Negroes." He also opposed "Jim-Crowism and lynching," urging equal rights for Negroes.

Alabama Communists Demand Right of All To Vote in Elections

Daily Worker

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 1.—Despite the terror that prevails in Alabama the Communist Party held an election conference. It was attended by scores of Negro and white delegates who had been elected by workers' groups. 11-2-34

To prevent attacks the conference was held at an unannounced place and time. The delegates pledged themselves to intensify the struggle for the right to vote. A committee was selected to go to the Jefferson County election offices on Monday at 3 p.m. to present the demands of the convention.

The Communist Party and the campaign committee calls on the workers to back up the committee with their presence when the committee presents its demands. They include the right of everyone to vote without payment of poll tax, and no discrimination against Negroes through education, property, and grandfather clauses.

FORD URGES NEGRO VETERANS TO VOTE FOR C. P. TICKET

Daily Worker 10-17-34

Communist Candidate for Congress in Harlem Tells How Negro Soldiers Were Treated in U. S. Army During World War

By James W. Ford

Candidate for Congress in the 21st District, Harlem

"Life and death issues face the Negro people at every turn today." The hateful question of jim-crowism pops up in the life of every man, woman and child of the Negro race. The jim-crow policies of the ruling class prevail everywhere. I want to touch briefly on how Negro soldiers were

QUICK MASS ACTIONS ARE CALLED FOR

Conviction Would Doom Thousands of Others, Says Committee

LISTS DIRECTIVES

Immediate Steps Urged As Secret 'Trial' May Have Begun

Declaring that the fate of Ernst Thaelmann, leader of the German workers, now facing trial in fascist Germany, is the concern of "every individual and organization opposed to the Hitler regime, its atrocities and persecutions," a call of the National Committee to Aid the Victims of German fascism points out specific means of widening the fight for Thaelmann's liberation.

The fact must be broadly popularized, the letter declares, that "if Ernst Thaelmann is convicted, then there will immediately follow the trials of other outstanding individuals now in Hitler's concentration camps who are not of Thaelmann's political convictions. We can expect that following the trial of Thaelmann before the 'People's Court' leading pacifists, trade-unionists, intellectuals, Socialists, Jews and Christians will meet the same fate."

Because of the urgency of the situation (Thaelmann's trial behind closed doors, if not taking place at this moment, will occur any day), all organizations opposing fascism and Hitlerism as well as all city committees of the National Committee to Aid the Victims of Hitler Fascism are requested to raise to a much higher level the movement to save Thaelmann's life. The letter adds, "We have very little time in which to act, and immediate mobilization of all committees and groups must be undertaken today. We request you to carry out the following activities:

"1. Renew and increase the committees to visit the German consulates.

"2. Renew and increase the telephoning of the consulates by hundreds and thousands of individuals in your city.

"3. Flood the 'People's Court,' Berlin, Germany, with resolutions demanding the freedom of Ernst Thaelmann.

"4. Request that groups, organizations and hundreds of individuals at once write a registered letter, return receipt demanded, to Ernst Thaelmann, 'People's Court,' Berlin, Germany, assuring Thaelmann of their support in the demand for his liberation.

"5. Renew picketing at the German consulates.

"6. Broaden the campaign for a million signatures to free Ernst Thaelmann.

"7. Assist in initiating mass demonstrations before the German consulate in your city. Such mass demonstration should occur within the next few days.

"8. Induce all sympathetic organizations and groups to name a Liberation Committee of Three, this committee to be in daily contact with your center to help in the above tasks.

"9. Hold special meetings of attorneys so that they may launch an effective protest. Call special meetings of other professionals. Secure protests from outstanding people in the public life of your city.

"These are the tasks which will mobilize masses of sympathizers and which will effectively notify the Hitler regime that Thaelmann has the support of hundreds of thousands of friends in all parts of the United States. Get into action immediately.

Demonstration in Chicago Loop

(Daily Worker Midwest Bureau)

CHICAGO. Oct. 15.—State Street and Madison Avenue, the heart of Chicago's teeming Loop, was the scene of a militant noon-day demonstration today demanding the freedom of Ernst Thaelmann.

More than 300 workers who flocked to the meeting, which lasted only a short time, heard Dave Brown of the Communist Party condemn Brown-Shirt terror

N. Y. HERALD

OCT 29 1934

Farm Troubles Put Iowa Reds Into Campaign

Communists Enter Ticket in State With Record as Rock-Ribbed Republican Drought Aided Radicals

Party Talks Revolution to Once Prosperous Farmers

By The United Press

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 28 (UP).—Born of agricultural unrest and unemployment, a Communist party strong enough to place a full ticket before voters in the November 6 election—but admittedly with no hope of topping even the four minority parties—was at work tonight throughout Iowa.

The Communists claim a following of several thousand in this state, which, until 1932, was considered one of the strongest outposts of conservative Republicanism. Farm strikes, drought and unemployment have contributed to the ranks.

The arm-and-sickle emblem of Communism blazes openly from campaign headquarters in a dozen cities. Men talk to miners in the coal fields and openly style themselves "reds." Workers for the party talk militant revolution along roadside fences to farmers who, in twenty counties, didn't raise an ear of corn because of the drought.

The party secretary, Jim Porter, and the candidate for Governor, Ira Meade, are under indictment for criminal syndicalism. The Lieutenant Governor candidate, Robert T. Conroy, is a Negro. The candidate for attorney general has never been to college and is not an attorney. The candidate for state treasurer is the daughter of a tenant farmer.

There will be no candidate for secretary of agriculture, although his name will appear on the ballot. Henry Lansing, who was the candidate, was expelled by comrades for disruptive tactics two weeks ago.

Communism had its birth in this state in one of the oldest and most reactionary of Iowa cities, Dubuque, which has a wide American Legion and Catholic church affiliation. The christening was in a third-floor back apartment in the spring of 1932, from which it spread under the impetus of the "caw war" in southern Iowa.

First, Dan W. Turner, Republican former Governor, called out the militia to quell a farm disturbance. His Democratic successor, Clyde L. Herring, stemmed a farm strike by calling the National Guard. Foes of militia as a means of settling strike and labor disputes are in consequence being recruited by the Communist party in the present campaign, leaders declare.

As farm unrest spread so grew the party. It seeped into the Northwest and founded a local at Sioux City, which went out on the highway and picketed with striking farmers. tI spread into the coal elds of central Iowa and to manufacturing towns. Then came the summer drought, and communism pushed into the normally prosperous farm lands of southern Iowa, untouched by the farmer strike and allied disturbances.

Meade, slender, black-haired, blue-eyed gubernatorial candidate, is a veteran of labor unrest. He lost his first job for participating in a strike. He lost his farm for non-payment of taxes. He was discharged from Gary (Ind.) steel mills for strike activities. His radical ideas were born in Northwestern wheat fields. On July 10 he was indicted by the Polk County (Iowa) Grand Jury on charges of criminal syndicalism for allegedly persuading county relief workers to strike.

Colorado.

Political - 1934
Elections.

COLORADANS FACE DIFFICULT CHOICE

By FRITZ CANSLER

DENVER, Colo., July 26.—Members of the race here will have a difficult time deciding which of the candidates in the forthcoming Democratic primary for governor most deserves support on the basis of their respective records and the interest which both the leading candidates and their chief supporters have shown in matters where Negro rights were involved.

Governor E .C. Johnson is being opposed by Miss Josephine Roach, president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company, in a race which is attracting nation-wide attention. Miss Roach is backed by Senator E. P. Costigan, author of the famous anti-lynching bill, and Assistant Secretary Oscar L. Chapman of the Interior Department. The affairs of Howard University are under the immediate supervision of Mr. Chapman's office. He is also a leading politician of the State of Colorado.

Governor Johnson has endeared himself to the members of the race by a number of official acts since he succeeded to the governorship two years ago. He was the first governor of any State to set aside by official proclamation the week embracing Lincoln's birthday as "Race Relations Week," and to call upon the citizens to give thought to the matter in a special way during the time originally specified by the Commission of Race Relations of the Federal Council of Churches. He also paroled young Gerard Douglass, an act which was widely discussed by the papers of the region, with the colored press particularly praising the governor.

The primary will be held in September, when a Republican nominee will also be selected. For many years there has been a definite trend of the colored vote toward the Democratic party, and it will doubtless be accenuated this year with the intense rivalry and divided interest between the leading candidates for the nomination.

NOMINATE DENVER ATTORNEY FOR COLORADO LEGISLATURE

Pittsburgh Courier 9-28-34

DENVER.—(ANP)—At the primary election Tuesday, September 18, Major Thomas Campbell, Spanish American War veteran and prominent attorney for more than 25 years, was selected by a large vote to be candidate on the Republican ticket for the legislature in the November election.

Attorney Campbell stood eighth in a list of more than a two score of candidates, 15 of whom were designated. He polled close to 10,000, votes as an evidence of the enthusiasm and interest which were occasioned by his candidacy.

Mr. Campbell's nomination marks the first time in a number of years that a member of the race has won the high designation for a place in the state legislature and many of the citizens see in the large vote cast for him a sincere desire on the part of the Republican party to give greater recognition to the colored voters and citizens of the state.

9-28-34

His candidacy was endorsed by all of the leading clubs and political organizations prior to the primary election, and plans are being made by his friends of both races to secure for him an equally generous amount of support in the general election which is to take place on November 6.

Attorney Campbell is a graduate of Howard law school, a member of the local bar, of the National bar Association, and other local and national organization. He is prominent layman of the A. M. E. church and serves on the official board of the Shorter church of Denver. The general interest which his candidacy has evoked seems to assure his election in November.

Denver Republicans Nominate Negro Atty For State Legislature

Chicago Defender 9-28-34

By FRITZ CANSLER

DENVED, Colo.—At the Primary election Tuesday, September 11, Major Thomas Campbell, Spanish-American War veteran and prominent attorney for more than twenty-five years, was selected by a large vote to be a candidate on the Republican ticket for the legislature in the November election. Attorney Campbell stood eighth in a list of more than two scores of candidates, fifteen of whom were designated. He polled close to ten thousand votes as an evidence of the enthusiasm and interest which were occasioned by his candidacy.

New York Times 9-28-34

Mr. Campbell's nomination marks the first time in a number of years that a member of the race has won the high designation for a place in the State legislature and many of the citizens see in the large vote cast for him a sincere desire on the part of the Republican Party to give greater recognition to the colored voters and citizens of the state. His candidacy was endorsed by all of the leading clubs and political organizations prior to the primary election, and plans are being made by his friends of both races to secure for him an equally generous amount of support in the general election which is to take place on November 6 of this year.

Attorney Campbell is a graduate of Howard Law School, a member of the local bar, of the National Bar Association, and other local and national organizations.

Connecticut.

Political - 1934

Elections.

HARTFORD, CONN.
TIMES

MAY 5 1934

COLORED VOTERS' LEAGUE.

The annual meeting of the Colored Voters' league will be held on Monday evening, May 7 at 8:30 in the vestry of the Mt. Olive church, No. 18 Bellevue street. Officers will be elected.

Political - 1934

Elections.

D.C.

COBB AND SCOTT OUT OF JUDGE RACE—FARLEY

Afro-American 5-26-34

Postmaster General Says Neither Will Be Appointed

Baltimore, Md.

STILL SEEKING "SUITABLE" MAN

Richard Horner Denies Candidacy.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Although James A. Farley, postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has indicated that Judge James A. Cobb of the Municipal Court will be replaced, the Washington Daily News, a Scripps-Howard paper, is waging an unrelenting fight in his behalf.

Under the caption, "A Little Too Farley," it said editorially last Friday:

"The performance of the present administration in the matter of the District Municipal Court is becoming grotesque.

"The nomination, of course, rests with the President. By long and proper custom, he receives recommendations as to the judiciary from the Department of Justice. In the present instance, however, the attorney general seems to have waived his right and duty in the premises in favor of the postmaster general (and Democratic National Chairman).

"The latter, with the assistance of subordinates, has been combing the colored population of the District for weeks in search of a 'satisfactory' candidate. One possibility after another has been brought forward only to be dropped as unsuitable.

Record Unsurpassed

"Meantime, the unanimous nominee of the three Distrct bar associations is pushed aside. Judge James A. Cobb, colored incumbent, with a record unsurpassed by any judge on the District bench, for some reason does not meet the postmaster general's idea of what a judge should be.

"The situation is hardly flattering to the postmaster general and the attorney general, or, for that matter, to the chief executive in whose name they act."

Bar Groups Protest

The editorial comment followed a press conference, at which Postmaster General Farley told newspapermen that Judge Cobb is definitely not being considered for reappointment, notwithstanding the strong protests of all three local bar associations.

The recent announcement that the Department of Justice had recommended to the President the appointment of Armond W. Scott, lawyer and past grand exalted ruler of Elks, brought widespread objections to the White House, not only against Scott, but against replacing Judge Cobb.

Claims Scott Out, Too

At his press conference on last Thursday, Postmaster General Farley also indicated that Mr. Scott was no longer being considered for the post, and that as soon as some other Democrat who is qualified for the place is located, he will be nominated.

After protests were made over ousting Judge Cobb, President Roosevelt announced that he had returned all papers in the case to the Department of Justice for further study.

Mr. Farley indicated that difficulties were being met in finding someone suitable to replace Judge Cobb. Notwithstanding, he made it clear that simply as a routine patronage matter Judge Cobb would be replaced, regardless of his record as an impartial judge with a profound knowledge of the law.

Horner Not Candidate

Richard R. Horner, a lawyer and former member of the bar, who was mentioned for the place after the President had returned the Scott recommendation and all the papers in the case to the Department of Justice, was quoted last Wednesday as having denied he is a candidate for the place.

He did say, however, that he is a lifelong Democrat—a claim not borne out by Edward F. Colladay, Republican National Committeeman for the Distirct of Columbia.

Called Active G.O.P.

"Horner has been very active in our party organization," said Mr. Colladay. Referring to his records he pointed out that in 1928 Mr. Horner was a delegate to a local convention which selected delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Mr. Horner is a native of Faquier County, Va. He is now about 65 years old, and is a former principal of a school at Warrenton, Va.

Candidate in 1908

He first became a candidate for the judgeship in 1908 after the election of President Taft. The position went to the late Judge Robert H. Terrell.

After Woodrow Wilson became President, Mr. Horner was again mentioned for the post, this time being considered a Democrat in good standing. Judge Terrell was reappointed.

After the election of President Harding in 1920, Mr. Horner affiliated with the local Republican organization and remained a Republican through the Coolidge administration. When Judge Terrell died in 1926, he was again an applicant for the bench.

Appointment Blocked

His name, through the influence of Perry W. Howard, Republican National Committeeman for Mississippi, got as far as the President's desk, but Robert R. Church, influential Republican of Memphis, Tenn., went to the White House and presuaded the President to return it to the Department of Justice. Subsequently, Judge Cobb was appointed.

Horner's present support from local Democrats is said to come by reason of several substantial contributions to the Roosevelt campaign and his activities in Virginia in the last Presidential contest. He is also said to have supported Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 election.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
HERALD

OCT 25 1934

Colored Voters To Hold Meetings

A series of mass meetings at which 7,000 colored men and women employed in Washington will be urged to cast absentee ballots in various States for Democratic nominees was announced last night by Mack D. Rowe, organizer of the Allied Colored Democratic Clubs. Rowe said his organization, which now has headquarters at 1337 U St. N. W., is negotiating for the use of Masonic Temple, Ninth and U Sts. N. W., for the first meeting to be held early next week.

Political - 1934

General

Elections.

GAINS IN ELECTIVE OFFICE.

The Negro race made distinct and significant gains in elective representation in the recent general elections. There will be more Negro members in the State Legislature of the North than at any time of the nation's history. Two Assemblymen, instead of one, will go to Albany from Harlem as spokesmen for the 19th and 21st Assembly Districts. In the past the count has been one white and one colored Assemblyman from this section of New York City.

New York, 12/1-34

A new record will be established in Pennsylvania when five Negroes take their seats in the Legislature at Harrisburg. Four were elected from Philadelphia and one from Pittsburgh. For several years Essex County has been sending a Negro to the State Legislature at Trenton and nothing unusual grew out of the New Jersey election in this respect on November 6.

One Negro will again serve as Senator in the Illinois State General Assembly and five in the House. All but one will go to Springfield from Chicago. The sole exception is a resident from East St. Louis. Indianapolis returned its Negro legislator to office. The race membership in the Indiana Legislature has been increased by Gary emulating the example of the State's largest city and capital. A Negro was re-elected to the Kansas Legislature from Kansas City and there will be one member of the race in the California Legislature who hails from Los Angeles. A Cincinnati Negro won a seat in the Ohio Legislature.

Running for Justice of the Peace also seemed to have appealed to Negro office-seekers. St. Louis established a precedent by electing two. Heretofore one Negro Justice of the Peace was regularly chosen. In South Bend, Ind. and Michigan City, Ind., Negro aspirants for that office were successful, while the unheard of and unexpected happened in Durham, N. C., when two members of the race were elected Justice of the Peace on the Democratic ticket.

Indianapolis elected a Negro to its City Council and Gary did likewise.

The Negro is beginning to make some appreciable strides in his quest for political office. There can be no denying that one of the chief reasons for the brighter outlook is that he has seen the wisdom of dividing his vote.

THE DELUGE OF CANDIDATES

From the Atlantic to the Pacific Negroes won election to some of the highest offices within the gift of the electorate. In a number of instances they were elected with the aid of the votes of white people. Courier

A colored Democrat for the first time will sit in the House of Representatives and help make the laws of this nation. 11-24-34

In New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, California, Nebraska and Washington, Negroes will sit in the State Legislatures and help makes the laws of their respective Commonwealths.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

At least a half dozen more Negroes joined the small number of Race men who sit in judgment on their fellows, white and black. Several became constables. In Cleveland, Ohio, Harry L. Davis was elected to the County Charter Commission.

Perhaps the most striking victory of all, and one that has the widest significance, was the election of two Negro justices of the peace on the Democratic ticket in Durham, N. C., with white and black votes. Page Ripley!

When Negroes can be elected to justices of the peace in a State where until recently Negroes were entirely barred from the polls and whose lynching record is an unenviable one, there certainly must be a New Deal abroad in the land for the Negro.

All that is needed now to tax our sanity is the election of several Negroes to the Texas Legislature.

Meantime, our Communist friends are boasting that one Negro sits on the governing body of one of the minor soviet republics.

CHARLESTON, S. C.
NEWS

DEC 5 1934

May Be Bought

Since the election, The Spartanburg Herald tells us. The Chicago Tribune has ceased to attack the Roosevelt Administration and the New Deal and is now praising the blessings that it brings in Thanksgiving Day cartoons.

Chicago is in truth the particular and favored ward of the New Deal. It is probably the most destitute city in the United States. Naturally much pity is felt for it. It has been on the rocks four or five years.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which was created by the Hoover Administration and adopted by President Roosevelt, lent $80,000,000 or $90,000,000 to the banking institutions of General Charles G. Dawes, and of that sum about $58,000,000 remains uncollected.

The New Deal is nursing all the great cities and industrial towns, for they are all, or nearly all, sick. Some of them are critically sick.

New York City receives for relief two dollars for one dollar received by South Carolina in proportion to population, and Chicago's needs, family for family, are greater than New York's.

Southern states, which have few great cities, are drained of their substance by protective tariffs. Mr. Raymond Moley, the president's most affectionate adviser, tells us Southerners that the Roosevelt Administration has avoided the tariff errors of Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson.

Now these Southerners, taxed on nearly everything they buy for the sake of the Pennsylvanians and their like, are being taxed again to prevent Chicago, Cleveland Pittsburgh and five hundred similar communities from breaking up.

The Chicago Tribune has been slow to see the light. Pennsylvanians turned Democratic for the simple reason that it seemed to them that the Democratic administration had turned Republican for all their purposes.

The great negro vote in Chicago that a few years ago was keeping "Big Bill" Thompson in office and was enabling his Republican ring to loot the town turned Democrat. They have dismissed a Republican negro and sent a Democratic negro to congress.

The South is being slugged, sandbagged, drained, rifled and kicked in the neck as usual. At the same time it is being doped. So long has the South been robbed, trampled upon, triturated, that it has forgotten the art of resistance and lost the capacity to resent.

All the South wants is the culls from the apple tree. It is getting them and it is supremely, gorgeously, happy, jubilant. We South Carolinians jump up and click our heels three times at the sight of a nasty little million dollars a month flung to us from Washington while hogsheads of money are being shipped from the national treasury to the North and West.

These things we say now because we are not quite sure that we shall be disposed to say them within a month or six months.

The News and Courier has a vague sense in its bones that before long it will be bought, that it will sell out.

If something even moderately handsome should be dropped into South Carolina from James Farley's war chest in Washington it might turn The News and Courier's head. It probably would.

It is impossible to expect our people to stand by and look with complacency upon The News and Courier shooting at Santa Claus. Christmas is coming.

We speak unpolitely and rather bluntly now while it is time, before we shall be bought, and we feel it in our bones that we are going to be bought.

Political- 1934 General.

Elections.

ELECTION FLASHES!

Negroes, Swinging Along With 'New Deal' Advocates, Win City, County, State, National Elections

Courier 11-10-34 Pittsburgh, Pa.

Cable and Richardson Win In Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7—(By Special Wire)—Dr. Theodore Cable, Harvard graduate and prominent in Indiana civic and political circles, was swept into the office of City Councilman here yesterday as the Democratic landslide engulfed the State. Dr. Cable was leading by 8,000 votes, with practically all of the votes counted.

Attorney Henry J. Richardson, Democratic State Legislator, was also returned to office

* * * * *

Roxborough Loses; Dr. Sweet Wins Senate Seat

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7—In a series of surprise upsets, which saw the Republican ticket sweep the State, while the Democrats controlled the county, Attorney Charles Roxborough, running on the Republican ticket, lost to his white Democratic opponent, J. Salowski, in the fight for State Representative, 20,171 to 13,873.

Dr. Ossian H. Sweet, hero of the Sweet riot case in Detroit, won out over John Mankowski, white Democrat, for State Senator, 7,542 to 3,112.

* * * * *

Negro Elected to City Council in East Chicago

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Nov. 7—In the Democratic landslide which swept Lake County Tuesday, putting "New Deal" advocates into office by large majorities, Robert Stanton was elected to the East Chicago City Council.

* * * * *

J. Mercer Burrell Wins In New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 7—J. Mercer Burrell, former member of the New Jersey Legislature, won over Lloyd Granger for State Assembly here Tuesday. He was running on the Republican ticket, and was given whole-hearted support by Negroes.

In the primaries he beat the Republican organization of the county, headed by Jesse R. Salmon.

* * * * *

Four Win, One Loses In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 7—Based on early returns, four race men will represent Philadelphia in the State Legislature, while two appear losers. Rev. Marshall Sheppard, pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, won in a close race, while Samuel Hart, South Philly leader, who was running for re-election; Walker J. Jackson, employed in the City Treasurer's office, and Hobson Reynolds, prominent North Philly undertaker, won out. J. B. Somers, employed in the U. S. Mint, also appeared beaten. Sheppard and Somers were running on the Democratic ticket. The others were on the Republican ticket.

* * * * *

Chicago Gets Four Colored Representatives

CHICAGO, Nov. 7—Unopposed by Democrats, four colored Republicans were elected to the House of Representatives here Tuesday. They are Harry B. Gaines in the First district; Charles Jenkins and Warren B. Douglas in the Third, and William J. Warfield in the Fifth.

Chicago and Cook County went overwhelmingly Democratic

A Serious Mood

We see Arthur W. Mitchell, congressman-elect, in a more serious mood in this photographic study. The scholarly attorney and business man defeated Oscar DePriest.

ARTHUR E. BISCO

Defeated in Maryland Legislative Election.

A Jovial Moode

Arthur W. Mitchell, Democratic victor over Oscar DePriest in the first Congressional district in Illinois, shown in a jovial mood when he learned he had been successful. A graduate or former student of Tuskegee, Talladega, Harvard, and Columbia, he will be the first Negro Democratic congressman.

ULYSSES CALLIS

Defeated in Maryland Legislative Election.

L. A. AUSTIN

Elected Justice of the Peace in Durham, N. C.

MARSHALL SHEPARD

Elected to Pennsylvania State Legislature

HOBSON REYNOLDS

Elected to Pennsylvania State Legislature

WALKER K. JACKSON

Elected to Pennsylvania State Legislature

JAMES A. STEPHENS

Reelected to New York Assembly.

SAMUEL B. HART

Elected to Pennsylvania State Legislature

ROBERT R. McGUINN

Defeated in Maryland Legislative Election

JOHN B. SUMMERS

Defeated for Pennsylvania State Legislature.

ELECTED NEGROES

Press dispatches contained the heartening information that a large number of Negro aspirants were elected to public offices in the last elections.

Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, Kansas and our own Indiana are the states in which colored Americans were elected to legislatures.

Ten of the successful race men are Republicans and seven are Democrats, we are told.

Of particular importance is the reportedly co-operative support received from voters in all groups by these race candidates.

It all goes to show to what extent the element of reason and common sense is making itself felt among the rank and file of progressive Americans of all races.

It is unmistakable evidence of the fact that more and more efficient and competent Negroes are being drafted into the service of the people all over the land.

That, of course is as it should be.

It is a beginning of the rise of the Negro to his political obligations in this country.

We are seizing by the forelocks opportunities being presented to us everywhere to participate in the administrative affairs of our native land.

That, too, is highly commendable and worthy of the nation's gratitude.

WHAT VOTES DID FOR NEGROES

NAME	POSITION	PARTY	PLACE
ARTHUR W. MITCHELL	Congress	Dem.	Chicago
HARRIS B. GAINES	State Legislature	Rep.	Chicago
WILLIAM F. KING	State Senate	Rep.	Chicago
WARREN B. DOUGLASS	State Legislature	Rep.	Chicago
WILLIAM A. WARFIELD	State Legislature	Rep.	Chicago
CHARLES J. JENKINS	State Legislature	Rep.	Chicago
J. EDWARD STEPHENS	State Assembly	Dem.	New York
WILLIAM T. ANDREWS	State Assembly	Dem.	New York
MERCER BURRELL	State Assembly	Rep.	Newark, N. J.
HOBSON REYNOLDS	State Assembly	Rep.	Philadelphia
Rev. MARSHALL SHEPARD	State Assembly	Dem.	Philadelphia
WALTER K. JACKSON	State Assembly	Rep.	Philadelphia
SAMUEL B. HART	State Assembly	Rep.	Philadelphia
HOMER S. BROWN	State Assembly	Ind.	Pittsburgh
JORDAN W. CHAMBERS	Constable	Dem.	St. Louis, Mo.
FRANK BLEDSOE	Justice of Peace.	Dem.	St. Louis, Mo.
WILLIAM A. MORANT	Constable	Rep.	St. Louis, Mo.
LANGSTON HARRISON	Constable	Rep.	St. Louis, Mo.
CHARLES TURPIN	Justice of Peace	Rep.	St. Louis, Mo.
HENRY J. RICHARDSON	State Legislature	Dem.	Indianapolis, Ind.
THEODORE CABLE	City Council	Dem.	Indianapolis, Ind.
DR. ROBT. L. STANTON	State Legislature	Dem.	E. Chicago, Ind.
ROBERT ANDERSON	City Council	Dem.	Gary, Ind
DR. WM. M. BLOUNT	State Legislature	Rep.	Kansas Cy., Kans.
HARRY E. DAVIS	Co. Charter Com.	Rep.	Cleveland, Ohio
CHARLES H. WILLS	Justice of Peace	Rep.	South Bend, Ind.
TENOLA E. GRAVES	Justice of Peace.	Dem.	Michigan Cy., Ind
DR. H. M. McCLAIN	State Legislature	Dem.	Cincinnati, Ohio
DR. A. H. SMITH	State Legislature	Dem.	E. St. Louis, Ill.

Political-1934

Elections.

General.

MAKING THE BEST OF DISCRIMINATION

In discussing the many candidates who have filed for political preferment at the hands of the voters in the coming primary, which is to be held August 7, a friend of the editor of this paper queried, "Are you partial to Negro candidates?"

"Surely," answered the editor. Etc., etc.

Of course, our position in this matter called for some explanation. We readily admit that we are partial to Negro candidates, just as white people are partial to white candidates. But our strongest reason for our position in this matter was based upon the fact that a Negro, holding a reasonable office in the local, state or national government, means more to all of the people of the nation than merely having a white man in such representative capacities. In the first place, the people of this country are not use to seeing Negroes hold public office. Therefore, it is of an educational value to them as a whole to see Negroes in responsible public places. As to the matter of fitness, it would be necessary to go a long way in the question of comparison to be able to reach the proper judgment. We can hardly think of a colored person seeking a public office who, if elected, could not render better service to the country at large than a white person of similar qualifications.

Then, too, it means much to the Negroes, as a group, to have representation in the body politic. In every campaign, we hear voters discussing their choices, based upon race and religion. As a general rule, political leaders in making up their slates are careful to include a Jew, a German, an Italian and a Catholic in order to appeal to the voters identified with these respective groups. For the most part, however, the Negro is left out. We have little or no choice in the matter. Thus, when the opportunity comes for us to push a Negro for public office, circumstances dictate that we should take every possible advantage of it.

Experience has shown that wherever Negroes have been elected to public office their support has largely come from members of their race. In Chicago, Judge Albert George was elected to a judgeship in a citywide election; but this was made possible because of the strong influence of several Negro committeemen who were able to effect trades. Oscar DePriest attributes his election largely to the Negro women of Chicago. His district is largely colored. The very presence of Oscar DePriest at the nation's capital as a member of congress has meant much, not only to the colored people but to the nation. Had it not been that the Negroes of Chicago were partial to Negro candidates, it would not have been possible for Judge George and Oscar DePriest to hold their respective offices.

Get a picture, if you please, of a Negro as a member of the United States Supreme Court. Is there any doubt in the mind of anyone but that the people of the nation would have more respect for the fifth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the United States Constitution? Is there any doubt but that people of the nation would have more respect for those inalienable rights of citizens such as life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness? Such being the case, would that not make this country a better place in which to live?

The prayers of the Jew were answered when Louis D Brandeis became a member of the supreme bench. Pierce Butler, as a member of the supreme bench, is the Cathodic's hope.

These are some of the things which make us partial to Negro candidates.

NEGROES GRAB IMPORTANT POSTS IN NINE STATES

Pittsburgh Courier 11-8-34

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Homer S. Brown, Republican, was elected to the legislature in Tuesday's battle of ballots. In Philadelphia three Republicans, Walker K. Jackson, Hobson Reynolds, and Samuel B. Hart won legislative seats. One lone Democrat, Marshall A. Siegert, also won legislative recognition.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—Indications are here tonight that Oscar Brisco may win a legislative seat. Other Maryland candidates from among the Negro group failed to place.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—William E. King, Republican, defeated Bryant A. Hammond, white Democrat, for election to state senate. King's plurality was 663. Four Republicans were named to the lower house, namely: Harris B. Gaines, Charles Jenkins, Warren B. Douglass, William J. Warfield. William H. Haynes, Republican candidate for judge of the Municipal court, was snowed under.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Harlem backed the "New Deal" yesterday with an avalanche of Democratic votes. J. Edward Stephens, Democrat, 19th district, was returned to the assembly, defeating Eunice Hunton Carter, Republican.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—William T. Andrews, Democrat, defeated J. Dalmus Steele, Republican, and commonly called Mayor of Harlem.

EAST CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Robert Stanton was elected to the city council here today.

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Dr. Ossian Sweet, made famous during the segregation cases tried here several years ago, was elected to the Michigan senate Tuesday.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 7.—J. Mercer Burrell was elected to the legislature in Tuesday's election.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Henry J. Richardson and Theodore Cable were elected on a "New Deal" program to the Indiana legislature in the Democratic landslide which swept the nation.

J. M. BURRELL IS VICTOR IN NEW JERSEY

Journal and Guide

New Yorkers Elect Democrats; Mrs. Carter Loses

11-10-34

STEPHENS IN 5TH WIN

Norfolk

Wright Loses In Va.; Homer Brown One of Pa. Winners

Colored candidates fared rather well in various elections throughout the nation Tuesday, a survey of returns available midday Wednesday indicated. Results by states follow.

* * * *

FLASH!

Oscar DePriest was defeated by Arthur W. Mitchell for election to Congress by 3,000 votes, telegrapic advices from Chicago at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday stated. Mitchell carried all white wards. The Negro vote, once for DePriest, was terribly split.

* * * *

ILLINOIS—(ANP) — With two precincts missing, Congressman Oscar DePriest, Republican, has a lead of only 61 votes over Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat, in their race for election to Congress. This was the latest available count mid-afternoon Wednesday.

Mitchell had a commanding lead in the early returns from white precincts, leading by 6 to 1 after 20 precincts had reported. Returns from the colored districts turned the tide for DePriest.

DePRIEST—MITCHELL

William E. King, Republican, defeated Bryant A. Hammond, Democrat, by 663 votes for election to the State Senate. Hammond held a big lead in early returns.

Four Republican legislators were elected to the lower house—Harris B. Gaines, Charles Jenkins, Warren B. Douglas, and William J. Warfield.

William H. Haynes, Republican candidate for the Chicago Municipal Court judgeship, was snowed under.

* * * *

MICHIGAN— Attorney Charles Roxborough, Republican, lost to George D. Sadowski, white, Democrat, for election to Congress from the first congressional district.

Dr. O. H. Sweet, Republican, won a seat in the State Senate from the third senatorial district in Detroit.

* * * *

VIRGINIA—Alexander Wright, of Norfolk, Communist candidate for the U. S. Senate, was defeated Senator Harry Flood Byrd, incumbent, was returned to office for another term.

* * * *

NEW JERSEY—J. Mercer Burrell, of Newark, defeated Lloyd Granger for a seat in the State Assembly from Essex County. Mr. Burrell served in the Assembly several years ago.

* * * *

PENNSYLVANIA — Homer S. Brown, of Pittsburgh, was elected to the State Legislature. Marshall Sheppard, of Philadelphia, appeared defeated for the Legislature. Samuel Hart, of Harrisburg, Walker K. Jackson, and Hobson Reynolds, of Philadelphia, won Legislature seats. J. B. Somers appeared a loser. All of these results are based on early returns.

* * * *

NEW YORK — Harlem went Democratic with the rest of the city and state and elected two Democratic assemblymen to the Legislature. James E. Stephens, running for his fifth term, was the victor over Mrs. Eunice Hunton Carter, Republican, in the nineteenth district. William T. Andrews won over J. Dalmus Steele Republican, in the 21st district.

The vote was: Stephens, 7,582; Mrs. Carter, 6,000; Andrews, 10,832; and Steele, 6,701. The day was one of heavy voting throughout the city, with the Democrats winning under a pledge of upholding the New Deal of President Roosevelt. Even the Republicans-Fusion city administration of Mayor La Guardia felt the impact of the Democratic onrush, with Frank Taylor, white Democrat, being elected city controller.

The colored community can claim as its chief victory the fact that the election has given it two assemblymen where it had only one before, and both of them of the party in power, thus making more patronage possible. Both Andrews and Stephens expressed their gratitude for the support given them by their constituents.

* * * *

MARYLAND — Four colored men, residing in Baltimore, ran for election to the House of Delegates in this state: Clarence Mitchell, on Socialist ticket in the 5th legislative district; Ulysses Callis and Arthur Brisco, Republicans, in the 4th district; and Robert McGuinn, Republican in the 6th district. Returns were incomplete. The early count gave Brisco, 1,359 votes; Callis, 1,301; McGuinn, 1,906; Mitchell, no report.

Negro Candidates Win In Several Of The Larger Cities

With Pennsylvania and Illinois electing 5 Negroes each to the state legislature, New York and Indiana two each and one each from New Jersey and Kansas, a total of 17 Negroes won political honors in the election last week—not forgetting Arthur W. Mitchell, who defeated Oscar DePriest in the Congressional race in the first Illinois district.

Of the 17 elected, 10 were Republicans, six were Democrats and one was endorsed by both major parties.

William E. King, Republican, defeated Bryant A. Hammond, Democrat, for a seat in the Illinois State Senate by 663 votes. The Negroes elected to the Illinois Assembly were: Harris B. Gaines, Charles Jenkins, Warren B. Douglas and William J. Warfield. William H. Haynes, Republican candidate for Municipal

Rev. Shepard Wins

For the first time in history, Pittsburgh sent a Negro to the Pennsylvania State Legislature. He is Attorney Homer S. Brown, head of the local branch of the N. A. A. C. P. and prominent in civic affairs. Mr. Brown was elected on the Democratic ticket.

In Philadelphia, the Rev. Marshal L. Shepard, former assistant pastor of Abyssinian Baptist Church, New York City, and now pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Tabernacle won in West Philadelphia.

Others elected to the Pennsylvania Legislature were: Hobson Reynolds, Walter K. Jackson and Samuel Hart.

The surprise of the election in New York, was the victory won by Assemblyman James E. Stephens, Democrat, over Mrs. Eunice Hunton Carter. Mrs. Carter made a strong campaign but lost by approximately 1600 votes.

Attorney William T. Andrews won by a big majority over J. Dalmus Steele in the 21st A. D.

Indiana

Attorney Henry J. Richardson of Indianapolis and Dr. Robert L. Stanton of Gary were re-elected to the Indiana State Legislature. Both are Democrats. Dr. Theodore Cable, Democrat, became a city councilman in Indianapolis, and Robert Anderson also a Democrat, was elected to the Gary city council.

In Kansas, Dr. William M. Blount, Republican, was re-elected to the state legislature for the fourth term.

The voters of Cleveland failed to elect Chester K. Gillespie and Harold T. Gassaway, the two Negro candidates to positions in the Ohio legislature. Alexander H. Martin, who ran for one of the city judgeships, was also defeated. However, Attorney Harry E. avis was elected to the county charter commission.

Burrell Wins In Jersey

J. Mercer Burrell of Newark, was reelected over Dr. Floyd Granger, in the race for the state assembly in New Jersey.

At Lawnside, the all-Negro town the veteran Democratic leader, William W. Williams, was victorious over John Brown, the Republican incumbent.

26 Elected to Office in Tuesday's Election

CHICAGO (ANP.)—At least twenty-six positions were won by colored candidates in various states, last Tuesday on a front that reached from New York City to Los Angeles.

As Democrats and Republicans, they not only held the gains already made, but made significant advances. A nearly complete summary of offices won and lost follows:

NEW YORK CITY: J. E. Stephens Democrat, and W. T. Andrews, Democrat, were elected to the state legislature.

PHILADELPHIA: Three Republicans, Walter K. Jackson, Hobson Reynolds and Samuel B. Hart, and one Democrat, the Rev. M. L. Shepard won seats in the legislature.

PITTSBURGH: Homer S. Brown, running on both Republican and Democratic tickets, won a seat in Pennsylvania legislature.

NEWARK, N.J.: J. Mercer Burrell, Republican, elected to state legislature.

CINCINNATI, Ohio: Dr. W. McClan Republican, won state legislative position.

CLEVELAND, Ohio: Harry L. Davis elected to county charter commission. Alexander H. Martin, candidate for city judge, and Chester Gillespie and Harold Gassaway, running for legislature, defeated.

CHICAGO: Arthur Mitchell, Democrat, elected to Congress. Harris B. Gaines, Charles Jenkins, Warren B. Douglas and William J. Warfield, elected to state legislature. All Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS: Henry J. Richardson, Democrat, elected to state legislature. Dr. Theodore Cable won seat in city council.

EAST CHICAGO, Ind.: Dr. Robert V. Stanton, Democrat, elected to state legislature.

GARY, Ind.: Robert Anderson elected to city council.

ST. LOUIS: Langston Harrison and William A. Morant, Republicans, and Jordan Chambers, Democrat, elected constables. Charles Turpin, Republican, and Frank Bledsoe, Democrat, elected justices of the peace.

KANSAS CITY, Kansas: Dr. W. H. Blount, Republican, elected to state legislature for fourth term.

LOS ANGELES: Augustus F. Hawkins, Democrat, defeated Frederick Roberts, who had held seat in state legislature sixteen years.

RACE MAKES NEW POLITICAL GAINS

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(ANP)—Negroes sought and won elective positions in the various states Nov. 6. on a wide front that reached from New York to Los Angeles. As Democrats and Republicans, they not only held the gains already made, but make significant advances. A nearly complete summary of offices won follows:

New York City: J. E. Stephens, Democrat, and W. T. Andrews, Democrat, were elected to the state legislature.

Philadelphia: Three Republicans, Walter K. Jackson, Hobson Reynolds and Samuel B. Hart, and one Democrat, the Rev. M. L. Shephard, won seats in the legislature.

Baltimore: Arthur E. Briscoe, Republican, was elected to the state legislature.

Pittsburgh: Homer S. Brown, running on both Republican and Democratic tickets, won a seat in Pennsylvania legislature.

Detroit: Dr. Ossian H. Sweet, who gained renown in the famous civil rights case bearing his name, was elected on the Republican ticket to the state senate. Charles Roxborough, former state senator, lost a close race to the white Democratic incumbent.

Newark, N. J.: J. Mercer Burrell, Republican, elected to state legislature.

Cincinnati, Ohio: Dr. W. McClan, Republican, won state legislative position.

Cleveland, Ohio: Harry E. Davis elected to county charter commission. Alexander H. Martin, candidate for city judge, and Chester Gillespie and Harold Gassaway, running for legislature, defeated.

Chicago: Arthur Mitchell, Democrat, elected to Congress. Harris B. Gaines, Charles Jenkins, Warren B. Douglas and William J. Warfield, elected to state legislature. All Republicans.

Indianapolis: Henry J. Richardson, Democrat, elected to state legislature. Dr. Theodore Cable won seat in city council.

East Chicago, Ind.: Dr. Robert V. Stanton, Democrat, elected to state legislature.

Gary, Ind.: Robert Anderson elected council.

St. Louis: Langston Harrison and William A. Norant, Republicans and Jordan Chambers, Democrat, elected constables. Charles Turpin, Republican, and Frank Bledsoe, Democrat, elected justices of the peace

Kansas City, Kansas: Dr. W. M. Blount, Republican, elected to state legislature for fourth term.

Los Angeles: Augustus F. Hawkins, Democrat, defeated Frederick Roberts, who had held seat in state legislature 16 years.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Georgia

Election Plan of Georgia in Conflict With Federal Constitution, Says Davis

Editor Constitution: How many of our politicians will stand for a just principle?

In September, nominations will be made for various offices, including members of the legislature. The greatest need of the state today is the reformation of the legislature. As now constituted, it is not a fairly representative body. Many counties are over-represented and many are under-represented. The system is wrong. It produces such gross disproportions of representation that the smaller part of the people elects a majority of the representatives.

The cause of this is the "county-unit plan" which gives some counties three members, some two and some one, in the house of representatives. This old-fashioned basis of representation is the greatest moral wrong in all Georgia. It is not only unjust in itself, but its evil consequences are beyond calculation. It has resulted in inefficiency in the legislature; it has bred popular disrespect for law as well as law-makers; it has created the possibility, if not the fact, of a powerful political machine; and has thrown the destinies of the state under the control of a minority of the people whose legal right to it rests on nothing but that they live in the smaller counties.

Thomas Jefferson wrote many fine truths, but nothing finer or truer than these words:

> Every man, and every body of men on earth, possesses the right of self-government. They receive it with their being from the hand of nature. Individuals exercise it by their single will; collections of men by that of their majority; for the law of the majority is the natural law of every society of men.

The constitution of Georgia flagrantly violates this "natural law," or rather repudiates it altogether, in the sphere of legislative representation.

Is this a matter of small moment?

Use of Common Division.

Glance back to the beginnings of our history as a nation. George Washington was president and Thomas Jefferson his secretary of state. The United States constitution had provided that representatives should be apportioned among the several states "according to their respective numbers" and that the number of representatives should not exceed one for every 30,000 persons. After the first census, Congress passed an apportionment act fixing the total number of representatives at 120. This number was the result of dividing the whole population of the United States by 30,000. Then it seems the population of each state was divided by 30,000. This simple operation yielded 112 representatives instead of 120; and in 10 states it left large remainders of people, running from 21,853 to 29,556. In order to give representation to these remainders and to have a full quota of 120 representatives, each of the eight states which had the largest remainders was given an additional representative.

It was questioned whether this apportionment accorded with the constitution. Washington asked the opinion of his cabinet. Jefferson held it to be unconstitutional. He admitted that the act reached a "tolerably just result." But he took the position that apportionment among the states "according to their respective numbers" required the number of representatives to be determined by the use of a single and common divisor into the population of every state. He insisted that representation should be proportional, and as nearly equal as possible, with the qualification expressed in the constitution that there should not be more than one representative for every 30,000 people. By a mathematical analysis he showed that the effect of the bill was to take one representative from New York and Pennsylvania, each, and give them to Vermont and New Hampshire. Commenting on this, he said:

> If you permit the large fraction in one state to choose a representative for one of the small fractions in another state, you take from the latter its election, which constitutes real representation, and substitute a virtual representation of the disfranchised fraction, and the tendency of the doctrine of virtual representation has been too well discussed and appreciated by reasoning and resistance on a former great occasion to need development now.

(Note: The county unit plan comes under this condemnation; it prevents "real representation" and in effect disfranchises vast numbers.)

Vetoed by Washington.

In concluding his opinion, Mr. Jefferson advised the president to veto the bill. After mature deliberation, Washington also decided that the bill was unconstitutional and vetoed it. This was the first exercise of the veto power by the president of the United States.

The reaction to be gotten out of the foregoing incident is that equality of representation is one of the most important ideals of democracy.

This brings us back to the humiliating fact that the constitution of Georgia is unlike that of the United States and many other states, because it does not protect the fundamental right of its citizens to equal representation, but arbitrarily enforces the greatest inequalities.

Why not change it so as to give justice to all and favors to none?

To do this, it will be necessary for the people to require candidates to declare themselvs, and to vote for those who will try to give the state a righteous plan of representation.

ARCHIBALD H. DAVIS.

Atlanta, Ga., May 4, 1934.

Mt. Vernon, Ga., Montg'ry Monitor
August 23, 1934

Congressman Charged With Showing Preference to Negro Employees

SCORES OF WHITES REMOVED FROM OFFICE WHILE ALL NEGROES CONTINUE TO SERVE

SPRINGFIELD, GA., AUGUST 13th.—

Before a large audience of Effingham county citizens Hon. Hugh Peterson presented his candidacy for congress here Monday, Aug. 13th.

Judge H. B. Strange of Statesboro introduced the speaker. Judge Strange stated that he had previously supported one of Mr. Peterson's opponents. He now believes that Mr. Peterson is best qualified for the office and is giving him his active aid and support.

After fully discussing his platform, Mr. Peterson referred to the fact that the present congressman attempted to make the people believe that he favors social equality between the whites and blacks.

"If the congressman is so bitterly opposed to negroes why does he not have some of the numerous negroes holding federal patronage jobs under his administration removed.

"He has removed scores of good white people from office but has not had one negro put out of office.

"He states that he is only interested in removing Republicans. Yet he removed three white people from one office in Swainsboro and two negroes continue to serve. Does he infer that the whites were Republicans and that the negroes are good Democrats?

"In Savannah scores of negroes hold federal jobs. He has not removed one of them. Neither has the candidate from Chatham made any effort to have them removed.

"These gentlemen should clear their own records before attempting to prejudice you against me in such absurd manner.

He stated that the congressman was being worried to death in an effort to find the wishes of the people and get on the big side. "The only way you can ever give him any relief is by sending him back to private life on September 12th."

Many Effingham county citizens pledged him their support after the speaking.

WHY EUGENE WINS

Editor of The Telegraph:

The voters of Georgia can see that you are fair to both sides in this election, but some of the leading papers are not.

So, I will give a few reasons why Pittman is not wanted for Governor of this state.

First: I would not vote for a man who has shown that he has no respect for the womanhood of our country, as Pittman.

Posterity will condemn him as the voters are going to condemn him on election day. Pittman hasn't got anybody fooled but himself?

Second: The people of this state can only have the least idea of the heartache that poor man's wife has to carry to her grave; Pittman and Walter Rowe, their image will burn as a devouring flame in her soul so long as she shall live.

I don't say this because Walter Rowe was a Negro, for it would have been just as bad had it been a white man, who committed the crime.

Third: Pittman has become disgusting with his mud slinging.

Fourth: Eugene Talmadge, according to Pittman, is like Freckles in the song. The old cat had kittens in the front room bed; Freckles was to blame? Now, the schools up in Maine went on the blink, and Talmadge is to blame. The boll weevils eat up the cotton—Talmadge is to blame; I got a neighbor and all his collards died; Eugene's to blame. If you go fishing and don't have any luck, blame Eugene. Oh, well in fact, that is to say, according to Pittman, Eugene is to blame for every damn thing. And that is why Eugene is going to carry every county in dear old Georgia, and I don't mean maybe.

Eatonton, Ga. G. R. LANEY.

Negroes Qualify In Atlanta Race

ATLANTA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two negroes today qualified as independent candidates for alderman and school commissioner of the City of Atlanta.

Maceo Blackshear, a life insurance district superintendent, opposes Alderman W. Guy Coleman, Democratic nominee in the first ward.

Dr. B. M. Sherard notified Mayor James L. Key, he is running as an independent against School Commissioner H. J. Landers

The city general election is on Dec. 5. There are about 350 negroes registered out of a total registration list of about 18,200 voters. The first ward has a large negro population, but observers said since the whole city will vote there is little likelihood of the success of the two negro candidates.

TWO NEGROES QUALIFY FOR ATLANTA ELECTION

Two independent candidates, both of whom are negroes, Tuesday formally qualified for two city positions from the first ward subject to the December 5 general election.

Their names along with the nominees of the white primary will go on the ballot in the election under the law. Official notice was served on Mayor James L. Key that they would be candidates and the communications were forwarded by the mayor to J. Henson Tatum, city clerk and registrar.

Maceo Blackshear, district superintendent of the Afro-American Life Insurance Company and who lives at 94 Taliaferro street, will oppose Alderman W. Guy Coleman, democratic nominee for another term, he informed the mayor, and Dr. B. M. Sherard, who has offices at 138 1-2 Whitehall street and lives at 1049 Mayson-Turner avenue, will oppose School Commissioner H. J. Landers, of the first ward for a new term.

Only about 350 negroes are registered for the general election out of a total registration list of about 18,200 voters. Voters of the entire city vote on all who qualify for the general election, and despite the fact that the first ward is composed largely of a negro population there appeared little likelihood that either of the independent candidates can be elected

Atlanta, Ga. Constitution
November 7, 1934

TWO NEGROES QUALIFY FOR ATLANTA ELECTION

Two independent candidates, both of whom are negroes, Tuesday formally qualified for two city positions from the first ward subject to the December 5 general election.

Their names along with the nominees of the white primary will go on the ballot in the election under the law. Official notice was served on Mayor James L. Key that they would be candidates and the communications were forwarded by the mayor to J. Henson Tatum, city clerk and registrar.

Maceo Blackshear, district superintendent of the Afro-American Life Insurance Company and who lives at 94 Taliaferro street, will oppose Alderman W. Guy Coleman, democratic nominee for another term, he informed the mayor, and Dr. B. M. Sherard, who has offices at 138 1-2 Whitehall street and lives at 1049 Mayson-Turner avenue, will oppose School Commissioner H. J. Landers, of the first ward for a new term.

Only about 350 negroes are registered for the general election out of a total registration list of about 18,200 voters. Voters of the entire city vote on all who qualify for the general election, and despite the fact that the first ward is composed largely of a negro population there appeared little likelihood that either of the independent candidates can be elected

Atlanta Negroes Enter Politics

Macon Telegraph

Maceo Blackshear Offers for City Council

ATLANTA, Nov. 6. (AP)—Two Negroes today qualified as independent candidates for alderman and school commissioner of the city of Atlanta. 11/7/34

Maceo Blackshear, a life insurance district superintendent, opposes Alderman W. Guy Coleman, Democratic nominee, for another term from the First ward.

Dr. R. M. Sherard notified Mayor James L. Key he is running as an independent against School Commissioner H. F. Landers, for a new term.

The city general election is on Dec. 5. The entire city will vote on general election candidates. There are 350 Negroes registered out of a total registration list of about 18,200 voters. The First ward has a large Negro population, but observers said, since the whole city will vote there is little likelihood of the success of the two Negro candidates.

Negroes Defeated In Atlanta Race

ATLANTA, Dec. 6 (AP)—Returns filed today showed that two Negroes seeking municipal offices were defeated by the white Democratic nominees.

The vote in the election held yesterday was light and city clerk J. Henson Tatum said since the total would not exceed 3,000, the Negro candidates were out of the running. Only 490 Negroes are listed as registered voters.

Atlanta Journal 12-7-34

RACE VOTERS SHOW LITTLE INTEREST IN MUNICIPAL ELECT'N

(Daily World Service)

ATLANTA, GA. — Making a splendid showing in their home ward and leading their democratic opponents in their respective sections, Dr. B. M. Sherrard and Maceo Blackshear, to whom must be given credit for being the first Negroes to run for local city offices in many a year, are more than pleased with the results achieved in their initial venture.

Wth a total of 1,667 votes cast throughout the whole city in his favor as compared with the 109 votes given to Maceo Blackshear, district manager of the Afro-American Life Insurance company, the Independent candidate, Alderman Guy Coleman, present incumbent, retained his seat in the city council. Mr. Blackshear howevr, in the home ward, the first ward, received 65 votes as compared with the 27 votes received by his white opponent.

Dr. B. M. Sherrard, prominent local physician who opposed J. H. Landers, the present board of education member from the first ward for his seat, was also victorious in his home ward, tallying 65 votes to Mr. Landers 23. Mr. Landers, however, won the seat by netting 1,166 votes from all of the precincts of the city as compared with Dr. Sherrard's total of 108 votes.

Following its initial appearance in the local political arena, the Colored Voters' League of Atlanta and Fulton County is preparing to launch a movement that will make itself a strong organization by the time the next election is staged in Atlanta. All are jubilant over the results shown.

President J. T. Carlton, head of the league, is calling a meeting of all district managers as well as campaign managers to be held at 1:00 this afternoon at the league headquarters, 869 1-2 West Hunter street. At this time, plans for the future activity of the organization will be considered and mehods of procedure, especially along the line of a "politically conscious" educational program outlined.

In the meantime, Dr. B. M. Sherrard, who ran for the post of board of education member from the first ward and Maceo Blackshear, who ran for the post of alderman from the same section, expressed themselves as pleased over the fact that they were able to take the colored citizens of Atlanta into the first step forward in bringing political activity and that they believe that the next election will find the colored citizens of Atlanta going to the polls in large numbers to take part in the affairs of their government.

ATLANTA, GA.
JOURNAL

DEC 5 1934

ATLANTA, DECATUR VOTING TODAY ON MUNICIPAL POSTS

Commissionership Race in DeKalb City Focal Point of Interest

Citizens of Atlanta and Decatur were voting Wednesday in city elections to name municipal officials for the next two years. In Atlanta the balloting was more or less perfunctory, as contests were settled in the city primary last September, but in Decatur the election was a matter of intense interest, with six candidates contesting for three places on the city commission.

Hapeville citizens held their municipal election Tuesday, naming O. M. Huie, R. L. Mullins and L. A. Norton to places on the city council. Messrs. Huie and Mullins are now members of the governing body. Other candidates in the race were W. E. Harrison and W. R. Ansley. The holdover members of the city council are Mayor Quincy Arnold, J. R. Cathey and W. A. Walker.

In Decatur the candidates for commissionerships have been engaged in a heated controversy over the city's financial condition, one group charging that the financial statement has been "juggled" to show a better situation than actually exists, and the other insisting that the city had a surplus of more than $19,000 when an audit was made September 30.

Voting was going on briskly throughout the day at the Courthouse in Decatur, at Poplar Springs and at Oakhurst, the three polling places. The registration list contains 3,100 names and it was expected that at least two-thirds of the registered voters would cast their ballots.

Candidates for the commission are R. C. Henderson, George Woods and Homer George, incumbents, and Hooper Alexander, Jr., Chase Van Valkenburg and A. S. Turner. The three high men were to be elected.

Only two contests developed in Atlanta's city election, both contestants being negroes running against white candidates in the First Ward. H. J. Landers, member of the Board of Education, was opposed by Maceo Blackshear, and Guy Coleman, seeking re-election as alderman, was opposed by B. M. Sherard, negro physician.

Candidates for other municipal offices who are unopposed are: Mayor James L. Key, James E. Bowden, alderman, Fifth Ward; John W. Ball Jr., alderman, Tenth Ward; C. M. Bolen, alderman, Tenth Ward to fill an unexpired term; Alvin Richards, councilman, Thirteenth Ward; Thomas J. Grogan, Second Ward, member Board of Education; E. S. Cook, Third Ward, member Board of Education; W. W. Matthews, Fourth Ward, member Board of Education; A. W. Callaway and John L. Cone, city recorders.

College Park held its city election Monday, re-electing Mayor E. E. Barrett for his fourth consecutive term, and also re-electing three councilmen, W. E. Sitton, Fred Shaefer and J. A. Godby.

Political – 1934

Elections

Georgia

THE CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

Next week the Democratic campaign for the gubernatorial nomination and other state house officers and congressmen terminates. The people of the state have been assailed by the various candidates. Promises galore have been made, many of them will never be kept. The candidates have not been sparing of each other, some more radical than others. In it all much information has been given out relative to state affairs which those on the outside have heretofore been denied. One candidate for the governorship has been especially unsparing in his criticism, and the making of charges against the present governor. In doing so he has not strengthened his hold on the thinking people of the state. To the credit of the governor, he conducted his campaign on a high order, except in one regard. He defended his administration in a convincing manner and attracted to his meetings the largest gatherings ever held. The practical politicians predict his easy victory next week. The governor has lessened our regard for him in reference to the Negro as a laborer. He states that he is opposed to paying code fees to the colored man for road work. He has demonstrated it by refusing to allow it on the roads of the state. In doing so he nearly bordered the demagogue by directing his views to the poor whites who earn so much less. By this comparison he has been able to convince many of them who will, no doubt, cast their votes for him. Several weeks ago the fact was mentioned that during this campaign the Negro was not used as a stalking horse as of years ago. Even yet, such references have been mild. Until about a decade ago the candidate who was able to malign the Negro the most was generally successful. By discussing more of state needs and benefits shows an advancing political situation.

ATLANTA, GA.
GEORGIAN

DEC 6 1934

SCANT VOTE

Mayor, School Board, Recorders, Council Members Named

All nominees of the city white primary, including Mayor Key, three aldermen, two councilmen, four members of the Board of Education and two recorders were elected in Wednesday's general election, official consolidation Thursday by City Clerk J. Henson Tatum showed.

Only two of the races were contested.

Alderman Guy Coleman, First Ward, was re-elected for a four-year term, receiving 1,667 votes over Maceo Blackshear, who polled 109. J. H. Landers, Board of Education representative from the First, was re-elected for a three-year term over B. M. Sherard. Landers received 1,666 votes and Sherard 108.

LISTED AS NEGROES

Blackshear and Sherard entered as independent candidates and the city directory designates them as negroes.

Votes polled by the other candidates, all of whose nominations were ratified without opposition, are:

Mayor James L. Key for two-year term to succeed himself, 1,767; Alderman James E. Bowden, for four-year term to succeed himself, 1,776; John W. Ball, Jr., for four-year term to succeed Everett Millican, 1,776.

Councilmanic nominees elected for a three-year term and their official votes are:

C. M. Bolen, Tenth Ward, 1,777; Alvin L. Richards, Thirteenth Ward, 1,776.

Board of Education representatives whose nominations were ratified are Thomas J. Grogan, Second Ward, 1,777; Ed S. Cook, Third Ward, 1,775; W. W. Matthews, Fourth Ward, 1,775.

Judges A. W. Callaway, with 1,779 votes, the highest polled by any candidate, and John Cone, with 1,773, completed the list.

There were 18,491 registered voters. The actual vote polled therefore was less than 10 per cent of the registration.

INDEPENDENTS IN 2 RACES GET

Political - 1934

Elections.

Illinois.

DePriest Goes Out

ALONG with many others of the Republican "Old Guard" Congressman OSCAR DEPRIEST of the first Illinois district was swept out of office by the Democratic landslide of November 6th. There is general regret that Mr. DEPRIEST is to retire. He has grown immensely in political usefulness during recent years, in the course of which he has adjusted himself to the inners workings of Congress and to the broader range of national political thinking. Courageous, aggressive, intelligent, he was conspicuous and respected in a legislative body of 435 members, among which he was the only man of the Negro race. He may not have been admired by some, but he has been respected by all.

It is natural that certain of his personal moves and acts which projected the race question did not please a great many members of Congress, and a great many Americans, some of his own race. But it would be humanly impossible in a bi-racial society, in which the race constitutes only 10 per cent. and under which it must endure pronounced discrimination, for a representative in Congress to escape involving himself in the race question, and he would be inimical to the interests of his race, and to the best interests of his country, if he did.

Congressman DEPRIEST is succeeded by another member of our race, and it is cause for great satisfaction that his successor is a man of high caliber. His high academic and legal equipment should enable him to measure up to the best standards of Congressional service, and should reflect credit upon himself and his constituency. Educated at Tuskegee, Talladega Harvard, and Columbia, and having had experience in the practice of law and in business, he is well qualified to fill the post to which he has been elected. Lacking in the political experience that is DEPRIEST'S, he should nevertheless learn rapidly because of the background with which he enters the higher realm of politics.

It is of still greater interest and reason for comment that Mr. MITCHELL, the successor to Congressman DEPRIEST is a Democrat. Even in the face of the sudden and swift political changes that have taken place during the past few years, it would be reasonable to say that few expected that there would be elected to the National House of Representatives a Negro of the Democratic party. In this political phenomenon—for in the light of political history and experience it is a phenomenon—Providence played a hand. Although among those who aspired to the Democratic nomination in the primary last April there were colored candidates, a white candidate was nominated. Prior to the election he died, and the district executive committee chose ARTHUR W. MITCHELL as a substitute nominee. Mr. MITCHELL owes his election to the support of white Democrats, for without their support he would have been easily defeated by Mr. DEPRIEST.

It is going to be interesting to observe how southern Democrats are going to be affected in their political attitudes by the acquisition of a Negro member of their party in the House of Representatives. Our guess is that Mr. MITCHELL is going to accomplish a great deal toward modifying the political attitudes of the South.

Mitchell's Opportunity

Chicago negroes have administered a well-deserved rebuke to Oscar de Priest, their race congressman and a Republican, by electing Arthur W. Mitchell, Democratic negro. Mitchell studied at Tuskegee, Harvard and Columbia. He has a background which provides him with opportunity to be of constructive service to his constituents and his race.

De Priest had similar opportunity in some respects but failed to take advantage of it. If anything, he harmed, rather than aided it. Instead of using his time and office to be of service to his people he used them, not infrequently, to make a nuisance of himself, quite often aligning himself with projects and movements with which intelligent negro leaders had no sympathy. Instead of being creative he stirred up trouble and animosities.

Mitchell is of different type. If he wants to be of conscientious, helpful service to those who elected him he will find ample occasion to use his intelligence and talents.

Oscar Goes Out

With bands playing and colors flying Oscar DePriest went down to defeat in last Tuesday's Congressional election in Chicago's first district, by 3,130 votes.

Late Tuesday night Mr. DePriest went to sleep conceding the election to his opponent who in the first returns polled 11,117 votes to his 3,106.

The next morning the Congressman woke up to find himself leading by 61 votes. Wednesday afternoon the tide set in in the opposite direction and elected Arthur Mitchell first colored Democrat ever to sit in the U.S. Congress. All of the other colored have been Republicans.

Mr. DePriest has made an admirable Congressman and Mrs. DePriest a tactful helpmate.

Mr. Mitchell, who succeeds him, is a former Washington lawyer, Mrs. Mitchell a clerk in the government service.

DePriest Thanks Voters; May Run Again In 1936

Defender

Editor,
The Chicago Defender,
3435 Indiana Avenue,
Chicago, Illinois,
Dear Sir: 11-17-34

Congressman DePriest wishes, through the columns of The Chicago Defender, to thank the voters of the first congressional district for their support in the election on November 6. I am glad also to announce that the Citizens DePriest for Congress committee is preparing to petition Mr. DePiest to enter the race for re-election in November, 1936. This statement is made regardless of the fact that the official canvass of the Tuesday vote will not be declared until next week. It is my opinion that Mr. DePriest will comply with the petition and again be a candidate in 1936.

Respectfully yours,
MORRIS LEWIS,
Secretary

South Doesn't Know How to Take Election of Mitchell

Afro-American
11-17-34
Baltimore, Md.

WASHINGTON.—That the election of Arthur W. Mitchell, who may spend his leisure lolling in easy chairs among Southern Democrats in the Democratic cloakroom of the House of Representatives, is causing the New Deal and Republicans some trouble and meeting opposition from the hitherto exclusively white Democratic ranks, is the opinion of commentators in local dailies.

Writing in the Washington Herald, Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen had this to say:

"Already some of the old guard Democrats have privately intimated objection. What they say is that they don't mind having a Republican Negro around, but that a Democratic Negro Congressman is different. Mitchell, they say, will be a member of their own crowd and party.

"And it has more significance than merely the opposition of Southern Congressmen. For Roosevelt and his administration have deliberately courted the support of the group."

George Rothwell Brown, writing in the same paper, believes that the defeat of Oscar DePriest, a Republican, by Mitchell, a Democrat, has a political significance far transcending in importance the mere transfer of a solitary colored vote from one side of the center aisle of the House to the other.

Brown surmises that the advent of Mr. Mitchell marks the beginning of a new epoch in the political history of the race in North America.

"If the group," he says, "is encouraged to vote racially as a Democrat it may mean the permanent loss to the Republican party of such states as Ohio, in which the Negro vote has frequently held the balance of political power.

"For the Negro it probably means that he will be permanently represented in Congress. A representativ from Harlem is regarded as the next inevitable step."

Election Cost Mitchell $875; DePriest, $676

Afro-American
11-17-34
Baltimore, Md.

(AFRO Bureau)

WASHINGTON — Final reports of campaign receipts and disbursements of Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat, who defeated Representative Oscar DePriest, Republican, for reelection from the First Congressional District of Illinois are yet to be filed with the clerk of the House.

A preliminary report filed by him show contributions of $875 to October 25. Disbursements equaled the receipts.

The report of Mr. DePriest showed no receipts to October 24. His disbursements totaled $676. They were as follows: Buttons, $233.44; stickers, $105; cards, $24.50; circulars, $98; pledge cards, $31.50, and window signs, $145.

Contributors

Contributors to the campaign fund of Mr. Mitchell were as follows:

Alain Locke, Howard University, $50; Richey V. Graham, board of appeals, Chicago, $25; Fred W. Brummel, board of commisioners, Chicago, $25; Emmett Whealan, Chicago, $25; H. B. Lindheimer, Chicago, $100; James Knight, Chicago, $50; James Potter, Springfield, Ill., $5; Epsilon Chapter, Phi Beta Sigma, New York City, $11; John Toman, board of commissioners, Chicago, $25; Peter M. Kelley, board of commissioners, Chicago, $2; a friend, $1; Frank J. Loesch, Chicago, $10; Arthur W. Mitchell, $546.

What Mitchell Spent

Expenditures were as follows:

The Home News, publicity, $50; the Chicago Defender, publicity, $20; the Chicago World, publicity, $15; printing, $250.

Headquarters — Caswell Crews, local manager, $120; Alfred T. Lucas, publicity man, $180; Walter Maxwell, use of car, $90; Jeane B. Searcy, stenographer, $60; John Fry, canvassing, $50; Thomas Penn, canvassing, $40.

Under the law campaign expenditures of each Congressional candidate are limited to $2.500.

RACES

Gentleman from Illinois

For six long years hot-blooded Congressmen from the South have smouldered at the presence of a lone Negro on the

Acme

CHICAGO'S ARTHUR MITCHELL

"There is no prejudice against my people."

Time 11-19-34

Republican side of the House of Representatives. He was Oscar De Priest of Chicago and he did not hesitate to speak up boldly for his race. As a result of last fortnight's election, when Southern Congressmen return to the Capitol on Jan. 3, they will find Representative De Priest gone. But their racial embarrassment will be more rather than less because they will find sitting squarely in their Democratic midst another Chicago Negro by the name of Arthur W. Mitchell. They may object to the color of their new colleague's skin but they can find no legitimate fault with his politics.

Negro Mitchell got his chance when Negro De Priest's white Democratic opponent in Chicago's Black Belt died during the campaign and Mr. Mitchell was named in his place. A native of Alabama Arthur Mitchell went to Tuskegee Institute, served as the late great Booker T. Washington's office boy, became a Washington, D. C. lawyer. He married a Negro woman who operates a Government accounting machine. They put their boy through the University of Michigan. The Mitchells moved to Chicago in 1928, then working for the G. O. P. and Herbert Hoover's election. Arthur Mitchell had switched parties by 1932. Campaigning against Representative De Priest on the platform that the New Deal was a boon to blacks and whites alike, he declared: "I would work harder for my people than any other Congressman, but I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored." Blacks and whites in his neighborhood liked this conciliatory line, gave him a 3,000 majority on election day.

Never in history have Southern Democrats had to open ranks to admit a blackamoor into the party's Congressional organization. Since Democrat Mitchell's vote will count as much as anyone's in the election of a Democratic Speaker, he will be offered committee assignments, invited to party caucuses. Nothing can prevent his occupying a suite in the House Office Building along with white Representatives from Georgia and Alabama. He is entitled to eat with them in the House Restaurant, sit beside them on the House floor.

In 1929 there was a great pother of excitement when Republican Oscar De Priest's wife in a blue chiffon dress, grey hat and coat and on Mrs. Herbert Hoover's invitation, went to the White House one afternoon to drink tea with white Congressmen's ladies (TIME, June 24, 1929). Mrs. Mitchell will expect a similar tea-date with Mrs. Roosevelt. "There is no prejudice against my people in the present Administration," the black Gentleman from Illinois told his constituents. "This is a new day under a New Deal."

Mitchell to Show in Office What He Really Can Do

Afro-American 11-17-34

Intimates Voters Were Tired of DePriest's Bombast and Noise.

Baltimore Md.

HIS OWN DISTRICT WILL COME FIRST

Congress, He Says, Should Pass Lynch Law.

CHICAGO (ANP.) — Shirt sleeves rolled up, so to speak, and ready to go to work immediately, Congressman-elect Arthur Mitchell announced Thursday his general objectives in behalf of his constituents and his people, once he has reached Washington.

He took a back slap at Congressman Oscar DePriest with a reference to "bombast, ballyhoo and noise," and described his own efforts as characterized by "constructive thought, honest action and real statesmanship." He asserts that he is 100 per cent in agreement with President Roosevelt's program.

Mr. Mitchell's statement in part follows:

"I interpret my election to Congress as being a desire on the part of my constitutents to have intelligent, courageous, honest and capable representation in the Halls of Congress, which I contend that the First District has not had during the past six years. I think the people are tired of bombast, ballyhoo and noise, where we should have constructive thought, honest action and real statesmanship.

"I shall address myself first to looking after the interest of the people of the First Congressional District of Illinois who elected me to office. I shall always endeavor to be on the alert and use all the power that resides in me to protect the interest of my group. I shall welcome constructive criticisms from the people of the country, both colored and white, and shall endeavor to do my full duty without fear or favor of man. I shall be responsible for my acts."

Platform Cited

During the campaign, Congressman-elect Mitchell made his drive upon the following platform:

"1. The most dangerous element in our country today is that of enforced idleness, brought about largely by the cessation of work. I shall be in favor of any program which tends to furnish work for the people, even though such program incurs governmental expense, thus increasing taxation. I believe that idleness is a breeder of crime, which threatens the destruction not only of our institutions, but of the Government itself. And no monetary price to wipe out idlesness and bring back prosperity, is too great.

"2. I am in favor of wiping out racial discriminations, which serve only one purpose — to breed hatred, prejudice and injustice, thus making it impossible to prosper in the largest sense.

Wants All Rights

"3. I believe that the colored American citizens should continue to enjoy the same wholesome benefits to be derived from the higher standards of living, increased wages, and better housing conditions in the National program, that are enjoyed by other racial groups.

"4. I believe that discriminations in governmental departments and in civil service departments in Washington, should be eliminated. I shall work to eliminate the practice of our civil service commission requiring applicants to submit their photographs with their applications and shall advocate the fingerprint system instead.

"5. I believe that the colored people should have their just proportion of the jobs and positions created under the emergency acts through which our New Deal is being put forth.

"6. I shall work incessantly to have the Congress pass an anti-lynching bill such as was introduced in last Congress.

To Fight Discrimination

"7. I shall work to reenfranchise the colored people of the South and to wipe out all racial discriminations in voting privileges of the citizens of the South.

"8. I believe in making America first. This seems to be a national slogan, but its means nothing in our national life if we refuse or fail to make American citizens first. I contend that in the matter of employment whether in public or private enterprises and businesses, those born under our flag and those who have sworn allegiance to our flag should have preference. No American citizen who wishes to work should be forced to remain idle while a citizen of some foreign country is given work which an American could do and wishes to do. Any other course on the part of our citizens in business shows the basest kind of hypocrisy."

Exit DePriest

When replaced by a Negro, there will be little grieving over the defeat of Oscar DePriest for re-election to Congress. Mr. DePriest was too much of a reactionary Republican politician to serve the interests of Negroes best amidst the throes of a changing social order.

Let us hope that Arthur Mitchell will be more liberal in his thinking, and understand better, and therefore be able to serve with greater usefulness the needs of Negroes under the vast program of the Democratic New Deal.

Statesboro, Ga., Times and News
November 22, 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRAT

Oscar DePriest, negro Republican from Chicago, was an offense to the Democrats in congress, and apparently found satisfaction in so being. In the recent election he was defeated by another negro, Arthur Mitchell, a Democrat.

Some of those whites who delight in stirring up friction between the races are wondering how the Southern Democrats are going to conciliate with the negro Democratic congressman. There ought not to be any speculation on that score. It will not be nearly so difficult to tolerate a negro Democrat as a negro Republican. If Mitchell is really a Democrat, the chances are he knows full well how to conduct himself. That is more than the negro Republican knew. DePriest found delight in making himself offensive to the Southerners. It is a safe bet that Mitchell will seek to make himself acceptable to the Southerners.

Speaking personally, if we were compelled to choose between them, we should slightly prefer the Democrat, everything else being equal.

Lawrenceburg, Tenn., News
November 15, 1934

SIDELIGHTS

When Oscar DePriest, a Chicago Negro, was elected to Congress in 1898, considerable indignation was expressed in various quarters, especially by Southern Democrats. They got rid of DePriest in the recent election, but didn't get rid of his color. His successful Democratic opponent, Arthur W. Mitchell, is also a Negro.

The story is told of a Negro woman applying to register, and being asked: "What party do you affiliate with?" She hesitated, and when pressed for an answer finally said: "If I has to tell dat, I won't vote, for he ain't got his divorce yet."

Realization seldom comes up to expectations, as Mrs. Parkhurst, militant pioneer suffragist, conceded after surveying women's political activities. She said: "The prospect of more votes for women does not elate me one bit, now that I know women make the same mistakes as men."

Practically all the Civil War leaders of important rank have passed away, and according to latest estimates only 23,800 Union soldiers and less than 10,000 Confederates are still alive. Considering that it will be 70 years next April since the war ended, it is remarkable that even that many still survive.

That the way to get rid of a fool law is to obey it may be a novel idea, but it worked in Prague, Czechosolovakia, where the legal speed limit was nine miles an hour. After arrests the taxi drivers all agreed to observe the prescribed limit, with the result that traffic congestion nearly drove the police crazy, and the law was repealed.

Political - 1934
Elections.

Illinois.

Mr. Sylvester, Minus His Mule, Turned Chicago Vote Tide As DePriest Lost

"Master Move" By Democrats Looms As Highlight of Mitchell-DePriest Fight—Homely Philosophy of Man Who Called Roosevelt, and Secured Aid, Wins Votes.

By DAN BURLEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—(ANP.)—Mr. Sylvester Harris, the Columbus, Miss., farmer, was in Chicago during the last two weeks. Mr. Harris' bid for fame comes through his long distance telephone conversation with President Roosevelt about his farm, some time ago. His feat rocked the nation.

Failure of professional promoters to cash in on Mr. Harris' talented exploit should be remembered as one of 1934's prize boners.

As a Speaker He's a Genius

The addition of Mr. Harris as a campaign speaker for Congressman-Elect Arthur W. Mitchell here, by the Democratic party, must be reparded as a master move to be remembered when the scribes recount in history, the story of 1934.

Mr. Harris' voice was raised loud and long in praise of the President and of the Democratic party. In the diction peculiar to the gentry of the other side of the Mason-Dixon Line, he elaborated on how his long distance call to the White House was successful and of his mule, his home and his farm.

Had Nine Children

He allowed that he had nine children, or something like that, who were at school. So afraid was he, Mr. Harris disclaimed to audiences at the Savoy Ballroom, the Democratic headquarters and at Wendell Phillips high school, that his children would come home and find his home gone, that he would have called Satan if the connection could have been made.

From Mr. Harris came the true story about the matter prompting the call. You see the mortgage wasn't on Mr. Harris' home, it was on that of his brother. But our hero was inveigled to go on the note and when this brother defaulted, Mr. Harris loomed into prominence as the gentleman who would have to pay. Hence the "hurry-up call."

Folks-Believe Him Too

The most amazing circumstance about Mr. Harris' visit to Chicago—which by the way was given out as a trip to see the World's Fair and the Lake, bi his Democratic sponsors—was that the folks flocked to hear him, and a lot of them, moved by his homely philosophy, were to some extent guided by him.

Yes, Mr. Harris to Chicago was a master move, even though the mule was left at home.

ALLEGED DEALS, ENMITIES MARK CHI ELECTION

Analysis of Factors In Sharp Contest Is Presented

By FRANK HALL

CHICAGO, (ANP) — Now that the shouting is all about over and Congressman-elect Arthur W. Mitchell takes the "mike" from Congressman Oscar De Priest, the fellows who thumb their pages and read deeply are talking over why and who was responsible for the DePriest downfall. The analysis is a crazy-quilt patchwork of deals steals and personal enmities.

First and foremost, they say, DePriest signed his death warrant last winter when he took sides in a factional squabble within the Republican party. The elected leader of the second ward, which contains more Republican votes than any ward in the city, was William E. King. But William L. Dawson, alderman of the second ward, wanted King's job as committeeman.

A Sunday cabal was held and King was informed that he must step aside as committeeman and be satisfied to run for the state senate. King balked, walked out, and the fight began.

FIGHT BEGINS

De Priest back Dawson against King for the committee post and Roscoe Simmons against King for the Senate seat. The then Senator, Adelbert H. Roberts, was also running for the nomination. DePriest also opposed him. Both Dawson and Simmons lost. DePriest had made two powerful enemies within his own party, King and Roberts. Their followers lusted for DePriest's blood.

From the primary in April until the election on November 6, the wound was kept open by Dawson's contest of the election of King as committeeman.

Coming down to the election, the situation was something like this: There were more Democratic votes in the district than Republican, but there were more Negro votes than white. With a white Democratic candidate, the Negro votes went to DePriest.

The Deciding Factor

But when the Democrats selected a Negro to run, he got the white vote and a large percentage of the black votes. Furthermore, DePriest could look to the white Republican leadership for no support.

The reason was Dan Serritella, an Italian who is committeeman in the first ward, where most of the white vote is located. Serritella is a state senator and it was charged by his political enemies that he used to work with "Scarface" Al Capone, the racketeer now in federal prison. Serritella ran for re-election in this election. The Democrats did not put up a candidate against him.

It is alleged that they agreed not to oppose him if he would throw his white Republican strength to the Democratic candidate Mitchell. If Serritella entered into such a deal as this to insure his own re-election, the white vote was practically solid against DePriest.

Breakup of Negro Vote

Negro voting strength broke up somewhat as follows: King was running as a Republican for the state senate and supported DePriest. DePriest supported King. But Dawson, the Republican alderman, who has his own independent organization in the second ward, marked for Hammond, King's Democratic opponent because of the primary strife. DePriest's support of King in the election is alleged to have been a strain on Dawson who, finally, two days before the election, broke with DePriest and failed to attend the final big Republican rally on Sunday, November 4.

Roberts, stung by DePriest's treatment of him in the primary, would give him no active support in the election. Against DePriest on election day within his own party there were some of Dawson's followers, some of King's followers, but not King himself, and some of Roberts' followers. Some of these colored Republicans who opposed DePriest, set up an organization for Mitchell and worked actively for him.

How Pattern Worked Out

Election day the pattern worked out as follows:

White Democrats and Republicans opposed DePriest.

Dawson colored Republicans were not unfriendly to the Democrats, Mitchell and Hammond.

Roberts colored Republicans flirted with the Democrat, Mitchell.

Hammond, colored Republico-Democrats supported the Republican, DePriest, as against Mitchell, Democrat.

Mitchell Republico - Democrats supported King, Republican, as against Hammond, Democrat.

DePriest, the Republican, had the support of the King Republicans and the Hammond Democratic-Republicans.

Mitchell, the Democrat, had the active support of Democratic Mike McKenna and the passive support of Republican Dan Serritella, Republican, Dawson, and Republican Roberts.

This is a real resume of the rumors and reports which are on the lips of most of the active political leaders. It may be correct or it may not be, but it's what the wise boys are saying. The suspense and uncertainty attending the final vote on DePriest and Mitchell, the outcome not being certain until the next day, made this the most interesting and cataclysmic election held in Chicago in years.

DePRIEST'S DEFEAT.

Even Negro Democrats must admit that the victory of Arthur W. Mitchell over Rep. Oscar DePriest for Congress from the First Illinois District is a distinct loss to the race. It is naturally pleasing that in the defeat of Mr. DePriest a member of the race will succeed him. But at the next session of Congress the Republican candidate would have been in a more strategic position to serve his people than his Democratic opponent.

The most important work of legislators at Washington in the framing of legislation is in the committee-room. The influence a Congressman wields is largely determined by his membership on committees. At the last session of Congress, Mr. DePriest because of seniority, was given important committee assignments. Had he been returned, in view of his length of service and the failure of many of his Republican colleagues of re-election, his influence and prestige would have been greatly increased by reason of his membership on powerful committees. With an unwieldly Democratic delegation in the House of Representatives, and because he is a newcomer Mr. Mitchell's assignments are expected to be among the most undesirable.

According to an International News Service release the South will have a strangle-hold control on the next Congress. It will fill sixteen out of the twenty important House chairmanships, including the "big three"—Rules, Appropriations and Ways and Means. In the Senate Southerners will be put in thirteen out of nineteen most important committees.

This domination by the South of committees in the House and Senate is made possible on the grounds of seniority. Southern Democrats make it a business to keep their Congressmen in office. Some of them may not distinguish themselves as brilliant legislators but their committee assignments elevate them to a position of consequence.

In voting for Negro candidates for Congress, it would be well for the race voters to follow the exampe of the South as to seniority; that is, if they were capable of putting aside petty jealousies, envy and other attitudes which do not make for racial progress.

Mitchell Starts Off Wrong, Says Reader In Letter To The Chicago Defender

Editor, The Chicago Defender: I just finished reading in yesterday's Daily News an interview with the new congressman, Arthur W. Mitchell. I was somewhat surprised at some of the views he expressed on public questions. For instance, the Congressman says:

"It was a vote for Roosevelt and recovery." This, no doubt, was true. But he continues that equally significant is the fact that it marks a turning point in a campaign of bitterness waged by some Northern Negro leaders against Southern white people. It is a repudiation of the attempt to bulldoze your neighbor. It is my belief that a man ought to make and retain all the friends he can. I shall continue to cultivate such friendly relations for the best interests of the whites and blacks."

Just what the Congressman meant by the "turning point of a campaign of bitterness waged by some Northern Negro leaders against Southern white people is not quite clear. If the Congressman has already placed himself in the mental attitude that as a representative of 15,000,000 Negroes he intends to condone peonage, concubinage, massacres, lynchings and jim crowism in the South in order to keep on friendly terms with his Southern friends, then his usefulness in Congress ends before it begins.

Although I didn't at all times agree with Congressman DePriest, nevertheless his place is firmly fixed in history as an outspoken and courageous champion of black people. I am unable to understand what service the new Congressman will be able to render his race if he is correctly quoted in the Daily News. I, for one, feel that we need a courageous fighter rather than one who is going to modify his viewpoint on race questions in order to be in accord with Bilbo, of Mississippi; McDuffie, of Alabama, and others who have consistently fought against Negro rights. I recall the incident in which Bilbo, as governor of Mississippi, when asked by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People what he intended to do about a lynching in his state, wired back: "Nothing, and furthermore, go to hell." Is that the kind of friendship our Congressman wants to cultivate?

Congressman Mitchell must remember that he was elected to Congress from a black district and by a people who need representation and a spokesman in Congress for them. He speaks of representing all the people. I desire to remind him that there are over 400 white Congressmen to represent the white folk, and although we were forced to send Mitchell there we expect him to represent us.

Regardless of how friendly he may be to his Southern acquaintances in Congress, it will still be impossible for him to ride into Alabama in the same coach with one of those white Southern Congressmen whose friendship he is so anxious to cultivate.

The trend of the Congressman's interview appears to represent a desire on his part to sanction the ideas that are so prevalent in America to blame us for being free, and for insisting upon our proper citizenship right. We were not responsible for our freedom, nor are we apologizing for it, but having it, we intend to keep it at all costs. Moreover, we have no intention of apologizing for the fight we are making to retain it, and we object to our representatives presuming to do so. We need no apologists in Congress, and if that is going to be Congressman Mitchell's attitude as representative of 15,000,000 Negroes, the defeat of Congressman DePriest was a calamity.

I hope you can see you way clear to publish this letter because it is my firm opinion, judging from this interview, that the Congerssman needs checking before it is too late to help him.

—J. F. MATTHEWS.

Chicago

CONGRESSMAN-ELECT MITCHELL VISITS TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Nov. 14. —Tuskegee Institute was honored with a visit from Congressman-elect Arthur W. Mitchell on Tuesday of this week. He was accompanied from Montgomery by his old friend and protege Richard W. Harris, recently elected trustee of Tuskegee Institute.

Wholly unannounced the congressman-elect drove up as the students were assembling for dinner in Tompkins Hall. Here he was presented by his former schoolmate, Capt. A. J. Neely, registrar to the student body who greeted him with roof-raising cheers and the demand for a speech.

"I am not here to make a speech. I just dropped in to say "howdy" to my old friends and school mates. I congratulate those of you who have returned to Tuskegee to continue your training and those who are here for the first time. When I was here we didn't have a fine, beautiful dining Hall like this; we ate in the basement of the old Alabama Hall. I hope that each one of you will take full advantage of the opportunities afforded you here at this wonderful institution for contact with men like President Moton, Mr. Logan, Capt. Neely, Mr. Palmer. The older I grow and the richer my experience, the more do I appreciate that anything I have done or may do that is worthwhile will come from the contacts I had with Dr. Washington and others here at Tuskegee. I am in full sympathy with the teaching of Booker T. Washington for I believe that anything the negro gets, he will get by working for it. That is how I have got everything that I have."

Leaving the dining hall Mr. Mitchell paid a courtesy visit to Mrs. R. R. Moton and expressed his regret at not seeing President Moton who was absent from the Institute.

While lunching in Dorothy Hall Mr. Mitchell chatted informally with Mr. Warren Logan, Dr. E. H. Dibble, Dr. G. W. Carver, Mr. . J. Calloway, E. Davidson Washington, A. L. Holsey, B. B. Walcott and J. H. Palmer. The latter was registrar during the guests student days and assigned him first to work in the agricultural department and later transferred him to Booker T. Washington's office.

It was while working in the agricultural department that young Mitchell came in contact with Dr. George W. Carver at that time director of the department. Dr. Carver was among those who dropped into Dorothy Hall to shake hands with his former pupil. As Dr. Carver came in the door, Mr. Mitchell was overheard saying to Mr. Bailey (detailed by the Chicago police force to accompany Mr. Mitchell as body guard), "Bailey, I want you to look hard at this man coming. He is George Carver, the greatest scientist in the world. Get what I am saying, the greatest scientist in the world."

In the course of conversation a member of the group remarked that in 1929 while visiting in Washington Mr. Mitchell had said to him, "I am leaving Washington for Chicago to enter politics. I am going to Congress." When asked to explain this almost uncanny power of prophecy, the Congressman-elect replied, "I don't know what it is but in a number of other situations I have predicted almost to the letter how events were going to come out. I guess it's just luck, but a lot of my predictions have worked out. Of course," he added chuckling, "I don't sit still after I make my predictions."

When asked how it felt to get back to Tuskegee, he said, "I am always glad to get back to Alabama But, seriously, I am tired from the campaign and I want to get rested as soon as possible. I know I have plenty of hard work ahead of me and I want to be equal to my job'.'

"I am not saying a whole lot about what I am going to do, because I don't know. But I am convinced that being a congressmaon of the United States should take all the best a man has to gave with little time or energy left for a whole lot of noise and bombast."

The cheers of some two hundred student girls greeted Mr. Mitchell as he hurried through the lobby on his way to his car. As he waved goodbye he called, "Thanks. I know some of you were responsible for that fine lunch. I certainly enjoyed it."

Mr. Mitchell was born in Randolph County, Alabama and made his home in the state until about 15 years ago. He was principal of the city school in Greensboro, Ala., for four years. While working in Greensboro he became interested in Richard Harris a pupil in his school and brought him to Tuskegee.

It was during this visit that young Harris was inspired to enter Tuskegee after graduating from the school in Greensboro. "I am mighty proud of Richard," Mr. Mitchell confided to a member of the group. "I always thought he was going to make something of himself. And I feel a personal pride in having one of my former pupils a member of the Trustee Board of Tuskegee Institute."

After a short drive through the grounds of the U. S. Veterans Facility Mr. Mitchell returned with Mr. Harris to Montgomery enroute to Hot Springs for a brief rest before going to Washington.

Although he would not commit himself to a definite time Mr. Mitchell promised to return to Tuskegee for a longer stay sometime "in the near future."

MR. MITCHELL STATES HIS POLICIES

Arthur W. Mitchell, the new congressman-elect from the first congressional district, in stating his policies with respect to his Race as he sees them, has already opened up an interesting vein of discussion. In his interview with several of the white daily papers the new congressman is quoted as having cast critical criticism upon what he terms, "Northern Negro leaders against Southern white people."

It had been hoped that the new congressman would have had the good judgment to have shaped and issued his first statement after a definite decision upon the part of his advisors had been reached and agreed upon as to what that statement should contain. It smacks of ingratitude for a visiting gentleman who has made his residence in the North but a brief five years and to have been honored on such short acquaintance with a seat in Congress to assume to chastise his host.

It is considered good social etiquette—if not good political judgment—to compliment those who respectfully entertain you. However, we desire to congratulate Congressman-elect Mitchell on being the first of his race to break through the barriers of an age-old prejudice and be elected by the Democratic party managers to a seat in the house of Congress. The Chicago Defender supported Congressman Oscar DePriest, for which we have no apologies to make.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Illinois.

The Battle Royal in the Old First Illinois

IN the upsetting of precedents in the recent election, th most unique and possibly significant is the apparent election o Hon. Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro Democrat to the Unite States Congress in lieu of Hon. Oscar DePriest, incumbent Re publican. Congressman DePriest has made an excellent represen tative, lifting at every opportunity his voice in defense of thos forgotten people he represented. Congressman DePriest, not onl represented the people of the First Illinois District, but the entir racial group of which he was a member. All over this nation an from the isles in the seas came complaints from our group t him. Despite the urgent business incumbent upon a man wh represented the richest district in the United States, Mr. DePries found time to give in utmost detail, to the matters coming from his people from every direction. No matter was too small for his attention. He held the respect and esteem of his colleagues and in few instances he failed to get the required and desired results.

11-9-34

The race regrets to give him up. His services will long be remembered and his shoes will be hard to fill.

Editorial

The unique thing about Mr Mitchell is his unprecedented crash in as a Negro Democratic representative. While the race regrets to give up Mr. DePriest, it finds consolation in that one of its members will still be in the national house of representatives. It feels that it will have that same avenue through whic to appeal when one of its members is agrieved. Mr. Mitchell like Congressman DePriest, hails from the southern state o Alabama. It is indeed gratifying to the South that she furnished the two latest representatives in Congress. Of course, this was made possible by both of these gentlemen leaving the oppressing sears of white primaries and disfranchisement laws. May thei lives be worthy examples to other ambitious southern men.

Getting back to Mr. Mitchell who was flushed out by the Democrats, we find that the Negro is making conspicuous in roads in both parties. It was clearly demonstrated in the las presidential election that the Negro felt that he had a right t divide his vote. Many of them declared in high paces that the old debt to the GOP for the emancipation of the Negro had been marked satisfied. This school felt that the Negro should bargain in both parties. Even in the rock ribbed South, where a bulk o Negro voters are disfranchised, there will be found thousand professing the Democratic faith. Since the advent of the New Deal, with its recovery agencies that have been of great benefi to the Negro, it is no uncommon thing to hear the remark from Negroes: "Out of a spirit of eternal gratitude for the saving of my home and busness, I must vote Democratic."

The white primary law is constantly drawn under fire because of the desire of race men to express their preference in a party that is predominant in the South. Again, the Negro has seen through trials and failures the seeming impossibility of setting up a powerful and decent republican party in the South. Many of their finest men have been offered up as a living sacrifice because of their persistence in exercising their political rights. No soon will the Negro forget Bill Pledger, Henry Lincoln Johnson Benjamin Davis and Perry Howard.

It will be recalled that in the last scrimmage Congressman DePriest encountered, he came up against a white man contestant. Those who still nursed their grudge, decided this time, in view of the fact that the majority of the voters of the First Illinois, were Negroes, in order to obviate the race question, they would follow a policy of fighting fire with fire. So they fought it to a finish and as results appear at this writing, those old enemies of Oscar DePriest, have by a very small margin unhorsed the old warrior. While the race will miss his unselfish services, his unswerving dependability, it will rejoice in that it will still have a Negro representative. Maybe Mr. Mitchell on the Democratic side of the house, will be in position to render his brethren in the deep South a lasting service in crushing out nafarious election laws and a government by privilege dedicated to the favorite sons who can qualify along the color line.

Mr. Mitchell faces a great service if he will but measure up to his opportunities. Never before has a race member been in so conspicuous a place to do collective bargaining and referee in patronage so richly deserved by those brave men who defied tradition and chose to leave for reasons they deemed meritorious, the old landmark of Lincoln, Garfield, Grant, Coolidge, Harding and Hoover.

Congressman Mitchell

IN the upsetting of precedents in the big Democratic landslide, none was more significant than the election of Arthur W Mitchell, a Negro on the Democratic ticket. The Democratic party was founded by the great Thomas Jefferson, a Virginian and the third president of the United States. Mr. Jefferson, in addition to giving the country this great party was the writer of the Declaration of Independence, one of the greatest documents of all times. At that time the old Royalist parties and their contemporaries in name and spirit had associated themselves with so many unpopular events, that Mr. Jefferson saw at the early beginning of the new republic that a new party in name if nothing else was in need.

Need

This party took a very unpopular and timely name. Meaning itself, popular rule by the people and a referendum on measures affecting government and the regulation of society. It was pitched on a lofty plain and through years of defeat and disaster, it kept steadily going on. Prior to the early dawn of the sixties this party got in bad company and unfortunately its then sponsors lined it up with the secession of the states. It saw service throughout the civil war in a cause for which it was never meant. Out of all this that party survived. During the seventy years of the Republican rule, it was able to elect only three presidents, Cleveland, Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt. In some southern states it saw service in the Disfranchisement of the Negro and other subterfuges meant for the repression of popular government, so foreign from its name and the original purpose of its founders.

11-11-34

The white primaries in many states prevented the alignment of Negroes with that party. In many quarters it was made to bear the responsibility of discrimination, segregation and other alliances that leave bad tastes in the mouths of the Negroes. Through all this, the Democratic party lived. In the great exodus of Negroes north, despite the early memories attached to legislation and practices meted out, in the large industrial centers, Negroes were taught the ways of that great party. By the thousands they lined up in Democratic identity. Their southern brethren who were still paying installments on the old debt due them that lies sleeping at Gettysburg, could not frighten them from the shore.

seems to be more intense that spirit of independence. In many of our northern communities, the most conspicious developments and achievements are ascribed to Negroes from the Southland.

So, Congressman Mitchell while defeating our favorite a gallant statesman and fearless defender of the faith of his people, Honorable Oscar DePriest, opens a new chapter in the annals of the freedmen of America. His advent into the Congress as a Democrat, will have a wide awakening effect on the part of those Negroes living in the deep South that have been taught that the Democratic party was an enemy to the Negro and have been much of the bias and proscribed legislation attendant to its operations. There is possibly at present decisions pending where Negroes were denied the right to vote in Democratic primaries.

Mr. Mitchell has before him a great task. He breaks new ice and believe it or not, it will be a new picture to see a Negro on the Democratic side of the house, where Ben Tillman, Hoke Smith, James K. Vardaman and John Sharp Williams sat for years.

Arthur W. Mitchell, hails from the southern state of Alabama. That state that gave to the country Joseph Forney Johnston, Raphael Seemes, Richmond Pearson Hobson of Merrimac fame, and Oscar W. Underwood.

Whether Mitchell went north in the exodus is no moment to our argument. In the deep South where Negroes have felt the keen blade of oppression, that soil upon which the bitter battles of the Confederacy were fought out, there

Political - 1934

Elections.

Illinois.

The Battle Royal in the Old First Illinois

Benjamin Davis and Perry Howard.

IN the upsetting of precedents in the recent election, the most unique and possibly significant is the apparent election of Hon. Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro Democrat to the United States Congress in lieu of Hon. Oscar DePriest, incumbent Republican. Congressman DePriest has made an excellent representative, lifting at every opportunity his voice in defense of those forgotten people he represented. Congressman DePriest, not only represented the people of the First Illinois District, but the entire racial group of which he was a member. All over this nation and from the isles in the seas came complaints from our group to him. Despite the urgent business incumbent upon a man who represented the richest district in the United States, Mr. DePriest found time to give in utmost detail, to the matters coming from his people from every direction. No matter was too small for his attention. He held the respect and esteem of his colleagues and in few instances he failed to get the required and desired results.

It will be recalled that in the last scrimmage Congressman DePriest encountered, he came up against a white man contestant. Those who still nursed their grudge, decided this time, in the majority of the voters of the First Illinois, were Negroes, in order to obviate the race question, they would follow a policy of fighting fire with fire. So they fought it to a finish and as results appear at this writing, those old enemies, have by a very small margin unhorsed the old warrior. While the race will miss his unselfish services, it will rejoice in that it will still have a Negro representative. Maybe Mr. Mitchell on the Democratic side of the house, will be in position to render his brethren in the deep South a lasting service in crushing out nafarious government by privilege dedicated to the favorite sons who can qualify along the color line.

The race regrets to give him up. His services will long be remembered and his shoes will be hard to fill.

Mr. Mitchell faces a great service if he will but measure up to his opportunities. Never before has a race member been in so conspicuous a place to do collective bargaining and referee in patronage so richly deserved by those brave men who defied tradition and chose to leave for reasons they deemed meritorious, the old landmark of Lincoln, Garfield, Grant, Coolidge, Harding and Hoover.

The unique thing about Mr Mitchell is his unprecedented crash in as a Negro Democratic representative. While the race regrets to give up Mr. DePriest, it finds consolation in that one of its members will still be in the national house of representatives. It feels that it will have that same avenue through which to appeal when one of its members is agrieved. Mr. Mitchell like Congressman DePriest, hails from the southern state of Alabama. It is indeed gratifying to the South that she furnished the two latest representatives in Congress. Of course, this was made possible by both of these gentlemen leaving the oppressing years of white primaries and disfranchisement laws. May their lives be worthy examples to other ambitious southern men.

Congressman Mitchell

IN the upsetting of precedents in the big Democratic landslide, none was more significant than the election of Arthur W Mitchell, a Negro on the Democratic ticket. The Democratic party was founded by the great Thomas Jefferson, a Virginian and the third president of the United States. Mr. Jefferson, in addition to giving the country the writer of the Declaration of Independence, one of the greatest documents of all times. At that time the old Royalist parties and their contemporaries in name and spirit had associated themselves with so many events, that Mr. Jefferson saw at the early beof the new republic that a new party in name if nothing else was in need.

Getting back to Mr. Mitchell who was flushed out by the Democrats, we find that the Negro is making conspicuous inroads in both parties. It was clearly demonstrated in the last presidential election that the Negro felt that he had a right to divide his vote. Many of them declared in high paces that the old debt to the GOP for the emancipation of the Negro had been marked satisfied. This school felt that the Negro should bargain in both parties. Even in the rock ribbed South, where a bulk of Negro voters are disfranchised, there will be found thousands of professing the Democratic faith. Since the advent of the New Deal, with its recovery agencies that have been of great benefit to the Negro, it is no uncommon thing to hear the remark from the Negroes: "Out of a spirit of eternal gratitude for the saving of my home and busness, I must vote Democratic."

The white primary law is constantly drawn under fire because of the desire of race men to express their preference in a Republican rule, it was a party that is predominant in the South. Again, the Negro has seen through trials and failures the seeming impossibility of setting up a powerful and decent republican party in the South. Many of their finest men have been offered up as a living sacrifice because of their persistence in exercising their political rights. No soon will the Negro forget Bill Pledger, Henry Lincoln Johnson seems to be more intense that spirit of independence. In many of our northern communities, the most conspicious developments and achievements are ascribed to Negroes from the Southland.

So, Congressman Mitchell while defeating our favorite a gallant statesman and fearless defender of the faith of his people, Honorable Oscar DePriest, opens a new chapter in the annals of the freedmen of America. His advent into the Congress as a Democrat, will have a wide awakening even on the part of those Negroes living in the deep South who have been taught that the Democratic party was an enemy to the Negro and have been much of the bias and proscribed legislation attendant to its operations. There is possibly at present decisions pending where Negroes were denied the right to vote in Democratic primaries.

Mr. Mitchell has before him a great task. He breaks new ice and believe it or not, it will be a new picture to see a Negro on the Democratic side of the house, where Ben Tillman, Hoke Smith, James K. Vardaman and John Sharp Williams sat for years.

11-11-34

Atlanta, Ga.

11-11-34

ment of Negroes with that party. In many quarters it was made to bear the responsibility of discrimination, segregation and other alliances that leave bad tastes in the mouths of the Negroes. Through all this, the Democratic party lived. In the great exodus of Negroes north, despite the early memories attached to legislation and practices meted out, in the large industrial centers, Negroes were taught the ways of that great party. By the thousands they lined up in Democratic identity. Their southern brethren who were still paying installments on the old debt due them that lies sleeping at Gettysburg, could not frighten them from the shore.

Arthur W. Mitchell, hails from the southern state of Alabama. That state that gave to the country Joseph Forney Johnston, Raphael Seemes, Richmond Pearson Hobson of Merrimac fame, and Oscar W. Underwood.

Whether Mitchell went north in the exodus is no moment to our argument. In the deep South where Negroes have felt the keen blade of oppression, that soil upon which the bitter battles of the Confederacy were fought out, there of popular government, so original purpose of its founders. The white primaries in many states prevented the align-

Highlights of DePriest's Career Are Outlined And Factors Causing Close Race Against Mitchell Are Analyzed

By Associated Negro Press

The defeat of Oscar DePriest throws into partial eclipse one of the most colorful political careers of the times, a career which was born in subtle planning more than thirty years ago and which many believe fell victim to its own sort of strategy.

Born of slave parents in Florence, Alabama, in 1871, Mr. DePriest fought his way from the cabin to the White House. His family, outraged by political abuses and lynchings, moved from Florence to Salina, Kansas, in 1878, at the which place, the boy, Oscar, stayed until 1888 finishing the grade and normal schools, and from which he fled at the age of 17 to Ohio with two white boys to "make his way in the world."

After a year with these white boys, he came to Chicago and went into the decorating business in which his uncles found employment.

First Political Efforts

Early after the turn of the century, he took his first fling at politics. In his off minutes he was a busy attendant at precinct political meetings and also those of literary societies. He was an active member of a group in those days which included Dr. Monroe Work of Tuskegee Institute. Dr. R. R. Wright, president of Wilberforce University, Col. Spencer Dickerson of the Eighth Regiment, Illinois National Guard, Edward H. Wright, and former State Senator Adelbert H. Roberts. Along with the others, Mr. DePriest made his mark in the world.

He contrived to win his first quasi-political position at a precinct meeting where, noticing that the rival candidates for captain were tied at 20 votes each, he bargained with one to make him secretary for casting his vote in his favor. That started him off. Shortly afterward, in 1904, he was nominated to run for the county commission and was elected. He was elected again in 1906. He failed of nomination in 1908.

Early Sponsors

Chief among his early political sponsors were the late Major John Buckner and Martin B. Madden, whom Mr. DePriest succeeded in Congress.

Noteworthy among his political assets and throughout his career were his courage, his ability as an organizer, and his alleged lack of education. All his life he has been known as a fighter with words or fists. He inherits this characteristic from his slave father, a small man. It is stated that on one occasion an overseer threatened to whip DePriest's father. The master said, "No, if you whip him, you will have to kill him."

He succeeded as an organizer because he was and has always been indefatigable and shrewd. He laid his plans and carried them out with herculean energy.

This was demonstrated in 1915 when he was elected as Chicago's first colored alderman. Long before the campaign, he had reached the voters and lined them up with him. Mr. DePriest's supposed lack of training has been an asset rather than a handicap. Although lacking the formal training of some of the newer politicians, he always possessed an amazing grasp of current trends and his judgment was uncanny.

However, he never got away, nor tried to get away, from spiritual contact with the people. He wiped on the same towel, used the same drinking cup, and spoke the same language. This infuriated the cultured elements, but pleased the mass of the voters.

One of the major aspects of Mr. DePriest's career involves his role as political bargainer. As early as 1906, he was disclosed as a Republican who, to attain the ends he sought, was willing to traffic with the Democrats. The years have been punctuated with his efforts to play one part against the other in local politics although he retained his status as a Republican leader and met defeat finally as such.

Twice during his career he was indicted. The first indictment occurred after he had been elected alderman. It was charged that he had exacted tribute from keepers of dives to keep the police off them. He was defended by Attys. Edward H. Morris and Clarence Darrow. De Priest admitted that he had received money—but as a campaign contribution, not to bribe the police. The jury acquitted him.

After this trial, he was persuaded not to seek renomination for alderman.

But he did not give up and in 1918 again sought the nomination, but was defeated by Robert R. Jackson, at present alderman of the ward. DePriest organized an independent movement to win the election, but went down to defeat again.

For nearly ten years afterward, DePriest was somewhat on the outside. Actual leadership rested upon the shoulders of the late Edward H. Wright, Louis B. Anderson, and Robert R. Jackson.

In 1927, when William Hale Thompson sought his third term as mayor, DePriest saw his opportunity. He early enlisted on Thompson's side. Wright chose to oppose Thompson. Thompson was elected, and DePriest took the spotlight. Martin B. Madden, who had represented the first district in Congress for 24 years, died. The Negroes of the Southside had clamored for many years for a member of their own race in Congress.

Madden had been nominated at the primaries. It became necessary for members of the Republican County central committee to choose a candidate. Thompson paid his political debt to DePriest by effecting his selection. It was reported at the time that the late Bishop A. J. Carey had made a hurried trip to French Lick Springs, Ind., to urge upon the mayor the selection of DePriest.

Shortly after DePriest had been selected, he was indicted for the second time by the Cook county grand jury on charges of graft.

In the election, DePriest defeated "Judge" William H. Harrison. In the 1930 primary, his principal opponent was Roscoe Simmons, and in 1932 Louis B. Anderson. He won handily. This year he was practicelly unopposed for nomination.

A shadow over Mr. DePriest's career in Congress which loomed with his first election was the white vote in the district. Although the colored vote outnumbered the white, there were sufficeint white votes to place a white Democratic candidate on the heels of DePriest at each election.

Two factors are held responsible for Mr. DePriest's defeat. The first concerns the death after the primary of the white candidate and the steady increase of Negro Democratic votes in the district. The second concerns an intra-party squabble which DePriest is said to have been largely responsible for in the primary campaign.

The racial proportions of the first district are about 60 per cent black and 40 per cent white. Most of the black votes have been Republican and those of the whites, Democratic. But with the coming of the New Deal, and a city and county administration which is Democratic, there has been a steady increase in the number of Negro Democratic votes.

In the case of a white Democratic candidate, many Negro Democrats might be expected to vote for DePriest, but with a colored man running the chances for them sticking behand the party candidate were more likely.

Te bulk of the Negro Republican vote in the district is in the second ward. During the primary campaign, Mr. DePriest took sides in the fight between two men to win the post of committeeman of the ward. He opposed the incumbent who won. He also opposed Roscoe Simmons. Mr. Roberts lost.

William E. King, opposed by DePriest, won the election as committeeman and the nomination for the senate. The battle was bitter and many scars were left. As a result, coming up to Tuesday's election there was a split among the Republicans, some of whom, disgruntled, organized to support Mitchell.

As a Congressman, Mr. DePriest became symbolic of political leadership among Negroes. Noteworthy among his acts as a national legislator were his efforts in behalf of ex-slaves, his fights for appropriations for Howard University and Negro land-grant colleges and his attacks on Communism and Jim Crowism.

He won the respect of his fellow Republican congressman and showed remarkable ability in organizing them to support his projects. He introduced an anti-lynching bill, but the Costigan-Wagner bill crowded it out of public notice.

Political - 1934
Elections.

Illinois.

"How Did This Happen? I Must Have Been Frightened!"

Defender
11-17-34
Chicago Ill.

SIGNIFICANT

The most significant result of the recent Congressional election from the viewpoint of Negroes was the election of Arthur W. Mitchell of Chicago to Congress on the Democratic ticket.

This is significant because of the apparent reversal of the traditional policy of the Democratic Party towards Negroes and justifies the division of the Negro vote between the various political parties.

Planet
11-17-34

It also indicates that the influence of the South in the councils of the Democratic party is rapidly diminishing and that the reigns of power are being firmly grasped by northern democrats who are as liberal to Negroes or more so than their Republican opponents. The election of Mr. Mitchell as a Democrat will pave the way for more Negro Congressmen from districts where the Negro vote predominates. It will not be healthy any longer for either the Republican or Democratic parties to refuse to place Negro candidates on their respective tickets.

Reliable
Ga

Significant again is the fact that Southern jim crow Congressmen who adhere to the doctrine that Negroes should be denied the right to vote and to hold office must grunt, and endure the presence of their Negro colleague on the same side of the House of Representatives.

SYLVESTER'S SAGE ADVICE

A wealth of common sense and sound advice is contained in the brief statement made by Sylvester Harris, Mississippi negro whose appeal to President Roosevelt a few months ago saved his farm, upon his return from Chicago, where he campaigned for the democratic ticket among the voters in the black belt of that city.

Courier-Herald
Albany Ga.

This southern farm negro, unable to read or write, reports that he "told dem darkies to quit talkin' about Abraham Lincoln, and talk about President Roosevelt; that Mr. Lincoln had been dead most 70 years, and they ought to think about who de president am now."

That is good advice, not only for the members of Sylvester's race, be they residents of the north or the south, but as well for the reactionary white republicans and democrats, who can see in the progressive policies of Roosevelt only a disastrous straying from the fundamentals of government espoused by Lincoln and Jefferson.

These malcontents forget that Lincoln and Jefferson were the progressives of their day, and parted from the ways of tradition, in many instances, to an even greater extent than has the present democratic administration. Modern conditions are far changed from those existing in the time of these great leaders of thought and government, and Roosevelt occupies the same relative position to today's problems that they did to those of their times.

A further moral for his own race is contained in Sylvester's expression of delight at being able to leave Chicago, where "dere was too much noise and too many folks." Thousands of southern negroes who have sought fortune in the industrial centers of the north have discovered this to their regret, many of them not being able, as was Sylvester, to return to the quiet and contentment of his southern home.

The guileless Sylvester has no worries about "paternalism" and "regimentation" in government—questions that are causing reactionaries in every scale of life in the United States to lament the "good old days." It would be well for these back-looking folk to take to heart the sage advice of this old southern darky and open their eyes to the fact that America today has the priceless benefit of wise and far-sighted government.

THE FATAL "SKUNK BITE"!

By Holloway

Congressman DePriest in most of his campaign speeches referred to Negroes who voted the Democratic ticket as "skunks." Well, the Skunks Got Him!

Negro Congressman To Visit In Capital

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Representative-elect Arthur W. Mitchell, Chicago negro, said here tonight he would sponsor an anti-lynching bill in the next Congress, would work toward a preference for American-born labor, and seek to end idleness and enfranchise the negro of the South.

Mitchell came here to visit his mother, who is seriously ill, but said he would visit Montgomery and Tuskegee Institute, of which he is an alumnus, before returning to Chicago to take over the congressional district now held by Oscar DePriest, negro Republican.

In Congress Mitchell said he expects "to work for the end of racial discrimination which breeds hatred, prejudice and injustice."

"I pride myself upon my knowledge of Southern conditions, of racial relations here and it is in this work that I hope to be of the greatest service," he said.

Mitchell took occasion to criticize DePriest, who he beat in the recent general election, on his appointments to the U. S. military and naval academies.

"While he has been in office no white boys have had an opportunity to enter Annapolis or West Point, but that will be altered now," he said. "There will be no discrimination."

Sylvester Told Negroes Forget Abe, Favor F.D.R

COLUMBUS, Miss., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Sylvester Harris was back on his farm near here today, glad his political campaigning is over and "more satisfied away from de noise in Chicago."

Harris, a middle-aged negro whose farm was saved from foreclosure a few months ago after he had appealed by telephone to President Roosevelt, went to Chicago to speak in behalf of Arthur W. Mitchell, negro Democrat, who was elected to the national house of representatives from the first Illinois district.

"Did someone write your speeches?" Sylvester was asked.

"Shucks, it wouldn't done any good," he retorted, "Cause I can't read. I just got up and told dem darkies to quit talkin' about Abraham Lincoln and talk about President Roosevelt. Why, I told dem Mr. Lincoln had been dead most 70 years and to think about who de president am now."

Of Chicago, Sylvester said: "Too much noise and too many folks."

ELECTION RETURNS PUZZLE CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(ANP)—So scrambled and indecisive have been the local returns from last Tuesday's election that four days later partisans of the Republican and Democratic camps are putting out claims and counter-claims in respect to two of the candidates.

The "whispers" on the Republican side are in behalf of Congressman Oscar DePriest, defeated by Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat.

On the Democrat side, the "whispers" uphold the cause of Bryant A. Hammond, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, defeated by William E. King, Republican.

Friends of Mr. DePriest shake their heads and insist that the manner in which reports of the returns got out shows that something was funny. The first returns Tuesday night showed Mr. Mitchell far out in the lead. But it was known that these reports came from the white precincts in the district, which were conceded to Mitchell.

However, when the colored precincts started reporting, the Mitchell lead began to melt. Early Wednesday morning reports from the City News Bureau, based upon the police returns, showed that DePriest was 26 votes behind, with three precincts to be heard from. The City News Bureau reports, used in all the Chicago dailies at noon Wednesday, gave DePriest a lead of 61 votes, with two precincts missing. This remained unchanged for the next five hours, with interested persons scratching their heads for identification of the missing precincts. The afternoon papers, until 5 o'clock, carried streamer heads across the front pages, heralding the DePriest victory.

Then there was a sudden switch. The new report put Mitchell in the lead by 3,130 votes. This came from the chief clerk of the election commissioners, who stated that it was based upon the returns from the election judges.

Political - 1934
Elections.

Illinois.

GIVE HIM A CHANCE

As Congressman-elect Arthur Mitchell, of Illinois starts a survey of the situation with a view of taking over the tremendously important duties of office, he is confronted by a group of unkind critics who, even at this early date, appear inclined to misconstrue his motives and impede his progress. It is very likely that the man who defeated the old "war horse," of Chicago's Southside, took such matters into account long before he made up his mind fully to enter the race, and it is earnestly hoped that he prepared himself to the extent of enabling him to combat the opposing forces that are certain to follow him as long as he holds public office. Congressman DePriest has announced, through his secretary, that he will "bow to the implorings of numerous friends," and be a candidate for the office in the election two years hence.

There is positively no good reason why any person or group of persons should hesitate to give Mr. Mitchell loyal support and co-operation. He is of excellent calibre and is that type of man who by determination and grit, made for himself a place that won favor for him in the estimation of his fellowman. Careful observers about the Illinois metropolis readily agree that Arthur Mitchell won the election for Congress due to his excellent ability and unquestioned record for a fair and just attitude toward his fellowman. Certainly his victory cannot be attributed to any marked degree of unpopularity on the part of Congressman DePriest, or because of any dereliction in duty on the part of Mr. DePriest, as he represented the First Illinois District in the United States Congress.

Taking all things into consideration, the Negroes of the United States in particular and the citizenship in general, have been thoroughly loyal to the administration of Oscar DePriest. Honor has been directed toward him by members of his racial group as invitation after invitation was extended him to be the guest of cities and towns in every part of the nation, and the people turned out to accord him the proper recognition. While a few prejudiced white folk did at certain times, give expression to hostile sentiment toward the Negro congressman, the conservative element of white people even in the Southern states, clearly appeared in control, and as visits were made by DePriest to cities and towns in the South, he was accorded protection and consideration justly due a man of his position in life.

As loathe as Congressman DePriest may be to give up the important office and regardless as to what temporary loss the race may encounter as his experienced services are supplanted with those of the capable, if inexperienced congressman-elect, it is nothing more than fair and just to Mr. Mitchell that he be given a chance to make good, without being subjected to thrusts and unfair jibes by selfish and ambitious interests whose only motives seem to be to hold on forever. There is no earthly reason why public office should not be passed around and when Mr. Mitchell assumes the duties of representative from his district, he will be just another member of the racial group who has an opportunity to gain such wonderful experience. Give him a chance.

Federal News Notes

"TODAY IS THE TOMORROW YOU WORRIED ABOUT YESTERDAY"

by LAURENCE J. W. HAYES

Nothing is so uncertain as the minds of the multitude.

* * * * *

Arthur W. Mitchell, Attorney of Alabama, Washington, and Illinois, who was recently elected to Congress to supplant Oscar DePriest will probably agree with the writer of the above statement. The writer of this column who during the course of a day's work handles approximately 400 newspapers has read editorials, articles and special features depicting Congressman-elect Mitchell as everything from "A white folks' Uncle Tom Alabama 'nigger'" to the new leaders of the Negro intelligentsia of the United States.

Arthur Mitchell

One Southern daily said editorially:

"Congressman-designate Mitchell, Negro Democrat, Chicago, who defeated Oscar DePriest, will not contend for the privelege of eating in the House Restaurant. Times and conditions being what they are, he is willing to take pot luck with the waiters back in the kitchen."

* * *

A Negro weekly has this to say of Mitchell:

"Underneath an affable, friendly exterior, he carries an iron heart. It is probable that he will lack some of the color which charcterized Mr. DePriest, but whatever courses of action he chooses to follow will be seasoned with wisdom and when he has made up his mind that he is right, he will be immovable by either force or flattery. He will show his smile before he shows his fist, but when he strikes he will strike hard."

Then we have the Jackson, Miss. Daily News coming forward with this startling statement:

"Up in Illinois, even in Chicago, they decided that a negro Democrat is better than a negro Republican. Oscar DePriest will no longer strut his stuff in the halls of Congress. He will be succeeded by Arthur Mitchell, Democrat, who is aptly described as "a white man's nigger."

* * * * *

The writer believes that Mr. Mitchell, in view of the friendly and sympathetic attitude of the President and the New Deal administration toward the common man, will—as a Democrat—have a fine opportunity to interpret to the administration the economic needs of the colored people, and will undoubtly get a ready hearing to present any matters affecting the welfare of our people. As a warm supporter of the New Deal and the philosophy underlying it, he will obtain benefits for our group which his predecessor, on many occasions openly hostile to the Administration, could not obtain. All in all the political emancipation of the Negro, with all the benefits which may accure therefrom, starts with the election of Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro Democrat to Congress.

* * * * *

No personality in this column and no subject written here, to date, has brought to my desk so many letters as last week's column on the recent Congressman-elect from Chicago. The gist of the questions received by me is: please give in your column the high-lights of Mitchell's platform.

I have before me Mitchell's platform of eight planks and all seemin Civil Service departments in Washington should be eliminated. important to me although numbers four and five will doubtless be of work to eliminate the practice of our Civil Service Commission greatest interest to Federal employees of color. requiring applicants to submit their photographs with their applications. The platform upon which Arthur W. Mitchell, Congressman-elect from Illinois, made his successful campaign follows:

SPECIFIC THINGS RACIAL for WHICH I SHALL STAND and shall advocate the fingerprint system instead.

"5. I believe that the Colored People should have their just proportions of the jobs and positions created under the emergency acts through which our New Deal is being put forth.

WORK:

"6. I shall work incessantly to have the Congress pass an anti-lynching bill such as was introduced in last Congress.

"The most dangerous element in our country today is that of enforced idleness, brought about largely by the cessation of work. I shall be in favor of any program which tends to furnish work for the people, even though such program incurs governmental expense, thus increasing taxation. I believe that idleness is a breeder of crime, which threatens the destruction not only of our institutions, but of the government itself. And no monetary price to wipe out idleness and bring back prosperity is too great.

"7. I shall work to reenfranchise the colored people of the South and to wipe out all racial discriminations in voting priveleges of the citizens of the South.

"2. I am in favor of wiping out racial discriminations, which serve only one purpose, to breed hatred, prejudice, and injustice, thus making it impossible to prosper in the largest sense.

"8. I believe in making America first. This seems to be a national slogan, but it means nothing in our national life if we refuse or fail to make American Citizens first. I contend that in the matter of employment whether in public or private enterprises and businesses, those born under our flag and those who have sworn allegiance to our flag should be forced to remain idle while a citizen of some foreign country is given work which an American could do and wishes to do. Any other course on the part of our citizens in business shows the basest kind of hypocrisy."

"3. I believe that the Colored American Citizens should continue to enjoy the same wholesome benefits to be derived from the higher standards of living, increased wages, and better housing conditions in the national program, that are enjoyed by other racial groups.

"4. I believe that discriminations in governmental departments are

So much for Mr. Mitchell, at this time.

* * * * *

Political - 1934
Elections.

Illinois.

GIVE HIM A CHANCE

As Congressman-elect Arthur Mitchell, of Illinois starts a survey of the situation with a view of taking over the tremendously important duties of office, he is confronted by a group of unkind critics who, even at this early date, appear inclined to misconstrue his motives and impede his progress. It is very likely that the man who defeated the old "war horse," of Chicago's Southside, took such matters into account long before he made up his mind fully to enter the race, and it is earnestly hoped that he prepared himself to the extent of enabling him to combat the opposing forces that are certain to follow him as long as he holds public office. Congressman DePriest has announced, through his secretary, that he will "bow to the implorings of numerous friends," and be a candidate for the office in the election two years hence.

There is positively no good reason why any person or group of persons should hesitate to give Mr. Mitchell loyal support and co-operation. He is of excellent calibre and is that type of man who by determination and grit, made for himself a place that won favor for him in the estimation of his fellowman. Careful observers about the Illinois metropolis readily agree that Arthur Mitchell won the election for Congress due to his excellent ability and unquestioned record for a fair and just attitude toward his fellowman. Certainly his victory cannot be attributed to any marked degree of unpopularity on the part of Congressman DePriest, or because of any dereliction in duty on the part of Mr. DePriest, as he represented the First Illinois District in the United States Congress.

Taking all things into consideration, the Negroes of the United States in particular and the citizenship in general, have been thoroughly loyal to the administration of Oscar DePriest. Honor has been directed toward him by members of his racial group as invitation after invitation was extended him to be the guest of cities and towns in every part of the nation, and the people turned out to accord him the proper recognition. While a few prejudiced white folk did at certain times, give expression to hostile sentiment toward the Negro congressman, the conservative element of white people even in the Southern states, clearly appeared in control, and as visits were made by DePriest to cities and towns in the South, he was accorded protection and consideration justly due a man of his position in life.

As loathe as Congressman DePriest may be to give up the important office and regardless as to what temporary loss the race may encounter as his experienced services are supplanted with those of the capable, if inexperienced congressman-elect, it is nothing more than fair and just to Mr. Mitchell that he be given a chance to make good, without being subjected to thrusts and unfair jibes by selfish and ambitious interests whose only motives seem to be to hold on forever. There is no earthly reason why public office should not be passed around and when Mr. Mitchell assumes the duties of representative from his district, he will be just another member of the racial group who has an opportunity to gain such wonderful experience. Give him a chance.

Federal News Notes

"TODAY IS THE TOMORROW YOU WORRIED ABOUT YESTERDAY"

by LAURENCE J. W. HAYES

Nothing is so uncertain as the minds of the multitude.

* * * * *

Arthur W. Mitchell, Attorney of Alabama, Washington, and Illinois, who was recently elected to Congress to supplant Oscar DePriest will probably agree with the writer of the above statement. The writer of this column who during the course of a day's work handles approximately 400 newspapers has read editorials, articles and special features depicting Congressman-elect Mitchell as everything from "A white folks' Uncle Tom Alabama 'nigger'" to the new leaders of the Negro intelligentsia of the United States.

Arthur Mitchell

One Southern daily said editorially:

"Congressman-designate Mitchell, Negro Democrat, Chicago, who defeated Oscar DePriest, will not contend for the privelege of eating in the House Restaurant. Times and conditions being what they are, he is willing to take pot luck with the waiters back in the kitchen."

* * * * *

A Negro weekly has this to say of Mitchell:

"Underneath an affable, friendly exterior, he carries an iron heart. It is probable that he will lack some of the color which charcterized Mr. DePriest, but whatever courses of action he chooses to follow will be seasoned with wisdom and when he has made up his mind that he is right, he will be immovable by either force or flattery. He will show his smile before he shows his fist, but when he strikes he will strike hard."

Then we have the Jackson, Miss. Daily News coming forward with this startling statement:

"Up in Illinois, even in Chicago, they decided that a negro Democrat is better than a negro Republican. Oscar DePriest will no longer strut his stuff in the halls of Congress. He will be succeeded by Arthur Mitchell, Democrat, who is aptly described as "a white man's nigger."

* * * * *

The writer believes that Mr. Mitchell, in view of the friendly and sympathetic attitude of the President and the New Deal administration toward the common man, will—as a Democrat—have a fine opportunity to interpret to the administration the economic needs of the colored ptople, and will undobtly get a ready hearing to present any matters affecting the welfare of our people. As a warm supporter of the New Deal and the philosophy underlying it, he will obtain benefits for our group which his predecessor, on many occasions openly hostile to the Administration, could not obtain. All in all the political emancipation of the Negro, with all the benefits which may accure therefrom, starts with the election of Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro Democrat to Congress.

* * * * *

No personality in this column and no subject written here, to date, has brought to my desk so many letters as last week's column on the recent Congressman-elect from Chicago. The gist of the questions received by me is: please give in your column the high-lights of Mitchell's platform.

I have before me Mitchell's platform of eight planks and all seemin Civil Service departments in Washington should be eliminated. important to me although numbers four and five will doubtless be of shall work to eliminate the practice of our Civil Service Commission greatest interest to Federal employees of color. requiring applicants to submit their photographs with their applications and shall advocate the fingerprint system instead.

The plaform upon which Arthur W. Mitchell, Congressman-elect from Illinois, made his successful campaign follows:

"5. I believe that the Colored People should have their just proportions of the jobs and positions created under the emergency acts through which our New Deal is being put forth.

SPECIFIC THINGS RACIAL for WHICH I SHALL STAND and WORK:

"6. I shall work incessantly to have the Congress pass an anti-lynching bill such as was introduced in last Congress.

"The most dangerous element in our country today is that of enforced idleness, brought about largely by the cessation of work. I shall be in favor of any program which tends to furnish work for the people even though such program incurs governmental expense, thus increasing taxation. I believe that idleness is a breeder of crime, which threatens the destruction not only of our institutions, but of the government itself. And no monetary price to wipe out idleness and bring back prosperity is too great.

"7. I shall work to reenfranchise the colored people of the South and to wipe out all racial discriminations in voting priveleges of the citizens of the South.

"2. I am in favor of wiping out racial discriminations, which serve only one purpose, to breed hatred, prejudice, and injustice, thus making it impossible to prosper in the largest sense.

"8. I believe in making America first. This seems to be a national slogan, but it means nothing in our national life if we refuse or fail to make American Citizens first. I contend that in the matter of employment whether in public or private enterprises and businesses, those born under our flag and those who have sworn allegiance to our flag should have preference. No American citizen who wishes to work should be forced to remain idle while a citizen of some foreign country is given work which an American could do and wishes to do. Any other course on the part of our citizens in business shows the basest kind of hypocrisy."

"3. I believe that the Colored American Citizens should continue to enjoy the same wholesome benefits to be derived from the higher standards of living, increased wages, and better housing conditions in the national program, that are enjoyed by other racial groups.

"4. I believe that discriminations in governmental departments and

So much for Mr. Mitchell, at this time.

* * * * *

Because of the writer's worship of President Roosevelt, oft expressed satisfaction of the vast improvement of his present Government job under the New Deal in contrast to his work conditions under the G.O.P. (Greedy Old Pirates) and a somewhat pro New Deal leaning of this column; some of my readers have the very erroneous impression that I am some sort of "Advisor" to somebody or other or through political connection I can with impunity "expose" all of the manifestations of prejudice in Government departments. Such is not the case. I am simply an under paid, under-clerk whose connection with the Democratic National Committee stops with applications for employment and endorsements in their files. I am not a spokesman for the underprivileged Government employee, although I should like nothingg better. Luther Steward, Claude Babcock, George Riley, C.A.F., Morgan Baker and Bob McCormick are paid from $1,960 to $10,000 a year for that role. My basic salary is below $1,000.

I would, however, like to feel ere this column is changed to one of personal opinion, that a goodly percentage of underprivileged government employees who read this column would contact these men or the organization which they represent in order that they may profit by their experience in many years of fighting for the welfare of Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews.

My desk is full of letters asking me to publicize the jim-crow restaurants at the various departments, or the flagrant racial discrimination on public tennis courts or separate lavatories and the like.

Recently, correspondents are writing to ask me if I knew that there is a great deal of obvious prejudice in the administration of governmental affairs under the New Deal.

There is undoubtedly prejudice in the administration of governmental affairs because the administration is in the hands of people, and people unfortunately still have prejudices.

But I contend, and have always contended since my appointment as a temporary substitute laborer six years ago, that some of our difficulties arise not from the prejudice of the other fellow as from ignorance, indifference, jealousy, and procrastination on our part.

I may be wrong.

* * * * *

Next week, I will celebrate my first anniversary as a feature columnist for the WASHINGTON TRIBUNE. I have asked, possibly, my best friend and, admittedly, one of my severest critics to conduct the column for me next week. Mr. William Moore Steen, of the Historical Advisor's Office of the State Department, is the friend referred to in the previous sentence. I feel sure that he will bring you something of interest.

Florence, Ala., Times
November 15, 1934

NEGRO SUCCESS STORY

"Florence's only congressman," as some wag spoke of Oscar DePriest, Florence-born negro, who migrated to Chicago and subsequently was elected as a Republican to the congress from the "Loop District" of Chicago, was defeated November 6th by another Alabama negro, a Democrat. The new congressman, Arthur W. Mitchell, grew up in Choctaw County, once served as Booker T. Washington's office boy at Tuskegee, and after teaching in three Alabama counties, selling real estate in Birmingham and educating himself at Tuskegee, Talladega, Harvard and Columbia, practiced law in Chicago. Congressman Mitchell, who is now in Alabama revisiting Tuskegee and other scenes of his youth has many friends among the most prominent whites of the state who remember that he founded Armstrong Institute in the Black Belt and taught there ten years most of the time without pay. Mitchell's district, which takes in downtown Chicago, is the richest congressional district in the United States. His election makes Mitchell the most distinguished negro Democrat of the nation and heir to much of the influence that Booker Washington exercised over the South.

DEPRIEST'S DEFEAT

Oscar DePriest, Republican, lone Negro representative in Congress from the first Chicago district, went down to defeat before the onslaughts of campaigning friends of his Democratic opponent, Arthur W. Mitchell.

Latest Chicago election tabulation gave Mitchell, 27,966 votes against 24,840 for DePriest.

Thus the people of Chicago have seen fit to replace in the House of Representatives one race man with another.

It was the outcome of one of the most bitterly waged political contests ever staged in the windy city.

Armed with a number of supported charges including the damaging one that DePriest had neglected properly to advance the interests of his constituents, Mitchell took to the war-path with the one aim of un-horsing the present Chicago congressional incumbent and seizing the coveted prize for himself.

Throughout the campaign DePriest had exhibited a woeful lack of discretion in his well meant, but unpopular tirades against the "New Deal".

Seasoned as he is reputed to be in the arts and intricacies of politics DePriest might have profited immensely by side-stepping the latter issue altogether.

To this signal mistake, more than to any other principle advanced by Mr. DePriest in his fight to retain his seat in the House of Representative is attributed his defeat—and unfortunately so.

It was a blunder that few Republicans ever permitted themselves to commit, and for obvious reasons.

DePriest, hard-headedly, failed to adopt such a measure of diplimacy in the furtherance of his campaign thus supplying his enemies with a mighty club with which to smash his every breastwork; divest him of all chances of being re-elected.

Meanwhile, be it said that Mitchell is reputably an able race man possessed of all the qualities necessary to advance the interests of his constitutents.

Whether or not he will be able to accomplish the things DePriest is alleged to have failed to bring about remains to be seen.

However, the circumstance that the voters of the Chicago district saw fit to substitute another Negro member of Congress for the present incumbent is weighted with importance.

UNION, S. C.
TIMES

NOV 24 1934

DE PRIEST BITES THE DUST

(The Calhoun Times)

A most unusual thing happened in Chicago on election day. Oscar De Priest is the only negro congressman. He was beaten by a negro Democrat, Arthur Mitchell. So far as we are concerned the joy would have been practically undiluted had Mitchell been a Republican. Any honest proceeding to put Oscar on the scrap heap would have been welcome. He is a bad egg. His sole stock in trade is hatred of the white man. It is a peculiar freak of human nature that the narrowest, bitterest hatred for the Caucasian is often found among so-called leaders, with a strong flow of white blood in negro veins. Born and reared a Southerner, his animus against the South is profound.

Sprinkle this country pretty generally with De Priests, and L'Ouventures, San Domingos, and the fate of the Indians would soon follow. Among the other blessings resulting from the Roosevelt landslide, the scrapping of Oscar De Priest is one over which we rejoice.

Pope's dictum that a little earning is a dangerous thing certainly applied with interest to Oscar.

ORLANDO, FLA.
SENTINEL

NOV 22 1934

Mrs. Roosevelt Faces Racial Problem With Negro Democrat Elected to House

BY RUSSELL KAY
Special to Orlando Morning Sentinel

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 21—During the state legislative session of 1919 some crack-brained nit-wit introduced a resolution proposing that the Florida legislature go on record as condemning the action of Mrs. Herbert Hoover in entertaining the wife of Republican Congr. Oscar De Priest, (negro) at a White House among the more sane and level ed members of the house who negative vote on the proposi- was a young man named ude Pepper.

This year the same Claude Pepper ran for a seat in the U. S. senate. Opponents in a frantic effort to find some flaw in his legislative record brought to light the fact that he had voted "no" on this momentous question.

"Race Equality" they screamed and by word of mouth and cheap handbill the horrible facts were broadcast to the electorate. While none but the feeble minded could be influenced by such tactics, in the light of subsequent events, the affair should occasion some red faces.

Today, the wife of private citizen Herbert Hoover is doubtless viewing with keen amusement and a bit of sympathy the dilemma of her successor; while Claude Pepper has good reason to congratulate himself again on the wisdom and common-sense he displayed when he voted "no" on that foolish resolution.

The Oscar De Priests have ceased to be a problem in Washington legislative halls and ball rooms; but in their stead we find one Arthur W. Mitchell (negro) ardent supporter of the new deal, who with his negro wife goes to the Capitol by virtue of having received a majority of over 3,000 democratic votes to occupy the congressional seat of the Republican De Priest.

Since Rep. Mitchell's negro vote counts just as much as any other in the election of a democratic speaker, he will be offered committee assignments and invited to party caucuses. Nothing can prevent his occupying a suite in the House Office building along with representatives from Florida, Georgia and Alabama. He is entitled to eat with them in the House restaurant, sit beside them on the house floor.

Should Mrs. Roosevelt feel inclined to invite congressional ladies to tea at the White House, among the list of eligibles she would encounter the name of Mrs. Arthur W. Mitchell (negro) (D.,) just as Mrs. Hoover had to face the problem of Mrs. Oscar De Priest (negro) (R.), and like Mrs. Hoover, the present First Lady will use no blue pencil.

All of which is a matter of no great consequence. Recognition must be accorded the office, without regard to race, creed or color.

The moral, if any, is that sometimes the well known shoe is on the other foot—or—that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones, even when they do so under the assumption that their own glass is unbreakable.

Political - 1934 Elections.

Illinois.

Negro, Congressman-Elect Visits Ailing Mother Here

Arthur W. Mitchell, Randolph County Born, First Named To High Office By Party; Anti-Lynching Bill And Preference To Americans To Be Goal In House

Arthur W. Mitchell, who 34 years ago left the humble farm of his father in Randolph county and walked 66 miles to Tuskegee institute, today went back to visit that institution with the distinction of being the first negro elected to congress by the Democratic party.

Mitchell was in Birmingham yesterday visiting his ailing mother at her home, 2403 18th St., n.

Mitchell won the right to represent the first Illinois district, which includes the city of Chicago and all its massive wealth, by defeating Oscar De Priest, negro Republican incumbent and another Alabama native.

Seeks Anti-Lynch Bill

"Although I am tremendously interested in the racial problem, my principal thought in taking my seat in congress will be to serve the constituents of my district," he said.

Mitchell said that he was going to fight to pass an anti-lynching bill and a bill which would give American citizens preference over "foreigners" in the nation's public work.

Helped Organize College

After attending Tuskegee for two years, Mitchell went to Talladega college and completed his education by studying law at Harvard and Columbia.

His first big job was as president of the Armstrong Agricultural college in the black belt of Alabama which he helped organize. He held that position for 10 years.

Mitchell moved to Chicago in 1928 to practice law. His race for congressman this year was his first political effort.

NEGRO DEMOCRAT IS NAMED TO CONGRESS

Oscar dePriest Is Defeated in Chicago Landslide

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Oscar De Priest, negro Republican representative in Congress and opposed by another negro, received but 50 votes in the first of 147 precincts to report today.

His Democratic opponent, Arthur W. Mitchell, had 415.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley said tonight he had received a telegram from Democratic State Chairman Nash of Illinois asserting that three Republican representatives from that state had been defeated. Nash said two of them were the veteran Fred Britten and Oscar De Priest, negro. He did not name the third.

CHICAGO, ILL.
HERALD EXAMINER
OCT 30 1934

Farmer 'Fixed Up' by Roosevelt Will Battle De Priest

He'll Tell Story of Success to Chicago Voters and Aid Mitchell.

Sylvester Harris, the colored farmer from Columbus, Miss., who called President Roosevelt on the long distance telephone and so secured an easement on his mortgage, came to Chicago last night to help elect a congressman of his own race to march under the banner of his benefactor.

More than a score of colored politicians gathered to welcome the gangling pop-eyed young farmer who took his last $10 to get assistance from the White House. The welcoming committee was headed by Joseph F. Tittinger, Democratic committeeman of the Second Ward.

Said Tittinger:

"The story that boy can tell will blow Oscar de Priest out of the water."

Congressman de Priest, Republican, is being opposed by Arthur W. Mitchell, also colored, whose adherents are paying Sylvester's expenses. Sylvester will tell his story nightly to colored voters from now until election eve. Sylvester is all for it. He said:

"All I got to do is just tell the folks how the President fixed me up."

Runs Close In Race for Congress

ARTHUR W. MITCHELL

Candidate for Congress from the first congressional district, who made history as the first member of his Race ever to be supported for Congress by the Democratic party.

Negro Helped by Roosevelt Proves Warwick in Election

Here's Sylvester Harris, Mississippi cornfield negro, shown as a modern Warwick and being thanked by Arthur W. Mitchell, first negro democratic congressman, for the speeches which were largely responsible for Mitchell's defeat of the veteran republican negro congressman, Oscar Depriest. About a year ago Sylvester, full of trouble over impending foreclosure of his home and farm, left his mule in the furrow and called up President Roosevelt on the phone. The president reassured him, set alphabetical wheels in motion and saved Sylvester's home. When election time rolled around, Sylvester, full of gratitude, went to Chicago and told the people in the colored section there what President Roosevelt had done for him, with the result that Mitchell, a negro originally from Alabama, was elected. Associated Press photo.

DECATUR, ILL.
REVIEW

OCT 30 1934

SOMETHING TO LOOK FORWARD TO

Marcellus J. J. Polk has been making a thorough check of the fleet of cars at the disposal of the Macon county sheriff, and has expressed surprise at the amount of travelling which goes with the amount of law enforcement.

—Herald and Review Photo.

Campaigns in A Rowboat

Invisible Darkhorse Candidate Goes Fishing; Wonders About Sheriff's Problems.

Marcellus J. J. Polk, "invisible dark horse candidate" for sheriff has been discovered in a surprise move. While other candidates have been following old-fashioned methods of campaigning, Marcellus has taken to a boat and has carried his campaign to the fishermen who line the banks of Lake Decatur. He is angling for the Izaak Walton vote.

"There's lots of ways to get places," the invisible candidate said. "I can cover a lot of ground on foot, or I can use my boat. I can't depend on automobiles much, unless I get to be sheriff so the county will furnish the car.

Hears of Economy Move.

"They tell me, though, that after election the county officials that look after the tax money are going to get rid of that $2,000 sedan they bought awhile back for the sheriff. It seems the machine has been in the repair shop so many times, as a result of being stolen, punctured by bullets, and banged against telephone poles and trees by careless deputies that the folks in charge of the county money have got tired paying bills on it.

"Little cars, that are fast and don't cost much to operate, will be better anyway," he suggested, "and you know the next sheriff ought to put in a system that will make every deputy taking a car out leave a slip showing what business he is up to; and make a report when he comes back about where he has been, how far he has gone, and how long he had the car out. That would put an end to use of the county's automobiles just to ride around in for pleasure or to get some place where a deputy has found a side line job or something.

91,810 Miles a Year.

"Until I got in this thing, I didn't know those cars of the sheriff covered 91,810 miles last year and cost the county $6,818.54 for gasoline, repairs, and the wearing out of them, and money spent for a new machine. I got a pencil and paper, and the best I could figure it, the cars would have to drive as far as St. Louis and back each day to get in that mileage, and it cost us taxpayers $18.50 for every day in the year, Sunday and all.

"If I was sheriff, there would be one man issue the gasoline, and handle all car expense, and if at the end of the year they'd gone far enough to get around the world three times, I'd know just where they'd been and what they went for."

MITCHELL IS INTERVIEWED BY THE NEWS

(In the Chicago Daily News)

By GENE MORGAN

In Washington, D.C., they'll stare at him agape, no doubt, as the first and only one of his kind—a democratic Negro congressman.

But there was nothing unusual about the appearance or manner of Congressman-Elect Arthur W. Mitchell of the first district as he received congratulations in his law office at 411 East 47th Street today. Firm of countenance, with iron gray hair, the attorney who will represent 80,000 Chicago voters in the next session of congress made vain efforts to depart for his home at 3657 South Parkway. But the constantly increasing throng of smiling, dark-skinned supporters formed an effective blockade.

The new representative, who outpointed the veteran Congressman Oscar De Priest by a plurality of more than 3,000, wore his tan overcoat and occasionally put on his hat. But nobody took the hint. More visitors pushed their way into the small anteroom, and the victor took off his hat again and decided to stay awhile. And thereupon accumulated more handshakes, more gleeful "congrats" and more telegrams from everywhere.

Wants His Luncheon

Then there was a reporter from the loop buzzing about seeking an interview with the busy Mr. Mitchell, who sincerely wanted to leave for luncheon with his wife and son. Standing in his overcoat, reading telegrams, the congresman-elect talked in scattered sentences, and occasionally stole a glance at the large framed picture of Mrs. Mitchell on his littered desk. Perhaps it reminded him of her pride in his victory and also that luncheon was getting cold.

"The result of the election in the first congressional district was significant in more ways than one," said this former farm boy in Randolph County, Alabama, who had made good in the big city.

"It was a vote for Roosevelt and recovery," he continued. "But equally significant is the fact that it marks a turning point in the campaign of bitterness waged by some northern Negro leaders against southern white people. It is a repudiation of the attempt to 'bulldoze' your neighbors.

"It is my belief that a man ought to make and retain all the friends he can. I do not apologize for my white friends in the south, in Birmingham and elsewhere. I shall continue to cultivate such friendly relations for the best interests of the whites and Negroes without sacrificing one iota of principle of character."

Served Booker T. Washington

The congressman-elect smiled as he recalled that he was once the late Booker T. Washington's office boy. The influence of that great educator and moderator between the two races has made an indelible impression upon the man whom the south side is sending to Capitol hill.

"When I was 14 years old," he recalled today. "I left home and walked the entire distance to Tuskegee college. That was sixty-six miles. There I worked on the farm during the day and attended school at night. The influence of Dr. Washington has guided me in my relations with all people."

The new leader, who lives and practices friendship, worked his way through Talladega College and later attended Harvard and Columbia universities. He established the Armstrong Agricultural college, located in "darkest Alabama," and for ten years served as its president, most of the time receiving no stipend. Later he studied law and practiced in Washington. In 1928 he moved to Chicago.

Tells Plans in Congress

Mr. Mitchell found time today to escape from the press of visitors to explain the legislation he hopes to further in congress. An "American citizens first" bill is under preparation, which would secure for Americans born or naturalized preference in all forms of employment over persons living in this country yet owing allegiance to other flags. He intends to work "incessantly" to have congress pass an anti-lynching bill and will fight against color discriminations in public employment.

A busy man, this new congressman, who is on speaking terms both with President Roosevelt and thousands of humble citizens in the district he will represent. Before the interviewers gave way to the surging crowd of constituents, Mr. Mitchell slipped into his inner office and produced another framed photograph. It revealed the pleasing features of a young man.

"Arthur Mitchell, Jr.," he explained. "My boy is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is working for his master's degree at Chicago now."

Then he put away the picture, shook off the interviewer and a couple of messenger boys and, still wearing his overcoat, settled down to repeating:

"Oh, yes, thank you. It was a fine victory and I owe it to all of you."

Political - 1934

Elections.

Illinois.

MITCHELL'S PLATFORM KEYNOTE OF SUCCESS

11-17-34

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—During the campaign, Congressman- elect Mitchell made his drive upon the following platform:

Specific Things Racial for Which I Shall Stand and Work

"The most dangerous element in our country today is that of enforced idleness, brought about largely by the cessation of work. I shall be in favor of any program which tends to furnish work for the people, even though such program incurs governmental expense, thus increasing taxation. I believe that idleness is a breeder of crime, which threatens the destruction not only of our institutions, but of the government itself. An no monetary price to wipe out idleness and bring back prosperity, is too great.

"2. I am in favor of wiping out racial discriminations, which serve only one purpose—to breed hatred, prejudice and injustice, thus making it impossible to prosper in the largest sense.

"3. I believe that the Colored American Citizens should continue to enjoy the same wholesome benefits to be derived from the higher standards of living, increased wages, and better housing conditions in the national program, that are enjoyed by other racial groups.

"4. I believe that discriminations in governmental departments and in civil service departments in Washington, should be eliminated. I shall work to eliminate the practice of our civil service commission requiring applicants to submit their photographs with their applications and shall advocate the fingerprint system instead.

"5. I believe that the colored people should have their just proportions of the jobs and positions created under the emergency acts through which our New Deal is being put forth.

"6. I shall work incessantly to have the Congress pass an anti-lynching bill such as was introduced in last Congress.

"7. I shall work to reenfranchise the colored people of the South and to wipe out all racial discriminations in voting privileges of the citizens of the South.

"8. I believe in making America first. This seems to be a national slogan, but it means nothing in our national life if we refuse or fail to make American citizens first. I contend that in the matter of employment whether in public or private enterprises and businesses, those born under our flag and those who have sworn allegiance to our flag should have preference. No American citizen who wishes to work should be forced to remain idle while a citizen of some foreign country is given work which an American could do and wishes to do. Any other course on the part of our citizens in business shows the basest kind of hypocrisy."

Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser
November 9, 1934

THE FIRST DEMOCRATIC NEGRO CONGRESSMAN

Arthur W. Mitchell, who in his childhood sat at the feet of Booker T. Washington, and served that remarkable race leader as office boy at Tuskegee, has at last been elected a member of the Congress of the United States. He is the first Negro Democrat, we believe, to go to Congress.

The election of Mitchell is of greater significance to his race and country than the election of Oscar DePriest, whom Mitchell has just defeated in a Chicago district.

Mitchell is a bigger, broader and more significant personality than DePriest. He is a man of deeper scope and deeper feeling. He has a far richer background, for he is not alone a graduate of Tuskegee and a disciple of Booker Washington, but a graduate of Harvard and Columbia. Better than that he was able to say after his remarkable victory:

> I've tried to run my campaign on an educational basis and have tried to teach the people of this district that it is not a bad thing to be a Democrat. . . . I would work harder for my people than any other Congressman, but I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored. It makes no difference when you have ability.

Here Mitchell takes high ground. He says, in effect: "I am not a Negro agitator, but a member of the Congress of the United States. I am not the exclusive property of one class and race, but the agent of all the people."

Mitchell's election does more to dignify the Negro race than any previous political victory by an American Negro.

It is the feeling of The Advertiser, a newspaper of the deep South, and Democratic all the way through, that it is more fortunate for the Negro race that a Negro Democrat should win a Congressional seat than that a Negro Republican should win.

Plainly an American Negro who can bring himself to offer for public office on the Democratic ticket, is a bolder, more independent spirit than one who does the obviously "correct" and safe thing of running as a Lincoln Republican.

The latter lives in the past, the Negro Democrat looks to the rising sun of the future, and is not unaware of the living present.

It takes moral courage, in the light of the history of this republic, for an American Negro to be a Democrat. Moral courage is the first requisite of a useful public official.

If Mitchell will be faithful to his original impulse to be an American Congressman instead of a Negro agitator in Congress, he will reflect credit upon himself and his race.

His opportunity today is equal to that of his master, Booker T. Washington, the wisest spirit ever born of African blood. But if he is interested primarily in fighting out the question whether a Negro shall eat his lunch in the Congressional restaurant, and not in the fundamental issues which torment the human mind, he will serve his brief day and pass out forgotten, as Oscar DePriest, the cheap man with the cab-driver psychology, has passed out before the blade of a better swordsman.

What the American Negro needs is a sense of dignity. Mitchell, apparently, holds the same theory.

Greenville, S. C. Piedmont
November 10, 1934

Get A New Tune

OLD-TIME southern politicians who have capitalized effectively upon the negro support given the Republican party over the land through the years will have to learn new speeches.

Audiences might snicker irreverently at tributes to the "white man's party" now that the only colored man in Congress is a Democrat.

Macon, Ga., Telegraph
November 12, 1934

Heart-Throb Dividends

This thing of scattering seeds of kindness certainly does pay. One of the most disturbing marplots in Congress for many years was the Republican Negro, Oscar DePriest, who represented a Negro district in Chicago. When he came up for election this year he was opposed by Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro Democrat who was born in Alabama and later moved to the Windy City.

It will be remembered that about a year ago a Mississippi Negro by the name of Sylvester Harris, all hot and bothered because he was about to lose his home and farm, left the plow in the field and went to a telephone. He called up the President of the United States over long distance and the President, with his usual good nature, agreed to talk to Sylvester in person. Mr. Roosevelt heard the Negro farmer's story, reassured him and then set in motion some of the alphabetical machinery designed for the purpose and succeeded in saving Sylvester's farm.

The Mississippi Negro was tremendously grateful to the President and when the election rolled around Sylvester went to Chicago. He told the people in the colored section there what the President had done for him, with the result that Mitchell became the first Negro Democrat ever to be elected to Congress, while Oscar DePriest was permanently cut short of his efforts to throw open the House restaurant in the Capitol in Washington to Negroes.

Now Sylvester's picture, shaking hands with the candidate he did so much to elect, is going the rounds of the press, representing both the king-maker and the king with broad smiles on their faces.

Little is known in the South of this first Negro Democrat ever to be sent to Congress, but it is practically certain that his white colleagues will find it far easier to get along with him than with DePriest.

It cost the President of the United States nothing to be friendly and helpful toward the cornfield Negro down in Mississippi who was about to lose his home and the few acres which he won a living by hard work, but that investment of kindness and consideration has paid a large dividend. It may be relied upon that the Negro Democrat from Chicago will go down the line for the President 100 per cent.

"Little drops of water, little grains of sand." You know the rest.

Four years ago a great howl went up in the South when the Republicans nominated and elected Oscar DePriest, a Chicago negro, to Congress from the black belt in that city. Last week the democrats in Chicago elected a negro to Congress from this black district. And we haven't heard of a single Davie democrat saying a word about the matter.

Dalton, Ga., N. Ga. Citizen
November 15, 1934

Representative Oscar De Priest was defeated in Illinois, along with the Chicago Tribune, but a democratic Negro was elected in his place. That may help some, but Congressman Tarver is of the opinion that a republican of color is preferable to a democrat of color.

Illinois.

Political-1934

Elections.

MITCHELL'S PLATFORM KEYNOTE OF SUCCESS

11-17-34

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—During the campaign, Congressman- elect Mitchell made his drive upon the following platform:

Specific Things Racial for Which I Shall Stand and Work

"The most dangerous element in our country today is that of enforced idleness, brought about largely by the cessation of work. I shall be in favor of any program which tends to furnish work for the people, even though such program incurs governmental expense, thus increasing taxation. I believe that idleness is a breeder of crime, which threatens the destruction not only of our institutions, but of the government itself. An no monetary price to wipe out idleness and bring back prosperity, is too great.

"2. I am in favor of wiping out racial discriminations, which serve only one purpose—to breed hatred, prejudice and injustice, thus making it impossible to prosper in the largest sense.

"3. I believe that the Colored American Citizens should continue to enjoy the same wholesome benefits to be derived from the higher standards of living, increased wages, and better housing conditions in the national program, that are enjoyed by other racial groups.

"4. I believe that discriminations in governmental departments and in civil service departments in Washington, should be eliminated. I shall work to eliminate the practice of our civil service commission requiring applicants to submit their photographs with their applications and shall advocate the fingerprint system instead.

"5. I believe that the colored people should have their just proportions of the jobs and positions created under the emergency acts through which our New Deal is being put forth.

"6. I shall work incessantly to have the Congress pass an anti-lynching bill such as was introduced in last Congress.

"7. I shall work to reenfranchise the colored people of the South and to wipe out all racial discriminations in voting privileges of the citizens of the South.

"8. I believe in making America first. This seems to be a national slogan, but it means nothing in our national life if we refuse or fail to make American citizens first. I contend that in the matter of employment whether in public or private enterprises and businesses, those born under our flag and those who have sworn allegiance to our flag should have preference. No American citizen who wishes to work should be forced to remain idle while a citizen of some foreign country is given work which an American could do and wishes to do. Any other course on the part of our citizens in business shows the basest kind of hypocrisy."

Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser
November 9, 1934

THE FIRST DEMOCRATIC NEGRO CONGRESSMAN

Arthur W. Mitchell, who in his child-hood sat at the feet of Booker T. Washington, and served that remarkable race leader as office boy at Tuskegee, has at last been elected a member of the Congress of the United States. He is the first Negro Democrat, we believe, to go to Congress.

The election of Mitchell is of greater significance to his race and country than the election of Oscar DePriest, whom Mitchell has just defeated in a Chicago district.

Mitchell is a bigger, broader and more significant personality than DePriest. He is a man of deeper scope and deeper feeling. He has a far richer background, for he is not alone a graduate of Tuskegee and a disciple of Booker Washington, but a graduate of Harvard and Columbia. Better than that he was able to say after his remarkable victory:

I've tried to run my campaign on an educational basis and have tried to teach the people of this district that it is not a bad thing to be a Democrat. . . . I would work harder for my people than any other Congressman, but I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored. It makes no difference when you have ability.

Here Mitchell takes high ground. He says, in effect: "I am not a Negro agitator, but a member of the Congress of the United States. I am not the exclusive property of one class and race, but the agent of all the people."

Mitchell's election does more to dignify the Negro race than any previous political victory by an American Negro.

It is the feeling of The Advertiser, a newspaper of the deep South, and Democratic all the way through, that it is more fortunate for the Negro race that a Negro Democrat should win a Congressional seat than that a Negro Republican should win.

Plainly an American Negro who can bring himself to offer for public office on the Democratic ticket, is a bolder, more independent spirit than one who does the obviously "correct" and safe thing of running as a Lincoln Republican.

The latter lives in the past, the Negro Democrat looks to the rising sun of the future, and is not unaware of the living present.

It takes moral courage, in the light of the history of this republic, for an American Negro to be a Democrat. Moral courage is the first requisite of a useful public official.

If Mitchell will be faithful to his original impulse to be an American Congressman instead of a Negro agitator in Congress, he will reflect credit upon himself and his race.

His opportunity today is equal to that of his master, Booker T. Washington, the wisest spirit ever born of African blood. But if he is interested primarily in fighting out the question whether a Negro shall eat his lunch in the Congressional restaurant, and not in the fundamental issues which torment the human mind, he will serve his brief day and pass out forgotten, as Oscar DePriest, the cheap man with the cab-driver psychology, has passed out before the blade of a better swordsman.

What the American Negro needs is a sense of dignity. Mitchell, apparently, holds the same theory.

Greenville, S. C. Piedmont
November 10, 1934

Get A New Tune

OLD-TIME southern politicians who have capitalized effectively upon the negro support given the Republican party over the land through the years will have to learn new speeches.

Audiences might snicker irreverently at tributes to the "white man's party" now that the only colored man in Congress is a Democrat.

Macon, Ga., Telegraph
November 12, 1934

Heart-Throb Dividends

This thing of scattering seeds of kindness certainly does pay. One of the most disturbing marplots in Congress for many years was the Republican Negro, Oscar DePriest, who represented a Negro district in Chicago. When he came up for election this year he was opposed by Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro Democrat who was born in Alabama and later moved to the Windy City.

It will be remembered that about a year ago a Mississippi Negro by the name of Sylvester Harris, all hot and bothered because he was about to lose his home and farm, left the plow in the field and went to a telephone. He called up the President of the United States over long distance and the President, with his usual good nature, agreed to talk to Sylvester in person. Mr. Roosevelt heard the Negro farmer's story, reassured him and then set in motion some of the alphabetical machinery designed for the purpose and succeeded in saving Sylvester's farm.

The Mississippi Negro was tremendously grateful to the President and when the election rolled around Sylvester went to Chicago. He told the people in the colored section there what the President had done for him, with the result that Mitchell became the first Negro Democrat ever to be elected to Congress, while Oscar DePriest was permanently cut short of his efforts to throw open the House restaurant in the Capitol in Washington to Negroes.

Now Sylvester's picture, shaking hands with the candidate he did so much to elect, is going the rounds of the press, representing both the king-maker and the king with broad smiles on their faces.

Little is known in the South of this first Negro Democrat ever to be sent to Congress, but it is practically certain that his white colleagues will find it far easier to get along with him than with DePriest.

It cost the President of the United States nothing to be friendly and helpful toward the cornfield Negro down in Mississippi who was about to lose his home and the few acres which he won a living by hard work, but that investment of kindness and consideration has paid a large dividend. It may be relied upon that the Negro Democrat from Chicago will go down the line for the President 100 per cent.

"Little drops of water, little grains of sand."

You know the rest.

Macon, Ga., Telegraph
November 12, 1934

saying a word about the matter.

heard of a single Davie democrat

Dalton, Ga., N. Ga. Citizen
November 15, 1934

Representative Oscar De Priest was defeated in Illinois, along with the Chicago Tribune, but a democratic Negro was elected in his place. That may help some, but Congressman Tarver is of the opinion that a republican of color is preferable to a democrat of color.

Four years ago a great howl went up in the South when the Republicans nominated and elected Oscar DePriest, a Chicago negro, to Congress from the black belt in that city. Last week the democrats in Chicago elected a negro to Congress from this black district. And we haven't

Bristol, Va., Herald-Courier
November 10, 1934

DePriest Defeated.

Oscar DePriest, who for six years has represented the First Illinois District in Congress and has enjoyed the distinction of being the only Negro member of that body, will not be in the next Congress, but his successor will be a member of his own race. He was defeated in the recent election by Arthur W. Mitchell, a Negro lawyer from the Old South and once an office boy to Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama.

The First Illinois District is in the "Loop" section of Chicago and its population is overwhelmingly colored. Until 1928 it had white representation in Congress, but only through deals with DePriest and other Negro leaders in the district. When the last white Representative died DePriest determined to go to Congress himself and had no difficulty in carrying out his plan. He went to Congress in 1928 and went back in 1930 and again in 1932.

The First Illinois will be represented in the next Congress by a man of the same race but of different political affiliation. DePriest is a Republican while Mitchell is a Democrat and will be the first Negro to sit on the Democratic side of the House. It is to be hoped his conduct will be somewhat different from that of his immediate predecessor, who seemed to be interested chiefly in raising racial questions and who sometimes made speaking tours which did not help to promote good will between the races. Members of DePriest's own party in Congress will hardly regret his defeat.

Columbus, Ga., Ledger
November 8, 1934

De Priest Supplanted

So many interesting things happened in the overturn of the general elections, editorial writers will be commenting upon them for some time. One of the unique occurrences was that Oscar De Priest, the Republican Negro Congressman from Illinois, has been defeated by a Democratic Negro who formerly was Booker T. Washington's office boy—Arthur W. Mitchell.

Mitchell was an Alabama farm boy and ran away at 14 to attend school at Tuskegee, later graduating from Talladega college in Alabama. He then went to Harvard and Columbia, became a lawyer in Washington and did a real estate business along with it. In the capital, he observed the ways of lawmaking and now he is on "the Hill" himself.

The change from De Priest to Mitchell is a most fortunate one for all concerned. Mitchell, it seems, has no race "complex," such as his predecessor had in such exaggerated form. As he himself phrases it, "I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored," meaning he would not go out to stir up race issues and ever parade these matters into the public prints.

Savannah, Ga., News
November 9, 1934

A NEGRO DEMOCRAT IN CONGRESS

One of the odd developments of the recent battle of ballots was the announcement from Chicago that a negro Democratic lawyer, Arthur W. Mitchell, had nosed out a victory over Oscar De Priest, negro Republican incumbent, by a margin of 3,000 votes. The Columbia State views the result as "the most singular and unexpected of all political happenings of all times," pointing out that "Something unique will occur when Congress meets. There have been any number of negro members of Congress, but if a negro Democrat ever sat in that august body our memory fails to record the fact," adding this comment, "Congressman De Priest is conceded to have ability, but for some reason probably touching 'personality,' he has not made a hit with his own race."

Following the announcement of his election, Mitchell, who is a native of Alabama, as is De Priest, said he felt the race issue should not be the dominant idea of a negro in Congress. He declared "There is no prejudice against my people in the present administration. This is a new day under a new deal."

Charleston, S. C., News & Courier
November 26, 1934

Good 'Ole Marster"

A private letter from New Jersey tells us the colored people are joining Democratic clubs. A colored Democrat has been elected to congress from Chicago, and in South Carolina negroes abstained from voting the Republican ticket November 6. "Uncle Sam" is now a Democrat and in giving out food and other relief he is behaving in some degree after the manner of "Ole Marster" in the 1860's.

Sparks, Ga., Eagle
November 23, 1934

TIMELY TOPICS

When Oscar DePriest, a Chicago negro, was elected to Congress in 1918, considerable indignation was expressed in various quarters, especially by Southern Democrats. They got rid of DePriest in the recent election, but didn't get rid of his color. His successful Democratic opponent, Arthur W. Mitchell, is also a negro.

Chatsworth, Ga., Times
November 29, 1934

Us Dem[illegible]cs, as Will Rogers would say, can't talk [illegible]out the Republican negro congressman any more. We have replaced him with a Democratic negro congressman. We think we will dislike him less than DePriest, though. He is an Alabama negro, former office boy for Booker T. Washingtn, and now he's a congressman from Chicago. He says he will get along with the whites because he won't keep thinking of his color.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
CHRONICLE

DEC 5 1934

New Deal's Negro

THE ELECTION of the first Negro Democrat to Congress has produced a situation that is causing Southern Democrats no end of embarrassment. While there have been Republican Negro Congressmen, the Democrats were not called upon to have any truck with them. But now it is different. Arthur W. Mitchell, colored. Democrat chosen from a Chicago district to succeed Representative De Priest, colored Republican, is in the Democratic family. He is part of the New Deal. He cannot be treated as an opponent or as a stepchild. Already there has been much backstage to-do about it in Washington Democratic circles. House managers cannot offend the Southerners and neither can they affront Northern Negroes who vote Democratic.

Into this situation has come a voice from the South, an editorial in the Chattanooga Times, which says:

There is not the slightest valid reason why Mitchell's color should be a determining factor in the official treatment accorded him. In business, industry and the professions, the Negro should be dealt with, even in the South, on terms of business, industrial and professional equality. Much more, if anything, is a representative of the race in Congress to be met and dealt with on terms of official equality. Any Democratic Congressman or other official who may fail to meet and deal with Mitchell on such terms, on the floor of the House, in committee rooms, in cloakrooms or in executive and administrative offices, will thereby be violating and denying the first principle of democratic government.

This is courageously said and represents a marked advance in the Southern attitude. But the same argument in support of democratic government would apply to the right of the Negro to vote in the South. That, however, is something else. Moreover the plea for equality is strictly confined to official relations. The social aspect is carefully reserved. And it is at the point where official and social relations are not easily distinguishable that the trouble has arisen—the seating arrangement and the House dining room.

In this respect Mitchell's own good sense and tact will doubtless resolve the difficulty. He at least will not have the impulse to put the Democrats in a hole as the aggressive Republican de Priest had in raising an issue over the dining room. An office boy of the late Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee and a graduate of that institution, Mitchell also attended Columbia and Harvard. While his legal residence was Chicago, he actually has been living in Washington, where he has been in business and knows the way around.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

DEC 8 1934

Moore Named Assistant Commerce Commissioner

Governor Henry Horner announced yesterday that he had appointed Attorney Herman E. Moore, Chicago, to be an assistant Illinois Commerce commissioner. Moore will assume his duties at a session of the commission at Chicago next Monday.

Moore is a director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and a member of the Chicago Urban league. He has been a practicing attorney of Chicago since he was admitted to the bar in 1920.

Political-1934

Illinois.

Elections

Tuskegee Negro Defeats DePriest

CHICAGO, Nov. 6—(AP)—Arthur W. Mitchell, negro lawyer, tonight unseated the Nation's only negro congressman, Oscar DePriest. 11-7-34

Mitchell rode the Democratic vote avalanche in Cook County to defeat the Republican in the First Illinois Congressional District.

With nearly half the precincts reported, Mitchell had 16,391 to 7,879 for DePriest.

Mitchell, a 37-year-old lawyer, waged a vigorous campaign and enjoyed the support of the powerful Cook County Democratic organization.

DePriest, a native of Alabama, received his education in Kansas but for many years had been a familiar figure in Chicago political circles. Mitchell studied at Tuskegee, Harvard, and Columbia.

MITCHELL IS WELL TRAINED

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(ANP)—Arthur W. Mitchell was born in Alabama where he had a distinguished record as an educator before he left to take up the practice of law in Washington, D. C. He was in Washington for two decades nearly until after the election of 1928 when he moved with his family to Chicago. In the 1928 campaign Mr. Mitchell was employed at the Republican western headquarters in Chicago. Not long after Hoover was elected, he professed himself disappointed by the Hoover policies, and changed his political affiliation. 11-10-34

In the campaign just closed, Mr. Mitchell charged that Mr. DePriest had neglected the vital interests of his constituents. He met the DePriest charge that the "New Deal" had meant misery to many Negroes, by stating that although some Negroes might have suffered in establishing the program, the general direction of "New Deal" aims was in line with betterment for all classes including the Negro and that time would bring benefits.

Two factors aided the election of Mr. Mitchell. The first was the fact that he is colored. Always before the Democratic party had supported a white candidate, but when the white man nominated at the primary died, Mr. Mitchell was named by the Democratic County central committee.

Furthermore, during the spring primary campaign, Mr. DePriest split the Republican party ranks by taking sides in a knock-down and drag-out battle between two Republican leaders in the Second ward. The man opposed by DePriest won. In the election it was demonstrated that he failed to completely win back the Republicans whose support he had alienated in the primary.

ILLINOIS TO KEEP NEGRO IN HOUSE

Other Democrats Are Winners in Various Parts of Country

N. Y. PAIR WINS

CHICAGO, Ill.—(Special) — Arthur W .Mitchell did it!

Many Southsiders are still wondering how the mild mannered but highly polished Arthur Mitchell managed to oust the fiery and unfaltering Congressman Oscar DePriest from his seat in the United States House of Representatives, but he did it by a margin of several thousand votes.

And to Arthur W. Mitchell Illinois second Negro representative to take a seat in the federal body, will go the honor of being the first Negro democrat to ever hold that post, all of the host of other legislators having won their right to their seats in the United States Congress via the good old republican route.

Alabama will share these honors with Illinois this time again, for Alabama was as much the home of Congressman-elect Mitchell as it was that of Congressman DePriest, whom he will succeed and many old Tuskegee graduates will recall that he was at one time office boy for the late Booker T. Washington, having run away from his farm home to study at Tuskegee institute.

Unlike Mr. DePriest, who obtained his schooling in Kansas, Mr. Mitchell continued his college work in Alabama graduating from Talladega college, recognized until today as one of the highest ranking institutions of higher education for Negroes in the South and one of the very few "A" colleges, going from there to Harvard and then to Columbia.

Mrs. King, who is an accountant in a government office at Washington, D. C., as wll as a graduate of Howard university, may be given much credit for his later success in Washington, D. C. in the real estate business, a business that he carried along with his legal practices.

His son, Arthur Jr., is a graduate of the University of Michigan and many socialites will recall the younger Mitchell was united in marriage last summer to Miss Billie Kyle, daughter of the prominent Memphis (Tenn.) medical man.

In a brief statement issued to newspaper men, the congressman-elect pointed out that he did not believe that racial issues should be the principal idea of a Negro in Congress, although he would work harder for his own group than any other congressman. He lauded the "New Deal" administration for its fairness in dealing with all citizens and stated that his only variance with the president's policies came in that he believed that the bonus should be paid to veterans in need.

THE FIRST DEMOCRATIC NEGRO CONGRESSMAN

Arthur W. Mitchell, who in his childhood sat at the feet of Booker T. Washington, and served that remarkable race leader as office boy at Tuskegee, has at last been elected a member of the Congress of the United States. He is the first Negro Democrat, we believe, to go to Congress.

The election of Mitchell is of greater significance to his race and country than the election of Oscar DePriest, whom Mitchell has just defeated in a Chicago district. 11-9-34

Mitchell is a bigger, broader and more significant personality than DePriest. He is a man of deeper scope and deeper feeling. He has a far richer background, for he is not alone a graduate of Tuskegee and a disciple of Booker Washington, but a graduate of Harvard and Columbia. Better than that he was able to say after his remarkable victory:

> I've tried to run my campaign on an educational basis and have tried to teach the people of this district that it is not a bad thing to be a Democrat. . . . I would work harder for my people than any other Congressman, but I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored. It makes no difference when you have ability.

Here Mitchell takes high ground. He says, in effect: "I am not a Negro agitator, but a member of the Congress of the United States. I am not the exclusive property of one class and race, but the agent of all the people."

Mitchell's election does more to dignify the Negro race than any previous political victory by an American Negro. It is the feeling of The Advertiser, a newspaper of the deep South, and Democratic all the way through, that it is more fortunate for the Negro race that a Negro Democrat should win a Congressional seat than that a Negro Republican should win.

Plainly an American Negro who can bring himself to offer for public office on the Democratic ticket, is a bolder, more independent spirit than one who does the obviously "correct" and safe thing of running as a Lincoln Republican.

The latter lives in the past, the Negro Democrat looks to the rising sun of the future, and is not unaware of the living present.

It takes moral courage, in the light of the history of this republic, for an American Negro to be a Democrat. Moral courage is the first requisite of a useful public official.

If Mitchell will be faithful to his original impulse to be an American Congressman instead of a Negro agitator in Congress, he will reflect credit upon himself and his race.

His opportunity today is equal to that of his master, Booker T. Washington, the wisest spirit ever born of African blood. But if he is interested primarily in fighting out the question whether a Negro shall eat his lunch in the Congressional restaurant, and not in the fundamental issues which torment the human mind, he will serve his brief day and pass out forgotten, as Oscar DePriest, the cheap man with the cab-driver psychology, has passed out before the blade of a better swordsman.

What the American Negro needs is a sense of dignity. Mitchell, apparently, holds the same theory.

Political - 1934

Illinois.

Elections

Tuskegee Negro Defeats DePriest

CHICAGO, Nov. 6—(AP)—Arthur W. Mitchell, negro lawyer, tonight unseated the Nation's only negro congressman, Oscar DePriest. 11-7-34

Mitchell rode the Democratic vote avalanche in Cook County to defeat the Republican in the First Illinois Congressional District.

With nearly half the precincts reported, Mitchell had 16,391 to 7,879 for DePriest.

Mitchell, a 37-year-old lawyer, waged a vigorous campaign and enjoyed the support of the powerful Cook County Democratic organization.

DePriest, a native of Alabama, received his education in Kansas but for many years had been a familiar figure in Chicago political circles. Mitchell studied at Tuskegee, Harvard, and Columbia.

MITCHELL IS WELL TRAINED

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(ANP)—Arthur W. Mitchell was born in Alabama where he had a distinguished record as an educator before he left to take up the practice of law in Washington, D. C. He was in Washington for two decades nearly until after the election of 1928 when he moved with his family to Chicago. In the 1928 campaign Mr. Mitchell was employed at the Republican western headquarters in Chicago. Not long after Hoover was elected, he professed himself disappointed by the Hoover policies, and changed his political affiliation. 11-10-34

In the campaign just closed, Mr. Mitchell charged that Mr. DePriest had neglected the vital interests of his constituents. He met the DePriest charge that the "New Deal" had meant misery to many Negroes, by stating that although some Negroes might have suffered in establishing the program, the general direction of "New Deal" aims was in line with betterment for all classes including the Negro and that time would bring benefits.

Two factors aided the election of Mr. Mitchell. The first was the fact that he is colored. Always before the Democratic party had supported a white candidate, but when the white man nominated at the primary died, Mr. Mitchell was named by the Democratic County central committee.

Furthermore, during the spring primary campaign, Mr. DePriest split the Republican party ranks by taking sides in a knock-down and drag-out battle between two Republican leaders in the Second ward. The man opposed by DePriest won. In the election it was demonstrated that he failed to completely win back the Republicans whose support he had alienated in the primary.

ILLINOIS TO KEEP NEGRO IN HOUSE

Other Democrats Are Winners in Various Parts of Country

N. Y. PAIR WINS

CHICAGO, Ill.—(Special) — Arthur W .Mitchell did it!

Many Southsiders are still wondering how the mild mannered but highly polished Arthur Mitchell managed to oust the fiery and unfaltering Congressman Oscar DePriest from his seat in the United States House of Representatives, but he did it by a margin of several thousand votes.

And to Arthur W. Mitchell Illinois second Negro representative to take a seat in the federal body, will go the honor of being the first Negro democrat to ever hold that post, all of the host of other legislators having won their right to their seats in the United States Congress via the good old republican route.

Alabama will share these honors with Illinois this time again, for Alabama was as much the home of Congressman-elect Mitchell as it was that of Congressman DePriest, whom he will succeed and many old Tuskegee graduates will recall that he was at one time office boy for the late Booker T. Washington, having run away from his farm home to study at Tuskegee institute.

Unlike Mr. DePriest, who obtained his schooling in Kansas, Mr. Mitchell continued his college work in Alabama graduating from Talladega college, recognized until today as one of the highest ranking institutions of higher education for Negroes in the South and one of the very few "A" colleges, going from there to Harvard and then to Columbia.

Mrs. King, who is an accountant in a government office at Washington, D. C., as wll as a graduate of Howard university, may be given much credit for his later success in Washington, D. C. in the real estate business, a business that he carried along with his legal practices.

His son, Arthur Jr., is a graduate of the University of Michigan and many socialites will recall the younger Mitchell was united in marriage last summer to Miss Billie Kyle, daughter of the prominent Memphis (Tenn.) medical man.

In a brief statement issued to newspaper men, the congressman-elect pointed out that he did not believe that racial issues should be the principal idea of a Negro in Congress, although he would work harder for his own group than any other congressman. He lauded the "New Deal" administration for its fairness in dealing with all citizens and stated that his only variance with the president's policies came in that he believed that the bonus should be paid to veterans in need.

THE FIRST DEMOCRATIC NEGRO CONGRESSMAN

Arthur W. Mitchell, who in his childhood sat at the feet of Booker T. Washington, and served that remarkable race leader as office boy at Tuskegee, has at last been elected a member of the Congress of the United States. He is the first Negro Democrat, we believe, to go to Congress.

The election of Mitchell is of greater significance to his race and country than the election of Oscar DePriest, whom Mitchell has just defeated in a Chicago district. 11-9-34

Mitchell is a bigger, broader and more significant personality than DePriest. He is a man of deeper scope and deeper feeling. He has a far richer background, for he is not alone a graduate of Tuskegee and a disciple of Booker Washington, but a graduate of Harvard and Columbia. Better than that he was able to say after his remarkable victory:

> I've tried to run my campaign on an educational basis and have tried to teach the people of this district that it is not a bad thing to be a Democrat. . . . I would work harder for my people than any other Congressman, but I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored. It makes no difference when you have ability.

Here Mitchell takes high ground. He says, in effect: "I am not a Negro agitator, but a member of the Congress of the United States, I am not the exclusive property of one class and race, but the agent of all the people."

Mitchell's election does more to dignify the Negro race than any previous political victory by an American Negro. It is the feeling of The Advertiser, a newspaper of the deep South, and Democratic all the way through, that it is more fortunate for the Negro race that a Negro Democrat should win a Congressional seat than that a Negro Republican should win.

Plainly an American Negro who can bring himself to offer for public office on the Democratic ticket, is a bolder, more independent spirit than one who does the obviously "correct" and safe thing of running as a Lincoln Republican.

The latter lives in the past, the Negro Democrat looks to the rising sun of the future, and is not unaware of the living present.

It takes moral courage, in the light of the history of this republic, for an American Negro to be a Democrat. Moral courage is the first requisite of a useful public official.

If Mitchell will be faithful to his original impulse to be an American Congressman instead of a Negro agitator in Congress, he will reflect credit upon himself and his race.

His opportunity today is equal to that of his master, Booker T. Washington, the wisest spirit ever born of African blood. But if he is interested primarily in fighting out the question whether a Negro shall eat his lunch in the Congressional restaurant, and not in the fundamental issues which torment the human mind, he will serve his brief day and pass out forgotten, as Oscar DePriest, the cheap man with the cab-driver psychology, has passed out before the blade of a better swordsman.

What the American Negro needs is a sense of dignity. Mitchell, apparently, holds the same theory.

Mitchell vs. DePriest

A NEW Negro Congressman, Arthur W. Mitchell, has been elected in Chicago, taking the place of the defeated Republican, Oscar DePriest.

But the Negro masses, the Negro workers who feel the daily lash of starvation, misery, jimcrow oppression and discrimination, who face eviction and unemployment, have no cause for rejoicing in this result.

On the very next day after his election, Mitchell made it plain that he has not the slightest intention of "embarrassing" the Roosevelt government by carrying the fight for Negro rights into Congress. Yesterday Mitchell told the press that he believed "the race issue should not be the dominant idea of a Negro in Congress."

In these words the Democratic Mitchell pledges to continue the servile, spineless surrender to the lynch-jimcrow system which characterized the actions of the Republican DePriest.

How was Mitchell elected? He was elected by an unscrupulous campaign of trickery and deceit. The Democratic Party brought the Negro farmer, Sylvester Harris, from Alabama as proof that Roosevelt was giving the oppressed Negro masses relief from the yoke of landlordism and oppression.

But he forgot to point out that Roosevelt's transaction with the poverty-stricken Negro farmer, Sylvester Harris, was only a cheap publicity stunt that solved the problem neither of Harris nor of a single oppressed, impoverished Negro in the South. Roosevelt loaned the poverty-stricken Harris a few dollars to forestall his eviction.

But how will Harris ever pay this loan back while he is being robbed and plundered by the Southern landlord? What will Harris live on while his landlord takes every cent of what he produces? Roosevelt's loan only tightens the chains of debt which bind every Negro sharecropper to the landlords in the South with chains of feudal bondage.

* * *

MITCHELL played cunningly on the hatred which the Negro masses feel for their oppressors by denouncing the "Republican evictions" and the "Republican jimcrow of the Gold Star mothers."

But does it make any difference to a Negro worker whether he is evicted by a Democratic or a Republican landlord? Do not the Democratic landlords in the South evict and lynch Negro workers? And do they not evict in Chicago as well?

And is not the filthy jimcrowism of Hoover the official policy of Roosevelt as well? Has Roosevelt ever opened his mouth against the filth of jimcrowism? Has he ever opened his mouth on the lynch plot against the Scottsboro boys?

Mitchell sings the praises of the Roosevelt "New Deal" as the new salvation for the oppressed Negro masses. "There is no prejudice against my people in the present administration," he said yesterday.

* * *

MITCHELL is trying to hide all these things from the Negro masses. Mitchell is a wealthy real estate operator who knows nothing and cares less of the grinding misery that faces the Negro masses. Mitchell will not fight jimcrowism because he is part of the upper strata of wealthy Negroes who are part and parcel of the capitalist system, and who are willing to betray the Negro masses to American capitalism for the bribe of patronage, crumbs of favor, and real estate profits in the Negro ghettoes.

It is only Communists, Negro and white, who truly organize the Negro masses for struggle against the curse of jimcrow oppression, against the lynch system, against the double yoke of national and class oppression. The Negro workers of Chicago have a tradition of militant mass struggle for relief and against jimcrow. It is this mass struggle of Negro and white worners against the landlords and exploiters that alone can win better conditions for the Negro masses. A man like Mitchell is only a tool of the landlords and the lynchers.

Arthur W. Mitchell, Opponent Of DePriest, Supported New Deal And Won Many Votes After GOP Squabble

By Associated Negro Press

Mr. Mitchell was born in Alabama where he had a distinguished record as an educator before he left to take up the practice of law in Washington, D. C. He was in Washington for two decades nearly, until after the election of 1928, when he moved with his family to Chicago.

In the 1928 campaign Mr. Mitchell was employed at the Republican western headquarters in Chicago. Not long after Hoover was elected, he professed himself disappointed by the Hoover policies and changed his political affiliation. He was an active supporter of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the campaign of 1932.

In the campaign just closed Mr. Mitchell charged that Mr. DePriest had neglected the vital interests of his constituents. He met the DePriest charge that the "New Deal" had meant misery to many Negroes by stating that although some Negroes might have suffered in establishing the program, the general direction of "New Deal aims" was in line with betterment for all classes, including the Negro, and that time would bring benefits.

Victory Factors

Two factors aided the election of Mr. Mitchell. The first was the fact that he is colored. Always before the Democratic party had supported a white candidate, but when the white man nominated at the primary died, Mr. Mitchell was named by the Democratic county central committee.

As a result, he fell heir to the large block of white Democratic votes in the district, as well as the growing percentage of black Democratic votes which the white candidate could not win.

Furthermore, during the spring primary campaign, Mr. DePriest split the Republican Party ranks by taking sides in a knock-down and drag-out battle between two Republican leaders in the second ward.

The man opposed by DePriest won. In the election it was demonstrated that he failed to completely win back the Republicans whose support he had alienated in the primary.

A Lesson in the Results

DEMOCRATS SWEPT the nation Tuesday except in scattered instances. The New Deal was approved in a fashion beyond the expectation of even Postmaster General Farley. In the states where Negroes vote their ballots helped swing the majorities attained by Roosevelt supporters, although they chose Negro Republicans (not in New York) for office in a few states.

Perhaps the most significant Democratic swing was in Chicago, where Oscar DePriest, three-term G. O. P. and for six years the symbol of his race in Congress, succumbed before the Roosevelt tide. The Negro, however, will not be without representation in our national legislature. Mr. DePriest's successor is Arthur W. Mitchell, young attorney and fraternity man. White Republican leaders probably mourn today because they failed to find the Negro a friend in need. They need not weep, however, for they are partly responsible for their utter rout. Recognition of Negroes in the matter of representation and patronage, an honest battling for equal rights may save them from this fate in the future. We hope they will profit by this lesson.

DePriest Loses To An Alabamian, A Former Office Boy At Tuskegee

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A scholarly negro lawyer from the old South has unseated Representative Oscar DePriest to be the first of his race in the Democratic side of Congress.

By a margin of 3,000 votes, Arthur W. Mitchell, 37, one time office boy to Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee Institute, was declared elected by the First Illinois District that, since 1928 has been represented by the only negro congressman, the elderly DePriest. The board of election commissioners gave the vote, still unofficially totaled, as: Mitchell 27,970; DePriest 24,840.

Their bailiwick is that conglomerate First District, a district of contradictions—the "Loop" with its hundreds of millions in property, the teeming negro section stretching southward, the old "ghost coast" of the south shore, tarnished by racial and industrial migrations of late decades. Its rule is shared by those old cronies of the first ward, "Bathhouse John" Coughlin, Republican alterman, and Michael "Hinky Dink" Kenna, the Democratic committeeman.

Kenna accurately predicted before the election that the region would go Democratic four or five to one. It did—except for the congressional race, in which the Republican ran almost even.

DePriest. Alabama-born. Kansas-schooled, rose through city council service to Congress and never until this year was he opposed by a negro. A white man won the primary nomination but died, and the Democratic committee thrust Mitchell in to entice the heavy negro vote to its party.

Mitchell, too, was an Alabamian, ran away from a farm at 14 and walked to school at Tuskegee.

"For a while I was Booker T. Washington's office boy," said Mitchell. "I got my degree at Talladega College in Alabama. Then I went North and for a while went to Harvard and to Columbia. Lately I have been practicing law and doing a real estate business in Washington.

"I've run my campaign on an educational basis and have tried to teach the people in this district that it is not a bad thing to be a Democrat."

Mitchell said he felt the race issue should not be the dominant idea of a negro in Congress.

"I would work harder for my people than any other congressman," he said, "but I would not keep thinking about the fact that I was colored. It makes no difference when you have ability. There is no prejudice against my people in the present administration. This is a new day under a new deal."

New York World Telegram

OCT 30 1934

JOINS FIGHT ON DE PRIEST

Sylvester Harris Tells Chicagoans How Roosevelt Helped Him.

By the United Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The old South may yet have its revenge on the Northern Republicans who were stigmatized in reconstruction days as carpet-baggers.

Sylvester Harris, the Negro farmer from Columbus, Miss., who last spring spent his last $10 to telephone President Roosevelt—and got personal Presidential action to save his farm—arrived in Chicago last night to fight the Democratic cause against Representative De Priest, Negro Republican, seeking reelection.

The Democratic plan is to have Harris repeat his story to De Priest constituents.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Illinois

The Passing of DePriest

With the passing of Oscar DePriest from the Halls of Congress the Negro race loses one of its most colorful political figures. Regardless of Mr. DePriest's policies he did the best he could under the circumstances. He fought jim-crow, segregation and other ills heaped on the Negro by America.

Besides, he not only had to represent his district in Chicago, the entire Negro race of 12 million looked to him as their congressman and representative, and regardless of the state or location, he was called on to do many things impossible, and no doubt he was expected to do the impossible in many instances.

Arthur W. Mitchell, of course, is a different type, but he, too, will not find his job here a bed of roses. Even we here in the voteless District look to our lone representative for a remedy for many of the segregated policies in the Capital.

It will certainly not do Mr. DePriest any harm nor Mr. Mitchell any good by a policy of mud-slinging at each other. There is too much work to be done and too much at stake.

A Mighty Good Plank

The Informer has always taken the position that Negroes should keep up their fight for the ballot in the South along every possible front that may be open to them. We should fight in the courts, we should seek to have the Federal department of justice prosecute offending election officials, we should use political pressure and every other means at our disposal.

We are therefore naturally glad to note in Democratic Congressman-Elect Arthur W. Mitchell's platform what The Informer regards as a mighty good plank. It reads as follows:

"I shall work to reenfranchise the colored people of the South and to wipe out all racial discriminations in voting privileges of the citizens of the South."

Let us hope that Mr. Mitchell will be able to rally to his aid every other Negro Democrat of influence in the states of the nation where Negroes do exercise the ballot.

Status Of Negro Congressman In Capitol Pondered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Capitol employes are wondering what some Southern Democratic representatives will do in the next House now that a negro Democrat—Arthur W. Mitchell, of Illinois—has been elected.

Mitchell succeeds Republican Oscar DePriest.

G. O. P. Speaker Longworth greeted DePriest with a handshake when he was first elected, but some Democrats from the South refused to speak to DePriest or to eat in the House restaurant because he ate there. They went to the Senate cafe at the other end of the Capitol or ate in the Democratic cloak room, which is closed to Republicans.

Mitchell, being a Democrat, will have to sit on the Democratic sides of the chamber. As a member of Congress he is entitled to eat in the cloak room, lie down on the big soft leather couches there, or use any of the other privileges of a congressman.

Representative Gavagan, Democrat, who represents the Harlem district in New York, already has sent word that he is "going to see to it that Mitchell gets all the privileges to which a congressman is entitled."

MITCHELL'S ELECTION

The election of Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat, Congressman from Chicago as successor to Oscar De Priest, Republican, is expected in certain political circles to cause the New Deal not a little trouble.

In a discussion of this subject Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen whites, had this to say in the Philadelphia Record and in the N. Y City Daily Mirror:

"Already some of the old guard Democrats have privately intimated objection.

"What they say is that they don't mind having a Republican Negro around but that a Democratic Negro Congressman is different.

"Mitchell," they say, "will be a member of their own crowd and party.

Meanwhile there is much speculation in and out of political party camps as to what sort of treatment is in store for the Congressman-elect at the hands of his southern colleagues.

That, of course, should be of minor importance to Mr. Mitchell in the light of the fact that he was elected to the House of Representatives from one of the nation's greatest constituencies.

His will be the duty to advance the interests of his electors in spite of all obstacles that might be placed astride his path by potential enemies within the camp.

And, it is to be hoped that, like his able predecessor, Congressman-elect Mitchell, will be big enough to play his part well as a courageous representative of all his constituents.

It is hardly to be expected of any but disgruntled Democrats of the smallest caliber to antagonize Mr. Mitchell's Congressional incumbency.

For that would be to cut off their noses to spite their faces.

Memphis, Tenn., Com'rcial Appeal
November 12, 1934

Mitchell's Opportunity

Chicago negroes have administered a well deserved rebuke to Oscar de Priest, their race congressman and a Republican, by electing Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat negro. Mitchell studied at Tuskegee, Harvard and Columbia. He has a background which provides him with opportunity to be of constructive service to his constituent and his race.

De Priest had similar opportunity in some respects but failed to take advantage of it. If anything, he harmed, rather than aided it. Instead of using his time and office to be of service to his people he used them, not infrequently, to make a nuisance of himself, quite often aligning himself with projects and movements with which intelligent negro leaders had no sympathy. Instead of being creative he stirred up trouble and animosities.

Mitchell is of different type. If he wants to be of conscientious, helpful service to those who elected him he will find ample occasion to use his intelligence and talents

Democratic Winds Hit House That Jack Built In Chicago

Republicans In Wild Scramble For Aldermanic Post In Historic Old Second Ward—Rumors Fly Thick and Fast.

By CEPHUS JONES

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—Jack built a house here some years ago and shingled the room with Republican sentiment. But now that roof has sailed away in the blast of Democratic votes that swept the nation, and in uncovering this tabernacle of rock-ribbed Lincolnism. the picture of the boys behind the scenes, scrambling, fighting, backbiting and trading for power has been projected into full view.

It doesn't matter if the sheriff's office, with its 700 or more jobs, is in the hands of the Democrats. To them the significance of the fact that the Municipal Court bench is almost entirely Democratic, the Governor's office, the State's Attorney, the County Treasurer, the County Recorder and everything else is lost in view of the richness of the appeal to be alderman in the Second ward.

Roberts Has Faction

William E. King is committeeman of the Regular Second Ward Republican organization. William L. Dawson is head of the Republicans down at Congressional Hall, 3140 Indiana avenue. Adelbert H. Roberts, the deposed senator, has a faction.

There are many other groups, but the fact remains that all are shooting at Dawson, the present alderman, who will complete his first term in the city council next April.

As rumors, charges and counter charges fly thick and fast, the would-be candidates line up thusly: Aaron H. Payne, attorney, young and aggressive, standard bearer in King's recent quest of the State senatorship; William L. Dawson, himself; John T. Espy, veteran pillar of Second Ward Republicanism for more than 20 years and a member of the King organization; George T. Kersey, "white elephant" of several G. O. P. sponsors; Dr. R. A. Williams, defeated candidate for County Commissioner; Harris B. Gaines, supporter of the Dawson group and bosom friend of the alderman, and Louis B. Anderson, the "old master" himself.

Espy Plays Lone Hand

Espy, a city employe for many years, has the support of the conservative element of the King forces. He knows politics and people. He has been playing a lone hand for some time and the cards may fall his way.

Louis B. Again

Louis B. Anderson, political forecasters contend, wouldn't mind being elected alderman once more.

Louie is about 62 years old now and it would be the crowning of an ambition of his to die in office.

If Louie came out the money would come out behind him, too. If Louie came out then the folks would come out for him, too, because Louie knows the ropes and how to get bread and jobs.

CHICAGO, ILL.
NEWS

DEC 11 1934

COMMUNISTS AND SOCIALISTS NAME CITY CANDIDATES

Pick Lockner and Burt to Run for Mayor; Face Job on Petitions.

BY LEROY T. VERNON.

Confronted by the necessity of mustering 58,000 signatures to petitions in order to nominate their candidates for mayor, city treasurer and city clerk, and of getting from 2 to 5 per cent of the voters to sign petitions for their candidates for aldermen in each ward, the so-called minor political parties have their work cut out for them in getting tickets in the field for the coming aldermanic and city elections.

As a result of their preliminary discussions, the socialist and communist parties have decided to try to get the requisite signatures for their city tickets, while the prohibition party will put up no candidates for the major city offices, but will concentrate on indorsements of a few aldermanic candidates who agree with its stand for temperance.

Runs Burt for Mayor.

At a meeting of the nominating committee this week the socialist party, subject to confirmation by the city committee, has decided to run Roy E. Burt, 5492 Cornell avenue, for mayor. Mr. Burt was the party candidate for governor in 1932. Morris Siskind, labor editor of the Daily Forward, has been selected to make the race for city treasurer, and Arthur McDowell, secretary of the party committee, will be the candidate for city clerk.

Petitions will be circulated at once in an endeavor to get the signatures of from 5 to 8 per cent of the voters required by law for placing their names on the ballot for the April election. The vote of 1931, in which 1,148,111 ballots were cast, is the basic figure upon which such petitions are based, and the minimum requirement of 5 per cent means that not less than 57,470 signatures must be obtained. More will be sought to protect the petitions from technical objections by the election board, which likes to save money by cutting down the size of the ballot and overlooks no chance to keep the minor parties off if it can find an excuse for doing it.

Communist Candidates.

A week ago the communist party selected Karl Lockner, secretary of the county committee of the unemployment councils, as its candidate for mayor. Herbert Newton, leader of the Negro members of the party, is the candidate for city clerk and Sam Hammersmark, active in labor matters for many years, is the party candidate for city treasurer.

The usual mass conference of the party has been called to meet in Mirror hall, 1136 Northwestern avenue, Jan. 13, to open the campaign. Ward conferences will be held in other parts of the city from time to time.

Overtures from the communists to the socialists for a coalition of aldermanic candidates in some of the wards have been rejected by the socialists. One plank in the communist platform provides for aid to the Chinese in China.

Members of the prohibition party, after consideration, have decided to concentrate the party efforts on the elections in 1936 when the "dry" supporters expect to take a prominent part in both the national and local elections.

DAWSON LOSES IN CHICAGO RECOUNT

CHICAGO, (ANP) — After a battle extending over eight months, Alderman William L. Dawson of the second ward, was denied his claim that he was the rightful choice of the people of the ward as committeeman when County Judge Edmund Jarecki ruled that he had been beaten by William E. King.

After the election in April when 200 votes, Dawson contested King's King was named winner by nearly election and demanded a recount, the expense to be borne by himself. After several hearings before Judge Jarecki the recount was granted.

Last Monday the recount was begun. Dawson picked up 97 votes, but not enough to overcome King's lead. The vote for King was 7,276, and that for Dawson, 7, 179.

Mr. King has qualified as a close decision winner. In November he won a seat in the state senate by less than 1,000 votes.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Illinois.

Cheers Greet Newton, Jackson, Doty, Communist Candidates for Congress from Chicago South Side

Call Conferences for Nominating Meets in Other Districts

CHICAGO, Ill., June 4.—The United Front Conference, which was held in the 1st Congressional District, placed in nomination workers who for many years have been outstanding leaders in the struggles of the workers in the South Side of Chicago. The 60 delegates representing 37 organizations unanimously accepted the proposed candidates and pledged to mobilize the large number of workers in that district for the support of their candidates.

Herbert Newton was nominated for Congressman to run against the millionaire De Priest, who has been a willing tool of the white ruling class in their attacks upon the Negro masses. In accepting the nomination Newton stated:

"I want to pledge to you delegates, and to the workers in my Congressional District, that I will carry on a relentless struggle against the hunger program of the Roosevelt administration, that I will carry the fight for the needs of the workers, for the rights of the Negro masses. I pledge to fight for the kind of unemployment insurance that will at least to some extent better the conditions of the workers, for jobs, for cash relief and against Negro discrimination."

The nomination of Newton met with a tremendous outburst of cheering, which lasted for many minutes.

Comrade Joe Jackson, another Negro fighter, has been nominated for Assembly from the Third Senatorial District. Comrade Jackson, in accepting the nomination stated: "I am a worker just like you fellow delegates, when I fight for you I fight for myself, one worker will not betray another."

Edward Doty, member of the American Consolidated, was nominated by Comrade Sharp. It took quite some time before the chairman could restore order as the delegates jumped to their feet and cheered. There were many speeches of endorsement and a motion to unanimously accept the nomination.

Doty, in accepting the nomination, stated:

"I am honored to be placed on the ticket of the Communist Party, since I feel that only militant, devoted workers can run on this ticket. I pledge to live up to the responsibilities. I pledge to lead the workers in struggle."

The nominations of the candidates were followed by the endorsement of the State ticket, including two congressmen at large and state treasurer and superintendent of public instructions. There were many loud cheers and applause when the names of the four candidates were mentioned. The state ticket was unanimously endorsed by the conference.

The discussion of the report made by Sharp, proved that the conference was well aware of the problems facing the workers in their district, and a program was adopted to meet these needs.

A large campaign committee was elected to organize the campaign. Some of the delegates, one from the Congregational Church, has expressed the sentiment of all the delegates when he said: "I represent my congregation, some three hundred strong, but I am going to see to it that every one of these three hundred workers becomes active in the campaign for the candidates."

The conference has already arranged for a number of open air meetings and has pledged to make a splendid showing in the coming tag-days, to carry on our elections.

* * *

Communist candidates for Congress will be nominated in three more congressional districts in Chicago next week-end. The second, sixth and seventh district nomination conventions will be held June 9 and 10.

The preparations for the campaign to put Communists in Congress and the state legislature are being conducted on the broadest possible basis. Every working class organization is invited to send delegates to the nominating convention in their district to help in the selecton of the workers' candidates.

The schedule of conferences is as follows:

June 9.—Sixth Congressional District Conference to be held at Liberty Hall, 1405 S. 49th Ave., Cicero, Ill.

June 10.—Second District Conference, to be held at 2 p.m., 6 W. 44th St.

June 10.—Seventh District Conference; to be held at Wicker Park Hall, 2040 North Ave., 10 a.m.

* * *

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Two hundred and fifty calls to labor unions and other working class mass organizations will help rally Los Angeles workers to the Los Angeles county nominating convention of the Communist Party June 9 at the Cultural Center, 230 S. Spring St.

In each of the calls was enclosed a copy of the state platform of the Party, adopted at the state convention May 6.

Party and sympathetic speakers meanwhile will popularize the convention and the platform in talks before workers throughout the country.

Lou Shifrin, secretary of the provisional committee, signed the calls.

* * *

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 6.— I. O. Ford, formerly candidate for Mayor in Cleveland and once a Fisher Body worker, has been nominated by the Communist Party as its candidate for Governor in the State of Ohio.

Comrade Ford will open the campaign with a radio talk over station WJAY, Monday, June 11, at 7:45 p.m. The election Campaign Committee plans, if it raises the money, to put Ford on the radio for a series of thirteen consecutive talks. Ford on the Radio Clubs are being organized, and collection lists are out. If money comes in this will be a new feature in a Communist election campaign in Ohio.

Workers in Cleveland and outlying towns are organizing radio parties in halls and homes to hear Comrade Ford open the campaign Monday night.

A signature drive is starting which must bring in fifty thousand signatures.

Besides I. O. Ford, Yetta Land, well known Cleveland I. L. D. attorney, will run for Attorney General on the Communist ticket.

Los Angeles C. P. Calls Union, Organizations to Convention Sat.

HERBERT NEWTON

Gratitude

"De President says quiet-like, 'Sylvester, I'll investigate and you'll hear from me.'" Sylvester Harris did hear. The Columbus, Miss. Negro who thought he was telephoning President Roosevelt at the White House to save his mortgaged farm got prompt aid from the New Orleans Land Bank (TIME, March 12). Last week Sylvester Harris seized a chance to show his gratitude. 11-12-34

For six years Chicago's Black Belt has sent Republican Oscar De Priest to be the only Negro in the U. S. House of Representatives. In this year's Democratic primaries a white man, was, as usual, nominated to oppose him. The white man died. Democratic bosses shrewdly substituted a Negro lawyer, one Arthur W. Mitchell. Up from Mississippi to stump for Democrat Mitchell last week went grateful Sylvester Harris.

Stumping for Democratic candidates in Detroit last week was Negro Jack Johnson, onetime (1908–15) world's heavyweight champion. Cried he to the Universal Negro Improvement Association: "Franklin D. Roosevelt is champion now and wearing the belt. Abraham Lincoln was a good fighter in his prime, but he can't help us now. Always string along with the champion."

NEGRO DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMAN

Palmetto Leader 11-17-34

Maybe Solomon was right when he said that there is nothing new under the sun. But we have our doubts. Anyway, there is something new in these United States of America. The coming session of Congress will have as one of its members a Negro Democrat—Hon. Arthur W. Mitchell of Chicago. Mr. Mitchell defeated Republican colored member—Oscar DePriest. So far as the race is concerned, there is no loss and but few give a tinker's dam about the fact that the elected member is a democrat. It seems, however, that some of he old hard boil, narrow-minded white Democrats are not too pleased over the fact that their party has such a member. Sensible Democrats will hardly give such jack asses much attention. They are out of step with the changing conditions and more enlightened thoughts of men bent on progress. Negroes, it seems, are showing themselves more intelligent and progressive than certain Democrats. Once upon a time, they regard the Democratic Party as just about the last thing this side of hades. But now, they have out grown that foolishness. Maybe too the old reactionary Democrats will learn that the Democratic Party is suppose to exist for the purpose of government for the best welfare of the citizens of this country. Mr. Mitchell is a man of intelligence and by no means will be the smallest minded person in Congress.

HUGE VOTE SWAMPS G.O.P.

Record Is Set

By A. N. FIELDS

The Democrats were visited by Santa Claus. From where we now stand it looks as if the Democratic party, in a tidal wave of votes, has engulfed the nation.

In a few surviving spots here and there, Republican candidates, very few in number, seem to have withstood the storm. From California to Maine the cry of "Go Forward with Roosevelt" was accepted and literally put into effect.

The most remarkable thing of all happened in the first Congressional district in the state of Illinois where the Republican candidate, Congressman Oscar DePriest, known in Republican political parlance as the Old Man of the Sea appears to have withstood the landslide and defeated his Democratic opponent, Arthur W. Mitchell, who went to the post Tuesday morning with the blessing of every political institution and influence from "Hinky Dink" in the first ward to Big Jim Farley in Washington.

Notwithstanding this tremendous power the white-haired shaggy lion of the first Congressional district seems to have saved the ship though her decks were sprayed by thousands of votes in opposition to him by members of his own party.

DePriest Overtakes Mitchell

For several hours during the night reports flitted here and there that Mitchell had won. In fact it was freely admitted that the support of the "Hink" was questionable as to whom it would go. The wise ones were saying that the little alderman from the first ward had for years been a friend of DePriest and was placed in a peculiar position because of their friendship. However, as the early morning dawned upon the various precincts news began to break that DePriest had not only overtaken his opponent who at first was ahead but had passed him, but only by a narrow margin.

Indications are that whoever wins on the face of the count, their certificate of election will be subject to a recount.

Another bitterly fought battle among the Race candidates centered in the third Senatorial district between Representative William E. King, Republican nominee, and Bryant A. Hammond, Democratic nominee for the state senate.

At first flash of the Democratic onslaught, it appeared that Hammond had been swept to victory, but at the close of the count the returns showed that King had put on a whirlwind finish, beating his opponent by at least 1,100 votes.

Representative King was given a rough road to travel. In fact it was a house divided against itself. Alderman William L. Dawson, his former pal and political companion, had deserted the ship in mid-ocean and openly supported Hammond for the senate.

Kidnap King's Brother

The bitterness in the third Senatorial fight evidenced itself early in the day with the kidnaping of the brother of Senator-elect King and holding him until the polls had closed. King's brother was one of the directors of the Senator-elect's campaign and a practicing physician.

The election of Harris B. Gaines from the first Senatorial district, Charles J. Jenkins and Warren B. Douglas was assured because they had no opposition. The situation was different in the fifth Senatorial district where Representative William J. Warfield was forced to a bitter battle to retain his seat in the House.

It appears from the records disclosed in the various heavily Race Republican districts that thousands of the brothers have bid farewell to the Republican party and wiped their weeping eyes.

The entire Democratic county ticket received an overwhelming vote throughout the entire Black belt. The endorsement of Judge Edmund Jarecki for county judge by the Cook county bar association, an institution of Race lawyers, had more effect than the endorsement of his opponent, Judge Samuel Heller, by the white bar association.

Atty. Haynes Loses

Not a single Republican candidate reached the goal on the ticket for county commissioner. Dr. Richard A. Williams, nominated by the Republican party, failed to score. The actual count is not yet available.

Attorney William E. Haynes, Republican candidate for Municipal Court judge, who was indorsed by the public press of both races and all civic bodies of the twelve Republican candidates running scored eighth place with 325,000.

Not one of the twelve Republican candidates for Municipal Court judge was elected.

A survey of the political survey indicates that the colored brother will no longer be guided in his political instructions by the argument that "Stick to the Republican party because Lincoln freed you."

From all indications not only in Illinois but all over the country black voters throughout the nation have taken President Franklin Delano Roosevelt at his word, that the New Deal is not to be circumscribed by races, colors and creeds.

Raleigh, N. C., News & Observer
November 9, 1934

SILENT ON CHOICE OF NEGRO SOLON

Farley Declines Comment on Election of Colored Democrat

The News and Observer Bureau, 1232 National Press Building.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Postmaster General James A. Farley today declined to comment on the election of Arthur W. Mitchell, Negro Democrat, who was elected Tuesday to succeed Oscar De Priest, Negro Republican, as the representative from the first Illinois district.

Mr. Farley, who said he has as yet received no reaction from Southern Congressmen, and declined to predict whether other heavily populated Negro district such as the Harlem district in New York City, would insist upon nominating Negro Democrats.

However, there was a great deal of anonymous comment.

Emil Hurja, executive assistant to Mr. Farley in his capacity as national Democratic chairman, declared that Mitchell was warmly endorsed by Congressman John McDuffie, of Alabama, who represents the district of which Mitchell is a native.

Chagrin of southern Democrats, who do not relish the idea of sitting in a Democratic caucus with a Negro and who fear that the precedent will spread rapidly, is greatly tempered by relief over the political demise of DePriest, who was considered personally obnoxious.

From all reports Mitchell, who held a minor job in the bureau of internal revenue in the last year of the Wilson administration, is a retiring Negro and personally will be far more acceptable than was DePriest.

But DePriest sat on the other side of the aisle from southern Democrats. Mitchell will sit on the same side, but is expected to choose a back seat, instead of one in the front row, where DePriest was always to be found when in the House much of his education at an Alabama institution—Tuskegee. Mitchell is a democrat.

Mitchell was the beneficiary of whatever influence "Sylvester" could bring to bear in the campaign. If there are any who have forgotten who "Sylvester" is, we might remind them that he is the Mississippi negro who, faced with loss of his farm, spent his last $10 on a long distance telephone call to the White House and, identifying himself by that simple cognomen, advised President Roosevelt in person of the tenseness of the situation.

President Roosevelt spoke to the proper people and within a short time, a loan was forthcoming. "Sylvester," in his gratitude, bobbed up in Chicago a couple of weeks ago as a democratic campaigner.

Albany-Decatur, Ala. Daily
November 8, 1934

DePriest Defeated

Oscar DePriest, the Alabama negro, who went to Chicago and finally won a seat in congress on the republican ticket, has been defeated for reelection by another negro, Arthur W. Mitchell, who received

---

Legislator

DR. A. H. SMITH

East St. Louis dentist, who, running on the Democratic ticket for the Illinois legislature, was swept into office by a wide margin last week. Dr. Smith ran in a district preponderantly white and defeated two white candidates for the office.

HORNS. Southern Democracy is going to be confronted with a delicate problem from its angle when Congress meets in January.

This column has no desire to raise the race issue but merely to report the facts. They concern the impending arrival on the Washington scene of Arthur W. Mitchell, the Negro Democrat from Chicago who defeated Republican Representative Oscar de Priest, also a Negro.

Higher-ups in Democratic National headquarters have boasted privately for months that they could pick up House seats in both Chicago and Harlem—if they chose to nominate a member of the colored race as their candidate. They invariably explained this wouldn't be done because of the Southern Democrats.

* * *

Harry Baker, a white man, was nominated by the Democrats to run against De Priest this last time. Baker died before election. There are 60,000 votes in this particular district. Cook County bosses, seeing Democracy in the ascendancy, decided these votes might come in handy in swinging Illinois elections. Mitchell was substituted for Baker.

A Texas congressional wag, back in the 1932 campaign, suggested a Republican slogan of "Debenture, De Priest and de tariff". Now De Priest is gone and Mitchell, born in Alabama, comes to Washington to sit in Democratic party caucuses and take his committee assignments as due.

De Priest raised a loud squawk last session because members of his race were barred from eating in the House of Representatives restaurant. Rep. Lindsay C. Warren, (D), of N. C., in charge of the restaurant as Chairman of the House Accounts Committee, paid this Republican complaint no mind. What Rep.-elect Mitchell may think about the situation is up to him. At least he can go to bat as a Democrat.

Wilmington, N. C. News
November 9, 1934

DEPRIEST IS OUT

OSCAR DEPRIEST, only negro in congress, has been eliminated, to give way to another of his race, a quondam office boy of the late BOOKER T. WASHINGTON, a man educated in a negro college in Alabama and in a large northern university. He is a democrat.

DEPRIEST possibly missed his greatest opportunity when he appointed himself a kind of self-created savior of his race, doubtless to the detriment of the affairs of his constituency, a fact that is reflected in his defeat. His successor can perform a far greater service by sticking to the more orthodox duties of his office.

Illinois.

Political-1934

Elections

THE DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE MISSED THEM!

Defender 11-10-34

WILLIAM E. KING
(State Senate)
Third District

WILLIAM A. WARFIELD
(State Legislature)
Fifth District

HARRIS B. GAINES
(State Legislature)
1st District

Democrats may come and Democrats may go but voters in Chicago's strong Republican district stuck to tradition and returned these Republicans to the State legislature. Gaines and Warfield won easily in their districts, defeating their Democratic opponents with votes to spare. The victory of King for the senate was remarkable in that he fought almost single-handed in a three-cornered battle to defeat Bryant Hammond, Democratic candidate, and certain Republican forces that were operating against him. He takes the place in the senate vacated by former Senator Adelbert H. Roberts.

Wins Easily

CHARLES J. JENKINS

Republican member of the State legislature who was returned to his seat in Tuesday's voting in spite of the fact that Democrats were winning all around him. Mr. Jenkins attributes his personal popularity to the fact that he has always been outspoken for his constituents, and at no time betrayed those who sent him to the assembly.

Douglas Is Winner for Legislature

Defender 11-10-34

Representative Warren B. Douglas may be fittingly referred to as the man of destiny. He came back into the Republican picture at a time when those who were once responsible for his advent in Republican politics are seemingly on their way out.

W. B. DOUGLAS

It will be recalled that Representative Douglas over 15 years ago was one of the founders of what was then known as the People's Movement, located at 3140 Indiana avenue. For several years he was a political protege of Congressman DePriest. They, however, later on went their different ways politically.

Representative Douglas shifted his allegiance to Senator Charles S. Deneen and was for years the Deneen leader on the South Side. He was appointed attorney for the Sanitary District and held that position until the Deneen faction went out of power.

In the last campaign for the state legislature, Mr. Douglas became a candidate for a seat in that body to which he had been duly elected and will be one of the few Republicans to hold such a position.

BROTHER OF CANDIDATE SNATCHED

One Slain, Two Others Reported Dead In Voting Affray

11-10-34

ONE IS ARRESTED

Harlem Detective, On Election Duty, Is Wounded

CHICAGO— Amid gunfire and violence which broke out at a polling place on the South Side of this city during Tuesday's voting, Dr. Joseph E. King, a colored campaigner, was kidnapped and his abductors escaped amid a barrage of bullets.

The snatch victim was electioneering for his brother, William E. King, Republican candidate for state senator.

Dr. King was standing in front of the polling place in a barber shop in the colored district when an automobile carrying three men drew up beside him.

The three thugs surrounded him, tossed him into their car, and started away.

Out of the barber shop came James Galloway, one of the King supporters, and a co-worker of Dr. King. He fired at the automobile.

Galloway was arrested and a search immediately started for Dr. King.

It was expected that Dr. King would be released after the polls closed.

ONE KILLED IN EFFORT TO KEEP NEGROES FROM POLLS

HOLLAND, Mo.—In an effort to keep colored men from visiting the election booth here Tuesday, gunmen shot and killed one white man, wounded two others, and beat several Negroes.

A report was received here, unverified, that two colored men also had been shot to death near the Arkansas line, but officers said they were inclined to discredit it.

Tuesday's violence was a recurrence of racial ill-feeling which has flared elsewhere in southwest Missouri in recent weeks.

Slaying is "Mistake"

Horace Farrow, 36, was slain and his father, John E. Farrow, 65, both white, was wounded as a car in which they were riding pulled away from the home of W. L. Myers, superintendent of the Holland Consolidated School. Authorities said the slaying was a case of "mistaken identity," since two colored men in the machine with the Farrows were not going to vote.

The explanation of authorities was that Farows, who are employed by J. W. Cox, white land owner near here, had hired Sampson Brown to drive them to Alamo, Tenn., on a business trip and that Edmond Drobie, school teacher, was making the trip with them. Drobie stopped at the white superintendent's home for some books he wanted to take with him.

Badly Wound Another

As the car got underway, an auto containing three white men pulled alongside and the three men opened fire on the Farrow machine.

An hour later, about 9:30 a. m. three men believed to be the same ones, fired into the automobile of Clarence Posey, a white Republican, who had taken several colored men to vote. Posey was wounded in the skull.

DETECTIVE KILLS MAN, IS SHOT BATTLING GANG

NEW YORK—Acting as a precautionary lookout for election disorders, Detective John E. Roberts, of 95 Hall St., Brooklyn, attached to the East 126th St. Station, walked into a shakedown plot late Tuesday and shot it out in a hallway before he fell with three bullets in his abdomen. Another man was killed.

Detective Roberts, one of New York's ace colored cops, went single-handed into 525 E 117th St. to make his arrests. Details of what occurred coul not be learned from him, for he was unconscious when hurried to the Hospital for Joint Diseases.

When Patrolman Henry Volk, white, his companion in a radio car, ran in with gun drawn, he found that Roberts had got his man. A stranger, known only as "Frank," was dead beside him. The detective, appointed by ex-Commissioner John P. O'Ryan, to whom he had written, recommending himself, was expected to die.

Patrolman Volk arrested Anthony Latolda, 20, of 234 E. 113th St., and Anthony Drunati, 22, of 536 E. 117th St., both white. At the East 126th St. Station, police said they admitted they were out to shake down a bookmaker who was operating without the knowledge of the cops.

The colored detective distinguished himself less than two months ago, after being raised in rank, by slaying Annibal Barris, notorious Puerto Rican playboy of lower Lenox Ave. He killed Barris at 112th St. and Lenox Ave. when the Puerto Rican drew a knife and lunged at him.

Six weeks before, he had written then Commissioner O'Ryan explaining that he "would like to be a detective" after a year as a patrolman. The commissioner confessed that "he sold himself to me" during an interview, and the promotion followed.

Outbreaks of various kinds flared up throughout the country as political rivalry and gangsterism took their toll. In several of these outbreaks, in addition to those already related, colored persons suffered injuries and embarrasment. None were known to have been badly hurt.

TRIBUNE IS FOR NEGRO CANDIDATE

11-6-34

Change in Editorial Policy Leaves Many Chicagoans Dazed

WAS RACE HATER

CHICAGO, (ANP)—Colored citizens on Chicago's Southside were all crossed up Thursday morning by the publication of what they considered an amazing editorial in The Chicago Tribune, one of the country's largest dailies.

No single institution in the city has been hated with quite the bitterness with which Negroes have come to regard The Tribune. To them it has always in recent years seemed to either oppose their aspirations for fair play, politically and otherwise, or to patronize them with a suspicious-looking sort of sophistry.

But Thursday morning, The Tribune kicked over the bucket, smiled at the colored citizen and even shook his hand, in the publication of the following editorial:

"Haynes For Municipal Judge"

"One of the candidates for judge of the Municipal court may be supposed to suffer a special but undeserved handicap. He is William H. Haynes, a colored man. Some white voters may not consider his qualifications because of his race. We think it additional reason for his election in view of his personal and professional qualifications. We have learned from men who have worked with Mr. Haynes and in whose judgment we have confidence that he is capable, honest, and an excellent lawyer. Mr. Loesch, under whom he served in the grand jury investigations and prosecutions of 1928, favors his election on the important grounds that he was 'the background of culture, education and experience as well as the mind which would make him an admirable judge.'

"We do not think that race or nationalist considerations ought to control the judgment of the voter in the selection of officials especially judicial officers. But the rule works both ways. There are practical reasons why in view of our large colored population a colored man otherwise qualified should have place in our judiciary. But there are considerations of the higher expediency which plead for it. Americans of colored race constitute a large part of our population. They are among the most loyal of our citizenry. For them America is home. Common sense as well as human feeling, as well as public policy, should keep open the door of opportunity to honorable effort and reasonable ambition."

To those who do not know how much The Tribune has been "some thing in the hair" of local colored citizens, it should be stated that the above editorial simply flabbergasted the Southside. The folks are still talking about it and trying to determine the reason for the apparent change of heart by The Tribune. Some of the conjectures are:

1. During the summer months a number of leading white citizens were entertained at the country home of one of our best known colored citizens. There these whites met colored leaders in business and the professions. Friendly but frank discussions of racial attitudes were held. One of the guests at these conferences was Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor of The Chicago Tribune. Mr. McCormick, speaking at the conference, seemed to be visibly impressed by what he saw and heard. He confssed he had done little thinking about the problems of the Negro, admitted that something ought to be done and also that he had a responsibility as the fellow citizen of the colored American and as the owner of a powerful agency of public opinion.

2. The Tribune is desperately opposed to Roosevelt and the New Deal. Negroes are traditional Republicans. The New Deal has been winning them over, even in the New Deal. The Negro Republican vote in Chicago is a decisive factor in local politics. The past policy of the Tribune was such that Negroes might vote against the Republican party, just because The Tribune is for it. A striking show of friendship by The Tribune might hold for the Republican party many black votes which would otherwise go to the Democrats.

3. It has been charged that Col. McCormick is ambitious for the Republican nomination for President of the United States in 1936. Negroes would violently oppose any representative of the old order from The Tribune. An olive branch, extended at this time, would be expected to at least divide sentiment among Negroes and, if followed up hold Negro delegates in line for Colonel McCormick.

4. The Tribune is against Haynes for judge because he is a colored man. This conjecture is based upon reverse reasoning, thus: Haynes is a Republican candidate for judge. There is nothing about his name to suggest his color. The Tribune, by conspicuous publication of information about Haynes, can carry the information that he is a Negro to many white voters who, not knowing, might otherwise vote for him. Thus Haynes' defeat is assured. Although this is cynic's conjecture, those who hold it, declare The Tribune meant Haynes no good a few months ago when it published a very ugly black picture of him that had been snapped in a crowd.

Everybody hopes, however, that The Tribune will follow up this gesture of friendship with a word to the public about jobs for Negroes and other opportunities. They noticed that The Tribune has said nothing about the recent lynching in Florida, nor the necessity for Federal anti-lynchng legislation. Neither has it seen fit to expose the issue of segregation in the school system, at it has been sought by an un-American group in Morgan Park, one of the city's suburbs.

Political - 1934

Illinois.

Elections.

Enters Race

Chicago Defender

WARREN B. DOUGLAS

Former representative from the Third legislative district in Illinois, which includes one-half of the Second ward, has announced his determination to regain his seat in the lower house at Springfield. He is a Republican.

Seeks Seat in Congress

ARTHUR W. MITCHELL,

National president of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity who is a candidate on the Democratic ticket from the first congressional district of Illinois for representative in Congress.

Mr. Mitchell is well known in Washington and was recently paid a tribute by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, of Chicago. He will oppose Oscar DePriest, Republican, in the Democratic primaries on April 10.

King, Fighting Alone, Beats De Priest and Dawson Party; Roberts Loses Senate Job

Defender 4-14-34

The Chicago Defender

By A. N. FIELDS

Some one has said, "He who rides a tiger cannot dismount." Tuesday's election means reorganization of Republican politics in the Second ward and First congressional district and needs no ghost from the grave to tell that "the fish has done swallowed Jonah," and from all indications Congressman Oscar DePriest put his money on the wrong horse. Many things entered into the final results of this election.

William E. King and William L. Dawson had taken, with the aid of the congressman, the Second ward from former Alderman Louis B. Anderson. They made certain promises to the people. Conditions over which they had no control made it impossible to make these promises good, notwithstanding that Bill Dawson, with the help of the organization, was able to win the aldermanship.

Dr. R. A. Williams

But the wrong party was in power, which made the picking quite poor for the new alderman.

War Is Declared

When there is no food for the subjects the king must start a war, so Dawson started the war by deciding to take over the Second ward committeemanship and annex it to the aldermanship. In this decision he was able to bring into his camp Congressman De Priest, Harris B. Gaines, Charles J. Jenkins and Col. Roscoe Conkling Simmons. With them went of course their followers into the fray. Both sides issued statements early in December justifying their position. King took his case to the people; Dawson did likewise. While it was generally conceded that the congressman was with Dawson, yet De Priest endeavored to show some signs of neutrality in the campaign. However, just two weeks before the election, De Priest charged that some one insulted him while attending a King meeting.

Wm. E. King Victor; Beats De Priest-Dawson Hook-up

(Photos on Page 3)

Continued from Page 1

This brought the shaggy lion out in the full. He issued a statement in which charges of treachery to the party was hurled at King. But King refused to fight the congressman and would not allow his followers to fight, and at every meeting in which he spoke he declared himself for De Priest for congress.

King Quotes Bible

Even De Priest's family was divided on the question, some for King and some for Dawson. As the battle got in high, it was De Priest, Simmons, Gaines, Jenkins, Dawson and Senator Roberts against William E. King. King, being a good Baptist, said won both the committeemanship and the senate nomination, defeating Senator Adelbert Roberts, who had served 10 years in that body.

In the county Dr. Richard A. Williams was nominated for county commissioner. In the city Attorney William H. Hayes was nominated for municipal court judge, running ahead of one of the sitting judges. In the First legislative district, Harris B. Gaines was renominated, and in the Third, Charles J. Jenkins. In the Fifth, William J. Warfield was renominated. Congressman De Priest was renominated for his seat in congress over Chandler Owen by a vote of more than 10,000 to 294. George T. Kersey also won the Republican nomination in the Third district for state representative.

In Democratic circles, Committeeman Edward M. Sneed beat Herman Moore nearly three to one in the Third ward, and in the Second ward Joseph Tittinger beat Ollie J. Dinwiddie for the committeemanship. Bryant A. Hammond won the nomination for state senator on the Democratic ticket in the Third senatorial district.

Seeks Harmony

William E. King, the re-elected committeeman, issued the following statement: "I desire to take this opportunity to thank The Chicago Defender for its broad policies of permitting each candidate to present his case to the people, and through the same medium I want to thank the people for giving me a fair hearing and a just decision in re-electing me ward committeeman, and in nominating me for state senator.

"I shall endeavor in the future as in the past to serve according to the right as it has been given me to see the right. I here and now invite all Republicans to return to the regular Republican organization without regard to faction. I hold no bittrness against anyone. The Republican party is large enough for all Republicans.

"I shall at once turn my attention to the solidifying of the party with the view in mind of doing my part to bring about a successful election in November. It would appear that I have won in a fair fight, neither giving nor taking, that all of those who opposed me should be willing to say: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant'."

Stocker Withdraws Contest as Recount in Belleville Gives Winner Decided Edge

With the Belleville and county recount decidedly in favor of his opponent, A. J. "Tony" Stocker early Thursday withdrew his suit in circuit court contesting the primary election returns for the Republican nomination for state representative from this district.

Stcker conceded victory to Calvin D. Johnson, Belleville supervisor, who becomes the official running mate of Representative R. H. Huschle. They will be opposed on the Democratic side by Representative Frank Holten, Sr. and Dr. A. H. Smith, Negro dentist.

Gains 90 Votes

Stocker and his attorney, Bart Schmitt, decided early Thursday morning to concede victory to Johnson after the recount in six Belleville precincts and two from the county Johnson gained 90 votes in those precincts and overcame the 47½ lead established by Stocker in the retabulation here.

Stocker lost the Republican nomination in the first official count by 25½ votes. His support came chiefly from East St. Louis. Johnson carried Belleville and the outer county by large majorities.

The recount started in the board of election commissioners' office here Monday with City Judge L. Potter Harris of Du Quoin presiding. The retabulation was completed here Tuesday morning and the clerks moved to Belleville in the afternoon. Six precincts in Belleville, one in New Athens and one in Freeburg were recounted. Johnson's gain, Stocker decided, was too great to warrant retabulation of the ballots in the remaining 83 polling places in the county.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.
JOURNAL

MAY 31 1934

Johnson Wins Election Suit

FORCEFUL COLORED SOLON IS AGAIN CHOICE OF G. O. P. IN FIRST ILLINIOS DISTRICT. DEFEATS CHANDLER OWEN

Hon. Harry Baker, White, Will Be The Democratic Nominee. Edgar G. Brown, Colored Democrat, Loses

CHICAGO, ILL.—(Special Wire to The Nashville Globe) —Oscar DePriest was again nominated for Congress from the First District in Illinois in the Primary held Tuesday, April 10th. The other candidates to win out in the very warmly contested Republican Primary were William E. King, committeeman from the Second Ward, who was also nominated for State Senator; William E. Haynes an attorney, formerly of Nashville, was nominated for judge of the Munnicipal Court, while Charles Jenkins and Harris B. Gaines were re-nominated to the State Legislature; Dr. R. A. Williams was nominated as County Commissioner. Congressman DePriest was nominated for Committeeman for the Third Ward.

The race was very close between George Kersey and Warren Douglass for State Representatives. Up to Wednesday night the result between these two had not been determined, and it was rumored that it might take the official count of the ballot to decide the winner. The greatest upset in the whole campaign was the defeat of Adelbert Roberts, the present encumbent to the State Senate and the lone race representative down at Springfield in the upper house.

Congressman DePriest's victory was conceded almost in the beginning, notwithstanding a great line-up and much campaign literature by his opponents had been circulated, but he rode the tide of opposition and was not only renamed as Congressman but he remains as Congressman from the Third Ward. The bitterest contest was between William King and William Dawson in the Second Ward. With the elimination of all the contestants the Republicans are planning to go to the polls in November to battle with their Democratic opponents who have put up a determined efforts to wrest the control not only of the First Congressional District but of the Second and Third Wards from the Republicans.

For state senator--H. Grady Vien, 12,457; Louis J. Menges, 14,985; Joseph M. Kaufman, 2,999; Albert Glenn Middleton, 1,721.

For representative—Frank Holten, 19,041; Grover C. Borders, 10,065; John B. Altrogge, 5,320; George F. Kelling, 11,248; Wendell Gray, 8,622; William H. Becker, 6,722; Peter H. Joergensen, 8,755; Roy Torloting, 4,381; Samuel Taylor, 4,499; Dr. A. H. Smith, 11,297; Richard Webb, 2,023; Frank X. Ziegelmeier, 1,417; Benjamin Emge, 8,983.

FORMER NASHVILLE MAN IS REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR HIGH JUDICIAL POST IN THE 'WINDY CITY'

Brilliant Lawyer is Son of the Late Rev. Wm. Haynes, Former Pastor of Sylvan Street Baptist Church

CHICAGO, ILL.—(Special)—William Haynes, Jr., Attorney-at-law, was nominated for judgeship on the municipal bench in the Republican Primary here last Tuesday. The brilliant young attorney has served in many capacities, and has demonstrated his ability as an attorney and jurist of no mean ability. He has resided in Chicago where he finished his legal profession and where he was admitted to the bar to practice not only in the state of Illinois but before the U. S. Supreme Court.

He received his literary education in the public schools of Nashville, the county schools of Rutherfuord and Davidson counties and Roger Williams University. He came north to finish his legal profession, graduating with honors from the universities in this state.

Two years ago he made the race for the nomination in order to get himself squarely before the people. He is an over-seas world war veteran, a member of the American Legion, a former assistant city attorney and a former assistant state attorney general. He swept over all of his opponents, and his nomination was veritably a landslide.

He is the son of the late Rev. Wm. Haynes of Nashville, who was a pioneer preacher, and who at the time of his death was an official in his convention among the Baptists.

It appears from the returns that practically every successful nomination in this hotly-contested primary was a native Southerner, from the states of Tennessee, Texas, Alabama and other southern sections. Riding into the nomination successfully was Dr. R. A. Willams, Commissioner of Cook County. If the Republican ticket triumphs this November these candidates will ride into office on the Party Ticket.

CHAS. JENKINS
Re-nominated for State Legislator of Illinois.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.
JOURNAL

APR 12 1934

Negro Dentist Is Winner by Narrow Margin

Eugene Hayes Victor in Another Close Race; Dreman Noses Out Schmitt.

PRINDABLE LEADER

Complete returns from the city's 172 precincts Thursday gave Dr. A. H. Smith, Negro dentist, victory by 49 votes over George Kelling, young Belleville attorney, in the Democratic party's spirited contest for nominations for Legislature. Dr. Smith, according to unofficial returns as tabulated by the county clerk's office, polled 11,297 and Kelling 11,248.

The Negro dentist, as a result, will be the running mate of the veteran legislator Frank Holten, who led the field of 13 with a vote of 19,041. They will pair off against R. H. "Rudy" Huschle and A. J. "Tony" Stocker, Republican nominees, in the November general election.

A canvass of the Kelling-Smith vote was being made at the board of election commissioners' office and in the county clerk's office at Belleville Thursday. Kelling was reported to have gained a few votes here. In Belleville it was announced the canvassers had found an error in the count in precinct 3, ward 4, where the judges neglected to give a candidate three votes when he was the only one voted for.

Gets Negro Support

Dr. Smith was given great support in the Negro precincts here, polling as high as 400 and 500 in many of them. This support Kelling was unable to overcome in the county, his stronghold.

In another close race on the Democratic side Eugene Hayes, city license inspector and an independent, defeated D. Leroy Morgan, incumbent, for the board of review nomination. Hayes polled 6,748 and Morgan, 6,638, a majority of 110. Hayes showed unexpected strength in the outer county.

Another Hot One

On the Republican side Bart E. Schmitt, East St. Louis, and C. C. Dreman, Belleville, waged a battle to the last precinct for the county judge nomination. Dreman emerged the victor with a majojrity of 114 votes. He polled 3,379 and Schmitt 3,235.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Siekmann's majority over Robert W. Tiernan for the Democratic nomination for sheriff Thursday was set at 3,207. Siekmann, an administration candidate, polled 17,539 and Tiernan, a New Deal candidate, 14,332. Siekmann's principal support came from the county. Tiernan carried the city by a majority of 1,823.

Vien Whipped

In the Democratic contest for the state senator nomination Louis J. Menges emerged with a margin of 2,528, defeating H. Grady Vien, the administration's choice. Menges was given 14,985 votes and Vien 12,457.

Three so-called New Deal Democratic candidates were successful in the election, Hayes for the board of review, Menges for state senator and Paul H. Ries, assistant state's attorney, for probate judge. Ries out-ran George F. Wombacher of Mascoutah and Carl W. Feickert of Belleville. Feickert was credited with having the administration support.

Prindable Lead Field

D. A. "Doc" Prindable, candidate for renomination as county clerk, led the Democratic field with a vote of 20,322. Next was Bruce A. Campbell, recognized boss of the administration forces, whose vote for candidate for the sheriff nomination was second with 5,498. Greene-Construction—Leo B. Walsh, 8,722; John A. Wieland, 16,300.

For state central committeeman—Bruce A. Campbell, 20,015; Jerry Roberts, 1,322; Martin A. Brennan, 3,715; Chester E. Kane, 11,480.

For county judge — Joseph E. Michael L. Igoe, 12,587; Walter Fleming, 19,221; Robert V. Gustin, 11,515.

For congressman — Edwin M. Schaefer, 18,116; E. E. Campbell 11,578; T. A. O'Connor, 2,863.

For state central committeeman—James Squires, 1,699; Michael L. Igoe, 2,215.

The Vote

On the Republican side Huschle topped the list with a vote of 6,604. The vote for Democratic candidates follows: George V. Gruenewald, successful.

FORCEFUL COLORED SOLON IS AGAIN CHOICE OF G. O. P. IN FIRST ILLINIOS DISTRICT. DEFEATS CHANDLER OWEN

4-13-34

Hon. Harry Baker, White, Will Be The Democratic Nominee. Edgar G. Brown, Colored Democrat, Loses

CHICAGO, ILL.—(Special Wire to The Nashville Globe) —Oscar DePriest was again nominated for Congress from the First District in Illinois in the Primary held Tuesday, April 10th. The other candidates to win out in the very warmly contested Republican Primary were William E. King, committeeman from the Second Ward, who was also nominated for State Senator; William E. Haynes an attorney, formerly of Nashville, was nominated for judge of the Munnicipal Court, while Charles Jenkins and Harris B. Gaines were re-nominated to the State Legislature; Dr. R. A. Williams was nominated as County Commissioner. Congressman DePriest was nominated for Committeeman for the Third Ward.

The race was very close between George Kersey and Warren Douglass for State Representatives. Up to Wednesday night the result between these two had not been determined, and it was rumored that it might take the official count of the ballot to decide the winner. The greatest upset in the whole campaign was the defeat of Adelbert Roberts, the present encumbent to the State Senate and the lone race representative down at Springfield in the upper house.

Congressman DePriest's victory was conceded almost in the beginning, notwithstanding a great line-up and much campaign literature by his opponents had been circulated, but he rode the tide of opposition and was not only renamed as Congressman but he remains as Congressman from the Third Ward. The bitterest contest was between William King and William Dawson in the Second Ward. With the elimination of all the contestants the Republicans are planning to go to the polls in November to battle with their Democratic opponents who have put in determined efforts to wrest the control not only of the First Congressional District but of the Second and Third Wards from the Republicans.

For state senator--H. Grady Vien, 12,457; Louis J. Menges, 14,985; Joseph M. Kaufman, 1,999; Albert Glenn Middleton, 1,721.

For representative—Frank Holten, 19,041; Grover C. Borders, 10,065; John B. Altrogge, 5,320; George F. Kelling, 11,248; Wendell Gray, 8,622; William H. Becker, 6,722; Peter H. Joergensen, 8,755; Roy Torloting, 4,381; Samuel Taylor, 4,499; Dr. A. H. Smith, 11,297; Richard Webb, 2,023; Frank X. Ziegelmeier, 1,417; Benjamin Emge, 8,983.

CHAS. JENKINS
Re-nominated for State Legislator of Illinois.

FORMER NASHVILLE MAN IS REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR HIGH JUDICIAL POST IN THE 'WINDY CITY'

4-13-34

Brilliant Lawyer is Son of the Late Rev. Wm. Haynes, Former Pastor of Sylvan Street Baptist Church

CHICAGO, ILL.—(Special)—William Haynes, Jr., Attorney-at-law, was nominated for judgeship on the municipal bench in the Republican Primary here last Tuesday. The brilliant young attorney has served in many capacities, and has demonstrated his ability as an attorney and jurist of no mean ability. He has resided in Chicago where he finished his legal profession and where he was admitted to the bar to practice not only in the state of Illinois but before the U. S. Supreme Court.

He received his literary education in the public schools of Nashville, the county schools of Rutherfuord and Davidson counties and Roger Williams University. He came north to finish his legal profession, graduating with honors from the universities in this state.

Two years ago he made the race for the nomination in order to get himself squarely before the people. He is an over-seas world war veteran, a member of the American Legion, a former assistant city attorney and a former assistant state attorney general. He swept over all of his opponents, and his nomination was veritably a landslide.

He is the son of the late Rev. Wm. Haynes of Nashville, who was a pioneer preacher, and who at the time of his death was an official in his convention among the Baptists.

It appears from the returns that practically every successful nomination in this hotly-contested primary was a native Southerner, from the states of Tennessee, Texas, Alabama and other southern sections. Riding into the nomination successfully was Dr. R. R. A. Williams, Commissioner of Cook County. If the Republican ticket triumphs this November these candidates will ride into office on the Party Ticket.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.
JOURNAL

APR 12 1934

Negro Dentist Is Winner by Narrow Margin

Eugene Hayes Victor in Another Close Race; Dreman Noses Out Schmitt.

PRINDABLE LEADER

Complete returns from the city's 172 precincts Thursday gave Dr. A. H. Smith, Negro dentist, victory by 49 votes over George Kelling, young Belleville attorney, in the Democratic party's spirited contest for nominations for Legislature. Dr. Smith, according to unofficial returns as tabulated by the county clerk's office, polled 11,297 and Kelling 11,248.

The Negro dentist, as a result, will be the running mate of the veteran legislator Frank Holten, who led the field of 13 with a vote of 19,041. They will pair off against R. H. "Rudy" Huschle and A. J. "Tony" Stocker, Republican nominees, in the November general election.

A canvass of the Kelling-Smith vote was being made at the board of election commissioners' office and in the county clerk's office at Belleville Thursday. Kelling was reported to have gained a few votes here. In Belleville it was announced the canvassers had found an error in the count in precinct 3, ward 4, where the judges neglected to give a candidate three votes when he was the only one voted for.

Gets Negro Support

Dr. Smith was given great support in the Negro precincts here polling as high as 400 and 500 in many of them. This support Kelling was unable to overcome in the county, his stronghold.

In another close race on the Democratic side Eugene Hayes, city license inspector and an independent, defeated D. Leroy Morgan, incumbent, for the board of review nomination. Hayes polled 6,748 and Morgan, 6,638, a majority of 110. Hayes showed unexpected strength in the outer county.

Another Hot One

On the Republican side Bart E. Schmitt, East St. Louis, and C. C. Dreman, Belleville, waged a battle to the last precinct for the county judge nomination. Dreman emerged the victor with a majojrity of 114 votes. He polled 3,379 and Schmitt 3,235.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Siekmann's majority over Robert W. Tiernan for the Democratic nomination for sheriff Thursday was set at 3,207. Siekmann, an administration candidate, polled 17,539 and Tiernan, a New Deal candidate, 14,332. Siekmann's principal support came from the county. Tiernan carried the city by a majority of 1,823.

Vien Whipped

In the Democratic contest for the state senator nomination Louis J. Menges emerged with a margin of 2,528, defeating H. Grady Vien, the administration's choice. Menges was given 14,985 votes and Vien 12,457.

Three so-called New Deal Democratic candidates were successful in the election, Hayes for the board of review, Menges for state senator and Paul H. Ries, assistant state's attorney, for probate judge. Ries out-ran George F. Wombacher of Mascoutah and Carl W. Feickert of Belleville. Feickert was credited with having the administration support.

Prindable Lead Field

D. A. "Doc" Prindable, candidate for renomination as county clerk, led the Democratic field with a vote of 20,322. Next was Bruce A. Campbell, recognized boss of the administration forces, whose vote for state central committeeman rolledtion, was second with 5,498. Greene-ministration for the sheriff nomina- up to 20,015. Joseph W. Flemingwald defeated Walter Nichols, for-A. Wieland, was third with 19,221 and Holtenmer state policeman, who polled For congressman-at-large—James fourth with 19,041. 2,215.

The Vote

On the Republican side Huschle F. Robertson, 3,715; Chester E topped the list with a vote of 6,604. The vote for Democratic candi- Squires, 1,322; Martin A. Brennan For county judge — Joseph E. George V. Gruenewald, successful-dates follows: 1,699; Michael L. Igoe, 12,587; Walter Nesbit, 18,907. Fleming, 19,221; Robert V. Gustin, 11,515.

For congressman — Edwin M. Schaefer, 18,116; E. E. Campbell 11,578; T. A. O'Connor, 2,863.

For state central committeeman—Bruce A. Campbell, 20,015; Jerry Kane, 11,480.

Political - 1934
Elections.

Illinois.

DePriest Carries His District For Himself But Proteges Lose

Chicago, — (ANP) —On the ashes of the political fires which raged in the First District of Illinois until the primary election last Tuesday there stood Wednesday morning a donkey.

The animal which brayed, serving notice that it intends to do some kicking on its own accord before the elections in November was the symbol of the Democratic party.

The First congressional district is represented in Washington by Oscar De Priest.

Nearly complete returns from Tuesday's primary gave Mr. DePriest, the Republican winner, and his republican opponents for the nomination a combined vote of 15,811.

Returns tabulated for Harry Baker, white, the Democratic winner, and his opponents in the Democratic primary, combined equaled 17, 654 votes.

King beat the veteran Adelbert H. Roberts for his seat in the state senate. By winning both places he emerged as the next powerful figure in Republican party politics to Mr. DePriest.

Mr. King is now boss of the ward which gives Mr. De Priest 80 percent of his votes.

17,654 votes.

If the Democratic votes stay put in November, the 2,000 extra votes the Democratic party received Tuesday represent the obstacle between Mr. DePriest and re-election.

Mr. DePriest's re-election, despite his record in Washington, also depends upon several other factors. In the primary just closed, his organization in the largest ward was split open by a factional fight between Alderman William L. Dawson of the Second ward and State Representative William E. King. Mr. Dawson sought Mr. King's position as committeeman from the Second ward.

Mr. DePriest elected to side with Mr. Dawson, but Mr. King won When the split occured in January the rank and file of the organization stuck by King. As long as Mr. DePriest played a hands-off policy and let the two men fight each other, King's followers made their fight on Dawson and supported DePriest.

But when Mr. DePriest returned from Washington to throw his support to Dawson and to denounce King, the latter's followers soured on DePriest. DePriest's tactics in the final days of the campaign caused eruptions in the King camp.

King nto only whipped Dawson for the committee post, but he beat the veteran Adelbert H. Roberts for his seat in the state senate. By winning both places he emerged as the next most powerful figure in Republican party politics to Mr. DePriest.

Mr. King is now the boss of the ward which gives Mr. DePriest 80 per cent of his votes.

The question is: Will he support Mr. DePriest in November or will there be party sabotage? Those who profess to know King best insist that despite Mr. DePriest's recent treatment of him, he will throw all his power behind the congressman to win for the Republican party in November.

Primary and election returns for 1932 and primary returns for 1934 are as follows:

1932 Primary Election
DePriest	13,713
Anderson	4,185
1932 General Election
DePriest (rep)	33,672
Baker (dem)	26,959
Newton	843
1934 Primary Election
DePriest	14,751
Owen	1,060

DEPRIEST POLLS 14,751 VOTES IN PRIMARIES

CHICAGO—(ANP)—Primary figures in the First District of Illinois show that Oscar DePriest (Rep.) won the nomination to Congress over Chandled Owens his Republican opponent by 14,751 to 1,060.

Harry Baker, white, the Democratic winner, and his opponents in the Democratic primary, polled

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
REGISTER
APR 5

DAVIS SLAMS GREENING FOR JOB REFUSAL

Colored Attorney Unable to Get Position as Assistant Prosecutor

Clarence B. Davis, colored attorney told an audience in the circuit court room last night that he is opposing Ernest A. Dye, republican candidate for sheriff, because State's Attorney Alfred H. Greening, one of Dye's supporters, had refused to appoint him (Davis) as an assistant state's attorney.

He asserted that Greening, before the election in 1932, had promised him the appointment.

Davis declared that he was the first ever to suggest that Greening become a candidate for state's attorney, the first to spend money on the Greening campaign and the first to arrange a meeting in behalf of Greening's candidacy.

Suggests Lie Detector

From election night on, he said Greening avoided him. He offered to let experts determine by a lie detector whether he or Greening is telling the truth.

Davis and Dr. J. I. Ford, another speaker on the same program said that they are against any candidates whom Greening, Fred W. Wanless, and Circuit Clerk Edgar L. Crane are for.

Referring to Greening's party regularity, Davis said that Greening, as a "bull moose" candidate for county judge in Logan county in 1914, caused the defeat of the republican nominee.

Voters Walk Out

A majority of the colored voters walked out of the meeting soon fater it had started. Davis declared that they were "policy writers," solicitors for a gambling wheel device.

Davis said that the sheriff has 21 appointments and that Frank Schoettker, republican new deal candidate, has promised to give some of the jobs to Negroes. He predicted that 25 percent of the Negro vote will go into the democratic primary because certain democratic officials have given jobs to Negroes.

He also declared that Assistant City Attorney Jack Weiner had been given legal business which should have been given to him (Davis).

Dr. Ford said that there are 4,700 colored voters in Springfield and that Dye cannot be elected without their support.

"If any Negro is foolish enough to support Dye, I don't want him ever to speak to me again," Dr. Ford said. "If Abraham Lincoln, whom Greening talks about so much, knew what he is doing to the Neogres he would turn over in his grave."

Charges Politics

Dr. Ford charged that a recent indictment of his nephew was a political move by Greening.

Frank Buedel made a brief talk in behalf of the new deal ticket. S. R. Wheatley was chairman.

Candidates who spoke were Charles N. Neal, for congressman; Frank M. Ramey, for congressman, and Edward W. Lartz, for sheriff.

Lartz declared that he is the most qualified man running for sheriff, that he is free from political factionalism and bosses. He said that he holds no ill will toward either Dye or Schoettker.

CHICAGO, ILL.
TRIBUNE
APR 2 1934

WM. H. HAYNES, COLORED, ON G.O.P. JUDICIAL TICKET

William H. Haynes, colored, is a candidate on the regular Republican slate for nomination at the April 10 primaries to the Municipal court bench. The Chicago Bar association said of him that he is a man of integrity, education, satisfactory experience and reputation, and that he is qualified.

WILLIAM H. HAYNES.

Haynes is in the private practice of law, but has had experience in the law enforcing offices of the county and the state. He was an assistant state's attorney under Robert E Crowe in 1925-'26, and under John A Swanson in 1929. From May to December, 1928, he was a special assistant attorney general under Frank J. Loesch when the latter was handling the investigation of the Granady murder in the 20th ward.

Haynes was born in Nashville, Tenn., 39 years ago. For three years he was professor of economics and sociology at Morehouse college. Later he studied law at the University of Chicago, receiving the degree of J. D. in 1921. He lives at 638 East 50th street.

CHICAGO, ILL.
NEWS
APR 11 1934

CHURCH DEFEATS SIMPSON JR. IN CONGRESS RACE

Republican Scrap Enlivened by Action of Secretary Ickes.

Ralph E. Church has defeated James Simpson Jr. for the republican nomination for congressman in the 10th district, virtually complete returns showed today. Simpson was elected to his first term in 1931 against Church, who ran as an independent, and against Charles H. Weber, democratic nominee.

With only 27 out of the 459 precincts missing in the district, the vote stood:

Church, 24,633; Simpson, 21,307.

The scrap between Church and Congressman Simpson for the nomination was the highlight of the congressional battles. The hot campaign waged by the two became even more heated in the closing days when Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, took a hand in the fight by writing a letter opposing Simpson.

With only ninety of the 459 precincts in the district missing, Simpson was trailing Church by some 2,200 votes. Friends of the congressman expressed grave doubts that he could overcome this lead.

Claims Margin of 4,200.

Church issued a statement predicting that the final returns will show him to have been nominated by 4,200 votes. Republican nomination in this district, which extends from Rogers Park to the Wisconsin state line, has always been considered tantamount to election.

Simpson Concedes Defeat.

Congressman Simpson conceded Church's election this afternoon in the following statement:

"I concede victory to Mr. Church. While I don't pretend to like the type of campaign carried on against me, the people have made their choice, and I urge all of my friends and supporters to vote for and work for Mr. Church in the autumn because the republican party is fighting the fight for Americanism."

In the contests for congressman at large, C. Wayland Brooks, a war veteran and for several years an assistant state's attorney, far outdistanced the field for one of the two republican nominations. Milton E. Jones obtained the other.

In the democratic column Michael L. Igoe and Martin A. Brennan, the regular party nominees, had virtually no difficulty. They led their closest rival for the nomination for congressman at large by more than 200,000 votes. Igoe, a veteran campaigner and for many years minority leader in the state legislature, made a considerable better showing than his running mate.

Igoe's victory meant defeat for Walter Nesbit, Belleville, one of the two congressmen at large, Brennan being the other. The defeat of Nesbit and Simpson marked the only two upsets for sitting congressmen.

Rainey Triumphs Easily.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey was nearly a five-to-one winner over James M. Kirby in the 20th district for renomination as congressman.

Oscar DePriest, only Negro congressman at the capitol, was renominated, as was also Patrick H. Moynihan of the South Chicago district. Fred A. Britten, one of the veterans in congress, was again selected by the republicans in the 9th district, the near north side, and will battle James McAndrews for the seat next Noember.

List of Apparent Winners.

The apparent nominees for congress throughout the state, on the basis of incomplete returns, follow:

Dist	DEMOCRAT.	REPUBLICAN.
1—	Harry Baker	*Oscar DePriest
2—	R. S. McKeough	*P. H. Moynihan
3—	*Edw. A. Kelley.	Frank M. Fulton.
4—	*Harry P. Beam	F. G. Zelezinski.
5—	*A. M. Sabath	John A. Stanek.
6—	*Thos. J. O'Brien	Arnold L. Lund.
7—	*L. W. Schuetz	R. J. Peacock
8—	*L. Kocialkowski	Edw. R. Pitzatowski
9—	Jas. McAndrews	*Fred A. Britten.
10—	D. B. Maloney	Ralph E. Church
11—	Jas. A. Howell	Chauncey W. Reed
12—	B. J. Knight.	*John T. Buckbee.
13—	O. H. Wright.	*Leo E. Allen
14—	*C. Thompson	John C. Allen
15—	*J. Leroy Adair	B. M. Chiperfield.
16—	R. L. Russell	*Everett M. Dirksen
17—	*Frank Gillespie	L. C. Arends
18—	*James A. Meeks	O. K. Yeager
19—	*D. C. Dobbins	Chas. H. Fletcher
20—	*Henry T. Rainey	Warren E. Wright
21—	Harry H. Mason	Frank M. Ramey
22—	*E. M. Schaefer	Jesse R. Brown.
23—	*W. W. Arnold	Ben O. Sumner
24—	*C. V. Parsons	Jas. V. Heidinger
25—	*Kent E. Keller	Harry Wilson.

*Incumbent.

Death of DePriest's Rival Enlivens Congress Battle

CHICAGO — With the death of Harry Baker, white Democratic nominee for Representative in Congress from the First Congressional District of Illinois, at Billings Hospital here last Tuesday, the prospects for the return of Oscar DePriest to Congress, as that district's representative, became somewhat more in question.

While Mr. Baker's competition to Congressman DePriest had become more and more serious each year since 1928, the Democratic opponent's death does not relieve the situation, due to the probability that Arthur Mitchell, Baker's closest competitor in the Democratic primary, will be placed in the race for the fall election.

The increasing force of Democratic competition is evidenced by the following general election returns:

1930
DePriest	23,805
1932
DePriest	33,672
Baker	26,959

The fact that the total Democratic vote for first district candidates in the April primary was 17,654 as compared wih a Republican total of 15,811 further illustrates the increasing Democratic strength.

Arthur Mitchell, local attorney, ran second to Baker in the primary polling 5,938 votes to his white opponent's 8,969, and the opinion is being expressed in Democratic circles that Mitchell, aside from holding the votes of the colored Democrats, should be able to keep the white Democrats in the fold against DePriest.

SAYS DEMOCRATS SENT MITCHELL IN TO BEAT HIM

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—If, as reported in these columns last week, the local Democrats have entered into a deal with Congressman Oscar DePriest to sell his opponent, Arthur Mitchell, "down the river" in November, there is nothing about the activity of either opponent to indicate that such a report is true.

The precinct captains and organization straw bosses who pull you into doorways and whisper "inside" information to you were scattering the story at that time that Mr. Mitchell would be sacrificed and that in turn Mr. DePriest would give only lukewarm support to the Republican candidate for the state senate, thereby indirectly aiding the Democratic aspirant, Bryant Hammond.

Has "H——l of A Fight"

DePriest's actions at this time, howeevr, seem to have a louder and more genuine ring than the words of the wiseacre dopesters. The congressman has his sleeves rolled up and is fighting like the very devil, for King and against Mitchell. In private conversations with friends, he has admitted in his brusque manner that he has "a h——l of a fight" on his hands. His public speeches contain the same acknowledgment.

Citizens of the district were called to Congressional Hall Tuesday night to be organized under the leadership of former Judge Albert B. George into a DePriest-for-Congress Club. The congressman told several hundred at that time:

"'Sent to Beat Me . . .'"

"This man was sent out here from Washington to beat me. There are Democrats at Washington who want to get rid of me and they are using this former Republican as their tool."

Mr. Mitchell, prior to 1928 a lawyer in Washington, was employed at the Republican National Committee headquarters in Chicago, during the first campaign to elect Herbert Hoover.

DePriest asserted that he was highly-paid for his services and that he became disgruntled later when he did not get the job he wanted.

"The greatest compliment that can be paid me is to say that I have the southern Democrats against me," asserted DePriest. "My opponent is backed by a southern Democrat, McDuffie of Alabama."

Harten Is Speaker

Mitchell was drubbed mercilessly by a score of speakers, chief of whom was the Rev. Thomas E. Harten, militant Baptist preacher of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Harten announced that he was a Democrat and cited the record of his work in New York to prove it, but he proudly exhibited two "De-Priest-for-Congress" buttons in his coat lapel and stated his determination to wear them throughout the campaign. He praised DePriest for his courage and resourcefulness and asserted that DePriest should have had no opponent, that the Democrats and Republicans of the district should have made him a Fusion candidate.

Although William E. King, Republican candidate for the state senate was not present, Mr. DePriest declared that he was for him 100 per cent. Referring to the bitter fight between them in the primary, he commented:

DePriest for King

"That was the primary. The people spoke. I obey the voice of the people. I'm for Billy King. I couldn't be for anybody else. There is always the danger of the state legislature changing the boundaries of the congressional districts. There are men in the legislature now who would like to see the First district boundaries changed so that a Negro could not be sent to Congress.

"We need to keep experienced men in the legislature who are competent to guard against and fight such a change. I want to see a man with some experience in the legislature elected."

Bryant Hammond, Mr. King's Democratic opponent, has had no actual service as a legislator.

Raise Only One Issue

Outside the fact that Congressman McDuffie of Alabama has blessed Mr. Mitchell, the DePriest forces seem to find little else to raise as an issue against him. Some speakers tried to make a point of the fact that the people did not choose Mr. Mitchell, that he was selected by the Democratic county central committee after the successful candidate in the primary had died. But the point seemed to lack emphasis, due to the fact that Mr. DePriest was originally chosen in the same way after the death of the late Martin B. Madden. Orators who could find no vulnerable point in respect to Mitchell's character and ability, concentrated their attack on his newness in the city.

"Nobody knows him," they declared, with gestures.

Seniority Rights

In Mr. DePriest's favor the chief point stressed, after reference to his courage and industry, was the fact that his six years in Congress have given him certain seniority rights which a newcomer would not have.

Second ward Democrats also met Tuesday night, but Mr. Mitchell, having just arrived in the city, was not able to speak. Questioned Friday, he seemd to resent the suggestion that he would not receive the honest backing of his party organization.

Political-1934

Elections

Illinois,

Davis Gives Close-Up Of Congressman-Elect

BY FRANK MARSHALL DAVIS

CHICAGO—An Alabama boy who came by way of Washington to make good in the nation's second city, then returned to the capital as representative of the "richest square mile on earth"—that's Arthur W. Mitchell, ex-college president, lawyer and now the first democrat of color ever to be elected to the U. S. Congress. As you know by now, he defeated hoary-headed Oscar DePriest by more than 3,000 votes in the Nov. 6 elections.

Mitchell, who has law offices on the third floor of the South Center building at 47th and South Park-way is the same after election as before. Messages of congratulation still pour into his suite by wire, telephone, letter and person. But for his own protection, the city provided him with a plain clothes guard.

Dislikes Formality

"First of all," he said as I interviewed him, "I want it understood that I detest formality. It will not be necessary for the public to go through any red tape to see me. I plan to be as easy to reach and talk with now as I have ever been."

He sat in his small ante-room behind a desk half filed with legal matter. He is of light brown, pleasant faced and voiced, wth hair almost totally gray. Smaller in stature and without the striking appearance of DePriest, Mitchell nevertheless has a quiet distinction and his words carry strong conviction when he speaks.

"The campaign will go into history as one of the cleanest ever waged in Chicago," he stated. "We let the record of the opposition speak for itself. The voters listened. We won."

Likes Football, Motoring

When Mitchell speaks of himself—the man and not the politician—he is somewhat reticent. It took a little time to learn that he likes football—played at both Tuskegee and Talladega—and hasn't missed a Howard-Lincoln "classic" in 15 years.

He gets some of his biggest enjoyment out of motoring alone thru the country. Fishing interests him not at all. He cares somewhat for baseball but doesn't have time to attend games. For exercise, he plays a lot of golf. But for him nothing surpasses a good car and an open road.

White Friends in Dixie

That he has staunch white friends in Dixie was admitted by Mitchell, who was born on a Randolph Co. Alabama farm December 22, 1886. Propaganda was circulated during the campaign charging the winner receiving the financial backing of certain white politicians in Mississippi who wanted to see DePriest put out of congress at any cost.

"It is my belief that a man ought to have as many friends as he can make and retain," declared Mitchell. "I have no apology to make for my white friends in the South, whether in Birmingham or elsewhere. I plan to continue the cultivation of such friendly relations for the best interests of both races without sacrificing one particle of principle or character'.'

The election showed, he pointed out, that the first Illinois congressional district was behind Roosevelt and the New Deal, as well as deaf to the campaign of bitterness waged by some Northern Negro leaders against Southern white people. Their attempt to "bulldoze" their neighbors failed, Mitchell pointed out.

Knew Washington

Congress-Elect Mitchell, on speaking terms with President Roosevelt and known to have powerful connections elsewhere in Washington, was also acquainted with Booker T. Washington. At the age of 14 he left home and walked 66 miles to Tuskegee. He was at one time office boy for the educator and from him obtained a foundation for much of his present philosophy. After Tuskegee he taught in Alabama and Georgia and later studied at Talladega, Harvard and Columbia universities.

After finishing college he founded the Armstrong Agricultural college in Alabama, serving as president for 10 years during which he drew little salary. Later he studied law and lived in Washington.

Chicago In 1928

It is remarkable coincidence that Mitchell came to Chicago in 1928, the year DePriest was elected to congress for the first time. DePriest stepped in then to fill the shoes of the late Congressman Madden, white, who died between the spring primary and the election. The death of Baker, white democratic opponent of DePriest since 1928, gave Mitchell his chance this year.

The new congressman has been national president of Phi Beta Sigma fraternity since 1926, and is also a member of the Odd Fellows Phythian, Elk and Masonic lodges.

Aim in Congress

At Washington he will support Roosevelt's program and look after the interests of his district. He plans to work for an anti-lynching law, the cessation of color discrimination in public employment, and the passage of a bill giving American born and naturalized citizens the preference in all forms of employment.

Mitchell, reputed to own Washington real estate valued at over $100,000, plans to be in the capitol to attend this year's Howard-Lincoln game.

CHICAGO, ILL
TRIBUNE

OCT 27 1934

NATION WATCHES CONGRESS RACES IN COOK COUNTY

Democrats Center Fight on Britten, De Priest.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

With the general issue of whether congress shall be a "rubber stamp" for the Brain Trust experiments, Cook county's congressional contests have engendered some of the most intense battles in years.

They have evoked a national interest, for in Chicago are running for reelection Congressman Fred A. Britten, one of the four Republican deans of the house with 22 years of service, Congressman Oscar De Priest, Republican, the sole Negro member of congress, and Congressman Adolph J. Sabath, whose 14 terms make him the oldest member of the house in point of service.

Battle Britten and De Priest.

Most furious of the struggles are those in the Britten district, the 9th, on the near north side, and the De Priest district, the 1st, on the south side.

In the ten districts in Cook county the Republicans now have four seats, the Democrats six. Besides striving to hold what they have, the Republicans are seeking to upset three Democratic congressmen, Edward A. Kelly [3d], Thomas J. O'Brien [6th], and Leonard W. Schuetz [7th].

The Democrats, while working to keep what they have, are concentrating on an effort to capture seats held by three Republicans: Congressmen Britten, De Priest, and Patrick H. Moynihan of the South Chicago district, the 2d. In the last 30 years and more the De Priest and Moynihan districts never have elected a Democrat to congress, while the Britten district in that period has elected a Democrat only once, in 1910.

No upsets are considered remotely probable in the other four districts, now held by three Democrats and one Republican.

Charges Link Underworld.

The Ninth, where the Gold Coast and the lodging house areas "south of the avenoo" meet, is the seat of a furious struggle in which national issues are mixed with charges that Democrats are using shakedowns of the underworld and the relief rolls as political instruments.

Congressman Britten is opposed by James McAndrews, secretary of the state liquor commission, who served six terms in congress from west side districts. Britten beat McAndrews two years ago despite the Roosevelt landslide by 3,657 votes.

Republican speakers in the district are shouting that pressure is being put on recipients of relief to vote Democratic on threats that otherwise they may be struck from the rolls, that saloons and dives are being farmed for Democratic campaign funds, that Republican workers are being threatened by toughs.

42d Ward Storm Center.

The 42d ward, north of the river, is the storm center and the Republican bombardment is concentrated upon William J. Connors, Democratic ward committeeman and candidate for state senator.

The Democratic county organization for weeks has indicated its chief aim in the congressional battle is to take Britten, and has declared that this time the Democrat workers in the district are working for the Democratic nominee.

Congressman Britten, hitting right and left, has been declaring he is being fought by gambling, vice, racketeering, night life, license peddling, and patronage groups in the district. His supporters are relying on the vote in the Republican wards to the north and on the residential vote.

Negro Democrat Faces De Priest.

Oscar De Priest is in a stiff battle in the First. One issue is how far the distribution of doles by the New Deal may influence the Negro vote, in this ancient Republican stronghold. In Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat, De Priest meets his first Negro opponent in a congressional election.

Mitchell was placed on the ticket after the death of Harry Baker, the white man who won in the Democratic primaries. Baker had been beaten by De Priest in three other elections, and was kept in the field by Michael Kenna, "boss" of the First ward. Mitchell attended Tuskegee institute and Harvard and Columbia universities. This time, the Democratic managers declare Mike Kenna has promised to send Mitchell out of the First ward with a big vote. On this they rest claims of the district, while the Republicans forecast that De Priest will win, although with a reduced plurality.

Confident Over Moynihan.

Republicans hold that Congressman Moynihan will retain his seat in the Second district, the Hyde Park Republican stronghold which never has elected a Democrat to congress since the present districts were formed more than 30 years ago. The Democrats are relying on the effect of the federal doles, especially in the mill areas of South Chicago. In the primaries this year the Democrats polled 9,000 more votes than the Republicans. On this they are banking. Raymond S. McKeough is the Democratic candidate.

Two years ago, despite the Roosevelt landslide, Moynihan won by 11,000. The struggle in this district is intense, and involved in it are charges from Republicans that the "Democratic Tammany" is using federal doles and all resources of possible patronage in the campaign. Moynihan has brought to the front as issues experimentalism of the New Deal in drilling industry in the goose step.

Winner in Landslide.

In the Third district [Englewood], Frank M. Fulton, Republican, is seeking to unseat Congressman Edward A. Kelly, Democrat. This is normally a Republican district. Kelly won in 1930 in the Democratic landslide that elected Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and in 1932 in the Roosevelt landslide [by 24,811]. The Republicans say it depends upon how far the doles enter into politics; while the Democrats place the district in their column. In the primaries this year the Democrats cast 20,000 more votes than the Republicans.

On the west side, the 6th district finds Congressman Thomas J. O'Brien, Democrat, being given a harder fight than usual by Arnold L. Lund, Republican.

Hurls "Rubber Stamp" Charge.

Lund, a Berwyn lawyer, is accusing O'Brien of being a "rubber stamp." In response, O'Brien's friends point out O'Brien voted against at least three brain trust measures, including the national economy act, which repealed many benefits for world and Spanish war veterans.

The 6th is normally a Democratic district. Since 1910, it has elected Democrats to congress in ten elections and Republicans in only two, these being in the 1920 and 1924 Republican landslide years. O'Brien won in 1932 by a plurality of 68,550, and with all this background the Democrats regard it in the bag.

Seventh District Changeable.

The Seventh district is the largest in the United States, with a population of 889,349 [1930]. Here Congressman Leonard W. Schuetz, Democrat, is opposed by Raymond Peacock, Republican, a publisher. It was a Republican district, then a Democratic, then Republican.

Since 1916 it has elected Republican congressmen seven times and Mr. Schuetz twice, in 1930 and 1932. He won in the Roosevelt landslide two years ago by 55,645. In the April primaries this year the Democrats polled 28,000 more votes than the Republicans and they hold this will tell the story on Nov. 6.

Denounces the New Deal.

Peacock is denouncing the radicalism and regimentation of the New Deal, while the Democrats are sticking to their slogan, "Roosevelt."

In the other four districts, the battling is not so hot. Congressmen Henry P. Beam [4th], A. J. Sabath [5th], Leo Kocialkowski [8th] are Democrats in strong Democratic districts, while in the Tenth, which includes the north shore suburbs and Lake county, the Democrats see little chance of overturning the usual Republican trend. Ralph E. Church, Republican, is opposed by David B. Maloney, Democrat.

THEIR WORRY, NOT OURS

The predicament in which southern members of Congress find themselves, now that a Negro Democrat has been elected to that body, reminds us that "God moves in mysterious ways His wonders to perform." They could retain their traditional attitude toward Negroes so long as the Negro member of Congress was Oscar DePriest, a Republican. But how can they continue to extol the Democratic party as the one defense the white race has when into its ranks comes a Negro who was elected to office as a Democratic nominee the same as they.

Formerly these southern Democrats had recourse to party caucus. Since they dominated it, they made northern Democrats do their bidding. But today the Democratic party is everywhere and it happens that the bulk of it is in northern states where for many years there has been more or less accord and cooperation of the races within the party.

Southerners cannot expect to persuade Democrats elected in part by Negro votes in northern and border states, to throw away that support to prevent "Negro domination" which everyone knows is a pure figment of southern demagogues' imagination.

Neither will southern members of Congress find it easy to subject Mr. Mitchell, Democrat, to the harassments which they put upon a Republican. They are up against a decision either to be good Democrats or southerners of the type made notorious by Negro baiters like Vardaman and Blease.

We will hazard a guess that they will decide to be good Democrats. Our reason for that optimism is a feeling which everyone, black and white alike, knows exists in the South. The experience of a Negro school teacher doing summer work in Minnesota illustrates it. He was sightseeing at one of the natural wonders of that region. A white man approached him with hand extended and pleasure written all over his face.

The stranger spoke up: He was Mr. So-and-So from North Carolina. Would the teacher be so kind as to converse with him? He had been up from the South all summer and felt downright lonesome because he had not seen any colored people. The end of the story is that the white North Carolinian deserted his white friends and the two men spent a pleasant afternoon together. Congressman Mitchell of Illinois, Democrat, is another wedge thrust in to open the door of Negroes' opportunity.

ALABAMA'S LOSS

Southern States seem to have a singular gift for driving away some of their most distinguished sons.

Every Northern, Eastern and Western community has several men and women of note who left Dixie because of its backwardness and its barbarism.

There is Arthur W. Mitchell, the new Democratic Congressman from Illinois, who will sit close to the representatives of the Southern people in the next Congress, whether they like it or not.

Mr. Mitchell comes from Alabama, where, in spite of the fact that there are a million Negroes, there are only a handful who dare go to the polls, register and vote for fear of being lynched or run out of the State.

Mr. Mitchell left Alabama and went to Chicago. That was Alabama's loss and Chicago's gain. There are thousands of other intelligent, upstanding colored men and women who, given fair treatment and opportunity, would have remained in the South and helped to bring that section out of savagery.

The South, the enlightened South, is realizing this fact more and more. The time will come when Alabama will be sending Negro Democrats to Congress.

Political — 1934

Elections

Indiana.

VOTERS FAVOR PRITCHARD IN MAYOR RACE

Good government, with an equal chance for every citizen to enjoy the blessings and privileges of citizenship, is the promise by Walter Pritchard and his fellow Republican candidates running for office which has attracted the support of colored leaders and laymen in the fight to be waged at the polls next Tuesday. The latter group are urging colored people to vote the straight Republican ticket.

11-3-34

Former Judge Pritchard has proved a popular candidate among all classes of the city's population and especially the colored people. Every appearance of Mr. Pritchard in colored districts has brought applauding throngs of support eager for a change in the city and county governments.

His candidacy has been endorsed by ministerial alliances, women's clubs and individual citizens who, not caring for the ordinary and customary methods resorted to secure a following, have worked quietly for his election. Thousands of colored citizens, dissatisfied with the handling of poor relief, forseeing a crushing burden of taxes that will have to be paid in the coming years and resentful of the administrative policies that have restricted opportunities for employment to the lowest level by keeping out large employers of labor, are certain to register a vote protesting perpetuation of present conditions.

Republican leaders assert Mr. Pritchard, as leader of the city ticket, will poll a big majority of the colored vote. Two points in his proposed program for betterment of conditions among colored people as well as whites has been loudly applauded by colored audiences.

"You folks know that in the matter of poor relief and PWA jobs, you have not been treated fairly, because of your color. You have been forced to take the worst of everything in those miserable baskets sent you, and on the White River project, where 1200 colored workmen were employed to 200 whites only one drew pay as a foreman, "Mr. Pritchard told numerous audiences to the accompaniment of prolonged applause.

Numerous audiences used every manner of expressing approval of Mr. Pritchard's courageous stand on the vexatious hospital question. "Please do not hesitate to believe me" he said repeatedly, "when I say that as mayor of your city in charge of the administration of its public institutions, I will see to it that colored doctors, internes and nurses are immediately given opportunities to enjoy the fullest privileges at the City hospital, the same as other people. Segregation there will end."

SAY ELECTION OF RICHARDSON IS NECESSARY

Colored voters of Marion county are urged to return Henry J. Richardson, Jr., nationally known attorney and speaker to the Indiana General assembly.

11-3-34

Mr. Richardson is a candidate for state representative on the democratic ticket and is a member of the present Assembly, having been elected by a large majority in 1932. In the elections of that year he ran third among the eleven receiving the highest number of votes. Three-fourths of those who voted for him at that time were white.

Today, friends of Mr. Richardson says he will go to the polls next Tuesday a big favorite with practically ninety per cent of the colored people solidly behind him. He should lead the ticket, they assert.

This remarkable drift of popular sentiment in Richardson's favor has resulted from the brilliant record and fine impression he made during his present term as state legislator.

Through his indefatigable efforts, the Indiana law making body enacted the first anti-labor discrimination bill to be passed by any state legislature in the country. It has served as a model for similar bills in other states. Another measure framed and urged by Richardson was passed making possible the establishment of colored unit of the Indiana militia, and Anti-Lynch law. Richardson co-sponsored and ably assisted in the enactment of scores of other measures that have porved beneficial to the people of the state. Among these were the Old Age Pension law, and the law repealing the Wright Bone dry measure.

Mr. Richardson is popular among both races and has been accorded high honors by state and national administrations. His gentlemanly conduct, fine manners, outstanding abilities and aggressiveness have brought favorable attention to colored people of county, state and nation.

G. O. P. LEADER FLEES AFTER DEFEAT HERE

Workers Hunt Politician; American Finds Him In 'Chi' Hotel'

When the smoke of the campaign had cleared away and a check up was made to determine the number of republican casualties, most conspicuously absent was ex-alderman, cornerstone politician, and defeated candidate for councilman for the fourth district William L. (Bill) Burrus.

His cornerstone political cohorts around his battle scarred political headquarters reported him sick in the hospital.

But among the republican workers, our reporter heard rumblings that the workers had not received their pay. To make sure that everything was quiet on the Republican front, our Chicago reporter made a cursory survey of the hospitals in Chicago to see if the ill fated councilmatic candidate was in as urgent need for an 'operation' as his cohorts reported him to be.

Having met with no success in the hospitals, our reporter turned his search to the section of the city where the subject of his inquiry would most likely be found but still with no success. Finally and by chance only, his prize was located, not in a two-dollar-a-week room, but quartered in the Grand Hotel at 31st and South Parkway, living the usual life of ease, luxury and comfort of a defeated 'General' or King who foresees defeat early enough to gather enough of his worldly possessions to take him to his exile to live comfortably the rest of his life.

With all of his vigilance, and although he saw several other bills which appeared to be of large denominations, he only actually counted two hundred dollars which were given by ex-alderman Burrus to the hotel clerk for safe keeping in the hotel safe

Exactly how much of the campaign funds which was supposed to be paid to office clerks, registration clerks and poll workers for work during the last days of the campaign, but was taken to the 'Hospital' by the defeated 'General', our reporters were unable to ascertain, although they did learn that $540.00 was said to have been sent to the central district republican headquarters to 'buy the central district' when was said that the 'Gneerals' had enough votes in ther vest pockets to swing the election. Of $540.00 our reporters learned that $92.00 was said to have been paid to the publishers of what was intended to be the official republican organ (when the Republicans won) for 'five thousand copies featuring the low down on the high ups in Colored democratic politics

Mr. Burrus said to our Chicago reporter "I'm in Chicago working with 'government men' checking up on election fraud, but when we get through with that, I am going to Michigan to live. I am through with politics and of course the 'boys' in Gary will kid me so much for loosing the election I don't think ';I can take it.'

BATTLE RACES FOR CONTROL IN NEGRO SECTIONS

(By Staff Correspondent)

Outcome of the current struggle of opposing political parties to elect their candidates for office Nov. 6 is still doubtful in the opinion of observers. As a consequence, it is considered a certainty that, as previously pointed out in this column, the last thirty days of campaigning will unfold the hottest scramble for colored votes for many a year.

10-31-34

The G.O.P. is waging its battle on a united front. Party factionalism has been completely smothered in the enthusiasm for candidates, workers and followers fired by the hope of a return to power. Thirty day polls are being taken throughout the state to determine "where we stand". Final registration returns indicate, on the basis of record breaking totals, the greatest interest of the average citizens in the approaching elections. A break in the weather will cinch the state's return to a republican status, it is claimed.

Demos Less Enthusiastic

Among the democrats there seems to be less of the verve and enthusiasm displayed by their opponents. This is said to be particularly true among the colored members of the party. Everywhere party chieftains are exhibiting concern over the fact that, despite the achievement records of the federal state and county branches of the party, their program among the colored people hasn't clicked.

Two resources relied upon as practical political expedients of great utility value are expenditures of vast sums of money to swing elections and a vicious form of propaganda built on fear, gossip inuendo, intimidation, confidential "whispers" and "Black dispatch."

Colored citizens everywhere are being exposed to a more than unusual share of dangerous propaganda in the scramble for their votes. He is being told that under the present state administration he is paying 45 per cent of his income as gross income tax. He has been told by one party that taxes have been reduced while opposing spokesmen insist that the figures offered merely disclose expert juggling in a way to make them support the claim. The grotesgue K K K is to be used in some way in influence both white and colored voters. Racial and religious issues are providing further political fodder. Negroes are being told not to vote for Catholics White voters are being told to "cut" colored candidates. Labor remains ceasely on guard less someone opposed to the aims of organized labor slip into office.

Anybody's Race

To date it's an old fashioned horse race in which either side may win. To the victor will go the spoils of pat[illegible] and the burden of leadership i[illegible] the fight of the American people to return themselves to an era of prosperity.

To the thousands of colored people of the state, it is yet to be pointed out how they are to share equitably in the blessings of prosperity; how they are to escape the ravages of want and hunger; how they are to enjoy the fullest opportunities to earn adequate incomes to support his family; in other words they are yet to be convinced [illegible] their support of political parties will aid in eradication of the curse of prejudice and discrimination that blocks their path to progress.

Political – 1934

Elections.

Indiana.

VOTERS FAVOR PRITCHARD IN MAYOR RACE

Good government, with an equal chance for every citizen to enjoy the blessings and privileges of citizenship, is the promise by Walter Pritchard and his fellow Republican candidates running for office which has attracted the support of colored leaders and laymen in the fight to be waged at the polls next Tuesday. The latter group are urging colored people to vote the straight Republican ticket.

Former Judge Pritchard has proved a popular candidate among all classes of the city's population and especially the colored people. Every appearance of Mr. Pritchard in colored districts has brought applauding throngs of support eager for a change in the city and county governments.

His candidacy has been endorsed by ministerial alliances, women's clubs and individual citizens who, not caring for the ordinary and customary methods resorted to secure a following, have worked quietly for his election. Thousands of colored citizens, dissatisfied with the handling of poor relief, forseeing a crushing burden of taxes that will have to be paid in the coming years and resentful of the administrative policies that have restricted opportunities for employment to the lowest level by keeping out large employers of labor, are certain to register a vote protesting perpetuation of present conditions.

Republican leaders assert Mr. Pritchard, as leader of the city ticket, will poll a big majority of the colored vote. Two points in his proposed program for betterment of conditions among colored people as well as whites has been loudly applauded by colored audiences.

"You folks know that in the matter of poor relief and PWA jobs, you have not been treated fairly, because of your color. You have been forced to take the worst of everything in those miserable baskets sent you, and on the White River project, where 1200 colored workmen were employed to 200 whites only one drew pay as a foreman, "Mr. Pritchard told numerous audiences to the accompaniment of prolonged applause.

Numerous audiences used every manner of expressing approval of Mr. Pritchard's courageous stand on the vexatious hospital question. "Please do not hesitate to believe me" he said repeatedly, "when I say that as mayor of your city in charge of the administration of its public institutions, I will see to it that colored doctors, internes and nurses are immediately given opportunities to enjoy the fullest privileges at the City hospital, the same as other people. Segregation there will end."

SAY ELECTION OF RICHARDSON IS NECESSARY

Colored voters of Marion county are urged to return Henry J. Richardson, Jr., nationally known attorney and speaker, to the Indiana General assembly.

Mr. Richardson is a candidate for state representative on the democratic ticket and is a member of the present Assembly, having been elected by a large majority in 1932. In the elections of that year he ran third among the eleven receiving the highest number of votes. Three-fourths of those who voted for him at that time were white.

Today, friends of Mr. Richardson says he will go to the polls next Tuesday a big favorite with practically ninety per cent of the colored people solidly behind him. He should lead the ticket, they assert.

This remarkable drift of popular sentiment in Richardson's favor has resulted from the brilliant record and fine impression he made during his present term as state legislator.

Through his indefatigable efforts, the Indiana law making body enacted the first anti-labor discrimination bill to be passed by any state legislature in the country. It has served as a model for similar bills in other states. Another measure framed and urged by Richardson was passed making possible the establishment of colored unit of the Indiana militia, and Anti-Lynch law. Richardson co-sponsored and ably assisted in the enactment of scores of other measures that have parved beneficial to the people of the state. Among these were the Old Age Pension law, and the law repealing the Wright Bone dry measure.

Mr. Richardson is popular among both races and has been accorded high honors by state and national administrations. His gentlemanly conduct, fine manners, outstanding abilities and aggressiveness have brought favorable attention to colored people of county, state and nation.

G. O. P. LEADER FLEES AFTER DEFEAT HERE

Workers Hunt Politician, American Finds Him In 'Chi' Hotel'

When the smoke of the campaign had cleared away and a check-up was made to determine the number of republican casualties, most conspicuously absent was ex-alderman, cornerstone politician, unseated candidate for councilman for the fourth district William L. (Bill) Burrus. His cornerstone political cohorts around his battle scarred political headquarters reported him sick in the hospital.

But among the republican workers, our reporter heard rumblings that the workers had not received their pay. To make sure that everything was 'quiet' on the Republican front, our Chicago reporter made a cursory survey of the 17 hospitals in Chicago to see if the ill fated councilmatic candidate was in as urgent need for an 'operation' as his cohorts reported him to be.

Having met with no success in the hospitals, our reporter turned his search to the section of the city where the subject of his inquiry would most likely be found but still with no success. Finally and by chance only, his prize was located, not in a two-dollar-a-week room, but quartered in the Grand Hotel at 51st and South Parkway, living the usual life of ease, luxury and comfort of a defeated 'General' or King who foresees defeat early enough to gather enough of his worldly possessions to take him to his exile to live comfortably the rest of his life.

With all of his vigilance, and although he saw several other bills which appeared to be of large denominations, he only actually counted two hundred dollars which were given by ex-alderman Burrus to the hotel clerk for safe keeping in the hotel safe.

Exactly how much of the campaign funds which was supposed to be paid to office clerks, registration clerks and poll workers for work during the last days of the campaign, but was taken to the 'Hospital' by the defeated 'General', our reporters were unable to ascertain, although they did learn that $540.00 was said to have been sent to the central district republican headquarters to 'buy the central district' when was said that the 'Gneerals' had enough votes in ther vest pockets to swing the election. Of $540.00 our reporters learned that $92.00 was said to have been paid to the publishers of what was intended to be the official republican organ (when the Republicans won) for 'five thousand copies featuring the low down on the high ups in Colored democratic politics

Mr. Burrus said to our Chicago reporter "I'm in Chicago working with 'government men' checking up on election fraud, but when we get through with that, I am going to Michigan to live. I am through with politics and of course the 'boys' in Gary will kidnme so much for loosing the election I don't think ';I can take it.'

BATTLE RACES FOR CONTROL IN NEGRO SECTIONS

(By Staff Correspondent)

Outcome of the current struggle of opposing political parties to elect their candidates for office Nov. 6 is still doubtful in the opinion of observers. As a consequence, it is considered a certainty that, as previously pointed out in this column, the last thirty days of campaigning will unfold the hottest scramble for colored votes for many a year.

The G.O.P. is waging its battle on a united front. Party factionalism has been completely smothered by the enthusiasm of candidates, workers and followers fired by the hope of a return to power. Thirty day polls are being taken throughout the state to determine "where we stand". Final registration returns indicate, on the basis of record breaking totals, the greatest interest of the average citizens in the approaching elections. A break in the weather will cinch the state's return to a republican status, it is claimed.

Demos Less Enthusiastic

Among the democrats there seems to be less of the verve and enthusiasm displayed by their opponents. This is said to be particularly true among the colored members of the party. Everywhere party chieftains are exhibiting concern over the fact that, despite the achievement records of the federal state and county branches of the party, their program among the colored people hasn't clicked.

Two resources relied upon as practical political expedients of great utility value are expenditures of vast sums of money to swing elections and a vicious form of propaganda built on fear, gossip inuendo, intimidation, confidential "whispers" and "Black dispatch."

Colored citizens everywhere are being exposed to a more than unusual share of dangerous propaganda in the scramble for their votes. He is being told that under the present state administration he is paying 45 per cent of his income as gross income tax. He has been told by one party that taxes have been reduced while opposing spokesmen insist that the figures offered merely disclose expert juggling in a way to make them support the claim. The grotesgue K K K is to be used in some way in influence both white and colored voters. Racial and religious issues are providing further political fodder. Negroes are being told not to vote for Catholics White voters are being told to "cut" colored candidates. Labor remains ceasely on guard less someone opposed to the aims of organized labor slip into office.

Anybody's Race

To date it's an old fashioned horse race in which either side may win. To the victor will go the spoils of pat[illegible] and the burden of leadership i[illegible] the fight of the American people to return themselves to an era of prosperity.

To the thousands of colored people of this state, it is yet to be pointed out how they are to share equitably in the blessings of prosperity; how they are to escape the ravages of want and hunger; how they are to enjoy the fullest opportunities to earn adequate incomes to support his family; in other words they are yet to be convinced that their support of political parties will aid in eradication of the curse of prejudice and discrimination that blocks their path to progress.

SIGNAL RACE TRIUMPH

Bitterly controverted political issues growing out of policies created by the economic crisis were settled at least for the time being—by a verdict of a majority of the electorate on election day.

One member of our group elected to the Indianapolis city council and two others were re-elected to the state legislature on the Democratic ticket.

This resultant circumstance is as encoeraging as it is timely that more and more competent and efficient Negroes should be lifted into responsible public offices in the service of all the people.

Such results indicate clearly to what extent our people are obtaining their rightful share of recognition in the governmental affairs of their municipality and state.

Of particular significance is the confidence manifested by their constitutents in Dr. Theodore Cable, Attorney Henry J. Richardson, Jr., and Dr. Robert V. Stanton of East Chicago.

Richardson's and Stanton's recall to seats in the general assembly is fine commentary on the fairness of mind with which the voters of Marion and Lake counties made use of their ballots in the elections.

The same can be said of the citizens of our own municipality that effectuated the success of Cable's councilmanic candidacy.

These three successful race men are undoubtedly cognizant of the nature of the tasks soon to devolve upon them as servants of the people.

They are not unmindful of the great responsibilities they have assumed in their quest for an opportunity to participate managerially in the governmental affairs.

And now that they have succeeded in obtaining this mandate of a co-operatively responsive electorate, it is to be hoped that Cable, Richardson and Stanton will be as constructive as they should be fairlesly, agressive in their service to all the people.

This newspaper extends to these race aspirants its hearty congratulation upon the occasion of their great success, for, measured in terms of political progress, the victories of Stanton, Cable and Richardson are a signal race triumph.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND
TIMES

NOV 26 1934

Mayor-Elect Kern Very Unhappy—Job Hunters Give Him Little Peace

Besieged by Applicants and Belligerent Party Factions, Judge Kern Is Forced to Flee From Home and Go Into Hiding in Club.

BY DICK MILLER
Times Staff Writer

Mayor-elect John W. Kern today returned to superior court, room one, erected a "No Political Discussion" sign and relaxed as he realized he could enforce it.

For the first time since election, excepting for a brief vacation in Virginia and a trip to Chicago for a meeting with United States mayors, Judge Kern found himself absorbed in a busy civil calendar.

The Mayor-elect has found Indianapolis a very unpleasant place since election, though he hardly could or would admit so for publication.

Used to the comparative quiet of superior court before the excitement of the campaign, Judge Kern, since the minute the first reporting precincts indicated his election, has been in what politicians say is the toughest spot in which any mayor-elect ever has found himself.

Besieged by applicants for jobs and by their political sponsors, he has been forced to flee his home in despair and to go into hiding in a local club, there to figure out a workable cabinet and to talk continuously with an apparently endless stream of visitors on one subject—jobs.

Veteran politicians fail to recall when any candidate made the race for mayor under exactly the same conditions as did Judge Kern.

Last spring, members of the Democratic party split up into several factions, each with its own candidate for mayor. Party leaders began looking for a man who could smooth those factional disturbances and bring about success in the election.

John W. Kern was chosen. The figures of the election proved that he smoothed the differences—but that was before the election.

Rival Factions Battle

No sooner had the accurate count of the votes been announced by the canvassing board than each faction began claiming full credit for the party's success. If there has been one person apprised of their claims, that person had been Mayor-elect Kern.

The statehouse organization, the Marion county regular organization, the Otto Ray-for-Sheriff clubs, the Baker-Gossart-Ralston courthouse insurgent group, the Negro leaders and more—all claimed credit.

While there is no way of verifying this from the mayor-elect, those who should know say that just about the time he decides on a likely appointment for some important post he immediately finds the unfriendly groups viciously opposed to the selection.

Take, for instance, the police chief post.

Naturally, the present city hall faction, from Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan on down, speaks with the highest praise for the present chief, Michael F. Morrissey.

Clauer Boosts Morrissey

It is said, also, that William Clauer, former city chairman, present county treasurer and beer importer, feels Chief Morrissey should be retained. Business men are said to concur and Mr. Clauer is reported to have rallied the McNutt-Greenlee-McHale statehouse group behind him.

Joel Baker, former city purchasing agent and now probation officer and political adviser for Criminal Judge Frank P. Baker, is known to be opposed, strenuously, to Chief Morrissey's reappointment. Joel Baker is a close friend of former Chief Claude M. Worley now serving a federal sentence at Leavenworth for income tax evasion.

The judge's little henchman, who managed his campaign so that Judge Baker led the ticket when the votes were counted, is said to have sold many other county officeholders with the idea that this accomplishment is a sure sign he is leading the faction which will have future control.

R. Earl Peters, former Democratic state chairman; Sheriff Charles (Buck) Sumner, Sheriff-elect Ray, Prosecutor-elect Herbert Spencer and Recorder Ira Haymaker are among the men he boasts are on his bandwagon now.

Boetcher May Get Post

While Joel Baker is known to oppose Chief Morrissey, he is said to be satisfied at this time to confine his work to the courthouse.

He merely is trying to get advice to Judge Kern that no police chief should have as much power to function without interference as Chief Morrissey has had under the Sullivan regime.

Otto Ray also is known to oppose Chief Morrissey's reappointment.

Walter Boetcher, county chairman and present works board president, frequently is spoken of as the likely city controller under Judge Kern.

Those who realize the battle that faces Mr. Boetcher in holding control of the party organization say he will waive the additional salary, however, and stay where he is on the works board because it affords him a closer contact with the public and also with what is going on about town.

In this event, it is said, Judge Kern might ask the present controller Evans Woollen Jr., to remain, while others talk of Albert Losche, present purchasing agent, as new controller.

New Fire Chief Hinted

It is agreed on all fronts that there will probably be a new fire chief. Most frequently mentioned for this post is Fred Kennedy, present assistant chief.

Before the election, it seemed certain that Robert Kirby, close friend of Judge Kern, would be his new secretary. Mr. Kirby was around the city hall for a while last fall, but last-minute information is that Joseph Tynan, Home Owners Loan Corporation employe, who drove Mayor-elect Kern about the city on his campaign speaking tours, has been sitting in on many of the meetings with prospective jobseekers.

Sheriff Sumner, who sponsored the gigantic barbecue in the Negro district just before election, and who whole-heartedly supported Judge Kern even to the extent of withdrawing from the primary race last spring, has been mentioned for the police chief's job; but this is an error, he states.

Sheriff Interested

The sheriff admits he is most interested in seeing that some of his chief aids during his present regime get located in some city posts. To this end, Ralph Hitch chief deputy sheriff, has been mentioned prominently as safety board secretary and also as city hospital business manager.

Dr. Frank Dowd, police surgeon and husband of Councilman-elect Annette Dowd, declares that because of the post that his wife holds, it would be impossible for him to take the city hospital superintendency if it were offered to him. He states he has been mentioned for the hospital post by persons seeking to embarrass him, and not by friends.

Political- 1934

Elections.

Indiana.

November 6

Gary American

With the November 6 election only a few days off the Democratic party seems assured of having the largest total of Negro votes ever amassed in the history of Lake County. In an election which is predicted will be close, the support of the colored citizen assumes an extraordinary importance.

10-26-34

Several reasons have been given for the new interest of Negroes in the Democratic party. First among these however is the support of the New Deal under President Roosevelt and the race's realization of the benefits obtained. For the first time the working man has had a friend in the White House, and this friend has distributed jobs through the CWA, PWA, CCC; has increased wages through the NRA, and has fed and housed the hungry through the ERA. There are few Negroes who have not benefited directly or indirectly through one of these agencies. Support of the candidates representing a party inimical to this progress means open repudiation of these benefits and is in the same category as biting the hand that does the feeding or Killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

The second big reason for defection from the Republicans is the Ku Klux Klan affiliation of Senator Arthur Robinson. Every Negro knows the Klan, although faded now to virtual non-existance, is an organization with the aim of hindering the Negro vote for Robinson and a party which still keeps Robinson its standard bearer is merely giving this same Klan political representation and is support by ourselves for a known enemy.

Because of these and other reasons, it seems unlikely that the Republican party will have more than a small fraction of the Negro vote it boasted in former years.

Indiana

Political — 1934 Elections.

Coming Political Scrimmage

The people of Indianapolis, Marion county and the state at large are looking forward to the coming elections in a spirit of justified concern.

Recorder

Substantial proof of this is revealed in the fact that already the major political parties are mustering their forces for the campaign; preparing to effect their respective state organizations in May.

There looms in the political horizon a bitter battle with a United States Senator as the bone of contention.

1-27-34

Republicans and Democrats are laying party plans now for the purpose of capturing the coveted prize.

The people can be depended upon to say just who their next Senator should be, and of what political faith.

Of course, this all important phase of Indiana's 1934 election will be duly attended to next November.

Indianapolis

In the meantime Republican factions are expected to come to grips over the question whether or not the leadership of former Senator James E. Watson in Hoosier G.O.P. politics should be consigned to the persona non grata category.

Young Republicans are assertedly on record as having condemned alleged political tactics of George (Boss) Coffin and repudiated Walter Pritchard for the mayoralty nomination.

In the Democratic party there are unmistakable signs that Governor Paul V. McNutt hold on the State Democratic Committee will receive not a few shocking jolts.

It is definitely known that much of the Governor's trouble is being formentedly by anti-McNutt forces, a circumstance for which the state chief is allegedly personally and directly responsible.

And as if to make matters worse, the governor's home district is threatening seriously to drift away from the folds of its native son into that of another.

It is all the usual beginning of a campaign of mud slinging, fault-finding peculiar to all professional politicians preliminary to the final test and the survival of the fittest.

Citizens will study well the drift of developments in connection with the coming Democratic-Republican scrimmage; prepare to see to it the best aspirants win.

Leading Candidates for Major Offices Dicker With Negro Leaders for Negro Votes

(By Staff Correspondent

Who are the big Negro political leaders in the state of Indiana this year, and who will they lead?

Recorder

Is the Negro still republican in the main or has he joined the rank and file of democratic cohorts headed by Franklin Roosevelt and Paul McNutt?

2-3-34

Answers to these questions are anxiously awaited by a few of the Negro voters, many of the various candidates for office, and practically all of that group known as Negro leaders.

Indianapolis Indiana

First call for candidates has evoked no warm waves of party support from Mr. Colored Voter. He is giving every indication of a man content to bide his time. Which way he will be blown by the winds of the gathering political storm, is too tough a "nut" for most dopsters to crack. Many Negro leaders admit they entertian considerable misgivings as to what colored voters will do in the coming struggle Wiseacres are engrossed in a study of the last election returns, in a hope that there they will find the correct answer.

Many names have been mentioned as influential leaders among Negroes, politically. Foremost are those of F. B Ransom, manager of the Mme. C. J. Walker company; Henry Fleming, who was in charge of the Negro division of the democratic party in Indiana during the 1932 presidential campaign; Rev. Robert E. Skelton, probate officer of the Marion criminal court; Welton J. Rice, Crawfordsville, investigator for the State Industrial department, Henry J. Richardson, and Dr. R. L. Stanton, state representatives and Wilbur J. Hardaway, Gary.

On the republican side are, Dr. Sumner A. Furniss, Frank Beckwith, Cornelius Richardson, Wayne county prosecutor, R. B. Bailey, former assistant attorney general of Indiana, Rudolph O'Hara, Evansville attorney.

Senatorial candidates have already sent out "feelers" to determine who is who in the Negro political blue book. Readers will be told next week in another article what the candidates will find out.

Indiana Legislator Seeks Re-election

Defender 4-7-34 Chicago, Ill.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.; April 6. — Henry J. Richardson Jr., prominent attorney here, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination and re-election as state representative from Marion county. Richardson is seeking his second nomination to this office, having been elected to the place in 1932 and now completing the last year of his present term.

Attorney Richardson achieved national prominence in 1933 by passing the Richardson labor bill in the Indiana legislature, which was a bill to prohibit the discrimination on public jobs, financed from city, county or state funds. The discrimination measure was said to be the first law of its kind ever passed in America to protect the Race laborer.

The legislator said: "I am seeking the Democratic nomination for re-election on my past record in the house. If nominated and re-elected, I propose to support all measures that will be of benefit to the working man."

Attorney Richardson is assistant national attorney for the Elks, state officer of the N. A. A. C. P., member of the National Bar association, member of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity and the joint interracial committee and is sponsor and member of many Democratic clubs throughout the county.

He is also vice president of the Colored Voters League of America, with offices in Washington, D. C., and director of Civil Liberties league. He has the respect of the bar, the judicial bench and all the citizens of Marion county.

H. J. RICHARDSON JR.

E. L. JOHNSON IS CANDIDATE FOR CITY COUNCIL

Recorder 4-7-34

E. L. Johnson, for many years a resident of this city and one of the leading members of its bar, has announced his candidacy for the nomination at the Democratic primaries May 8 as city councilman from the sixth district.

Indianapolis Indiana

In announcing his candidacy, Mr Johnson says he endorses the administration of Mayor Sullivan and promises "if nominated and elected I will discharge the duties of that important office to the best interest of all of the people of the city."

Mr. Johnson was born at Tuskegee, Alabama, the town of the school brought into existence by Booker T. Washington. He was graduated from the Tuskegee Institute and Howard university. For several years he practiced law in Washington, D. C., moving to Indianapolis in 1917 at which time he was admitted to the bar here.

He is a member of the Odd Fellows and Elks lodges; the Y. M. C. A., and the Second Baptist church. He is married and has two children.

Mr. Johnson maintains a suite of offices at 152½ East Court street and employs a stenographer and clerk.

A tribute recently paid to the councilmanic candidate says "Among the lawyers of this city measuring up well with the requirements is E. L. Johnson. He is a most fitting type of man for entering the courts in behalf of clients. He commands respect at all times and is considered as possessing notable ability as a lawyer. He is a courageous and fearless advocate of right and fair play. He is an exemplary father and husband. He has ever maintained and evinced an absorbing interest in the woof and welfare of his race and the city generally.

"Those who know him have learned to respect and rely upon his wisdom and judgment.

"In these days when so much of hope, fortitude, and unshakeable faith in the wisdom of our institutions are needed, it would be an act of supreme wisdom for the citizens of Indianapolis to elect Mr. Johnson to the city council. His fine personality and sterling, rugged character will have the balancing influence needed. His services are indispensable to the city at this time.

R. L. BAILEY IS CANDIDATE FOR CITY COUNCIL

Recorder 4-14-34

Indianapolis Indiana

Robert L. Bailey, former Assistant Attorney General of Indiana, announced this week that he is candidate for city councilman on the Republican ticket.

According to Mr. Bailey, he believes that the affairs of the city should be economically and efficiently managed, that its public institutions should be so fairly operated that all citizens will be equitably treated, and that the opportunities for training and service should be equally open to all.

Mr. Bailey is a member of the National Memorial Commission created by congress for the purpose of erecting a National Memorial building in Washington in honor of colored soldiers and sailors.

He is a director and chairman of the Legal Redress Committee for the National N.A.A.C.P., and a mem er of local, state and national associations. On numerous occasions he has served as Special Judge of the Marion Circuit Court.

Mr. Bailey was a recent delegate to the Indiana State Constitution convention.

He is a member and former trustee of Bethel A.M.E. church.

He is married and has two children.

J. ED. BURK OFFERS NEGROES PLACE ON BOARD

A board of counsel composed of nine community and business leaders will be organized in the event that J. Ed. Burk, independent Republican, is the next mayor of Indianapolis. In his campaign pledges he states that a Negro will have a prominent part on the counsel. This Negro will represent the entire Negro population of the city.

In his 45 years of residence in Indianapolis Mr. Burk declares that he has always been very fair to the Negro. As a member of the Indianapolis Federation of Community Civic Clubs he states that it is a matter of record that he has always opposed all forms of segregation.

According to Mr. Burk there should be Negro physicians and nurses at the City hospital for the purpose of administering to colored patients. If nominated and elected he swears that he will do all that is within his power to accomplish his purpose.

DR. "TED" CABLE SEEKS SEAT IN CITY COUNCIL

Friends of Dr. Theodore Cable, candidate from the sixth district for the city Council, declare that he is dedicating his energies to bring about a fuller appreciation of the value of child welfare and hygiene, and to the improvement of the salary basis of persons in public safety, law enforcement and fire protection service.

Dr. Cable has lived in Indianapolis for 40 years. He attended the local schools and later graduated from Harvard university, where he won national fame in track and field athletics.

Professionally, Dr. Cable is a dentist. In 1919 he graduated from the school of dentistry at the University of Indiana. Prior to his work at the university he taught three years in the public schools here.

His non-professional interests include sports, music, child welfare and aviation. He is an active member of the Y.M.C.A. and Bethel A. M. E. church.

Announces Candidacy as Republican

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 13.—Robert L. Bailey, lawyer, with offices at 46 N. Pennsylvania St. for the last 20 years, and residing at 1802 Boulevard Pl., has filed his declaration for city councilman on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Bailey is former assistant attorney general of the state of Indiana, was elected delegate to the recent constitutional convention and is a member of the national memorial commission, created by act of congress for the purpose of supervising of plans for the erection of a national memorial building in Washington, D. C.

He has been active in civic and interracial affairs for many years. At present Attorney Bailey is a member of the interracial committee of the Council of Social Agencies and a member of the interracial committee of the Church federation. He is a director and chairman of the legal redress committee for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He is a former trustee of Bethel A. M. E. church and a member thereof.

He is a college graduate and a graduate of the Indiana Law school, having won the senior law school prize at the time of his graduation. He is a member of the Indianapolis Bar association, the Indiana State Bar association and the National Bar association. He has served on numerous occasions as special judge of the Marion circuit court. He served as associate member of legal advisory board No. 5, World's war. He is married and has two children.

Mr. Bailey believes that the affairs of the city of Indianapolis should be economically and efficiently managed, that its public institutions should be so operated and administered that all citizens of the city will be fairly and equitably treated, ministered unto and served, and that the opportunities for training and service should be equally open to all.

—Chas. F. Bretzman Photo.

ATTY. ROBERT L. BAILEY

17 NEGROES FILE FOR INDIANAPOLIS OFFICES

Both Republicans and Democrats of Color Seek Choice Plums

Indianapolis, April (ANP) — Among the record breaking number of candidates who swept across the deadline Monday Saturday to open battle for political office in this county, were seventeen Negroes who are thought to have smashed precedent in such a large number of colored aspirants. Democrats for the seat in the city council are Dr. Theodore Cable, Elijah L. Johnson, attorney, and Arthur Swanagan; Republicans: Shirley H. Winfrey, Mack Bradley, Robert L. Bailey Walter Dorsey, Fred L. Keiling and Frank R. Beckwith. Other officers aspired to list county commissioner, state assembly, justice of the peace and constable.

Means Making Good Race for Council Seat

Andrew Means, a Republican Candidate for Councilman of the 5th District subject to the Republican Primaries May 8th, is a man worthy of your support.

Mr. Means received his education at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama. He served as Non-Commissioned officer during the World War. Upon releasement from the Army, Mr Means and his wife came to Gary where he established himself as a contractor of note. He [illegible] of Gary for the past 14 years and a taxpayer for over 10 years.

During Mr. Means residence in Gary he has proven himself a loyal American citizen by being a taxpayer and by manifesting a decided interest in Church political, community and the civic affairs of the citizens.

Through the strenous and persistent efforts of Mr. Means several hundred Negroes were employed by the C. W. A. as skilled and unskilled laborers. He again took the initiative for the Negro through the organization of the Citizen's Home Association of which he is President. Through Mr. Mean's efficient leadership and guidance a large number of Negro Home Owners received Government loans to cover delinquent paymnts on their property. The Citizen's Home Association with Mr. Means as President obtained a position for a Negro as Government Appraiser of property in Lake County.

Mr. Means came to the front again when he headed the committee in a fight against the segregation of the C.W.A. workers.

This same committee also succeeded in obtaining a spacious sixroom addition with a modern basement to the Lake County Children's Home which will probably meet the needs of the Community. The Commissioners, on the other hand, had offered and planned a inadequate small 4 room addition without a basement which could not have met the immediate needs of the community.

A man with such fetes of accomplishments as these deserve your support.

Go to the polls on Tuesday May 8th, and vote for number 205, Andrew Means, Republican Candidate for Councilman from the 5th district; a man fearless, efficient, energetic and capable.

Mr. Means is a World War veteran and a member of Calumet post No. 99 of this city.

3 Win Nominations in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. — Three colored candidates were successful in the joint county and city primary election held here last Tuesday.

Democrats nominated Henry J. Richardson, Jr., now a member of the state legislature, to run for re-election to that office, and Dr. Theodore Cable for city councilman. Robert L. Brokenburr won the Republican nomination for state representative for the second time.

Mr. Richardson is author of Indiana's anti-discrimination labor law which prohibits discrimination by contractors employed on public-financed projects of workers, on account of color or creed.

Graves Re-elected Justice Over Two White Opponents

MICHIGAN CITY, Nicholas E. Graves (D) candidate for Justice of the Peace was re-elected over his two white opponents. After the death of Allen J. Snock, who held the office for Twenty years, Graves received the appointment. He was born in Texarkana, Texas and graduated from the public schools in Texarkana. He did college work at Wiley and Prairie View State College.

He was the first and only Negro admitted to the LaPorte County Bar Association and is also a member of the Michigan City Bar and State Bar Association.

Indiana

Political – 1934

Elections.

RICHARDSON, CABLE, BROKENBURR WIN PRIMARY FIGHTS

Recorder 5-12-34

Democrats of Marion county and Indianapolis gave substantial endorsement to two colored candidates at the county and city primary elections held jointly Tuesday as final returns showed Henry J. Richardson and Dr. Theodore Cable had received their party's nominations from State Representative and member of the city council respectively.

While actual figures are still to be received present returns reveal that both men were among the leaders in their respective divisions.

On the face of returns received from tabulators of the Republican ballots, republicans have failed to nominate a single Colored candidate, for any office though nine were making the race. As the slowly mounting returns trickled through the Colored sections reports that no Colored candidate would be nominated by the republicans famed disappointment of many old-line, "Abraham Lincoln", republicans to the white heat of resentment and fury. Others of less ancient conversion to Republican principles were none the less out spoken in criticism of their party's action. Charges of a Republican Double cross were frequently heard.

Recent failure of the Republicans to nominate Frank Beckwith was the focal point for a large share of the criticism. The vicious system of "cutting and knifing", was seen as the principal reason. Beckwith had been led to believe that he would be given the endorsement of the Denny faction at the time he announced his candidacy for City councilman from the Third district. Less than a week before primary election that endorsement was secured for another Colored candidate by one of the Colored Republican leaders. Friends of Beckwith then sought to secure the endorsement of the Pritchard group for their candidate. Little or no headway was made. The group representing another faction among the republicans and headed by Louis Markun, secured the consent of Beckwith to slate him. This they did in the Colored precincts, it completely disappearing when the white sections were reached.

The Effect Of Slates

Collection of slates and recommendations of different organizations to voters made by representatives of the Indianapolis Recorder support the claims that what happened to Beckwith happened with a more or less degree to the other candidates. All sections of the city were in the territory covered by the Recorder's representative; statements here therefore can be predicated upon a fair cross section of the city's voting population.

Robert L. Brokenburr, for the third time a candidate on the Republican ticket for State representative suffered several "cuts", at the hands of political organizations. In the main however, the more important groups, represented by the Markun and Denny, republicans, were forced to carry him to the city limits. W. S. Henry, another legislative candidate, carried the regular Republican organization's endorsement into every precinct but for some unexplained reason, lost the power to attract the support of voters in white precincts though that support was given freely to other candidates who had the or-

BULLETIN

Latest returns of Tuesday's primary election given out late Thursday afternoon indicate that Robert L. Brokenburr is fifth among the eleven republican candidates to be nominated for the legislature.

Mr. Brokenburr is making a thrilling race, having forged steadily ahead from twentieth place in the early returns to fifth with the tabulation of returns from one half of the 331 precincts of Marion county. Indications are that his nomination is certain.

Candidates Make Fine Showing

No less a victim of the "Knife" was Shirley Winfrey, Republican candidate for City councilman from the First district. Though carried on consistently strong in the certain spots, others were substituted in his stead, by his endorsers, the Republican union and the Markun group.

Final returns will show it is believed, that all of the Colored candidates showed remarkable strength considering the handicaps of wholesale cutting by the Republican party bosses, and the disadvantage of "too many thumbs in the pit". Concentration of the voting strength of the Colored districts upon fewer Colored candidates was the policy in general favor among the average Colored voter.

Other Republican candidates who made creditable showings were S. S. Reed, for legislature; R. L. Bailey; Mack Bradley, Walter Dorsey, and Carry Jacobs for city council; Albert Pickle, for constable, Center township.

Democrats Also Made Victims

Blows from the keen edges of an unerring political knife fell with equal disaster on innocent Colored Democratic candidates. Richardson was separated from the party endorsement in wards 9 and 13. Arthur Swanagan and E. L. Johnson candidates for city council were pushed into some Colored and all white precincts "on their own".

Jefferson Clinton, running for State representative was given the blessings of a state endorsement only in spots. Judson Fox, for constable and Walter Gary for commissioner were victims of treatment equally as cold.

NOMINATED AT PRIMARY

Upper left, Henry J. Richardson, Jr., one of the leaders of the eleven nominated by democrats as state representatives. Mr. Richardson is now a member of that body. Upper right, Dr. Theodore Cable, dentist and former Harvard athlete, nominated by a popular city vote for democratic city councilman from the sixth district. Lower left, Robert L. Brokenburr, for the second time nominated by republicans as Marion county representative to the state legislature.

CANDIDATES TO BE QUIZZED ON FUTURE POLICY

Recorder

Organizations Formerly Indifferent Now Demand Thorough Investigation

9-29-34

SEEK REPRESENTATION

Failure To Nominate Colored Candidate Spurs Demand for Negro Member

Indianapolis

Persons who aspire for honors inherent in election as members of the board of school commissioners of Indianapolis should at least be profficient in the three "r's" and if colored voters have their way they will be called upon to figure out an alleged difference in salaries for white and colored teachers of the city high schools.

Private citizens, civic groups and parent-teacher associations, for many years indifferent to charges that Attucks high school teachers were suffering from salary differentials, are becoming articulate in the matter of seeking an investigation. Whatever inequalities in salaries may now exist, candidates for office will be asked to explain what they will do in the matter in the event they are elected to office.

9-29-34

The Monday Luncheon club, militant organization of prominent business and professional men under the leadership of Dr. Benjamin A. Osborne, instituted a casual investigation of the subject last year in connection with a broader inquiry into the adequacy of commercial and technical subjects being taught at the high school. The report of its investigation committee included the statement of a belief on the part of the members that teachers at Attucks were not paid on the same basis as teachers in white high schools, nor were those applicants with highest ratings always employed, for reasons that were said to have their basis in a policy of strictest economy.

Many persons are reported to have expressed keen disappointment over failure of the Citizens School committee to nominate a colored candidate. Many leaders assert that by representatio non the board through one of their own members can the group hope to secure their full measure of the advantages that should be theirs in the dual system under which the Indianapolis schools are now operated. The report is current that Negroes may enter and support their own candidate, if agreement can be reached with a common organized labor.

Many Thousands Show Scant Interest In Fall Elections

Recorder

(By Staff Correspondent)

Many thousands of Indiana's colored citizens will not exercise their constitutional right to vote in the elections this fall, unless more substantial bait is offered by both democrats and republicans, a careful, statewide investigation made by The Recorder has disclosed.

9-29-34

Indications are plain that unless something is done to meet the serious situation, voting activity among the state's colored population will be visible only among the job holders and job seekers, recent in those sections where colored candidates are entered in local political contests.

Indianapolis

This conclusion is endorsed, privately for the most part by the generality of colored leaders, whether of city, county or state prominence.

Gain Independence

For the first time since enfranchisement of the group, competent political observers profess to see in recent voting records, the achievement of an independent status by a majority of colored voters. In the elections of 1932, they assert, though less than ten colored precincts in the state returned democratic majorities, only sixty per cent of the total colored vote casted was recorded in republican columns.

These figures are said to be proof of an unprecedented breaking-away for time honored moorings.

The Negro Resolution

Few political candidates, party chieftans or stragitests appear to have noticed the quiet revolution that the masses have been "paying Negro people. Few seem to realize that the hasses have been "paying for their learing" in the school of hard, cold bitter experience, and are no longer the political innocents of yesteryear.

The Negro voter today asks for bread and yet he is being offered almost everything else in exchange for his vote.

Republican candidates headed by Senator Arthur Robinson very expediently and grandiloquently offer the constitution. Democratic candidates imbibing the verve and enthusiasm of Sherman Minton, candidate for the U. S. Senate against Senator Robinson who is seeking reelection, graciously and pridefully offer the New Deal and the record of a state administration that has given the Negro his largest share of political jobs.

If the stream of optomistic reports that are deluging the state have their origins in honest belief, the rudest of disillusions await some hopefuls when election returns begin to pour in. If anyone cares to look, he may easily see that colored citizens are for the moment at least, detached, strongly, independent and distinctly apathetic.

Leaders of both parties may find it necessary to discover election day what is ailing this block of the states voters, who's wrong and why the old appeals are falling on deaf ears.

"The Negro is now with us", shouted the democratic leaders as they perused returns of the landslide that swept Roosevelt and McNutt and Van Nuys into office. It was generally supposed that the pendulum of the Negro time clock had swung from extreme republicanism to extreme democracy. Even recently at a big campaign rally held in this city, an outstanding leader declared, "The Negro of Indiana has made up his mind to stay in the democratic party until republicans are completely and forever driven out of office."

The Recorder's survey indicates, however, that the prevailing attitude of the average voter is otherwise. A check of almost all meetings held throughout the state in colored districts or to which he was invited generally has failed to show the attendance of many others except job holders and job seekers. And this in spite of the fact that the party now in power has alloted their colored followers a larger share of patronage, and has nominated for office more members of his group than ever before has been the case, regardless of the party in power.

On the republican side of the fence there is equally little indication that the Indiana species of colored voters will return en masse to the welcoming arms of the party of Hoover and James Watson, without further ado. Republican meetings also have failed to attract large numbers of genuinely civic minded colored citizens of voting age.

They may readily discover that the great purifying processes of the depression has sharpened the lens through which the Negro must see the world, and as a consequence a deepening and trenchant conviction is coloring his thoughts. The belief is seeping down into the minds of the masses that regardless of the party in power at the state house or in the nations capitol, arbitrary limits have been placed on the economic and political advancement of the Negro.

In defense of party leaders it is pointed out that their treatment of colored citizens is only a reflection of public opinion; if leaders are seemingly willing to place limits on the opportunities of their colored brothers, they do so because the public wills it so.

NEGROES BACK NON-PARTISAN SCHOOL TICKET

Recorder

In view of the bald and indesputable facts that colored teachers are being paid lower salaries than white tetachers and that conditions in colored schools are miserably below the standard maintained in other schools, THE INDIANAPOLIS RECORDER, with full knowledge of the facts and believing the candidates for school commissioner sponsored bound to continue the unfair policies of the present and past school boards, urge every colored voter in the city to go to the polls November 6, and vote for the Non-Partisan School ticket, in indignant protest to and as a means of remedying these conditions.

9-29-34

The following, members of the Non-Partisan group, pledged to give Negroes a fair and square deal as soon as possible after election, are:

69—Arthur E. Bradshaw
72—Joel D. Eastman, Sr.
71—Wilmington K. Cooper
79—Josephine M. Frey
80—A. Ross Manly

Whole City Aroused

Thousands of colored citizens awakened to the evils of crass discrimination that have for long been practiced against their children and their teachers by the Indianapolis board of School Commissioners are falling in line for the most memorable march to the ballot boxes ever witnessed among Marion county since the days of the K.K.K.

What was only a tempest in a teapot became open revolution Mon. with the announcement by Rev. Judge I. Saunders that the Baptist Ministerial Alliance, composed of nearly a hundred pastors of leading Baptist churches, will pit the might and strength of their forces against election of the candidates sponsored by the Citizens School Committee.

For the first time in many years, colored people of this city will present a united front against a system that has taken millions of dollars from them as taxes on the one hand, and forced them to accept low salaries for teachers and sub-standard school conditions on the other.

Openly opposed to continuation of the present set-up are practically all civic and political clubs, social clubs, fraternal organizations, business and professional men and women, pastors of leading Methodist and other churches, colored candidates for office and politicians, nearly every colored school teacher of the city and practically every parent-teachers' association.

Recorder Leads Fight

This formidable array of organizations and individuals which represents every phase of Negro life, has been spurred to the point of indignant protest by The Indianapolis Recorder which has revealed in a series of articles, the amazing truth of the charges that, in spite of protestations to the contrary, the colored people of Indianapolis were the victims of rank discrimination, in that their teachers were receiving an average of $300 a year less pay than white teachers, and that facilities and curricula in colored schools were far below that maintained in white schools, and that it was costing colored parents thousands of dollars each year to help support the dual and separate school system in vogue here.

The Rev. Saunders, pastor of Shiloh Baptist church and president of the alliance, stated that the demand for fair treatment from the school board for colored children and teachers would be echoed from practically every Baptist pulpit next Sunday morning, the policies of the bankers of the Citizens candidates explained and the matter put squarely before the church-goers, who are also voters.

Leaders of civic, political and other organizations are organizing corps of volunteer workers to defeat election of the Citizens slate. Hundreds of parents and friends of school teachers are offering their service free in the fight for fair play for Negroes.

Urges Loyalty to Race

"Any Negro, who after reading the articles in The Recorder, hearing the sordid story from persons who know, and then noting the failure of the present school board to refure the charges, speaks or votes for the Citizens' slate, ought to pray high Heaven to gather him or her in the clouds of eternal darkness and deny them forever the association with decent men and women", said the redoubtable Rev. Mr. Saunders, after a thorough investigation of the facts.

Many who formerly held with Dr. S. A. Furniss, so-called colored school boss, that colored teachers were paid on the same basis as whites have announced their intention to withdraw their support of the Citizens slate.

Political —1934

Elections.

Kansas.

WICHITA, KANS.
MORNING EAGLE
OCT 28 1934

WON'T MAKE RACE

G. W. Griffin, Colored, No Longer Seeks Title of Congressman

G. W. Griffin, colored, who has conducted a campaign over the Fifth district as a "write in" candidate for the unexpired term of W. A. Ayres, congressman, announced yesterday his withdrawal from the race.

"Because Governor Landon, Attorney General Boynton and Secretary of State Ryan have denied the people of this district the right to vote for this unexpired term by not allowing space on the ballot," Griffin said, "I am forced to withdraw. I would appreciate it if those desiring to vote for me would send their addresses to 912 Santa Fe."

Political - 1934

Elections.

Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL

JUN 28 1934

THE OBSOLETE CAUCUS

The first attempt of the Democratic majority to assume control of this Legislature proved abortive when the State Administration took a hand. "Instead of reconvening the caucus, Administration Democrats conferred with Republican Representatives in an effort to work out a compromise on the budget bill," says The Associated Press. "Dissolution of the Democratic caucus followed a series of conferences at the Executive Mansion and Governor's office during the day."

The bipartisan coalition works more smoothly. The caucus had culled $115,000 out of appropriations before it was dissolved, quite the opposite of the way the Executive conferences and understanding with the Republicans operated. "After amendments revising about a score of budget items upward had been adopted," The Associated Press relates, Representative Ward of Paducah derisively offered one to increase the appropriation for a Negro school in his home city just to maintain the ratio between budget items and, to his astonishment it carried, although he had announced his intention to vote against it.

Even "watchdogs of the Treasury," foreboding a deficit, accepted increases in patronage provisions for the Governor's and other State offices and only groaned at the idea of a $12 per capita for teachers' salaries. But Republican keepers of the Administration's conscience were determined that it should not betray its faithful allies in the sales tax fight.

They worry about a deficit? They can redeem at par interest-bearing warrants bought by the holders at 85 cents on the dollar and issue new warrants whenever they run out of money.

Political - 1934
Elections.

Louisiana.

HUEY LONG PUZZLE TO EVERYBODY

Journal and Guide

Negroes Doubt That His Program Will Benefit Them

9-1-34

HOSTILE TO THE RACE

Morgan City Daily

Louisiana Folk Get Headache Trying To Solve Huey

By PIERRE VIGNON

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(ANP)—If the ebullient, belligerent Huey Long, U. S. senator from this state, may be said to have the white citizens guessing and divided sharply into factions which either oppose or support him with the utmost zeal, it may be written that, so far as the Negroes of the state are concerned, the Honorable Huey is a problem, puzzle and conundrum all rolled into one.

Senator Long's spectacular sorties in politics and statesmanship have left the state gasping. The shots which he has taken at the "big guys" with the money have undoubtedly proved popular among the poor and middle white classes. Huey is king among the "soakers" of the rich.

But whether the Negro, as among the poorest of the poor, has anything to expect from Huey if his program continues to be advanced is another question.

Long Is Suspected

There is reason to believe that many white politicians who lay claim to new conceptions of social and political justice never have Negroes in mind as the beneficiaries of their theories in practice. The same suspicion attaches to Mr. Long.

There is scarcely a positive act in Senator Long's career to indicate that he has ever thought about the Negro citizens of the state as a group which needed help. As a matter of fact, most of the evidence is to the contrary. He has been indifferent to lynching, to peonage and has been anything but liberal in according economic opportunities to the Negro.

His attitude has indicated that he did not think the Negro counted, that the group might be dealt with as a sort of afterthought, but was never to be brought into the main discussion

Black Eye Episode

Negroes were somewhat gleeful when it was bruited about that a Negro musician had given the senator a poke in the eye last year at Sand Points, Long Island. They thought it was a good thing for him and easily imagined that the senator had in some way insulted the Negro musician. They regard him as contemptuous of the Negro.

Something of this attitude which is supposed to attach to Long and his supporters was disclosed in a Westbrook Pegler dispatch last week. Mr. Pegler was describing the debate on Long's bill to suppress lotteries in this city. One of Huey's men, Senator Dick Wingrave, whom Mr. Pegler describes as a "crap-shooting senator," opposes the bill. Mr. Pegler describes Wingrave's opposition as follows:

"The crap-shooting senator's loyalty to Der Kingfish wobbles at this point. He is up on his feet calling the bill a bad bill. He says you can't enforce it because everybody plays lottery. You can't get a jury to give a man three years for holding a lottery ticket. And. moreover, thousands of 'N—rs' hold lottery tickets and you can't be calling up a jury of white men to try every 'N—r' in town.

Journal

Crap-Shooting State Senator

"I don't care what law you've got," bellowed the senator, "I'm a crap shooter. I'm going to shoot crap in the cathedral when I get ready."

But despite all this, the Negro figures to win some advantages from some of the moves Huey and his gang are making even though they are indifferent to him. One of the measures espoused by the Long-Allen gang is the free poll tax constitutional amendment. If this amendment is made into law, Negroes expect to win the ballot in this state.

9-1-34

The New Orleans Broadcast recently said editorially:

"Thank the good Lord a better day is just ahead. It's here, and when it reaches us we must make use of it and never allow it to be taken from us, nor our children's children. The latest pronouncement, issued by Senator Huey P. Long and Gov. O. K. Allen, urging full support by the legislature on the poll tax question has much in it that is of importance to our race group, and we herewith produce it in full. We beg of you to read every word, and think it through and through.

Poll Tax Measure

"It could have been written for our case exactly, and if manhood counts for anything at all in us, we will, with faith in God and confidence and trust in one another, work like Trojans to have a hand in trying to help construct and settle some of these things vital to our very existence To do less is

Political-1934

Maryland

Elections-

Negro Announces In Maryland Race

Constitution 8-11-34

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10.—(AP)—For the first time in Maryland history, a negro has announced his candidacy for the legislature on the democratic ticket. Atlanta, Ga.

Josiah F. Henry Jr., negro attorney, said today he would seek the democratic nomination to the house of delegates from the fourth Baltimore district.

Through his campaign manager, Henry M. Daniels, another negro attorney, he has planned a series of speeches throughout the fourth district, where a large part of Baltimore's negro population lives.

He plans also to have Judge Edward Henry, negro jurist of Philadelphia, appear on his behalf in Baltimore August 24.

NEGRO SEEKS ELECTION ON MARYLAND TICKET

Chronicle

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—(AP)—For the first time in the history of Maryland, a negro is seeking election to a state office on a democratic ticket.

Joshua F. Henry Jr., Baltimore negro, shattered a Maryland precedent by announcing today as a candidate for nomination to the statehouse of delegates.

In his legislative district Henry has two negro republican opponents for the house of delegates.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Times
August 27, 1934

MARYLAND NEGRO RUNS ON DEMOCRATIC TICKET

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—(AP)—For the first time in the history of Maryland, a negro is seeking election to a state office on a Democratic ticket.

Joshua F. Henry Jr., Baltimore negro, shattered a Maryland precedent by announcing today as a candidate for nomination to the state house of delegates.

NEGRO SEEKS ELECTION ON MARYLAND TICKET

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—(AP)—For the first time in the history of Maryland, a negro is seeking election to a state office on a democratic ticket.

Joshua F. Henry Jr., Baltimore negro, shattered a Maryland precedent by announcing today as a candidate for nomination to the statehouse of delegates.

In his legislative district Henry has two negro republican opponents for the house of delegates.

McGUINN, BRISCOE AND CALLIS WIN BERTHS ON G.O.P. LEGISLATIVE TICKET

Emerson Wins in 14th Ward, Woodland Defeats Watty and Badger. Johnson Retains 18th Ward Post and Allen Holds on.

HENRY MAKES STRONG FIGHT ON INDEPENDENT DEMOCRATIC BALLOT

Hopes of Baltimoreans for greater recognition in the political affairs of the city and state reached a new high early Thursday morning as final tabulations of the vote in the Wednesday primaries were made.

Heaviest balloting was in Republican ranks in which Arthur Briscoe, attorney, and Ulysses Callis, candidates for the House of Delegates from the Fourth Legislative District, polled 3,943 and 3,674 votes respectively, to secure nomination.

Republican

The Briscoe-Callis candidacies ran one-two in the fifteenth, seventeenth, and fourteenth wards, running one-three in the thirteenth ward, in which Albert W. Oler, white, ran second, polling six votes less than Mr. Briscoe.

Robert P. McGuinn, attorney, running as the Republican organization candidate for the House of Delegates from the sixth district, was unopposed, and therefore did not figure in the primary contest. His fate will be decided in the general election on November 6.

Breaking the ice as a Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates and waging a fight without the backing of the state organization, Josiah F. Henry, Jr., attorney, made what seasoned political observers admit as a creditable showing in a field of twenty-two candidates.

Henry Surprises Veterans

Mr. Henry, while fourteenth, surprised many veteran politicians by polling a total of 1,824 votes. He ran third among the aspirants in the seventeenth ward and was second in the fourteenth. In his own precinct—the sixth of the fourteenth ward—Mr. Henry polled thirty-six votes, nearly double that of any of his opponents.

In the ninth precinct of the same ward he nearly trebled the vote of any of his nearest rivals with nineteen votes, and polled twenty-three in the tenth precinct, twice as many as any of the white candidates.

Peculiarly enough, Mr. Henry's highest vote was in the thirty-second precinct of the fifteenth ward, a precinct of predominant white voting strength, in which he polled fifty-one votes to earn second place, a white opponent receiving the highest vote of fifty-nine. The polls in this precinct were located at 1805 Thomas Avenue. Mr. Henry's total vote was nearly three times as great as that received by the low man among the twenty-two candidates.

Had the full registration of colored voters lined up behind him, it is very probable that Mr. Henry, running for the first time, would have been able to clinch the nomination, despite the hostility of the state and local Democratic machinery to his candidacy.

Mrs. Bond Wins

Mrs. Elvira Bond, wife of Roy S. Bond, attorney, exceeded by far the hopes of her staunchest backers by winning over two white opponents by an overwhelming majority the nomination for Republican committeewoman-at-large, by rolling up the impressive total of 2,408 of a possible 4,412 votes in the fourth district.

Mrs. Bond carried twenty-one of the thirty-seven precincts in the thirteenth ward, tied in two, and in only one precinct—the seventeenth—was she unvoted for, to poll 705 votes. She carried by large majorities seventeen of nineteen precincts and tied in one in the fourteenth ward, polling 849 votes.

A total of 39 0votes were cast for Mrs. Bond in the fifteenth ward, in which she carried sixteen of twenty-nine precincts and tied in three. In the seventeenth ward she added more strength by carrying ten of twelve precincts, rolling up 464 votes.

City Committee

The GOP ward candidates for the city committee also fared well, Dr. George S. Allen, incumbent. winning in the fifth ward. Walter S. Emerson, Nice candidate in the fourteenth ward, defeated Fearless Williams; Charles F. Woodland won over George Watty in the seventeenth, and David J. Johnson was declared victor over Samuel Turner in the eighteenth.

Smith Faction Routed

Smith candidates were completely snowed under in the fourth district by members of the Nice cmap.

Delegates elected to the state convention were: William H. Brown, seventeenth ward; W. Emmett Coleman, fourteenth ward; Garfield Duffin, fifteenth ward; Arthur E. Hill, seventeenth ward; and Miss Martha Thompson, fourteenth ward.

The persons defeated were John L. Berry, fourteenth ward; J. Howard Fayne, fourteenth ward; Mrs. Cora Gail, fourteenth ward; Dr. Howard E. Young, seventeenth ward; and the Rev. John Augustus, fifteenth ward.

Marion S. Pollet, candidate on the Smith ticket for district committeeman in the fourth district, was defeated by John Goldsborough.

BRECKENRIDGE, TEX.
AMERICAN

SEP 2 1934

In Maryland a Negro Democrat Throws Hat In Ring

Baltimore is the proud city of "Maryland, My Maryland." For the first time in history of the commonwealth a negro is seeking election to state office on a democratic ticket. Place Josnua F. Henry, Jr., in the picture. He shattered a Maryland precedent by announcing as a candidate for nomination in the leading negro district of Baltimore. There are thousands of negroes in Maryland who vote the democratic ticket. They could not do it in Texas where they are barred from casting primary ballots by order of leaders of the democratic party and the lawmakers of the commonwealth.

Three Negroes On Maryland Ticket Result Primaries

BALTIMORE, Md. — Three Negroes were successful in the Republican primary for nomination of candidates to the Maryland House of Delegates last Wednesday. Arthur Briscoe, a lawyer, and Ulysses Callis, running for the House from the fourth legislative district, received 3,943 and 3,674 votes respectively and thereby secured the nomination. Attorney Robert P. McGuinn, G.O.P. candidate for the House of Delegates from the sixth district, was not opposed and was not in the primary election.

Attorney Josiah F. Henry, Jr., in a field of twenty-two candidates for the Democratic nomination to the House of Delegates, but without the support of the regular Democratic machine ,surprised political circles by the showing he made, obtaining a total of 1,824 votes and running third among the candidates in the seventeenth ward and second in the fourteenth.

In the sixth precinct of the fourteenth ward, his home precinct ,the lawyer was given 36 votes, almost double that of any of his rivals.

He polled almost three times as many votes as his opponents in the ninth precinct of the fourteenth ward and got 23 in the tenth precinc. His highes vote was in the thirtysecond precinct of the fifteenth ward, a precinct in which the white people greatly outnumber the colored. He received 51 votes and came in second, eight votes under a white opponent. Attorney Henry was in his first political race in this campaign.

Attorney McGuinn will fight to retain his legislative seat in the general election on November 6.

Why Ritchie Was Defeated

Harry W. Nice, Republican, was elected governor of Maryland by some 5,543 votes over Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat.

Had 2,772 of those votes been cast for Mr. Ritchie instead of Mr. Nice, they would have given Mr. Ritchie a fifth term in the state house at Annapolis.

Strange, isn't it, that Governor Ritchie, who had been elected to this same office in previous years by majorities of forty to sixty thousand should, in thi sfinal plunge, bite the dust by a mere 2,772 votes?

Yet it isn't strange to experienced politicians and for that reason the AFRO, now that the election is over, takes a minute to tell why the 2,772 votes were missing.

Here they are: In fifteen years the Democratic party, under Governor Ritchie's leadership, has steadily refused:

1. To appoint a single colored Democrat to a state political office.
2. To name colored policemen for Baltimore.
3. To repeal the jim crow car law.
4. To equalize the salaries of county school teachers.
5. To appoint colored staffs for Crownsville State Hospital for the Insane, or Henryton T. B. Sanitarium.
6. To aid Morgan College adequately or establish a state university.
7. To establish a state school for delinquent boys instead of the privately owned House of Reformation at Cheltenham.

While Governor Ritchie vacationed in Europe, Mr. Nice visited every hole and cranny in the state making friends and soliciting support.

While the Democratic state platform contains no single word of promise or encouragement to the colored voters, the Republican platform, at Mr. Nice's directions, pledges definite reforms in several of the items mentioned above.

The Democratic party with a two-to-one registration over the Republicans, has proceeded for fifteen years under the assumption that it could win without its 15,000 registered colored voters in the state. So it can in many elections. But the time came Tuesday when it needed 2,772 votes and it could not put its hands on them.

That is a lesson for the Democratic party which won every important post on the state ticket except the governorship.

That is a lesson for Herbert O'Conor, who is flying high and wide with a majority of 100,000 in his race for the post of attorney-general of Maryland.

It's a lesson for Mayor Jackson of Baltimore, who faces a probable primary next May.

Not a single one of the seven reforms mentioned above would have menaced the credit of the state, or alienated white supporters of the party. To the contrary they constitute progressive steps which have been taken in many states further South than Maryland.

The election is over. To use another expression, the water is under the bridge. However, we repeat here, the Democratic party can win elections without the colored Democrats, but there are occasions when 2,772 what is today perfectly evident to everybody, namely, that votes are needed.

Eastern Shore Lynchers Didn't Defeat Ritchie

Harry Nice, G.O.P. Governor-Elect, Tells How He Won Election.

HE WAS A BETTER NEW DEALER THAN RITCHIE

Maryland Is Assured of Old Age Pensions.

By DAVIS LEE
(Special AFRO Correspondent)

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Harry W Nice, Maryland's governor-elect stated upon his arrival here last night that the Eastern Shore has many colored voters, and he "steered clear" of mentioning the lynchings there in his campaign speeches because the colored citizens "beheld the governor as their protector."

Mr. Nice and a party of friends were en route to Florida via the steamship Berkshire and stopped off here for five hours. The governor-elect was in a jovial mood and answered questions freely when seized by a group of newspapermen. The AFRO correspondent met the ship upon its arrival here.

How He Popped It

"Governor, tell us," he was asked "how you popped it to Ritchie like you did?"

"Well, son," he replied, "there were several reasons why I beat him."

"Is it true that you whooped it up for the New Deal and told the voters that you could get more from Washington than Ritchie did?"

"That's not exactly right. I told them that I could at least get as much and possibly more from Washington than Governor Ritchie had obtained. I told the people I was greatly in sympathy with the humanitarian aspects of the New Deal, but at the same time I did not approve everything that had been done or has been proposed. I am going to see the President soon."

Didn't Profit by Lynching

"What effect did the Eastern Shore incident have on the election; is it true that Ritchie lost the Eastern Shore because he sicked the military on them?"

"Although there was much talk about this incident I did not profit by it, and I tried to steer clear of it. The Eastern Shore, you will recall, has many colored citizens, and, in fact, their vote predominates there. The resentment of the white voters against the calling out of the militia was offset by the gratitude of the colored citizens who behold the governor as their protector."

Sho' Vote Less

Mr. Nice stated further that the Republican vote on the Eastern Shore was "considerably less than we had anticipated."

He blamed the bank crashes in Western Maryland and Governor Ritchie's fifth term aspirations for his defeat.

When asked what his attitude was toward the present agitation for unemployment insurance and old-age pensions, the governor-elect replied that this was taken care of in two planks of his platform; that notwithstanding the fact that the state legislature is predominantly Democratic "we in Maryland will have the slightest trouble in putting these principles into law."

Mr. Nice was under heavy guard.

Political-1934
Elections.

Massachusetts.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY
Definitely in race for Governor.—Colored voters will greatly assist his candidacy. — Helped their cause when Mayor.

CURLEY FOR GOV.

FORMER MAYOR, JAMES M. CURLEY, ISSUES FOLLOWING LETTER.

June 5, 1934.

Dear Friend:

I am grateful to you for tender of support of my candidacy for the office of Governor and, in view of the importance of the contest from the standpoint of sustaining the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the success of the Democracy in the coming election in Massachusetts is most essential.

The humane and constructive efforts, inaugurated nationally under our great President for the restoration of industrial prosperity and for the adoption of a social welfare program for the protection of women and children, have a most potential appeal to every forward-looking citizen. As Governor of the Commonwealth it shall be my purpose to work whole-heartedly, as I have done from the beginning, for the success of the program that has been drafted for the betterment of the condition of the citizenship of the nation and it is pleasing to know that it is your purpose to assist in this great work.

The forces that have so long controlled the law-making bodies of the land and the finances of the nation will in this contest be found arrayed solidly against friends and supporters of the President. Consequently it will be necessary that every individual interested in himself, his fellow man and our common country, do his utmost for the salvation of America and its people.

I am under the circumstances taking the liberty to request that you secure the pledges of fifty friends in support of my candidacy and mail the list to me at the above address. In the event that you do your part, I am confident that I shall win.

Sincerely,
(Signed), James M. Curley.

BOSTON, MASS.
TRANSCRIPT

AUG 30 1934

Cole Says G. O. P. Fears His Candidacy

Expressing confidence in his victory over former Mayor James M. Curley for the Democratic nomination for governor, General Charles H. Cole declared today that the Republican fear his candidacy and do not want him nominated. "I can and will be elected governor," Cole told a group of his campaign workers at his headquarters, 92 State street.

"Not only are the voters supporting me," the candidate asserted, "but the Democrats of the State are convinced that my opponent would have no chance of defeating the Republican nominee in the November election."

Indorsements of the Cole candidacy now include that of the Quincy Democratic Club of Ward One. It also is announced that Dr. Silas F. Taylor, president of the Colored Democratic League, has been appointed chairman of the Colored Speakers' Bureau for Cole.

Headquarters of the Ward 12, Roxbury, Cole-for-Governor Committee will be opened tomorrow night at 113 Warren street under the joint chairmanship of Thomas Lynch, Mrs. William J. Desmond and Miss Gertrude Fennelly.

Cole rallies tonight will be at headquarters, Hancock street, Quincy, Knights of Columbus Hall, Roxbury Crossing, and Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, East Weymouth.

The Curley schedule of rallies calls for his appearance tonight at East Cambridge, Watertown, Winthrop, Revere, Chelsea, Somerville, East Weymouth, Cohasset and Peabody.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE COLORED CITIZENS OF BOSTON AND MASSACHUSETTS

Chronicle 10-27-34

With renewed allegiance to the sound, conservative, financial and industrial policies of the State and Nation under the guidance of the Republican party and its continued adherence to the principles of the Constitution as embraced "in duly constituted government" under law and not under men

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, ENDORSE AND RECOMMEND TO THE COLORED CITIZENS OF BOSTON THE CANDIDACY OF HONORABLE GASPAR G. BACON FOR GOVERNOR AND THE ELECTION OF THE ENTIRE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

In comparing the record of appointments, we call your attention to a partial list made under Republican Administrations and by Republican Governors.

Executive Secretary, WILLIAM L. REED.

Insurance Department, REV. WALTER D. McCLANE.

Department of Banking and Insurance, MAJOR LARKLAND F. HEWITT.

Office of Secretary of State, JULIAN STUBBS and CHARLES JOHNSON.

Attorney General's Office under Jay Benton, MATTHEW W. BULLOCK. Mr. Bullock is present member of Board of Parole—appointed under Governor Fuller and has served ever since.

First Clerk of Boston Juvenile Court, CHARLES W. M. WILLIAMS, who served for 25 years.

Three Assistant United States Attorneys, WILLIAM H. LEWIS, WILLIAM C. MATTHEWS and JOHN W. SCHENCK. Mr. Schenck was released when the Democrats took office and his place has not been filled by a colored man.

Treasurer's Office, JULIUS GODDARD. Served for years. Now deceased. JULIUS WESTMORELAND was appointed by John W. Haigis. He is ill now and his son is in the office.

HAROLD SCOTT, MACEO SCOTT, foremen Metropolitan Parks System.

WILLIAM BEAN, draughtsman, Public Works Dept.

DR. SOLOMON FULLER, for more than 20 years a pathologist at Westboro Insane Hospital.

HERBERT W. GOULD, Insp., Labor and Industries.

CLARENCE VAN ALLEN, House of Rep., Messenger.

E. D. COOKE, Asst. Cp. Counsel under Mayor Nichols.

RESPECTFULLY,

JOHN W. SCHENCK,
26 Wellington St., Boston
HARRIET C. HALL,
EDNA S. GOODELL,
BENJAMIN E. ROBINSON, M.D.,
REV. WM. D. BATTLE
ERNEST D. COOKE,
REV. F. HAVIS DAVIS
S. E. COURTNE

REV. DAVID S. KLUGH
REV. WILLIAM H. DABBS,
MRS. SARAH L. MARTIN,
DAVID E. LANE
RICHARD H. WALKER
JOSEPH S. MITCHELL
MINNIE T. WRIGHT
REV. E. E. THOMPSON,
J. S. R. BOURNE

"GET RID OF COUNCILMAN GLEASON"

Chronicle

WE are sure the voters of Ward 9 were exceedingly happy on last Thursday evening to observe the picture of their representative to the City Council, Richard D. Gleason, on the front page of the Boston Traveler, with this statement above the picture: "City Councilman Gleason Is Fined For Drunkenness." The full story revealed that the "Honorable" Mr. Gleason was found guilty on three separate charges; first, assault and battery on a police officer; second, the destruction of an officer's coat; third, drunkenness.

11-17-34

This ought to make the Negro population of Ward 9 rise in righteous indignation at the complete disgrace brought upon the community in which they live. We say Negroes, because seldom do those in city circles think of Ward 9 without first thinking of the concentration of our group in this area. Thus we are in a fine position to be judged by the disgraceful antics of this type of representative.

Boston Mass

There are at least four of our largest churches in this ward and a number of lodges and organizations with their headquarters here, yet all of them can find adequate excuse for not tackling this condition. If this isn't a community problem, then what constitutes one? Do any of them imagine that their respective programs can be successful with this type of man destroying the very prestige of the community? Surely they must see the need of ridding ourselves of a man of the type of City Councilman Richard D. Gleason.

Exciting Campaign Draws To a Close

Fight Narrows Down to Curley and Bacon

Chronicle

Tuesday, November 6 will mark the close of Boston's most hectic election in several decades. In other campaigns the candidates for the various offices actively engaged in the contest, and to the delight or disgust of their listeners verbally castigated their opponents. This year the whole campaign has simmered down to a grim contest among the three nominees for the Governorship: James Michael Curley, Democratic candidate; Gaspar G. Bacon, Republican nominee and Frank Goodwin, Independent Singe Taxer.

11-3-34

Boston Mass

Interest, however, is centered between the Democratic and Republican candidates, although Mr. Goodwin will not be denied, and his hot shots at the major candidates have not gone unheeded. The Roosevelt administration in Washington has become a main issue in the campaign speeches, so much so that a witty correspondent summarized the attitudes of the various candidates to the New Deal policies as: Curley, whole hearted; Bacon, half hearted, and Goodwin, no-hearted. In fact, the latter candidate has repudiated the New Deal in Massachusetts and condemns it utterly. In the early days, the Republican nominee did not warm up to the New Deal, but during the past few days his acceptance of the New Deal in part, has been apparent. Curley, on the other hand, was and is the dyed-in the wool New Dealer.

Representatives in all walks of life have declared for Curley. In his van may be found many Republicans of high and low estate in all groups, who are vociferously acclaiming him, and as the election draws near, his strength grows. James Roosevelt, son of the President; Filene, Prof. Simpson, are but a few of the active campaigners for Curley. Among colored voters staunch Boston Republicans like Atty. Edgar P. Benjamin George Gordon of the Roxbury Civic Club and others, have forsaken the GOP candidate. Information gathered from other cities and towns in the state, shows a similar disposition on the part of colored voters. There are, however, many old Republicans who have been so near to the days of Lincoln that they remain willy nilly with their party.

U. S. Senatorship

Senator David I. Walsh towers above Robert M. Washburn, the Republican candidate. Mr. Walsh, always a favorite with the voters, his election has been conceded even by prominent Republicans. Mr. Washburn is unknown to the Negro voters, who like all groups are more interested in a known personality than the unknown. The only statement imputed to Mr. Washburn is that he will introduce an Anti Lynching Bill in the Senate if he is elected. On the other hand, David I. Walsh has always come to the bat for Negroes.

The other offices will be perfunctorily voted on by the citizens. This goes too for the various referenda, including the right of cities and towns to determine the sale of alcoholic beverages; Betting on horse and dog races; Making June 17 a legal holiday in Suffolk County; the right of the General Court to abolish the power of the courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes, and the so-called "Steel Tran" law.

HAVERHILL, MASS.
EVE. GAZETTE
OCT 22 1934

COLORED VOTERS HEAR TALKS AT CALVARY CHURCH

Mass Meeting Conducted by Essex County Civic Organization

Candidates for city, county and state officers were present at a public mass meeting held under the auspices of the Essex County Civic club, composed of colored voters of the county, in Calvary Baptist church yesterday afternoon. The auditorium of the church was filled to capacity to hear the candidates and others make a plea to the congregation to study the background of every candidate before they cast their ballots.

Principal among the speakers were Mayor George E. Dalrymple, former-Asst. United States Dist. Atty. John Schenks, of Boston; Dr. D. D. Lewis, of New York City; Rev. J. S. Mitchell, of Lawrence; Dr. William D. Washington, of Lynn; Rev. J. Quinton Jackson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

Others sitting on the platform, who were introduced to the congregation, were Senator J. Bradford Davis, candidate for reelection; Frank D. Babcock, Philip H. Stacy, Irving D. Hill and Charles H. Morrill, candidates for representative; Edward Chesley and Warren Hunkins, candidates for alderman; Alderman Bernard L. Durgin, candidate for reelection, and Asst. District Atty. John J. Ryan, Jr.

The mass meeting marked the first get-together of the civic club, which was organized a month ago. S. P. McIlwain, president and founder of the club, presided, and announced during the meeting that similar gatherings would be conducted by the club throughout the county at frequent periods.

All the speakers commended the progressiveness of the colored voters of the county in organizing to take a more active part in politics and stated that only through organization would the colored people gain recognition in the affairs of government.

The meeting opened with the singing of America, led by Mrs. Mary Mitchell, and was followed by invocation by Rev. Mr. Jackson. Mr. McIlwain made brief remarks in which he explained that the purpose of the civic club is to organize for the purpose of furthering the interest of the colored people of the county in politics so that they will vote for candidates who will work for their best interests.

Mayor Dalrymple, who gave the address of welcome, was introduced by the chairman as a "man of conviction and supreme courage," and the type of man that should represent the people in office. The mayor declared that today there is the greatest opportunity for men of courage, integrity and ability, and that it was no time for unscrupulous, unprincipled men or women to hold the reins of government in any capacity.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell urged more organization among the colored people for effective voting, and that the time has arrived where the colored people should demand recognition and representation in government and municipal positions. "We must stand together, vote together, and work together for the common good," he said.

Rev. Mr. Jackson, speaking on the subject, "Public Morals and Religion," declared that "the time has come where the church cannot afford to divorce itself from public affairs. If civic welfare is to be enhanced we must get into public office men who are of sterling character, and guided by the principle for which the Christian church stands."

Dr. Washington declared that the purpose of the civic club is to bring to the colored voters a realization of the need of organization to gain representation. Dr. Lewis, who was a visitor in the city yesterday, made brief remarks in which he commended the leaders of the civic club for the step they have taken in educating the colored voters.

Former Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Schenks made it known that he has charge of keeping in contact with every organized colored group in the state in preparing for the coming state election. Speaking in the interests of the candidacy of Gasper G. Bacon for governor, Attorney Schenks attacked the political record of former-Mayor James Curley of Boston, saying that he was recognized as a millionaire, but that "he never earned an honest day's pay."

He urged the colored voters to remain loyal to the Republican party, saying that the Democratic party had never helped the colored people as a group, while the Republican party has given the colored man everything he ever got during the past half a century.

All the other candidates for office appearing at the meeting were introduced, but time did not permit them to speak.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Michigan.

Negro Candidate In Detroit Wins Congressional Nomination Over Five Whites on Republican Ticket

Daily 9-22-34

New York Times

DETROIT, Mich.—(CNS)—Charles A. Roxborough, who represented the Third Senatorial District in the Michigan Legislature four years ago was elected in the primary last Tuesday as the regular nominee for Congress of the Republicans of the First District. The District embraces the wards, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13 and 15, of the City of Detroit; and the City of Hamtramck. In a total Republican vote in the primary of 14,431, Roxborough received 5,931. His closest opponent with 4,037 votes, was former representative John B. Sosnowski, a polish candidate, who represented a Detroit distirct in a former Congress. Four other white opponents had a total of 2,333 votes ranging from 426 to 773 each; while Charles H. Mahoney, another Negro aspirant polled a vote of 2,130. Roxborough won over Sosnowski by approximately 2,000 votes, and led Mahoney by nearly three to one.

The district is largely populated by Negroes and Poles. The nominee on the Democratic ticket is a Polish citizen named Sadowski, who received 12,921 votes in a total of 22,468 received by the winner and eight other candidates, most of whom are Poles. The district has a Negro population of some 75,000 in a total population approximately 360,000.

In wards 3, 5 and 7 of the City of Detroit, forming the Third State Senatorial District, another Negro Republican candidate Dr. Ossia Sweet, won out over five opponents, one Aaron Toodle, another race man. Dr. Sweet is best known as the principle in the celebrated "Sweet Case" in Detroit, in which Sweet, his brother, and several others were put on trial for the shooting of a white man in defense of the Sweet home in Detroit—but were cleared of a charge of murder—Charles Darwin, being the principal defense counsel.

Sweet received 3,071 votes in a total of 6,744, with Toodle second with 1,551 and four other candidates with a total of 2,122 votes. This Senatorial District has a Negro population of some 57,000 in a total population of approximately 104,000. In the so-called Negro districts throughout the city and county, the majority of the votes in the primary were in the Republican column, whereas two years ago, the same districts showed a heavy Democratic vote. Typical of the voting in these districts was the Negro vote in the Third District of the Seventh Ward where the Democratic vote was only 13.

DETROIT, MICH.
TIMES

SEP 14 1934

NEGRO WINNER AS CONGRESS NOMINEE

Illinois sent the first Negro to Congress when Oscar H. DePriest of Chicago took his seat in the national House of Representatives some 10 years ago. Michigan may send the second.

Charles A. Roxborough, lawyer, former state senator and once the protege of former Gov. Chase S. Osborn, was nominated for Congress on the Republican ticket at Tuesday's primary and will oppose Representative George G. Sadowski, Democrat, in the First District race, at the general election in November.

Map Vote Plans

DR. OSSIAN H. SWEET, Negro physician, who, in November, 1925, was tried for murder growing out of a race riot here, won the Republican nomination for state senator in the Third district in Tuesday's primary elections. Clarence Darrow, famous attorney, handled the defense. The case against Sweet was dropped.

CHARLES A. ROXBOROUGH, attorney and former state senator, may be the second Negro in Congress. He was nominated on the Republican ticket to oppose Representative George G. Sadowski in the First District.

ADMIRES ROOSEVELT

"I'm for full and immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus and I'm against the League of Nations and the World Court," Roxborough said today. "I expect to win in November. I believe the Republicans are coming back, perhaps slowly, but surely."

Roxborough added that he had "the utmost admiration for President Roosevelt."

Roxborough was born in Alabama 45 years ago. He came here with his parents when he was 5 years old. His father, Charles A. Roxborough Sr., practised law in the Polish section of the city. The son was graduated from Eastern High School in the class of 1908. Another member of the class was Circuit Judge Dewitt H. Merriam.

Roxborough entered the Detroit College of Law, but was forced to quit school for financial reasons. In 1912, Governor Osborn heard of the young Negro boy's fight for an education and gave him a position as messenger in the executive offices at Lansing. Later Roxborough was able to return to college, finally graduating with a law degree in 1914.

ELECTED IN 1930

Elected state senator from the third district in 1930, Roxborough served in 1931-32. As a member of the apportionment committee, he sided in the fight that gave Michigan five new congressional districts, one of which he now seeks to represent at Washington.

Roxborough was renominated for the state Senate in 1932, but was defeated in the Democratic landslide of November of that year.

He is a member of the City Planning Commission, which is on the eve of undertaking a $6,000,000 housing and slum clearance programme. He is married, the father of four children and lives at 608 Woodland.

Negro Named On C.P. Ticket In Detroit

Daily Worker

Opposes Aide of Ford in Hunger March Murders in State Election

10-10-34

By A. B. MAGIL

DETROIT, Oct. 9.—Harry S. Toy, the man who conducted the grand jury investigation that whitewashed the Ford Motor Co. after the murder of five workers in the Ford Hunger March of March 7, 1932, has been nominated by the Republican Party as its candidate for attorney-general in the coming elections.

New York

The nomination of Toy at the Republican State convention at Flint marked the culmination of a bitter factional feud in Wayne County. The county Republican convention on Sept. 20 in Detroit ended in a riotous brawl in which skulls were cracked and 500 police had their hands full trying to persuade the upholders of "law and order" to stop punching each other.

The two factions that engaged in this harmony act were led, respectively, by Toy and by Edward S. Barnard, attorney who was once nearly disbarred for shady practices. Chief lieutenant of Barnard and a leading participant in the riot was none other than Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit Federation of Labor, a shining light of labor racketeering and betrayal.

Both factions claimed the victory, but at the state convention at Flint, a week later the machine dominated by Frank Fitzgerald, candidate for governor, threw in its support to Toy, refusing to seat the Barnard delegates.

It was Toy's office that only a few months ago tried to send to jail for life the Negro worker, James Victory, on a framed-up charge of having attacked a white woman. Only the organization of a mass protest movement by the International Labor Defense and the League of Struggle for Negro Rights succeeded in smashing this frame-up.

Negro on C. P. Ticket

Significantly enough a Negro worker will be the only opponent of Toy in the November elections who really represents the broad masses of workers and farmers, Negro and white, native and foreign-born, of Michigan. Lonnie Williams, young Negro worker, is candidate for attorney-general on the Communist Party ticket.

Williams is secretary of the League of Struggle for Negro Rights and has been active in the struggles of the young workers of this city for several years. He has taken a leading part in the fight against war and fascism and last year was a delegate to the World Youth Congress Against War and Fascism in Paris. He, together with the rest of the Communist ticket, headed by the militant trade unionist, John Anderson, candidate for governor, offers the only possibility for the working masses of Michigan of improving conditions now, of putting up a real battle against the speed-up, low wages, wretched relief, spy system and other miserable conditions of this open shop state and leading the way towards a workers' government.

Defeated

CHARLES A. ROXBOROUGH

Former state senator of Michigan who was defeated Tuesday in his race for congressman. Roxborough's home is in Detroit.

Race Man Elected To Magistrate's Job Over Whites

MICHIGAN CITY, Mich., Nov. 15—Despite the fact that the entire colored voting strength of this municipality is 300, Tenola E. Graves, a Democrat, candidate for justice of the peace, was re-elected with a majority of 2,200 over one and 1,400 over another white opponent. Graves was formerly an outstanding attorney.

Missouri

Political - 1934
Elections

KANSAS CITY, MO.
TIMES

MAR 12 1934

FUSION PLEDGE TO NEGRO

RACE WILL BE GIVEN ITS RIGHTS SAYS DR. A. ROSS HILL.

North Side Court Broadcasts Will End if Citizens Ticket Wins, Thomas Leslie Johnson Promises.

The Citizens fusion campaign was carried to the Negro voters of Kansas City in a rally at Fourteenth street and Michigan avenue yesterday afternoon at which Dr. A. Ross Hill, candidate for mayor, and six candidates for the city council appeared.

Dr. Hill announced the policy of the Citizens fusion candidates would be not to make extravagant promises to the Negro voters, but to pledge to them their rights and privileges, which, he said, had been denied under Democratic rule.

The mayoralty aspirant told of his experiences with the Negro race as a member of the board of regents of Lincoln university, the state Negro school at Jefferson City, which he said enabled him to understand the race's problems.

WHITTEN ASSAILS ELECTION VIOLENCE.

Frederick E. Whitten, candidate for councilman at large from the second district, assailed the police department and the board of election commissioners, charging them with failure to provide protection at the polls in last week's municipal primary.

"The fighting and deliberate denial of the right of franchise to hundreds of citizens last Tuesday was a disgrace to civilized society," he said.

Thomas Leslie Johnson, candidate for councilman at large from the third district, was approved by the Negroes for his announcement that broadcasting of municipal court proceedings would be stopped if the Citizens ticket were successful. Democratic leaders have encountered trouble holding the Negro voters in line because of the feeling against the municipal court broadcast.

OTHER CANDIDATES SPEAK.

Other candidates who spoke were Dr. Arthur H. Wells, candidate for councilman from the first district; Claude A. Ferguson, for councilman at large from the first district; John R. Suddarth, for councilman from the third district, and Alex S. Rankin, for councilman at large, fourth district.

Dr. Wells denied the assertions of the Democratic candidates that crime had been kept at a minimum, citing burglary insurance rates in Kansas City as among the highest in the country.

KANSAS CITY, MO.
TIMES

MAR 3 1934

FUSION TO NEGRO CROWD

DR. A. ROSS HILL PROMISES THE RACE A SQUARE DEAL.

Six Other Candidates on the Citizens' Ticket Address Audience of 125 at the Lincoln Building.

Seven candidates for municipal offices on the Citizens' ticket spoke last night before an audience of approximately 125 Negroes at the Lincoln building, 1601 East Eighteenth street.

"If I am elected mayor, I shall see that your race gets a square deal," said Dr. A. Ross Hill. "I will see that, among other things, you are not discriminated against in park and recreational facilities."

Dr. A. H. Wells, candidate for councilman from the first district, declared that, being a physician, he knew that employees of the General hospital had received checks with amounts deducted to be used to meet campaign expenses of the Democratic machine.

"They were not asked for contributions," said Dr. Wells. "They were forced to give by having it taken out of their pay."

Referring to the statement made Thursday by Ewing Y. Mitchell, Frederick E. Whitten, candidate for councilman at large from the second district, said:

"Mitchell, an appointee of President Roosevelt, would not have uttered the statement if he thought the President would object to it. The President is about as interested in the coming Kansas City election as he was in the recent New York election. It is characteristic of the Roosevelt family to fight bosses."

Other speakers were Thomas Leslie Johnson, John R. Suddarth, Claude A. Ferguson and William H. Wilson all fusion candidates; the Rev. T. H. Wiseman and Miss Harriet Houston. Dr. Hollie Linder presided.

TWO NEGROES NOMINATED IN WYANDOTTE COUNTY PRIMARY

Negroes of Wyandotte county made a creditable showing in the primaries Tuesday both at the polls and as candidates for office.

Dr. W. M. Blount was renominated for the fourth time to represent the Eighth district in the state legislature with a poll of 5,125. Opposing his renomination were Forrest R. Anderson with 1,023 votes and Franklin Bradley Jr., with 1,371 votes.

Blount's record in the house at Topeka was deserving of renomination. He is the only Negro in the Kansas legislature.

His recent and most outstanding contribution as representative is the widespread probe into Jim Crow conditions in medical, nurses and R.O.T.C., departments at the University of Kansas. He is chairman of this investigating committee and findings will be reported to the legislature at the fall term.

He was also instrumental in having a law passed which saved taxpayers $34,000 in elimination of off-year election of city officials and also formed the measure which made it possible for Negroes to have as assistant city attorney in Kansas City, Kas., for the first time in 40 years. He also defeated the tax measure which would have burdened taxpayers with $1,500,000 in bond issue by building of Seventh street bridge. The bridge has since been erected by federal funds at no cost to the community.

In a cornered race for county commissioner Dr. A. Porter Davis emerged winner in the second district with a majority of 3,955 votes. This district is in the same territory that comprises the Eighth legislative district. This is the first time a Negro has been nominated for commissioner.

Kansas City Star 11-16-34

St. Louis Demos Victors

Kansas City

Frank S. Bledsoe, Native Texan, Is First Democratic Judge

R. C. Fisher

ST. LOUIS. — (ANP) — The avalanche of Democratic votes which swept into power every aspirant to major city offices here last Tuesday, extended to the justice of the peace and constable races where the abolishment of G. O. P. office-holders was almost complete.

Four Republicans miraculously escaped the onslaught, and three of them were Negroes.

Known as Big "4"

During their campaign these candidates were referred to as the "Big Four," but personally known as Judge Charles H. Turpin, Judge Robert E. Walker, white; Constable Langston Harrison and Constable William (Billy) Morant. They won easily in the sixth ward strongholds, where Richard W. Kent, prominent business man and former owner of the St. Louis Stars baseball club, is Republican committeeman.

The Republicans formerly held a tight grip on the constable and justice of peace offices in St. Louis. Prior to the election 10 of 11 justices were of that party, several of them Negroes.

First Democratic Judge

The fifth constabulary district race resulted in the defeat of G. M. Allen, Negro lawyer, and Harry C. Meyers, white, Republican candidates for justice of the peace, by Attorney Frank S. Bledsoe, Negro and Richard Fitzibbons, white, Democrats.

Judge Bledsoe, native Texan, enters his new field of endeavor properly equipped. He was graduated from the Law School of Howard university in 1922. He married the former Nathelia Sawyer of Topeka, Kas., who was a teacher of Vashon high school, St. Louis.

The vote on constable in this district saw Ira A. Dorsey, Negro, and Gabriel Roth, Republican incumbents, decisively beaten by Jordan W. Chambers, first colored man to be elected on Democratic ticket and Frank M. O'Neil white, Democrat.

Political - 1934

Missouri.

Elections.

COBB SEEKS JUSTICE OF PEACE POST

Jefferson City Attorney to Run for Election in August Primary

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Robert S. Cobb, local attorney, has indicated that he will seek the office of Justice of the Peace in this township, subject to the August primary. Mr. Cobb will run on the Republican ticket. He pointed out that the law requires three justices in this township but that seldom do more than two justices serve. The county court made an appointment to fill a vacancy and the third justice never qualified.

R. S. COBB

Cobb has had 25 years of experience in serving the public. He has been a teacher, Civil Service employe, Industrial Commission secretary and Compensation Commission assistant. Mr. Cobb has made history in the capital city in that he was the first Negro attorney to establish himself here and will be the first to run for a major office.

He is a trustee in Quinn Chapel A. M. E. church, grand treasurer of the U. B. F. and S. M. T. lodge and a former Y. M. C. A. secretary. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Rhubottom, a teacher in the St. Louis public schools, in 1924. He has three children, by a former marriage, Mary Elizabeth a teacher in the public school at Moberly; John M., student at Lincoln university, and Robert Jr., a student at the local public schools.

He is the son of the late Prof. John S. Cobb of Cape Girardeau for whom the high school is named in that city.

Cobb 3-16-34 Pos-Dispatch

ST. LOUIS, MO.
GLOBE DEMOCRAT

APR 12 1934

St. Clair Insurgent Democrats Name Two in Primary

Administration Faction Scores Heavily in Primary; G. O. P. Vote Light.

The Administration faction, comprised of local patronage forces, lost two contests in the battle with the New Deal faction in the St. Clair County primary Tuesday, but otherwise was generally successful. This is on the basis of complete, unofficial returns from the county's 172 precincts.

The Democratic vote totaled around 35,000, bearing up advance predictions it would be the heaviest in the party's history. The Republicans set a new low with a total of around 9000 votes.

The two Democratic nominations captured by the New Dealers were those for State Senator, where Louis J. Menges defeated H. Grady Allen, the Administration man, and for membership in the County Board of Review, where Eugene Hayes nosed out Fred Blumenkamp, who bore the Administration colors.

The Administration faction captured the important nominations for Sheriff, Congressman from the Twenty-second District, County Treasurer and other positions. Carl J. Feickert, Administration candidate for Probate Judge, was defeated but not by a New Deal candidate. Paul H. Beis, an independent, supported by State's Attorney Louis P. Zerweck, who otherwise was aligned with the Administration faction, defeated Feickert.

Negro Apparently Nominated.

Dr. A. H. Smith, Negro dentist, as one of two Democrats nominated for member of the State Legislature from the Forty-ninth District. This result was produced by concentration of Negro voting strength on Smith in a field of thirteen candidates. Frank Holten, incumbent, is the other nominee. Grover C. Borders, incumbent, who bore the New Deal label, failed to be renominated.

The only only incumbent to suffer defeat was William Frech, Probate Clerk, who lost to the Administration candidate, Leonard O. Reinhardt. Eugene Widman, New Dealer, was third in this race. Frech is an independent.

State Treasurer—Carl L. Anderson, 653; Edward C. Diedrich, 532; Joseph L. Moore, 1939; William J. Stratton, 5230.

State School Superintendent—Francis G. Blair, 5514; George A. Selters, 1001.

Congressmen at Large, two to be nominated—Epler C. Mills, 1385; C. Wayland Brooks, 3118; Stephen A. Day, 864; William G. Edens, 724; Milton E. Jones, 1273; Leslie S. Lowden, 1784; James A. McCallum, 640.

Congressman, Twenty-second District—Jesse R. Brown, unopposed.

State Central Committeeman—Finis P. Ernest, Jr., 3073; R. R. Thomas, 4594.

State Senator, Forty-ninth District—Waldo B. Isom, 2482; W. R. Weber, 4304.

State Legislature, two to be nominated—R. H. Huschle, 6604; E. J. Abt, 2581; Jean P. Drury, 3177; Harry Stenzel, 1240; A. J. Stocker, 3803; Calvin D. Johnson, 3698; John W. Budina, 1384; Otto Scharth, 1117.

County Judge—C. C. Dreman, 3379; Bart E. Schmitt, 3235.

County Clerk—A. J. Mollman, unopposed.

Probate Judge—Le R. F. Perrin, 4400; Quinten E. Spivey, 2029.

Probate Clerk—Ludwig G. Daesch, 2399; James M. Segraves, 4018.

Sheriff—George V. Gruenewald, 5498; Walter Nichols, 2215.

County Treasurer—Gus A. Miller, 4486; Richard J. Eggman, 2030.

County School Superintendent—Wiley B. Garvin, unopposed.

Member Board of Review—Henry Vogt, 1832; Charles A. Scherrer, 1930; Charles H. McNutt, 945; A. J. Hepp, 1507.

Members Board of Assessors, two to be nominated—Claus E. Tietjen and Frank W. Lembke, unopposed.

Senatorial Committeeman, Forty-ninth District, three to be elected—Edward E. Miller and F. G. Goodfellow, unopposed. No third candidate.

ST. LOUIS, MO.
TIMES

JUL 13 1934

NEGRO ATTORNEYS LIST JUDICIAL INDORSEMENTS

The Mound City Bar Association, an organization of Negro attorneys, has announced the results of a referendum among the thirty-two Negro lawyers in St. Louis on candidates for judiciary offices here in the primary election August 7.

The indorsements for the circuit bench follow:

REPUBLICAN.
(Nine to be nominated.)

William H. Killoren	George L. Stemmler
Claude O. Pearcy	David E. Blair
Fred J. Hoffmeister	Sigmund Bass
John W. Calhoun	Richard C. Hart
Erwin G. Ossing

DEMOCRATIC.

O'Neill Ryan	Thomas J. Rowe, Jr.
Robert J. Kirkwood	James M. Douglas
Eugene Sartorius	Samuel H. Liberman
Edgar H. Wayman	James E. King
Harry F. Russell

ST. LOUIS, MO.
STAR TIMES

OCT 6 1934

Finegan vs. Rosecan.

Editor Star-Times: Contrary to one of your correspondents in this column a few days ago, my guess is that the Negro Bar Association was acting in the public interest as well as for the Negro lawyers when it indorsed Judge Finnegan for Prosecuting Attorney Rosecan's place. Has the writer of that letter forgotten Judge Rosecan's career on the City Court bench? Maybe he doesn't remember the charges of laxity in Judge Rosecan's court in traffic law cases, made by Joseph T. Davis in September, 1928, when Mr. Davis was head of the Safety Council. What about the 600 out of 1,435 convicted speeders that Judge Rosecan paroled that same year? Or the statements of Oliver T. Remmers, chairman of the Republican City Committee and an active member of the Safety Council, along the same line, that politicians were "fronting" for persons arrested as traffic violators? It's not so many years ago that Comptroller Nolte held up Judge Rosecan's pay check because his taxes were unpaid for 1916 and 1917, and 1921 and 1924, long before the present hard times.

My opinion is that Mr. Rosecan can't stand on his record and Judge Finnegan can. Whether Judge Finnegan appoints a Negro assistant or not, it's poor policy to re-elect anybody as prosecuting attorney whose official career has been open to as much criticism as Harry Rosecan's.

SIMPLE SIMO

Blount Wins; Davis Loses

Dr. W. M. Blount of Wyandotte county, Kansas City, Kas., was reelected to his fourth term in the state legislature, Tuesday, by 7,768 votes over his white opponent, C. D. Wells, who polled 6,136 votes. He represented the eighth district.

Representative Blount led the probe last winter on discrimination against Negro students at the University of Kansas before the house committee.

Dr. A. Porter Davis, also of Wyandotte county, was nosed out for the office of county commissioner by his white opponent, Frank Brown, by a margin of 231 votes. Davis polled 6,697 against Brown's 6,928 total.

Re-elected

CHARLES TURPIN

Ve. ... publican leader in St. Louis, who ... turned ... owner as justice of the ... last week.

ELECTED CONSTABLES

LANGSTON HARRISON

WILLIAM A. MORANT

St. Louis voters went to the polls last Tuesday and elected three constables and two justices of the peace. Morant and Harrison were elected on the Republican ticket.

MAKE POLITICS PRODUCE RESULTS

In the primary campaign just closed, THE CALL followed its general policy of helping those candidates in whom it found merit, and omitted mention, even by way of criticism, of the others. We think our course the reasonable one for Negroes to pursue. We need in office officials who will apply the laws fairly and thereby give us whatever chance our merits deserve.

Punishing enemies is a negative policy that gets us nowhere. We can prove ever so many candidates unfit; the others might have been as unsatisfactory to us had they been tested in the same situations. On the other hand, choosing candidates for their merit is a positive way to find the men who will fill public office in the letter and spirit of the law. Proving that one candidate voted against an appropriation for Howard university does not prove that another would not vote the same way if he had been in Congress.

Especially do we insist that Negro candidates run on merit. White voters will excuse themselves no matter what kind of a misfit they choose of their own. They will never stop pointing out the shortcomings of unworthy Negroes. We do our a grave injury by offering men whose sole argument for themselves is that they are Negroes. True, Negroes ought to have a share of public honors and responsibilities, but only worthy ones are to be entrusted with them, and they should be presented for their merit rather than for their color.

Merit is a requirement for public officials, and by merit, not by the lack of it, they should be chosen. Shoot at a target and you may hit at it. To aim at all the places where it is not and withhold your shot, is to hit nothing.

THE CALL's policy of choosing a candidate for his merits works better than supporting one because we hate the other. Our way encourages the good official to do better. The other way is likely to choose a trimmer who simply escapes doing wrong, and could never have the backbone to do good.

Choosing one candidate or one party because of hate for the other is trying to go ahead while looking forward. No wise man commits himself to such foolish procedure. Furthermore it is a lazy method. It calls for no brains. Anyone can oppose and give "because" as a reason.

We have never agreed with those Negroes who make themselves conspicuous in public affairs by their rantings against the opposition. In the long run they create impressions which hurt their people. If one set of them proves that all Republicans are ingrates and the other set claims all Democrats are deliberate oppressors, the white public, which is always more prone to answer the call of a common race than to divide over politics, soon concludes that Negroes are not deserving of good will. We must remember that we need many and we must win those friends by ourselves a steadying hand in our upward climb, being friendly.

THE MAKINGS OF A TRAGEDY

The gist of the Negro's appeal in the United States is that he be included in the application of the principles enunciated in the Constitution and the gospel of Jesus. It follows that he must himself be guided by those principles if he wishes them to prevail for his benefit. For that reason the nature of the campaign made by one Negro candidate for office in Kansas City, Kansas is to be regretted.

In a community which used to be a hot bed of the Ku Klux Klan, this candidate said he cared nothing about white people. This is a most remarkable statement in the mouth of any man depending upon popular vote. At least it is foolish. It will prove a handicap to Negroes for many years if the whites of that city come to believe it represents Negro opinion. It is the Ku Klux Klan in a black night shirt instead of white.

Kansas City, Kansas is a city where Negroes have held high position and cut a great figure in public life. Despite the efforts of the Klan, it has maintained cordiality between the races. Dr. A. Porter Davis, the candidate who made the statement, is free to care nothing about whites if it pleases him. But as a candidate, a spokesman for his people, it will be a handicap hard to overcome, if he is considered representative of Negro opinion.

It is not possible to pass by Dr. Davis's very unusual bid for office without condemning also a slur which he cast upon his own people. In one of his public addresses, he told a story, that story which probably led to his defeat. In it he described the humiliation he felt in his youth when as a waiter he was employed to serve a white banquet. We cannot understand how any man doing honest work could be ashamed of it.

Negro waiters used to be numerous. They were contributors to Negro home life, church and lodge, and were the one group which made for their people points of contact with the leading citizens of every community. The Negro group would be poor without the advantages Negro waiters opened up to them through their acquaintance with officials, bankers, railroad executives and other captains of industry.

White voters in the district where Dr. Davis made his race, indicated very clearly that they were not animated by his race feeling, because the gave another Negro candidate a very gratifying majority. Here's hoping his was the last of Negro efforts at creating animosity between the races.

ELECTED CONSTABLES

LANGSTON HARRISON

WILLIAM A. MORANT

St. Louis voters went to the polls last Tuesday and elected three constables and two justices of the peace. Morant and Harrison were elected on the Republican ticket.

MAKE POLITICS PRODUCE RESULTS

In the primary campaign just closed, THE CALL followed its general policy of helping those candidates in whom it found merit, and omitted mention, even by way of criticism, of the others. We think our course the reasonable one for Negroes to pursue. We need in office officials who will apply the laws fairly and thereby give us whatever chance our merits deserve.

Punishing enemies is a negative policy that gets us nowhere. We can prove ever so many candidates unfit; the others might have been as unsatisfactory to us had they been tested in the same situations. On the other hand, choosing candidates for their merit is a positive way to find the men who will fill public office in the letter and spirit of the law. Proving that one candidate voted against an appropriation for Howard university does not prove that another would not vote the same way if he had been in Congress.

Especially do we insist that Negro candidates run on merit. White voters will excuse themselves no matter what kind of a misfit they choose of their own. They will never stop pointing out the shortcomings of unworthy Negroes. We do our [illegible] a grave injury by offering men whose sole argument for themselves is that they are Negroes. True, Negroes ought to have a share of public honors and responsibilities, but only worthy ones are to be entrusted with them, and they should be presented for their merit rather than for their color.

Merit is a requirement for public officials, and by merit, not by the lack of it, they should be chosen. Shoot at a target and you may hit at it. To aim at all the places where it is not and withhold your shot, is to hit nothing.

THE CALL's policy of choosing a candidate for his merits works better than supporting one because we hate the other. Our way encourages the good official to do better. The other way is likely to choose a trimmer who simply escapes doing wrong, and could never have the backbone to do good.

Choosing one candidate or one party because of hate for the other is trying to go ahead while looking forward. No wise man commits himself to such foolish procedure. Furthermore it is a lazy method. It calls for no brains. Anyone can oppose and give "because" as a reason.

We have never agreed with those Negroes who make themselves conspicuous in public affairs by their rantings against the opposition. In the long run they create impressions which hurt their people. If one set of them proves that all Republicans are ingrates and the other set claims all Democrats are deliberate oppressors, the white public, which is always more prone to answer the call of a common race than to divide over politics, soon concludes that Negroes are not deserving of good will. We must remember that we need many and we must win those friends by ourselves a steadying hand in our upward climb, being friendly.

THE MAKINGS OF A TRAGEDY

The gist of the Negro's appeal in the United States is that he be included in the application of the principles enunciated in the Constitution and the gospel of Jesus. It follows that he must himself be guided by those principles if he wishes them to prevail for his benefit. For that reason the nature of the campaign made by one Negro candidate for office in Kansas City, Kansas is to be regretted.

In a community which used to be a hotbed of the Ku Klux Klan, this candidate said he cared nothing about white people. This is a most remarkable statement in the mouth of any man depending upon popular vote. At least it is foolish. It will prove a handicap to Negroes for many years if the whites of that city come to believe it represents Negro opinion. It is the Ku Klux Klan in a black night shirt instead of white.

Kansas City, Kansas is a city where Negroes have held high position and cut a great figure in public life. Despite the efforts of the Klan, it has maintained cordiality between the races. Dr. A. Porter Davis, the candidate who made the statement, is free to care nothing about whites if it pleases him. But as a candidate, a spokesman for his people, it will be a handicap hard to overcome, if he is considered representative of Negro opinion.

It is not possible to pass by Dr. Davis's very unusual bid for office without condemning also a slur which he cast upon his own people. In one of his public addresses, he told a story, that story which probably led to his defeat. In it he described the humiliation he felt in his youth when as a waiter he was employed to serve a white banquet. We cannot understand how any man doing honest work could be ashamed of it.

Negro waiters used to be numerous. They were contributors to Negro home life, church and lodge, and were the one group which made for their people points of contact with the leading citizens of every community. The Negro group would be poor without the advantages Negro waiters opened up to them through their acquaintance with officials, bankers, railroad executives and other captains of industry.

White voters in the district where Dr. Davis made his race, indicated very clearly that they were not animated by his race feeling, because the gave another Negro candidate a very gratifying majority. Here's hoping his was the last of Negro efforts at creating animosity between the races.

Political-1934

Elections.

Nebraska

EDITOR SEEKS OFFICE.

OMAHA, Neb., May 11. — John Benjamin, editor and publisher of the Omaha Chronicle, has entered the campaign here for the Republican nomination for state representative.

Guide
Omaha-Neb.
AUG 11 1934

The Battle Royal Is On for the Democratic Nomination for Congressman for the 2nd District

The battle royal is on for the Democratic nomination for Congress of the 2nd district, between the Omaha World Herald, Nebraska's largest metropolitan paper and the unorganized Omaha and Douglas County weekly newspapers. The Herald has taken as their candidate, Charles F. McLaughlin, and the Omaha Douglas County weeklies have taken for their candidate, H. H. Harper, the real author of the Federal Housing Bill which has become a law.

Wednesday A. M. the battle royal will come to an end and Omaha's future political office seekers will be able to settle once for always as to whether the World Herald is the power behind the throne or the Omaha and Douglas County weeklies are the power behind the throne.

It is to be wondered if the weeklies win the battle will H. H. Harper stand by the weeklies that nominated him or will he do as the average politician does—drop the maker and seek the enemies camp. If past political history means any thing this will mean his defeat in the November election. If hard work and contact will win a campaign, it is said by many of Mr. Harper's friends, that he stands out paramount for the Democratic nomination for Congressman of the Second district.

Mr. Harper has worked every section of the second district to a perfection and his cool-collected disposition has made him many friends among strangers that did not know him before this campaign started. He has made his daily contact with all avenues of outlet for his campaign platform. Harper can't lose in this battle matters not what the results are on Tuesday's primary. His contact and new acquaintances will be worth the price he has paid in this campaign, for his future political battles. It is predicted that he has actually met and shaken the hands of 85 percent of the Negro registered Democratic voters. Mr. Harper wishes to express through the colums of the Omaha Guide, his appreciation for the way the Negro Democrats have received him in his campaign for Congressman for the Second district of Nebraska.

Watch for Tuesday's results as to who can put a caniddate over, the weeklies or the daily.

OMAHA, NEB.
EVE. BEE NEWS
OCT 26 1934

Candidates Endorsed

The Negro Nonpartisan Voters and Civic league Thursday night announced endorsement of the following candidates:

Robert G. Simmons for United States Senate, long term; J. H. Kemp, Fullerton, United States Senate, short term; District Judge Herbert Rhoades, Congress, Second district; Roy L. Cochran, governor; Walter H. Jurgenson, lieutenant governor; John Hopkins, sheriff; Sidney J. Gottneid, clerk of district court; Frank L. Frost, county attorney; Grace Berger, county clerk; Sam K. Greenleaf, county assessor, and William Green, county surveyor. The group also endorsed several candidates for state legislature.

Elect White Man Plea Refused in Nebraska Race

(Special to the AFRO)

OMAHA, Nebr. — Placards and circulars with a plea to vote for Dan Phillips, the only white candidate for the ninth legislative district seat, intended to raise the race question, acted as a boomerang to Phillips in the recent elections and he trailed behind his two colored opponents, one a Democrat and the other a Republican.

B-1-34

John Adams, Jr., Republican garnered 1308 votes; Johnny Owen, the Democrat, obtained 1202 ballots, while Phillips's campaign netted him only 1000 votes in a district which is predominantly white.

Baltimore

Phillips's circular carried the following query:

"Do we want a white man to represent this district? I am the only white candidate for the legislature in this district. Both Democratic and Republican candidates are N———. I filed a petition to get on the ballot but the court ruled I filed one day too late, consequently my name must be written in and a cross placed in the square if you wish to vote for me."

Both the circulars and placards contained reproductions of the state ticket for the ninth district. The following instructions were given in Phillips's campaign literature: "To vote for a white man, mark an X in square on blank line and write in name of Dan Phillips as above."

Aside from being a white man, Phillips set forth that his other qualifications were that he was in close touch with legislative needs of both working man and business man, and that he would be obliged to no one except the people who might elect him. Just after his appeal to vote for him, some one who was not a rubber stamp, Phillips closed with the appeal that the voter write in the name of the only white candidate.

OMAHA, NEB.
MORNING BEE NEWS
OCT 28 1934

Approve Candidates

Negro Nonpartisan Voters and Civic league, in conjunction with Roosevelt post No. 30, American Legion; National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, Negro Business and Professional Men's league, endorsed the following candidates for members of the board of education: Mrs. Ida Levin, Fred A. Wright, M. F. Mulvaney, Leonard A. Hammes, Frank L. Johnson, Herbert King. Pari-mutuel racing and repeal amendments were also endorsed by the Negro Nonpartisan Voters and Civic league.

OMAHA, NEB.
MORNING WORLD HERALD
OCT 27 1934

Negro Club Lists Slate for Election

A slate of candidates for the coming election was drafted by the Negro Nonpartisan Voters and Civics league Thursday night. It includes:

Democrats—R. L. Cochran for governor, Walter H. Jurgensen for lieutenant governor, Harry Swanson for secretary of state, W. B. Price for state auditor, George E. Hall for state treasurer, W. H. Wright for attorney general, John Hopkins for sheriff, Otto J. Bauman for county treasurer, Bill Green for county surveyor, Charles E. Burns for county commissioner, George T. Sullivan for state senator.

Republicans—Robert Simmons for senator, J. H. Kemp for short-term senator, Herbert Rhoades for congressman, Lee N. Swanson for land commissioner, Robert Marsh for railway commissioner, Sidney Gottneid for clerk of the district court, Frank L. Frost for county attorney, Grace Berger for county clerk, Sam K. Greenleaf for county assessor, Frank C. Best and Joseph F. Steiger for county commissioners, John Adams, jr., for Ninth district representative and Roy M. White for Tenth district representative.

Nonpolitical—Charles W. Taylor for state superintendent and Henry M. Eaton for county superintendent.

OMAHA, NEB.
EVE. BEE NEWS
SEP 26 1934

Political Group To Meet 4 Times

The Negro Non-partisan Voters and Civic league, meeting Tuesday nighat 2417 No. 24th St., completed plans for four campaign meetings prior to the fall election. Democratic and Republican candidates will appear twice.

Charles Davis, league campaign manager, announced.

Democratic candidates scheduled to speak at the Oct. 2 meeting are Edward S. Burke, for United States senator; Charles F. McLaughlin, for United States Congress; Roy Cochran, for governor; James T. English for county attorney, and John Hopkins, for sheriff. Other candidates will be introduced.

Elections -

Jersey Candidate

DR. GEORGE EMMETT BELL
physician, of Montclair, N.J., who has announced his candidacy for the general assembly on the Republican ticket. He is a graduate of Howard University and is prominent in fraternals.

BURRELL ANNOUNCES FOR LEGISLATURE

Afro-American 2-24-34

NEWARK, N.J.—(DNS)—Former Assemblyman Mercer Burrell has announced his candidacy for nomination in the Republican primaries for re-election to the state legislature.

During his term of office, Mr. Burrell introduced ten bills, the most important of which was the Burrell labor bill which prohibited discrimination in public employment.

Burrell's campaign committee has announced the receipt of endorsements from thirty-five organizations throughout the county, including the leading ministers and officers of principal fraternal orders.

Many Essex Countians have signed a petition in support of Burrell and plans are being made for a gigantic rally and demonstration.

ENGLEWOOD GOP FAILS TO PICK COUNCILMAN

Afro-American

ENGLEWOOD, N.J.—Fourth Ward Republicans failed again last Tuesday night to select a candidate for councilman following withdrawal from the race of Police Commissioner Albert Moskin, president of the Fourth Ward Republican Club, and admittedly the strongest candidate.

Organization followers had assembled with every indication that a unanimous decision would be reached as far as the Fourth Ward Republican Club is concerned regardless of the threatened bolt of the Colored Young Republican Club and the Progressive Political Club to support a colored candidate.

It was openly charged by several of the speakers that threats of reprisal in his business from colored voters in the ward had been made to Moskin in the event that he did not withdraw.

Mrs. Thompson, a leader among the county committeewomen, and a member of the Young Republican Club, assailed both that organization and the Progressive Political Club for their actions as "obstructionism with no good purpose."

Conditions became so bad at one point in the meeting that a motion was introduced that the Fourth Ward Republicans should allow the election to go to the Democrats by default. A motion was finally adopted to defer action to still another meeting.

The Young Republican Club and the Progressive Political Club are using their position as a lever to force concessions and will probably succeed in forcing the issue in the primaries and in the fall for a definite showdown as to whether the colored man in that ward is to receive any recognition or not.

Englewood is only one of the Bergen County cities in which the Republicans' grip has been considerably weakened.

DEMOCRATS PICK DR. ALEXANDER

Afro-American

NEWARK, N.J.—(DNS) — Essex County Democrats have drafted Dr. Walter G. Alexander, former Republican legislator, nationally known physician of Orange, and militant leader for their Assembly ticket.

Dr. Alexander was the first colored man to serve in the New Jersey Legislature, being elected in 1920 and again in 1921, both times on the Republican ticket. In 1931 he bolted the party as a protest against the supposed neglect of the wishes of colored Republicans by the white bosses.

Since joining the Democratic ranks, the doctor has not been very active except in the anti-Baird campaign of 1931. He is supposed to be opposed to the treatment of the colored Democrats by Governor A. Harry Moore and has several times spoken publicly on this subject.

Dr. Leo Granger and Dr. James Lee are still being prominently mentioned for the position in the event that Dr. Alexander should later decide to retire.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER
APR 11 1934

South Orange Builder Gets Congress Call

Incumbent to Run as Seely Faction's Choice in 11th District

BELL FOR ASSEMBLY

County G.O.P. Picks Him to Represent Colored Voters

George H. Becker, prominent South Orange builder, has been designed to run for the Congressional nomination in the 11th Congressional District with support of the Essex County Republican Committee, County Chairman Salmon announced yesterday.

Becker will oppose Representative Cavicchia for the nomination. Following differences with Salmon Cavicchia was cut lose from organization support and will run with the backing of the anti-Salmon faction headed by William H. Seely and Arthrur T. Vanderbilt.

Becker's Record

Becker served 13 years as a member of the South Orange Village Board of Trustees, four of which he was president. He is foreman of the present County Grand Jury, director of the Savings Investment and Trust Co., East Orange; vice president of the Associated Bankers Title and Mortgage Co., and president of the United Republican Club of South Orange.

He developed the Newstead and University Court residential sections of the village. He lives with his wife and two children at 230 Wyoming avenue.

Salmon Foes Busy

The Anti-Salmonites are engaged in compiling their ticket to oppose that of the county committee. They expect to have it ready Friday.

Salmon also announced that Dr. George E. Bell of Montclair would replace Dr. Frank S. Hargraves as representative of colored voters on the Assembly slate.

Dr. Hargraves has served three terms in the Assembly. Dr. Bell was chosen upon recommendation of Russell Gates, Montclair chairman

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER
APR 15 1934

Colored Voters Favor 3 Belleville Candidates

Commissioner Waters, Edward W Abromson and Joseph King, candidates for the Belleville commission yesterday received the endorsement of three colored organizations, the United Brotherhood of Colored Americans, the Belleville Colored Political Club and the Silver Lake Colored Political Club.

A statement said the records of all had been studied and they "would give impartial representation" to Belleville.

HOBOKEN, N. J.
OBSERVER
MAY 2 1934

SPEAKER ASKS SUBPOENAS BE SENT BY MAIL

Eleventh Ward Club Has an Interesting Program of Discussion.

At a meeting of the Eleventh Ward Reublican Club at 334 Palisadle avenue, Jersey City, last night, John Davey criticized the custom of sending out subpoenas by policemen. He said they should be mailed out by the city clerk.

As an illustration of what he meant, he said he knew of a woman in the Eleventh Ward who was ill in bed from a heart attack when a policeman called with a subpoena It was a matter of little importance, but the experience was such a shock to the woman that she fainted and has been under the care of a physician since.

George Jensen, candidate for the Assembly, criticized voting irregularities in the Eleventh Ward. He said investigation had shown that three persons who voted as Republicans n the Eleventh District of the Eleventh Ward had not resided there for four years and that another of these Republican voters had never lived there. This is the district where Anthony Wayne Watson, Richards leader in the ward, lives.

Candidate Residence Confusing

Jensen said that Walter Marron. Republican candidate for Freeholder on the Richards ticket, filed for freeholder from 341 Palisade avenue, for county committeeman from 206 Ogden avenue, and that he resides at 164 Ogden avenue. He said Marron's purpose was to run for committeeman in a different district from the one in which he resides, as he feared he might be defeated in his own district. Jensen said the city clerk had thrown out Marron's petition for committeeman.

Fred Conwell, Negro candidate for the Assembly, who addressed the meeting, said that at the Richards rally for Negroes at Public School No. 14 last night, four of the speakers were from outside the county and two outside the State

Another speaker was James Borden of the Dan Fitzhenry Association.

It was announced that George Jensen and President John V. Hartung would hold a school for election officers and candidates for county committeemen and women in the clubrooms on May 8, 9 and 13.

Mrs. Eliza Amelung reported that Saturday's night's dance was a great success. Mrs. Barnes of 118 Hutton street was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange a pedlar's parade and dance for the last Saturday in May.

President Hartung spoke of the good work done by the Bureau of Elections in getting rid of floaters planted for the election in Union City.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.
COURIER NEWS

MAY 12 1934

NAACP Mass Meeting Hears Office-Seekers

Candidates from both major political parties spoke at the mass meeting under direction of the Good Government Committee of the Plainfield Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at Reform Hall last night.

The Rev. J. V. McIver of Englewood was the principal speaker. He spoke forcefully of the political status of the Negro in New Jersey. Two choruses under the direction of James Bolling and James Upshur sang.

NEWARK, N. J.
EVENING NEWS

MAY 22 1934

Burrell Defends Yancey Support

Asserts Efforts to Make Negro Third Ward Chairman Were Legitimate

J. Mercer Burrell, Negro candidate for Assembly on the Clean Government Republican slate, today denied his attempts to get members of the county committee in the Third Ward to support a Negro for ward chairman were anything but legitimate.

Thirteen of the twenty members of the committee in the ward voted Sunday night for Samuel P. Bernhaut, a legal assistant in the Newark Law Department, as successor to Joseph Heimberg as ward chairman. Another vote for Bernhaut was cast by proxy. Bernhaut is a supporter of Jesse R. Salmon.

Six of the thirteen said Burrell had asked them to support Roger Yancey, Negro. Burrell objected particularly to a statement by Bernhaut that "an attempt had been made by others" to bribe committee members.

"The net result is to produce the impression that the 'others' mentioned were in some way connected with my legitimate attempts to secure votes for a candidate for ward leader," Burrell declared. "Such is absolutely untrue, as my efforts were entirely by way of an appeal to the race pride and loyalty of the thirteen county committee members of the colored race who represent 12,000 members of the race who reside in the Third Ward.

"The gentleman who was most prominently mentioned is a bona fide resident of the ward, and was a supporter of the Clean Government movement. Such a man should have been far more acceptable to the majority of the voters of the Third Ward than a man who actually resides in the Ninth Ward and who supported Chairman Salmon, who was an arch enemy of the Clean Government group.

"I know nothing on which a charge of 'unfair tactics' could be based, unless it is that Mr. Bernhaut believed that he had some proprietary right in the votes of some of the successful county committee contestants because he financed them on Election Day. It would also be an excellent thing to have Mr. Bernhaut list the promises, both financially and by way of patronage, that were made by him and his supporters in order to secure their votes."

REPUBLICAN
Rutherford, N. J.
APR 26 1934

Negro Voters to Meet Here on Monday Night

Negro voters of Rutherford and East Rutherford are urged to attend Monday night's meeting under the auspices of the Colored Voters' Association to be held at Mt. Ararat Baptist Church, at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Hargraves, colored assemblyman from Essex County, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Askew, president of the Colored Voters' Association of Bergen County will also speak. All local and county candidates are invited.

TIMES
Belleville, N. J.
APR 19 1934

COLORED LEAGUE GIVES SUPPORT TO CANDIDATES

The Colored Political League held a meeting Monday evening at 27 High street and endorsed the following candidates: Patrick A. Waters, William H. Williams, William D. Clark and Frank J. Carragher. Charles Sloan is secretary of the group.

Defeat Of Democratic Candidate In New Jersey Laid To DePriest Speech

HOBOKEN, N. J.
OBSERVER

LAWNSIDE, N. J., Nov. 15—(By UNP)—To a speech made by the defeated Congress Oscar DePriest of Illinois in Newark during the recent election is laid the blame for the defeat of Democratic candidates in last Tuesday's election, here.

In the election, Mayor John H. Brown was re-elected over the Democratic candidate, William Williams. Brown received 336 votes and Williams 206 votes. Alfred Wright polled 328 votes and Thos. Lawrence 324 votes on the Republican ticket for City Council while C. W. Moore polled 212 votes and James V. Adams, 210 votes on the Democratic ticket. Vernon Vincent polled 324 votes to fill the unexpired term of Layton C. Brinkley, who resigned several months ago from City Council.

Charles C. Farmer, Sr., ran on the Democratic ticket for the unexpired Council term, but received only 19 votes. A split in the Democratic party added to the DePriest incident to bring its defeat.

The Republicans paraded through Lawnside broadcasting the fact that DePriest had said in his Newark speech that anyone who voted a Democratic ticket was a "skunk." This speech was made during the Newark campaign when DePriest appeared at the William Street Kean-Hoffman headquarters followed by an armed guard.

Mayor Brown has been chief executive of New Jersey's all-colored borough for a number of terms. Williams, his opponent, has been a constant candidate for the mayoralty post. Not only a election time, but also when issues arise in the council at their monthly meetings, Williams has frequent clashes with Brown and other Republicans.

Williams is along in years, but is noted for his nerve and vigor. Every election, he points out, the Democratic figures mount.

This year the Democrats published their own newspaper here. The job as mayor pays no salary, but it will do so when the population of Lawnside reaches a higher figure.

OCT 16 1934

Colored Voters Hear Kean

Meeting in Lincoln High School Preceded by Parade —Senator Sees Doom of Individual Liberty, Equal Opportunity.

Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican candidate for reelection, carried forward his attack on the policies of the Roosevelt administration in an address at a rally of negro voters in Lincoln High School, Jersey City, last night. The rally, at which Raymond Alleyne was chairman, was preceded by a parade of negro and independent Republican units.

Senator Kean charged that the New Deal program of the Democratic administration would spell the doom of individual liberty and equal opportunity. He said:

"People came from foreign shores to this country to find liberty. They came to seek the opportunities that were guaranteed under our constitution.

"That is what we still want. That is what we are fighting for—equal opportunity for all—equal jjustice for all, black and white.

"That is good democratic doctrine. Good Democrats were for that doctrine for many years. Now they are going to regiment the people. It means that if a man is a shoemaker he remains a shoemaker all his life. It means that not only will a man be forced to remain in his same jojb all his life, but that, also, his children will be destined to the same work.

"People came here for American opportunity to better themselves. Now they find not the American plan, but the European plan. I want to see the broad road of individual opportunity which America has followed for 147 years kept open. That is what I am fighting for. That is why I think you should vote for me."

Anti-Lynching Bill

Senator Kean spoke, also, of his efforts to obtain passage for his anti-lynching bill and other measures to aid the negroes. He received a warm greeting from the crowd.

In the absence of Harold G. Hoffman, gubernatorial candidate, State Senator John C. Barbour, of Passaic, spoke in his behalf. The state Senator chided Judge William L. Dill on the jjury reform issue, claiming that the Democrats had constantly blocked real jury reform.

The speaker declared, also, that Judge Dill had borrowed from his own and other Republicans' tax relief plans to build up his tax program. He charged that Dill would find it impossible to make the 21 per cent reduction in taxes he promised and still raise $10,000,000 more per year.

He commended Hoffman's declaration that he would agree to new taxes before he would let anyone starve.

Other speakers at the rally included: J. Owen Grundy, candidate for the Boulevard Commission; Anthony L. Montelli, candidate for Congress; George M. Eichler, candidate for State Senator, and several Negro leaders.

A group of Grundy supporters numbering about 500, formed the largest single unit in the parade They marched from Grundy's home on Park street, to Union street where the parade formed. There was a noisy demonstration when the paraders reached the hall.

Political - 1934

Elections.

New Jersey.

HOBOKEN, N. J.
OBSERVER

SEP 28 1934

Says Negroes Will Back Hoffman, Kean

Citing the failure to appoint a loyal negro Democrat as postmaster at Vaux Hall, in Union County, Fred M. Conwell, Hudson County's colored Republican candidate for Assembly charged last night at a meeting in People's Palace, Jersey City, the Democratic party as being "faithless as of old."

He declared that although Robert M. Kearse and Dr. John E. Watts ranked first and second on the Civil Service list, their qualifications have been ignored because of pigmy-minded prejudices of the Union County Democratic officials.

Negro Democrats will support wholehearted the Hoffman-Kean ticket because of such glaring inconsistencies as the Vaux Hall episode, he said.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.
COURIER-NEWS

DEC 1 0 1934

Negro Council Candidate Is Planned in '35

Negroes of the city will have a candidate for councilman-at-large next year, it was indicated today. The United Republican Club, 324 Richmond Street, is backing Edward H. Yetman, 625 East Third Street, as one of the Republican nominees. The club also is backing Meyer Canter for city clerk.

Mr. Yetman is a clerk with the New York brokerage firm of Carlisle Mellick & Company, 50 Broadway. He has been with the firm for 20 years and was in New York City today as usual. His wife was very certain, however, that he knew nothing of the move to get him to run in the 1935 primary.

Joseph A. Garner, a former president and one of the organizers of the United Republican Club, ran for councilman-at-large in the Republican primary of 1931 but was defeated. He was identified with the Democrats in this year's campaign.

The United Republican Club met last evening with 100 members in attendance, according to Moses Chandler. Mr. Yetman was selected to run for councilman and Mr. Canter was endorsed unanimously for city clerk.

The club, Mr. Chandler said, also went on record to this effect:

"We feel that unless the workers of the party are rewarded for their work it will be impossible to obtain the support of the people for the Republican party."

Political - 1934

New York.

Elections

Young Negro Seeks Assembly Nomination From 21st District

The New York County Colored Democratic Association, Inc., with headquarters at 402 West 140th St., is sponsoring the nomination of Carson DeWitt Baker for the Assembly from the 21st A. D. For a number of years, the district, although 75 percent colored, has been represented in the lower house of the Legislature by a white man.

Mr. Baker is a native of Wilson County, Kansas, and is 29 years of age. He came east to live with relatives in Philadelphia when but a small boy. He attended the public schools of the Quaker City and the University of Pennsylvania. He has recently been a student at New York University and is now doing research work in Public Administration and Government at N. Y. U.

His name will be entered in the fall primaries as a candidate for the regular Democratic nomination.

PRIMARY ELECTION RESULTS.

Last Thursday's primary vote, in which Thomas B. Dyett of the District Attorney's Office defeated James C. Thomas for membership on the Democratic State Committee by 1,549 to 953, signifies that the fight for Negro leadership in the 21st Assembly District virtually has been won. Both Mr. Dyett and Mr. Thomas are Negroes, but the latter was backed by Leader Thomas F. Murray, who entertains hopes of making a relative his successor when his term expires next year.

The Ramapo Democratic Club, Mr. Dyett's political sponsor, while organized by white Democrats, fully appreciates the reasonableness of colored Democrats that the leadership should go to the racial group whose voting ratio in the district is 11 to 5. It is doubtful, however, that the Chicopee Club would have been so soundly trounced had it not been for the valuable assistance given by the Beavers Democratic Club and other independent voters opposed to the Murray regime.

It is said the Beavers threw their strength to the Ramapo candidates with the distinct understanding that members of the latter organization look with favor on future Negro leadership in the 21st A. D. It was just a year ago that the Beavers, under the leadership of Henri W. Shields, conducted an aggressive campaign to wrest the mantle from Thomas F. Murray, and almost succeeded. This year the Beavers Democratic Club was temporarily torn by dissension when Shields aligned himself with Murray.

Eustace V. Dench, the organization designee for the Assembly, also met defeat at the hands of William T. Andrews. The Ramapo's choice won by 1,040 majority. The G. O. P. machine candidate for the Assembly likewise lost, J. Dalmus Steele, popular Elk, getting more votes than H. C. Burton.

Despite the fight made by Hughey Masterson and Chauncey Hooper, each of whom wants to be district leader, against Martin J. Healy, the organization candidate won. Dr. Godfrey Nurse was elected to the Democratic State Committee, and J. E. Stephens is up for re-election to the Assembly. Until the colored voters of the 19th emulate the example of those in the 21st—organize and carry on an intelligent, incessant campaign—the obnoxious Healy who is a discredit to the community, will continue to remain in power.

Friends and supporters of Controller Joseph D. McGoldrick are elated over the remarkable showing he made for the Democratic nomination. Frank J. Taylor received 282,809 votes to Mr. McGoldrick's 190,647. Mr. Taylor, regular Democrat, won by a 92,162 majority, which is not comparable with the one-sided vote usually polled by Tammany candidates prior to the 1933 uprising. On the basis of the big vote given him by Republicans and independent Democrats in the primary election, Joseph D. McGoldrick stands an excellent chance of being retained in office next November.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
NEWS
OCT 13 1934

Negro Portia Seeks Assembly Post; Favors Social Reforms

By SALLY MacDOUGALL

A MONTH from now Mrs. Eunice Hunton Carter hopes she will be in the New York assembly. Her election would make her the proud possessor of a prefix that never yet has been earned by a woman of her race.

The young Negro woman, who was graduated 10 years ago from Smith College and has her own law office near her home in Harlem, sat in the City Fusion party headquarters today and explained why she was setting out to become the first Negro woman to hold a major political office. She will work nights and days in the next few weeks, she said, spellbinding from pulpits and platforms and street corner boxes urging voters of the 19th Assembly District to let her represent them in Albany.

Her principal political objective, Mrs. Carter explained, was to promote social legislation that would make life easier for her people and create better earning conditions for them.

TUTORED AT COLLEGE

Working nights will be no new experience for this self-made lawyer. She said that it was by tutoring at night that she helped to work her way thru college.

It took a lot of night work, she recalled, to break a record at Smith by becoming the first girl of her race to earn B. A. and M. A. degrees in four years and to help pay her way by tutoring.

"Social legislation for old people and workers interested me more than anything else in the world," Mrs. Carter said. "The principal promise I am making in my speeches is that I shall work for such causes as old age pensions, unemployment insurance, workers' compensation and a better deal for household servants. For years I have felt that household servants should be included in workers' compensation laws."

FATHER WITH Y. M. C. A.

She also thinks it is unfair to compel "broken old people" to wait until they are 70 before becoming eligible for old age pensions.

Mrs. Carter began taking an interest in other people's welfare when she was a child in Atlanta, she recalled, and her father was the first international secretary of his race for the Y. M. C. A. When she was in high school her mother was sent to France as the first Negro woman to work for the Y. M. C. A.

STEPHENS WINS AGAIN IN N. Y. ASSEMBLY RACE

Chicago Defender 11-10-34

Sweeps to Victory In Landslide

By BESSYE J. BEARDEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Democratic political landslide which swept Governor Herbert H. Lehman to victory by more than 850,000 votes carried the tail with the head when Assemblyman James Edward Stephens was again re-elected for the fourth time from the 19th assembly district.

Assemblyman Stephens experienced little difficulty in defeating Attorney Eunice Hunton Carter, one of the ablest women in the Race. She is a graduate of Smith college and Fordham university. Congressman Joseph A. Gavagan, a friend of the Race, was easily a winner.

J. Dalmus, the "Mayor" of Harlem, a staunch Republican, was no match for William Andrews, Democrat, in the race for a place in the Assembly from the 21st district.

The collapse of the Republican party in New York City was in sharp contrast to Tammany Hall, boisterously hitting the comeback trail from its disastrous defeat of last November at the hands of the fusion party in the municipal election.

The striking pluralities of Democratic candidates were due almost entirely to the New York city vote. Only for Lehman did upstate New York desert its traditional Republicanism to hand over a substantial majority of the vote.

Missed Her Goal

To be the first colored woman ever to be elected a member of a law-making body in the United States was the honor unsuccessfully sought by Mrs. Eunice Hunton Carter, above, of New York City. Mrs. Carter ran on the Republican ticket for election to the Assembly and had city-wide endorsement. Her mother, Mrs. Addie (Waites) Hunton was born in Norfolk.

Andrew Stephens Wins; Mrs. Carter, Steele Lose in N.Y.

Phila-Amsterdam
11-10-34
Baltimore Md.

(Special to the AFRO)

NEW YORK—The Democratic column won the two colored assemblymen who were elected on the Democratic sweep Tuesday, a sweep which was first and foremost a vote of confidence for the New Deal of the Democratic President, Roosevelt.

James E. Stephens won a fifth term, defeating Mrs. Eunice Hunton Carter, Republican, in the Nineteenth District.

William T. Andrews climbed to his first public office over J. Dalmus Steele, Republican, of the Twenty-first District. Andrews won by over 4,000, the largest majority a candidate for the assembly has ever amassed.

The greatest surprise was in the Nineteenth, where the training, the reputation, and the significant endorsements of Mrs. Carter were expected to nose our Stephens, despite the fact that he had run over all Republican opposition since 1930. The vote was, Stephens, 7,582; Carter, 6,005; Andrews, 10,832; Steele, 6,701.

Both Mrs. Carter and Steele, although defeated, ran ahead of their Republican colleagues in the district. Andrews, whose election is also a victory for the insurgent Ramapo Democratic Club, will help to give the Democratic majority full control of the lower state house for the first time in eleven years.

It will also give to Harlem two assemblymen, where it has had only one in the past several years.

Andrews, happy, and surrounded by a host of friends, early Wednesday morning, told the AFRO:

"I am very grateful for the very whole-hearted support that the people of my district have given me and I will do everything I can to merit it."

Stephens made the following statement:

"I am grateful for the continued influence of my constituents."

Sol Bloom and Joseph Gavagan, white incumbent Democratic Congressman, from the Nineteenth and Twenty-first Districts, respectively, were re-elected. The unprecedented day of ballot-casting which catapulted a Democratic comptroller into the Fusion, anti-Tammany administration of Mayor LaGuardia, was a landslide in every way.

Democrats won; Republicans were left trailing, and the minor parties didn't have a chance.

Brief Biographical Sketches Of Candidates In New York State

Jan. 1935

NEW YORK CITY— Herewith are presented brief sketches of the candidates for state office in New York and a summary of the platforms on which they ran in Tuesday's election.

JAMES E. STEPHENS

James E. Stephens, successful Democratic candidate for the Assembly in the nineteenth district, to succeed himself, is a loyal Tammany man, and the "machine" has put him over in four elections, since the Democratic sweep of 1930.

Mr. Stephens is a graduate of the Howard University law school, but has never practiced. He is interested in real estate and other ventures.

He was not endorsed by any of the non-partisan agencies because, to quote the bulletine of the Citizens' Union, although "likeable," he is an "ineffective organization man."

Mr. Stephens introduced and saw through an amendment to the state alcoholic law which provides that any establishment dealing in liquors which draws the color line in the accommodation of patrons, may lose licenses. Another law passed under his sponsorship made illegal any racial discrimination on state and municipal work projects.

J. DALMUS STEELE

J. Dalmus Steele, unsuccessful candidate for the Assembly in the twenty-first district, had to compete against William T. Andrews, Democrat, a graduate of Howard University and the Columbia law school.

Mr. Steele is a self-made man, with a fine reputation for honesty and an unchallengeable record for interest in the community.

He was born in Eutaw, Alabama, in 1889; went as far as the Alabama normal schools of his time, and then came to New York. Here he studied business at Heffley's Institute, Brooklyn, and has tried his hands in real estate and in the printing business.

He is best known however, as a leading figure of the St. Mark's Methdist Episcopal Church, as a past exalted ruler of Manhattan Lodge of Elks and now district deputy and as a powerful speaker.

There is scarcely an activity of civic and social welfare importance in the city in which he has not taken a part and which he has not aided by compaigning or by his contributions.

Last year he was nominated and was ceded a good chance to win, but mechanical difficulties on the voting machines kept a large number of his followers from being able to vote for him.

Mr. Steele is married and lives with his family at 137 Edgecombe Avenue.

WILLIAM T. ANDREWS

William T. Andrews, 35, successful Democratic candidate in the 21st Assembly district, wore the colors of the Ramapo Democratic Club, a political organization which has been fighting for a new deal uptown, so far as Democratic politics is concerned.

He won supporters from both insurgent Democrats who want to see new leadership and from the regular organization, but he is still remembered as the insurgent who ran against the Chicopee (regular) candidate in the primaries.

He was born in South Carolina, was graduated from Howard University and from the Columbia Law School. He is an Elk and a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Mr. Andrews is noted best, however, for his seven years as counsel to the local National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, during which time he won many cases against discrimination. He has also drafted bills seeking fuller rights and safeguards for Negroes.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews live at 408 Edgecombe Avenue.

PLATFORMS

There was little difference in the platforms of the several candidates. The Democrats promised to "uphold the hands of President Roosevelt," but beyond that all candidates presented a list of promises especially suited for their community.

Mr. Steele is particularly interested in getting domestic servants under the State Compensation Law; the others want immediate action on slum clearance, or unemployment insurance, or to check credit houses in the "unjust confiscation" of furniture bought on the installment plan.

All candidates wanted appointments of the Harlem districts so that it will be possible to send a Negro to Congress, and lower rates for electricity gas and telephone service.

FLUSHING, N. Y.
NORTH SIDE JOURNAL

DEC 8 1934

Urge Negro Candidate

The Progressive Republican Club of Corona will insist that the next candidate for alderman be a Negro. At a meeting of the Corona Club Thursday night in Community hall the county committeemen were instructed to order the nominating committee to designate a Negro as the Republican candidate for alderman at the next election.

Political - Negro

North Carolina

Elections.

Raleigh, N. C. Times
April 14, 1934

NEGRO SEEKS WAKE OFFICE

Local Negro Running As Democrat For Justice Of Peace

A Negro of this city Saturday joined the large number of Democratic candidates who will seek nomination for county offices in the June primary.

He is H. C. High, of 554 East Davie Street, who filed with the Wake Board of Elections as a candidate for justice of the peace in Raleigh Township.

High informed Secretary Harvey Correll, of the board, that he is affiliated with the Democratic party but otherwise he made no reference to his candidacy or explained what prompted him to seek office.

As far as old politicians can remember, it will be the first time that a Negro has sought public office in Wake County since the Reconstruction days directly after the War Between the States. Local Negroes have taken much part in recent elections and several thousand of them are registered on the polling books.

Only 11 Filed

So far, only 11 candidates for offices have filed their notices with the board of elections. About 30 have formally announced their candidacies.

The latest to announce for the House of Representatives is Fred M. Pearce, attorney of Wendell. He makes the 18th candidate seeking the three seats in the House branch of the General Assembly. Mr. Pearce is a graduate of Wake Forest College and has been practicing law for ten years. At one time he was prosecutor in the Recorder's Court at Wendell. Two years ago Wake had 19 House candidates.

Those who have filed their notices, in addition to High, are:

Lloyd Tilley, clerk of court; N. F. Turner, sheriff; Hunter Ellington, register of deeds; W. H. Royster, R. N. Templeton, S. E. Douglass, F. C. Handy and Harlie E. Glenn, House of Representatives; F. L. Blake, constable of House Creek township; and R. P. Upchurch, judge of the Recorder's Court at Apex.

Raleigh, N. C., News & Observer
April 26, 1934

BRUMMITT CONSIDERS DESIGNATION OF RACE

Will Rule on Question Arising From Candidacy of Negro for Magistrate

Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt was asked yesterday to rule if the race of a Negro candidate for office can be designated on election ballots.

Raymond Maxwell, secretary of the State Board of Elections, requested the ruling for Harvey C. Correll, chairman of the Wake County Board of Elections.

Correll said if the law will permit, the name of Henry C. High, Negro candidate for justice of the peace in Raleigh Township, will appear on the ballots in the June primary with a designation of his race. High, who says he is a Democrat, is the first Negro to seek public office in Raleigh since 1919.

Raleigh, N. C., News & Observer
June 1, 1934

NEGRO CANDIDATES' NAMES ON TICKET

Are Last in List of 44 Justice of Peace Candidates For Raleigh

Names of two Negroes will appear on the Raleigh township ballot in the Democratic primary Saturday. Both are seeking nomination for the office of Justice of the Peace, for which each voter is supposed to vote for 40 candidates.

There are 44 candidates. The first 42 names appearing on the ticket are those of white people. The names of the Negroes are H. C. High and Ollie D. Chavis.

Delaney Elected To Precinct Committee In Raleigh

RALEIGH, N. C.—A Negro was elected to a precinct Democratic Committee here last Saturday. There are 19 precincts. The man elected was Dr. J. L. Delaney, Raleigh physician and brother to Hubert Delaney, attorney and tax commissioner in New York City and a one-time candidate for Congress.

Dr. Delaney was elected when Negroes at the meeting in Precinct 10, of which the polling place is the Soldier's Home and which includes a large Negro vote in the St. Augustine College area, outvoted whites and succeeded in naming him as the fifth man on the precinct committee, displacing P. B. Friffis, who was up for re-election.

Negroes Defeated In Primary For Magistracy

RALEIGH, N. C.—Henry C. High and Ollie Chavis, colored aspirants for the magistracy of Raleigh Township in Wake County, who ran in the Democratic primary of June 2, were defeated by their white opponents. Forty of the 42 white candidates were nominated.

Mr. High and Mr. Chavis carried the three precincts under the domination of Negroes, numbers 10, 15 and 16. They were overwhelmingly defeated in all the other precincts.

Elected

Dr. Lemuel T. Delaney, above, who was elected to the tenth precinct Democratic committee in Raleigh, N. C., June 2, is one of the most active politicians in this section of the state. The tenth precinct is almost entirely controlled by Negroes. Dr. Delaney is resident surgeon of St. Agnes Hospital and is the son of the late Bishop Delaney.

Two Negro Justices Of The Peace Are Elected To Office On Democratic Ticket In Durham

DURHAM, N. C.—In the Democratic landslide which swept the country on Tuesday, two Negroes were elected Justices of the Peace on the Democratic ticket for the first time in history here. The last time a Negro Justic of the Peace was elected, it was on the Republican ticket and that was a half-century ago.

The two men who accomplished this hithertofore unheard of achievement are L. F. Austin, editor of the Carolina Times, and F. K. Watkins, owner of a string of movie houses in the South. Austin is said to have led the ticket.

This occurrence is expected to arouse considerable comment all over the country and interested individuals are watchfully awaiting the statements to come from various quarters anent the situation. One of the first important comments is found in an article in the Greensboro Daily News, one of the largest white daily newspapers in North Carolina. The article, which, although presumably a news story, contains considerable editorializing, follows:

RALEIGH, Nov. 8—Democratic dry grins are written all over Durham faces as final returns come in and the electors discover that they elected two Negroes as justices of the peace on the Democratic ticket.

L. F. Austin, editor of the Carolina Times, is said to have led the ticket, and F. K. Watkins, "moving picture magnate," in Haiti, is the other. Both were on the regular ticket and won easily. Neither of these new judges could be seen this afternoon, but friends of both say they will qualify and actually hold court.

They will of course not have any such powers as inhere in the Supreme court, but Editor Austin may be able to send many a ticklish question to that Supreme court. Recently he has indicated that if President Roosevelt names Chief Justice Stacy for the next Supreme court appointment in Washington, the Carolina Times will make war on the nomination. But that isn't serious. The Democrats have more than two-thirds of the United States senate. They can confirm Justice Stacy if he is nominated

But a justice of the peace can get important legislation on the way. The Durham editor is in a position now to do that thing. If an issue involving race rights can take a start in his court he can put it up to the highest tribunal finally. There will probably be such issues. And the Democrats have this man on their hands.

Democrats Elect Two Negroes in N. Carolina

DURHAM, N. C.—(ANP)— The Democratic landslide which swept the nation, last week, also swept into office Frederick K. Watkins, past grand traveling deputy of the Elks, and L. E. Austin, editor and publisher of the Carolina Times. Both the Negro candidates were running for the office of justice of the peace and obtained a surprisingly large vote, with a big sprinklin of white votes mixed in.

NEGRO DEMOCRATIC VICTORS

Press dispatches from Durham N. C. contained the extraordinary information to the effect that two Negro Democrats were swept into offices there as justices of the peace in the recent Democratic landslide.

Much significance is being attached to the successes of these two race men, and quite naturally so.

For it is on record that in all the history of this North Carolina city no Negro aspirant to such an office was ever elected on the Democratic ticket.

It is equally noteworthy that not since a Republican administration fifty years ago has the Durham electorate seen fit to elect members of our group to any such offices of trust and responsibility.

Whether not this N. Carolina paradox will precipitate in their prejudiced community any measure of disagreeable experience for the Justice of the Peace-elects, remains to be seen seen.

The important thing is revealed in the fact that the New Deal has already accomplished much in the short period of two years which the opposite party has failed to do in a half century.

To us it looks like the slow dawning of a new day for Negro citizens of the Southland.

If so, any such improvement in the sociological life our people down there will be a boon to the entire nation.

Selma, N. C. Johnstonian
November 15, 1934

Two Negroes Named Justices In Durham

L. F. Austin and F. K. Watkins Are Elected As Magistrates On Democratic Ticket.

Raleigh, Nov. 9.—Democratic dry grins are written all over Durham faces as the final returns come in and the electors discover that they elected two negroes as justices of the peace on the Democratic ticket

L. F. Austin, editor of the Carolina Times ,is said to have led the ticket, and F. K. Watkins, "moving picture magnate," in Haiti, is the other. Both were on the regular ticket and won easily. Neither of these new judges could be seen this afternoon, but friends of both say they will qualify and actually hold court.

They will of course not have any such powers as inhere in the Supreme court but Editor Austin may be able to send many a ticklish question to that Supreme court. Recently he has indicated that if President Roosevelt names Chief Justice Stacy for the next Supreme court appointment in Washington the Carolina Times will make war on the nomination. But that isn't serious. The Democrats have more than two-thirds of the United States senate They can confirm Justice Stacy if he is nominated.

But a justice of the peace can get important legislation on the way. The Durham editor is in position now to do that thing. If an issue involving race rights can take a start in his court he can put it up to the highest tribunal finally. There will probably be such issues. And the Democrats have this man on their hands.

WILMINGTON, N. C.
STAR

OCT 25 19[illegible]

JUDGE STACY AND THE SUPREME BENCH

WHILE close observers have been confident for some time now that the first Roosevelt vacancy on the supreme court bench will be offered to Chief Justice STACY, of the North Carolina court, it has, strangely enough, remained for a negro organization to come closest to giving confirmation.

This week, representatives of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are questioning leaders of their own race i North Carolina regarding the record of the Wilmington jurist with regard to racial matters. Thus far, it is reported not even enemies of the judge among the negroes have been able to find the slightest flaw in his judicial record.

It was this same society that paved the way for defeat when Judge PARKER, of North Carolina, was nominated by President HOOVER, stirring such a fight in the senate, confirmation being lost by the narrowest possible margin.

While PARKER was the victim of circumstances in that he had made a remark regarding negro suffrage, and an opinion dealing with "yellow dog" contracts to plague him, Judge STACY will have neither. The PARKER remark, as we recall, was made during a campaign in which he was a candidate for governor and before he became a member of the judiciary. Judge STACY having never campaigned for state office, aside judgeships, has therefore never been called upon to stump the state in his own behalf.

Judge STACY is fitted by training, knowledge, and temperament to adorn the highest court in the country, and his local friends have for months been fairly certain that he would eventually be named.

Informed Washington opinion is that several vacancies may occur during the ROOSEVELT administration.

Beaufort, N. C., News
November 15, 1934

DURHAM ELECTS NEGRO MAGISTRATES

About thirty years ago there was great resentment among white people because some Negro magistrates were appointed or elected in some of the eastern counties. Now history seems to be about to repeat itself, this time in Durham, a Piedmont city. In the recent election two Negroes running on the Democratic ticket were elected. Had they been Republicans they could not have been elected. There are several cities in North Carolina which have large Negro populations, notably Winston-Salem, Wilmington and New Bern. Charlotte and Greensboro also have pretty large colored populations.. It seems inevitable that with the spread of education among the colored people, which is going on rather rapidly, that the colored people will demand some part of the offices. Charleston, S. C. has a few Negro policemen but we do not know whether they have any magistrates or not.

Charlotte, N. C., News
November 11, 1934

Durham Democrats unknowingly elected two Negroes as justices of the peace, one of them an editor of a Negro newspaper who is a zealous champion of his race. Life at Durham, even with John Sprunt Hill down at Raleigh legislating, promises to retain a bit of excitement during the coming winter.

Political — 1934

Elections.

North Carolina

Negro Democrat Seeks Office In Raleigh, N. C.

Advertiser

RALEIGH, N. C., April 15.—(AP)—For the first time since fusionist days of the 1890's, a negro is seeking public office in Raleigh, and on the Democratic ticket.

4-16-34

Henry C. High, waiter, filed notice yesterday of his candidacy for justice of peace in Raleigh township. He handed in his fee to Harvey C. Correll, secretary to the Wake board of elections, and, when asked his party affiliation, answered "Democrat."

The last negro to run for office here was Jim Young, who was elected to the Legislature back in the '90's.

Political - 1934

Elections

Ohio.

Councilman

JOHN E. HUBBARD

newly elected member of the city council of Cleveland from the 18th ward, who took office last week and joins Dr. Leroy Bundy of the 17th ward and Lawrence O. Payne of the 17th ward as another colored representative in this body.

RECORD WINS NOMINATION FOR OHIOAN

Negro Voters Support Congressman Young in Primaries

COLUMBUS, O. — Thomas J. Davis, former Kansas Citian, and now campaign manager for the Ohio State Democratic League has made public a recent letter from Stephen M. Young, renominated as congressman for his second term, in which he expresses appreciation for the Negro vote and shows by his record that he has the interests of all his constituents at heart.

This kind of teamwork between candidate and his constituents is helping to build up a strong organization among Negro Democrats in the state where there have been few heretofore, Mr. Davis says.

The letter to Mr. Davis follows:

"That I was nominated by such a substantial plurality is due entirely to the support and efforts of real friends like you and members of your league. I shall not be forgetful of this support.

Favored Anti-lynch Bill

"As your congressman, I spoke in favor of the anti-lynching bill. I publicly stated as follows:

"Mob violence from time to time seems to take the helm. Recently a number of men have been lynched while lawfully imprisoned and awaiting trial. This is a great wrong. Also great danger lurks in the abandonment of constitutional law and order in the resort to mob rule. Mobs are dangerous. They lack judgment. They are brutal. They provoke anarchy; might, perhaps, ignite the flame of bloody revolution. It is but a step from taking lives of criminals by mob violence to taking property from those who possess by those who are hungry and unemployed. Certainly there should be a real distribuition of wealth in this country, but let us pray that it is accomplished by orderly process. In fact, a bloodless revolution has been under way during the past year.

"Also, as your Congressman, I voted against the impeachment of United States Judge Lowell. Judge Lowell had released a colored man (George Crawford) on a writ of habeas corpus. The defendant was charged with murder, and a Virginia congressman in whose state the murder was committeed instituted impeachment proceedings. The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee, most southern Democrats and a large number of northern Republicans voting in favor of it.

"I voted against it.

Supported DePriest

"Also, as your Congressman, I voted in favor of the DePriest resolution to investigate alleged discrimination in the house restaurant.

"I felt that we as citizens of a nation founded by people in search of religious liberty, should still fight on for principles so dear to all lovers to liberty and that there should be no discrimination because of race or religion.

"I am running for a second term as Congressman-at-large upon my record.

STEPHEN M. YOUNG
1421 Guarantee Title Bldg.
Cleveland, Ohio.

May Elect Two Negroes to Congress

ASSURED OF ONE NEGRO CONGRESSMAN

Two Negroes may be elected to the Congress of the United States on November 6th, 1934, making possible the largest representation for our group that has been in Congress for more than a quarter of a century.

We are assured of at least one Negro congressman. He will come from the first congressional district of Illinois. Congressman Oscar DePriest will be opposed by Arthur Mitchell, a Negro who has been nominated on the Democratic ticket. Either he or DePriest will be elected.

The other chance for a Negro congressman is in Detroit, Mich. Attorney Charles Roxborough, former state senator, has been nominated for Congress.

Congressman DePriest was elected to Congress in 1929 and has served ever since. Previous to his election no Negro had served in Congress since George H. White of North Carolina retired in 1901 after four years service.

Only 25 Negroes have been elected to Congress. The first was J. H. Menard of Louisiana in 1868, five years after the Emancipation Proclamation.

A few of those elected to congress served again in later years.

Only two Negroes have served in the Senate of the United States. They were Hiram R. Revels of Mississippi, 1870-1871, and Blanche K. Bruce of Mississippi, 1875-1881.

There are 96 senators and 435 representatives that make up the list of members of Congress.

There are enough Negroes in Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore to send a Negro congressman from each city.

Political-1934
Elections.

Oklahoma

"The Will Of The Majority"

The best and most pertinent reasons why Negroes in Oklahoma should vote the Democratic ticket are supplied by former Senator W. B. Pine, in a letter written to this writer back in 1929. At that time this writer was attempting to secure Senator Pine's endorsement of a plan by which the Republicans in the federal structure could match the patronage set-up of the Democrats in the State of Oklahoma.

We want to call every Negro in Oklahoma to attention. There is just one paragraph in Senator Pine's letter which is important, and to which we want to give exposition. Says Senator Pine:

> "This government is bottomed on the principles of the will of majority rule, regardless of the fact that in some Southern states this is not permitted. I feel that the will of the majority in Oklahoma should be the law of the land."

Every spineless Republican who goes into office in Oklahoma and the Southland, dodges behind that subterfuge. These governmental shadow-boxers, trembling in their boots, forget that parties are nothing except that they represent principles in government, and that once in office they should fight for the principles of their party because they are right, rather than allow themselves to be swallowed up in the philosophy of the other fellow.

We agree with Mr. Pine that this government is bottomed on the principles of majority rule. All enlightened nations believe in this theory of control, and this writer believes that the security of this nation rests in the adoption and administration of this principle.

It is the duty, however, of political parties and the leaders whom such parties place in high office, to fight always for the ideals of their organization in order that the majority of the people will be won over to their theory of right and government. It should be clearly understood that men are demagogues and dissemblers, who climb into office supporting one set of principles, and then embracing expediency, in order to continue in office, submit to the ideals of the opposing political unit.

For instance, if Senator Pine believes in the will of the majority, why is it that he did not raise his voice against disfranchisement in Okfuskee and Wagoner counties in Oklahoma while he was United States Senator? One can have quite an argument as to what is the "will of the majority." In Wagoner county the majority of voters are Negroes. What does Senator Pine think about, or care about the will of that majority?

The record shows that during the six years Senator Pine was in the United States Senate he wilfully and knowingly ignored the will of the majority of voters in these two political units in Oklahoma. The record will further show that after the citizens in Okfuskee county had appealed to the central government and achieved their objectives, he stood speechless, and apparently acquiesced in the withdrawal of these rights by a state group who represented the opposing political party in his state.

If Senator Pine could not promote the interests of the majority in Wagoner and Okfuskee County, Oklahoma, while supported by a Republican majority in Congress, what can we expect of him, and what can he offer to these majorities in Oklahoma if he is elected governor?

To this question Senator Pine has answered in plain language. He says this: "I feel that the will of the majority in Oklahoma should be the law of the land."

Now, there need not be any confusion as to what Senator Pine meant when he made that statement. He means that the majority of the people in this state are Democrats, and that because all Negroes are supposed to vote the Republican ticket, the majority (who are Democrats) have decided to disfranchise them. Do not get the wrong idea. You are not disfranchised because you are black, but because as Negroes we support the program of the minority party and ignore the "will of the majority."

To all Negroes not incarcerated in the insane asylum at Taft, it should be patent that the important thing to do in Oklahoma, and anywhere citizens vote, that as a minority group Negroes should cast their votes with the majority political party. Senator Pine argues that you cannot get around the will of the majority, in which we agree. "It is the law of the land." It is the argument made by a Negro Republican Congressman, Oscar DePriest, who said recently, "If I lived in Oklahoma, I'd vote the Democratic ticket, because Democrats control this state, and I would want to make my peace with the folk who control government."

In Oklahoma the potential Negro voting strength is around 70,000. At present, according to the state election board, around 44,000 are now voting. Occasionally there is a threat of Republican control, but usually it ends on election day with a bunch of alibis and a continuation of Democratic rule. If Negro leadership in this state will be sensible and swing solidly to Democratic support there is no reason why in a few years every black man who wants his suffrage will not have it. The majority will want the Negro vote because of its value and the permanent security it offers in control.

Voting with the Democrats in this state will turn the "will of the majority" for Negroes. Voting with Repub-

Plain Political Horse Sense

This year the Black Dispatch sent out a questionnaire to all of the Democratic candidates regarding issues in which Negroes are interested. We were utterly surprised at the liberal and advanced positions taken by these representatives of the majority party in Oklahoma. Many of these answers were published in the columns of this paper, so that our readers are conversant with the attitude assumed at that time.

In addition to this, in public speeches and everywhere, Democratic candidates have taken advanced ground on many vexing questions which concern Negroes and in every instance the reasonable demands made have been met and there has been a unity of minds.

This publication supported Senator Anglin during the primary campaign, and before we knew that he would withdraw from the race we openly stated in these columns that we would support Senator Anglin as against Congressman Marland. We gave our reasons then from which we do not recede. We would take the same position now were Senator Anglin in the race.

As between former Senator Pine and Congressman Marland, new issues arise. Fundamentally, the issue is which party offers most. Of course, personalities enter into the picture, but back behind the scene, and the calcium light where governors stand, is the might and power of party principle.

As we said sometime ago, we changed our political front in Oklahoma because we have decided Negro Republicans are fighting against a brick wall. No black man in Oklahoma has more vigorously fought the Democratic party than this writer, only to discover that twenty-five years have been lost. We feel that this year we are approaching this election and entering this campaign with a clearer vision than ever before.

When this government was founded and its constitution written, two opposing factions battled in that constitutional convention. There were those who felt that a slight of state will and state sentiment forming the cornerstone of d of control should gather the colonies together in op-ion to foreign aggression, but that practically all of the r and authority hitherto exercises within each indi-l colony should be retained. These men were called Federalists.

nother group called Federalists, believe in a strong cengovernment with uniformity of laws. The first politi-battles following the revolution were fought out on this
nd. Whether you like it or not, the men who wrote Constitution of the United States were Anti-Federal-and they saw to it that practically all of the control life, liberty and property was placed in the hands o government.

day Anti-Federalists are known as Democrats. Re-cans represent the Federalists' ideas and notions of rnment. Today, regardless of how one may maneu-n the federal arena, state government can scrap-heap effort because the fundamental instrument of the land s that power to state determination.

deral rights, such as voting, taxation, court actions, all originate in state government. It is the majority etc., all of

Political-1934
Elections.

Oklahoma

"The Will Of The Majority"

The best and most pertinent reasons why Negroes in Oklahoma should vote the Democratic ticket are supplied by former Senator W. B. Pine, in a letter written to this writer back in 1929. At that time this writer was attempting to secure Senator Pine's endorsement of a plan by which the Republicans in the federal structure could mate the patronage set-up of the Democrats in the State of Oklahoma.

We want to call every Negro in Oklahoma to attention. There is just one paragraph in Senator Pine's letter which is important, and to which we want to give exposition. Says Senator Pine:

> "This government is bottomed on the principles of the will of majority rule, regardless of the fact that in some Southern states this is not permitted. I feel that the will of the majority in Oklahoma should be the law of the land."

Every spineless Republican who goes into office in Oklahoma and the Southland, dodges behind that subterfuge. These governmental shadow-boxers, trembling in their boots, forget that parties are nothing except that they represent principles in government, and that once in office they should fight for the principles of their party because they are right, rather than allow themselves to be swallowed up in the philosophy of the other fellow.

We agree with Mr. Pine that this government is bottomed on the principles of majority rule. All enlightened nations believe in this theory of control, and this writer believes that the security of this nation rests in the adoption and administration of this principle.

It is the duty, however, of political parties and the leaders whom such parties place in high office, to fight always for the ideals of their organization in order that the majority of the people will be won over to their theory of right and government. It should be clearly understood that men are demagogues and dissemblers, who climb into office supporting one set of principles, and then embracing expediency, in order to continue in office, submit to the ideals of the opposing political unit.

For instance, if Senator Pine believes in the will of the majority, why is it that he did not raise his voice against disfranchisement in Okfuskee and Wagoner counties in Oklahoma while he was United States Senator? One can have quite an argument as to what is the "will of the majority." In Wagoner county the majority of voters are Negroes. What does Senator Pine think about, or care about the will of that majority?

The record shows that during the six years Senator Pine was in the United States Senate he wilfully and knowingly ignored the will of the majority of voters in these two political units in Oklahoma. The record will further show that after the citizens in Okfuskee county had appealed to the central government and achieved their objectives, he stood speechless, and apparently acquiesced in the withdrawal of these rights by a state group who represented the opposing political party in his state.

If Senator Pine could not promote the interests of the majority in Wagoner and Okfuskee County, Oklahoma, while supported by a Republican majority in Congress, what can we expect of him, and what can he offer to these majorities in Oklahoma if he is elected governor?

To this question Senator Pine has answered in plain language. He says this: "I feel that the will of the majority in Oklahoma should be the law of the land."

Now, there need not be any confusion as to what Senator Pine meant when he made that statement. He means that the majority of the people in this state are Democrats, and that because all Negroes are supposed to vote the Republican ticket, the majority (who are Democrats) have decided to disfranchise them. Do not get the wrong idea. You are not disfranchised because you are black, but because as Negroes we support the program of the minority party and ignore the "will of the majority."

To all Negroes not incarcerated in the insane asylum at Taft, it should be patent that the important thing to do in Oklahoma, and anywhere citizens vote, that as a minority group Negroes should cast their votes with the majority political party. Senator Pine argues that you cannot get around the will of the majority, in which we agree. "It is the law of the land." It is the argument made by a Negro Republican Congressman, Oscar DePriest, who said recently, "If I lived in Oklahoma, I'd vote the Democratic ticket, because Democrats control this state, and I would want to make my peace with the folk who control government."

In Oklahoma the potential Negro voting strength is around 70,000. At present, according to the state election board, around 44,000 are now voting. Occasionally there is a threat of Republican control, but usually it ends on election day with a bunch of alibis and a continuation of Democratic rule. If Negro leadership in this state will be sensible and swing solidly to Democratic support there is no reason why in a few years every black man who wants his suffrage will not have it. The majority will want the Negro vote because of its value and the permanent security it offers in control.

Voting with the Democrats in this state will turn the "will of the majority" for Negroes. Voting with Republicans is just one paragraph in Senator Pine's letter which we want to give exposition.

Plain Political Horse Sense

This year the Black Dispatch sent out a questionnaire to all of the Democratic candidates regarding issues in which Negroes are interested. We were utterly surprised at the liberal and advanced positions taken by these representatives of the majority party in Oklahoma. Many of these answers were published in the columns of this paper, so that our readers are conversant with the attitude assumed at that time.

In addition to this, in public speeches and everywhere, many vexing questions which concern Negroes and in every instance the reasonable demands made have been met and there has been a unity of minds.

This publication supported Senator Anglin during the primary campaign, and before we knew that he would withdraw from the race we openly stated in these columns that we would support Senator Anglin as against Congressman Marland. We gave our reasons then from which we do not recede. We would take the same position now were Senator Anglin in the race.

As between former Senator Pine and Congressman Marland, new issues arise. Fundamentally, the issue is which party offers most. Of course, personalities enter into the picture, but back behind the scene, and the calcium light where governors stand, is the might and power of party principle.

As we said sometime ago, we changed our political front in Oklahoma because we have decided Negro Republicans are fighting against a brick wall. No black man in Oklahoma has more vigorously fought the Democratic party than this writer, only to discover that twenty-five years have been lost. We feel that this year we are approaching this election and entering this campaign with a clearer vision than ever before.

When this government was founded and its constitution written, two opposing factions battled in that constitutional convention. There were those who felt that a slight thread of control should gather the colonies together in opposition to foreign aggression, but that practically all of the power and authority hitherto exercises within each individual colony should be retained. These men were called Anti-Federalists.

Another group called Federalists, believe in a strong central government with uniformity of laws. The first political battles following the revolution were fought out on this ground. Whether you like it or not, the men who wrote the Constitution of the United States were Anti-Federalists, and they saw to it that practically all of the control over life, liberty and property was placed in the hands of state government.

Today Anti-Federalists are known as Democrats. Republicans represent the Federalists' ideas and notions of government. Today, regardless of how one may maneuver in the federal arena, state government can scrap-heap the effort because the fundamental instrument of the land grants that power to state determination.

Federal rights, such as voting, taxation, court actions, etc., all originate in state government. It is the majority of state will and state sentiment forming the cornerstone of liberty and justice in America.

This being true, there is no question but that Negroes, belonging to a minority group, should court the favor of state government. Too long we have lodged our cause with central control, only to discover that our efforts are always thwarted, and advance along every front denied. If the Negro in Oklahoma is to go forward he must go forward with the majority in control, or not at all.

Tse open bid which the Democratic party makes for the Negro vote in this state is a challenge to our intelligence. In a recent speech in Oklahoma City, Mr. Marland, the Democratic standard bearer, states that he wants the Negro to become an integral and active part of the Democratic party, and he did not mince words regarding what his program will be regarding advancing our interests if he becomes governor.

Abraham Lincoln is dead, and the men and women who formed the back-wash from the civil strife of his period have practically all of them passed to their reward. Foolish Negroes who still want to talk about Fort Supmter should be immediately superannuated. Their logic has become stale. We want to deal with live programs of living. What is going to become of our property during this terrible depression? Who can help us? What sort of tie-up can we get with federal relief? Are you interested in education, taxation and work?

These questions and a score of others are not connected with Appomattox or the Emancipation Proclamation. These are live issues having to do with existence in 1934 and for the many moons to come. The Democratic party controls this state and if you drive a citizenship bargain you must make your contract with the majority of state citizenship.

Political — 1934

Elections.

Oklahoma.

The Bray of a Jackass

Black Dispatch 10-6-34

Congressman Marland's candidacy for governor of Oklahoma surrounds President Roosevelt's "New Deal." Congressman Marland says he believes in President Roosevelt's recovery program and he declares he will support this agendum if elected governor.

The Republican candidate, Mr. Pine, attacks the "New Deal," which is notice if elected governor he will be an obstructionist, throwing every obstacle he can discover in the path of state and national rehabilitation.

What does this mean to citizens of Oklahoma? For two and one-half years more President Roosevelt will be in control of affairs at the national capital. Whether you are in favor of the New Deal or not, under President Roosevelt the recovery program which he offers the nation, will be in effect and the law of the land. With your farm and home unpaid for, with millions of people out of work and on the relief rolls, what does your common sense teach you?

The best example of the view we seek to illuminate is the fact that Oklahoma has received less of relief money than any other state in the Union, as compared to its size. Governor Murray, although a Democrat, has been opposed to the policies of the President, and as a result, it has been difficult for our congressional delegation to get for Oklahoma its proper relief quota.

With a Republican governor, who today as a candidate, is attacking the "New Deal" from every angle, it can be safe to say that to elect Pine will be (to employ his language) a "political blunder." We are not going to get foolish and say that relief entirely would be withdrawn from Oklahoma, but we will say, and state it with certainty, that many relief projects, which would prove beneficial will be withdrawn from our grasp by reason of our political inconsistency.

But aside from this viewpoint, why would we wilfully, in this hour of national emergency, refuse to give support to the Roosevelt experiment? How can we help by hampering? Why shove aside construction for criticism? What does the Pine crowd offer in place of the NRA?

This writer's father, when he died, left him in an old dilapidated home and one with which we were much dissatisfied. Regardless of our discomfiture and desire for better surroundings, we never moved out of that unpainted, porchless and windswept structure until we had erected a better building in which to reside.

The best question to ask the Roosevelt critics, who carp on every corner, is this: What do you have to offer in the place of the Roosevelt plan? That one interrogation will reel your puerile critic over. That's the way to uncover a "destructionist."

Any common, ordinary jackass in the barn lot can kick a radio to pieces, but the same ass cannot put one back together. What do the Republican jackasses kicking the Roosevelt program have to offer? What is it they would erect in the place of the present recovery program?

When Roosevelt emerged from the shadows of the Hoover gloom several months ago this nation was in the throes of its greatest economic debacle. All of our assets were frozen. Speaking personally, the Black Dispatch was then seeing the darkest days of its history. Currency had faded out of the picture and in just a few weeks more we would have had to close our doors. This was the sorry plight of thousands of American business men. Millions were on the verge of starvation.

Through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Hoover had vainly sought to let currency down through the roof of our economic structure. Too well do you and I know that Mr. Common Ordinary Man failed to contact this huge governmental expenditure. With the advent of Roosevelt, and through the CWA, FERA and other methods, currency began to emerge through the floor of our national life. This relief money has reached you. It has given life blood to your business, and while by no means has the recovery program done all that we would like for it to do, it is a better and a more liveable structure than the one in which Hoover left us.

The crux of the whole question is this: Marland is for the "New Deal." Pine is not. Marland will offer sympathetic support to the plan which has partially lifted you out of Hoover disaster and national chaos. Pine wants to kick Roosevelt's recovery notions to pieces.

Just one question you should ask from now until the November election. What plan does Mr. Pine and his Republican cohorts offer as a substitute for the little daylight we now have? We hope it is not the type of prosperity Hoover prophesied was "just around the corner." Remember, a jackass can kick anything to pieces, but he can't construct.

Washing Dirty Linen

Black Dispatch 10-25-34

We hate to wash dirty linen, but when we have to, we get on the job. What we are about to say results from a visit of Mr. George W. Perry, Republican orator, to the Booker T. Washington high school, Dover, Tuesday night. Attorney E. T. Barbour and George Perry spoke there in the interest of the candidacy of W. B. Pine.

Wednesday a delegation of Democrats headed by Mr. Roosevelt Gracey, arrived in Oklahoma City to state what Mr. Perry had had to say regarding the Black Dispatch and its editor. At the outset we want to say that George always was loose of tongue and should not be taken seriously. We are publishing this statement because we want to head him off with some remarks which may sober him during the remainder of the present campaign.

According to Mr. Gracey, Mr. Perry is quoted as saying that "Editor Dunjee got all the money he could out of the Republican party and now he has moved over into the Democratic fold to do the same thing." The audience was loaned the idea that with Dunjee it was solely a question of picking up loose change. Gracey informs us that several people in the audience influenced by Mr. Perry's statement openly stated they would cease taking the Black Dispatch.

Two years ago, when this writer decided to announce political independence, we stated as we parted from the Republican boys that if there were any among our former associates who knew of a shady dollar we had received while heading up the Republican organization in the state, we desired them to name that dollar and we would place their statement on the front page of the Black Dispatch. No one to date has answered this challenge.

Now this same defiance is flung in the face of George W. Perry. We state here and now that if he will climb out of the unholy gutter of rumor and name the time, place and amount of money this writer received, which will bear the light of day, we will publish the same on the front page of the Black Dispatch under his signature. Georgetor Pine cannot complain when we drag out his dirty ought to be willing to furnish the hearse for our funeral. He started this indulgence in personalities and he

But there are some things which Mr. Perry failed to tell Mr. Perry will be man enough to take his medicine. We'll his Dover audience. He did tell them that at one time he went with Perry to the then Senator Pine and induced Pine was postmaster at Boley, but he did not tell them about his dismissal from "Ma Ferguson" and name Perry's wife to take his the ignomy and shame that surrounded his dismissal from Perry should explain why a rule was established the federal service—a service he cannot again re-enter which prevented him from getting any further in the post Perhaps the Dover populace would not have placed so much importance on what George said, had they known office than the front door.

Now we are not going to be so unkind as to say that that the postal inspectors found George Perry short in his George Perry is in the present campaign to make money. accounts at the post office at Boley and that he voluntarily We are simply providing a means by which the public can signed a statement stating that he was short. consider the source, when he starts assaulting the integrity

Political — 1934

Elections.

Oklahoma.

The Brady of a Jackass

Congressman Marland's candidady for governor of Oklahoma surrounds President Roosevelt's "New Deal." Congressman Marland says he believes in President Roosevelt's recovery program and he declares he will support this agendum if elected governor.

The Republican candidate, Mr. Pine, attacks the "New Deal," which is notice if elected governor he will be an obstructionist, throwing every obstacle he can discover in the path of state and national rehabilitation.

What does this mean to citizens of Oklahoma? For two and one-half years more President Roosevelt will be in control of affairs at the national capital. Whether you are in favor of the New Deal or not, under President Roosevelt's life blood to your business, the recovery program which covers the nation, will be in the recovery program done effect and the law of the land. With your farm and home do, it is a better and a more unpaid for, with millions of people out of work and on the in which Hoover left us. relief rolls, what does your common sense teach you?

The best example of the view we seek to illuminate is the "New Deal." Pine is not the fact that Oklahoma has received less of relief money than any other state in the Union, as compared to its size. Marland will offer sympathetic support to the plan Governor Murray, although a Democrat, has been opposed which has partially lifted you to the policies of the President, and as a result, it has been out of Hoover disaster and difficult for our congressional delegation to get for Oklahoma its proper relief quota. national chaos. Pine wants to

With a Republican governor, who today as a candidate is attacking the "New Deal" from every angle, it can be safe to say that to elect Pine will be (to employ his language) a "political blunder." We are not going to get foolish and say that relief entirely would be withdrawn from Oklahoma, but we will say, and state it with certainty, that many relief projects, which would prove beneficial will be withdrawn from our grasp by reason of our political inconsistency.

But aside from this viewpoint, why would we wilfully, in this hour of national emergency, refuse to give support to the Roosevelt experiment? How can we help by hampering the Roosevelt program and he believes in President Roosevelt's recovery program and he declares he will support this agendum if elected governor. Through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Hoover had vainly sought to let currency down through the structure. Too well do you and I know that Mr. Common Ordinary Man failed to contact this huge governmental expenditure. With the advent of the CWA, FERA and other methods, currency began to emerge through the floor of our national life. This relief money has reached you. It has given life blood to your business, and while by no means has done all that we would like for it to do, it is a better and a more liveable structure than the one in which Hoover left us.

The crux of the whole question is this: Marland is for the "New Deal." Pine is not.

Marland will offer sympathetic support to the plan which has partially lifted you out of Hoover disaster and national chaos. Pine wants to kick Roosevelt's recovery notions to pieces.

Just one question you should ask from now until the November election. What plan does Mr. Pine and his Republican delegation of Democrats, headed by Mr. George Perry spoke there in Wednesday, regarding the Black Dispatch, always was loose of tongue and should not be taken seriously. We are publishing this statement because we want to head him off with some remarks which may sober him during the remainder of the present campaign.

According to Mr. Perry, Mr. Perry is quoted as saying that "Editor Dunjee got all the money he could out of the Republican party and now he has moved over into the Democratic fold to do the same thing." The audience was loaned the idea that with Dunjee it was solely a question of picking up loose change. Gracey informs us that several people in the audience influenced by Mr. Perry's statement openly stated they would cease taking the Black Dispatch.

Two years ago, when this writer decided to announce political independence, we stated as we parted from the Republican boys that if there were any among our former associates who knew of a shady dollar we had received while heading up the Republican organization in the state, we desired them to name that dollar and we would place their statement on the front page of the Black Dispatch. No one to date has answered this challenge.

Now this same defiance is flung in the face of George W. Perry. We state here and now that if he will climb out of the unholy gutter of rumor and name the time, place and amount of money this writer received, which will not bear the light of day, we will publish the same on the front page of the Black Dispatch under his signature. George ought to be willing to furnish the hearse for our funeral.

But there are some things which Mr. Perry failed to tell his Dover audience. He did tell them that at one time he was postmaster at Boley, but he did not tell them about the ignomy and shame that surrounded his dismissal from the federal service—a service he cannot again re-enter. Perhaps the Dover populace would not have placed so much importance on what George said, had they known that the postal inspectors found George Perry short in his accounts at the post office at Boley and that he voluntarily signed a statement stating that he was short.

Washing Dirty Linen

We hate to wash dirty linen, but when we have to, we get on the job. What we are about to say results from a visit of Mr. George W. Perry, Republican orator, to the Booker T. Washington high school, Dover, Tuesday night. Attorney E. T. Barbour and George Perry spoke there in the interest of the candidacy of W. B. Pine.

Mr. Perry cannot complain when we drag out his dirty linen. He started this indulgence in personaliities and he certainly will be man enough to take his medicine. We'll take ours when he prepares his copy.

Lie number one, when Mr. Perry started talking in his Dover audience, was the canard that W. B. Pine selected him for the postmastership at Boley. This is untrue. George W. Perry was selected for this post by Senator John W. Harreld. Senator Harreld named George Perry to that position at the personal request of Roscoe Dunjee. Senator Pine came in the picture when George was summarily dismissed from the service. It was then that this writer went with Perry to the then Senator Pine and induced Pine to pull a "Ma Ferguson" and name Perry's wife to take his place. Perry should explain why a rule was established which prevented him from getting any further in the post office than the front door.

Now we are not going to be so unkind as to say that George Perry is in the present campaign to make money. We are simply providing a means by which the public can consider the source, when he starts assaulting the integrity and honor of this writer. We actually hate to write this statement because for many years this writer and George Perry have been friends. We have always known he was loose-tongued and not responsible when making a speech. His wife is the agent for the Black Dispatch at Boley at the present time, and while we are talking about his wife we want to say that Boley never did have, and never will have a better postmistress.

Of all the men in the state, however, George Perry should be one of those against W. B. Pine. Perry knows how many years this writer worked with him to qualify the Negroes of Okfuskee county for voting. George Perry knows that we finally secured an order from Judge Kennamer in the Northern Federal District requiring the registrars in Okfuskee county to register 500 black voters. George knows that when those 500-odd Negroes had been registered the Oklahoma delegation in congress was approached and asked to take Okfuskee county out of the Northern Federal district and place it in the Eastern district (under Judge R. L. Williams). George knows that he, this writer and scores of others wrote to Senator Pine imploring him to prevent this change, and that if Pine had uttered five words in opposition to the bill later introduced it would have never been signed by a Republican president.

The sins of omission are as great as the sins of commission. Pine by omitting to protest and prevent the castration of Okfuskee county out of the Northern Federal district is just as guilty of disfranchising Negroes as were the hands of Pontius Pilate with the blood of Christ. Pine read the letters which poured into his office in Washington from scores of Negro leaders who had supported him, but he allowed the bill to be introduced and passed because he felt that to oppose its passage would "be a political blunder." To again use his language, he felt that to pass this bill would be hearkening to "the will of the majority."

As we said at the outset, we wish Mr. Perry had stayed with such issues in this campaign as relate to the candidates running, and their governmental program. Neither Mr. Perry nor this writer are candidates and there is no rhyme or reason in dragging our names into the political arena, except that it will muddy the water and prevent citizens to see the real issues. Mr. Perry, however, has elected to take me for his subject, and he will doubtless agree that we have a right to protect ourselves from the tongue of a slanderer. Once again we repeat: If Mr. Perry or anyone else knows of a time or a place where this writer was connected with an improper political deal and took tainted money, we will be happy to print their charge and statement above their signature in the columns of the Black Dispatch.

Dunjee To Make Large Centers In Marland Rallies

J. D. Sapp, head of the speakers bureau of the Democratic State Central Committee, Key Building, was busy this week arranging speaking engagements in the larger centers of the state for Editor Roscoe Dunjee for Marland rallies beginning Saturday night at Tulsa. The speeches of Editor Dunjee are to be made at the special request of Sam Battles, secretary-treasurer of the Democratic committee.

Following the Tulsa meeting Mr. Sapp has outlined the following itinerary for Editor Dunjee: Okmulgee, Monday night; Muskogee, Tuesday night; McAlester, Wednesday night; Thursday night, Wewoka; Friday night, Chickasha; Saturday night, Ardmore.

'I'm going to take the hide off some of these Republican orators who have been making the rounds," declared Dunjee in commenting upon what he would have to say.

"Pine helped to re-disfranchise the Negroes at Boley when he allowed Okfuskee county to be taken out of Judge Kennamer's district," declared Dunjee. "I think the Negroes over the state ought to analyze the speeches that every white Republican is making over Oklahoma when they urge voters to 'vote for every decent Republican.' Does that mean they are eliminating Anderson, who is on the ticket?"

Oklahoma.

Political - 1934

Elections.

PROMINENT NEGRO DEMOCRATS TAKE LEAD IN LIVELY "ANGLIN FOR GOVERNOR" CAMPAIGN

PRECEDENT SET AS REVIVED DEMOS GIRD FOR EXTENSIVE SPEAKING TOUR

Definite Drift Seen Toward Holdenville Candidate

Black Dispatch 6-14-34

That a state-wide sentiment for Senator Anglin is forming all over the state developed this week when the announcement was made that prominent democrats all over Oklahoma had announced support for the Holdenville solon.

Democrats who have sent their names into the state headquarters and have asked to serve on the state committee, follow: William Frazier, Wewoka; Prof. E. W. Woods, Tulsa; Dr. G. W. Hill, Ardmore; Dr. H. W. Williamson, Idabel; E. A. Jackson, Oklahoma City; Dr. G. T. Gray, McAlester; Dr. J. D. Nelson, Oklahoma City; Prof. F. D. Moon, Wewoka; Atty. C. P. Kimball, Muskogee; J. Oscar Spencer, Nowata; Rev. L. C. Cleaves, Oklahoma City; A. H. Goings, Frederick.

Hundreds of letters poured into state headquarters this week asking for information and asking for speaking dates. Editor Roscoe Dunjee, head of the speakers bureau, stated that a blanket of speakers would immediately be sent out to supply the demand. Dunjee said that the following had signified their services were available immediately: J. Oscar Spencer, Dr. J. D. Nelson, F. D. Moon, C. P. Kimball.

"We are going to carry Muskogee county for Anglin," said Atty. Kimball while in Oklahoma City Monday. "I saw an item in the paper recently which said the Negroes of Holdenville were for Senator Anglin. Well ,they are no more for him there than we will be for him in the city and county of Muskogee," Kimball declared.

Many of the letters coming into the state headquarters apparently are from struggling home owners, burdened with taxes, and who have learned of Senator Anglin's plans to lift the ad valorem taxes from homes, while others seem to be from older people who believe that the old age pension notions of Anglin will be their salvation.

Band-wagon tendencies seem to be springing up in most of the counties where there has been hesitancy and uncertainty. This is pointed to by Editor Dunjee as indicatory of the definite drift toward Anglin.

A conference will be held in Oklahoma City Friday when plans for an intensive drive will be launched.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

JUL 9 1934

Hughes Sends His Ultimatum In Negro Case

Commissioner to Quit, Leave G. O. P. With Racial Split In Ticket, He Says.

E. R. Hughes, lone wolf of the Republican party, threatened to turn the tables on G. O. P. leaders Monday and leave them with a Negro nominee on their ticket for the November general election.

The situation in the Republican ranks was so tense that it stole the political spotlight momentarily. While Hughes was high man in a field of four for re-election to the corporation commission, he faces a runoff with Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee Negro school teacher, unless Anderson is persuaded to withdraw.

Trying to Embarras Him

With 5 p. m. Monday the deadline for withdrawing, Hughes was ready to submit his letter to the state election board and quit the race unless Anderson stepped out in the meantime. This action automatically would give the Negro the nomination.

Republican leaders, blamed by Hughes for attempting to "embarrass" him, a former hotel employe who was first elected to the commission in the Harding landslide in 1920, were obviously worried at the prospect of having to campaign for a Negro nominee for a state office.

W. B. Pine, Okmulgee, Republican nominee for governor, declared, however, that he would take no action to persuade Anderson to withdraw.

"From my standpoint," Pine said, "that's Hughes's business. It would be fatal for me to interfere."

Tickles the Democrats

Democrats, amused at the situation confronting the Republican high council, looked for a statement from Hughes blasting his own party leaders in event he withdraws. Hughes is completing his second term on the commission, having been elected both times over the opposition of the party organization. Monday he kept silent except to promise that "I'll have plenty to say when the time comes."

With only Garvin county precincts missing, Hughes polled 22,322 to 15,350 for Anderson. J. W. Bonner, 820 Northwest Thirteenth street, received 7,568 votes in the same race and Roy Leas, mayor of El Reno, polled 6,154.

With E. W. Marland, Democratic nominee in Tulsa Monday for a round of conferences, attention here switched to the run-off in the attorney general's race.

Answers Kin Charges

Scott A. Ferris, nephew of Scott Ferris, Democratic national committeeman and Marland strategist, wired a hot answer at Mac Q. Williamson for the latter's assertion that young Ferris is running on his uncle's name.

Ferris and Williamson, Pauls Valley, are matched in the run-off with the former leading by about 12,000 votes. Williamson, a former state senator, was mapping an active campaign Monday in which he is expected to enlist support of former legislative colleagues.

Young Ferris, on the other hand, was inclined to receive the aid of at least two defeated candidates. He planned to go to Tulsa Monday night for a conference which is expected to put O. H. Searcy behind him in the run-off. Searcy polled about 54,000 votes as against 56,000 for Williamson. Williamson had a conference scheduled with Albert C. Hunt, former supreme court justice, who ran fourth with about 52,000 votes.

Hunt was undecided on the candidate he will support, but indications were that he will back young Ferris.

"My uncle's name is Scott Ferris, and mine is Scott A. Ferris," the race leader asserted. "I was elected county attorney of Murray county under that name and I carried my county for district judge in a later campaign."

Young Ferris assailed Williamson as "an expert lobbyist" and declared the latter "accepted all the benefits of an indorsement from Governor Murray in the first primary. Now he is claiming to be teamed up with Marland. I knew Marland before Mac Q. Williamson knew there was an E. W. Marland."

Other Battles Loom

Ferris pointed out that he once was employed as an attorney by the Marland Oil Co. Later he served as assistant attorney in the state banking department and he asked, sarcastically, "When did the office of state banking attorney become such a minor office, as Williamson insists?"

While the attorney general's race threatens to become one of the major battle grounds for the run-off primary, lines were drawn for active fight in the lieutenant governor and corporation commission fields.

J. E. Berry, Stillwater, and Ray O. Weems, state treasurer, are pitted against each other for the lieutenant governor nomination, and A. S. J. Shaw, former state auditor, and Paul Stewart, state senator, are matched in the commissioner' race.

Black Dispatch

Telling an almost unbelievable story of coercion, terrorism and force, Frank A. Anderson, Negro, and Republican candidate for corporation commissioner, came to the Black Dispatch office last Thursday and in detail related how state Republicans raced to his home following his winning a place in the runoff primary and finally forced a written statement that he would not run.

"I was afraid and I did not want anything to happen to my wife, and they threatened me in every sort of way," declared Anderson, who said even in his extremity he adopted a ruse which fooled the belligerent lilywhite Republicans.

"Knowing that a written statement from me would have to be in the hands of the election board before twelve o'clock that night, I waited until 11:30 before I signed the statement. They immediately phoned in to the board stating that they had the signed statement, but the board would not accept it," he continued.

"Someone laid $100 in my wife's lap (Mrs. Robert Anderson) but I called their attention to the statute which provides a penalty for withdrawal for pay," declared Anderson. "They first started out saying they would reimburse me for any expense, starting with $10, then $15, and constantly mounting, and Mr. Applby said, 'You'll just have to sign it or we are going to give you trouble.' "

Says Republicans Mobbed Him

FRANK A. ANDERSON

A white woman by the name of Mrs. Ashley, according to Anderson, followed him into every room of his home shouting, "Sign here! Sign here!" while she forced the paper in front of him. Eight or ten other whites, standing around constantly admonished me, 'If you get elected you will not be able to take your seat.' "

Applby, according to Anderson, came back next day and said that the election board would not accept a telegraphed resignation, and that he (Anderson) would have to sign another document. " This I refused to do," declared the Republican nominee. "I'll not sign anything else and expect to continue in the race for corporation commissioner."

Anderson said to the credit of R. D. Pine, brother of W. B. Pine, Republican candidate for governor, he did not approve of the tactics used by the state Republicans who sought to get him off the ticket.

Hughes demanded that a Negro. the Republican organization eliminate Anderson from the ticket. Anderson says he was told his presence on the ticket was a disgrace to the Negro on the ticket and that a Negro would injure the candidacy of W. B. Pine, Republican candidate for governor.

He quotes Pine as saying, "I'd rather have you on the Republicanticket than Hughes, and I'm sure you will not hurt my chances."

Before the Republican mob rushed to his home and terrorized him, Anderson alleges that effortsof the fact that W. C. Hughes, corporation commissioner, resigned were made to show that he is notrecently rather than appear in the registered as a Republican. An-runo ffcampaign on the ticket with a registration certificate issued to him in 1922 inerson exhibited is registered as a Republican. The entire affair developed outgovernor.

Oklahoma.

Political - 1934

Elections.

PROMINENT NEGRO DEMOCRATS TAKE LEAD IN LIVELY "ANGLIN FOR GOVERNOR" CAMPAIGN

PRECEDENT SET AS REVIVED DEMOS GIRD FOR EXTENSIVE SPEAKING TOUR

Definite Drift Seen Toward Holdenville Candidate

Black Dispatch 6-14-34

That a state-wide sentiment for Senator Anglin is forming all over the state developed this week when the announcement was made that prominent democrats all over Oklahoma had announced support for the Holdenville solon.

Democrats who have sent their names into the state headquarters and have asked to serve on the state committee, follow: William Frazier, Wewoka; Prof. E. W. Woods, Tulsa; Dr. G. W. Hill, Ardmore; Dr. H. W. Williamson, Idabel; E. A. Jackson, Oklahoma City; Dr. G. T. Gray, McAlester; Dr. J. D. Nelson, Oklahoma City; Prof. F. D. Moon, Wewoka; Atty. C. P. Kimball, Muskogee; J. Oscar Spencer, Nowata; Rev. L. C. Cleaves, Oklahoma City; A. H. Goings, Frederick.

Hundreds of letters poured into state headquarters this week asking for information and asking for speaking dates. Editor Roscoe Dunjee, head of the speakers bureau, stated that a blanket of speakers would immediately be sent out to supply the demand. Dunjee said that the following had signified their services were available immediately: J. Oscar Spencer, Dr. J. D. Nelson, F. D. Moon, C. P. Kimball.

"We are going to carry Muskogee county for Anglin," said Atty. Kimball while in Oklahoma City Monday. "I saw an item in the paper recently which said the Negroes of Holdenville were for Senator Anglin. Well ,they are no more for him there than we will be for him in the city and county of Muskogee," Kimball declared.

Many of the letters coming into the state headquarters apparently are from struggling home owners, burdened with taxes, and who have learned of Senator Anglin's plans to lift the ad valorem taxes from homes, while others seem to be from older people who believe that the old age pension notions of Anglin will be their salvation.

Band-wagon tendencies seem to be springing up in most of the counties where there has been hesitancy and uncertainty. This is pointed to by Editor Dunjee as indicatory of the definite drift toward Anglin.

A conference will be held in Oklahoma City Friday when plans for an intensive drive will be launched.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

JUL 9 1934

Hughes Sends His Ultimatum In Negro Case

Commissioner to Quit, Leave G. O. P. With Racial Split In Ticket, He Says.

E. R. Hughes, lone wolf of the Republican party, threatened to turn the tables on G. O. P. leaders Monday and leave them with a Negro nominee on their ticket for the November general election.

The situation in the Republican ranks was so tense that it stole the political spotlight momentarily. While Hughes was high man in a field of four for re-election to the corporation commission, he faces a runoff with Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee Negro school teacher, unless Anderson is persuaded to withdraw.

Trying to Embarras Him

With 5 p. m. Monday the deadline for withdrawing, Hughes was ready to submit his letter to the state election board and quit the race unless Anderson stepped out in the meantime. This action automatically would give the Negro the nomination.

Republican leaders, blamed by Hughes for attempting to "embarrass" him, a former hotel employe who was first elected to the commission in the Harding landslide in 1920, were obviously worried at the prospect of having to campaign for a Negro nominee for a state office.

W. B. Pine, Okmulgee, Republican nominee for governor, declared, however, that he would take no action to persuade Anderson to withdraw.

"From my standpoint," Pine said, "that's Hughes's business. It would be fatal for me to interfere."

Tickles the Democrats

Democrats, amused at the situation confronting the Republican high council, looked for a statement from Hughes blasting his own party leaders in event he withdraws. Hughes is completing his second term on the commission, having been elected both times over the opposition of the party organization. Monday he kept silent except to promise that "I'll have plenty to say when the time comes."

With only Garvin county precincts missing, Hughes polled 22,322 to 15,350 for Anderson. J. W. Bonner, 820 Northwest Thirteenth street, received 7,568 votes in the same race and Roy Leas, mayor of El Reno, polled 6,154.

With E. W. Marland, Democratic nominee in Tulsa Monday for a round of conferences, attention here switched to the run-off in the attorney general's race.

Answers Kin Charges

Scott A. Ferris, nephew of Scott Ferris, Democratic national committeeman and Marland strategist, wired a hot answer at Mac Q. Williamson for the latter's assertion that young Ferris is running on his uncle's name.

Ferris and Williamson, Pauls Valley, are matched in the run-off with the former leading by about 12,000 votes. Williamson, a former state senator, was mapping an active campaign Monday in which he is expected to enlist support of former legislative colleagues.

Young Ferris, on the other hand, was inclined to receive the aid of at least two defeated candidates. He planned to go to Tulsa Monday night for a conference which is expected to put O. H. Searcy behind him in the run-off. Searcy polled about 54,000 votes as against 56,000 for Williamson. Williamson had a conference scheduled with Albert C. Hunt, former supreme court justice, who ran fourth with about 52,000 votes.

Hunt was undecided on the candidate he will support, but indications were that he will back young Ferris.

"My uncle's name is Scott Ferris, and mine is Scott A. Ferris," the race leader asserted. "I was elected county attorney of Murray county under that name and I carried my county for district judge in a later campaign."

Young Ferris assailed Williamson as "an expert lobbyist" and declared the latter "accepted all the benefits of an indorsement from Governor Murray in the first primary. Now he is claiming to be teamed up with Marland. I knew Marland before Mac Q. Williamson knew there was an E. W. Marland."

Other Battles Loom

Ferris pointed out that he once was employed as an attorney by the Marland Oil Co. Later he served as assistant attorney in the state banking department and he asked, sarcastically, "When did the office of state banking attorney become such a minor office, as Williamson insists?"

While the attorney general's race threatens to become one of the major battle grounds for the run-off primary, lines were drawn for active fight in the lieutenant governor and corporation commission fields.

J. E. Berry, Stillwater, and Ray O. Weems, state treasurer, are pitted against each other for the lieutenant governor nomination, and A. S. J. Shaw, former state auditor, and Paul Stewart, state senator, are matched in the commissioner' race.

Says Republicans Mobbed Him

FRANK A. ANDERSON

Black Dispatch

Telling an almost unbelievable story of coercion, terrorism and force, Frank A. Anderson, Negro, and Republican candidate for corporation commissioner, came to the Black Dispatch office last Thursday and in detail related how state Republicans raced to his home following his winning a place in the runoff primary and finally forced a written statement that he would not run.

"I was afraid and I did not want anything to happen to my wife, and they threatened me in every sort of way," declared Anderson, who said even in his extremity he adopted a ruse which fooled the belligerent lilywhite Republicans.

"Knowing that a written statement from me would have to be in the hands of the election board before twelve o'clock that night, I waited until 11:30 before I signed the statement. They immediately phoned in to the board stating that they had the signed statement, but the board would not accept it," he continued.

"Someone laid $100 in my wife's lap (Mrs. Robert Anderson) but I called their attention to the statute which provides a penalty for withdrawal for pay," declared Anderson. "They first started out saying they would reimburse me for any expense, starting with $10, then $15, and constantly mounting, and Mr. Applby said, 'You'll just have to sign it or we are going to give you trouble.'"

A white woman by the name of Mrs. Ashley, according to Anderson, followed him into every room of his home shouting, "Sign here! Sign here!" while she forced the paper in front of him. Eight or ten other whites, standing around constantly admonished me, 'If you get elected you will not be able to take your seat.'"

Applby, according to Anderson, came back next day and said that the election board would not accept a telegraphed resignation, and that he (Anderson) would have to sign another document. "This I refused to do," declared the Republican nominee. "I'll not sign anything else and expect to continue in the race for corporation commissioner."

Anderson said to the credit of R. D. Pine, brother of W. B. Pine, Republican candidate for governor, he did not approve of the tactics used by the state Republicans who sought to get him off the ticket.

a Negro. Hughes demanded that the Republican organization eliminate Anderson from the ticket. Anderson says he was told his presence on the ticket was a disgrace to the Negro on the ticket and that the candidacy of W. B. Pine, Republican candidate for

He quotes Pine as saying, "I'd rather have you on the Republican ticket than Hughes, and I'm sure you will not hurt my chances."

Before the Republican mob rushed to his home and terrorized him, Anderson alleges that efforts were made to show that he is not registered as a Republican. An registration certificate issued to him in 1922 in Ward One, Okmulgee. The certificate has been used 25 times. He would injure the candidacy of W. B. Pine, Republican candidate for governor.

The entire affair developed out of the fact that W. C. Hughes, corporation commissioner, resigned rather than appear in the campaign on the ticket with

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

JUL 12 1934

The Republicans' Negro Candidate

Democrats are reported rejoicing because the Republican voters gave a Negro, Frank A. Anderson of Okmulgee, a place in the run-off as a candidate for coporation commissioner. E. R. Hughes's refusal to compete for that nomination with a Negro, apparently makes Anderson the Republican nominee, unless influential Republicans induce him to withdraw. A Negro nominee for an important state office would undoubtedly be an advantage to the Democrats in this somewhat southern state; a commonwealth which drew much of its population from the deep south, and where racial prejudice is a reality beyond question. Probably the Democrats are grateful, too, because C. C. Hawk, Republican state chairman, refuses to take any part in seeking to keep Anderson off the ballot.

But it is reasonably certain that the Democratic party needs no such advantage in the state this year. Oklahoma has a normal Democratic majority, and the Democratic party has ample reason for feeling its strength is above normal registration this year in Oklahoma and the nation. The popularity of the Roosevelt administration was demonstrated in the Literary Digest's recent poll. In the state the party is nearer harmony than is usual, since the gubernatorial nomination was settled after the first primary, by the withdrawal of Tom Anglin from the race, in the face of E. W. Marland's commanding lead. The political observers who strive for a fair and non-partisan estimate, are unanimous in their opinion that the Republicans haven't a chance to elect anyone in a state-wide contest, and it isn't wholly unreasonable for Democrats to hope for another victory in the usually Republican eighth district.

Therefore the personnel of the Republican state ticket matters little, and the apparent nomination of Frank A. Anderson, Negro, might as well be accepted for the political accident it was. There was so little interest in the Republican ticket that many Republicans didn't even go to the polls. Few who wear that party label cared anything about the selection of a party ticket that seemed bound to be overwhelmed in November.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

JUL 12 1934

The Forum

Commissioner Hughes's aversion to Negro opponent costs him a supporter.

EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

In the Oklahoma City Times July 2, Mr. Hughes is quoted as saying he will not run for corporation commissioner against a Negro. Perhaps the Negro feels the same way about Mr. Hughes but is manly enough not to publish it.

Before I read this statement I was for Mr. Hughes, but his utterance shows that he is not fit for the position. The Negro probably has as much intelligence as Mr. Hughes since he is a teacher, so no question on that point.

The Negro is an American and a citizen of Oklahoma City but because of his color, for which he is not responsible, Mr. Hughes chooses to wipe his feet on him. I hope as is suggested that the Negro cannot be persuaded to withdraw in which case he is sure to be elected unless Hughes's prediction is wrong.

W. B. CHENEY,
City.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

JUL 12 1934

Negro Nominee To Quit Race, Is Claim

Resignation Reported Drawn, Successor Up to G. O. P.

Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee Negro who received the Republican nomination for corporation commissioner when E. R. Hughes, commissioner, withdrew from the race, has prepared his resignation as nominee, George Taylor, Republican member of the state election board, announced Thursday.

Hughes withdrew from the runoff, declaring he would not run against a Negro. When and if Anderson submits his resignation, which probably would be after the July 24 primary, the Republican state central committee will be asked to appoint a nominee to fill the vacancy, Taylor said.

New York Times

JUL 8 1934

Bars Run-Off Race With Negro.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 7 (AP).—E. R. Hughes, Republican member of the State Corporation Commission, who faces a run-off fight for renomination with a Negro school teacher, conferred today with his party's State central committee and later declared emphatically: "I'm not going to run against a Negro." The Negro is Frank A. Anderson of Okmulgee, holding second position in a field of four Republicans.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

SEP 20 1934

Etiquette Due To Suffer In Ballot Battle

Democrats Have Negro Issue To Toss at G. O. P. Who Talk 'School Land.'

By THE BYSTANDER

Personalities were threatening to come to the surface in the general election campaign Thursday with indications they will be bobbing around like the barbs of a bitter primary fight before November 6.

There was a story told after the primary of how E. W. Marland and W. B. Pine chanced to land in a western city at the same time to speak. While the rival meetings were in progress, one invited the other to share his microphone and the favors were returned, the two exchanging verbal bouquets.

It's Man to Man, Now

But now that Marland and Pine are matched in the gubernatorial ring, the one under Democratic and the other under Republican colors, onlookers expect to see them discard the gloves before the final gong. Or if the nominees themselves fail to get personal—in the open—a few brickbats may be expected from their backers.

Much of Marland's popularity in the first primary was attributed to his soft-pedal on attacks against his opponents. He stepped on the old politicians' toes pretty hard, however, with his demand for a new deal in state affairs and he showed that he could get personal in dealing with Governor Murray and the latter's indorsed candidate.

Negro vs. School Land

Democrats already havt tossed some over-ripe tomatoes in the general campaign with their jibes at Frank A. Anderson, the Negro who won Republican nomination for corporation commissioner. Anderson hails from Okmulgee, Pine's home city, and that situation offered a pretty setup for linking the two.

Republicans, on the other hand, are making sharp jabs at Marland's school land lease intermittently under fire since 1912. They even seized upon the explanation of Robert L. Williams, former governor, absolving Marland of wrongdoing and asserting the state profited from the block lease of unproven territory.

Pine Rally Saturday

"It just goes to show that machine Democrats stand together and that there can't be a cleanup at the capitol unless the Democrats are swept out," is the frequent comment around G. O. P. headquarters.

Pine is expected to develop his line of attack at Chandler Saturday. With the opening rally of the campaign scheduled there, Pine disappointed Democrats Thursday by declaring he intends to stick to state issues.

"Why should I discuss the national administration?" he asked, apparently ignoring Democratic plans to stress the new deal. "We're out to redeem state government in Oklahoma. It's state affairs I'm interested in."

Huston Backs Townsend Plan

The Townsend plan for retiring those who reach 60 years of age on a monthly pension, provided they spend each month's allowance, has found an exponent in Paul Huston, Republican nominee for fifth district congressman.

"It seemed impractical to me at first, but the more I studied it the more I became convinced it will work," Huston confessed. Now he declares he will work for the plan's adoption if he goes to congress.

Would Reduce Crime

Huston advocates $100 a month to each person retired. He prefers to call it an "annuity," instead of pension, however.

"That's what it really is," he explained. "It's a government annuity, instead of insurance annuity. It would take care of our aged, close the poor farms and reduce crime. Most of our crime comes from necessity. By providing voluntary retirement for those who reach 60, we would open thousands of jobs each year for young men and women."

Now Backs Bonus

Huston also has done an about-face on the soldiers' bonus. In a former race for congress, he opposed immediate payment. Now he advocates it:

"And why not? If the government can spend $7,000,000,000 on economic experiments, why can't it pay the bonus? It will total only a little more than $2,000,000,000. As it is now, the 50 percent paid in loans is eating up the remainder in interest. If the government paid the soldiers, it would put that much money into circulation right away and help everybody."

Walton Won't Bolt Marland

Leaders in Jack Walton's primary campaign organization joined their chief Thursday in squelching rumors of a bolt against E. W. Marland, Democratic nominee for governor.

"Mr. Marland won the nomination and I can and shall whole-heartedly support him and the entire Democratic ticket and can see no reason why any member of the Walton-for-governor club should do otherwise," declared Jesse Bonds, chairman of the club. "I stand ready to do anything I can to help the cause of the full Democratic ticket."

Tom Collins, club secretary, indorsed Bonds's statement. Walton this week placed his support behind Marland. Bonds now is serving as gasoline inspector for the corporation commission, having been nominated by Walton for the appointment.

Oklahoma City, Okla. Times

November 8, 1934

NEGRO VILLAGE DESERTS G.O.P. RANKS FIRST TIME

Boley, Okla., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The all-Negro village of Boley gave a plurality to every Democratic candidate, deserting the Republican standard for the first time in its history.

Even the lone Negro candidate, Frank Anderson, Republican nominee for corporation, trailed the Democrat, S. J. Shaw, 158 to 185.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Oklahoma

Unite The Vote Behind Anglin

We said last week, in announcing our support for Tom Anglin, that the politicians would be shelling the woods as soon as they had located the direction in which the Black Dispatch is going. Every campaign, the boys over the state, looking for something, wait until the state's leading publication makes a decision; their trump card is to take the leadership of the opposition.

It has been amusing for the past five weeks. We purposely held back our decision to see whether or not any of the fellows who profess to want to lead, would have the intestinal fortitude to step out in the forefront and announce their choice of gubernatorial candidates. Up to our last edition all of them have been as silent as Egyptian midnight.

But the boys can all talk this week. Never were there so many important and hurried, belated announcements in any campaign. All have found their voices, and there is much waving of hands and vociferous conversation.

One gentleman whom we had previously asked five times his choice, can now say freely that he's for Jack Walton, another for Congressman Marland, another for Porter Neuman, and still another for Lieut. Governor Burns. Think of it! None of these boys could talk last week, but they can all talk this week since the Black Dispatch announced for Senator Tom Anglin.

The men, however, who really count, and who carry some weight in their community, have all agreed that Anglin is the best and sensible choice. Letters flooding into the Black Dispatch office from all over Oklahoma announce that the Black Dispatch illuminated the gubernatorial situation in a fine way last week and that they will support Senator Anglin.

Never in our political experience have we seen so many influential men of the state instantly accept an editorial suggestion of the Black Dispatch as in this instance. Men who lead large organizations and groups, and who actually have influence, all offer support to Senator Tom Anglin.

A fine idea of what is happening occurred last Sunday during the course of a conference held in the Black Dispatch office with Senator Anglin present. Two very prominent men entered the conference absolutely opposed to the Anglin candidacy. At least they later admitted that they came to the meeting with that sort of complex and attitude. At the close of that meeting they walked away together and the following conversation was had:

"That man won me," said Dr..... so and so to his friend. "He landed me, too," said the other man during the course of the confessional.

The thing that caught the fancy of the group was Anglin's utter frankness and independence of spirit. Knowing that he was present in a conference where men would ask pointed questions about many matters, Anglin did not dodge a single issue, and unlike most candidates disagreed with many suggestions made. He showed plainly that he thought through matters before he made decisions, one could see that there was present a man who did not stoop to cheap demogoguery, or sought to play upon the presumed gullibility of people.

All who were in that conference left with one suspicion erased from their minds. They came assuming that Anglin was a "Yes" man. They left knowing that they had met a virile, independent spirit, who acts in his own right.

The effort of professional politicians to divide the Negro vote, as indicated above should not be adhered to by the rank and file. If the Negro can make a fine showing of solidarity in this election, black folk will be on their way towards doing what ought to be done in Oklahoma. A showing of solidarity should be made somewhere along the road. There is no better time to start than now. According to the election board, 44,000 Negroes are now registered in Oklahoma. The potential strength is about 65,000. Two things must be done. We must add the non-voting strength to the voting strength and then throw this vote solidly behind honest, unselfish leadership.

Tom Anglin's candidacy in this primary points the way. Any Negro democrat can afford to support and endorse his official record. On the front page of this issue Forest Anderson, who for many years has resided only a few miles from the Anglin habitat, declares that Senator Anglin's record has always been all right at home. It's a fine thing to have a prominent Negro, such as Mr. Anderson, who could not have selfish motives, come out and take a stand. There is nothing that the state, or Mr. Anglin, if governor, could give to warrant Forest Anderson to make such a statement. It comes from years of intimate knowledge of Anglin's record.

If the Negro vote cannot show solidarity behind such a man; we are at a loss to know the man or the place where unity can be effected.

J. J. Simmons Jr. to Run For Oklahoma Legislature

MUSKOGEE.—J. J. Simmons Jr., son of one of the heaviest tax-payers in Muskogee county, is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for representative to the state legislature from the first district of the county. Muskogee county consists of three districts.

J. J. Simmons Jr.

His candidacy is being watched with interest by all voters, white and Negro. Muskogee county, predominantly Democratic, has an unusually heavy Negro vote.

Young Simmons, a product of Tuskegee Institute, has lived in this county all his life. He was born near Haskell, a small town in this county. Following his graduation from Tuskegee, he entered the real estate business and made investments in oil.

Many years ago the elder Simmons, a Creek freedman, received the usual 160-acre allotment from the federal government under what is known as the "Five Civilized Tribe Act." The Simmons family still lives on the original allotment given by the government. The senior Mr. Simmons has acquired considerable real estate holdings here.

The primary election will be held on July 3. The general election will be held on November 6.

GOVERNOR ELECT PROMISES A FAIR DEAL TO NEGROES

ARDMORE, Okla.—Declaring publicly that "The Negroes of Oklahoma shall have a 'New Deal'" in a statement made to J. W. Sanford, principal of the Douglas High School, and C. R. Buford, president of the Oklahoma Association of Negro Teachers, race leaders of the Negro State Democratic Committee, Governor-elect E. W. Marland spoke with great assurance.

Marland, whose election in the primaries was overwhelming, said that he will see to it that Negroes are given employment on the state highways in proportion to the population. Regardless of the more than three million dollars paid annually by Negroes in taxes, he felt that the colored people deserved the right to make a living from both federal and state appropriations.

The Democratic nominee guarantees that all state institutions for Negroes shall be headed by Negroes and they be given Negro leadership. With reference to Langston University, Marland assured that the college will be appropriated necessary equipment and teaching staff to maintain the proper standards to be accredited according to the requirement of the North Central Association.

Sanford and Buford have just made a personal survey of all institutions for Negroes in the state of Oklahoma for the information of the new administration and are prepared to make the necessary recommendations of the needs and requirements of their people.

While in Boley, they visited the State Training School for Negro Boys and conferred with city officials on public matters. They assisted the making of plans for the gala 30th Anniversary Celebration to be held September 18-23, of America's first all-Negro town.

During the tour they also called at the Deaf and Dumb Training School and Orphanage, and the State School for Incorrigible Girls at Taft, another all-colored community and later at the state Tubercular Sanitarium at Clinton.

In a statement regarding the political outcome, it was estimated that of the 5,000 Negro Democrats in Oklahoma, the majority would vote for Marland in November.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES
AUG 31 1934

Frank A. Anderson

Withdrawal of Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee Negro school teacher, as Republican nominee for corporation commissioner was predicted Friday by Ross Rizley, assistant director of the G. O. P. autumn campaign.

It was reported from Okmulgee, however, that Anderson had contracted with a white attorney to act as his "manager." The Negro won the nomination when E. R. Hughes, incumbent, quit the runoff primary after leading a field of four candidates in the first primary. Democrats were "helping" the Republicans "out," meanwhile, by circulating the above picture of Anderson, together with a "Republican state ticket" in which the Negro is pictured beside W. B. Pine, Republican gubernatorial nominee, his fellow townsman.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES
SEP 29 1934

With or Without a Negro

Democrats are saying that the Republicans have little chance of victory in Oklahoma with a Negro, Frank Anderson, on the Republican ticket as the party's nominee for state corporation commissioner. It is no secret that Republican leaders have sought to induce Frank Anderson to withdraw from the race, and there may be something to the rumors that Democrats have prevailed upon him to keep his name on the ballot. Frank Anderson is clearly entitled to the nomination he won by default, so to speak, when Roy Hughes refused to run against him in the runoff primary. No one questions his title to the place, and Republican votes placed him where he is. But race prejudice is a reality, whether you deplore it or approve it, and the Republican wish to remove a Negro from a prominent place on the Republican ballot is easily understood, particularly in this state where so many citizens are of southern origin.

It is likely, however, that both Republicans and Democrats are unduly excited about the Negro's nomination. He isn't going to be elected. He may be a weakness in the Republican campaign, but he is far from the only weakness. A dearth of Republicans in the state is the greatest handicap faced by the G. O. P. There is actually little reason to believe the Republicans can elect anyone to state office this year, whether there is a Negro on the ballot or not. There is even reason to doubt if the Republicans will be able to regain the eighth district, which they lost to E. W. Marland two years ago. Under the circumstance, Frank Anderson might as well run as to withdraw from a race he can't win.

Pine, and The People's Business

Republican spellbinders, roving over the state, are now attempting to muddy the water regarding the W. B. Pine letter addressed to this writer in 1929, and recently published in this journal. These enthusiastic orators attempt to forget the contents of that letter and spend their time arguing that the then Senator Pine wrote this writer a confidential and private communication which in honor this writer had no right to publish.

Black Dispatch

In the publication of this letter we sought to show that Senator Pine is opposed to Negroes holding administrative positions within the confines of the state, and that it is the policy of the Republican candidate for governor to see to it that Negroes do not serve in the post office, internal revenue and marshal's office. He said so in unvarnished and perfectly understandable language, characterizing such a move on the part of Republicans as a "political blunder."

10-6-34

Now we will be willing to leave it up to the horse sense and common reason of all of our readers as to whether a letter written by a United States Senator, regarding a matter affecting the rights and citizenship of all of the people should be treated as private correspondence.

Oklahoma City, Okla.

Senator Pine in his letter to us said "the best interest of Negroes will not be served by office-holding." This is the paragraph which sticks out like a sore thumb, and the one which the Negro Republican orators are trying to cover, because of the "Frank E. Anderson" issue in the present campaign. That paragraph does not sound well and for that reason they want to forget all Pine said in 1929 and assault the integrity and honor of this writer.

Should the Negro voter, before he goes into the election booth, know that Senator Pine thinks that office holding for Negroes is "a political blunder"? Do we not have some important issues surrounding this thought? What about the Taft asylum proposition? Would it be well to know what the Republican candidate's views are on this subject? It involves office holding, and far more involved in administrative work than a marshal's office or a postal clerk's work.

What about a Negro board of regents? It also involves the idea of moving white men and placing Negroes in administrative positions they hold. Before you vote for the Republican candidate you would like to know about the Okmulgean's views on this subject, and yet the Republican spellbinders, who persecute Negro audiences with their unreason, feel that such information the Black Dispatch and its editor have on this subject, should be treated as personal and confidential. They want this information withheld.

Negroes of Oklahoma have in mind the establishment of a state hospital, maintained by the state. Would it not be important to know the views of the Republican candidate for governor regarding Negroes heading this type of hospital? Would he regard such an appointment as a "political blunder"?

Too many Negroes consider conversations and agreements they have with officials in public life as private and confidential and personal affairs. This writer and this publication never has and never will consider that the people's business is private property. When we approach public officials we consider first that we have our ambassadorship and portfolio from the people, and we shall take back to the people the exact statement we receive from those in authority.

We might go farther than this. Too many Negroes are concerned in making private agreements for their personal advantage with politicans and those in authority. So far do they get out in this sort of selfish sea that they are confused when some one with altruistic motives assumes that the people's business is not private property to be exploited for personal gain.

This publication is supporting Mr. Marland for governor of this state. The support we are offering is without money or without price. We take the position that the Negroes of this state keep us in public life and that when campaign time comes we should devote ourselves largely to the problems which affect them. We have no private deal with Mr. Marland nor with any one in the State Democratic headquarters, be they black or white.

Whatever Mr. Marland has promised Negroes in the matter of state aid or in the development of our state institutions will be considered as public issues to be piled up in front of him when he reaches the governor's chair. No one has the right to hide from the humblest citizens the views of Mr. Pine or Mr. Marland on any issue.

We conclude with this challenge. If there is any Republican spellbinder who does not like the position of the Black Dispatch on any question we have discussed during this campaign, and wants to illuminate same before Oklahoma audiences, let him name the time and place and we will be perfectly willing to take issue with him upon any platform. It does not make much difference whether we talk first or last.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

AUG 31 1934

Frank A. Anderson

Withdrawal of Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee Negro school teacher, as Republican nominee for corporation commissioner was predicted Friday by Ross Rizley, assistant director of the G. O. P. autumn campaign.

It was reported from Okmulgee, however, that Anderson had contracted with a white attorney to act as his "manager." The Negro won the nomination when E. R. Hughes, incumbent, quit the runoff primary after leading a field of four candidates in the first primary. Democrats were "helping" the Republicans "out," meanwhile, by circulating the above picture of Anderson, together with a "Republican state ticket" in which the Negro is pictured beside W. B. Pine, Republican gubernatorial nominee, his fellow townsman.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

SEP 29 1934

With or Without a Negro

Democrats are saying that the Republicans have little chance of victory in Oklahoma with a Negro, Frank Anderson, on the Republican ticket as the party's nominee for state corporation commissioner. It is no secret that Republican leaders have sought to induce Frank Anderson to withdraw from the race, and there may be something to the rumors that Democrats have prevailed upon him to keep his name on the ballot. Frank Anderson is clearly entitled to the nomination he won by default, so to speak, when Roy Hughes refused to run against him in the runoff primary. No one questions his title to the place, and Republican votes placed him where he is. But race prejudice is a reality, whether you deplore it or approve it, and the Republican wish to remove a Negro from a prominent place on the Republican ballot is easily understood, particularly in this state where so many citizens are of southern origin.

It is likely, however, that both Republicans and Democrats are unduly excited about the Negro's nomination. He isn't going to be elected. He may be a weakness in the Republican campaign, but he is far from the only weakness. A dearth of Republicans in the state is the greatest handicap faced by the G. O. P. There is actually little reason to believe the Republicans can elect anyone to state office this year, whether there is a Negro on the ballot or not. There is even reason to doubt if the Republicans will be able to regain the eighth district, which they lost to E. W. Marland two years ago. Under the circumstance, Frank Anderson might as well run as to withdraw from a race he can't win.

Pine, and The People's Business

Republican spellbinders, roving over the state, are now attempting to muddy the water regarding the W. B. Pine letter addressed to this writer in 1929, and recently published in this journal. These enthusiastic orators attempt to forget the contents of that letter and spend their time arguing that the then Senator Pine wrote this writer a confidential and private communication which in honor this writer had no right to publish.

Black Dispatch

In the publication of this letter we sought to show that Senator Pine is opposed to Negroes holding administrative positions within the confines of the state, and that it is the policy of the Republican candidate for governor to see to it that Negroes do not serve in the post office, internal revenue and marshal's office. He said so in unvarnished and perfectly understandable language, characterizing such a move on the part of Republicans as a "political blunder."

10-6-34

Now we will be willing to leave it up to the horse sense and common reason of all of our readers as to whether a letter written by a United States Senator, regarding a matter affecting the rights and citizenship of all of the people should be treated as private correspondence.

Oklahoma City, Okla.

Senator Pine in his letter to us said "the best interest of Negroes will not be served by office-holding." This is the paragraph which sticks out like a sore thumb, and the one which the Negro Republican orators are trying to cover because of the "Frank E. Anderson" issue in the present campaign. That paragraph does not sound well and for that reason they want to forget all Pine said in 1929 and assault the integrity and honor of this writer.

Should the Negro voter, before he goes into the election booth, know that Senator Pine thinks that office holding for Negroes is "a political blunder"? Do we not have some important issues surrounding this thought? What about the Taft asylum proposition? Would it be well to know what the Republican candidate's views are on this subject? It involves office holding, and far more involved in administrative work than a marshal's office or a postal clerk's work.

What about a Negro board of regents? It also involves the idea of moving white men and placing Negroes in administrative positions they hold. Before you vote for the Republican candidate you would like to know about the Okmulgean's views on this subject, and yet the Republican spellbinders, who persecute Negro audiences with their unreason, feel that such information the Black Dispatch and its editor have on this subject, should be treated as personal and confidential. They want this information withheld.

Negroes of Oklahoma have in mind the establishment of a state hospital, maintained by the state. Would it not be important to know the views of the Republican candidate for governor regarding Negroes heading this type of hospital? Would he regard such an appointment as a "political blunder"?

Too many Negroes consider conversations and agreements they have with officials in public life as private and confidential and personal affairs. This writer and this publication never has and never will consider that the people's business is private property. When we approach public officials we consider first that we have our ambassadorship and portfolio from the people, and we shall take back to the people the exact statement we receive from those in authority.

We might go farther than this. Too many Negroes are concerned in making private agreements for their personal advantage with politicans and those in authority. So far do they get out in this sort of selfish sea that they are confused when some one with altruistic motives assumes that the people's business is not private property to be exploited for personal gain.

This publication is supporting Mr. Marland for governor of this state. The support we are offering is without money or without price. We take the position that the Negroes of this state keep us in public life and that when campaign time comes we should devote ourselves largely to the problems which affect them. We have no private deal with Mr. Marland nor with any one in the State Democratic headquarters, be they black or white.

Whatever Mr. Marland has promised Negroes in the matter of state aid or in the development of our state institutions will be considered as public issues to be piled up in front of him when he reaches the governor's chair. No one has the right to hide from the humblest citizens the views of Mr. Pine or Mr. Marland on any issue.

We conclude with this challenge. If there is any Republican spellbinder who does not like the position of the Black Dispatch on any question we have discussed during this campaign, and wants to illuminate same before Oklahoma audiences, let him name the time and place and we will be perfectly willing to take issue with him upon any platform. It does not make much difference whether we talk first or last.

Oklahoma.

Political-1934 Elections.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN
SEP 28 1934

P. NEGRO CANDIDATE IS PARTY THORN

Withdrawal Held Unlikely With Ballot Printing Close At Hand.

By OBSERVER

Ballots for the general election November 6 will go to press Monday or Tuesday and the printing will end the opportunity for withdrawal of candidates, J. William Cordell, secretary of the state election board, said Thursday.

Close of the withdrawal period this year is particularly significant to the Democratic and Republican parties as Frank Anderson, Okmulgee, Negro, still is on the Reublican ticket as a candidate for corporation commissioner.

Withdrawal Deemed Unlikely

Apparently he will remain on the ticket as Republican efforts to obtain his withdrawal have been unsuccessful. The old line Democrats assert the Republicans cannot hope to win with a Negro on the ticket.

C. C. Hawk, Republican state chairman, thinks the Negro will remain a candidate, although he has said he would not support him.

"He is not my product," said Hawk. "I've done everything I could to get him off."

Democrats will make the most of a G. O. P. ticket with a Negro as a candidate for one of the major offices. At the same time Democratic partisans will attempt to persuade Negro voters that it is to their best interest to support the Democratic ticket.

G. O. P. Chiefs Embarrassed

The Republican attitude toward the candidate and the appeal for Negro votes puts the party leaders in an embarrassing position. The Negro vote is a big bloc—usually estimated at about 50,000—and the G. O. P. needs it. Yet it is embarrassing to them in vote appeals, particularly in the rock-ribbed Democratic sections where they are attempting to divert support from the Democratic ticket.

Of course, Anderson isn't introduced along with the other party candidate and he plays no part in the campaign But he is on the ticket, and a plea by G. O. P. leaders for support of the ticket is a plea for support of their corporation commission candidate.

G. O. P. NOT CONCEDING DEFEAT IN COUNTY

Oklahoma county Republicans are not willing to concede the county to Democrats, but will make a forceful campaign, W. R. White, former county chairman, said Thursday.

White probably will be the county campaign manager. A call was being prepared Thursday for meeting of the Republican county central committee Monday 8 p. m. at the court house, White said.

White assisted A. L. Hilpirt, county chairman, in preparing the call. The committee will outline the plans for the campaign in the county. Various meetings will be held to support the G. O. P. ticket.

A Slant At The Marland Vote Among Negroes In Oklahoma

Beach Dispatch

OKFUSKEE IN FIRST DEMOCRAT VICTORY

BOLEY—This Republican and Negro stronghold in Okfuskee county approved every Democratic state and county candidate for the first time in history in the general election, returns showed today.

Even Frank Anderson, the Negro Republican candidate for corporation commissioner was scratched for a Democrat. Political leaders said that of the 379 votes cast, Anderson received 158, while A. S. J. Shaw, Democrat, received 185.

Ran Fifty-Fifty In Tulsa

TULSA—According to figures compiled by B. C. Franklin, Marland speaker, fully 2,500 of Tulsa's 6,000 Negro voters cast their ballot for E. W. Marland. "We carried precinct 104." declared Franklin, "and we ran well in the other nine precincts," he continued. Precinct 104 is the largest Negro precinct.

Seminole County Shows Up Well

WEWOKA—"We lost Lima but every precinct in the Negro district of Wewoka went for Marland," declared F. D. Moon, principal of the Douglass high school. "It was a great victory and we tried to help in the landslide," said Moon.

Muskogee In Line

MUSKOGEE—With 4,500 registered Negroes in the county, fully 2,500 voted for E. W. Marland, Democratic candidate for governor, declared Dr. D. E. Wallace, stamped their ballots under the rooster.

The heralded revolt in the rural areas failed to "jell." Galvanized into last-minute action by a flurry of dissatisfaction three weeks ago, Democrats whipped their malcontents back into line before the polls opened.

Invades G. O. P. Territory

Marland swept the Democratic counties and invaded normal Republican territory. He took the left center vote and much of the conservative right, with voters unable to see an alternative to his New Deal.

The prostrate Republican party making its mightiest bid for the governorship since wartime, was stopped in its tracks.

Hilarity prevailed in the Marland camp, contrasted with a scene of dejection at Pine headquarters. Conceding defeat, Pine rapped "Tammany tactics," but expressed some relief at not facing four years as chief executive.

Marland Gets Ovation

Marland received a stack of telegrams and an ovation from his townspeople at Ponca City, but plunged immediately into his self-chosen job of "bringing the new deal to Oklahoma."

No one knows exactly what that program will encompass. The governor-elect himself has depicted only the goal and general scheme, admitting details of execution are to be worked out.

His initial steps and perhaps the personnel of committees to begin the study of legislation will be announced late Saturday.

Beat Pine In Home Town

Beach Dispatch

FRANK A. ANDERSON

Official election tabulations show that Frank A. Anderson, Republican candidate for Corporation Commissioner, received a total of 83,789 votes which is by 20 to 30 thousand more votes than some Republicans received who ran for state office.

The fact that there is only 44,000 registered Negro voters in the state indicates that fully 50,000 whites voted for the Negro candidate. Most Negro Democrats scratched Anderson.

One amusing feature about the election is that Anderson carried his home precinct, while W. B. Pine, who lives in the same city and who was the Republican candidate for governor, failed to carry his home precinct.

What Does Pine Offer The Negro Voter?

As this campaign meanders to a close, we want in all seriousness and candor ask the Negroes who are supporting W. B. Pine, the Republican candidate for governor, this question: "What concrete, definite program in the interest of Negroes has Mr. Pine subscribed his approval to?" Scores of Negroes have been speaking all over Oklahoma, but they have talked about Abraham Lincoln, Fort Sumpter and Appomatox. They have by this method sought to throw dust in the eyes of the black electorate; but what of the view in front of us? What has Mr. Pine instructed any Negro or any set of men to tell the Negroes of Oklahoma about a work day program for tomorrow?

With thousands of Negroes on the relief rolls it would not have been out of place for Mr. Pine to discuss this subject, and tell us in perfectly understandable language what he has in mind along this line. To date all we have from Mr. Pine is that he is opposed to the "New Deal" and that if elected governor he will work towards the stoppage of the lavish expenditure of federal funds. What does he mean by this? Does this threat carry any significance?

Everybody knows that the federal government is spending uncounted millions on relief of the destitute, and hungry unemployed. Nobody objects to this but Mr. Pine and his associates, the idle rich. Does Mr. Pine mean that he would stop feeding the hungry and stop employment of the thousands of Oklahoman's now gainfully employed on relief projects? Surely you are interested in interpreting Mr. Pine's mind and lauguage. What does he mean?

Several hundred Negroes are canning government meat in Okmulgee, a half hundred are working in sewing rooms in Oklahoma City. In every city we have visited this week we have discovered that hundreds of Negroes are gainfully employed under FERA projects. Are you interested in that job or would you rather vote Nov. 6 for Fort Sumpter and Abraham Lincoln?

Mr. Pine pays his white and black employes on his vast hog ranch down in Okmulgee county, $1 per day for labor. Does he mean that he will help the federal government by reducing the FERA wage from its present level to his 100-penny basis?

If you are thinking of your home, your debts and your children, you had better have definite knowledge of what Mr. Pine has in mind before you cast your ballot next Tuesday.

There is not a single Pine speaker who has harangued the crowd to whom he has talked, who has been able to tell his audience what Mr. Pine will do regarding Negro education. What will Mr. Pine's attitude be on road work in this state? Has any Republican speaker been able to tell you definitely that Negroes could clean the spittoons at the capitol if Mr. Pine is elected governor?

Let's reverse the picture. Mr. Marland, Democratic candidate, has openly said in public meetings and in conferences with Negro leaders, that he will, if elected governor, do certain definite things. Mr. Marland in perfectly understandable language has said that if elected governor he will make Langston university in actuality a recognized institution for the higher training of Negro youth. Mr. Marland just last week talked to a group of Negro educators and reaffirmed and amplified his intentions along this line. There is no question mark behind Mr. Marland's intentions regarding Langston university. It will cease being a political football for four years, if for no longer.

Still thinking about the welfare of Negro students, Mr. Marland says he will insist that the legislature pass a law for Negro college students taking graduate and professional courses out of the state, at the expense of the State of Oklahoma. Is Mr. Pine committed to any such program? We wonder if this advanced step would not be considered by him a "political blunder"? Would he tremble in his boots in presenting such a suggestion to a Democratic legislature?

Mr. Marland says he will see that Negroes for their first time in Oklahoma get their just share of highway work. The state and federal government spend yearly millions of dollars on the high ways of Oklahoma, but Negroes hitherto have not secured any of this employment. In return for the large Negro vote that has turned its face towards the Democratic party in Oklahoma, Mr. Marland says he will see that in proportion to numerical strength Negroes are given this type of employment. Has Mr. Pine had anything to say regarding this important matter?

Mr. Marland is on record saying that he will remove the white superintendent at Taft. He made a speech in Taft making such a statement. Mr. Pine is on record as saying that "the best interests of the Negro race cannot be served by office holding." Would the Taft situation be one in the improper category of Negro disservice, were Mr. Pine to become governor? Would he feel that removing a white man and replacing him with a Negro would be "resented by southern people"?

Surely in this year of our Lord, 1934, Negroes will be sufficiently jolted into their senses to differentiate between the vague, indefinite nothingness of Mr. Pine as compared with the definite certain program of Mr. Marland. You can eat and sleep with Mr. Marland's program, but Mr. Pine's rainbow is in the moon. You have to look backward to discover Mr. Pine's program. One must look forward to see any portion of what Mr. Marland offers.

The 44,000 registered Negro voters of this state have a fine, sensible opportunity to take a vacation next Tuesday away from their ancient political god—the Republican party. Pine offers nothing. Marland voluntarily has offered a common sense, every day, working program for Negro citizens.

Political - 1934 Oklahoma.

Elections.

BROAD ATTITUDE TOWARD NEGRO GROUP SHOWN BY GOMER SMITH, CITY CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Black Dispatch 2-24-34

QUESTIONS ASKED BY BLACK DISPATCH NOT UNREASONABLE, BUT NECESSARY, SAYS ATTY. SMITH

Wants His Attitude Expressed To Populace "Any Time, Anywhere"

Unprecedented in frankness and principle is the reply the Black Dispatch received this week from Atty. Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City, candidate for governor, in answer to a questionnaire regarding pertinent objectives relating to the Negro group and sent to each of the several gubernatorial candidates.

Atty. Smith in his communication, printed in detail below, expresses a broad attitude regarding independent leadership at Langston university, unstinted recognition of Negro administrative ability by insisting "if elected governor" that the Negro citizen assume, accept, shoulder and discharge the duties and responsibilities of any Oklahoma institution established and operated for the exclusive benefit and service of the colored citizenship."

In concluding his unreserved expressions of liberality the gubernatorial candidate adds: "Not only are you at liberty to publish my views to the Negroes of Oklahoma, but you have my permission to state my attitude to any of your friends at any time and anywhere; both black and white."

The full text of Atty. Smith's letter follows:

"The delay which attends my reply to your very kind and interesting letter of January 22, is, in no sense due to my intentional neglect or my indisposition to reply. I laid it aside in order that it might receive my personal consideration and my personal answer. I knew that you would expect, and had a right to expect this of me. Furthermore, I felt that there was no urgent necessity for an immediate answer.

"I do not consider you to be at all unreasonable in respect of the questions which you have seen fit to submit to me. You and your people as well as the entire citizenship of Oklahoma have a right to have these questions answered in an emphatic and inevasive way by any one aspiring to be elected to the governorship of Oklahoma.

"It is just as important to the educational system of this state that Langston university be removed from and kept free of political entanglement as it is for any other educational institution to be. Langston university is a part of our educational system and the same principles and policies should apply to it as should be applied to Stillwater, Norman, Chickasha or any other educational institution supported by the tax payers.

I am firm in the belief that we have a sufficient number of qualified Negroes in Oklahoma to undertake and properly discharge the duties and responsibilities of any Oklahoma institution established and operated for the exclusive benefit and service of the colored citizenship. Not only do I stand for the recognition by a governor of the Negro's rights, I shall insist if elected governor of Oklahoma that the Negro citizen assume, accept, shoulder and discharge his responsibility to the state in respect to those matters concerning the welfare of his own people; in this the colored citizen is entitled of course, to the sympathy and support of the white citizen without officious interference. I believe that it is responsibility which develops the best that is in any man; I believe that this applies to your race as well as to mine; I believe that we have plenty of capable Negroes willing to undertake the responsibility to which you referred in paragraph six of your letter; and I shall if governor expect them to accept the responsibility and discharge it in a manner both becoming to themselves and servicable to the state.

"I must confess that I am not familiar with the practice at Tuskegee. I expect however, to try to familiarize myself as suggested by your letter.

"Certainly I should and will if governor concern myself to see to it that the Negro citizen receives his rights in respect of Federal Relief and employment under the CWA Act. In other words, I contend that the governor whomever he might be should carry out the spirit of this Act in the spirit of the utmost good faith to both the government and the people.

"I have tried to give to your letter that measure of earnest and sympathetic consideration which its contents merit. And I have been as frank and as honest with you as I know how to be. There is nothing unreasonable about your interrogatories. And any candidate for governor of Oklahoma ought to be willing to answer them and define his position just as I have tried to do.

"Not only are you at liberty to publish my views to the Negroes of Oklahoma, but you have my permission to state my attitude to any of your friends at any time and anywhere; both black and white.

"I observe that you in the last paragraph of your letter stated that you might seek further expressions from me from time to time. You not only have my permission to do this but I request you to do so at any time you consider the issues of the campaign warrant or call for an expression by me as a candidate for governor of Oklahoma.

"I am glad that you saw fit not to overlook an expression from me in regard to the subject discussed in your letter; I appreciate the opportunity of expressing myself on these subjects; and I thank you.

"Very truly yours,
"Gomer Smith."

The Next Governor of Oklahoma

The Black Dispatch has decided to place its stamp of approval upon the candidacy of Senator Tom Anglin of Holdenville, democratic candidate for Governor. In doing this we want our friends and readers to know that we have given much thought to this subject and make this decision after much deliberation, investigation and care.

We have made this decision even though we know that many Negroes have felt cold towards the Anglin candidacy because of Governor Murray's open espousal of Anglin's cause. Many have felt that to elect Anglin would be to select a Murray "Yes" man. This is foreign from the truth, and no one who knows Senator Anglin's record of independence in the legislature or has seen him in action, would so classify him. The best antidote for this sort of feeling is to talk with Senator Anglin for fifteen minutes. He is a man of courage and conviction.

Black Dispatch

In taking this position the Black Dispatch is not attempting to say that Anglin is the only able man in the race. As a matter of fact we are impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of several of them. We could not take the position in support of Mr. Anglin without paying a deserving tribute to several who have responded to our questionnaire, and expressed a willingness to do the fair square thing by the Negroes of this state if elected Governor. To date we have had personal conversations with J. Berry King, Congressman E. W. Marland, Senator John McDonald, Jack Walton, and letters from Cyrus Avery, Lieutenant Governor Burns, Gomer Smith, all of whom have taken advanced position with reference to Negroes rights and privileges in this state.

5-10-34 Oklahoma City Okla.

This campaign to date has been a very fine experience for this writer. We assumed an independent position in politics and then said to the Negroes of Oklahoma that they should get into the Democratic primary and help elect the men who are going to govern and control Oklahoma. We have seen literally hundreds of our close personal friends jump the political fence since that decision, this has been to our liking but the interesting phase of this political move of the Black Dispatch has been the fine, sympathetic and almost instant response that has come from candidates for public office. It shows that the Democratic candidates in Oklahoma are willing to, and would rather do something for the mass of Negroes in Oklahoma, than to continue to truckle with a few selfish, designing politicians, who have nothing in mind but the complex of a hungry dog.

We have decided to get behind the Anglin candidacy because of the already written record of Senator Anglin regarding Negroes rights; his present attitude towards Negro problems and his availability.

First of all the Negroes of this state should know that when the Ku Klux Klan was alive and raging all over Oklahoma it was Senator Anglin who wrote, introduced and had passed in the legislature the anti-masking law. The passage of this legislative enactment spelled the death of the klan in this commonwealth. At a later date we shall publish this statute verbatum so that our readers can know the type of legislation Mr. Anglin has had the moral courage to support and place on the statutes.

With reference to Langston University we are also at a later date going to publish Mr. Anglin's record. There is not an appropriation that our state school has received across all of the years Mr. Anglin has been in the legislature, for which Mr. Anglin's vote has not been cast. We want the record to speak and we promise during the succeeding weeks to publish the record as recorded in the House and Senate Journal.

Aside from this written record Mr. Anglin says this year, in responding to our questionnaire that he will stand as governor for legislation providing for the complete accrediting of Langston University before recognized rating agencies of the United States. Mr. Anglin knows that to do the faculty personnel must be strengthened. He is entire accord with this plan and will endorse legislation and policies looking towards this end.

In addition, Mr. Anglin feels that the Negro youth of Oklahoma, desiring to follow up graduate, professional and technical courses, should be provided scholarships. This is not a new idea for Southern states. Maryland, Missouri and West Virginia already have enacted such legislation. Mr. Anglin will support such legislation in Oklahoma if elected governor.

In addition, Tom Anglin comes out positively in favor of Negroes heading separate state operated institutions for Negroes. This is an issue in Oklahoma. Today our half million dollar insane hospital is headed by a member of another race. This ought not to be. Mr. Anglin has had the courage to say that he will correct this situation.

When the Negroes of the 14 Red River Counties met in convention some time ago, they endorsed one resolution which was outstanding and important. They said that Negroes were entitled to work on the highways of this state.

Political - 1934 Oklahoma

Elections.

BROAD ATTITUDE TOWARD NEGRO GROUP SHOWN BY GOMER SMITH, CITY CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Black Dispatch

2-24-34

QUESTIONS ASKED BY BLACK DISPATCH NOT UNREASONABLE, BUT NECESSARY, SAYS ATTY. SMITH

Wants His Attitude Expressed To Populace "Any Time, Anywhere"

Unprecedented in frankness and principle is the reply the Black Dispatch received this week from Atty. Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City, candidate for governor, in answer to a questionnaire regarding pertinent objectives relating to the Negro group and sent to each of the several gubernatorial candidates.

Atty. Smith in his communication, printed in detail below, expresses a broad attitude regarding independent leadership at Langston university, unstinted recognition of Negro administrative ability by insisting "if elected governor" that the Negro citizen assume, accept, shoulder and discharge the duties and responsibilities of any Oklahoma institution established and operated for the exclusive benefit and service of the colored citizenship."

In concluding his unreserved expressions of liberality the gubernatorial candidate adds: "Not only are you at liberty to publish my views to the Negroes of Oklahoma, but you have my permission to state my attitude to any of your friends at any time and anywhere; both black and white."

The full text of Atty. Smith's letter follows:

"The delay which attends my reply to your very kind and interesting letter of January 22, is, in no sense due to my intentional neglect or my indisposition to reply. I laid it aside in order that it might receive my personal consideration and my personal answer. I knew that you would expect, and had a right to expect this of me. Furthermore, I felt that there was no urgent necessity for an immediate answer.

"I do not consider you to be at all unreasonable in respect of the questions which you have seen fit to submit to me. You and your people as well as the entire citizenship of Oklahoma have a right to have these questions answered in an emphatic and inevasive way by any one aspiring to be elected to the governorship of Oklahoma.

"It is just as important to the educational system of this state that Langston university be removed from and kept free of political entanglement as it is for any other educational institution to be. Langston university is a part of our educational system and the same principles and policies should apply to it as should be applied to Stillwater, Norman, Chickasha or any other educational institution supported by the tax payers.

I am firm in the belief that we have a sufficient number of qualified Negroes in Oklahoma to undertake and properly discharge the duties and responsibilities of any Oklahoma institution established and operated for the exclusive benefit and service of the colored citizenship. Not only do I stand for the recognition by a governor of the Negro's rights, I shall insist if elected governor of Oklahoma that the Negro citizen assume, accept, shoulder and discharge his responsibility to the state in respect to those matters concerning the welfare of his own people; in this the colored citizen is entitled of course, to the sympathy and support of the white citizen without officious interference. I believe that it is responsibility which develops the best that is in any man; I believe that this applies to your race as well as to mine; I believe that we have plenty of capable Negroes willing to undertake the responsibility to which you referred in paragraph six of your letter; and I shall if governor expect them to accept the responsibility and discharge it in a manner both becoming to themselves and servicable to the state.

"I must confess that I am not familiar with the practice at Tuskegee. I expect however, to try to familiarize myself as suggested by your letter.

"Certainly I should and will if governor concern myself to see to it that the Negro citizen receives his rghts in respect of Federal Relief and employment under the CWA Act. In other words, I contend that the governor whomever he might be should carry out the spirit of this Act in the spirit of the utmost good faith to both the government and the people.

"I have tried to give to your letter that measure of earnest and sympathetic consideration which its contents merit. And I have been as frank and as honest with you as I know how to be. There is nothing unreasonable about your interrogatories. And any candidate for governor of Oklahoma ought to be willing to answer them and define his position just as I have tried to do.

"Not only are you at liberty to publish my views to the Negroes of Oklahoma, but you have my permission to state my attitude to any of your friends at any time and anywhere; both black and white.

"I observe that you in the last paragraph of your letter stated that you might seek further expressions from me from time to time. You not only have my permission to do this but I request you to do so at any time you consider the issues of the campaign warrant or call for an expression by me as a candidate for governor of Oklahoma.

"I am glad that you saw fit not to overlook an expression from me in regard to the subject discussed in your letter; I appreciate the opportunity of expressing myself on these subjects; and I thank you.

"Very truly yours,
"Gomer Smith."

The Next Governor of Oklahoma

The Black Dispatch has decided to place its stamp of approval upon the candidacy of Senator Tom Anglin of Holdenville, democratic candidate for Governor. In doing this we want our friends and readers to know that we have given much thought to this subject and make this decision after much deliberation, investigation and care.

We have made this decision even though we know that many Negroes have felt cold towards the Anglin candidacy because of Governor Murray's open espousal of Anglin's cause. Many have felt that to elect Anglin would be to select a Murray "Yes" man. This is foreign from the truth, and no one who knows Senator Anglin's record of independence in the legislature or has seen him in action, would so classify him. The best antidote for this sort of feeling is to talk with Senator Anglin for fifteen minutes. He is a man of courage and conviction.

Black Dispatch

In taking this position the Black Dispatch is not attempting to say that Anglin is the only able man in the race. As a matter of fact we are impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of several of them. We could not take the position in support of Mr. Anglin without paying a deserving tribute to several who have responded to our questionnaire, and expressed a willingness to do the fair square thing by the Negroes of this state if elected Governor. To date we have had personal conversations with J. Berry King, Congressman E. W. Marland, Senator John McDonald, Jack Walton, and letters from Cyrus Avery, Lieutenant Governor Burns, Gomer Smith, all of whom have taken advanced position with reference to Negroes rights and privileges in this state.

5-10-34 Oklahoma City Okla.

This campaign to date has been a very fine experience for this writer. We assumed an independent position in politics and then said to the Negroes of Oklahoma that they should get into the Democratic primary and help elect the men who are going to govern and control Oklahoma. We have seen literally hundreds of our close personal friends jump the political fence since that decision, this has been to our liking but the interesting phase of this political move of the Black Dispatch has been the fine, sympathetic and almost instant response that has come from candidates for public office. It shows that the Democratic candidates in Oklahoma are willing to, and would rather do something for the mass of Negroes in Oklahoma, than to continue to truckle with a few selfish, designing politicians, who have nothing in mind but the complex of a hungry dog.

We have decided to get behind the Anglin candidacy because of the already written record of Senator Anglin regarding Negroes rights; his present attitude towards Negro problems and his availability.

First of all the Negroes of this state should know that when the Ku Klux Klan was alive and raging all over Oklahoma it was Senator Anglin who wrote, introduced and had passed in the legislature the anti-masking law. The passage of this legislative enactment spelled the death of the klan in this commonwealth. At a later date we shall publish this statute verbatum so that our readers can know the type of legislation Mr. Anglin has had the moral courage to support and place on the statutes.

With reference to Langston University we are also at a later date going to publish Mr. Anglin's record. There is not an appropriation that our state school has received across all of the years Mr. Anglin has been in the legislature, for which Mr. Anglin's vote has not been cast. We want the record to speak and we promise during the succeeding weeks to publish the record as recorded in the House and Senate Journal.

Aside from this written record Mr. Anglin says this year, in responding to our questionnaire that he will stand as governor for legislation providing for the complete accrediting of Langston University before recognized rating agencies of the United States. Mr. Anglin knows that to do Negroes are entitled to work on the highways of this state.

In addition, Mr. Anglin feels that the Negro youth of Oklahoma, desiring to follow up graduate, professional and technical courses, should be provided scholarships. This is not a new idea for Southern states. Maryland, Missouri and West Virginia already have enacted such legislation. Mr. Anglin will support such legislation in Oklahoma if elected governor.

In addition, Tom Anglin comes out positively in favor of Negroes heading separate state operated institutions for Negroes. This is an issue in Oklahoma. Today our half million dollar insane hospital is headed by a member of another race. This ought not to be. Mr. Anglin has had the courage to say that he will correct this situation.

When the Negroes of the 14 Red River Counties met in convention some time ago, they endorsed one resolution which was outstanding and important. They said that Negroes were entitled to work on the highways of this state.

The faculty personnel must be strengthened. He is entire accord with this plan and will endorse legislation and policies looking towards this end.

comparable with their numeric strength. This has never been done in Oklahoma. So far as we know, Mr. Anglin is the only candidate who has had the moral courage to say that if elected Governor, he would see that this was done. This ought to be an important reason why Negro farmers all over rural Oklahoma, where highways pass through their districts, should support Mr. Anglin.

There are a number of things for which Mr. Anglin stands, such as tax reduction and the strengthening of our rural educational program, that should appeal, but we want to discuss for a few moments the question of his availability. There is no use to listen to the promises of a candidate who cannot be elected.

People are in a spiritual stupor this year. Almost every candidate returning from speaking engagements agree that his audiences have been egnimas. "There's just no response and no one can really tell what the reaction is going on in the back side of his audience's mental self." Says one candidate: "The depression with its demoralizing effects is showing in political groups. The politician who tells you he knows what is going to happen in July, is after all guessing, just as you would have to arrive at conclusions as to what is going to happen. The old rules of the game cannot be followed this year. There are no Amens and few curses."

In such an unusual emergency it is organization that will count. Every politician knows that a weak candidate can win against the strong if the weak office-seeker has strong organization to pit against an otherwise more powerful adversary.

Tom Anglin has been able to organize better over the state than any other gubernatorial candidate. He has been in the race longer, and during this period has had the friendly support of Governor Murray's state organization. A very prominent member of the Young Democratic League, who resides in Oklahoma City, and who has been making speeches over the state, in the past two months, said recently to this writer: "I can't say that I am for Tom Anglin, but I am going to say this; he has the most completely organized group of followers I have ever seen in every section of the state."

Leaving the question of effective organization, and turning to an entirely different phase of the subject, we desire right here to point out that Southeastern Oklahoma has been for years the capstone of radicalism. It is from this section that Jack Walton has always secured his great strength. The radical bloc is always able to land its candidate in Oklahoma when united, but when disorganized and disjointed, as it is this year, will not prove ineffective.

Let us analize the radical vote of 1934. First of all the Socialists will place a candidate in the field. In former years this organization polled upwards of 50,000 votes. Let us attribute to them only about five or six thousand this year. This vote forms a part of the radical vote which for years has submerged itself in the democratic column.

Add to this the vote that will be surely given to Porter Newman and Senator John McDonald. Both of these men come from the Red River tier of counties, and as native sons of that territory must be counted upon to carry a large bloc of votes. Gomer Smith is also making a powerful appeal to this same class of voter and will doubtless proselyte many of them. Then comes Jack Walton to ask for his share, and Murray, with his well oiled state machine moves in to claim his pound of flesh.

To our notion the radical menace of the Red River counties is completely neutralized by the demoralized condition of the section, and again it follows that the candidate with complete and effective organization will have the better position in the situation. Those who assume that Jack Walton will carry all of the Southeast territory are in for a big surprise. The truth is, when we visited the recent Ardmore Convention we found his influence among the Negro delegates just about nil.

As we said at the outset, we see no reason why we should fight any of the candidates in the race. Our position shall be for, instead of against. We shall be positive instead of negative. We believe that Senator Anglin's already written record in public service is one that Negroes should applaud, we believe that the stand he takes on current issues is liberal, and we believe that he has the best chance to win in the July marathon because he is better organized to win.

Has Good Record

TOM ANGLIN

TOM ANGLIN TRACES RECORD IN LEGISLATION FOR NEGROES DURING PAST SIXTEEN YEARS

Black Dispatch 6-1-34

TAKES POSITION THAT INTEREST SHOULD BE SERVED PROPERLY BECAUSE OF LACK OF REPRESENTATION

Negro Institutions Should Be Run By Negroes Says Solon

Tracing his sixteen years in the legislature, and connection with legislation favorable to Negroes' interests, Tom Anglin, Holdenville, and a candidate for governor on the democratic ticket, wrote the Black Dispatch this week a very illuminating letter.

Beginning with the Training School at Boley, which he helped to create, when it was located at McAlester, up to the construction of the new half million dollar hospital for insane at Taft, Mr. Anglin said, "I have taken the position that those of your race have no vote in the legislation of the House or Senate and that they should be looked after."

Anglin's attitude towards education of the Negro youth is also stressed in his letter. The exact text of the Anglin letter follows:

"I do not have your general letter to candidates before me but will tell you in a brief way my interest in legislation as affecting the colored people of this state.

"As you know I have been in the House or Senate for 16 years. During that time I have helped to create the school for Negro boys at Boley and I have voted for appropriations for most of the buildings at Langston. Furthermore, helped put through the appropriations to build the Hospital at Taft, which is a credit to any state, and insisted as best I could that the personnel of that institution be from the colored race. I know of one session of the Legislature for instance, when more buildings were provided for at Langston than any white school in the state, for the reason that the Federal Government had provided for a part of the money if we would supply the balance.

"I have taken the position that those of your race had no vote in the legislation in the House or Senate and that they should be looked after—they were citizens of the state, taxpayers of the state.

"I can see no reason why the colored race should not be given an opportunity to run the colored institutions of the state. We will then see for ourselves the results obtained. If they are successful they should continue to run them. If not readjustments can be made. Personally, I believe that ability and qualifications for the job can be found in Oklahoma in the Negro race.

"I would be glad to answer any questions which may be of public interest and appreciate your fairness in giving me space in your newspaper for this expression."

Political - 1934

Pennsylvania

Elections.

JACKSON WINS IN PHILLY PRIMARY

Afro-American

PHILADELPHIA. (By Wire)—Walter K. Jackson, independent Republican, won over John W. Harris, Jr., regular Republican, for the nomination for the state assembly, by more than 7,000 majority in the Seventh district, Tuesday.

5-19-34

Hobson Reynolds, Republican, won in the Twenty-first district.

The Rev. Marshall Shepard, Democratic candidate, in West Philadelpria, is running well, the incomplete returns show.

Jackson is believed to have the support of Magistrate Edward W Henry.

J. C. ASBURY IS DETHRONED AS WARD LEADER

Afro-American

B. G. Collier Unanimously Elected Committeeman in 30th.

6-9-34

VARE FORCES ARE ROUTED

Baltimore, Md

The Harry T. Trainer at the Helm

PHILADELPHIA—By the unanimous vote of 36 committeemen, John C. Asbury, William S. Vare, leader of the 30th Ward, was dethroned and B. G. Collier, K. P. grand chancellor, was elected ward leader, in a smothly oiled meeting Monday night.

At the same time the committee smashed the Vare machine in the 30th ward by electing the following slate:

Marty Manion, chairman; Dr. Willard T. Grinage, vice-chairman; Wiliam Upshur, treasurer; John Bell, recording secretary and Charles McIntyre, financial secretary. Robert Montgomery and James Young, treasurer and financial secretary, respectively, in the old regime, went down with Asbury.

Trainer Victor

With the ousting of Asbury, Harry T. Trainer, councilman, becomes the undisputed boss in the 30th. Trainer has also locked horns with Vare in the Seventh and Third wards.

Friends of Asbury attribute his downfall to his sole dependence upon the dictatorial support of Vare to carry him through in ward affairs. Vare, it is evident, is losing his grip on Republican party control.

Is Organization Man

At the committee meeting Monday night, Mr. Asbury pledged his allegiance to the party nominees, although they were his opponents in the recent primary. He stated that while he had fought Walter K. Jackson, successful legislative nominee, he would fight just as hard to bring about his election.

Jackson, who surprised political dopesters by winning the Republican nomination as an independent, started a fight against Asbury six years ago. The action of the committee, it is believed, ends the leadership of the veteran politician in the 30th ward.

Grundy Turns His Thumbs Way Down on Judge Henry

Afro-American

9-22-34

Baltimore, Md.

(AFRO Bureau

PHILADELPHIA. — A hornet's nest was stirred up in Philadelphia political circles Monday, when Joseph R. Grundy, white Republican state boss, turned thumbs down on the ambitions of colored leaders to put forward a candidate, Magistrate Edward W. Henry, for the post of U.S. Congressman in the Second District, made vacant by the recent resignation of James M. Beck, white.

The dictum of the state boss was carried out in a specially-called meeting of the nine ward leaders of the district, presided over by Edwin R. Cox, Republican city chairman, whom leaders claim added insult to injury by refusing to allow a committee, representing a city-wide delegation of more than 250 voters, to present its demand to the assembled ward leaders.

Invited to Caucus

This delegation, headed by Raymond Pace Alexander, Dr. Milton White and J. Austin Norris, had been invited by Mrs. Cox, Mr. Alexander claims, to caucus in the Republican City Committee rooms and Republican leaders had made overtures to Magistrate Henry to enter the fight as a means of halting the Democratic trend shown in the first day's registration.

In addition, Congressman Beck was quoted by Mr. Alexander as having expressed the hope that Republican leaders would get behind a colored candidate in the Second District as a means of fair play to them in city patronage.

Backed by Non-Partisan Group

Following several hurried conferences, leaders of both parties, sensing the possibility of having the district represented by a colored man and adding another member of the group to the nation's law making body, agreed to push Magistrate Henry, regarded as the strongest political leader in the city, and a resident of the 30th Ward, for the post.

Not only the delegation, but the sub-committee which was selected to present the demands to the ward leaders of the district, was non-partisan and city-wide.

When the time came, however, for the sub-committee to appear, City Chairman Cox refused to admit them to the room in which the ward leaders were deliberating.

Mr. Alexander and the committee came back to the crowded room where the delegation was gathered and announced that they had been refused even a hearing.

Party Change Urged

There were wild scenes of commotion as charges of an insult were hurled. "We won't forget this," Mr. Alexander told the delegation. "We'll have definite action. Go out from here, everybody, and spread this shameful news among the voters."

The first reaction to the action of the Republican organization came swiftly Tuesday morning, when the district was showered with handbills calling upon colored Republican voters to resent this so-called insult by registering Democratic. Tuesday was the second of the three registration days before election.

Gets Two Votes

In the meeting of the ward leaders, Magistrate Henry's cause was championed by B. G. Collier, 30th Ward leader, and Blakely D. McCaugh, white, leader of the 24th Ward.

Seven of the ward leaders, acting, it was said, under instructions from Mr. Grundy, voted for William H. Wilson, white, former director of public safety, who won the dislike of colored people here generally by his attitude during the 1919 race riots.

At that time, it was charged, he permitted the police to beat and shoot members of the race without punishment.

Following the seven-to-two vote against Magistrate Henry, the vote for Wilson was made unanimous.

Pair Embarrassed

The outcome of the ward leader's decision has put the Second District leader, Harry Trainer, and Republican City Chairman Cox in embarrassing positions. Mr. Trainer, it was said, invited Magistrate Henry to accept the candidacy and assured him of support of certain ward leaders.

When these leaders failed to give their support, Mr. Trainer stated that he had been double-crossed. The offer, it was said, was intended to lay a foundation for halting opposition by any colored candidate who might come forward to run against Mr. Trainer as councilman.

Deep Politics Involved

The defeat of Magistrate Henry, which will blast the hopes of colored voters in Philadelphia to realize their ambitions to send a member of their race to Congress, involved much political history.

Mr. Grundy is said to be out for Mr. Henry's political scalp because the magistrate switched from political friends to foe when the former voted for the confirmation of Justice Parker's appointment to the Supreme Bench.

While the magistrate is regarded as the strongest political leader in the group, he has had tilts with both party chieftains and left the Republican Party to ride into the magistracy on the last popular Democratic wave.

Republican Viewpoints Cited

Desuite the fact that B. G. Collier and other Republicans went down the line for Mr. Henry on the racial issue, there are those who see in the last-minute action of the delegation a political maneuver to further alienate voters from the party.

The point out that it should have been a foregone conclusion that the Republican ward leaders could not be induced to nominate Mr. Henry, a registered Democrat.

They also refer to the fact that the selection of Mr. Wilson had been made at a Republican caucus several days before the meeting Monday.

The fact that the Democratic leaders are not lambasting Mr. Henry for offering to run on the Republican ticket is also interpreted in some quarters as indicating that the whole thing might have been a move to embarrass Republicans.

Henry Talks

In an interview for the AFRO-AMERICAN, Magistrate Henry said:

"The colored voters of Philadelphia were grossly insulted and offended Monday by Edwin H. Cox, chairman of the Republican City Committee, when he curtly and offensively refused to hear them and their requests that a colored man be selected as a candidate for Congress in place of James M. Beck, who had withdrawn.

"The proposition came to me from the Republican committee that I be Congressional candidate on the Republican ticket. I consulted with my political advisors and supporters and without regard to party, they unanimously agreed that this was an opportunity which should not be lost.

Magistrate Blames Cox

"The ward committee, both colored and white, representing both parties, agreed that my candidacy would spell political progress for the colored race. Mr. Cox is undoubtedly responsible for the failure of the committee to make good its agreement.

"The best and most representative men and women of our race gathered in the rooms of the Republican City Committee to urge that a member of our group be selected.

"They were not treated with courtesy and Mr. Cox did not hesitate to show his lack of respect for them. Voters all over Philadelphia are filled with resentment and their votes will tell the story.

"The fact that my name was presented as a candidate is a mere incident. The Republicans showed their usual lack of interest and sympathy with the political aspirations of the 220,000 colored voters in Philadelphia.

1919 Riot Attitude Recalled

"There never was such an exhibition of racial loyalty and non-partisan interest as was shown by those indignant voters, Monday. The Vare machine at its worst compares most favorably with the new machine, headed by Mr. Cox.

"Not content with insulting these representatives of our race by treating them discourteously, they added to the injury by presenting as their candidate, William H. Wilson, former director of public safety during the race riots here in 1919, who looked on while brutal police under his direction killed and assaulted colored men, women and children.

"The man upon whom the responsibility is said to rest for the rebuff we suffered is Joseph R. Grundy, who voted for the confirmation of Judge Parker several years ago and whom we have defeated for the United States Senate."

Republican Wanted

Blakely D. McCaughn, white, clerk of the quarter sessions court, who seconded the nomination of Magistrate Henry, told the AFRO-AMERICAN:

"The opposition to Magistrate Henry in the convention room was declared war on the fact that he would now be a general exodus ward leaders who sheregistered as a Democrat. Although from the Republican Party. I was in favor of Magistrate Hen- Delegation Members Named ry, I felt it was a mistake not- Among some of the leaders seen to have advanced an outstanding in the delegation were: Republican for the appointment." Mrs. Sadie T. Alexander, Wil- liam Upshur, Dr. Milton White, Raymond Pace Alexander, J. Austin Norris, E. Washington Rhodes, Mrs. M. Mosselle Griffin, Mrs. Addie Dickerson, Dr. Charles Lewis, Samuel Brown, George W. Carry, Mrs. Griffin predicted that there would be a general exodus from the Republican Party.

Collier Sorry

B. G. Collier, 30th Ward Republican leader, referring to the failure of the group to elect Magistrate Henry, said:

"It is a very sad affair. The Republican Party would have meant much to the Republican Party. There was nothing said against Magistrate Henry, and I did all I could to bring about his election." She spoke especially of Thaddeus Stevens, who caused the big corporation interests, who caused Joseph R. Grundy to send the word down the line. Mrs. Mosselle Griffin, Mrs. Addie Dickerson, Dr. Charles Lewis, Daily of the Seventh Ward. Sheliam Upshur, Dr. Milton White, declared war on the Republican Party.

Women Indignant

Mrs. M. Mossell Griffin, legislative chairman of the National League of Republican Women, expressed the attitude of women

Political - 1934

Elections.

Pennsylvania

JACKSON WINS IN PHILLY PRIMARY

Afro-American

PHILADELPHIA. (By Wire)—Walter K. Jackson, independent Republican, won over John W. Harris, Jr., regular Republican, for the nomination for the state assembly, by more than 7,000 majority in the Seventh district, Tuesday.

5-12-34

Hobson Reynolds, Republican, won in the Twelfth-first district.

The Rev. Marshall Shepard, Democratic candidate, in West Philadelpria, is running well, the incomplete returns show.

Jackson is believed to have the support of Magistrate Edward W. Henry.

J. C. ASBURY IS DETHRONED AS WARD LEADER

Afro-American

B. G. Collier Unanimously Elected Committeeman in 30th.

6-9-34

VARE FORCES ARE ROUTED

Baltimore, Md

The Harry T. Trainer at the Helm

PHILADELPHIA—By the unanimous vote of 36 committeemen, John C. Asbury, William S. Vare leader of the 30th Ward, was dethroned and B. G. Collier, K. P. grand chancellor, was elected ward leader, in a smothly oiled meeting Monday night.

At the same time the committee smashed the Vare machine in the 30th ward by electing the following slate:

Marty Manion, chairman; Dr. Willard T. Grinage, vice-chairman; Wiliam Upshur, treasurer; John Bell, recording secretary and Charles McIntyre, financial secretary. Robert Montgomery and James Young, treasurer and financial secretary, respectively, in the old regime, went down with Asbury.

Trained Victor

With the ousting of Asbury, Harry T. Trainer, councilman, becomes the undisputed boss in the 30th. Trainer has also locked horns with Vare in the Seventh and Third wards.

Friends of Asbury attribute his downfall to his sole dependence upon the distaforial support of Vare to carry him through in ward affairs. Vare, it is evident, is losing his grip on Republican party control.

Is Organization Man

At the committee meeting Monday night, Mr. Asbury pledged his allegiance to the party nominees, although they were his opponents in the recent primary. He stated that while he had fought Walter K. Jackson, successful legislative nominee, he would fight just as hard to bring about his election.

Jackson, who surprised political dopesters by winning the Republican nomination as an independent, started a fight against Asbury six years ago. The action of the committee, it is believed, ends the leadership of the veteran politician in the 30th ward.

Grundy Turns His Thumbs Way Down on Judge Henry

Afro-American

9-22-34

Baltimore, Md.

(AFRO Bureau

PHILADELPHIA. — A hornet's nest was stirred up in Philadelphia political circles Monday, when Joseph R. Grundy, white Republican state boss, turned thumbs down on the ambitions of colored leaders to put forward a candidate, Magistrate Edward W. Henry, for the post of U.S. Congressman in the Second District, made vacant by the recent resignation of James M. Beck, white.

The dictum of the state boss was carried out in a specially-called meeting of the nine ward leaders of the district, presided over by Edwin R. Cox, Republican city chairman, whom leaders claim added insult to injury by refusing to allow a committee, representing a city-wide delegation of more than 250 voters, to present its demand to the assembled ward leaders.

Invited to Caucus

This delegation, headed by Raymond Pace Alexander, Dr. Milton White and J. Austin Norris, had been invited by Mrs. Cox, Mr. Alexander claims, to caucus in the Republican City Committee rooms and Republican leaders had made overtures to Magistrate Henry to enter the fight as a means of halting the Democratic trend shown in the first day's registration.

In addition, Congressman Beck was quoted by Mr. Alexander as having expressed the hope that Republican leaders would get behind a colored candidate in the Second District as a means of fair play to them in city patronage.

Backed by Non-Partisan Group

Following several hurried conferences of leaders of both parties, sensing the possibility of having the district represented by a colored man and adding another member of the group to the nation's law making body, agreed to push Magistrate Henry, regarded as the strongest political leader in the city, and a resident of the 30th Ward, for the post.

Not only the delegation, but the sub-committee which was selected to present the demands to the ward leaders of the district, was non-partisan and city-wide.

When the time came, however, for the sub-committee to appear, City Chairman Cox refused to admit them to the room in which the ward leaders were deliberating.

Mr. Alexander and the committee came back to the crowded room where the delegation was gathered and announced that they had been refused even a hearing.

Party Change Urged

There were wild scenes of commotion as charges of an insult were hurled. "We won't forget this," Mr. Alexander told the delegation. "We'll have definite action. Go out from here, everybody, and spread this shameful news among the voters."

The first reaction to the action of the Republican organization came swiftly Tuesday morning, when the district was showered with handbills calling upon colored Republican voters to resent this so-called insult by registering Democratic. Tuesday was the second of the three registration days before election.

Gets Two Votes

In the meeting of the ward leaders, Magistrate Henry's cause was championed by B. G. Collier, 30th Ward leader, and Blakely D. McCaugh, white, leader of the 24th Ward.

Seven of the ward leaders, acting, it was said, under instructions from Mr. Grundy, voted for William H. Wilson, white, former director of public safety, who won the dislike of colored people here generally by his attitude during the 1919 race riots.

At that time, it was charged, he permitted the police to beat and shoot members of the race without punishment.

Following the seven-to-two vote against Magistrate Henry, the vote for Wilson was made unanimous.

Pair Embarrassed

The outcome of the ward leader's decision has put the Second District leader, Harry Trainer, and Republican City Chairman Cox in embarrassing positions. Mr. Trainer, it was said, invited Magistrate Henry to accept the candidacy and assured him of support of certain ward leaders.

When these leaders failed to give their support, Mr. Trainer stated that he had been double-crossed. The offer, it was said, was intended to lay a foundation for halting opposition by any colored candidate who might come forward to run against Mr. Trainer as councilman.

Deep Politics Involved

The defeat of Magistrate Henry, which will blast the hopes of colored voters in Philadelphia to realize their ambitions to send a member of their race to Congress, involved much political history.

Mr. Grundy is said to be out for Mr. Henry's political scalp because the magistrate switched from political friends to foe when the former voted for the confirmation of Justice Parker's appointment to the Supreme Bench.

While the magistrate is regarded as the strongest political leader in the group, he has had tilts with both party chieftains and left the Republican Party to ride into the magistracy on the last popular Democratic wave.

Republican Viewpoints Cited

Desuite the fact that B. G. Collier and other Republicans went down the line for Mr. Henry on the racial issue, there are those who see in the last-minute action of the delegation a political maneuver to further alienate voters from the party.

The point out that it should have been a foregone conclusion that the Republican ward leaders could not be induced to nominate Mr. Henry, a registered Democrat.

They also refer to the fact that the selection of Mr. Wilson had been made at a Republican caucus several days before the meeting Monday.

The fact that the Democratic leaders are not lambasting Mr. Henry for offering to run on the Republican ticket is also interpreted in some quarters as indicating that the whole thing might have been a move to embarrass Republicans.

Henry Talks

In an interview for the AFRO-AMERICAN, Magistrate Henry said:

"The colored voters of Philadelphia were grossly insulted and offended Monday by Edwin H. Cox, chairman of the Republican City Committee, when he curtly and offensively refused to hear them and their requests that a colored man be selected as a candidate for Congress in place of James M. Beck, who had withdrawn.

"The proposition came to me from the Republican committee that I be Congressional candidate on the Republican ticket. I consulted with my political advisors and supporters and without regard to party, they unanimously agreed that this was an opportunity which should not be lost.

Magistrate Blames Cox

"The ward committee, both colored and white, representing both parties, agreed that my candidacy would spell political progress for the colored race. Mr. Cox is undoubtedly responsible for the failure of the committee to make good its agreement.

"The best and most representative men and women of our race gathered in the rooms of the Republican City Committee to urge that a member of our group be selected.

"They were not treated with courtesy and Mr. Cox did not hesitate to show his lack of respect for them. Voters all over Philadelphia are filled with resentment and their votes will tell the story.

"The fact that my name was presented as a candidate is a mere incident. The Republicans showed their usual lack of interest and sympathy with the political aspirations of the 220,000 colored voters in Philadelphia.

1919 Riot Attitude Recalled

"There never was such an exhibition of racial loyalty and non-partisan interest as was shown by those indignant voters, Monday. The Vare machine at its worst compares most favorably with the new machine, headed by Mr. Cox.

"Not content with insulting these representatives of our race by treating them discourteously, they added to the injury by presenting as their candidate, William H. Wilson, former director of public safety during the race riots here in 1919, who looked on while brutal police under his direction killed and assaulted colored men, women and children.

"The man upon whom the responsibility is said to rest for the rebuff we suffered is Joseph R. Grundy, who voted for the confirmation of Judge Parker several years ago and whom we have defeated for the United States Senate."

Republican Wanted

Blakely D. McCaughn, white, clerk of the quarter sessions court, who seconded the nomination of Magistrate Henry, told the AFRO-AMERICAN:

"The opposition to Magistrate Henry in the convention room was war on the Republican Party.

Delegation Members Named

Among some of the leaders seen in the delegation were:

Mrs. Sadie T. Alexander, William Upshur, Dr. Milton White, Raymond Pace Alexander, J. Austin Norris, E. Washington Rhodes, Mrs. M. Mosselle Griffin, Mrs. Addie Dickerson, Dr. Charles Lewis, Samuel Brown, George W. Carry.

Collier Sorry

B. G. Collier, 30th Ward Republican leader, referring to the failure of the group to elect Magistrate Henry, said:

Women Indignant

Mrs. M. Mossell Griffin, legislative chairman of the National League of Republican Women, expressed the attitude of women

Harry Battis;
Dr. John P. Turner, Wayne Hopkins, Robert N. C. Nix, Reginald Randolph, George Geter, Southall Williams, Dr. Henry Grinnage, Mrs. Lewis Mintess, Mrs. Ella Goldie, W. K. Jackson, Linton Fisher, Johnnie Gatlin and others.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
INQUIRER-PUBLIC LEDGER
SEP 18 1934

W. H. WILSON NAMED IN PLACE OF BECK FOR CONGRESS RACE

Ex-Safety Head and Prominent Lawyer Formerly State Legislator

William H. Wilson, former Director of the Department of Public Safety and a widely known lawyer, yesterday was chosen to succeed James M. Beck as a Republican candidate for Congress from the Second Congressional District, at a meeting of the leaders of the nine wards comprising that district. The session was held at the headquarters of the Republican City Committee.

Only One Other Name Presented

Mr. Wilson won the nomination over Magistrate Edward W. Henry, the only Negro member of the minor judiciary. Seven of the nine committeemen voted for Mr. Wilson, while the other two cast their ballots for Magistrate Henry.

While several other candidates were suggested to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Congressman Beck, Wilson and Henry were the only persons for whom the city committeemen voted.

Terming the nomination "a stern summons to duty," Mr. Wilson, in accepting it, declared that he will wage an aggressive campaign in "behalf of the militant program and the splendid ticket of seasoned statesmen which the Republican

WILLIAM H. WILSON
Who was chosen yesterday as the Republican candidate for Congress from the Second Congressional District, succeeding Congressman James M. Beck.

Wilson Designated for Congress Race

Continued From First Page

Party offers to the people of Pennsylvania?"

The new candidate for Congress was selected by these leaders: Thaddeus M. Daly, 7th ward; James ward J. Cooke, 8th ward; James M. Neely, 9th ward; Magistrate Dennis F. Fitzgerald, 10th ward; Blakely D. McCaughn, 24th ward; John F. Dugan, 27th ward; B. C. Collier, 30th ward; Edwin R. Cox, president of City Council and chairman of the Republican City Committee, 36th ward, and Joseph Kelly, 44th ward.

Voices Must Be Raised

Referring to national issues, Mr. Wilson in his statement of acceptance, declared that "clamorous protest is called for to halt those in high places who today are seeking to strangle American initiative in the red-tape noose of bureaucracy."

"Voices must be raised," he continued, "against a national policy which is making our currency system a wild dance of the dervishes to a tune of debasement and repudiation. We must stabilize our currency and leave no possible shadow of doubt in anyone's mind as to the basis on which it is to endure.

"Throughout the Nation citizens are coming more and more to realize that in the Republican party lies their only hope of making progress against the deplorable tendencies of Governmental policy which alone hold back the advent of better times."

Mr. Wilson also said that another "disquieting symptom" is the tendency toward Government by blocs and specialized minorities" and declared that he wished to stress the point that "the lesson accentuated by troublous times that ill-considered and hastily digested laws have thrust upon us is that the fate of what Abraham Lincoln called 'the plain people' is in the balance.'"

Became Lawyer at 21

Mr. Wilson is 57, having been born in the First ward on December 6, 1877. He was graduated from the Central High School in 1895 and the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1898. Following his graduation from the latter institution, he was forced to wait for six months before being admitted to the Philadelphia Bar, because he had not reached the age of 21.

In 1900 he was appointed an Assistant City Solicitor and remained in that office until 1909, when he resigned to resume his private practice. He was a former law partner of the late Judge Joseph P. Rogers. He is now associated with Francis M. McAdams.

Sponsored State Welfare Laws

Mr. Wilson was elected to the State Legislature from the old 5th District in 1913 and was re-elected in 1915. During the 1915 session he was the administration's floor leader. While acting in that capacity he assumed charge of the Workmen's Compensation, Child Labor and Woman Suffrage bills and worked for their passage.

From 1916 to 1920 he was Director of Public Safety and during the World War handled many knotty problems with ability and dispatch. He has always lived and voted in Philadelphia. He has been a resident of the 8th Ward six years. He makes his home at the Barclay. He is married and has one daughter, Dorothy.

Close Friend of Schnader

Mr. Wilson is a close personal friend of Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican candidate for Governor, and took an active part in the last primary election.

"In offering Mr. Wilson's name to the electorate of the 2d Congressional District for the important post of Congressman," said Mr. Cox, "the members of the convention feel satisfied that they are submitting the name of a man of ability, energy, wide experience and character, and one who will conscientiously, courageously and earnestly serve the people."

Four Candidates Are Ahead in Philly Election

Afro-American 11-10-34

Bloodshed and High Tension Characterize the Day.

Baltimore, Md.

FIRST DEMOCRAT TO LEGISLATURE

Marshall Shepard and 3 Republicans Named.

(AFRO Bureau)

PHILADELPHIA—In what old-timers here regard as Philadelphia's most hotly-contested election, and which was characterized by blood-shed and high tension throughout the day, all four colored candidate seem to have won according to returns Wednesday morning.

Samuel B. Hart, running for re-election to the legislature in the Sixth District; Walter K. Jackson in the Seventh, Marshall L. Shepard in the Eighteenth and Hobson Reynolds in the Twenty-first, seemed sure of nosing out.

Shepard Democrat

Marshall L. Shepard, who won the election for the state legislature in the Eighteenth, ran on the Democratic ticket and is the first successful candidate to have ever received the official endorsement of that party.

The election started off in a flow of blood and rain and with police, state constabulary officials and U.S. Department of Justice all here guarding the election. A number of members of our group were sworn in as deputies.

Fatal Clash

At least one fatal clash was chalked up to election fervor, when William Rooks, 38, 1711 Naudain Street, was shot to death by Joseph (Candy) Davenport, 44, 1640 Naudian Street.

This election tragedy took place in the presence of more than one hundred people shortly after a political rally at Seventeenth and Naudain. Mr. Davenport is a committeeman in the Seventh Ward.

According to eye-witnesses the shooting followed a fight which grew out of a political argument. The men first had a fist fight and Davenport is said to have gone home and secured a gun. He was arrested and is being held for the coroner.

Philadelphia gave the appearance of a New Year's Eve celebration in the downtown section Tuesday night. Both the Republican and Democratic headquarters were jammed and the streets were crowded.

The general opinion here is that the political status of colored citizens has been greatly advanced as a result of the close election results between the two parties. It is significant that both the colored Republican and Democratic candidates won.

Make Statements

Magistrate Edward W. Henry, a leading figure in the politics of the Thirtieth Ward, made the following statement:

"I'm very happy of the election of the Democratic candidates. I feel that this will be a new day as well as a new deal for colored citizens. Politically, the Republicans deserve the rebuke which colored voters have administered because of their failure to deal squarely with the people who have been their most loyal and dependable supporters. I am confident that the successful candidates will keep every promise they have made."

John M. Marquess, who fought with the Republicans, had the following to say:

"The Democratic victory of yesterday, while somewhat of a surprise, submits easily to analysis. The general belief that President Roosevelt is feeding the people plus the unrest of the many who have become melancholy over present-day conditions, and the feeling in the middle alignment that a change could make conditions no worse, all helped to contribute to their victory.

"From our angle there is no doubt that a fine education as to his wishes, and a splendid publicity of both sins of omission and commission on the part of the leaders were carried on with good effect. We shall hope that the new administration will measure up to all that is expected of it. A good citizen bows to the will of the majority."

Political - 1934

Elections.

Pennsylvania.

Legislator

Hobart S. Brown, prominent Pittsburgh attorney, who was elected to the Pennsylvania Legislature in Tuesday's balloting. He had been nominated on both Republican and Democratic tickets. Mr. Brown is the son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Byrd, of Norfolk, his wife being the former Miss Wilhelmina Byrd. He led his nearest rival 8 to 1.

THEY WON!

WALTER K. JACKSON

HOBSON R. REYNOLDS

SAMUEL H. HART

Four race men will represent Philadelphia in the State Legislature. Rev. Marshall Sheppard, pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church; Samuel Hart, South Philadelphia leader; Walker J. Jackson, employed in the City Treasurer's office, and Hobson Reynolds, prominent North Philadelphia undertaker. Sheppard was running on the Democratic ticket. The others were on the Republican ticket.

South Carolina.

Political-1934

Elections.

CHARLESTON, S. C.
POST

FEB 9 1934

HOUSE KILLS CONNOR BILL

Changes Mind Overnight on Auto Property Tax Measure

Columbia, Feb. 9. (AP)—Changing its mind overnight, the house today killed on third reading the Connor bill to compel collection of property taxes on motor vehicles.

The measure, which would prohibit the issuance of an auto license unless the applicant presented receipts showing he had paid state county and city property taxes on the vehicle, was passed, 57 to 40 yesterday on second reading.

It was continued or killed today 49 to 39. The bill was introduced by Rep. Bob Connor of Orangeburg who said it would have brought in thousands of dollars of property taxes now escaping collection.

Receive Special Message

As the legislators began the final day of the fifth week of their session, they received a special message from Governor Blackwood urging them to push the rural electrification program in this state.

The governor asked the legislature to pass a concurrent resolution calling upon the PWA to give "immediate and preferential "consideration the state highway department's request for a $5,912,000 loan and grant to develop the project.

The special message was received as information in the house and referred to the finance committee for action in the senate.

Cooke Opines

Senator Cooke of Horry arose to say sponsors of the plan last year agreed it would not add to the state debt.

"This looks like a $5,000,000 debt now," he commented.

Lieut. Gov. J. O. Sheppard, presiding, explained part of the sum was to be a grant and the whole project was required to be "self-liquidating."

A little later, the liquor question flared into a brief debate in the senate on the committee reference of bills introduced by Williams of Aiken to authorize the sale and manufacture and to tax liquor in the state.

Because of revenue features, Williams wanted the measures to go to the finance committee instead of the "dry" judiciary committee. They were finally sent to the judiciary as "important legal questions." Both would be submitted in a referendum before becoming effective.

Libel Bill to Committee

As the legislators prepared for their week-end recess, the house sent the bill passed by the senate to liberalize the libel laws to its judiciary committee for inspection.

The house committee on roads, bridges and ferries a little earlier had reported favorably on a bill by McMaster of Richland to set up a commission and appropriate $25,000, if necessary, to assi the state attorney general in testing in the courts a 1925 act ratifying the "Columbia canal" agreement.

The senate passed and sent to the house bills said to place state and federal bank stockholders on a parity by abolishing stockholders liability to state banks and to repeal an "impractical" requirement that one-fourth of hygiene textbooks be devoted to the effect of alcohol and narcotics.

Tag Bill to Third Reading

It amended and sent to third reading a house auto tag bill. In its present form the measure would provide a quarterly reduction in tag fees, one fourth off between January 1 and April 30, half off between May 1 and July 31, and three fourths off for the last quarter.

The senators adopted a resolution by Hammond of Richland calling upon the federal government to use South Carolina granite in federal construction in the state.

Rep. Newton of Anderson put in a joint resolution in the house to appoint a committee to investigate the costs of text books used in institutions of higher learning. It went to the education committee.

The judiciary committee reported favorably on several joint resolutions for judicial reform, most of them sponsored by the J. O. U. A. M.

They included:

1. A joint resolution providing that except in capital cases, eleven jurors may return a verdict.

2. A joint resolution to permit the legislature by legislative act to dispense with the necessity of indictment in offenses less than capital.

3. A joint resolution limiting the governor's pardon power. This resolution was introduced by Rep. Epps of Sumter.

Bill Special Order

The senate made a third reading bill to raise teachers' salaries 10 per cent a special order for early action and scheduled a measure to abolish the "stretchout" mill system for consideration next Wednesday upon the insistence of Senator Sloan of Greenville.

Senators indicated a disposition to pass a joint resolution to reduce the governor's term from four to two years, but found the quorum necessary for a vote had dwindled away while they discussed merits of state executives.

Four new bills of statewide importance were introduced as the chamber ended its fifth week. They were:

By Senators Brown, Parler, McEachin, and Hammond, to regulate the making of small loans by bonding and licensing loan agencies and placing them under the bank examiner's supervision.

By Senators Brown and Jeffords, to impose an excise tax of ten cents a pound on all oleomargarine except varieties made from native products and specifically exempted for the purpose of increasing the use of cotton seed.

By Senator Parlor, to require the issuing of certificates of cancellation of charters by the secretary of state and to require their filing.

By Senator Brown, to regulate the hours of labor in factories.

At Brown's request, the senate judiciary committee set a hearing for 4 p. m. next Wednesday upon a series of bills to remove Democratic primary rules from the statute books.

The Barnwell senator explained that a supreme court decision in a Texas case held negroes could vote where primary ~~rules were~~ incorporated in the state laws.

NOT THIS KIND OF GOVERNOR

State Senator C. E. Sloan of Greenville, self styled "Mountain Lion," has announced his candidacy for governor of South Carolina. In announcing his platform among other things, he says: "I believe in adequate support for the common schools of the State in order that every white child may have an opportunity at least to receive the benefits of a common school education, and in the support of the penal and charitable institutions of the State."

That this candidate is too short-sighted and narrow to be the governor of any State that desires to make real progress is evident from his credo as to education. About half of the population of this State consist of Negroes. This gentleman, however, thinks that South Carolina can progress as other States which believes in the education of all of its inhabitants, even though only half of its population be provided with adequate funds to give at least a common school education. He does well, however, in stating in the same sentence his belief in a generous support of the penal and charitable institutions. He would be in different to schools for Negroes which means, of course, that he would necessarily have to be generous to the penal institutions. Any man of the intelligence which the governorship of a state should demand ought know that the more money spent in real education makes far less expenditures in the maintenance of penal institutions. The Senator may be a very good man and as excellent a legislator as he says he is, but as a governor, if he has expressed his real sentiments, he would make a good farmer.

Elections.

FREE-FOR-ALL RIOT MARKS REPUBLICAN POLITICAL CONFAB

Commercial Appeal

"Black and Tan" and "Lily White" Factions Clash

3-25-34

DEPUTIES QUELL FIGHT

Memphis, Tenn.

Officers With Tear Gas Restore Order in Courtroom

CHURCH CENTRAL FIGURE

Crowd of 500 Thrown Into Uproar When Rival Factions Meet With Election of Chairman as Issue

Deputy sheriffs with tear gas crashed the riot of "Black and Tan" and "Lily White" Republicans in the criminal court roo myesterday to restore order after the usual biennial fight of the two G. O. P. factions. Police were called. The meeting, scheduled as the Shelby County Republican convention, ended in a dog fall and both sides left claiming victory.

White Republicans and negro Republicans mixed it. Courtroom equipment was destroyed. A chair crashed through the air. A negro lawyer hurled an ink bottle. And behind all the din could be heard the shouts of Bob Church, Beale Street leader, directing his white lieutenants.

While the uproar continued each faction went through the motions of electing a separate delegation to the state convention and a new county committee.

Decide Winner May 15

Which side won will be decided May 15 at Chattanooga when each faction will appear at the convention to claim the Shelby County votes.

The commotion began as the convention opened, with election of a temporary chairman as the issue.

Joe Marks, chairman of the retiring Shelby County Republican committee and Church supporter, stood in the judges' box in front of the First Criminal courtroom.

Filling every inch of standing space, with negroes standing on benches at the rear of the courtroom, and white Republicans standing about the judges' box or seated in front of it, was a crowd of nearly 500.

Lester Brennen, United States commissioner, was placed in nomination by the Church faction, and Dr. Carroll H. Morgan, Shelby County election commissioner, was named by the lily whites, headed by John E. McCall.

Mr. McCall, Republican candidate for governor two years ago, stood on a chair in front of the chairman to ask that the vote be taken by division, with the factions taking to opposite sides of the room.

Shout For "Tellers"

But someone shouted from the floor for appointment of tellers to take the vote. A roar went up over the room.

Church shouted over the din:

"If Mr. McCall will take this by tellers—" onl yto be drowned out.

"It is perfectly apparent that—" Mr. McCall shouted over the heads of the crowd. His voice was lost in a shout from every part of the room.

"— on its face to take this convention like they have always done," McCall's voice came through the roar again. "They are not going to count these votes and you know it," McCall yelled at the top of his voice, and was heard, for the shouting redoubled.

"Appoint Mr. McCall one of the tellers," Church shouted to Mr. Marks, who stood in the judge's box, pounding his gavel at intervals but puzzled as to what to do next.

"All in favor of Dr. Morgan say aye," Mr. McCall shouted.

The answer was a tremendous shout of mingled ayes, nos and boos—bedlam.

Judge's Lamp Broken

As the roar continued, a half dozen men swarmed over the front of the judge's box, and everyone near them either tried to pull the climbers back or shove them in.

The judge's lamp was broken off at the top and the glass shade tinkled to the desk in hundreds of pieces.

George H. Poole undertook to drive George Wasington Lee, negro, secretary, away from the court stenographer's table, and Lee backed through the crowd with his fists in front of him, shouting at Poole. A dozen men separated them. Another scuffle started in the rear of the room, though partisans kept the would-be fighters apart.

Chattanooga, Tenn. News
July 30, 1934

A Campaign Song

ONE of the candidates for sheriff has a Negro band which he takes with him to rallies. A favorite number they sing is

"Frank Burns done got choked on a chicken bone."

We feel sure that the hardy listeners who go out for an evening of speech-making find quite a diversion in this harmless sort of campaigning.

No less person than Mr. E. H. Crump of Memphis rode into office on a Negro band and a song they composed about him. The story is told in a new book, "Beale Street—Where the Blues Began," by George Lee, a Memphis Negro. Back in 1909, Mr. Crump, one of three candidates for mayor of Memphis, hired a Negro band to play for him. The band leader, W. C. Handy, Memphis Negro and originator of the type of song of which "Memphis Blues" is perhaps the best example, composed a song for the occasion. The song was entitled "Mr. Crump" and went something like this:

Mr. Crump don't 'low no easy riders here,
Mr. Crump won't 'low no easy riders here.
I don't care what Mr. Crump don't 'low,
I'm gonna bar'l-house anyhow.
Mr. Crump can go and catch himself some air.

Well, Mr. Crump, so the author says, was carried into office on this song and the author carried to fame by its subsequent success.

After the election the title was changed from "Mr. Crump" to "Memphis Blues." It brought a small fortune to the man who bought the song from Handy.

Frank Burns will go into office, because "Mr. Burns won't 'low no easy riders here." There have been too many easy riders.

Chattanooga, Tenn.
NEWS
JUL 30 1934

A Campaign Song

ONE of the candidates for sheriff has a Negro band which he takes with him to rallies. A favorite number they sing is

"Frank Burns done got choked on a chicken bone."

We feel sure that the hardy listeners who go out for an evening of speech-making find quite a diversion in this harmless sort of campaigning.

No less person than Mr. E. H. Crump of Memphis rode into office on a Negro band and a song they composed about him. The story is told in a new book, "Beale Street—Where the Blues Began," by George Lee, a Memphis Negro. Back in 1909, Mr. Crump, one of three candidates for mayor of Memphis, hired a Negro band to play for him. The band leader, W. C. Handy, Memphis Negro and originator of the type of song of which "Memphis Blues" is perhaps the best example, composed a song for the occasion. The song was entitled "Mr. Crump" and went something like this:

Mr. Crump don't 'low no easy riders here,
Mr. Crump won't 'low no easy riders here.
I don't care what Mr. Crump don't 'low,
I'm gonna bar'l-house anyhow.
Mr. Crump can go and catch himself some air.

Well, Mr. Crump, so the author says, was carried into office on this song and the author carried to fame by its subsequent success.

After the election the title was changed from "Mr. Crump" to "Memphis Blues." It brought a small fortune to the man who bought the song from Handy.

Frank Burns will go into office, because "Mr. Burns won't 'low no easy riders here." There have been too many easy riders.

Pope, Hooper Draw Enthusiastic Crowd, Ryman Auditorium

Voters Hear Pointed And Eloquent Addresses on Issue of Honest Elections

Some two hundred or more colored men and women, leaders among the politically minded members of the race in Nashville, helped swell an audience, estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000 who gathered at the Ryman auditorium Tuesday night of this week to hear the addresses of the Hon. Lewis S. Pope and former Gov. Ben Hooper, Fusion candidates respectively for the offices of governor and United States Senator. It was pronounced by all who attended the meeting as the most enthusiastic gathering of voters that has assembled in Nashville in many years. The enthusiasm of the vast crowd was maintained throughout the long speaking program, and very largely because of the belief of the Fusion adherents that their ticket is marching to certain victory.

Kindly tributes to colored citizens were paid by both Messrs. Pope and Gov. Hooper in their address. Mr. Pope stoutly denied the charge being circulated against him that he "does not want the colored vote", and maintained that he has never made such a statement in his career as a candidate. He stated that he was opposed to colored men and women being herded to the polls and being used to corrupt elections. He was loudly applauded for his stand by the colored men and women in attendance as well as by the members of the white race. He stated that in his old home county of Bledsoe colored citizens were almost to a unit supporting him in his race.

Former Gov. Ben. Hooper, conceded to be the ablest orator in Tennessee, easily lived up to his reputation in an address that was devoted largely to an attack on "political machines" and sarcastic references to his opponent, Senator Kenneth D. McKellar. Among other things he promised if elected to the senate to correct the iniquities of the Bankhead cotton reduction law, which was enacted by the last congress with the help of Senator McKellar, who did nothing to prevent the law being passed, has since come out in favor of changing it because of the hardships it is visiting upon the "little men" in the cotton growing sections. Governor Hooper stated that Senator McKellar's promise to do something about the law "next January" would not be carried out because Senator McKellar would not be Senator next January.

Governor Hooper also came out in favor of the immediate payment of the bonus to ex-service men of the World War, and his promise to vote for the bonus was loudly cheered by the vast audience, showing conclusively that the "great common people" do not share the views of President Roosevelt who is opposed to paying the bonus, although thousands of World War veterans and their kindred helped elect Mr. Roosevelt because of the belief that he intended to pay the bonus out of the taxes collected by the government from the sale of beer.

Gov. Hooper punctuated his address with numerous anecdotes that kept the audience in great glee throughout the address. He spoke with extreme confidence with regard to the certainty that he has race against Senator McKellar won and that it is only a question of the size of his majority over the veteran solon from Memphis.

An ovation almost equal to that received by Messrs. Pope and Hooper was given the Hon. John E. McCall, young Memphis ex-service man who won the Republican nomination for governor over the Hon. Will H. Clark last August. Mr. McCall in a brief address stated that he gave up the Republican nomination in order to help in a great non-partisan effort of ridding the state of "political machines". He said he knew that in the event of his election as governor no progress could have been made as long as the state is dominated by "machines." Mr. McCall introduced the Hon. Lewis S. Pope, while Judge Sam Butler of Sparta, a democrat introduced former Governor Ben Hooper.

The Hon. Howard B. Shoffner, chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, presided over the meeting. One of the unique features of the gathering was the presence of various Hooper-Pope clubs which marched into the auditorium carrying banners and flags. The meeting took on the appearance of a political convention, and the enthusiasm was unusual.

It is predicted that the Regular Democrats will have a hard task to nobolize, even in Nashville, a gathering equal in size to the one that greeted the Fusionists last Tuesday night. Even Democrats admit that they do not have among their array of speakers two orators of ability equal to former Gov. Hooper and the Hon. Lewis S. Pope.

THE JUSTICE-OF-THE-PEACE RACE

On December 29th, 1934, a special election will be held in the first nine wards, city of Knoxville, for the purpose of selecting a justice-of-the-peace to fill the vacancy caused by the death of 'Squire Dan Kelley. If the Negro voters have failed to discover by this time the need for having in this important office, a man who will conduct the affairs of office on the same high plane as was employed by 'Squire Kelly, the race will have none other to blame than themselves when and if some candidate slips into office bent on gouging all of the fees that he can possibly filch from the pockets of poor white people and Negroes.

It is possible that many voters will find themselves "so busy" that they can't find a few minutes to visit the polls on the above date and cast votes for the candidate who is best prepared to serve in the office, while on the other hand there will be those thoughtless individuals who will hang about the polls on election day and demand a price for their votes and will accept it, regardless as to which candidate will pay off. With such an attitude, when some notorious "fee grabber" gets into the office and begins to ply his trade, these very same thoughtless and indifferent voters will be the ones to raise the loudest howl.

Every voter should consider it his sacred duty to march to the polls on December 29th and cast his ballot in the election of that day in as determined and serious manner as though an election for president was being held. In such a manner, a qualified man will be selected to fill the office

Elections.

Chattanooga, Tenn. News
March 30, 1934

Ballot Box Disappears When Negro Found to Be Elected

Votes Stolen After Count Shows Colored Doctor Named Councilman.

Nashville, March 30.—(U. P.)—A most important and burning question was to be decided today.

Who turned out the lights at the Fourteenth ward fire hall and stole the ballot box Thursday night, just after a count of ballots revealed that Dr. Harry W. Walker, Negro physician, had been elected to city council over two white opponents?

As the day wore on all city officials who could be located had little information to add to the disappearance. Neither did they know officially whether another election would be necessary.

The judges who announced the vote, with Walker's lead far in advance of his opponents, stuck to their tally.

Not Officially Elected.

Officials recalled that no one is officially elected until after the election board canvasses the result. That cannot be done with the box missing and many were of the opinion that it would be missing a long time. Friday was a holiday and no official action has been taken on the theft.

Jim Tignor, one of the election judges, reportedly was sitting with his feet atop the box when out went the lights, there was a rush in the dark, pandemonium, lights and an empty place where the box had been.

Tignor had little to say this morning. "They just knocked me over and took it. I don't know who it was," he said.

Political people of the ward said this wasn't the first time a box has been stolen in the turbulent vicinity where in past years three Negroes have been elected to council. J. Washington Moore, City Attorney, said however, that he was unfamiliar with the law and procedure regarding such a theft, and would have some research work to do before making an opinion.

The swiping of the box came just after Will Bearden and O. F. Young two of the judges, had announced these results: Walker, 214; Dr. Thomas J. King, druggist, 97; D. I. Barfield, huckster, 92. The election was a special one to fill a council vacancy.

Nearly 1,000 people had crowded into the hall for the count. A rope held them away from the box. The count was announced, the rope let down, and that was when the lights went out. No one had the slightest clue.

Walker claims he has a certified copy of the vote and is officially elected. Other semi-official opinions are that there must be an official canvass of the vote before anyone can take office. This, admittedly, will be hard to do with the ballot box missing.

COUNCILMAN - ELECT TRICKED BY WHITES

Afro-American

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(ANP).—The first colored councilman to be elected here in more than twenty years was tricked out of his seat by the election commissioners last week.

Dr. H. H. Walker won over two white opponents in a special election to fill the recently vacated 14th ward seat, but the ballot box was stolen and then the commissioners suddenly disqualified all candidates.

Brooklyn, N. Y. Eagle

MAR 30 1934

Nashville Elects Negro Councilman

Nashville, Tenn., March 30 (AP)—A Negro and two white men ran for a City Council seat in a special election yesterday, but the ballot box was missing.

Election officials said the count showed that the ward, which has a large proportion of Negro citizens, had elected the Negro candidate by a wide margin.

Memphis, Tenn., Com'rcial Appeal
June 30, 1934

BOB CHURCH'S SCALP HANGING IN BALANCE

John E. McCall Makes Counter Proposal to G. O. P.

STATE COMMITTEE IS HIT

Offer to Give McCall Two Representatives, Church Two, and One Impartial Member on Board Debated

The political scalp of Bob Church, negro Republican leader, hung in the balance yesterday as state G. O. P. leaders debated the counter proposal of John E. McCall to their offer of equal representation on the Shelby County Republican primary board.

The offer, giving McCall two representatives and Church two, with the fifth member to be an outstanding Republican independent, was termed by Mr. McCall as an "eleventh-hour proposal aimed at saving the political life of Bob Church."

The offer was made at a meeting Tuesday in Nashville of state party leaders in an attempt to avert threatened court action against the state G. O. P. committee to force it to appoint the five McCall members elected to the board at the Chattanooga convention. At its recent meeting, the state committee adjourned without action on the Shelby board and left the Church-controlled board, headed by Lester H. Brenner, in power.

Action Unknown

"After consulting with my friends, I was authorized to make a counter proposition," Mr. McCall wired Congressman J. Will Taylor, state Republican leader and committeeman. What action will be taken by Mr. Taylor or other state leaders was not known yesterday. Mr. McCall has received no reply to his telegram.

The counter proposal provides that two McCall representatives serve with two Church supporters on the state committee from Shelby County, being elected without a contest, and it specifies that either side may name white or negro Republicans.

"But neither R. R. Church, Lester H. Brenner nor George W. Lee can be named by the Church faction to either the county primary board or the state committee," the proposal sets out.

Mr. McCall, a Republican gubernatorial candidate and leader of the new youth movement in the Republican ranks, has announced that the fight in Shelby County is against Church and his "blighting influence" on the Republican party, and calls the action by the state committee in failing to recognize the primary board "an effort to perpetuate Bob Church and the Republican wing of the Democratic party in Shelby County."

His statement follows::

"In an effort to perpetuate Bob Church and the Republican wing of the Democratic party in Shelby County, the Republican state committee, sitting as a primary board, ignored the law of Tennessee and violated their trust to the party by refusing to appoint the legally certified primary board of Shelby County.

"After an alternative writ of mandamus had been issued to compel a compliance with the law by the appointment of a legal primary board for Shelby County, those in control of the present state committee have sought a way to ameliorate the defeat Church suffered at the Chattanooga convention by proposing that my friends relinquish to Church the control of the local primary board to which they are entitled under the law.

"The fight in Shelby County is against Bob Church and his blighting influence on the Republican party. After consulting with my friends in regard to the eleventh hour proposal aimed at saving Church's political life, I was authorized to submit a counter proposition. My friends are willing to agree that two of my friends and two members of the opposition should be elected to the state committee without a contest; and that two of my friends and two members of the opposition should be named on the local primary board, the fifth man to be mutually agreed upon, with the undertsanding, that either side could name white or negro Republicans, but that neither R. R. Church, Lester Brenner or George W. Lee could be named by the Church faction to any of these places.

"This counter proposal from my friends is certainly more than fair in view of our legal rights. It was submitted on yesterday (Thursday) and no reply has been received."

"LILY WHITES" RUN AMUCK.

For the first time in years Bob Church seems to have met defeat at the hands of the "Lily White" mob down in Tennessee. He received a temporary setback at the Republican State Convention at Chattanooga.

The chief and only real objection Bob Church's enemies within the party had against his leadership was that he is a Negro. One of the inconsistencies of color prejudice was strikingly evident in this opposition to Bob Church—he is of lighter complexion than many of the white men who long have sought his political scalp.

Bob Church at no time used the colored vote in Tennessee to put himself into office. He has consistently refused to go on the public payrolls. Nor has it been his policy to entrench his race in a position of dominance over the whites. As a correspondent of the Associated Negro Press pointed out: "He has used the Negro vote to keep in line white friends for the Negro."

To offset the charge of "Lily Whiteism," it is reported that McCall has succeeded in wining the support of a few knee-bending, hat-in-hand Uncle Toms. But self-respecting members of the race will have nothing of McCall and his crowd. The prediction is made that he will stage a comeback and put his "Lily White" adversaries to rout.

Chattanooga, Tenn. Times
November 5, 1934

BACK M'REYNOLDS, NEGROES EXHORTED

Dr. Thompson Reveals Breach in Colored G.O.P. Lines.

Lauds Incumbent, Calls for His Re-Election as Aid to Administration.

The colored voters of Chattanooga were requested last night by Dr. W. A. Thompson, leader among his race, to throw aside party regularity at the polls tomorrow and support the "greatest president the country has had since Abraham Lincoln, by voting to send Representative Sam D. McReynolds back to congress."

The statement from Dr. Thompson bears political significance since aligned with him are a number of the colored leaders who are expected to follow him Tuesday and vote for McReynolds. This is the first indication of a breach in the colored lines, normally republican, in the congressional race.

Dr. Thompson said his decision to support McReynolds "has come after a review of his record as a member of the congress and with full consciousness that my vote Tuesday will not be just political, but in substantiation of the great work of our president, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

For the past several days, Dr. Thompson said, he has made it a point to contact members of his race to determine their sentiment in the congressional race "and unless I have been misinformed, the colored voters in Chattanooga will rally to Mr. McReynolds' cause Tuesday."

"My position in this race is not being taken with any ill feeling or discourtesy to Mr. Thach, the republican nominee." Dr. Thompson declared. "Mr. Thach is a splendid gentleman, a fine citizen and under other conditions would make this district a fine representative. But this is not the time. Mr. Roosevelt has the confidence of the people of the United States and should have it. Without reference to party, color or creed he has served his people.

"For the past twenty-five years I have known Representative McReynolds. His record here as criminal judge was one we are all proud of. Since he has been in congress I have had business with him occasionally in behalf of my people. Without regard to party, creed or color I always found him ready to serve my people. To the colored people of this city he has been a real friend.

"It has come to my attention that Representative Oscar DePriest, of Chicago, has sent letters of instructions to the colored people here admonishing them to vote against our congressman. With due respect to Representative DePriest and with full knowledge he is the only member of our race in congress, I must say this: 'I' do not know DePriest's problems in his district and I am certain he does not know our problems here. With that condition I should think that DePriest could better run his race in Chicago and leave the colored people of Chattanooga to decide in their own interest.

"Representative McReynolds has been a friend of the colored war veterans. He did not hesitate to help them with their claims when requested."

Political - 1934
Elections.

Texas.

REPORTS CURRENT EXPOSING METHODS USED IN ELECTION

The "purity of the ballot" and "honesty in politics," where the perennial Negro question can by no stretch of the imagination be brought into the equation, did not prevail at several voting booths during the recent municipal Democratic primary election held in Houston, according to reports, rumors, charges, allegations and whatnots.

All sort of irregularities are alleged to have taken place, even to one person claiming that he voted eight different times; persons voting whose names did not appear on the poll tax rolls; non-residents casting ballots and many other irregular acts. It is even hinted that the election officials got their addition wrong in counting and tabulating the vote in the mayoralty race, and even the chairman of the city Democratic executive committee was quoted in one of the daily papers as urging a recount of the ballots.

Several supporters of the defeated mayoralty candidate staged a post-election or post-mortem meeting last week and decided upon another parley this week; just what action they plan to take has not been ascertained, as they do not seem to be giving out anything for publication.

For one time the declaimers and alarm viewers are minus their traditional cry of the "gullible and crooked Negro in politics;" and, if their reports and charges have any modicum of truth attached thereto, these alleged irregularities can tay.

With the nominations including Ted Clark, C. N. Mooney's Chatterton - Uncle's Lassie colt, which set a new track record in winning the $10,000 Waggoner Handicap at Arlington Downs Saturday, and Chance Line, Chance Shot-

Texas

Political - 1934

Elections.

Why We Favor McDonald

There are several candidates in the race for governor of Texas. The Informer favors the candidacy of C. C. McDonald, and we believe that Negroes should vote for him.

In the first place our canvass of the upstanding Negro leadership of the state convinces us that practically all of the Negro leaders who are not seeking anything for themselves, but are thinking of the best welfare of the million Negroes of Texas, are in favor of the McDonald candidacy. There are some here and there who are waiting to see "how much" the respective candidates will offer; but they are few, and are thinking more of themselves than they are of their people.

Negro leaders have been saying over Texas for thirty years that they would support that group of political leaders who should first recognize and enforce the Constitutional provisions and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States guaranteeing to Negroes the right to vote. C. C. McDonald's crowd have done that very thing. If Negroes should be so unappreciative as to refuse to support people who do things to help them, in the future nobody will bother to protect the rights of Negroes.

In the second place we like the company that Mr. McDonald keeps. Much mouthing has been done about the Ferguson administration, but the fact stands out that this administration has consistently insisted that the Constitution and laws of the United States, being the supreme law of the land, should be obeyed, whether they are liked or not. In 1927, when the first Nixon decision was handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States, Hon. Jas. E. Ferguson said in a front page editorial of his Ferguson Forum the following:

"Let the Democrats of Texas understand that this decision of the Supreme Court puts us face to face with new conditions. Let us all be at once advised that it will do no good to continue to raise the race issue in elections. The Constitution says plainly that it is illegal to do so and that all men are equal before the law."

On June 11, 1934, when the administration-controlled State Democratic Executive Committee met in Austin, the special resolutions committee headed by Hon. Jas. E. Ferguson, refused to report a resolution barring Negroes, and Hon. J. K. Brim, chairman of the committee, said: "If a resolution to keep Negroes from voting in the primrary is introduced, I will rule it out of order. The Supreme Court of the United States told us plainly that there is nothing we can do to keep Negroes from voting."

So far as The Informer knows Mr. McDonald has not made any public statement upon the question. Facing the facts, The Informer realizes that it will be next to impossible to get any candidate to inject such a controversial subject into the campaign. Although The Informer thinks that candidates exaggerate the danger, we accept the facts and start with what seems in sight; for Negroes must learn that politics are not ideal. However, judging from the company that he keeps, it is fair for us to assume that Mr. McDonald, like the administration which is backing him and of which in spirit he is a part, believes that the Constitution of the United States and the decisions of the Supreme Court should be obeyed. Mr. McDonald is supported by an administration which has stood four-square for the Constitution, and it would be the height of folly for Negres to decline to support him in favor of some candidate whose chief backers and supporters are doing their level best to destroy the constitutional right of Negroes to vote. ....

In the third place, in unity there is strength, and a united support of Mr. McDonald by the thoughtful and straightforward Negro leaders of the state will give weight to our vote and prove to all candidates that we know how to think for ourselves, that our votes cannot be bought, and that Negroes have the integrity, wisdom ,and courage to vote for the people who do things for Negroes.

Finally, to answer the question before it is put, The Informer has not asked Mr. McDonald or any of his supporters for any money, The Informer has received no money from Mr. McDonald or any of his supporters, and The Informer will not ask Mr. McDonald or any of his supporters for anything for itself as a consideration for supporting him in the race for governor of Texas.

We Have Kept The Faith

With the withdrawal of Senator Tom Anglin from the gubernatorial race, the editor of this publicantion can repeat the words of the Apostle Paul: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith."

Outstanding as an issue in this campaign is the riddance of Dr. I. W. Young from Langston university. We stepped into the Anglin picture, secured the endorsement of our plan of public action from the Holdenville solon, realizing that in doing so we had closed the only door left open to the little Napolean out University way. Others stepped in and closed the Marland door. The next job for Dr. I. W. Young is to make ready to vacate the campus at Langston university.

Do not let any one fool you. We have had it from the lips of Mr. Marland himself that he will make Langston university what the Black Dispatch and the Negroes of Oklahoma desire it to be. Young's sun has set, and he forever closed the door in his own face, and cut his bridges behind him when he in the last days of the campaign made his wild, unseemly political gestures in favor of Senator Anglin. The story on page one of this issue shows the extent to which he floundered frantically, as chaos swallowed him up in the last hour of the campaign. We warned the Doctor three and one-half years ago that we would be looking down his alley one year before Governor Murray went out of office.

We say now as we said during the campaign that Senator Anglin would have made a good governor. His sixteen years in the legislature stand out like a lighthouse. The fog may come but all who strain their eyes may see the record of sympathetic use and service which he freely gave to the Negroes of Oklahoma. By voluntarily stepping out of the race after the voters had spoken last Tuesday makes Anglin a bigger man, and we predict now that the voters of Oklahoma will later reclaim him with open arms.

The Black Dispatch was forced to support Tom Anglin. Negro leaders over the state wanted to gum-shoe. They were afraid to get behind any candidate. Look over the record and the events as they occurred up to our announcement for Senator Anglin. There was not an outstanding leader in Oklahoma who had had the intestinal fortitude [illegible] behind a single gubernatorial candidate. In several [illegible]ences we held all were, as we said a moment ago, [illegible]ng to gum-shoe.

[illegible] was in such a moment that we told our conferees that the Black Dispatch did not have to pick a winner. We stated then and we aver now that the Negroes of Oklahoma need leadership not dependent upon jobs and political preferment and band wagon driving. The black men and women of Oklahoma need guidance which stands for and supports the objectives of Negroes regardless of who the man is who sits in the gubernatorial chair.

There were hundreds of Negroes who did not believe that with the elevation of Anglin to the gubernatorial chair Young would have been removed. We cannot blame many of them for they have been crushed for so many years with the political domination of this individual that the truth was hard to believe. The truth is that every major gubernatorial candidate was pledged to do this thing for the Negroes of the state. We have it from responsible sources that one of the major defeated candidates, and a former mayor of Oklahoma City, had placed his name on the dotted line saying that Young must go.

To those who doubted whether Anglin was sincere we have only to say that they may come to this office and we will produce Dr. Young's correspondence written to the Anglin headquarters. Young's correspondence was forwarded direct to the Black Dispatch office. Seeing is believing. We go to this length to make the people of the state understand and know that the Black Dispatch in its support of Anglin was not alone assisting as good a man as were in the race, but in addition the Black Dispatch had performed the service that ninety per cent of the Negroes wanted performed. We had closed the door on Young.

It is too bad that a man of Anglin's stature had to be crucified upon the cross of Murrayism. Even in defeat we believe that had he run without the Murray endorsement, and solely upon his record, Anglin would today be the democratic nominee. One thing the public can be assured of: had Anglin continued in the race we would have followed him into the runoff. This publication has never in its twenty years of existence sought a band wagon, unless that wagon had in it that which would serve the people best.

There would have been no excuse, justification or reason for the Negroes going through this campaign leaving Young alone with Anglin. Suppose, for instance, Anglin today stood in Marland's shoes, and were the democratic nominee. Suppose no outstanding Negro in Oklahoma other than Young had supported him. Can you see this picture? We moved into the Anglin camp because we could stop Young and at the same time support with integrity one of the finest men in public life of Oklahoma, and while we were about our Father's Business, it has been amusing to see men clamoring for leadership who rode part time in three different political band wagons.

The Black Dispatch wants to take this method of thanking the many, many friends over the state, who loaned their support to our cause; who went out into the open to do battle, and who did so because they believed in the sincerity and integrity of Senator Anglin and the leadership of the Black Dispatch. With the same objectives and the same determination to serve the Negroes of this state we turn now towards the general election.

The Mirror

By C. F. RICHARDSON

Since The Defender has received so many inquiries regarding the various candidates seeking nomination at the Democratic party primary election Saturday, July 28, 1934, we shall attempt here to give the general public our position.

In the race for United States senate, The Defender favors Tom Connally, present incumbent, over both Joseph W. Bailey, Jr., and Guy B. Fisher. Senator Connally is a seasoned solon and has made an excellent record as a member of the upper house of the United States congress. He is fair, courageous, able and has brought considerable credit to his native state in congressional deliberations. He deserves another six-year term.

The gubernatorial race presents six very able men seeking the highest elective office within the gift of the Texas electorate, and while C. C. McDonald's platform is more in line with present day political philosophy and while we believe that he would make Texas a splendid chief executive, Negro voters, who will not ballot en bloc for any particular candidate in this race, have five other able men to choose from, viz: Edgar Witt, James V. Allred, Tom Hunter, Maury Hughes and Clint Small. The Defender does not take the candidacy of Edward K. Russell, prohibition disciple, very seriously.

Walter F. Woodull of Houston, erstwhile state senator, is our first choice for lieutenant governor of Texas, while John Hornsby of Austin as our second choice.

In the race for attorney general of Texas, Walter Woodward of Coleman, a very able civil attorney and a strong defender of American ideals and institutions, deserves the support and vote of all Texans who desire to see the state's legal affairs in the hands of a capable officer.

* * *

Returning to the state races, The Defender favors George H. Shepherd as state comptroller, one of the most important fiscal offices in Texas, and a post which he has filled with credit and distinction.

Charley Lockhart should be re-elected as state treasurer, for he has proved to be an honest and efficient custodian of state funds and a most worthy public servant.

L. A. Woods of Huntsville, who has been state superintendent of public instruction for the past biennium, is unopposed for re-election, which is a tribute to the efficient and impartial administration of his office. He is a friend to all elements of our polyglot population, and if he had opposition we would favor him over the field.

The office of state commissioner of agriculture is a very important one and calls for a man with intimate knowledge and first-hand information on agriculture (the culture of the field), and J. E. McDonald looms as the best man for this portfolio.

For commissioner of the general land office, J. H. Walker seems to have the call over his opponent, Walter E. Jones.

Five men are seeking the office of state railroad commissioner: W. Gregory Hatcher, James L. McNees, Lon A. Smith, John Pundt and H. O. Johnson, the latter a Houston aspirant. We have no particular choice here, although we believe that either Smith, Hatcher or Pundt would fill the position very acceptably.

* * *

While we hold tenaciously to the opinion that judges should be appointed for life or good behavior to the higher and highest courts of the state, just like the federal government does, and not be forced to campaign for such judicial posts, nevertheless the statutes of Texas provide for their election along with all other seekers after public offices.

Three able and learned jurists are seeking the position of associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court, viz: Judges H. S. Lattimore of Fort Worth; John H. Sharp and James W. McClendon. Having followed Judge Lattimore's judicial career, which has been meteoric, he is our first choice for the supreme court bench, while Judge Sharp is second.

Judge W. C. Morrow is unopposed for the judge of Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, and this fact automatically elicits our support.

Since Judge George W. Craves has no opposition his race for re-election as associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Galveston, and since he is an able and learned jurist, he deserves another term.

The same thing is true regarding Judges Allen B. Hannay and Ewing Boyd, who are unopposed for the judgeships of the One Hundred and Thirteenth and Fifty-fifth Judicial District courts, respectively, of Harris County.

* * *

Next week we shall discuss and give our choices for state offices from this county, as well as county and precinct, as we are now conducting a study of the various candidates, their past records, present platforms and future promises.

Of course, where a county officer has no opposition we shall have no other alternative but to back his candidacy.

In this connection, The Defender suggests that Negro voters study all the candidates seeking public offices in the forthcoming primary, both their official and personal acts and attitudes, as well as their platforms, performances anr preachments.

Let us refrain from voting our prejudices and sentiments and support the men we honestly believe best qualified and fitted for the elective posts which they seek at the hands of the voters.

Texas Lawyer Was First To Run For Congress

Courier

By ALBERT WHITE

Staff Correspondent

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 16 — When Thomas H. Dent, Galveston race lawyer, was a candidate for congress from his district over a year ago, he set a political precedent.

It was the first time in over 30 years that a Negro sought such a high office in Galveston. His entrance in the contest for the seat of the late Congressman Clay Stone Briggs, created a stir in political circles of the Lone Star state.

Mr. Dent threw his hat into the ring when a special election was called in which Negroes were allowed to vote. He was immediately assailed by white politicians who accused him of attempting to muddy the waters and spoil the chances of a white Galvestonian getting the seat. Other candidates were in the race from cities which comprised the congressional district. Business interests of Galveston wanted some one from that city elected. They claimed that Mr. Dent's entrance was made to capture the solid Negro vote and thwart their plans.

It is reported that Mr. Dent was offered $1000 to withdraw from the election which he refused to do. He stayed in the race and when the votes were counted, out of six candidates seeking the post, Dent was third. To the amazement of politicians he nearly upset the election by getting into a run off election with one of his white opponents.

It is believed that if Negro voters had rallied solidly behind Mr. Dent he would have achieved second place in the contest for the seat, but he was fought by some who charged him with being insincere.

Mr. Dent is the leading colored lawyer in Galveston. He finished his college work and law studies at Howard University.

Political - 1934

Elections.

Virginia

Vote of Confidence, New Mandate, New Challenge

Journal and Guide Norfolk, Va. 1934

THE FOUR members of Norfolk City Council who were continued in office by the overwhelming consent of the electorate on Tuesday have every reason to feel unusually complimented. Despite opposition from two well organized groups and a couple of independents, both of whom ran well, the administration forces polled more than a majority of all the votes cast. The people are apparently satisfied that the present government is the one to rely upon, which is something for the present government to be quite proud of, considering the difficulties surrounding the business of governing during these times. Such an evidence of stability offers an encouraging outlook for Norfolk.

The administration has received a fresh mandate to go on with its program which has been characterized by conservatism and rigid economy. There is need for the continuation of such a policy, but it is to be hoped that the pressure will be applied with more careful regard for those who have always been under pressure. That is to say, we hope that certain measures that are necessary to the conservation of health, the maintenance of a tenable standard of living, and the provision of generally accepted minimum standards of education will not be subjected to such rigid exactions of retrenchment as to destroy their social value.

In some instances some of these functions have almost reached that stage in Norfolk, in so far as they affect the more disadvantaged or underprivileged element of the population. This situation imposes upon the administration a social responsibility which it cannot, with good reason, escape.

With due regard for the emphasis necessarily placed upon the continuance of rigid economy, it is the opinion of the JOURNAL AND GUIDE that the electorate which placed the stamp of its unqualified approval upon the men elected to succeed themselves, also put their approval upon certain humanitarian aspects of government toward which the administration has leaned in the past. There could be no more striking evidence of this than the flattering leading vote given Mr. WOOD. It is in this light that we are constrained to hope that the admitted exigencies which demand cautious management of the city's income and expenditures will not rise to such magnitude in the vision of our councilmen as to obscure the necessity of meeting the elementary needs of all the people, in so far as government is able to meet them.

Political - 1934

Elections.

West Virginia

First In W. Va.

Fleming A. Jones, Jr., attorney-at-law of Welch, West Virginia, who was elected a member of the W. Va. House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket on last November 6. He is the first Negro ever elected to the State Legislature on the Democratic ticket in West Virginia. Out of a field of twelve whites and one Negro, five of whom were nominated, Mr. Jones led the ticket in the primary election on August 7.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Communists Party

Communist Party Prepares For Fall Congress Elections

Pittsburgh Nominates Carreathers; Boston Lays Plans for Mass Campaign

Daily Worker 3-21-34

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 20.—Many special problems face Ben Carreathers, one of the leading comrades of Pittsburgh's hill district, and Communist Party candidate for Congress in the 32nd District of Pennsylvania, he told the Daily Worker yesterday as he prepared to launch his campaign in Pythian Temple on June 23.

New York Mirror

The majority of them, he said, derive from the vicious jim-crow system fostered and maintained by the white ruling class of Pittsburgh in a manner greatly similar to the South, with the sole purpose of preventing a unity of the large Negro proletariat on the hill with the white workers of the steel city.

BEN CARREATHERS

Discrimination Rife

There is the discrimination against Negro teachers in Pittsburgh schools, in municipal swimming pools the segregation of all Negroes, and the special discrimination against them on relief, and in the allotment of R. W. D. jobs.

In all the steel mills there is a consistent, vicious, jim-crow system which will allow Negro workers to hold only the worst jobs regardless of their individual ability.

The figures on Negro unemployment, Carreathers said, furnish an indication of the extent to which labor in the black skin, in the Pittsburgh district is doubly oppressed. The 1930 census showed 8 per cent of Pittsburgh's population to be Negroes, yet in 1934 they represent 30-38 per cent of the city's unemployed, and on the hill no less than 80 per cent of unemployed workers are Negroes.

In addition to the demands for abolition of the foregoing discriminatory practices, and the general six-point Communist Party program, Carreathers' is running on a platform calling for a fight against evictions and for the right of unemployed to use gas, light, and water; and for the eradication of slum conditions along Butler St., and in the Scotch Bottom and Glenwood sections.

He will outline his program in detail at the Pythian Temple meeting Saturday night, at which other Communist candidates will also speak.

* * *

Nominating Convention in Boston

BOSTON, Mass., June 18. — The Nominating Convention of the Communist Party in Massachusetts will be held on Friday evening, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock at the Dudley St. Opera House, 113 Dudley St., Boston.

One of the features of the Convention will be the appearance of Paul Wicks of Greenfield, former member of the State Executive Committee of the Socialist Party, who, with four other delegates, walked out of the Socialist Party Convention at New Bedford yesterday and announced their intention of joining the Communist Party.

N. Sparks, Communist Party Organizer, will outline the Workers' platform for the coming campaign. He will address a special plea for the building of the youth movement in Massachusetts where, in the Dorchester district, Mack Libby, District organizer of the Y. C. L. will be suggested for nomination for the office of Representative to the State Legislature.

All trade unions, fraternal and mass organizations throughout Massachusetts, as well as Party units are urged to send delegates with proposals for the election platform, and to make immediate preparations for the collection of signatures to put the Party on the ballot.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
TRIBUNE

AUG 5 1934

Communist Slate In Congress Race

The Communist party, in a statement issued Saturday, announced it would enter candidates from both the First and Second districts in the coming congressional race.

Among the planks in the Communist platform is the party's declared opposition to the Jim Crow law, the abolition of Negro lynchings and equal rights for Negroes.

The party has also declared for the right of Negroes to vote without the payment of poll taxes, the understanding clause or any other disqualification act. It also declared for the defense of the Soviet union.

Negro Reformists Fail In Attempts to Block Negro-White Solidarity

Daily Worker 8-11-34

New York, N.Y.

Communists in Chicago Lead Successful Rally on Jim-Crow Beach, Forcing Police to Back Down On Terror Plans—Negro Misleaders Defeated

By CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT

Note:—The author of this article is the South Side Section Organizer of the Young Communist League, and a leader in the struggle of the Negro workers. He is a candidate for the State Assembly in the coming elections.

* * *

CHICAGO.—Harry Haywood, in his report to the Eighth National Convention of the Communist Party, pointed out the increasingly treacherous role of the Negro reformist misleaders. These misleaders, he stated, become more active as agents of the white ruling class precisely at a time when our Party and League are engaged in decisive struggles for Negro rights. In some cases they constitute the main danger to the Negro people as an aid to white chauvinism.

It is from this viewpoint that we must review the activities of these people in Chicago and their official organ, the Chicago Defender, in recent weeks.

Jim-Crowism Fought

Over a month ago the Young Communist League and the Youth Section of the League of Struggle for Negro Rights uncovered an "unwritten" law of Jim Crowism applied and enforced on the Jackson Park Beach. These organizations immediately organized a struggle to smash this "law."

The Hyde Park Businessmen's and Property Owners' Associations, together with the South Park Commissioners and their police thugs immediately launched a terror drive against the unity of Negro and white workers. They scented in this unity on the beaches a step to further united actions for more relief, against high rents, wage cuts and speed-up in the shops, and for other demands of the workers.

Wide Terror Protest

Over forty young workers were arrested for violating Jim Crow regulations on the beach, and were vilely insulted and abused by police. At meetings held to protest against these arrests, hoodlums employed by the businessmen threw stench bombs. Instead of crushing this struggle through terror as the white rulers expected, the bosses were flooded with protests, resolutions and letters from workers and intellectuals, from individuals and organizations, demanding a cessation of terror and Jim Crowism on the beach.

The South Park Commissioners, becoming alarmed at this growing sentiment, now called upon their Negro agents, the misleaders, to come to their rescue.

A mass beach party, scheduled to take place on July 29, had these people trembling in their boots. Again they calculated on terror to smash this demonstration of unity, but they realized that terror on other occasions had only broadened out the issue.

Negro Reformists Brought In

They realized that it was necessary to take other steps. Accordingly, the Negro reformists began to cry out, "There is no Jim Crowism on Jackson Park Beach. The Communists are attempting to create an issue for agitation. The headline stating, "There is no discrimination on Jackson Park Negroes only used one beach." The following week it headline stating, "It's Beach." The following week it headline stating, "It's Beach." The following week it headline stating, "It's

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Communists Party

Communist Party Prepares For Fall Congress Elections

Pittsburgh Nominates Carreathers; Boston Lays Plans for Mass Campaign

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 20.—Many special problems face Ben Carreathers, one of the leading comrades of Pittsburgh's hill district, and Communist Party candidate for Congress in the 32nd District of Pennsylvania, he told the Daily Worker yesterday as he prepared to launch his campaign in Pythian Temple on June 23.

Daily Worker 6-21-34

The majority of them, he said, derive from the vicious jim-crow system fostered and maintained by the white ruling class of Pittsburgh in a manner greatly similar to the South, with the sole purpose of preventing a unity of the large Negro proletariat on the hill with the white workers of the steel city.

new york mirror

BEN CARREATHERS

Discrimination Rife

There is the discrimination against Negro teachers in Pittsburgh schools, in municipal swimming pools the segregation of all Negroes, and the special discrimination against them on relief, and in the allotment of R. W. D. jobs.

In all the steel mills there is a consistent, vicious, jim-crow system which will allow Negro workers to hold only the worst jobs regardless of their individual ability.

The figures on Negro unemployment, Carreathers said, furnish an indication of the extent to which labor in the black skin, in the Pittsburgh district is doubly oppressed. The 1930 census showed 8 per cent of Pittsburgh's population to be Negroes, yet in 1934 they represent 30-38 per cent of the city's unemployed, and on the hill no less than 80 per cent of unemployed workers are Negroes.

In addition to the demands for abolition of the foregoing discriminatory practices, and the general six-point Communist Party program, Carreathers' is running on a platform calling for a fight against evictions and for the right of unemployed to use gas, light, and water; and for the eradication of slum conditions along Butler St., and in the Scotch Bottom and Glenwood sections.

He will outline his program in detail at the Pythian Temple meeting Saturday night, at which other Communist candidates will also speak.

• • •

Nominating Convention in Boston

BOSTON, Mass., June 18. — The Nominating Convention of the Communist Party in Massachusetts will be held on Friday evening, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock at the Dudley St. Opera House, 113 Dudley St., Boston.

One of the features of the Convention will be the appearance of Paul Wicks of Greenfield, former member of the State Executive Committee of the Socialist Party, who, with four other delegates, walked out of the Socialist Party Convention at New Bedford yesterday and announced their intention of joining the Communist Party.

N. Sparks, Communist Party Organizer, will outline the Workers' platform for the coming campaign. He will address a special plea for the building of the youth movement in Massachusetts where, in the Dorchester district, Mack Libby, District organizer of the Y. C. L. will be suggested for nomination for the office of Representative to the State Legislature.

All trade unions, fraternal and mass organizations throughout Massachusetts, as well as Party units are urged to send delegates with proposals for the election platform, and to make immediate preparations for the collection of signatures to put the Party on the ballot.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
TRIBUNE

AUG 5 1934

Communist Slate In Congress Race

The Communist party, in a statement issued Saturday, announced it would enter candidates from both the First and Second districts in the coming congressional race.

Among the planks in the Communist platform is the party's declared opposition to the Jim Crow law, the abolition of Negro lynchings and equal rights for Negroes.

The party has also declared for the right of Negroes to vote without the payment of poll taxes, the understanding clause or any other disqualification act. It also declared for the defense of the Soviet union.

Negro Reformists Fail In Attempts to Block Negro-White Solidarity

Daily Worker 8-11-34

new york, n.y.

Communists in Chicago Lead Successful Rally on Jim-Crow Beach, Forcing Police to Back Down On Terror Plans—Negro Misleaders Defeated

By CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT

Note:—The author of this article is the South Side Section Organizer of the Young Communist League, and a leader in the struggle of the Negro workers. He is a candidate for the State Assembly in the coming elections.

* * *

CHICAGO.—Harry Haywood, in his report to the Eighth National Convention of the Communist Party, pointed out the increasingly treacherous role of the Negro reformist misleaders. These misleaders, he stated, become more active as agents of the white ruling class precisely at a time when our Party and League are engaged in decisive struggles for Negro rights. In some cases they constitute the main danger to the Negro people as an aid to white chauvinism.

It is from this viewpoint that we must review the activities of these people in Chicago and their official organ, the Chicago Defender, in recent weeks.

Jim-Crowism Fought

Over a month ago the Young Communist League and the Youth Section of the League of Struggle for Negro Rights uncovered an "unwritten" law of Jim Crowism applied and enforced on the Jackson Park Beach. These organizations immediately organized a struggle to smash this "law."

The Hyde Park Businessmen's and Property Owners' Associations, together with the South Park Commissioners and their police thugs immediately launched a terror drive against the unity of Negro and white workers. They scented in this unity on the beaches a step to further united actions for more relief, against high rents, wage cuts and speed-up in the shops, and for other demands of the workers.

Wide Terror Protest

Over forty young workers were arrested for violating Jim Crow regulations on the beach, and were vilely insulted and abused by police. At meetings held to protest against these arrests, hoodlums employed by the businessmen threw stench bombs. Instead of crushing this struggle through terror as the white rulers expected, the bosses were flooded with protests, resolutions and letters from workers and intellectuals, from individuals and organizations, demanding a cessation of terror and Jim Crowism on the beach.

The South Park Commissioners, becoming alarmed at this growing sentiment, now called upon their Negro agents, the misleaders, to come to their rescue.

A mass beach party, scheduled to take place on July 29, had these people trembling in their boots. Again they calculated on terror to smash this demonstration of unity, but they realized that terror on other occasions had only broadened out the issue.

Negro Reformists Brought In

They realized that it was necessary to take other steps. Accordingly, the Negro reformists began to cry out, "There is no Jim Crowism on Jackson Park Beach. The Communists are attempting to create an issue for agitation. The "There is no discrimination on Jackson Park headline stating, "ItBeach." The following week it one used its yellow sheets to prepare for the bloodiest massacre of workers Negroes only used these slogans that in recent years.

the Negro workers. "If the Negroes create a race fence," they shouted, "Racial unrest is the fence." The fence on the beach that stands stating, "Racial unrest is because they segregated them-being stirred up in District 16 and selves." 17. All captains hold special forces in reserve. The Beach Parade must be broken up. There is no permit the white rulers mobilized their The Chief of Police of Chicago to smash the rising sen-issued an order to all police capof unity of Negro and white, tains stating, "Racial unrest is Beach Party of July 29th, being stirred up in District 16 and Lies about Discrimination 17. All captains hold special forces Chicago Defender came out in reserve. The Beach Parade must week of July 22 in a glaring be broken up. There is no permit for it, nor will any be issued."

The Superintendent and Lieutenant of Police of the South Park Board informed a delegation that visited them that all of its forces would be mobilized and no parties would be held.

"Defender" Supports Police

In face of these threats, the Chicago Defender opened up its sheets to a cunningly written article justifying the planned attacks. The article stated that trouble would take place at Jackson Park Beach Sunday, July 29, and the Defender wanted to warn its readers of the situation. The article stated that a huge beach party of Negro and white workers would take place and that police were going to break it up.

It then proceeded to justify this attack by stating that all known radicals would be arrested on sight. It warned its readers that these arrests would not be because the party was mixed, but because the Communists were trying to use the beach for propaganda purposes.

It advised that the Negro workers attending not permit their children to play with others, not to mix with whites, and to call the police to arrest anyone that approached them.

This was the heroic support of white chauvinism which the Defender undertook by its efforts to smash the struggle against Jim Crowism.

Force Rulers to Back Down

In spite of this, our Party and League met and defeated the maneuvers and plans of the white rulers and their Negro agents.

By continuing to arouse the masses against these people and their schemes, we forced the authorities to back down. The great wave of protests finally made the South Park Board half-heartedly promise non-interference with the party of July 2.

When, in spite of this promise, hundreds of police were brought to the beach, the solidarity and unity was so great that they did not dare to attack.

Every weapon and lie used by the white rulers and their lackeys were defeated.

Negroes Flock to Party

First, we defeated their cry of 'creating race riots' by uniting non-revolutionary workers, Negro and white bathers in the party.

Second, their cry that Negroes had segregated themselves was exposed when large numbers of Negroes came across the old 'color line' to join the party when they saw no hostilities were developing.

We likewise forced the commissioners to cut a gate through the fence that had divided Negroes and whites.

This partial victory must be followed up until all our demands are won. Our message to the Abbots, McGills of the Chicago Defender, Foster of the Urban League, and the whole line-up of reformists is: "Judas, for the wonderful service you rendered your white masters, go get your thirty pieces of silver. If they reproach you for having failed, tell them you did your best, but the unity of the masses, Negro and white, under the leadership of the Communist Party and the Young Communist League defeated you."

SEATTLE, WASH.
POST INTELLIGENCER

SEP 1 1934

Negro Democrats to Hear Candidates

Candidates will be given hearings at a meeting of the King County Colored Democratic Club at new headquarters, 2715 Jackson St., tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, Arthur Williams, president, announced yesterday.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
NEWS

AUG 30 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS TO PLAN CAMPAIGN

State Committee Meet, Banquet, Set Here Sept. 10

The Negro Democratic central committee will meet at 10 a. m. Sept. 10 at Slaughter's Hall on NE Second-st, leaders said today.

State Chairman I. W. Young, Langston, said plans will be made for the fall campaign. Hundreds of members and friends are expected to attend the organization's quadrennial banquet, which will be held at that time, said A. R. Jefferson, Stringtown, state secretary.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

SEP 2 1934

Negroes to Organize

Negro Democrats of Vandalia are requested to meet at the Negro school at Vandalia at eight o'clock Thursday evening to organize a Negro Democratic club. The meeting has been called by Scott Warrington.

Decatur, Ga., Herald
August 30, 1934

NEGRO RUNS ON DEMOCRATIC TICKET IN MARYLAND

For the first time in Maryland's history a negro has announced his candidacy for the legislature on the democratic ticket.

Josiah F. Henry, Jr., negro attorney, said Friday he would seek the democratic nomination to the house of delegates from the fourth Baltimore district.

Through his campaign manager, Henry M. Daniels, another negro attorney, he has planned a series of speeches throughout the Fourth district, where a large part of Baltimore's negro population lives.

He plans to have Judge Edward Henry, negro jurist, of Philadelphia, appear on his behalf in Baltimore on August 24th.

CHICAGO, ILL.
HERALD EXAMINER

SEP 6 1934

DEMOCRATS IN BIG DRIVE TO BEAT DE PRIEST

Party's Local Leaders Line Up Behind Mitchell, Colored Candidate; Hopeful of Victory

By Charles N. Wheeler.

For the first time since the colored voters dominated the near South Side, a concerted effort is being made by the local leaders to swing the First Congressional District into the Democratic column.

Defeat of Congressman Oscar De Priest, uncrowned Republican "king of the district," who is completing his third term, is the major objective of the present drive.

For the first time, too, the local Democratic chiefs are backing a colored candidate on their ticket—Arthur W. Mitchell. He happens to be on speaking terms with President Roosevelt. He is also leading a movement among the colored voters to induce them to take an independent attitude in politics.

Brilliantly educated, with a background of teaching at the famous Tuskegee Institute and high scholastic attainments at Harvard and Columbia, Mitchell yesterday explained his political philosophy as follows:

"The colored voters will never take their rightful place in our political government until they display independence."

LOUISVILLE, KY.
TIMES

SEP 4 1934

John F. Lopez Is Director of Democratic Unit

John F. Lopez of Providence today is the new State director of the colored Democrats in Rhode Island, following his election at a meeting of delegates of the various colored Democratic units held in Newport yesterday. He succeeds Cromwell P. West of Newport, who submitted his resignation.

Over 37 delegates, representing 24 colored units, from various parts of the State, with the exception of Pawtucket, were present. The meeting was presided over by George Howard, president of the Narragansett Pier Colored Democratic club. The election of Lopez was unanimous.

West, who was the organizer of the Colored Roosevelt League in this State during the 1932 election, charged the Democratic party with neglecting the colored voters in this State, in regards to patronage distribution.

In a prepared address, West said, "My knowledge of American politics consists of the fundamentals as I understand them, which are votes in November. Patronage in December and protection of patronage in June, by increasing party registration."

In submitting his resignation West also declared, that he could not continue in a conscientious manner as the leader of the colored Democrats in this State. He further charged Newport Democrats had forgot the colored members of the party after the election.

No Need Of Negro Demo Set-Up Says Cong. Marland

By MALCOLM S. WHITBY

"I pledge to do everything possible to make you part and parcel of the State Democratic Convention so that there will be no need of this separate convention," said Hon. E. W. Marland, Democratic candidate for governor, in the course of a brief speech unprecedented for its liberal attitude toward the Negro populace of the state. The address was a feature of the Negro Democratic Convention held here Monday. The delegates assembled in the Cleaver Memorial Temple to hear the congressman.

Still commenting on Jim Crow democracy, Mr. Marland added that he hoped "within a short time to see you all a part of one great convention and there will be no need of this unit, for true democracy stands for government for all the people."

Commanding the packed and jammed audience to unite their forces for the coming campaign, the Democratic candidate scored the dissension among the Negro Demos as "flirtation with the Old Deal." Deafening applause greeted this statement. He urged a united front be presented Nov. 10.

Attacking white heads of state Negro institutions, Mr. Marland commented as follows: "There are plenty of competent Negro leaders to supervise your institutions. If I am elected governor you people will be called into council with me and I will take your advice in the selections."

The popular candidate was scheduled for another address and immediately left the assembly for the pending engagement.

Dr. E. B. Brooks introduced Hon. Eugene Maple, president of the League of Young Democrats, who in turn introduced the gubernatorial candidate.

Chattanooga, Tenn.
TIMES

AUG 28 1934

DEMOCRATS AND NEGRO LEADERS.

Great, indeed, is said to be the dissatisfaction of Democratic nominees in the recent county election with the voting in Negro sections of the city. It seems that these nominees—or at least some of them—were rather generous with their money in the wards and precincts containing large Negro populations. In these sections Democratic nominees are reported to have placed about $2,200.

In contemplating the balloting

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation

Democratic.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE DEMOCRATS

For many years colored Cleveland has tried to elect Negro judges. Anxious voters were almost confident that Alexander H. Martin would ze a judicial seat at the last election, but hopes faded when the votes were counted.

With the promotion of one judge from the Municipal Court and one from the Common Pleas Court, there remained two vacancies to be filled by a Democratic Governor.

Sheriff Sulzmann carried about half the colored wards in the last election. Other Democrats made heavy gains in colored votes. Negroes are falling in line with the "New Deal" and are voting more Democratic votes now than ever before. This is due to the fact that some Democratic administrations have recognized the Negro. A splendid opportunity is offered now to the Democrats to gain more colored votes, by being the first party to appoint a Negro to a judicial post in Cleveland. Alexander H. Martin is the man that would fit the job admirably well, and would be a credit not only to the community, but to the party that appoints him.

HARTFORD, CONN.
TIMES
AUG 20 19

COLORED DEMOCRATS SEEK 100 NEW MEMBERS

Plans for the fall campaign and a membership drive to enlist 100 new members will be discussed at a meeting of the Colored Democratic club, which will be held to-night at 8:30 o'clock at the rooms, No. 236 Bellevue street. Boce W. Barlow, president, will preside.

After the Elections

THE DEMOCRATS won the elections. No diehard Republican in New York or all-Negro Boley, Okla., will refute that statement. For citizens of our own Harlem—and we mean every Negro regardless of creed and political affiliation—the next consideration may be boiled down to this question:

What should Harlemites expect to get from last week's election in addition to the gain of one state legislator and a few crumbs of patronage?

Every man, woman and child concerned with racial welfare will answer this question readily and in this manner:

We should expect (and battle for with all our resources) a fair reapportionment of congressional, state senatorial, assembly and aldermanic districts, with the view of securing the representation due a community of 204,000 citizens.

Reapportionment will be one of the first concerns of the new overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature when it convenes in January. Negroes in Harlem helped the Democratic party attain that majority last week, just as they did in 1933 and 1932 in all but one instance. The Democratic party owes Harlem Negro voters the same consideration extended to other citizens. It is indebted to our community for its expression of confidence and support as voiced at the polls.

Mere indebtedness, however, does not necessarily indicate gratitude. Human beings generally, and the Democratic party in particular, are not constituted that way. One does not make valuable concessions to people who demand nothing. Every Negro is aware Harlem is entitled to representation in Congress and the State Senate. The Democratic party leaders are aware of that fact also, but they must be reminded by mass meetings, telegrams and letters—a united front.

There is no time to waste. Partisan politics on the part of Negroes must be discarded in this figlit if we want representation. Republicans, Democrats, Liberals and whatnots must join hands and serve notice upon the Legislature, the Board of Aldermen and political leaders in Harlem and in every borough in the city.

When the Legislature reapportions the congressional and senatorial districts and when the Board of Aldermen draws up the lines for the election of assemblymen they will put through gerrymander tactics worse than any we have seen unless Harlem unites. Let us have no squabbles over who should lead this fight.

This is the battle of every Negro who refuses to admit that he is dead. The opportuntiy to get fair representation will not come again for many years!

THE LANDSLIDE AND THE NEGRO

The Democratic party is trumphant. The Republican party, champion of conservatism, is done for, and only a miracle can ever revive it.

The Democratic party has 69 seats in the Senate and 322 seats in the House. The Democrats can pass any legislation they wish without considering the Republican minority.

The Democrats will carry forward the various New Deal policies unhampered by the conservatives and standpatters of the G. O. P.

Those New Deal policies are putting the United States on its feet, and when the country gets on its feet, the Negro is on his feet.

President Roosevelt has been given the broadest mandate ever enjoyed by any President since Abraham Lincoln.

With complete control of his party, he can have passed any legislation which he places on his "must" program.

If he places the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill on his "must" line it will be passed, even over the opposition or abstention of the Southern senators and congressmen, because there are sufficient Democrats from elsewhere to do so.

If he desires to abolish jim-crowism in the army and navy, he can do so very easily.

If he wishes the Negro schools in the South to get their proper share of the Federal educational funds, he can bring it about.

If he wishes the Department of Justice to go after the kidnapers of Claude Neal, as it did those of Mrs. Stoll, he has but to say so.

Forsaking all others, the Negro has thrown his political power to President Roosevelt and the Democratic party for the improvement of American social life.

It is the Negro's hope that the President and the Democratic party will reciprocate.

Pennsylvania Turns Democratic

Not without considerable help from the Negro voters of the state, Pennsylvania turned into the ranks of the Democratic Party on November 6th. For the first time in many years the Keystone State elected a Democrat as governor and a Democratic United States senator.

One of the most significant events of the campaign was the open and frank way in which Governor-Elect George H. Earle and Senator-Elect Joseph F. Guffey said that they would correct the wrongs of the Republicans toward Pennsylvania Negroes, and guarantee to Negroes fair play in the distribution of the benefits of the New Deal, which they promised to bring to Pennsylvania if elected.

Most to be remembered, however, is the fact that the Negro Democratic leadership were not simply interested in party label; they fought for a better day for the masses of Negroes in Pennsylvania. Under such a program they will likewise turn on the Democrats if they fail to deliver. That is political leadership of a kind which is needed by Negroes everywhere.

A GROWING NEGRO DEMOCRACY

Chronicle

"A BODY made up of parts mutually dependent but each having a special function." That, dear readers, is a dependable definition of ORGANIZATION, the underlying principles of which are sorely needed within our group.

As yet we have not fully appreciated the significance of the phrase "mutually dependent." There are many who feel that they alone are self-sufficing, despite the fact that there is nothing in this wide, wide world we may enjoy, whose origin cannot be traced to the co-operation of others, known or unknown, living or dead. 11-17-34

But it so happens that we are not interested here in philosophizing about the ancient derivation of mutual dependence. However, we are interested in the present application, in our community, of the spirit of this phrase, to meet the requirements of the times. More definitely we are interested in the application of this to our political life and fortunes.

Unfortunately neither the Negro Democratic or the Republican leaders have covered themselves with glory in the matter of constructive organization in the last 15 years. Consequently a few have prospered and the group has slumped miserably. It now seems as though fate and a little hard commonsense have placed us in a position to recoup many of our losses.

Boston Mass

As the records indicate, the Negro throughout New England, went Democratic in the recent elections. He helped to make the Republican cause throughout the nation next to helpless for the next two years . . . and maybe more. (We say helpless, for out of forty-eight states, forty are now Democratic). Even the Republican cause in fair Massachusetts is in a state of virtual collapse, and at the present time does not even possess a leader. Therefore we rejoice that the Negro showed enough common sense to leave the G. O. P. in the midst of their stubborn resistance to the will of the people. For inasmuch as we received nothing from them in the "boom days," gracious only knows what our plight would have been in the midst of this catastrophe.

Then this strikes us as the golden opportunity for the Negro Democrat leaders in New England to so cement their forces, that by the Presidential campaign a year from next Fall the Negro Democrat will be a most potent factor in politics in this section of the country. This, as we all know, can only be done by a complete appreciation of the phrase, "mutually dependent," as exemplified in growing active organization. It cannot be done if we permit the practise of self-sufficiency to run rampant, as it has in the past. We must consolidate all Negro Democrats from Maine to Connecticut, having due respect for their respective organizations, but requiring of these organizations a specific degree of good faith and co-operation. But what is more vital is the fact that they must speak through a central source on those problems that involve the welfare of the community and the people, and respect hard-earned, recognized leadership.

Pennsylvania has its Vann, Illinois its Mitchell and Missouri its Thompkins. For effective results, we must have the same and it must be a person who has not only earned his or her spurs in the local field but enjoys certain national prestige.

We feel sure that we have no monopoly on this ideal and that there are many active Democratic leaders and organizations that are anxious to see the welfare of the people guarded and advanced through such effective organization. But here is hoping that within the next few days these dormant ideas will be brought into active living reality.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

OCT 27 1934

The Negroes Come To Stay

The first political handbook ever to be compiled by West Virginia Negroes is off the press.

Bound in red and called the "1934 Democratic Red Book," the 14-page booklet is intelligently prepared. It definitely heralds the entrance of thousands of Negroes into the Democratic ranks. The exodus from the party of the Old Guard began in 1932, when, as the Red Book relates in its preface, "under the leadership of the Negro Democratic state executive committee, strongly aided and guided by the friendly and enlightened attitude of Democratic leaders and organizations, the Negro electorate came into the Democratic party by the thousands."

And the 1934 primary brought many thousands more. "They have come to stay. They have found a welcome. They are in the party on the basis of mutuality. Those who in 1932 waved the scarecrow of discrimination and disfranchisement to frighten the Negro electorate from voting Democratic find today the Negro's rights and liberties increased under Democracy."

The booklet is specific in its delineation of the "welcome" which has been extended the Negroes by the Democratic party. "The fairminded and generous policy of the Democratic party toward all minority groups as well as the Negro in West Virginia has made world history." The party has "honored" its platform pronouncement favoring "equal rights for all citizens, regardless of race and color." Negroes have retained the patronage held by them under previous administrations. The Democratic administration and legislature have established a Negro state board of education, "the only one in the world." In West Virginia today, again by action of Democrats, are to be found "the only five counties in the world where Negroes have an official voice and by law have a part in the administration of their public schools." On the state barber board is a Negro, "the only such member in the United States." There is a Negro engineer in the highway department, the "only Negro engineer in a road department in our country." A Negro was made safety engineer in the compensation department, recognition which "was the first of its caliber in our state and nation."

And the list is larger than that. The Negro Democratic organization has "secured patronage for at least eight counties in which the Negro had been politically overlooked." For the first time, a Negro doctor and four Negro nurses have been assigned to duty in the state hospital at Welch. Moreover, a "goodly number of lesser jobs have been secured for the masses of colored citizens on the highways of our state." Assistant road supervisors and truck drivers are found among them, whereas "prior to 1932 a single truck driver to our knowledge was found in the whole state."

As a result of the "fairminded and generous policy" of the Democratic administration in its relations with the Negro members of the party, today "Negro citizens are found in every department of the state government. This was not true in the previous administration."

Immensely proud of the first Negro political handbook ever to be published in the state, its sponsors hail it as "a decided forward step." In truth it is, just as in its pages is to be found a convincing array of evidence that under Democratic rule the Negroes of West Virginia have made significant political gains. Who can doubt that the Negroes have come to the Democratic party "to stay"?—Morgantown Dominion-News.

SOUTH BEND, IND.
NEWS TIMES

OCT 28 1934

COLORED RALLY TO DRAW CROWD

Robert L. Va n to Talk At Democratic Meeting.

Arrangements had been completed today for one of the largest gatherings here Monday night of colored voters ever held in northern Indiana.

The meeting, which will be attended by colored voters from Elkhart, LaPorte and St. Joseph counties, will be held in the Pythian hall, 224 W. Jefferson blvd., will be addressed by Robert L. Vann, former assistant United States attorney general and editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, the largest colored newspaper in the world.

Rep. Samuel B. Pettengill also is scheduled to address the meeting, which will begin at 8 o'clock.

J. Chester Allen, St. Joseph county poor attorney, will preside at the meeting, and will introduce Mr. Vann.

District Chairman Rudolph Ackermann will extend greetings to the visitors, and F. Douglass Coker will present Rep. Pettengill.

Political — 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

Time to Organize

THE BEAVERS' DEMOCRATIC CLUB, we believe, has set a noteworthy example by taking the initiative in demanding that Harlem be treated fairly in the matter of reapportionment, a major task facing the new Legislature. One of the Beavers' officials aptly stated the position of his organization the other day when he asserted that, while the club is a Democratic group, its members are far more concerned with advancing the status of their race than they are with playing politics.

1-24-34

The sincerity of this officer is attested by the fact that the Beavers' Club has sent letters to Assembly-elect William T. Andrews and Senator A. Spencer Feld, both Democrats, asking how they stand on redistricting. The club wants to know whether these legislators will stand up and fight for bills giving Negroes a fair chance at representation in Congress and the State Senate.

New York

This attitude, of course, does not enhance the value of the Beavers in the eyes of the machine leaders. "Regulars" just don't go out and put their leaders "on the spot." It isn't practical politics.

Last week we insisted that Harlem's 204,000 citizens must act as one man in demanding that we get a square deal when new district lines are drawn. When a Democratic club jeopardizes whatever chance it has for party favors under the present leadership for a question of principle, the decision should be easy for others. The Harlem Political Union, at a meeting Thursday, organized a reapportionment committee which should voice the aspirations of every Negro. We urge the support of the union in this specific work. Lamentation will be useless after the 1935 Legislature adjourns.

Cleveland Named First Democrat to Office

Senate Declined to Confirm Colored Men until President Insisted—Wilson Had Only "Good Intentions"—Roosevelt Is Best Democratic President.

Author Cleveland

When I was a boy in South Carolina, in the heyday of Reconstruction days, a colored Democrat was regarded as an abomination to God and man, a traitor to his race, and ostracized as a social outcast with whom decent folk would have nothing to do.

Afro-American 2-17-34

When we consider the contrasted attitudes of the two political parties at that time, such rebuke is at least understandable. Now a democrat of prominence rose to the surface upon the administration of Grover Cleveland in 1892. Frederick Douglass, a Republican holdover, became eulogistic of this liberal Democrat. I heard his eulogistic address, in which he said, speaking of his position as recorder of deeds, "I am ready to go, and willing to stay."

In my list of political celebrities, in last week's release, I failed to mention the names of any distinguished Democrats. These were so few by comparison that the omission was an oversight.

Names Matthews

President Cleveland appointed James C. Matthews, of Albany, N.Y., to succeed Frederick Douglass as recorder of deeds. Mr. Matthews's appointment failed of confirmation by the Senate. Thereupon, Mr. Cleveland appointed to that position Mr. Trotter, of Boston, father of William Monroe Trotter, who also failed of confirmation but served till the expiration of Congress.

Southern Democratic Senators at that time could not entertain the idea of confirming a colored man to high office even though he professed to be one of the same household of political faith. The Rev. Moses Hopkins, of New York, was appointed Minister to Liberia. Thereupon he died and was succeeded by C. H. Taylor, of Kansas City, Mo. Dr. John W. Thompson was sent as Minister to Haiti. These colored Democrats were confirmed for these purely colored governments.

During Cleveland's second term Mr. Taylor was appointed and confirmed as recorder of deeds to the District of Columbia. I believe that this was the first senatorial confirmation of a colored Democrat for Federal office in the home land under a Democratic administration. It is the only one of record until the appointment and confirmation of Dr. Tompkins as recorder of deeds by Roosevelt who was unanimously confirmed by an overwhelming Democratic Senate.

Both President Cleveland and Wilson appointed several colored men as ministers to Liberia. President Wilson appointed Adam Patterson Register of the Treasury, but as his own request the nomination was withdrawn to save the face of his political sponsor. Judge Robert H. Terrell, though a Republican, was reappointed and confirmed as municipal judge by Woodrow Wilson.

Rushed Him

When erstwhile Republican colored people found that Grover Cleveland was generously disposed towards the race, they fell over each other seeking appointive favors at his hands.

President Cleveland's first administration threatened to divide the leadership of the race between the two parties. But his second administration was much more reactionary which drove them back into the Republican fold, only to be sorely disappointed under McKinley and the long line of Republican successors, Theodore Roosevelt furnishing a notable exception. Since then the race has been gradually sinking in the estimation of the G.O.P.

Walters Takes Reins

Under Woodrow Wilson's administration, Bishop Alexander Walters assumed the role of leadership. Candidate Wilson made glowing promises of what he intended to do for the race which he found it difficult or impossible to fulfill.

His good intentions were attested by the appointment of Patterson as Register of the Treasury, which he was forced to withdraw. He found himself so dependent upon Southern Democratic support that he dared not offend them for fear of jeopardizing his principal measures.

A distinguished Democrat high in the councils of the party told me that President Wilson, as soon as he got his chief measures out of the way, was going to give the race more important and significant appointments than any President had ever done before. Just then the clouds began to thicken.

The World War loomed above the horizon. All else was swallowed up in this great holocaust. There were, however, more colored in the civil service than at any time before or since. Many were given officer's rank. President Wilson inaugurated the policy of appointing colored people to important non-confirmatory positions in the various departments of the government. Dr. Emmett J. Scott was assigned as special assistant to the Secretary of War and Prof. George H. Haynes to a similar post in the Labor Department. This policy has been followed by succeeding administrations, Republican and Democratic.

This brings us down to the year of our Lord 1932, and the years of Franklin D. Roosevelt one and two.

Roosevelt's Administration

President Roosevelt has chosen two distinguished Democrats to high Federal positions. Dr. Tompkins as recorder of deeds and Robert L. Vann as special Assistant to the Postmaster-General. But as Captain Henry would say, "This was only the beginning." The assignment of qualified colored men to important posts in the several departments is most encouraging. Never before, in the history of the government, has such a group of colored men with technical and special fitness and preparation for their tasks recruited the ranks of the Federal service.

New Day Arrived

The day of the Negro Democrat has arrived. He measures up fully in character, calibre and quality with his Republican counterparts and the stigma of reproach has been rolled away from his name.

Roscoe Simmons, of irresponsible rhetoric, during the last Presidential campaign, said that any Negro who voted the Democratic ticket should be sent to hell.

Judging by the recent election I fear that the pyrotechnic orator would relegate the better portion of his race to the hotter place. Ex-Congressman DePriest, by slip of tongue, said in New Jersey that any Negro who voted the Democratic ticket was a skunk.

My distinguished friend is not the only eminent politician who has suffered severely from a lapsus linguae. Both the AFRO-AMERICAN and the Pittsburgh Courier attribute the political death of our Republican champion to the bite of the "skunk."

DEM. BANQUET ANTAGONIZES MANY CHIEFS

American

11-24-34

When the zero hour arrived Tuesday night for the banquet of the Central District Democratic Organization, popularly called the "Right wing", everything appeared to be calm and serene with an excellent attendance of especially invited guests, city and county officials and members of the organization, as well as a few representatives of the "Left wing" Conspicuously absent, however, were a large number of right wing and a good many members of the Left wing.

The distinction between the Right and Left wings was said to be, the former is composed of old line Democrats such as Marion Streeter, James G. Taylor, Bill Taylor, Duke Elston, William Durham, L. H. Brewer, Guy McCoughtry and Shirey Black, while the latter is said to be composed of the newer democratic converts such as Dr. S. R Blackwell, John Russell, Att'y M. W. Guy, Att'y and Mrs. Woodfolk and a good many others who formerly were staunch republican war horses.

Present officials sponsoring the victory banquet last Tuesday, to the victory banquet who presented themselves at the door with cards were refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to why a dog has his day. This is their day, and I will have my day later." barring him from the banquet." When asyed if he succeeded- Among the conspicuously absent were "Bishop" J. S. Blake, Chairman Wm. L. Avent, prominent morticians, Sec., and R. J. Dorsey, Treasurer. Before its organization, but explained to the order, barring him, one of the said to have been invited guests, they were said to have been narrowly avert-door keeper that they had unintentionally left their cards at home. When asyed a satisfactory explanation, near-fights are conclusion, several near-fights are quiet. And although they called for why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the ed at the door and in the pantry and in the club to verify persona-non-gratas stationed at the door without nation as to why apparently persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, near-fights were said to have been refused admittance. ing served. At the door, the fact that they were regularly invited guests, they were said to have been refused admittance. caused by a dicerence of opinion to have been refused admittance. as to whom should be admitted Other known od line democrats

Political—1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

Time to Organize

THE BEAVERS' DEMOCRATIC CLUB, we believe, has set a noteworthy example by taking the initiative in demanding that Harlem be treated fairly in the matter of reapportionment, a major task facing the new Legislature. One of the Beavers' officials aptly stated the position of his organization the other day when he asserted that, while the club is a Democratic group, its members are far more concerned with advancing the status of their race than they are with playing politics.

1-24-34

The sincerity of this officer is attested by the fact that the Beavers' Club has sent letters to Assembly-elect William T. Andrews and Senator A. Spencer Feld, both Democrats, asking how they stand on redistricting. The club wants to know whether these legislators will stand up and fight for bills giving Negroes a fair chance at representation in Congress and the State Senate.

New York Daily

This attitude, of course, does not enhance the value of the Beavers in the eyes of the machine leaders. "Regulars" just don't go out and put their leaders "on the spot." It isn't practical politics.

Last week we insisted that Harlem's 204,000 citizens must act as one man in demanding that we get a square deal when new district lines are drawn. When a Democratic club jeopardizes whatever chance it has for party favors under the present leadership for a question of principle, the decision should be easy for others. The Harlem Political Union, at a meeting Thursday, organized a reapportionment committee which should voice the aspirations of every Negro. We urge the support of the union in this specific work. Lamentation will be useless after the 1935 Legislature adjourns.

Cleveland Named First Democrat to Office

Senate Declined to Confirm Colored Men until President Insisted—Wilson Had Only "Good Intentions"—Roosevelt Is Best Democratic President.

When I was a boy in South Carolina, in the heyday of Reconstruction days, a colored Democrat was regarded as an abomination to God and man, a traitor to his race, and ostracized as a social outcast with whom decent folk would have nothing to do.

Bulletin Wed 1-24-34

Pittsburgh Courier 1-27-34

When we consider the contrasted attitudes of the two political parties at that time, such rebuke is at least understandable. No Democrat of prominence came to the surface until the administration of Grover Cleveland in 1885. Frederick Douglass, a Republican holdover, became eulogistic of this liberal Democrat. I heard his eulogistic address, in which he said, speaking of his position as recorder of deeds, "I am ready to go, and willing to stay."

In my list of political celebrities, in last week's release, I failed to mention the names of any distinguished Democrats. These were so few by comparison that the omission was an oversight.

Names Matthews

President Cleveland appointed James C. Matthews, of Albany, N.Y., to succeed Frederick Douglass as recorder of deeds. Mr. Matthews's appointment failed of confirmation by the Senate. Thereupon, Mr. Cleveland appointed to that position Mr. Trotter, of Boston, father of William Monroe Trotter, who also failed of confirmation but served till the expiration of Congress.

Southern Democratic Senators at that time could not entertain the idea of confirming a colored man to high office even though he professed to be one of the same household of political faith. The Rev. Moses Hopkins, of New York, was appointed Minister to Liberia. Thereupon he died and was succeeded by C. H. Taylor, of Kansas City, Mo. Dr. John W. Thompson was sent as Minister to Haiti. These colored Democrats were confirmed for these purely colored governments.

During Cleveland's second term Mr. Taylor was appointed and confirmed as recorder of deeds to the District of Columbia. I believe that this was the first senatorial confirmation of a colored Democrat for Federal office in the home land under a Democratic administration. It is the only one of record until the appointment and confirmation of Dr. Tompkins as recorder of deeds by Roosevelt who was unanimously confirmed by an overwhelming Democratic Senate.

Both President Cleveland and Wilson appointed several colored men as ministers to Liberia. President Wilson appointed Adam Patterson Register of the Treasury, but as his own request the nomination was withdrawn to save the face of his political sponsor. Judge Robert H. Terrell, though a Republican, was reappointed and confirmed as municipal judge by Woodrow Wilson.

Rushed Him

When erstwhile Republican colored people found that Grover Cleveland was generously disposed towards the race, they fell over each other seeking appointive favors at his hands.

President Cleveland's first administration threatened to divide the leadership of the race between the two parties. But his second administration was much more reactionary which drove them back into the Republican fold, only to be sorely disappointed under McKinley and the long line of Republican successors, Theodore Roosevelt furnishing a notable exception. Since then the race has been gradually sinking in the estimation of the G.O.P.

Walters Takes Reins

Under Woodrow Wilson's administration, Bishop Alexander Walters assumed the role of leadership. Candidate Wilson made glowing promises of what he intended to do for the race which he found it difficult or impossible to fulfill.

His good intentions were attested by the appointment of Patterson as Register of the Treasury, which he was forced to withdraw. He found himself so dependent upon Southern Democratic support that he dared not offend them for fear of jeopardizing his principal measures.

A distinguished Democrat high in the councils of the party told me that President Wilson, as soon as he got his chief measures out of the way, was going to give the race more important and significant appointments than any President had ever done before. Just then the clouds began to thicken.

The World War loomed above the horizon. All else was swallowed up in this great holocaust. There were, however, more colored in the civil service than at any time before or since. Many were given officer's rank. President Wilson inaugurated the policy of appointing colored people to important non-confirmatory positions in the various departments of the government. Dr. Emmett J. Scott was assigned as special assistant to the Secretary of War and Prof. George H. Haynes to a similar post in the Labor Department. This policy has been followed by succeeding administrations, Republican and Democratic.

This brings us down to the year of our Lord 1932, and the years of Franklin D. Roosevelt one and two.

Roosevelt's Administration

President Roosevelt has chosen two distinguished Democrats to high Federal positions. Dr. Tompkins as recorder of deeds and Robert L. Vann as special Assistant to the Postmaster-General. But as Captain Henry would say, "This was only the beginning." The assignment of qualified colored men to important posts in the several departments is most encouraging. Never before, in the history of the government, has such a group of colored men with technical and special fitness and preparation for their tasks recruited the ranks of the Federal service.

New Day Arrived

The day of the Negro Democrat has arrived. He measures up fully in character, calibre and quality with his Republican counterparts and the stigma of reproach has been rolled away from his name.

Roscoe Simmons, of irresponsible rhetoric, during the last Presidential campaign, said that any Negro who voted the Democratic ticket should be sent to hell.

Judging by the recent election I fear that the pyrotechnic orator would relegate the better portion of his race to the hotter place. Ex-Congressman DePriest, by slip of tongue, said in New Jersey that any Negro who voted the Democratic ticket was a skunk.

My distinguished friend is not the only eminent politician who has suffered severely from a lapsus linguae. Both the AFRO-AMERICAN and the Pittsburgh Courier attribute the political death of our Republican champion to the bite of the "skunk."

DEM. BANQUET ANTAGONIZES MANY CHIEFS

American 1-30-34

When the zero hour arrived Tuesday night for the banquet of the Central District Democratic Organization, popularly called the "Right wing", everything appeared to be calm and serene with an excellent attendance of especially invited guests, city and county officials and members of the organization, as well as a few representatives of the "Left wing." Conspicuously absent, however, were a large number of right wing and a good many members of the Left wing.

The distinction between the Right and Left wings was said to be, the former is composed of old line Democrats such as Marion Streeter, James G. Taylor, Bill Taylor, Duke Elston, William Durham, L. H. Brewer, Guy McCoughtry and Shirey Black, while the latter is said to be composed of the newer democratic converts such as Dr. S. R Blackwell, John Russell, Atty M. W. Guy, Atty and Mrs. Woodfolk and a good many others who formerly were staunch republican war horses.

Present officials sponsoring the victory banquet last Tuesday were 'Bishop' J. S. Blake, Chairman Wm. L. Avent, prominent mortician, Sec., and R. J. Dorsey, Treasurer. Before its conclusion, several near-fights were said to have been narrowly averted at the door of the victory banquet because several guests presented themselves at the door without invitations, but explained to the door keeper that they had unintentionally left their cards at home. When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order barring him from the banquet, Chairman Streeter, prominent Democrat, Sec., and R. J. Dorsey, Treasurer. Before its conclusion, several near-fights were said to have been narrowly averted at the door of the victory banquet because several guests presented themselves at the door without invitations, but explained to the door keeper that they had unintentionally left their cards at home. When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order barring him, one of the many near-fights were said to have been served. At the door, the fact that they were regularly invited guests, they were said to have been refused admittance. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats who presented themselves at the door with cards were said to have been refused admittance, one of whom insisted upon an explanation as to who had issued the order barring him from the banquet.

When asyed if he succeeded in getting a satisfactory explanation as to why and who issued the order, barring him, one of the many persona-non-gratas stationed at the door, apparently caused by a dicerence of opinion as to whom should be admitted. Other known old line democrats building up the democratic percentage which proved so disastrous for the republicans in the recent election.

When questioned concerning his absence, Dr. Blackwell stated that "I believe a victory banquet should be participated in by all those who made the victory possible andnot just a chosen few and since so many of the forgotten men whom I know helped to make our recent victory possible were not invited, I could not have enjoyed myself at the banquet knowingt hat they had not been asked to help celebrate."

Other criticisms of the victory banquet as they have come to the American, were the method of promoting it. It was said that the Central District Democratic Organization under took to promote a banquet without financial means for its success and consequently had to solicit contributions from city and county ocicialsw ho should have been invited guests, but who in reality were thep romoters of the banquet.

The critics described the incident as a "type of curb stone political hustling which the colored voters are trying to get away from."

principal and teachers of this principal and teachers of this school in gathering untutored children from the rural districts is marvelous."

The school is located at the mouth of the Mississippi delta. In the country there are .6000 illiterate adults and in the farming area twenty thousand children between the ages of six and sixteen who have never been in a school room.

However, largely through the efforts of Miss Ida Jackson, the school now has the largest library of any school in the county, white or colored. Miss Jackson is grand basileus of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.
VINDICATOR
DEC 7 1934

Colored Democrats Will Meet Dec. 17

The next meeting of the 1934 Mahoning County Colored Democratic Committee, which met Monday evening, will be held Dec. 17.

E. S. Jones is chairman, and the roll call showed the following ward representation: C. C. Harrison, First ward; George Peterson and Miss Annie Hall, Second ward; Thomas Duffy, Fourth ward; W. H. Gordon, Fifth ward, and Eugene Hill, Sixth ward.

Rev. S. W. Keith, Campbell; Rev. J. R. Gral, Struthers, and Rev. McGinnis, Lowellville. Whitaker Miller is secretary of the committee.

THE DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Christian Recorder

12-6-34

Philadelphia Pa.

Perhaps the most surprising thing in the last election was the fact that the Democrats carried Pennsylvania—long the Keystone State of Republican. Not for 40 years has it had a Democratic Governor, it has not had a Democratic legislature in 50 years, and a Democratic United States Senator in 70 years. Now it has all three—and we are rejoicing.

The backbone of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania has been the Negro. Had the Negro stood by the Party this time it would have won for Reed and Schnader. But Reed and Schnader did not stand by the Negroes and although the whip was cracked over the Negro politicians' head, they could not hold the rank and file in hand. The Negroes even elected a Negro democrat to the legislature.

The Republicans have done almost nothing for the Negroes, but have held them in line by holding up the old race-hatred bogy. But this new generation is not afraid of the bogy. They have thought to try the Democrats saying: "Well, it could hardly be worse with us."

If the Democrats are in any way fair to Negroes, the Republicans will be dead forever.

Republican Apostacy

The Republican Party was born in idealism. It had a great task. And because of its idealism, its courage, and the revolutionary character of its task, the Republicans gripped the imagination of the people. As soon as the issue was clarified, so it was done in the Republican Platform of 1860, and the candidate for the presidency—Abraham Lincoln—the people rushed to the Republican standard. Abraham Lincoln kept his word, and the slaves were freed. The Republicans held sway from March 4, 1861 till March 4, 1885 having elected presidents of the United States, Lincoln twice, General Grant twice, Rutherford B. Hayes, and General J. A. Garfield, and having had two presidents by succession—Johnson and Chester Arthur. Up to 1912 only Grover Cleveland came in to interrupt Republican rule—in 1885-1889, and 1893-1897.

But since 1908 the Republicans have been slowly, losing their idealism. They stood by and saw almost without serious protest, the work of their founders nullified, and so God has nullified them.

With Negroes holding pivotal positions in nearly a dozen Northern States, the Republicans might easily have kept power, had they not sold their birthright for a mess of pottage.

Will they come back? We doubt it. But the Negro can do much toward bringing them back, if they do not act too late.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL
DEC 10 1934

4th Ward Colored Democrats Organize

Another addition to the ranks of political clubs was made Friday evening with the organization of the Fourth Ward Colored Democratic club at a meeting held at 20 Straight street.

Thomas Weston, prominent in Negro activities in the city for many years, was elected president of the newly-formed club. He will be assisted by the following officers: Mrs. Ellen Walker, first vice-president; William McNeal, second vice-president; Alfred Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. Ella King, financial secretary, and Mrs. Carrie Carter, treasurer.

Trustees for the organization will be: Thomas Weston, Alfred Johnson, George B. Riley, Mrs. Carrie Carter, Mrs. Ella King, William Walker, and William Dudley.

Committees appointed will consist of the following members: Social, William Walker, chairman; Levi Currey, Mrs. Louise Edwards, Mrs. Carrie Carter, and Mrs. Ella King; membership, Francis Spring, Mrs. Horteze Fariessi and William McNeal; house, William Dudley and Raymond Wilmore; sick, Mrs. Carrie Carter, Mrs. Ellen Walker, Miss Mary Knight and Mrs. Ada Brown.

Immediately following the election the officers were installed by Rev. George B. Riley. A special committee of three was appointed by President Weston to seek permanent headquarters. The meetings of the club will be held on the first and third Friday evenings of every month and incorporation papers will be sought shortly.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL
DEC 10 1934

Negro Democrats Are Re-organized

At a dinner meeting held at the Loyal Tea Garden, 140 Governor street, Dec. 4, the Negro Democratic League of Passaic county was reorganized with Henry L. Moore as leader and standard bearer.

Mr. Moore is well known throughout the city and county for his work in sports and politics and also as a pirited worker for the members of his race. He was formerly vice-president of the league and in his new role promises to keep the organization before the public as the leading political body of organized Negroes in Northern New Jersey.

Notice of the league's change in leadership has been sent to the Democratic county chairman and to the state and county committeemen and women. At the next meeting to be held tomorrow night at the league headquarters, 132 Governor street, a new set of officers will be elected. All members are requested to be present tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

BRASS TACKS

By H. S. Murphy

THE MEANING OF THE LATE ELECTION

Wonderful

People who think most be greatly amused at the interpretation of certain Democratic publications professed to put on the outcome of the recent election. They profess to see great power in it for the Democratic party. One dispatch from Washington states it thus: "This gives the South a great strangle-hold on national politics."

Indianapolis Ga.

The writer of the statement quoted spoke better than he knew. There would be a certain kind of "gospel" in his remark were the South and all rock-ribbed Democrats not in for a rude awakening if they insist on this point of view.

But we don't think the South is in for as rude an awakening as it could be, for the practical truth is that it already is awakening to the fact that this is first, an endorsement of the man Roosevelt; second, the political theory that has actually been endorsed is more socialistic than Bourbon Democratic.

What the rock-ribbed Democrat seems to forget is that there is very little difference between his party as such and that of reactionary Republicanism. If we are to judge by the acts of either, then both ancient parties seem to have been sired by the paternal ancestor of a mule, the difference being that one party has a little longer bray than the other. The dying Democratic Party is not the party of Thomas Jefferson any more than reactionary Republicans constitute the party of Lincoln and William Lloyd Garrison.

Bourbon Democracy could not receive the unqualified endorsement of men like Ickes and Norris and LaFollette. None of these men are originally Democrats and yet they work hand in hand with Roosevelt. In other words, one part of American leadership has the courage to endorse a forward-looking leader, — whatever his political label, and the other half of the powers that be has fundamental sense enough to let political revolution work itself out wihout "swords loud crashing, nor roll of stirring drums," but with typical Roosevelt ian love and mercy for humanity, this half expects a new government to come peacefully out of the old.

But Bourbon Democracy smells a rat. Those who read a certain Atlanta daily must have looked with mingled emotions on a picture of Congressman Elect Arthur W. Mitchell shaking the hand of Slyvester Harris, Mississippi Negro citizen, who had the moral stamina to beat the Mississippi landlords' customary game of foreclosing on his kind by calling President Roosevelt on the telephone and having the foreclosure stopped. This paper stated that Mr. Harris went to Chicago and campaigned for Mitchell, colored Democrat, who was elected, out of gratitude to the President who saved his farm.

Those who watch certain phases of the news will remember that when Sylvester Harris called the President long distance the story was written up in typical southern style, depicting Harris as a typical ignoramous. But the South always delights in discouraging Negro effort, especially if it is extraordinary. Now, seeing the handwriting on the wall in the cooperation of the intelligent political-minded Negro and the Roosevent forces, it hastens to add such approval as it can and at the same time save its face.

Too bad Sylvester Harris could not campaign for a Negro in his native Mississippi! Too bad that Mississippi and the rest of the backward South must fall morally before the onward march of Illinois and the rest of the forward-looking parts of America.

But the story is ever the same. The Bourbon South is ever receding to its next line of trenches only to give them up to the forward march of a democracy which has been socialized by a man of might.

The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine.

Kelly Miller Makes First Democratic Campaign Speech

Afro-American 11-10-34

Baltimore Md.

Pledges Any Man of 60 Who Remains Devoted to the Republican Party.

URGES PENNSY VOTERS TO SUPPORT NEW DEAL

South Doesn't Dominate Democrats, He Says.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—"I sympathize with and sincerely pity any man over sixty years of age for his dog-like devotion to the Republican party," declared Kelly Miller, dean emeritus of Howard University, in his first Democratic campaign speech, here Friday night.

Speaking in Chestnut Street auditorium to a rally of voters from nine counties in Southeastern Pennsylvania, Dean Miller answered an anonymous writer who sought in a letter to upbraid him for advising colored people to uphold the administration because the Southern states deprive them of their rights.

Either Old or Stupid

"My upbraider," said Dean Miller, "is either a very old man or a very stupid one. Those who were the beneficiaries of the Grand Old Party in the days of Sumner, Stevens, Foraker and Thomas B. Reed, are easily excusable for their never-dying devotion. But in these latter days, a new Pharaoh, who knew not Joseph, is on the Republican throne.

"But the younger generation which has become acquainted with the attitude of the Grand Old Party through Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, has no cause for gratitude or devotion.

"On the other hand, if my upbraider is not an old man, he must be feeble-minded. The race prejudice of the South is a thing wholly apart from partisan politics. Democrats of the North are every whit as favorably disposed to colored citizens as are Northern Republicans. On the other hand, Southern Republicans, known as lily-whites, are every whit as hostile.

"The South does not control the nation. It does not dominate the Democratic party. Northern Democrats constitute a majority of the party in both branches of Congress, in the cabinet and in high official station. The triumph of the Democratic party in national affairs does not give the South license to mistreat us beyond its usual wont.

"I am not here to commend the South or to condemn it, to glorify the Democratic party or to denounce the Republicans, but to uphold and defend Roosevelt and the New Deal. If the Democrats have the good sense and judgment to support the New Deal so much the better for them; if the Republicans have no better sense than to oppose these constructive measures, then so much the worse for the Republicans.

Lauds New Deal

"The New Deal was devised by President Roosevelt to save a nation brought to the verge of destruction by Republican folly. It is calculated to help the forgotten man. The colored American is the man farthest down at the bottom of the deck. It is only by a new deal that he has any hope of rising towards the top.

"The New Deal has given livelihood to millions who, under Hoover's rugged individuality, would have starved to death.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL. JOURNAL

OCT 28 1934

DEMOCRATIC COLORED VOTERS TO MEET

A Democratic meeting for colored voters of Jacksonville will be held Monday night, Oct. 29, at the court house. The principal speaker will be Attorney W. D. Bruce of Springfield who is taking an active part in the state campaign. He is reported to be an able orator, and has been heard by large audiences in other towns.

NEW DEAL WINS CRUCIAL TEST IN TUES. ELECTION

Journal and Times

Democrats Build Up Majority In Congress

11-10-34

The country's electorate, numbering literally millions of voters, gave its unqualified endorsement to Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal Tuesday in one of the most spirited elections in the nation's history.

Hoyock,

With the New Deal as the real issue in sixteen states, voters in at least fourteen of them proved that rumors that the current administration was losing its popularity were entirely without foundation.

Latest returns indicate that sixty-two Democrats are already assured of seats in the House of Representatives, while 42 other candidates, all from the South, are practically assured of election because of only nominal opposition. Lack of opposition was seen Wednesday as being responsible for six Republican candidates being elected, while two others were assured of election because of minor opposition.

In all, thirty-four U. S. senators were elected in 31 states, and 432 members to the House in 47, while 33 states elected governors. In only seven states did the voters pass on the question of repealing state liquor prohibition.

With a two-thirds Democratic majority already in the House of Representatives, latest nation-wide returns clearly indicated that the Democratic strength in the Senate would be raised in proportion as a result of Tuesday's balloting.

Of the total of 96 Senators, Democratic leaders were hopeful of maintaining a majority of at least 64, with a bare chance of running the majority to as high as 70, provided no incumbent Democrat member of the upper house is defeated for reelection.

This figure would leave only 24 Republicans in the body, one Farmer-Laborite, and one Progressive on the basis of still incomplete returns.

DEMO MEETING

Approximately 250 persons attended the rally held last night at 117 Franklin street under the auspices of the women of the Colored Democratic club.

There were four speeches made concerning the local achievement of the campaign, and the Red Apple quartet sang several selections.

The speakers included Mrs. Daisy NRA, Rhodes Hanley, Mrs. Hanley devoted her talk to national issues, and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Ohming to state matters.

Mrs. Zoie Smith, Southquestions.

Mrs. King S. Jones presided at the speaking. Mrs. Lizzie Emeeting and introduced the speakers. Justice Tenola E. Graves made a few remarks concerning the local campaign, and the Red Apple quartet sang several selections.

Hood, of Terre Haute; Mrs. Hanley, Indianapolis, state director of the Democratic organization; Mrs. Bend, a member of the colored women's bureau, and Mrs. Ohming district vice-chairman.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND. NEWS

OCT 20 1934

250 AT COLORED

Democratic.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

BRASS TACKS

By H. S. Murphy

THE MEANING OF THE LATE ELECTION

Wonderful

People who think most be greatly amused at the interpretation of certain Democratic publications professed to put on the outcome of the recent election. They profess to see great power in it for the Democratic party. One dispatch from Washington states it thus: "This gives the South a great stranglehold on national politics."

11-11-34

Atlanta Ga.

The writer of the statement quoted spoke better than he knew. There would be a certain kind of "gospel" in his remark were the South and all rock-ribbed Democrats not in for a rude awakening if they insist on this point of view.

But we don't think the South is in for as rude an awakening as it could be, for the practical truth is that it already is awakening to the fact that this is first, an endorsement of the man Roosevelt; second, the political theory that has actually been endorsed is more socialistic than Bourbon Democratic.

What the rock-ribbed Democrat seems to forget is that there is very little difference between his party as such and that of reactionary Republicanism. If we are to judge by the acts of either, then both ancient parties seem to have been sired by the paternal ancestor of a mule, the difference being that one party has a little longer bray than the other. The dying Democratic Party is not the party of Thomas Jefferson any more than reactionary Republicans constitute the party of Lincoln and William Lloyd Garrison.

Bourbon Democracy could not receive the unqualified endorsement of men like Ickes and Norris and LaFollette. None of these men are originally Democrats and yet they work hand in hand with Roosevelt. In other words, one part of American leadership has the courage to endorse a forward-looking leader, — whatever his political label, and the other half of the powers that be has fundamental sense enough to let political revolution work itself out wihout "swords loud crashing, nor roll of stirring drums," but with typical Rooseveltian love and mercy for humanity, this half expects a new government to come peacefully out of the old.

But Bourbon Democracy smells a rat. Those who read a certain Atlanta daily must have looked with mingled emotions on a picture of Congressman Elect Arthur W. Mitchell shaking the hand of Slyvester Harris, Mississippi Negro citizen, who had the moral stamina to beat the Mississippi landlords' customary game of foreclosing on his kind by calling President Roosevelt on the telephone and having the foreclosure stopped. This paper stated that Mr. Harris went to Chicago and campaigned for Mitchell, colored Democrat, who was elected, out of gratitude to the President who saved his farm.

Those who watch certain phases of the news will remember that when Sylvester Harris called the President long distance the story was written up in typical southern style, depicting Harris as a typical ignoramous. But the South always delights in discouraging Negro effort, especially if it is extraordinary. Now, seeing the handwriting on the wall in the cooperation of the intelligent political-minded Negro and the Roosevent forces, it hastens to add such approval as it can and at the same time save its face.

Too bad Sylvester Harris could not campaign for a Negro in his native Mississippi! Too bad that Mississippi and the rest of the backward South must fall morally before the onward march of Illinois and the rest of the forward-looking parts of America.

But the story is ever the same. The Bourbon South is ever receding to its next line of trenches only to give them up to the forward march of a democracy which has been socialized by a man of might.

The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine.

Kelly Miller Makes First Democratic Campaign Speech

Afro-American 11-10-34

Baltimore Md.

Ties Any Man of 60 Who Remains Devoted to the Republican Party.

JRGES PENNSY VOTERS TO SUPPORT NEW DEAL

South Doesn't Dominate Democrats, He Says.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—"I sympathize with and sincerely pity any man over sixty years of age for his dog-like devotion to the Republican party," declared Kelly Miller, dean emeritus of Howard University, in his first Democratic campaign speech, here Friday night.

Speaking in Chestnut Street auditorium to a rally of voters from nine counties in Southeastern Pennsylvania, Dean Miller answered an anonymous writer who sought in a letter to upbraid him for advising colored people to uphold the administration because the Southern states deprive them of their rights.

Either Old or Stupid

"My upbraider," said Dean Miller, "is either a very old man or a very stupid one. Those who were the beneficiaries of the Grand Old Party in the days of Sumner, Stevens, Foraker and Thomas B. Reed are easily excusable for their never-dying devotion. But in these latter days, a new Pharaoh, who knew not Joseph, is on the Republican throne.

"But the younger generation which has become acquainted with the attitude of the Grand Old Party through Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, has no cause for gratitude or devotion.

"On the other hand, if my upbraider is not an old man, he must be feeble-minded. The race prejudice of the South is a thing wholly apart from partisan politics. Democrats of the North are every whit as favorably disposed to colored citizens as are Northern Republicans. On the other hand, Southern Republicans, known as lily-whites, are every whit as hostile.

"The South does not control the nation. It does not dominate the Democratic party. Northern Democrats constitute a majority of the party in both branches of Congress, in the cabinet and in high official station. The triumph of the Democratic party in national affairs does not give the South license to mistreat us beyond its usual wont.

"I am not here to commend the South or to condemn it, to glorify the Democratic party or to denounce the Republicans, but to uphold and defend Roosevelt and the New Deal. If the Democrats have the good sense and judgment to support the New Deal so much the better for them; if the Republicans have no better sense than to oppose these constructive measures, then so much the worse for the Republicans.

Lauds New Deal

"The New Deal was devised by President Roosevelt to save a nation brought to the verge of destruction by Republican folly. It is calculated to help the forgotten man. The colored American is the man farthest down at the bottom of the deck. It is only by a new deal that he has any hope of rising towards the top.

"The New Deal has given livelihood to millions who, under Hoover's rugged individuality, would have starved to death.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL. JOURNAL

OCT 28 1934

DEMOCRATIC COLORED VOTERS TO MEET

A Democratic meeting for colored voters of Jacksonville will be held Monday night, Oct. 29, at the court house. The principal speaker will be Attorney W. D. Bruce of Springfield who is taking an active part in the state campaign. He is reported to be an able orator, and has been heard by large audiences in other towns.

NEW DEAL WINS CRUCIAL TEST IN TUES. ELECTION

Journal and Guide

Democrats Build Up Majority In Congress

11-10-34

The country's electorate, numbering literally millions of voters, gave its unqualified endorsement to Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal Tuesday in one of the most spirited elections in the nation's history.

Nonpartisan

With the New Deal as the real issue in sixteen states, voters in at least fourteen of them proved that rumors that the current administration was losing its popularity were entirely without foundation.

Latest returns indicate that sixty-two Democrats are already assured of seats in the House of Representatives, while 42 other candidates, all from the South, are practically assured of election because of only nominal opposition. Lack of opposition was seen Wednesday as being responsible for six Republican candidates being elected, while two others were assured of election because of minor opposition.

In all, thirty-four U. S. senators were elected in 31 states, and 432 members to the House in 47, while 33 states elected governors. In only seven states did the voters pass on the question of repealing state liquor prohibition.

With a two-thirds Democratic majority already in the House of Representatives, latest nation-wide returns clearly indicated that the Democratic strength in the Senate would be raised in proportion as a result of Tuesday's balloting.

Of the total of 96 Senators, Democratic leaders were hopeful of maintaining a majority of at least 64, with a bare chance of running the majority to as high as 70, provided no incumbent Democrat member of the upper house is defeated for reelection.

This figure would leave only 24 Republicans in the body, one Farmer-Laborite, and one Progressive on the basis of still incomplete returns.

DEMO MEETING

Approximately 250 persons attended the rally held last night at 117 Franklin street under auspices of the women of the Colored Democratic club.

There were four speeches made concerning the local Mrs. Hood gave a convincing talk a few remarks concerning the Red Apple quartet sang several selections. The speakers included Mrs. Daisy Hanley devoted while Mrs. Hanley devoted NRA, Rhoda her talk to national issues, and Mrs Smith and Mrs. Ohming to state ers. Justice Tenola E. Graves made Ohming district vice-chairman.

Mrs. Hood, of Terre Haute; Mrs. Hanley, Indianapolis, state director of the Democratic colored women's organization; Mrs. Zoie Smith, Southbend, a member of the state speakers' bureau, and Mrs. Lizzie King S. Jones presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND. NEWS

OCT 20 1934

250 AT COLORED

KELLY MILLER'S COLUMN

THE RISE OF NEGRO DEMOCRATS

When I was a boy in South Carolina, in the heyday of Reconstruction days, a Negro Democrat was regarded as an abomination to God and man, a traitor to his race, and ostracised as a social outcast with whom decent folk would have nothing to do. When we consider the contrasted attitudes of the two political parties at the time, such rebuke was at least understandable. No Democrat of prominence rose to the surface until the administration of Grover Cleveland, in 1885. Frederick Douglas, a Republican hold over, became eulogistic of this liberal Democrat. I heard his eulogistic address, in which he said, speaking of his position as Recorder of Deeds, "I am ready to go and willing to stay."

In my list of political celebrities, in last week's release, I failed to mention the names of any distinguished Democrats. These were so few by comparison that the omission was an oversight.

President Cleveland appointed James C. Matthews, of Albany, N. Y. to succeed Frederick Douglass as Recorder of Deeds. Mr. Matthews appointment failed of confirmation by the Senate. Thereupon, Mr. Cleveland appointed to that position Mr. Trotter of Boston, father of William Munroe Trotter, who also failed of confirmation but served till the expiration of Congress. Southern Democratic Senators at that time could not entertain the idea of confirming a colored man to high office even though he professed to be of the same household of political faith. Rev. Moses Hopkins of New York was appointed Minister to Liberia. Thereupon he died and was succeeded by C. H. Taylor of Kansas City, Mo. Dr. John W. Thompson was sent as minister to Hayti. These Negro Democrats were confirmed for these purely Negro governments. During Cleveland's second term Mr. Taylor was appointed and confirmed as Recorder of Deeds to the District of Columbia. I believe that this was the first senatorial confirmation of a Negro Democrat for federal office in the home land, under a Democratic administration. It is the only one of record until the appointment and confirmation of Dr. Tompkins as Recorder of Deeds by Roosevelt who was unanimously confirmed by an overwhelming Democratic Senate. Both President Cleveland and Wilson appointed several colored men as ministers to Liberia. President Wilson appointed Adam Patterson Register of the Treasury, but at his own request the nomination was withdrawn to save the face of his political sponsor. Judge Robert H. Terrell though a Republican, was reappointed and confirmed as Municipal Judge by Woodrow Wilson.

When erstwhile Republican Negroes found that Grover Cleveland was generously disposed towards the race, they fell over each other seeking appointive favors at his hands. President Cleveland's first administration threatened to divide the leadership of the race between the two parties. But his second administration was much more reactionary which drove them back into the Republican successors, Theodore Roosevelt furnishing a notable exception. Since then the Negro race has been gradually sinking in the estimation of the G. O. P.

Under Woodrow Wilson's administration, Bishop Alexander Waters assumed the role of Negro leadership. Candidate Wilson made glowing promises of what he intended to do for the race which he found it difficult or impossible to fulfil. His good intentions were attested by the appointment of Patterson as Register of the Treasury, which he was forced to withdraw. He found himself so dependent upon Southern Democratic support that he dared not offend them for fear of jeopardizing his principal measures. A distinguished Democrat high in the councils of the party told me that President Wilson as soon as he got his chief measures out of the way, was going to give the race more important and significant appointments than any president had ever done before. Just then the clouds bgan to thicken. The World War loomed over the horizon. All else was swallowed up in this great holocaust. There were, however more Negroes in the civil service than at any time before or since. Many were given officers rank. President Wilson inaugurated the policy of appointing Negroes to important non-confirmatory positions in the various departments of the government. Dr. Emmett J. Scott was assigned as Special Assistant to the Secretary of War and Prof. George H. Haynes to a similar post in the Labor Department. This policy has been followed by succeeding administrations, Republican and Democratic.

This brings us down to the year of our Lord, 1932, and the years of Franklin D. Roosevelt, one and two. President Roosevelt has chosen two distinguished Negro Democrats to high federal positions. Dr. Thompkins as recorder of Deeds and Robert L. Vann, editor and publisher of the Pittsburgh Courier as special assistant to the Postmaster General. But as Captain Henry would say, "This was only the beginning." The assignment of qualified colored men to important posts in the several departments is most encouraging. Never before, in the history of the Government, has such a group of colored men with technical and special fitness and preparation for their task recruited the ranks of the federal service.

The day of the Negro Democrat has arrived. He measures up fully in character, caliber and quality with his republican counterparts and the stigma of reproach has been rolled away from his name.

Roscoe Simmons, of irresponsible rhetoric, during the last presidential campaign, said that any Negro who voted the Democratic ticket should be sent to hell. Judging by the recent election I fear that the pyrotechnic orator would relegate the better portion of his race to the hotter place. Ex-Congressman DePriest, by slip of tongue, said in New Jersey that any Negro who voted the Democratic ticket was a skunk. My distinguished friend is not the only eminent politician who has suffered severely from a lapsus linguae. Both the Afro-American and the Pittsburgh Courier attribute the political death of our Republican champion to the bite of the "skunk."

Shades of Douglass

Except in Maryland where colored voters had a little private business to attend to they voted Democratic in the recent election with acclaim and eclat.

In Pennsylvania, Michigan, New Jersey, New York and Illinois for the first time there was a more even distribution of the colored vote between Republicans and Democrats than ever before.

If there is any doubt of the New Deal's hold on our people, North or South, let the doubter consider the evidence of Boley, Okla., an all-colored town. Boley went Democratic for the first time in history, giving a plurality to every Democratic candidate.

The great Frederick Douglass, who went up and down the country fifty years ago declaring that the "Republican party is the ship, all else is the sea," probably turned over in his grave when the election returns for Boley came in.

DEMOCRATS SHY AT MERGER

MASS. CLUBS TO KEEP IDENTITIES—TO FORM ADVISORY COMMITTEE — NO MERGING INTO ONE ORGANIZATION

A group consisting of prominent Democrats representing practically all the larger Colored Democratic organizations in Massachusetts met last Sunday at the headquarters of the Massachusetts Democratic League to take steps to unite the organizations as well as the leaders into some sort of an advisory committee for the common good of the race. The organizers included Dr. Silas F. Taylor, Mass. Colored Democratic League, Dr. Lloyd Marshall of the Worcester Democratic Club, Dr. William F. Brown, South End Democratic Club, C. L. Baker, Ward 12 Democratic Club, Dr. I. W. Starkey, Homer C. Jarratt, Joseph Nelson, Frank Howard, C. J. Davis and Frank Dupree, all of the Mass. Colored Men's Democratic Club, Inc., Mr. Sampson, the Fitzpatrick Associates, and Dr. Irving Gray, Myron McAdoo, and Attorneys Edward O. Gourdin, Wm. S. West, James G. Wolff, John T. Lane, John Louden and Henry E. Quarles, Benjamin Lane and Atty. Cyril F. Butler.

At a second meeting on Thursday night plans were under discussion as to the form which the organization should take and the matter was submitted to a committee consisting of Attorney Ned Gourdin, Chairman, Dr. S. F. Taylor, Attorneys Cyril F. Butler and Wm. S. West, Dr. Wm. F. Brown and Dr. Silas F Taylor. A report recommending a frame-work for action is expected at the next meeting within a very few days.

Southern Democrats, always upholding to constituents the Republican party as that of the negro, have levelled a steady fire against Oscar DePriest, negro Republican Congressman from Chicago. Whenever they wanted to stir up Democrats to a good old-fashioned hatred of the Republicans, they would tell about DePriest going into the congressional restaurant, or about DePriest's wife having tea with Mrs. Hoover, or something like that.

And now DePriest has been defeated, but there is no joy in the hearts of Southern Democrats. Because he was defeated by another negro, who happens to be wearing the label of a Democrat. The good Southerners thus look with much foreboding toward the coming session of congress.

The new negro Congressman is entitled to sit on committees with other Democrats, help elect a speaker, go into the Democratic cloak room, and otherwise mingle with his colleagues. Needless to say, some embarrassing situations are ahead for some southerners, and there may be some scenes created. The situation will have to be worked out somehow, with a minimum of trouble. Election of the negro Democratic Congressman is a fact that must be faced.

Meanwhile, we imagine Republicans in these parts (if any are left) are somewhat gleeful about the matter.

TAMPA, FLA.
TRIBUNE

NOV 30 1934

In The Woodpile

Ocala Banner: Democrats swelled with pride at the smashing victory registered in the general elections recently, wherein the great majority in Congress was increased even further, and state after state put Democratic administrations into power.

But the victory was a little bit too overwhelming. There was a fly in the ointment (or should we say a "nigger in the woodpile") from the standpoint of Democrats—those from the South at least.

Political- 1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

New York Democrats Oppose Schorenstein

Afro-American

NEW YORK—Dissatisfied with the leadership of Hyman Schorenstein, white, Democratic state committeeman and commissioner of records, a large group of influential citizens of Brownville persuaded Dr. Maxwell Ross, white, educator and philanthropist, to oppose the incumbent, in the coming elections in the twenty-third Assembly district.

Dr. Ross agreed and selected for his co-leader, Miss Louise Nardone, a school teacher, and for the Assembly, G. Thomas LoRe, an attorney. Colored voters have organized several clubs and are campaigning for the election of the entire Ross ticket.

Schorenstein has neither offered a platform to the colored voters, nor has he addressed them through the press. Dr. Ross has openly pledged to the group proportional representation and a square deal in the community.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.
TIMES UNION

SEP 2 1934

The colored Democrats of the 23d A. D. held a well attended meeting a few nights ago. This organization is with Commissioner of Records Schorenstein and doing all in its power to get out a big vote for him and all of the candidates of the regular organization on Primary Day. He told of the broadmindedness of Commissioner Schorenstein, whom he classed as a 'man who knew no race or color and always ready to do all in his power for people in this district." A large delegation of members of the county organization, led by "Chief" Wesley L. Young, the veteran county leader, attended. Mr. Young and Charles A. Johnson, one of the leading orators of the organization, spoke. All of the district designees on the Schorenstein ticket spoke.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.
TIMES UNION

SEP 2 1934

"The faithful" of the Regular Colored Democratic Organization of Kings County are anxiously awaiting the announcement that Clarence Wilson has been appointed an assistant U. S. Attorney, as from all indications he will receive the endorsement of the triumvirate composed of Public Administrator Frank V. Kelly, Postmaster Francis J. Sinnott and Deputy Register Thomas F. Wogan. Mr. Wilson, an officer of the organization headed by Wesley L. Young, is slated to succeed Francis F. Giles, who served under the Republican administration. He is a graduate of De Witt Clinton H. S., Manhattan attended Columbia College and is a graduate of Brooklyn Law School.

Other colored lawyers active in the Democratic party who have been advanced include Oliver D. Williams, Thomas L. Wiggins and Philip J. Jones.

BALTIMORE, MD.
MORNING SUN

AUG 27 1934

Baltimore Negro Candidate For Democratic Nomination

Josiah F. Henry, Jr., Believed First Of Race To Seek State Office In Party, Is Running For House Of Delegates

For the first time in the annals of Maryland—as far as obtainable history records—a Negro is seeking election to a State position on the Democratic ticket.

Running for a nomination to the House of Delegates, he is Josiah F. Henry, Jr., of 2021 Druid Hill avenue. He is 38 years old.

He is an Eastern Shoreman, born in Cambridge, Dorchester county, and came to Baltimore following his education to practice law. He obtained his legal degree at Howard University and his master of law degree at the University of Michigan, is an officer of a colored Elks' lodge and is otherwise active in Negro fraternal affairs.

Two On G. O. P. Ballot

The candidacy of Negroes for State posts on the Republican ticket is not unusual in Maryland. There are two running in the same Legislative district with Henry—the Fourth—on the Gubernatorial ticket headed by Harry W. Nice. They are Ulysses S. Callis, 568 Wilson street, and Arthur E. Briscoe, also an attorney, who lives at 2230 McCulloh street. So far as can be ascertained there is none on the Smith ticket. Senator Goldsborough has no ticket in the field.

Henry last night explained that an independent Democratic movement has started among the Negroes of the city with two clubs formed in the Second ward, three in the Fourteenth ward and one each in the Fourth and Fifth wards. Delegates from these organizations meet periodically in what is called the Colored Democratic Congress for political discussion.

Hold Offices In Other States

"The National Negro Bar Association of which I am vice-president and which has the leading Negro lawyers of the country among its membership met here last week," Henry explained. "Among the delegates were an Assistant District Attorney of New York on Page 6, Column 4)

during the "Al" Smith administration, a Democratic sitting member of the Ohio Legislature and a Negro recently appointed Assistant District Attorney of Detroit.

"The younger element of Negroes knows that the race has been supporting the Republican party for years but that the race has obtained no recognition from it. There is no reason why the Negroes in a Democratic State such as Maryland should be Republicans.

Expects Recognition By Party

"We feel that the Democratic party will recognize us in the proportion that we shall support it. There are 3,114 Democratic Negro voters in the Fourth district in which I am running and 22,000 Negro Democratic voters in the State. Recognition, of course, will not be immediate. We first must show and indicate our support."

Henry, it was said, is not receiving the support of the Democratic organization in his district, which is dominated by Jack Pollock, a member of the State Boxing Commission and a lieutenant of William Curran, city party leader. He also is lacking the support of Tom Smith, for many years Negro Democratic organization leader in the district, it was reported. Smith declined to comment on Henry's candidacy.

NEW ORLEANS, LA
TRIBUNE

AUG 31 1934

MAYOR SPEAKS UNEXPECTEDLY AT MEETING

Racivitch Also Addresses Rally Of Eighth Ward Regulars

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, appearing unexpectedly at a meeting last night of the Regular Democratic organization of the Eighth ward at 2231 Spain street, was warmly greeted and called upon to speak.

He charged that Huey P. Long was trying to reduce the citizens of New Orleans to the level of Negroes and that recent charges made by him cannot even be mentioned by decent people. "The Old Regular voters must resent things Long has said," he declared. "It is a question of vindicating family honor."

Herve Racivitch, the only candidate present at the meeting, declared that the circular put out yesterday by Long was intended to clear himself of any charges which might be made against him in case of bloodshed before the election.

Speakers at the meeting included Mrs. A. L. Pilsbury, Mr. Racivitch, Captain Mark Grusich, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Dan McGovern, former ward leader; William P. Hickey, Edward Fallon, Jr., Joseph Ebert and Hugh Stewart. Edward (Buddy) Koster was chairman of the meeting.

New York Herald-Tribune

19 SEP 2 1934

2 Foes at Grips To Rule Tiger's Oldest Dynasty

Tom Murray, 70, Fights to Hold Family's Long Leadership in 21st A. D.

W. G. McIntosh Is Rival

Backed by Dodge in 'Battle of Washington Heights'

The oldest Tammany district dynasty is at stake in a struggle for control of the Democratic organization of the 21st Assembly District. The first round of the fight will be decided at the primary election September 13.

In this modern Battle of Washington Heights, Thomas F. Murray, seventy years old and a hardy, plain-spoken, two-fisted warrior, finds himself on the defensive for the third time in four years. Seeking to wrest the district leadership from him is William G. McIntosh, a Supreme Court attendant, who has the backing of William C. Dodge, District Attorney, and James E. McDonald chief magistrate.

Tom Murray, a graduate of Manhattan College, has been leader of the 21st only four and a half years, but his father, Alderman John Murray, was leader for years, and the Murray family has lived in that section of Manhattan since 1830. Tom is a massive man, tall, broad shouldered and deep-chested; his face is round and ruddy, his steel-gray eyes matchy the color of his hair. His voice is soft and low; his vocabulary is flexible when speaking of his political enemies.

He Names His Foes

Not unmindful of the historic Battle of Washington Heights, where the American rebels tangled with British redcoats, Mr. Murray refers to the chief magistrate of the current opposition as "English Jimmy McDonald or "Liverpool Jimmy." As for the others: "McIntosh is Dodge and Dodge is McIntosh."

"I have never been a boss, I have been a leader," he said as he sat at a flat-top desk on the first floor of the Chicopee Club, 728 St. Nicholas Avenue, where his constituents, white and Negro, call.

Mr. McIntosh, who would like to be leader, is the executive member of the Ramapo Club, 402 West 146th Street headquarters of the Murray attackers District Attorney Dodge lived in the Murray district until recently, and now lives in the 22d Assembly District, of which John Kelly is Tammany leader. Mr. Murray complained that Mr. Dodge, whom he encouraged as far back as 1928 to aspire to the District Attorneyship, has persuaded several members of the staff of the District Attorney's office to transfer their allegiance from the Murray standard to that of McIntosh.

Sees McDonald Looking Ahead

The appearance of Chief Magistrate McDonald in the army of the opposition is explained by Mr. Murray in this fashion:

"McDonalds' term on the bench is going to end in about another year. The chances of his reappointment by Mayor LaGuardia are not so good. When his term ends McDonald will be shy about two years of the required number of years to be eligible for a pension. Dodge will still be District Attorney and in a position to appoint McDonald to his staff so as to give him the needed time in office to qualify for the pension.

"All this battling is a great nuisance. But I am not worried a bit We will win."

The leadership of the district will not be voted on at the approaching primary; that will not be decided until next year. But the influence of Mr. Murray over his organization will be lost if the opposition succeeds in nominating its state committeeman now. The district has a large Negro vote, and each side has nominated a Negro for the committee. James C. Thomas, an American Negro, is the Murray candidate, and Thomas Dyeth, a West Indian native and Assistant District Attorney carries the McIntosh hopes.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN

SEP 9 1934

Negro Democrats Set Meeting—State League of Negro Democrats, Inc., will meet September 15 at 1115½ East Fourth street and all Negroes interested in the new deal are asked to attend, E. J. Burns, chairman, said Saturday.

SEATTLE, WASH.
POST INTELLIGENCER

SEP 7 1934

Colored Democrats Will Conduct Rally

Democratic candidates have been invited to speak at a rally to be held tonight by the Washington State Colored Democratic Club at the A. M. E. Church, 23rd Ave. and E. Pine St.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN

SEP 6 1934

Negro Democrats To Name Own Head

J. B. Moore, Democratic state chairman, will take no part in appointment of a chairman of the Negro Democratic central committee, he informed Dr. I. W. Young, Langston, chairman of the Negro committee.

"I am not going to take any hand in the matter at all and leave it to the Negroes of this state to select their own chairman and run their own affairs," Moore said. "I do hope, however, that the Negro Democrats will get together and settle their differences and have harmony in their own ranks."

VALLEJO, CAL.
TIMES HERALD

AUG 24 1934

NEGRO CLUB IN ENDORSEMENT OF FRANK BUCK

Pledges Full Support for Roosevelt Administration; 350 at Meeting

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 23.—The Sacramento Negro Democratic Club endorsed George Creel for governor and Congressman Frank H. Buck for re-election to Congress at its meeting on Tuesday evening.

Alex Moore, president of the Democratic organization, presided at the gathering which was attended by nearly 350 members.

Congressman Buck spoke briefly outlining the highlights of the Roosevelt recovery program which has relieved unemployment and stimulated industry.

The club members pledged themselves to whole-hearted support of President Roosevelt and his plan to insure full economic recovery. Unanimous endorsements were given Creel and Buck as candidates loyal to the president and best able to carry out the administration program.

The executive committee which has taken an active part in organization affairs and furthering the Roosevelt policies consists of Alex Moore, Douglas McFarland, Samuel R. Bishop, Jeff Beavers, Rev. E. B. Childress and Dave Washington.

Brooklyn, N. Y. Citizen

SEP 8 1934

MORE CLUBS ARE PLEDGED TO STEINGUT

Secures Endorsement of Three Additional Organizations in Fight Here

Added to the growing list of political clubs which have pledged 100 per cent support to Irwin Steingut in his fight for the Democratic nominations for State Committeeman and Assemblyman are the College Men's Democratic Association of Brooklyn, the Parkway Democratic Club, and the Regular Colored Democrats of the Eighteenth Assembly districts.

Steingut secured the endorsements of these organizations last night after he and other members of his ticket had addressed them briefly.

After outlining the issues of the campaign to the clubs, Steingut attacked his opponent who, he said, "was waging a scurrilous and scandalous campaign in an effort to detract from the attention of the people the just man for re-election."

At the meeting of the Parkway Democratic Club, Eastern Parkway and Utica avenue, Harry Malter, executive member, lauded Steingut. State Senator Joseph Esquirol, Herman Dahut, Alderman John J. Campbell and Deputy General Emanuel Greenberg also spoke.

After the minority leader of the Assembly had addressed the colored Democrats, Joseph E. Green, executive member of the organization declared, "We are 100 per cent regular Democrats. Senator Esquirol and Congressman Andrew L. Somers also addressed this meeting which was held at the Temple Club.

The College Men's Democratic Association, also meeting at the Temple, "He best represents the ideals of this organization, which is to aid the rank and file of the County of Kings to a more intelligent and liberal government."

Other speakers beside Steingut were Alderman Campbell, Harry M. Peyser, William I. Siegel, Harry Firestone, Kathryn J. Smith, and the executive member of the Temple Club, Maurice Biedeman.

NEWARK, N. J.
STAR EAGLE

SEP 13 1934

CITY DEMOCRATS WARN DISLOYAL

Leaders Act After Hearing Reports of Plan to 'Throw' Votes.

Newark Democratic leaders were vigilant today for evidence of skullduggery on the part of their district leaders, reports having been made at the opening of the county campaign last night that some leaders have been approached with the idea of "throwing" the vote of their districts.

City Chairman William Untermann did not mention who had made the approaches but those present inferred he meant Republican bosses. He warned that any leader found guilty of disloyalty would be immediately barred from the party fold.

HARMONY FEAST

Outwardly the dinner at the Progress Club last night designed to launch the Essex campaign was a love feast of the warring factions. Present were members of the executive board ,advisory board, the county candidates and their campaign managers.

Counyt Chairman William H. Kelly said he was confident whatever differences there were in the party were forgotten in the common desire to roll up a vote in November. He outlined the campaign plan, an important part of which is a drive for the suburban vote which will start Monday.

Kelly announced appointment of Commissioner Joseph M. Byrne Jr., of the New York Port Authority as finance chairman of the campaign and Assistant Prosecutor Donal Fox as chairman of the speakers' bureau.

ASSAILS HOFFMAN

The county chairman directed an attack against Harold Hoffman, Republican candidate for Governor, saying: "He is the willing servant of the ring that seeks to control the State. He has the support of men linked with every scandal in New Jersey since the Larson administration."

Mayor Ellenstein was not present. John F. Monahan, defeated by Kelly for the chairmanship, praised Kelly's leadership, as did also Charles P. Gillen, former city commissioner. State Committeeman George Henderson urged a house-to-house canvass to enlist as many as possible of the county's 40,000 unregistered voters. Assistant Prosecutor J. Bernard Johnson reported 70 per cent of the colored vote in Essex this year will go Democratic.

YONKERS, N. Y.
HERALD STATESMAN

OCT 2 1934

Club Planned In 7th By Negro Democrats

Plans for a mass meeting Wednesday, Oct. 10, preparatory to organization of a Seventh Ward Colored Democratic Club were announced today by John M. Lee temporary chairman.

The meeting will be held at the Seventh Ward Democratic Club on Waverly Street with Randall Tolliver, president of the Westchester County Colored Democratic Clubs, in the role of organizer.

George Richardson will conduct the session at which, Mr. Lee said, the following have been invited to speak: Surveyor of Customs in the Port of New York Harry T. Foley, William Cronin, his successor as county chairman; Public Works Commissioner Edward J. Murray, new city chairman; former Alderman Ross F. Calcagno, former Public Works Commissioner Thomas A. Brogan and the Rev. R. S. Oden.

Assisting Mr. Lee, a former Republican, on the temporary organization committee are Thomas Small, secretary; William Brooks, Woodrow Miller and Edward Campbell.

Democratic.

Political-1934

Party Affiliation.

DEMOCRATS OF MISSOURI TO STAGE RALLY

Call 7-3-34

State-Wide Meeting to Be Held in Sedalia Saturday and Sunday

Kansas City, Mo.

SEDALIA, Mo.—Missouri Democrats will make Sedalia their headquarters Saturday and Sunday, August 4 and 5, when a state-wide rally and industrial meet will be held at Liberty park here.

Democratic leaders, white and Negro, including the mayor of St. Louis, the mayor of this city and several senatorial candidates, will be on the program.

The two-day festivities, sponsored by the Out-State Democratic Club of Missouri, will begin with a gala parade at 11:30 a. m., Saturday along the principal streets of Sedalia. The girls' brass band of the Girls' Industrial home at Tipton under escort of the drum and bugle corps of the American Legion, Mayne Miner post of Kansas City will lead the parade to the convention hall of Liberty park where the afternoon's program will be held.

McLemore to Present Mayor

Bernard F. Dickmann, mayor of St. Louis, will be guest speaker on the program which will begin at 1:30 p. m. He will be introduced by Joseph L. McLemore, St. Louis attorney and first assistant in the legal aid department of that city.

The welcome address on this program will be delivered by O. B. Poundstone, mayor of Sedalia. After the speaking, a baseball game will be played. A dance featuring George and Julia Lee of Kansas City will follow.

On Sunday, special religious services will be held at 11 a. m. at the A.M.E. church. A social, educational and industrial meeting will be held at the Second Baptist church at 3 p. m. W. F. Clark, grand master of the U. B. F. lodge of Missouri, will be master of ceremonies.

Speakers on the program will be Lloyd W. King, superintendent of schools in Monroe City; Mrs. Ethel Bowles, superintendent of the Girls Industrial home in Tipton, Mo., and Edward L. Clark, manager of a drug store in Kansas City, Mo.

Senatorial Candidates Expected

The final program of the rally will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday at the Taylor Chapel M. E. church. N. C. Bruce will be master of ceremonies. Speakers will be A. L. Hammons, instructor of agriculture at Lincoln university; W. Robert Smalls, executive secretary of the Kansas City Urban League, and the Rev. B. F. Abbott, pastor of the Union Memorial M. E. church in St. Louis.

Judge H. S. Truman, J. J. Cochran and J. L. Milligan, senatorial candidates, and Congressman Joseph B. Shannon are expected to appear on the program.

The Progressive Democratic club of Sedalia will be host to the rally. Carl Abbott is chairman of the local committee. Fred Ferguson is chairman of the general committee. W. G. Mosely is president of the Out-State club, Arthur Foster is secretary.

DEMOCRATS MAP PLANS FOR BIG FALL CAMPAIGN

Journal and Guide 8-4-34

Race Leaders Line Up In Quaker City For "New Deal"

Norfolk, Va.

BY MISS BEATRICE M. PIERSON

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Negro Democrats are busy organizing for the fall campaign under the leadership of Paul F. Jones, of Pittsburgh, Negro state organizer for the Democratic State Committee, assisted by John B. Kelly, city Democratic leader.

Mr. Jones came to the city to form a city wide organization to formulate a definite policy as to the distribution of patronage and direct the active campaign among Negroes this fall. He will be assisted also by the Democratic City Commission. At a recent meeting held in the Franklin Trust Building in the headquarters of the city committee, Honorable David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman; George H. Earle, Democratic nominee for governor and Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic nominee for United States Senator were present.

Mr. Lawrence said that he felt that Negroes will be duly considered in Pennsylvania's "New Deal."

Fed Up On Promises

"Negroes have been fed up on the promises of the Republicans in the past but the policy of the Democrats of this state is to include the Negro voters in the Rooseveltian 'New Deal.'"

Mr. Jones said that the Democrats are asking Negroes to be patient for positions as it takes a little time to appoint a Negro to will the vacancy of assistant United States attorney, created by the resignation of E. Washington Rhodes and other appointments.

Invited Members

Among those invited to the meeting were Magistrate Edward Henery, Rev. Marshall L. Shepard, Democratic nominee for the legislature; Russell Allen, deputy coroner; Dr. J. Max Barber, Negro leader of the Roosevelt campaign; James Bannager, West Philadelphia Democratic leader; Fletcher Amos, Negro leader of the 47th ward; Samuel Reading, president of the Democratic Association of Pennsylvania; Joseph H. Rainey, international editor of the Philadelphia Record.

John Simmers, Democratic nominee for the legislature; Claude Johnson, ward committeeman; Francis Hyman, ward committeeman; Louis Slade, Frederic Perkins, South Philadelphia Democratic leader; Edward Hazel, ward committeeman of the 32nd ward; Wilson Jones, of the coroner's office; Madeline Bowes Rainey, Rev. J. H. Dwelle, president Pennsylvania Baptist Ministers Conference.

Bishop William H. Heard of the A. M. E. Church; John Gormiston Comerville Fauntleroy, leader of Negro Democratic women of the city; Lelia Lawrence, secretary of the Democratic Women's Association; Mrs. Helen Duckett, West Philadelphia Democratic leader; Mrs. Hattie Wilson, Mrs. Hattie Fambre and Helen Perkins. Attorney Robert L. Vann, special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, enroute to Washington, attended the meeting.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

Reporter

AUG 15 1934

Democratic Ticket Given Endorsement

Official endorsement of the party ticket was voted by the Westchester County Colored Democratic Club in the new clubrooms of the Runyon Heights Democratic Club, 690 Saw Mill River road, Yonkers. More than 75 attended.

Randall Tolliver, president, led a discussion of the ticket. Others who spoke were Henry Lyons of the Progressive Democratic Club of Fairview, who is a district leader in Greenburgh, and Edward B. Smith, president of the Runyon Heights organization.

Plans were started for a dinner dance to be held next month. Canute W. Ferrin of Greenburgh, was appointed chairman.

Assisting are Mrs. May Jones, Norman Downes and Mr. Smith, of the Runyon Heights Club; Mrs. Maggie Rogers, Mrs. Fannie Watts, Mrs. Gladys Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Armstead of New Rochelle, and Mrs. Eva Jackson, Curtis J. Ruth, president, and Stanley Morris, of the Third Ward Club, Yonkers.

The next session of the organization will beheld Sunday, September 9, in the rooms of the Progressive Club, 48 Carlton street, Fairview.

Chattanooga, Tenn.

TIMES

AUG 27 1934

DEMOCRATS SET FOR DISLODGING 'BOSS' ROBINSON

County Candidates to Demand That Wilkerson Fire Colored Leader.

PAID $2,200—GOT NO AID

Claim Money Used for Other Ends—Maybe to Finance Walter's Own Race.

Democratic candidates who pulled through the August election without the aid of Walter Robinson, colored Fourth ward leader, who dictates many Negro appointments at the city hall, are preparing to get revenge by making a demand of Commissioner W. E. Wilkerson, of the city school department, that the Negro leader be left off the payroll for the coming school term.

Robinson for a number of years has been a truant officer in the city's colored schools. The information that Robinson has the finger of the democratic candidates of the last election pointed towards him came from high official circles yesterday. This, perhaps, is the first time the Negro ward leader has been "put on the spot" by such a large group of influential politicians and his re-election may be endangered. Every democratic candidate lost heavily in Robinson's Fourth ward as well as others in which the Negro leader had appointees who had influence with their race.

In all, the democratic nominees are reported to have placed approximately $2,200 in the Negro precincts and some of them, after the votes were counted, suspected that some of the money they contributed for use in the colored precincts must have been used against them as, apparently, it failed to register votes in their behalf.

Says "School Crowd" Handicap.

One candidate, T. W. Killough, who was re-elected county court clerk, is reported to have become considerably angered with Robinson. There has been a combination of Negro leaders who have had much to say about the voting of colored voters in Chattanooga. Robinson is the titular head, at least, of this combination. In this organization with him are Sid Byers, leader of the Fourth precinct of the Twelfth ward, and D. C. Harper, leader in the Second précinct of the Seventh ward. The influence of Robinson-recommended appointees and others close to the Negro "boss," the democratic officials say, was harmful to Byers and Harper in their efforts to obtain votes for the democratic nominees. Byers, for instance, openly complained shortly after the election that the "school crowd," meaning Robinson's forces, handicapped his ticket. Robinson was a candidate for the state republican executive committee in the republican primary and some of the democratic candidates have been persuaded to believe that he traded them off for votes in his own race. For example, Robinson ran way ahead of a field of six contestants for the committee in this county. Even a veteran in republican politics, former Congressman Joe Brown, trailed Robinson in this county for the state committee by more than 2 to 1. The closest contestant to him was Donald Early, who was approximately 1,000 votes behind him.

Not a single democrat carried Robinson's Fourth ward. Killough expected to carry the ward, the democrats say, but lost it to Ed Conner, the republican nominee, the vote being 295 to 129. Judge Will Cummings lost the ward by a vote of 274 to 186. He ran better than all other nominees, but lost by almost 100 votes. Sheriff-elect Frank Burns lost the ward to Sheriff John K. Tate, republican nominee, by a vote of 69 to 428. Judge Charles Lusk, republican nominee for re-election, carried the ward over Thomas S. Myers, democratic nominee, by a vote of 415 to 60. Atty.-Gen.-elect Peabody Howard, democrat, tallied but fifty-nine votes in the precinct, while the republican nominee, Tom Crutchfield, received 385. Other majorities for the republicans were similar.

City Election in Offing.

With the city elections next up after the general election in November, the assault upon Robinson's leadership is expected to have some effect. If Robinson is deposed as the "Negro" boss in Chattanooga another one will probably be brought forth and there may be trouble in selecting such a leader, the democrats realize. Robinson has been able to stay in the saddle with the help of the democrats and it is possible they could take him out. If his wings are clipped by taking the control of colored patronage, one of his main arteries of political strength would be sapped. Then, on his neck Robinson has a thirsty but organized minority led by Walter Kendricks and W. E. Thornhill and he will have to reckon with this group. He has been able to lick them in contests, but there is possibility that the patronage counter and the democratic contacts have tided him over.

The truant officer will be selected by the city commission upon the nomination of Commissioner Wilkerson. Although Sheriff-elect Burns has been on Harper's trail to get him removed as head janitor at the courthouse, the likelihood is that he will remain. The county attorney holds that the county court can elect a janitor for the courthouse and with that power Judge Cummings, who led his republican opponent in Harper's precinct, can obtain his election in the county court. He had $50 of Burns' money in the precinct, but when the votes were counted Burns found himself sunk by a substantial majority and demanded the $50 back and got it.

A WARNING TO DEMOCRATS

Cleveland Guide

Not so long ago in the City of Cleveland a Negro Democrat was a rare thing. The great masses of Negroes who participated in politics supported the Republican party and the number of Democrats could almost be counted on your fingers.

As time passed on efforts were made to win Negroes to the Democratic ranks, and a few Negroes decided to break the water and venture into a new political circle in an effort to better racial conditions at the hands of Democrats. Eventually the Democrats gave some Negroes consideration, which served to encourage others to join the ranks. Today the number of Negro Democrats runs into the thousands. Yet, with this increased support for the Democratic organization, the Negro has failed to receive his share. This justice due the Negro in Cleveland has been blocked by the present leadership of the Democratic party headed by Burr Gongwer, Newton Baker, and others.

The Negro had hopes of seeing the replacement of those leaders and the elevation of honest and fair-minded men like Martin L. Sweeney, to the leadership, through the election of precinct committeemen, but through dishonest methods many of the independent precinct committeemen were defeated, and the present leadership remains.

The Negroes of Cleveland who are Democrats serve warning on the Democratic party that unless the Negro fairs better than he has through either the elimination of the present leadership or the change in policy, the day will again come when it will be hard to find a Negro Democrat in Cleveland. The ground gained will be lost, and it will take perhaps a generation to regain it, if then.

THERE MUST BE A NEW DEAL FOR THE COLORED DEMOCRATS IN CLEVLAND IF THE DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION IS TO RECEIVE FURTHER SUPPORT FROM THE NEGRO.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
DEMOCRAT & CHRONICLE

AUG 28 1934

15,000 Negroes Band To Back Roosevelt

Consolidated Democracy To Support New Deal

Pledged to uphold the New Deal and its present leadership, a state-wide Negro Democratic Association, known as the Consolidated Democracy of New York State, has been organized.

The association has 15,000 members, it was stated, and a campaign will be launched to bring this figure to 25,000 before the Democratic state convention next month in Buffalo.

Organizers of the group are Dr. Alfred E. Pearlman, secretary of the Iroquois Democratic Club, J. Walter Jones and Van H. Scott.

Officers are:

State chairman, Mr. Jones; state vicechairman, Thomas J. Reid, Elmira; general secretary, T. M. Young, Binghamton; executive secretary, Mr. Scott; recording secretary, Mrs. Minnie Floyd, Elmira; treasurer, Lansing C. Johnson, Buffalo; chairman of finance committee, A. Roy Dennett, Utica; state chaplain, Rev. Luther Lightfoot, Binghamton, and publicity chairman, George B. Williams, Elmira.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS

AUG 23 1934

Negroes Organize Democratic Club

A booster rally was held Tuesday evening of the colored Democratic citizens of the First Ward at the law offices of Joseph Teich, 100 Market Street.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans and means of forming a colored Democratic Club in Passaic. It was decided that the Negroes of Passaic organize into one large Democratic Club.

The meeting was called by Elder Simon Eure, acting chairman. Speeches were made by John Wallen, William Coffey, Nat Gibbons, Simon Eure and Joseph Teich.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL.
COURIER

AUG 21 1934

NEGRO DELEGATES TO STATE MEET NAMED

At a recent meeting of the Negro Democratic club of Morgan county, held at the home of Mrs. Ada Whitis, 440 Lurton street, delegates were appointed to attend the convention of the State Negro Democratic League, to be held in Springfield Wednesday

The county delegates are: John R. Dunn, David Harris, Richard Harris, Robert Blue, Lails Gray, J. W. Turner, Russel Davis, Huffacer House, Mrs. Ada Saunders, Mrs. Lannie Jordan, Marshall Mosley.

Asheville, N. C., Citizen
August 27, 1934

Negro Democrats To Form Political Club

Negro Democrats of Asheville and Buncombe county will meet at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, September 3, at the Y. M. I., for the purpose of organizing a negro political club.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN

AUG 25 1934

Negro Democrats to Meet—Call for meeting of the State Negro Democratic Central committee September 10 has been issued by Dr. I. W. Young, Langston, chairman. The meeting will be held to lay plans for the autumn campaign of the Democratic party.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

AUG 28 1934

Miller to Address Negro Democrats

C. K. Miller, Democratic candidate for Polk county attorney, will address the Roosevelt Negro Democratic club tonight at the community center at Fifteenth and Crocker streets.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
JOURNAL-POST & EXPRESS

SEP 11 1934

Colored Democrats To Hold Convention

Colored members of the Consolidated Democracy of New York State, organized by Dr. Alfred E. Pearlman of Rochester, will conduct a three-day convention in Buffalo, September 25, 26 and 27. Sessions will begin with registration of delegates at the Hotel Savoy and a business meeting. September 26 delegates will be taken on a sightseeing tour of Buffalo in the morning and afternoon, and in the evening will have a banquet at Hotel Vendome and parade to the Savoy for a mass meeting.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
MAIL

SEP 9 1934

Kelly Speaks To Negro Democrats

Robert G. Kelly, chairman of the state Democratic committee, was the principal speaker before a meeting of the Democratic Negro state committee Saturday afternoon in the K. of P. hall in Washington street. Other speakers included J. H. Long, chairman of Rush D. Holt's campaign committee, and Sterrett Neale, publicity director for Mr. Holt.

The meeting was presided over by I. J. K. Wells, chairman. Twenty counties were represented.

Mr. Kelly told the gathering that members of the Negro race by "the tens of thousands" had turned to the Democratic party under Roosevelt, and that the party appreciated their allegiance. "The time has come now for you to help make the Democratic party a great force for the welfare of the entire country," Mr. Kelly said. He complimented the chairman upon the large attendance.

Mr. Long talked along lines similar to Mr. Kelly's remarks, calling upon the committee to complete its organization in every county.

Mr. Neale said that it was nothing unusual for Mr. Holt, the United States senate nominee, to have his separate campaign organization.

Mr. Holt had been invited to attend the meeting but was delayed in returning from Moundsville where on Friday he attended the funeral of State Senator John C. Myers.

Dave S. Ware, of Fayette county, was elected director in charge of the campaign. Mrs. Awhaneda P. Hairston, of Mingo county, was elected secretary. Lloyd G. Smith, of Cabell county, was elected as treasurer, and A. B. Grasty, of McDowell county, was elected as assistant treasurer.

The body went on record as being opposed to the capitation tax amendment, which would require the presentation of a poll tax receipt as a prerequisite for permission to vote.

LAWTON, OKLA.
CONSTITUTION

SEP 28 1934

Negro Democrats Will Meet In City

Comanche county negro Democrats are scheduled to meet Friday night at the Masonic hall in Lawton to make plans for the autumn campaign prior to the general election Nov. 6.

In calling the meeting, Chester Clanton, Lawton, president of the county group, urged that all members attend. The parley is to convene at 8:30 o'clock.

Democrats Will Have No Jim Crow Bureau

Indianapolis Recorder 8-11-34

No separate bureau will be maintained by the Democratic State committee for colored workers, The Recorder learned Thursday. Activities among colored voters will be directed from the regular headquarters in the Claypool hotel.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

Chattanooga, Tenn. News
February 28, 1934

Democrats Ban Negro Vote In Party Primary

County Board Unanimously Decides Wednesday to Bar Participation.

Bar G. O. P. lAso

Chairman Must Reside in Precinct—No Posters to Be Allowed at Polls.

No Negro will be allowed to vote in the Democratic primary on March 15.

The question of Negroes participating in the primary was decided at an executive session of the County Primary Board held Wednesday morning.

The barring of the Negro was done by unanimous vote of the board, Ira Templeton, chairman, stated at the close of the meeting. The action was taken by the body on the theory that all Negroes are presumed to be Republicans, the chairman explained.

Efforts will be made to prevent all Republicans, regardless of color, from casting ballots in the March primary. Precautions will be taken to keep all but the ballots of Democrats from the election boxes when the primary is held, Mr. Templeton said.

All members of the board were present for Wednesday's meeting. In addition to Mr. Templeton, the board is composed of Mrs. W. S. Biles, secretary; W. W. Hixson, Fred Fox, Oscar DeFriese, Mrs. Barney Strickland, Mrs. D. D. Allen, Mrs. Charles H. Weigle and Mrs. Charles W. Clark.

Must Reside in Precinct.

The board decided that no chairman or vice-chairman may be elected for a precinct in which he does not reside. Some aspirants for precinct heads have, through error or otherwise, listed precincts in which they do not live in filing qualification papers.

The matter of election officials was discussed, but the question was left open until the next meeting to be held next week.

No pictures, cards or literature of candidates will be allowed in election booths, the board voted.

The question of workers at the polls was not taken up by the board. Several candidates, however, have already expressed disapproval of the old practice of having supporters at the polls handing out cards. Many voters resent this and the practice results in confusion and disorder at the voting places. No workers have been allowed in most of the recent elections and quieter elections have resulted.

Will F. Chamlee, candidate for county judge, stated that he is opposed to poll workers. "I think every person should have the privilege of voting without having cards thrust in his face," he stated. Peabody Howard, candidate for attorney-general, stated that he is strongly opposed to workers at poling places and that he would have none. His opponent, Gen. John J. Lively, expressed the same views. "I did not expect this question to be raised in the coming primary, as I thought no one would attempt to use workers at the polls, since workers have been eliminated in the past fe welections," he stated. "Certainly the voters ought to be given a chance to cast their ballots without being annoyed at the polls." Dan B. Vance, candidate for Criminal judge declared that he is "absolutely opposed" to workers at voting places. Other candidates were not reached.

Chattanooga, Tenn. Times
March 1, 1934

WHO IS A DEMOCRAT?

Negro Asks How Many Vote for All Nominees.

To The Chattanooga Times:

Why make the Negro an issue? We do more harm to ourselves by not agreeing in mass on any one thing for our own good than we do injury to others.

As to the opinion expressed by W. W. Hixon relative to Negroes voting in democratic primaries in Sunday's issue of The Times. There being so much proof of democrats and republicans not supporting the party nominees that I am wondering if the opinion is just. When he says that unless a Negro is a confirmed democrat and willing to support all democratic nominees he would be opposed to the Negro entering the primary. If that same rule was applied to white democrats and republicans using the same word "confirmed," how many from each party at each election would be dropped from the party's column and left to wander into an independent or a fusion party? That would be dangerous to any party, as they were to Tammany.

Suppose we Negroes for legal reasons had refused and assigned legal reasons for not being willing to go into the World war because some of our group did not support President Wilson, he a democrat, and declared war. No, we threw aside religious pride for our country's honor and made for this country the best soldier that we knew how, obeying orders and without a traitor or coward in our ranks.

Suppose again the Negro had not supported Gov. McAlister. I do know we did not support McCall. And, too, some of our local officeholders would not have been elected if the suggestion of W. W. Hixon had applied to democrats and republicans alike. The Negro, like other citizens, has learned that parties mean nothing. We are supporting men and measures, and with conditions as they are in our neighborhood, watch our smoke. Negroes far back have been open in their support of democrats, some of us; conditions around us show that Negro republican chairmen made so by votes and seated and okehed by the republican executive committee have supported democratic candidates and fought republican candidates.

W. H. Sears, republican candidate for sheriff, was fought and defeated by the republicans, for had the republicans stood by him he would, I believe, have beaten Bass for sheriff. Again, Ex-Sheriff Charles Taylor was nominated by the democratic party and defeated by them. The primary named him. I understand that Mr. Hixon wants the Negro to stay out of the primary if he does declare or swear allegiance to the entire ticket and the styled democrats jump when they wish from democrat to republican, or vice versa.

Lest I forget, I think Judge Charles Lusk, a republican on the republican ticket, was elected by the aid of democrats against Judge Estell, that's more jumping. Now the fight that is on in Hamilton county in the democratic party needs to be watched, not from a Negro point of view for whether he votes in the primary or not he is a democrat. At this time to stop in midstream to argue or fight the Negro's right to vote in your primary might cause discord in your ranks and elect a republican. If that occurs, who's jumped? I don't believe there are many confirmed democrats or republicans. It would not pay for many reasons. A man or woman should be at liberty to do as he or she wishes. Regardless of what the primary says something might go wrong. Something has gone wrong several times for the candidates of the have gone down by their own parties' action. It is my belief or knowledge if a Negro wanted to support any one or more candidates in a democratic primary I believe the court would so rule. I don't believe there is any party could say that all of their party supported all of their candidates. Then why want the Negro to become fixed on all democratic candidates before he would be entitled to vote as Mr. Hixon says? Why are there not more Negro democrats? It is because of the primary condition named by Mr. Hixon. This tidal wave that has been sweeping the country is not yet spent. The Vare machine, of Philadelphia; the Thompson machine, of Chicago, and the Tammany machine, of New York, went down, and more are going. Remember the Roosevelt deluge and maybe Mr. Hixon will wish to seek public office and a helping hand from the Negro might prove to be the straw that broke the camel's back, but not now, for we have learned to help those who help us, regardless of party.

U. W. RICHARDSON.

ST. LOUIS, MO.
TIMES

MAR 7 1934

Young Negro Democrats Elect.

At a recent meeting of the Young Negro Democratic Club of St. Louis, David M. Grant was elected president, C. Broussard, vice president; Herbert C. Duckett, treasurer; Arthur V. Steward, financial secretary, and George McCormick, secretary. Their terms will be for four years.

SPRINGIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

MAR 4 1934

Colored Democratic Headquarters Open

The colored democratic headquarters at 122 South Eleventh street were opened Saturday in charge of A. Morris Williams and William Bruce, attorneys, Dr. R. H. Beverly and Harry Hawkins.

Precinct meetings and workers meetings will be held every evening until April 10, leaders announced. They are supporting Horner, Roosevelt, and the regular democratic slate of candidates.

HARTFORD, CONN.
TIMES

MAR 7 1934

PARTY BEING ARRANGED BY COLORED DEMOCRATS

A meeting of the Colored Democratic club of Hartford was held Monday night, conducted by Boce W. Barlow, president, and Henry T. Mitchell, secretary.

Mr. Mitchell read letters from Senator Lonergan and Congressman Kopplemann acknowledging receipt of telegrams concerning the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill.

On Saturday night the club will hold a party in the clubroom at No. 236 Bellevue street. Refreshments will be free. Entertainment will be furnished by Rastus and his Revue.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS

APR 21 1934

Colored Democrats Endorse Saltzman

Lawyer Edward H. Saltzman, Democratic candidate for alderman in the Fourth ward, was endorsed for the post by the Passaic County Negro Democratic league at a meeting held last night at headquarters, 140 Governor street.

Reports were submitted by Henry Moone, first vice-president, who presided; Andrew King and Miss Sallie Griffin. A committee to canvass ward voters was appointed. They are Clarence Peter, chairman; Miss Alice Wilson, Stephen Hall, Hurley Cot, and Harold Griffin. The Rev. George B. Riley, standard bearer of the club, was endorsed for justice of the peace of the ward.

Jacksonville, Fla.
JOURNAL

APR 27 1934

Judge to Hear Why Negroes Should Vote

Circuit Judge George Couper Gibbs this afternoon was to hear reasons why negroes should or should not be allowed to join the Democratic party.

Edgar W. Waybright, representing Supervisor of Registration Emory H. Price, filed a motion today to quash the petition of Sylvanus H. Hart, a negro, for a writ of mandamus to force the acceptance of negroes in the party.

Judge Gibbs heard the motion at 10 a. m. today, and set 3 p. m. as the hour for arguments by attorneys.

Following orders issued by the state Democratic executive committee and upheld by Cary D. Landis, attorney general, Price has refused to register negroes as Democrats.

SOUTH OKLAHOMA DEMOCRATS BAR HAND-PICKED LEADERS AT BIG MEETING TO BE HELD APRIL 14

MISGUIDANCE OF RACE DUE TO LACK OF ORGANIZATION SAYS MITCHELL; DISTRICT CONVENTION AT ARDMORE, APRIL 14

People Of Counties To Name Officers

ARDMORE, Okla., Mar. 14.—(Special)—The Southern Oklahoma Convention composed of Negro Democrats, is making steady and sure strides in its development. On last Saturday, March 10, two counties—Marshall and Bryan—organized, holding their meeting in the district court rooms of the courthouse.

The meetings were largely attended by both white and colored. The purpose and why of the organization were clearly and inspiringly stated by W. E. Mitchell, acting chairman. This makes eight counties that have sold in the newly formed Democratic organization.

Mr. Mitchell said in opening one of the conventions, that "I believe in a representative Democratic party against the hand-picked Democratic party." He further stated that "the misguidance of the Negro Democrats in this state is wholly due to the fact that the Negro has never been called upon to organize by county units, but on the other hand some self-styled leader has picked men who are more or less weaklings and called them in to represent the counties in which many of them had little or no influence and has advertised this hand-picked organization and also has to a large degree fooled many good honest office holders. I mean to see to it that every county in Southern Oklahoma will be properly organized, giving every Negro in that county the privilege to name its officers and delegates."

Choctaw county, McCurtain and Pushmataha counties will organize next Saturday, March 17, in their respective courthouses. Any county in Southern Oklahoma may organize and send the name of the chairman and other officers and names of delegates to the district convention to be held at Ardmore Saturday, April 14.

For further information you may address W. E. Mitchell, Box 314, Ardmore. Okla.

Watchman, "What of The Night?"

The meeting held Saturday by the Negro democrats of the state, and to which came fully 100 representative citizens, is proof positive that Dr. I. W. Young has shot his bolt. Just as in the Muskogee meeting, where he was ignominously repudiated and where he openly ran for office and was defeated, so also was his open attitude expressed toward the meeting called by Attorney O. Ben Jefferson Saturday, repudiated. There are too many letters over the signature of Dr. I. W. Young, for that distinguished gentleman to now aver he had no interest in same. Dr. I. the state asking men not to attend that meeting, and under W. Young vainly tried to stop the Jefferson call meeting and failed.

The new alignment brings with its inception new responsibilities. The repudiation of Young is the direct result of his selfishness and individualism. The men of the state by their attitude and action, have indicated that they want organization for the common weal and not a set-up which serves selfish ends.

If the Jefferson organization can sense the call for honest, praise-worthy service; if the citizens feel that under his leadership there will come a turn towards fair play and a new deal, the Jefferson organization is going to grow and have influence. It is all right to call the crowd, but one must have something justifiable for the crowd when the crowd appears.

The Black Dispatch has sought to point the way to the type of leadership necessary in developing a new democratic organization in Oklahoma. Our questionnaire to the candidates for Governor indicates the lines towards the issues in which the Negroes are interested, should bend. The most illuminating factor about the questionnaires we mailed out is the attitude assumed towards same by the candidates.

For the first time since statehood democratic candidates are now on record, in large numbers, regarding a constructive program for the race. Eight have said that they will take Langston university out of politics, if elected to that high office. Three have pointed out the mechanics of their plan in doing this. All of those who have answered the Black Dispatch questionnaire have openly stated that they will repudiate Governor Murray's plan to place white administrators in Negro institutions. This is what we call progress.

It is the duty of a newspaper to make issues; it is the particular job of political organizations to shove live issues across. If the Jefferson organization desires to get and hold the confidence of the Negro democrats of the state the effective thing to do is to get behind the candidate who represents the most in a "Negro Program." The question of who should hold this job or that job should be subordinated. The state has had too much of this sort of political hi-jacking. The constructive issues raised by the Black Dispatch should be incorporated into the demands and platform of Negro democrats.

No political group is going to get very far with the voting public during these perilous times unless it can be clearly shown that the organization stands for a general spread of relief to the many, and that its agendum does not begin and end with the interest of a few.

Just this week a candidate for governor, and one who had not announced when we mailed out our questionnaires, wrote the Black Dispatch voluntarily, asking for one. Such action indicates the profound interest created in the making of demands in the interest of public welfare. In still another instance this writer held a conference in our office with a candidate seeking a legislative birth. The candidate said he honestly wanted to know what Negroes would have him do were he to realize his ambition. We spent two hours showing this office seeker the type of legislation, covering education, reduced taxation and other matters in which Negroes take vital interest.

The thought we wish to express is that any new organization succeeding the old Young regime must deliver to the people. The old system of selfish spoils will not stand today. The temper of the people requires unselfish, obvious service. Will the Jefferson organization meet the call to duty?

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

MAR 1 1 193

Candidates Speak At Colored Democrat Club

Urging support of the Roosevelt-Horner ticket at the primary April 10, a meeting sponsored by the regular Colored Democratic organization was held last night at the group's headquarters, 122 South Eleventh street. Among the speakers were Harry Mason, candidate for congress; William Natterman, candidate for sheriff; A. E. Rouland and A. Morris Williams. William B. Bruce presided.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

New Demo Set-Up Congratulated By James Farley

Black Dispatch

2-10-34

Oklahoma City

That the new O. Ben Jefferson organization of the Democratic Central Committee will have the backing of the national administration and President Roosevelt was definitely established Monday when James A. Farley, postmaster general, and President Roosevelt's hight-hand man, sent greetings to the Jefferson organization.

The newly organized committee denounced the policy of Governor Murray in naming white people to head Negro institutions and praised the national administration.

The official proceedings of the State Central Committee as reorganized under Attorney Jefferson's leadership follow:

"The duly elected representatives of the various counties of the state of Oklahoma in persuance to the published call of the properly constituted authorities met in regular session in Oklahoma City today, to choose and elect officers of the State Negro Democratic Convention for the next ensuing term, and to publish to the Negro voters of the state the policies of the Negro State Democratic Central Committee.

"Officers were duly and regularly elected: Dr. A. P. Bethel, temporary chairman; Prof. A. M. Salone, temporary secretary. Resolution committee as follows: Attorney J. C. Evans, chairman, Prof. W. A. Hill, R. M. Butts and J. E. Roberts. The temporary organization was made permanent, after which the following officers were duly elected for the State Negro Democratic Central Committee: Attorney O. B. Jefferson, chairman; Mrs. Pearl Howard, vice-chairman, and J. Henry Ferguson, secretary.

"Greetings to the convention were received from Honorable James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee as follows: "I want to take this opportunity of extending my best wishes to your group as they are assembled in Oklahoma City today. Appreciate your support and know it will continue.' This telegram was presented to the convention by J. Henry Ferguson, secretary of the State Democratic Central Committee, and who is also eecutive secretary of the Roosevelt-Garner League of Oklahoma, an official Roosevelt organization among the Negroes of the state.

"The following resolution was presented and adopted by the convention:

"Be it resolved, that the Negro Democratic Convention of Oklahoma in session endorse whole heartedly the current National Administration of the Democratic party under the unparalleled and matchless leadership of the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Be it further resolved that we further pledge and reaffirm our allegiance to the principles and practices of the Democratic party such as pronounced by Jefferson, Wilson and the immortal Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Resolved further that this convention deplores the policy of the present state administration in placing white persons in any position of control or management in any Negro institution in this state, it being unfair, unjust and contrary to the spirit, if not the leter of the constitution and laws of the state of Oklahoma.

"Be it further resolved that this convention through its proper officers present to each candidate for governor a questionnaire as to his position on the immediate control and personnel of the state institutions for Negroes.

"Committee: Attorney J. C. Evans, Okmulgee, Okla.; Prof. W. A. Hill, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mr. R. M. Butts, Vernon, Okla.; Mr. J. E. Roberts, Langston, Okla."

in to eat with white folks, there will be a Democratic party dedicated to the noble principle of preventing just such things as that.

"The national question at the moment is whether Negro employes can legall be served in the Capitol eating places. On this great issue Representative Warren, the high mogul of the cafes, declared himself as follows: "It (the restaurant) has never served Negro employes or visitors, nor will it as long as I have anything to do with it." Whereupon Republican DePriest orated in this manner: "If the Democrats are going to act that way toward the Negroes, we might as well have a showdown now."

Thus, an attempt to force the momentous problem to a vote on the floor of the House of Representatives is being confidently expected by all true Democrats and Republicans. Who says that Congress has lost its ability to meet the urgent questions of the day with dignity and dispatch?"

However, the editor of The State Columbia, S. C., though a southerner, is intelligent. He believes the difficulties are all in the way of those who don't see the thing the way DePriest does. He writes:

A Race Issue With Complications

"The issue which has arisen in Washington over the question of whether or not Negroes shall be served food in the 'public' restaurant operated under authority of a congressional committee, in the Capitol building, is likely to develop unpleasant complications.

"The restaurant is now operated under the control of the House Accounts committee of which Representative Warren of North Carolina is chairman. He gave the order that Negroes would not be served there. But it would seem the rule is neither new nor of Democratic origin, since Mr. Warren states 'It has always been the rule to feed only white people there.' If that is a fact then the rule barring Negroes was in operation under Hoover, Coolidge and Harding.

"But the issue does not seem to have been raised before. Now that it has been raised and the abrogation of the rule demanded by DePriest, the Negro representative from Chicago, defense of the rule appears to us as difficult. The right of DePriest to service in that restaurant is not questioned by Chairman Warren, but all other Negroes are barred.

"The facts that the restaurant is operated in the most conspicious building owned by the United States government; that it probably pays no rent, and that if it does not pay expense, the government would probably be responsible for the losses, present difficulties which, it seems to us, cannot be readily removed. To that extent the United States figures in the case, and the United States can have no knowledge or nor participate in drawing (color lines)."

WASHINGTON, D. C
NEWS

FEB 13 1934

Colored Democrats

Dr. E. C. Smith, pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church, will address District colored Democrats at 7:30 Thursday night at 1914 13th st nw. Mack D. Rowe will preside.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN

FEB 6 1934

NEGRO STATE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE PICKS OFFICERS

Officers of the Negro state Democratic committee were elected at a meeting here Monday. They include: O. B. Jefferson, chairman; Mrs. Pearl Howard, vice-chairman, and J. Henry Ferguson, secretary. The organization of the committee meeting for organization, included Dr. A. P. Bethel, chairman; A. M. Salone, secretary

---

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
JOURNAL, POST & EXPRESS

FEB 12 1934

WARD DEMOCRATIC CLUB TO HOLD PARTY TONIGHT

The Third Ward Negro Democratic Club will have a party at 8 a. m. today at Democratic Headquarters, Clarissa and Atkinson Streets. Al S. Smith, president, announces that as a result of a membership drive still in progress, the membership has increased to one hundred

---

JOURNAL

Eufaula, Okla.

FEB 8 1934

Negro Democrats Elect New Officers

In the largest gathering of negro Democrats held in the county for years here last week, Eddie Warrior was named chairman; Ada McGee, vice chairman; L. W. Presley, secretary, and Lon McNeal treasurer. They indorsed the national, state and county administrations, and elected delegates to the state convention in Oklahoma City.

NEGRO APPRECIATION

To the Editor of The Telegraph:

Am writing you in honor of President Roosevelt's birthday. He is the greatest man history has ever known. He is the only man that has ever went in office with the interest of the poor man at heart. He is a man from God. From the day he entered the office until the present time he has kept his campaign promises. I am a colored man, but I see the good he has done. He is the greatest president this country has ever had, in fact he is the greatest man in the world today, he holds the limelight.

Telegraph 2-3-34

Macon Ga.

Words cannot express my gratitude towards him. I have mailed him a birthday greeting to show that I appreciate the good things he has done for the poor man. His thinking faculties are excellent. He has divine powers. I have read the comments of various European newspapers concerning him. I certainly hope he will live a long and happy life. This is heartfelt gratitude. I am the appreciative type of Negro. If it had not been for Mr. Roosevelt I probably would have been in a starving condition. My greatest hope and ambition is to view Mr. Roosevelt with my own eyes, so I can express my appreciation for what he has done for me.

Milledgeville, Ga. CLARENCE MIMS.

REPORT SHOWS OVER $200 FROM BIRTHDAY BALL

Informer

Houston Tex. 2-17-34

Houston.—The report of T. M. Fairchild, chairman of the Negro Citizens' President's Ball Committee, shows that net receipts from this effort amuonted to $200.50, which together with a credit of $38.00 from the sale of tickets by the colored policemen of the city made a total contribution from the Negro citizens of Houston in the sum of $238.50.

Mr. Fairchild also expressed appreciation for the fine spirit of cooperation manifested by the representatives of the various organizations that assisted in this effort, some of whom are entitled to special mention for disposing of all or a large percentage of the tickets given them. Among some of the "high percenters" were The Progressive Order of Pilgrims represented by G. A. Gennedy; I. L. A. No. 872 represented by Julius White; I. L. A. No. 1327 represented by P. A Hunter; Harrisburg School represented by Mrs. S. G. Kay; Atherton School represented by Prof. R. L. Isaacs; Bruce School represented by Prof. N. Q. Henderson; Working Girls Aid Club, represented by Mrs. Gertrude Vaughn; Prairie View Club represented by Prof. W. L. D. Johnson; Ethel Ransome Club by Mrs. L. H. Grigsby; Pathfinders and Harmony Clubs, by Dr. O. L. Lattimore; Alpha Kappa Alpha, by Miss Esther Hamlett; 1906 Art and Literary Club, by Mrs. Irene Godfrey; Crawford School, by Mrs. Mabel Wesley, Odd Fellows, represented by Jas. T. Ewing, The Houston Informer, represented by C. W. Weslev.

Southern Negroes Held Their Own Roosevelt Party

Birmingham News

2-4-34

By The Associated Press

While the white folks Tuesday night are dancing in honor of President Roosevelt's birthday, Southern Negroes will be having their own parties as token of respect for "the man in Washington."

1-31-34

Without any suggestion, so far as is officially known, from any white person or white organization the Negro Woman's Improvement Club of Milledgeville, Ga., started plans for a Negro dance to be held "just like the white folks," turning over receipts from the occasion to an endowment fund for the Warm Springs Foundation.

Birmingham News

In all, there were five balls — three white and two colored—in Milledgeville.

In some Southern cities where Negro dances had not been arranged, other means of celebrating will be in order.

1-31-34

In Birmingham, Ala., there was a tremendous torchlight parade. A large section of this manifestation of loyalty to the chief executive has been reserved for Negroes, and more than 1,000 are expected to take part.

The Golden Rule Alliance of Tampa., Fla., had completed plans for a Negro Roosevelt ball, and indications are that it will be a real success, both from the standpoint of attendance and receipts.

The Negroes of Charlotte, N. C., started several days ago telling the world they were going to help celebrate the president's fifty-second birthday with one of the best Negro balls ever attempted in that section.

Over in the Southwest the Negroes really got down to business and organized celebrations, topped with dances.

Latest official reports showed Texas far ahead, with balls scheduled for Dallas, Austin, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Houston.

Fort Worth reported that the attendance at the Negro ball there probably would reach 1,500, while Houston said it was expected that more than 2,000 Negroes would attend the dance there.

On His Birthday

Houston Informer

Houston.—Immediately after the large crowd had listened to President Roosevelt's address of thanks to the country for 6000 birthday balls which were given last Tuesday night in his honor for the raising of funds to aid the crippled children of the nation through the Warm Springs Foundation, the Negro citizens president's birthday ball committee of Houston through its chairman, sent the following telegram to Mr. Roosevelt:

President Franklin D. Roosevelt
The White House
Washington, D. C.

2-4-34

The Negro citizens of Houston Texas, have just listened to your speech with a great deal of interest and delight. Stop. We are contributing our mite in the firm belief that some provision will be made for the crippled Negro children of the nation.

Texas

Negro Citizens President's Ball Committee

By T. M. Fairchild, chairman.

The ball given by the Negroes of Houston was held in the auditorium of the Booker T. Washington High School, of which Prof. W. E. Miller is the principal. Using a profusion of American flags and a red, white and blue color scheme, the hall was beautifully decorated by the place committee under the leadership and direction of Miss Vera E. Thompson, girl reserve secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

Music and entertainment were furnished free by the Jack Yates and Phyllis Wheatley orchestras and by the Booker Washington Bugle corps. The speech of the president was brought to the auditorium through the facilities of a direct public address system hook-up.

Bettis Heads 'Dem' Over State

Plain Dealer

KANSAS CITY WOMAN VICE-PRESIDENT

Topeka, Kansas—At the recent meeting of the Kansas State Democratic Organization of Negroes an elaborate banquet was served at the Ransonian Inn. The Kansas City delegation arrived in their special bus and staged a big demonstration following the dinner. The election of officers was held with the results, President, Charles S. Bettis, Wichita, Kansas; Vice President, Mrs. Myrtal Morgan, Kansas City; Secretary, Mrs. Galena French, Topeka; Assistant Secretary, Leroy Harris, Lawrence; Treasurer, Mrs. Bertha Phoenix, Emporia; Chaplain, Rev. I. K. Hicks, Wichita. The following were elected Congressional District Chairmen: 1st district, Mrs. Thelma Chiles Taylor, Topeka; 2nd district, Thornton Brown Kansas City; 3rd district, Roy Stockbridge, Parsons; 4th district, Mrs. Mamie Bowling, Emporia; 5th district Ernest De France, Wichita; 6th district, J. B. Edwards, Ellis; 7th district, Jim Bright, Pratt.

President Bettis in his acceptance speech, asked for support of the entire organization in the creation of more and better jobs for Negroes. This organization will fight for a square deal for the entire group. The Negro is a potent factor in the New Deal, and in these depressing times is contributing his part toward recovery in rounded measures and is demanding a square deal.

District meetings will start at Kansas City on April 15th, with meetings in every congressional district in rotation.

Southern Okla. Demos Organize In Eight Counties

Leaders From State To Attend April Confab

Black Dispatch

ARDMORE, Okla., Mar. 7. All southern Oklahoma from this city to Idabel, is organizing into Negro Democratic clubs, under the leadership of W. E. Mitchell, Ardmore. Mitchell, it will be recalled, was one of those who fought bitterly against Dr. D. W. Young both in the recent democratic central committee, that split wide open in Oklahoma City Feb. 5, and in the O. A. N. T. meeting at Muskogee.

"I'll not sleep until Young has been junked completely," was the constant slogan of Mitchell at the O. A. N. T. meeting at Muskogee.

Meetings and organizations in six counties have already been effected as follows: Stephens, Garvin, Carter, Murray, Love, Johnson, Marshall and Bryan counties will be organized Saturday.

A district meeting will be held at the convention hall, Ardmore, on April 14, at which time more than 100 delegates will attend. O. B. Jefferson, chairman of the Negro Democratic Central Committee, and Dr. D. E. Wallace, chairman of the Muskogee county organization.

Editor Roscoe Dunjee of the Black Dispatch, has been invited as special guest of the convention. Mitchell said Thursday that he would like to hear from other southern counties with reference to organization and that interested persons could address him at Box 751. Ardmore.

Jefferson Calls Demo Meeting

Session Open To General Public

Black Dispatch

O. B. Jefferson, chairman of the State Negro Democratic Central Committee, last week sent out notices convening the committee in Oklahoma City on March 17 at 10 a. m. In a conversation with a Black Dispatch reporter, Jefferson stated that from responses already received, it is indicated that the meeting will be attended by members from at least 22 counties of the state.

Plans will be discussed for the organization of other counties which have not heretofore been represented on the committee and for a vigorous campaign after the primaries.

Mr. Jefferson stated that the sessions of the committee will be open to the public and many persons, other than members of the committee, from various parts of the state have signified an intention to be present.

WICHITA, KANS.
EVE. EAGLE

FEB 21 1934

Kansas' Jeffersonian league composed of Negroes who are Democrats, are meeting in Topeka tomorrow with Charles S. Bettis, of Wichita, as the chief speaker. Bettis is an orator of wide reputation as was his father, for years a member of the Wichita detective force. Another Wichitan is on the program, Mrs. Lulu Hill, who will make a speech imploring colored women to join the Democratic party.

Jacksonville, Fla.
JOURNAL

APR 28 1934

NEGROES WILL KEEP UP FIGHT

Lose First Tilt in Effort to Be Democrats

Negro voters today lost the first leg of a fight to become members of the Democratic party.

Circuit Judge George Couper Gibbs granted a motion this morning to quash a writ of mandamus which sought to force Supervisor of Registration Emory H. Price to register negroes as Democrats.

It was not, however, upon the right of the Democratic party to limit its membership, nor upon the legal right of the state of Florida to uphold the restrictions, that the court ruled against the negro relator, Sylvanus H. Hart.

The writ, as submitted by the negro attorneys, failed to show that it was not upon some other ground than race that Price refused to register Hart as a Democrat.

It made no attempt to show that the Democratic executive committee does not have the right constitutionally to discriminate against negro electors in the party primaries.

"The alternative writ of mandamus," the official order pointed out, "and the petition of the relator herein do not show that he is qualified for registration as a Democrat under the resolution of the state executive committee of that party, or that the terms and conditions of said resolution on which legal electors shall be declared and taken as proper members of such party, or any, of such terms and conditions, are inapplicable to said relator, or unconstitutional, or void, or that no resolution fixing the terms and conditions was adopted by said executive committee of said party."

After the ruling by Judge Gibbs, the attorneys for Hart said they planned to file a motion to amend the writ. If the motion is granted, argument on the constitutionality of the primary laws probably will follow.

Arguments on the motion to quash the writ began yesterday afternoon, and continued until after 11 a. m. today. Price was represented by Edgar W. Waybright, Jacksonville attorney.

The registration books are open to negroes, but the resolution as adopted by the Democratic executive committee, and upheld by Attorney General Cary D. Landis, denies them the right to register as Democrats. Many, however, are listing themselves as Republicans and as Independents. So listed, they are not allowed to vote in the Democratic primaries.

The registration books close Monday night.

Political - Past

Democratic.

Party Affiliation.

Negro Democratic Club Organized in Joplin, Mo.

Kansas City Star 4-20-34

JOPLIN, Mo.—The Out State Negro Democratic Club, Inc., with headquarters at Jefferson City, Mo. organized Friday the first Negro Democratic club in Jasper county.

Following a Jefferson Day program in memory of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, at Handy Chapel West Fourth street, Friday night, a banquet was served at the Colored Citizens' hall, 219 1-2 Main street. About 150 persons attended.

After the repast W. G. Mosely, president of the Out State Negro Democratic club installed the following officers: R. W. Stennett president; M. Stephens, vice president; Rev. A. C. Harper, secretary; and A. Anderson, treasurer. The guest speaker of the occasion was Charles S. Bettis, deputy sheriff of Sedgewich county, Kansas. Mr. Bettis is national president of the Young Negro Democratic clubs.

Other visiting speakers were Fred Ferguson, Sedalia; James Morton, mail dispatcher for the department of the Secretary of State, and Arthur Edwards, senior student in Lincoln university, both of Jefferson City.

Representative Claycomb of Jasper county was present and delivered the welcome address.

Arrangements were made on the return trip for the organization of a club at Springfield.

Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown issued a charter Friday to the Out-State Negro Democratic club which boasts a membership of more than 200 persons. The club has been organized since January of this year at Jefferson City.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER

APR 6 1934

COLORED DEMO. ENDORSE

The Third ward Colored Democratic Club last night endorsed Samuel I. Kessler for State Committeeman, William L. Fox for Representative from the 11th Congressional District and Irving Rand for the Assembly.

N. Y. SUN
APR 13 1934

Liberal Rule Proves Burden

Easing of Method of Getting Bills Out of Committee Boomerang to House Leaders.

WASHINGTON, April 13 (A. P.).—A rule fashioned by House Democrats—allowing a petition signed by 145 members to force action on any bill—has turned around and bitten the hands that made it and now won't let go.

Party leaders are stumped about it. It requires a majority vote to wipe it out. With about 100 Republicans and 150 Democrats opposed to a chance, they believe they dare not try it.

But the rule, meanwhile, is being used to an unheard of extent. Majority leaders complain bitterly that it is wrecking their legislative program; that it has split the liberals and conservatives, and has put both Republicans and Democrats on the spot on legislation they'd rather leave unconsidered.

When Republicans ruled the House 218 signatures were required on a petition to force a vote to discharge a committee from considering a bill. The Democrats reduced it to 145, a third instead of a majority of the membership of 435.

It was done when Vice-President John N. Garner was Speaker to give the wets a chance to vote for repeal and the return of beer, because the committees having jurisdiction over those bills were dominated by prohibitionists.

That was in the last Congress—the 72d—and altogether there were twelve petitions filed. But in the present and 73d Congress there have already been twenty-five.

Desperate tactics have been used by the leaders to block some of these from reaching a vote, which might have meant disaster to members in the coming elections.

With the McLeod bank payoff bill about to obtain the necessary 145 signatures on a petition yesterday, the Banking Committee reported it to the House to block the move to discharge it for a vote.

Pressure was brought by leaders earlier in the week to have Democrats withdraw names from the petition to force a vote on the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing-inflation bill. Not only that, but Speaker Henry T. Rainey said the President would veto it, if it passed.

This strategy was used on the Patman cash bonus bill, but failed to have effect, for it went to the Senate by a big vote.

Representative Oscar De Priest, Republican of Illinois, the lone Negro member of the House, used the petition to force the Rules Committee to report his resolution for an investigation of why Negroes were kept from eating in the House restaurant. He got 145 signatures, but the measure has yet to be considered.

PITTSBURGH, PA.
PRESS

APR 7 1934

TWO WARDS GO TO DEMOCRATS

Twelfth and Thirteenth, With Five Others, Have Democratic Majority

Registration figures for Pittsburgh's Twelfth and Thirteenth Wards today showed that they, with five other city wards, have a majority of Democratic voters, on the basis of first-day registrations.

Republicans, however, held a majority of the total registration thus far tubulated for the first 14 wards of Pittsburgh, seven of which went Democratic in the first registration with the other seven remaining Republican.

The Eleventh and Fourteenth Wards remained Republican, the latter by a large majority. The Republicans also retained majorities in the Second, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Wards.

New ward totals compiled by the Registration Commission were:

Ward	Republican	Democratic
Eleventh....	853	589
Twelfth.....	595	886
Thirteenth..	877	1,036
Fourteenth .	1,625	724

With only a few districts uncounted in the 14 city wards, the standing of the parties was:

Republican	9,480
Democratic	8,167

Registration Commissioners Jacob Frank and Thomas A. Joyce yesterday issued their first citation to a voter to show cause why a registration should be voided. They served on Ina Wayne, Negro, of 75 Fullerton Street, who registered in the Seventh district of the Third Ward, to show why her registration should be voided.

The registration officials said the woman was convicted several years ago of an election violation, and had lost the right to register or vote for four years.

RICHMOND, VA.
NEWS LEADER

APR 2 1934

Negro Voters Learn Ward Line Changes

The Richmond Democratic League held a series of meetings last week in which candidates of the various wards spoke. Negro voters have been urged to go to the polls and vote for the candidates of their wards. Officers of the league will explain the change of the ward lines so that there may not be any confusion on the part of voters as to their wards.

The Negro Democrats on Red River

Black Dispatch

The meeting of Negro democrats at Ardmore Saturday and their union with the Negro Democratic Central Committee is official notice to Dr. I. W. Young that "the Ides of March are here." Fourteen counties actually represented and five more counties represented by proxy means that Southern Oklahoma is united solidly against the old obnoxious regime.

The Ardmore meeting was refreshing because of the fine spirit of all present to attempt something in the interest of the race, substituting this for the old selfish program of individual spoilation. Beginning with the keynote speech of Prof. J. W. Sanford, down to the last moment of the session, every speaker oriented himself to a type of program which will lift the standard of the common masses. This is progress and bespeaks a better and a finer day for the Negroes of Oklahoma. 4-21-34

The presence of the democratic state chairman in the meeting, and his fine liberal utterances, was also significant. Mr. Moore in no uncertain terms extended a cordial invitation to the Negro to join the democratic party in Oklahoma and help the majority party build a great state. "I am delighted to see this changing attitude on the part of thinking Negroes towards the party of Jefferson," he declared.

Oklahoma City Black Dispatch.

The presence of 129 delegates in the convention shows that President Mitchell has been doing some hard work in his section. The parley was by no means a paper, proxy affair. One could count noses and consult his geography to realize that the good men of the section had left their homes and at time and personal expense answered to President Mitchell's call. 4-21-34

While an alarm had been sounded to the effect that the entire affair was a John McDonald set-up, there was no evidence in the convention that there was intention to coach the delegation in any gubernatorial candidate's direction. To date, we believe the delegation and its officers are open-minded, looking for the best man, with a liberal program, to support for the governor.

Party Affiliation.

Negro Democratic Club Organized in Joplin, Mo.

JOPLIN, Mo.—The Out State Negro Democratic Club, Inc., with headquarters at Jefferson City, Mo. organized Friday the first Negro Democratic club in Jasper county.

Following a Jefferson Day program in memory of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, at Handy Chapel West Fourth street, Friday night, a banquet was served at the Colored Citizens' hall, 219 1-2 Main street. About 150 persons attended.

After the repast W. G. Mosely, president of the Out State Negro Democratic club installed the following officers: R. W. Stennett president; M. Stephens, vice president; Rev. A. C. Harper, secretary; and A. Anderson, treasurer. The guest speaker of the occasion was Charles S. Bettis, deputy sheriff of Sedgewich county, Kansas. Mr. Bettis is national president of the Young Negro Democratic clubs.

Other visiting speakers were Fred Ferguson, Sedalia; James Morton, mail dispatcher for the department of the Secretary of State, and Arthur Edwards, senior student in Lincoln university, both of Jefferson City.

Representative Claycomb of Jasper county was present and delivered the welcome address.

Arrangements were made on the return trip for the organization of a club at Springfield.

Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown issued a charter Friday to the Out-State Negro Democratic club which boasts a membership of more than 200 persons. The club has been organized since January of this year at Jefferson City.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER

APR 6 1934

COLORED DEMO. ENDORSE

The Third Ward Colored Democratic Club last night endorsed Samuel I. Kessler for State Committeeman, William L. Fox for Representative from the 11th Congressional District and Irving Rand for the Assembly.

N. Y. SUN
APR 13 1934

Liberal Rule Proves Burden

Easing of Method of Getting Bills Out of Committee Boomerang to House Leaders.

WASHINGTON, April 13 (A. P.).—A rule fashioned by House Democrats—allowing a petition signed by 145 members to force action on any bill—has turned around and bitten the hands that made it and now won't let go.

Party leaders are stumped about it. It requires a majority vote to wipe it out. With about 100 Republicans and 150 Democrats opposed to a chance, they believe they dare not try it.

But the rule, meanwhile, is being used to an unheard of extent. Majority leaders complain bitterly that it is wrecking their legislative program; that it has split the liberals and conservatives, and has put both Republicans and Democrats on the spot on legislation they'd rather leave unconsidered.

When Republicans ruled the House 218 signatures were required on a petition to force a vote to discharge a committee from considering a bill. The Democrats reduced it to 145, a third instead of a majority of the membership of 435.

It was done when Vice-President John N. Garner was Speaker to give the wets a chance to vote for repeal and the return of beer, because the committees having jurisdiction over those bills were dominated by prohibitionists.

That was in the last Congress—the 72d—and altogether there were twelve petitions filed. But in the present and 73d Congress there have already been twenty-five.

Desperate tactics have been used by the leaders to block some of these from reaching a vote, which might have meant disaster to members in the coming elections.

With the McLeod bank payoff bill about to obtain the necessary 145 signatures on a petition yesterday, the Banking Committee reported it to the House to block the move to discharge it for a vote.

Pressure was brought by leaders earlier in the week to have Democrats withdraw names from the petition to force a vote on the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing-inflation bill. Not only that, but Speaker Henry T. Rainey said the President would veto it, if it passed.

This strategy was used on the Patman cash bonus bill, but failed to have effect, for it went to the Senate by a big vote.

Representative Oscar De Priest, Republican of Illinois, the lone Negro member of the House, used the petition to force the Rules Committee to report his resolution for an investigation of why Negroes were kept from eating in the House restaurant. He got 145 signatures, but the measure has yet to be considered.

PITTSBURGH, PA.
PRESS

APR 7 1934

TWO WARDS GO TO DEMOCRATS

Twelfth and Thirteenth, With Five Others, Have Democratic Majority

Registration figures for Pittsburgh's Twelfth and Thirteenth Wards today showed that they, with five other city wards, have a majority of Democratic voters, on the basis of first-day registrations.

Republicans, however, held a majority of the total registration thus far tubulated for the first 14 wards of Pittsburgh, seven of which went Democratic in the first registration with the other seven remaining Republican.

The Eleventh and Fourteenth Wards remained Republican, the latter by a large majority. The Republicans also retained majorities in the Second, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Wards.

New ward totals compiled by the Registration Commission were:

Ward	Republican	Democratic
Eleventh....	853	589
Twelfth.....	595	886
Thirteenth..	877	1,036
Fourteenth .	1,625	724

With only a few districts uncounted in the 14 city wards, the standing of the parties was:

Republican	9,480
Democratic	8,167

Registration Commissioners Jacob Frank and Thomas A. Joyce yesterday issued their first citation to a voter to show cause why a registration should be voided. They served on Ina Wayne, Negro, of 75 Fullerton Street, who registered in the Seventh district of the Third Ward, to show why her registration should be voided.

The registration officials said the woman was convicted several years ago of an election violation, and had lost the right to register or vote for four years.

RICHMOND, VA.
NEWS LEADER

APR 2 1934

Negro Voters Learn Ward Line Changes

The Richmond Democratic League held a series of meetings last week in which candidates of the various wards spoke. Negro voters have been urged to go to the polls and vote for the candidates of their wards. Officers of the league will explain the change of the ward lines so that there may not be any confusion on the part of voters as to their wards.

The Negro Democrats on Red River

The meeting of Negro democrats at Ardmore Saturday and their union with the Negro Democratic Central Committee is official notice to Dr. I. W. Young that "the Ides of March are here." Fourteen counties actually represented and five more counties represented by proxy means that Southern Oklahoma is united solidly against the old obnoxious regime.

The Ardmore meeting was refreshing because of the fine spirit of all present to attempt something in the interest of the race, substituting this for the old selfish program of individual spoilation. Beginning with the keynote speech of Prof. J. W. Sanford, down to the last moment of the session, every speaker oriented himself to a type of program which will lift the standard of the common masses. This is progress and bespeaks a better and a finer day for the Negroes of Oklahoma.

The presence of the democratic state chairman in the meeting, and his fine liberal utterances, was also significant. Mr. Moore in no uncertain terms extended a cordial invitation to the Negro to join the democratic party in Oklahoma and help the majority party build a great state. "I am delighted to see this changing attitude on the part of thinking Negroes towards the party of Jefferson," he declared.

The presence of 129 delegates in the convention shows that President Mitchell has been doing some hard work in his section. The parley was by no means a paper, proxy affair. One could count noses and consult his geography to realize that the good men of the section had left their homes and at time and personal expense answered to President Mitchell's call.

While an alarm had been sounded to the effect that the entire affair was a John McDonald set-up, there was no evidence in the convention that there was intention to coach the delegation in any gubernatorial candidate's direction. To date, we believe the delegation and its officers are open-minded, looking for the best man, with a liberal program, to support for the governor.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES UNITE IN STIRRING ARDMORE MEETING TO HALT "UNCLE TOM" PEDDLERS

"YOUNGISM" TABOO IN MILITANT ORGANIZATION; NEW EFFORT TERMED "NEGRO AWAKENING"

129 Delegates Pledge Affiliation With Jeffersonian Organization

ARDMORE, Okla., Apr. 14.—Fourteen Southern Oklahoma counties, commonly designated as in the Red River territory, piled 129 delegates into the convention hall here today organizing what is termed the Southern Oklahoma Democratic Convention. The convention was addressed by Hon. J. B. Moore, chairman of the state democratic central committee; Editor Roscoe Dunjee, Oklahoma City; Atty. O. B. Jefferson, Oklahoma City, chairman of the Negro Democratic Central Committee, and Attorney Joseph Evans of Okmulgee.

Tolliver Temporary Chairman

The convention got under way at 10 a. m. Saturday, with E. W. Tolliver, Duncan, selected as temporary chairman ,and T. C. Fletcher, Chickasha, temporary secretary. Rev. D. C. Miller, Coalgate, offered the invocation.

Mayor Welcomes

Following an address of welcome delivered by Mayor W. H. Batis, Prof. C. R. Buford, Berwyn, delivered a masterful welcome on behalf of the citizens of Carter county. Response was made by Rev. W. M. Johnson, Lawton.

Keynote Address

Prof. J. W. Sanford, Ardmore, was then called from the floor by Chairman Tolliver, and delivered the keynote address of the convention. After stressing the necessity of organizing politically for the purpose of cooperating with their white neighbors in Southern Oklahoma, Prof. Sanford pointed out some of the beneficial results that would undoubtedly obtain from this type of affiliation. "Let us accept and support that type of white man for office who will give the most aid and sympathetic assistance to the Negro's problems," said the Ardmore principal.

Betrayed

"We have been betrayed by our leadership," said Sanford. "Selfish individuals have been selling their race upon the block. A man who would knife his own race is not a fit candidate for hell," he continued.

Wants Half Loaf

"Before we could open our new insane asylum one of the self-designated Negro leaders of the state went to the governor and said "You white folks take the top jobs down there and we Negroes will be content to work in subordinate positions. That's why we have a white man running the insane asylum. We want Negro schools in Oklahoma for Negroes and white folks schools for whites. We want to kick out of public life these Negroes who will lick the dust in order to hold a state job."

Young Absent

Cheers rent the auditorium while Sanford excroiated the false leadership, as had been represented in the old Negro Democratic Central Committee, formerly headed by Dr. I. W. Young. Much comment was made over the fact that Young did not show up at the meeting, although the chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee was present and promised support and cooperation.

Wants Highway Work

Sanford, during the course of his keynote address, stressed the fact that Negroes were receiving no employment on the highways of the state. He said that Negro-owned cars paid almost yearly a million dollars in direct license tax and an additional tax on the gas used in them, and yet not a single Negro was employed by the state highway department. "It is this sort of politics that we want to get interested in, and not the question of a few political plums for individuals," he continued.

Committees

Chairman Tolliver, following the keynote address, appointed a committee on permanent organization, constitution, and state affiliation, and the convention recessed for the committees to organize and complete their work, following a short talk by Ben Ogden, candidate for Congress, 3rd district.

Immediately upon the reconvening of the convention, Chairman Tolliver asked Prof. J. W. Sanford to present to the convention Editor Roscoe Dunjee, for an address.

Dunjee Independent

"I am an independent in politics. I think a newspaper man should refuse to wear the brass collar of partisanship," said the editor when he started to talking. "I think I ought to be in position to criticize for or against organization and it would be hard to do this belonging to any particular party. There is nothing that either party has that I would have politically, so it does not matter much where I stand as an individual.

Get Into Democratic Party

"On the other hand, I want it distinctly understood here today, that as an independent I am preaching to the Negroes of this state that if they want to get anywhere in Oklahoma politically, they must in large numbers join the democratic party, and help to settle who will control this state in the democratic primary." Cheers greeted this statement of Editor Dunjee, who then launched into a detailed discussion of effective voting.

Stresses Flexible Vote

The speaker said that his ideal for the Negro vote was the idea of a flexible, movable something. "A vote that can move out and move in at will, and be motivated solely by the interests of the common weal." He said that Oklahoma being overwhelmingly democratic, the strategic thing to do was to get with the majority party, and with the majority in that party and play the game like men of all other races.

Cites West Virginia

Citing West Virginia as a state where Negroes practice effective voting, Dunjee pointed out that while the voting strength of the Negroes there did not equal the potential in Oklahoma, because of the solidarity and flexibility of that vote the Negroes of West Virginia were getting more out of their ballot right than in any other southern state. Immediately following his address Editor Dunjee left for Dallas, Texas.

State Chairman Talks

Hon. J. B. Moore, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Ardmore, following his presentation by Prof. Sanford, after complimenting the address of Editor Dunjee, said. "After all, the Black Dispatch is the only democratic paper in the state." Quite a ripple of laughter covered the audience at this sally of the state chairman.

Negro Has Awakened

"I am delighted to know that the Negro is at last awakening to the fact that the democratic party offers something worth while to him. I am sure all democrats are willing to accept you on the basis of the suggestions made here."

Chairman Moore then went into a profound discussion of the historic principles of the democratic party as contrasted to the republican party, going back to the days of the Federalists and Anti-Federalists.

Wants No Revolution

"I'm not paying much attention to this talk of revolution, because I know the American people do not want revolution. Under the constitution a man can change his form of government with his ballot. There is no need of bloodshed and the destruction of property as proposed by radicals in order to achieve our ideals in citizenship and government. The man who fails to qualify and vote is the real enemy of this country."' Moore took another sally at the republican party when he said, "We evoluted when we shoved Hoover out and pulled Roosevelt in."

Jefferson Arrives

During the recess of the convention Attorney O. B. Jefferson arrived from Oklahoma City, accompanied by Mr. John Ferguson, secretary of the Negro Democratic Central Committee, Attys. Joseph Evans of Okmulgee, J. J. Josephs, Oklahoma City.

The committees of the convention reported following the address of Chairman Moore, following which Attorney Jefferson was introduced and made a plea for harmony. Jefferson said he was in perfect accord with all of the resolutions adopted by the convention and asked that the counties represented affiliate with the central committee which he heads. The convention voted to do this.

Permanent Officers of Convention

W. E. Mitchell, chairman, Ardmore; Mrs. D. S. A. Davidson, vice chairman, Pauls Valley; T. C. Fletcher, secretary, Chickasha; Joe Carson, treasurer, Ada.

Central Committee

All chairmen and vice chairmen of counties south of the Canadian river were named members of the Central Committee of the district.

Executive Committee

C. R. Buford, Berwyn; J. W. Sanford, Ardmore; E. W. Tolliver, Duncan; M. A. Guest, Marietta; Dr. Williamson, Idabel; Rev. Miller, Coalgate; W. M. Phillips, Ardmore; J. W. Hogan, Hugo; Rev. M. W. Johnson, Lawton.

Resolutions

Your Committee on Resolution makes the following report:

Whereas the Negroes of this state own and pay license on more or less than fifty thousand cars and buy gasoline and oil for running of these vehicles, thus amounting to an annual tax of about $750,000, and whereas there are no Negroes employed upon the highways of the state except the dragging of section roads.

Whereas the most of the license and fuel tax money is spent on building and upkeeping of the highways of the state.

Be it resolved that this Convention go on record favoring the employment of Negroes in proportionate numbers to work on the highways of the state.

Be it resolved that the officers of this organization will ascertain from the gubernatorial candidates whether they will favor the employment of Negroes on the highways of the state.

Be it resolved that the finding of these officers shall be made known to every county chairman in this organization and that the people be informed of the stand of each candidate on the question.

Whereas the school laws of this state, backed up by customary tradition, provide for separate schools and institutions for Negroes.

Whereas, the school law of the state is being grossly violated and also the policy of separation of whites and blacks is trampled under foot by the official connection and presence of three white men at the D. B. & O. Institute and the Insane Asylum for Negroes at Taft, Oklahoma.

Whereas our state educational institutions have been made a political football, thus hindering its educational progress.

Therefore be it resolved that this committee go on record condemning the act of placing these white men over and in the institutions at Taft.

Be it further resolved that we go on record favoring the elimination as far as possible our educational institutions from politics.

* * *

Whereas His Excellency President Franklin D. Roosevelt is ably attacking the economic condition of the country with almost superhuman power and intelligence, and has in a large measure succeeded.

Whereas he has become the great commoner of the people and one of the greatest of all times, therefore be it resolved that this convention highly endorse his administration and offer him fully our bit of service in the furtherance of his great endeavors.

Be it further resolved that we as Democrats, will support in the coming Democratic primary, only such candidates that stand surely and squarely with the policies of President Roosevelt.

* * *

Whereas it is not best to have a division in the Democratic ranks.

Therefore, be it resolved that we join the State Central Committee headed by Honorable O. B. Jefferson, provided that the Executive Committee of the state be increased to fifteen, and the following persons be added: C. R. Buford, Berwyn; Rev. Miller, Coalgate; Rev. Johnson, Lawton; and the chairmen and vice chairmen of the counties represented in this Convention become members of the State Executive Committee. E. W. Tolliver, Duncan; J. W. Williamson, Idabel; Dr. Williamson, Ardmore; Dr. Williamson, members of the State Central Committee.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES UNITE IN STIRRING ARDMORE MEETING TO HALT "UNCLE TOM" PEDDLERS

"YOUNGISM" TABOO IN MILITANT ORGANIZATION; NEW EFFORT TERMED "NEGRO AWAKENING"

129 Delegates Pledge Affiliation With Jeffersonian Organization

ARDMORE, Okla., Apr. 14.—Fourteen Southern Oklahoma counties, commonly designated as in the Red River territory, piled 129 delegates into the convention hall here today organizing what is termed the Southern Oklahoma Democratic Convention. The convention was addressed by Hon. J. B. Moore, chairman of the state democratic central committee; Editor Roscoe Dunjee, Oklahoma City; Atty. O. B. Jefferson, Oklahoma City, chairman of the Negro Democratic Central Committee, and Attorney Joseph Evans of Okmulgee.

Tolliver Temporary Chairman

The convention got under way at 10 a. m. Saturday, with E. W. Tolliver, Duncan, selected as temporary chairman ,and T. C. Fletcher, Chickasha, temporary secretary. Rev. D. C. Miller, Coalgate, offered the invocation.

Mayor Welcomes

Following an address of welcome delivered by Mayor W. H. Batis, Prof. C. R. Buford, Berwyn, delivered a masterful welcome on behalf of the citizens of Carter county. Response was made by Rev. W. M. Johnson, Lawton.

Keynote Address

Prof. J. W. Sanford, Ardmore, was then called from the floor by Chairman Tolliver, and delivered the keynote address of the convention. After stressing the necessity of organizing politically for the purpose of cooperating with their white neighbors in Southern Oklahoma, Prof. Sanford pointed out some of the beneficial results that would undoubtedly obtain from this type of affiliation. "Let us accept and support that type of white man for office who will give the most aid and sympathetic assistance to the Negro's problems," said the Ardmore principal.

Betrayed

"We have been betrayed by our leadership," said Sanford. "Selfish individuals have been selling their race upon the block. A man who would knife his own race is not a fit candidate for hell," he continued.

Wants Half Loaf

"Before we could open our new insane asylum one of the self-designated Negro leaders of the state went to the governor and said "You white folks take the top jobs down there and we Negroes will be content to work in subordinate positions. That's why we have a white man running the insane asylum. We want Negro schools in Oklahoma for Negroes and white folks schools for whites. We want to kick out of public life these Negroes who will lick the dust in order to hold a state job."

Young Absent

Cheers rent the auditorium while Sanford excroiated the false leadership, as had been represented in the old Negro Democratic Central Committee, formerly headed by Dr. I. W. Young. Much comment was made over the fact that Young did not show up at the meeting, although the chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee was present and promised support and cooperation.

Wants Highway Work

Sanford, during the course of his keynote address, stressed the fact that Negroes were receiving no employment on the highways of the state. He said that Negro-owned cars paid almost yearly a million dollars in direct license tax and an additional tax on the gas used in them, and yet not a single Negro was employed by the state highway department. "It is this sort of politics that we want to get interested in, and not the question of a few political plums for individuals," he continued.

Committees

Chairman Tolliver, following the keynote address, appointed a committee on permanent organization, constitution, and state affiliation, and the convention recessed for the committees to organize and complete their work, following a short talk by Ben Ogden, candidate for Congress, 3rd district.

Immediately upon the reconvening of the convention, Chairman Tolliver asked Prof. J. W. Sanford to present to the convention Editor Roscoe Dunjee, for an address.

Dunjee Independent

"I am an independent in politics. I think a newspaper man should refuse to wear the brass collar of partisanship," said the editor when he started to talking. "I think I ought to be in position to criticize for or against organization and it would be hard to do this belonging to any particular party. There is nothing that either party has that I would have politically, so it does not matter much where I stand as an individual.

Get Into Democratic Party

"On the other hand, I want it distinctly understood here today, that as an independent I am preaching to the Negroes of this state that if they want to get anywhere in Oklahoma politically, they must in large numbers join the democratic party, and help to settle who will control this state in the democratic primary." Cheers greeted this statement of Editor Dunjee, who then launched into a detailed discussion of effective voting.

Stresses Flexible Vote

The speaker said that his ideal for the Negro vote was the idea of a flexible, movable something. "A vote that can move out and move in at will, and be motivated solely by the interests of the common weal." He said that Oklahoma being overwhelmingly democratic, the strategic thing to do was to get with the majority party, and with the majority in that party and play the game like men of all other races.

Cites West Virginia

Citing West Virginia as a state where Negroes practice effective voting, Dunjee pointed out that while the voting strength of the Negroes there did not equal the potential in Oklahoma, because of the solidarity and flexibility of that vote the Negroes of West Virginia were getting more out of their ballot right than in any other southern state. Immediately following his address Editor Dunjee left for Dallas, Texas.

State Chairman Talks

Hon. J. B. Moore, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Ardmore, following his presentation by Prof. Sanford, after complimenting the address of Editor Dunjee, said. "After all, the Black Dispatch is the only democratic paper in the state." Quite a ripple of laughter covered the audience at this sally of the state chairman.

Negro Has Awakened

"I am delighted to know that the Negro is at last awakening to the fact that the democratic party offers something worth while to him. I am sure all democrats are willing to accept you on the basis of the suggestions made here."

Chairman Moore then went into a profound discussion of the historic principles of the democratic party as contrasted to the republican party, going back to the days of the Federalists and Anti-Federalists.

Wants No Revolution

"I'm not paying much attention to this talk of revolution, because I know the American people do not want revolution. Under the constitution a man can change his form of government with his ballot. There is no need of bloodshed and the destruction of property as proposed by radicals in order to achieve our ideals in citizenship and government. The man who fails to qualify and vote is the real enemy of this country.'" Moore took another sally at the republican party when he said, "We evoluted when we shoved Hoover out and pulled Roosevelt in."

Jefferson Arrives

During the recess of the convention Attorney O. B. Jefferson arrived from Oklahoma City, accompanied by Mr. John Ferguson, secretary of the Negro Democratic Central Committee, Attys. Joseph Evans of Okmulgee, J. J. Josephs, Oklahoma City.

The committees of the convention reported following the address of Chairman Moore, following which Attorney Jefferson was introduced and made a plea for harmony. Jefferson said he was in perfect accord with all of the resolutions adopted by the convention and asked that the counties represented affiliate with the central committee which he heads. The convention voted to do this.

Permanent Officers of Convention

W. E. Mitchell, chairman, Ardmore; Mrs. D. S. A. Davidson, vice chairman, Pauls Valley; T. C. Fletcher, secretary, Chickasha; Joe Carson, treasurer, Ada.

Central Committee

All chairmen and vice chairmen of counties south of the Canadian river were named members of the Central Committee of the district.

Executive Committee

C. R. Buford, Berwyn; J. W. Sanford, Ardmore; E. W. Tolliver, Duncan; M. A. Guest, Marietta; Dr. Williamson, Idabel; Rev. Miller, Coalgate; W. M. Phillips, Ardmore; J. W. Hogan, Hugo; Rev. M. W. Johnson, Lawton.

Resolutions

Your Committee on Resolution makes the following report:

Whereas the Negroes of this state own and pay license on more or less than fifty thousand cars and buy gasoline and oil for running of these vehicles, thus amounting to an annual tax of about $750,000, and whereas there are no Negroes employed upon the highways of the state except the dragging of section roads.

Whereas the most of the license and fuel tax money is spent on building and upkeeping of the highways of the state.

Be it resolved that this Convention go on record favoring the employment of Negroes in proportionate numbers to work on the highways of the state.

Be it resolved that the officers of this organization will ascertain from the gubernatorial candidates whether they will favor the employment of Negroes on the highways of the state.

Be it resolved that the finding of these officers shall be made known to every county chairman in this organization and that the people be informed of the stand of each candidate on the question.

Whereas the school laws of this state, backed up by customary tradition, provide for separate schools and institutions for Negroes.

Whereas, the school law of the state is being grossly violated and also the policy of separation of whites and blacks is trampled under foot by the official connection and presence of three white men at the D. B. & O. Institute and the Insane Asylum for Negroes at Taft, Oklahoma.

Whereas our state educational institutions have been made a political football. thus hindering its educational progress.

Therefore be it resolved that this committee go on record condemning the act of placing these white men over and in the institutions at Taft.

Be it further resolved that we go on record favoring the elimination as far as possible our educational institutions from politics.

* * *

Whereas His Excellency President Franklin D. Roosevelt is ably attacking the economic condition of the country with almost superhuman power and intelligence, and has in a large measure succeeded.

Whereas he has become the great commoner of the people and one of the greatest of all times, therefore be it resolved that this convention highly endorse his administration and offer him fully our bit of service in the furtherance of his great endeavors.

Be it further resolved that we as Democrats, will support in the coming Democratic primary, only such candidates that stand surely and squarely with the policies of President Roosevelt.

* * *

Whereas it is not best to have a division in the Democratic ranks.

Therefore, be it resolved that we join the State Central Committee headed by Honorable O. B. Jefferson. provided that the Executive Committee of the state be increased to fifteen, and the following persons be added: C. R. Buford, Berwyn; Rev. Johnson, Idabel; Rev. Miller, Coalgate; Rev. Johnson, Lawton; and the chairmen and vice chairmen of the counties represented in this Convention become members of the State Executive Committee. E. W. Tolliver, Duncan; J. W. Sanford, Ardmore; Dr. Williamson, Members of the State Central Committee.

Party Affiliation.

ST. LOUIS, MO.
GLOBE DEMOCRAT

MAR 6 1934

Negro Democrats Form Club.

The Young Negro Democrats of St. Louis, an organization formed early in January, has launched a campaign which it is hoped will net 1000 new members. Both men and women are eligible for membership. The organization meets each Thursday night at the Pine Street Branch of the Y. M. C. A.

PITTSBURGH, PA.
PRESS

MAR 14 1934

NEGRO MAGISTRATE HEARING DEMANDED

4,000 Petition Council to Confirm Jackson

In an effort to hasten action in City Council, Charles E. Jackson, Negro, who last week was appointed a police magistrate by Mayor William N. McNair, today sought a public hearing.

Mr. Jackson and his backers hope to convince Council his appointment should be confirmed. A majority of the members already have indicated disapproval of the choice as a result of the appointee's conviction for embezzlement.

Council yesterday "received and filed" petitions of 4,000 names indorsing Mr. Jackson's appointment. The City-County Colored Democratic Organization will be represented at the hearing.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
RECORD

MAR 16 1934

PLOT IS CHARGED TO OUST NEGROES

Republican workers of the 20th ward were accused yesterday of conspiring to force Negro Democrats out of the ward.

The accusation was made by Magistrate Edward W. Henry at a hearing in his office, in which five policemen and a real estate agent were charged with perjury, false arrest and forcible entry by Mrs. Gertrude Boyer, of 930 N. Warnock st.

Mrs. Boyer was arrested with six others during a raid on her home February 24. She denied that a warrant had been shown her, and police were unable yesterday to produce the warrant. The case was continued until Saturday in order that the warrant might be produced.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL

MAR 16 1934

OLD LINE NEGRO DEMOCRATS.

To the Editor of The Courier-Journal.

The Third District Colored Democratic Organization of Louisville and Jefferson County (Incorporated) held its annual meeting on Thursday night March 8, with a full attendance. It was the most enthusiastic meeting that they have had for several months. Members from several other Democratic clubs of the city were present and made encouraging talks urging unity of action and co-operation.

Fifteen men were elected to membership and several applications were referred to the membership committee, as the law of the organization requires that one must be a registered Democrat and that one must pledge himself to support the regular nominee of the Democratic Party in order to become a member.

The annual election was held and the following were elected for the coming year:

W. W. Wilson, president; Dr. Horace Morris, first vice president; Carlyle Lively, second vice president; A. L. Garvin, secretary; J. W. Muir, assistant secretary; W. E. Johnson, treasurer; G. Clark Jefferson, organization chairman. Executive committee, Dr. Wilson Ballard and Chester Ware; membership committee, Louis Martin, Marion Tinsley and Albert Smith; ways and means committee, E. A. Grundy, Sam Stratton, Chancellor Morris, George Shaffer and D. C. McElvany; sergeant-at-arms, Hal Moore.

After the election many expressed themselves on the good of the organization and developed the idea of a city-wide campaign for members.

The aim is a club in every ward in the city.

REPORTER.

Louisville.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN

MAR 25 1934

Negro Democrats Organize

HUGO, March 24.— (Special.) — Choctaw county Negroes have formed a Negro Democrat league pledged "to support the best political platform offered."

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

MAR 24 1934

DEMOCRATS TO MEET AT PALMER SCHOOL

The Colored Democratic organization of Sangamon county is scheduled to hold a meeting tonight in Palmer school, with candidates on the Roosevelt-Horner regular organization ticket in attendance.

The organization held a meeting last night at the residence of Campbell Smith, 1414 East Brown street. Residents of the seventy-eighth precinct attended.

Addresses were made by John Payne, candidate for committeeman in that precinct, who presented George Spann as chairman. Other speakers were William J. Nattermann, candidate for sheriff; West Rourke, candidate for state representative; Harry Hawkins, chairman of the Colored Democratic organization, and J. Harold White, of the same organization.

The club met Thursday night at the home of John Young, 1119 East Reynolds street, for voters of the fourth precinct. Committeeman Harold F. Long opened the meeting. Other speakers were William J. Nattermann, for sheriff; Louis M. Gietl, for county treasurer, and J. Harold White of the Colored Democratic organization. Refreshments were served.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

MAR 25 1934

COLORED DEMOCRAT MASS MEET HELD

The Colored Democratic organization of Sangamon county had a mass meeting last night at Palmer school with more than two hundred persons present. Harry Hawkins was chairman. The following candidates of the Roosevelt-Horner Regular Democratic organization of Sangamon county spoke:

Allan Cole, for representative; West Rourke, for representative; Harry Mason, for congress; W. J. Natterman, for sheriff; Ray Stout, for county clerk; Roscoe J. Bonjean, for county judge; George H. Webb, for probate judge; Murray Duncan, for probate clerk; J. Edward Taylor, for county superintendent of school, together with Louis J. Henny, A. M. Williams and W. B. Bruce.

At the close of the meeting, the candidates went to the home of John Curtis, 1110 East Reynolds, where more than one hundred other Negro voters were assembled, and listened to talks by Messrs. Natterman, Mason, Duncan, Taylor, Williams and J. Harold White. Harold F. Long, committeeman for the fourth precinct, presided.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL
STATE JOURNAL

MAR 27 1934

Colored Democrat Club Plans Mass Meet At Riverton

Other Dates During Week Are Announced.

The Colored Democratic organization of Sangamon county with headquarters at 122 South Eleventh street will hold a mass meeting this evening at Riverton in the town hall for support of the Roosevelt-Horner regular Democratic organization candidates, at which county candidates are expected to be present.

On Thursday evening, a meeting will be held at the headquarters, 122 South Eleventh street, under auspices of the Young Colored Democratic club, of which William Marshall is president and Miss Alberta Draper is secretary.

The public is invited to attend both meetings.

On Friday evening, this organization will join at the meeting of the Roosevelt-Horner Democratic organization for John Stelle, candidate for state treasurer, and Michael Igoe, for congressman-at-large, and county candidates at the Elks club.

On Saturday evening, a meeting will be held at 2004 East Stuart street for the colored voters of the seventy-fourth precinct at which William Sidener, candidate for committeeman and county candidates will speak. This meeting has been postponed from Friday night as first planned.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
TIMES

MAR 16 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATIC CLUB IN EVERY WARD IS GOAL

"A Negro Democratic club in every city ward" was the objective Friday of a campaign launched at the annual meeting Thursday night of the Third District Colored Democratic Organization of Louisville and Jefferson County at headquarters in the Pythian Temple, Tenth and Chestnut Streets. W. W. Wilson, Negro, was elected president of the club for the new year.

Negro Democrats Attend Banquet in Leavenworth

Clipped

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. A representative number of Negro citizens was among the 500 persons who attended the Democratic banquet meeting in Abdallah Shrine temple Thursday evening, April 5.

No discrimination was practiced, the Negro Democrats receiving courteous treatment. Seated at a table near the speakers stand in the center of the hall, the colored persons were served by white waiters and waitresses.

The four candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor and many candidates for nomination to various state offices were among those who attended.

ROCHESTER, N. Y
AMERICAN

APR 8 1934

COLORED DEMOCRAT CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS IN 11TH

The Eleventh Ward Colored Democratic Club has elected the following officers: Walter Burks, president; Mrs. Cora Smith, secretary; Mrs. Stella Anderson, financial secretary; Robert Strothers, treasurer; Jeff D. Alston, sergeant-at-arms; James Jones, chairman of directors. The next meeting will be held April 18.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL
REGISTER

APR 4 1934

Colored Democrats in Buffalo Tonight

Candidates on the regular democratic organization ticket will be boosted tonight at a meeting in Buffalo sponsored by the Colored Democratic organization.

A meeting was held last night at Sherman Smith's place, 1030 East Mason street. Louis J. Henna, Chief McClain, A. Morris Williams, A. E. Rouland, Henry Williams and committeeman Clarence Holmes of precinct 3 spoke.

Another meeting was held last night at the residence of Mrs. Ida Renfro, 1607 East Mason street, with the following speakers: Harry Hawkins, Pete McCue, committeeman; Earle Williams, and J. Harold White.

Meetings are to be held every night this week, including Saturday.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

APR 2 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS PLAN MASS MEETS

The Colored Democratic organization of Sangamon county will hold a meeting tonight at the home of John Payne, 1019 South Seventeenth street for the voters of the seventy-eighth precinct. Candidates of the Roosevelt-Horner regular organization will be present and speak.

Tomorrow evening a meeting will be held at Sherman Smith's, 1030 East Mason street, for voters of the third precinct. Another meeting will be held the same evening at the residence of Mrs. Ida Renfro, 1607 East Mason street, for voters of the second precinct.

On Friday evening, a mass meeting will be held for voters of the south part of the city at Feitshans school, at which candidates of the Roosevelt-Horner regular Democratic organization will attend. A mass meeting will be held Saturday evening at the headquarters, 122 South Eleventh street, for voters of the entire city.

A large crowd of voters of the seventy-fourth and seventy-ninth precincts attended a meeting Saturday evening at the home of William Sidener, 2004 East Stuart street, for candidates of the Roosevelt-Horner regular Democratic organization, where the issues of the primary campaign were discussed by the candidates.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

APR 3 1934

Colored Democrats Will Meet Tonight

Two meetings sponsored by the Colored Democratic organization are scheduled for tonight.

Voters of Precinct 3 are invited to attend a meeting at the home of Sherman Smith, 1030 East Mason street. Voters of Precinct 2 are invited to meet at the home of Ida Renfro, 1607 East Mason street.

A meeting was held for voters of Precinct 78 last night at the home of John Payne, 1019 South Seventeenth street. Harry Hawkins presided.

Speakers included: Roscoe C. Bonjean, candidate for county judge; William J. Nattermann, for sheriff; West M. Rourke, for state representative; J. Ed Taylor, for county superintendent of schools; John Payne, candidate for committeeman in Precinct 78, and William Seidner, candidate for committeeman in Precinct 74.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
REPUBLICAN

APR 9 1934

NEGRO EXPLORER HONORED

Mathew Henson, Who Accompanied Peary to the North Pole, Speaks at Explorers Club

To the Editor of The Republican:—

At long last Mathew Henson, the chief aid of Peary in reaching the North pole, and the only other living human ever to have set foot on that part of the earth, with the possible exception of one of the Eskimos who accompanied him and Peary and who is thought to be still alive, has been honored officially by an organization of greatest authority—the Explorers club of New York city. The members of this club are the greatest explorers living amongst us, and the list includes famous names all over the earth. It is the only club of its kind.

One of its most illustrious members, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, telephoned me that he had a story for me, and invited me to come to his apartment office and talk it over with him. At last Mathew Henson was to be the guest of honor at the Explorers club, on the evening of April 3, 1934. Although Mr Stefansson kept emphasizing to me that this consummation, long desired by certain members, was not more to be credited to his advocacy than to that of many others of the white men who are members of the club, still it is very evident that this great son of the Norsemen has long deemed it an idiotic thing that one of the greatest of living explorers was not only barred by his race and color from memerbship in the club but even from being recognized by and entertained in the club.

But now they proposed to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the discovery of the North pole by Robert E. Peary, and it looked silly to do so and not invite the only civilized man who had stood at the North pole with Peary and who by all accounts was his chief dependence in the enterprise. Stefansson and others now saw their chance, and to their surprise (so he tells me) there was no objection from any quarter and Mathew Henson was invited to be the guest of honor.

The other speakers and their subjects were: Roy Chapman Andrews, "Sketch of the life of Peary"; Vilhjalmur Stefansson, "A brief outline of the history of polar quests"; Anthony Fiala, "Polar work just preceding the attainment of the North pole"; Felix Riesenberg, "Early balloon attempts to reach the North pole"; Burt M. McConnell, "The part of the airplane in polar exploration." Then after some remarks by Frank Wilbert Stokes, an artist who had accompanied Peary on two of his Far North trips, and who could bear testimony to the excellent work of Henson and to Peary's implicit confidence in his colored companion, there was the speech of the evening by Mathew Henson, "The actual attainment of the pole."

Now, just when will they get the courage to make Mathew Henson a member of the Explorers club? He won't be living long now; before many years he must go and rejoin Admiral Peary in the endless explorations along those shores from which no explorer ever returns.

WILLIAM PICKENS.

New York city, April 7, 1934.

SENTINEL

No Tarrytown

FEB 24 1934

1934 BUDGET ADOPTED FOR GREENBURGH

Despite Protests of Many Taxpayers

Supervisor Duell Assures Objectors That Levy Is Necessary To Maintain Credit of Township—Threats of Tax Strike Made—Official Salaries Again Assailed

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Councilmen of the Town of Greenburgh, held Monday morning in the board room at the Lyceum Building, the 1934 budget was passed unanimously, making the tax rate $6.54 per $1,000, which is an increase of $5.25 per $1,000 over the $1.29 rate in effect last year.

A large number of people were in attendance and protests were made by Mrs. Helen Moyer, president of the Fairview Taxpayers Association, and Henry Lyons, Negro Democratic leader of the 26th election district in the Fairview section, both charging that the salaries provided in the budget were entirely too high.

Supervisor William C. Duell stated that the salaries of the town officials had been cut to the minimum, and if all the salaries were cut 50 per cent it would only mean a 25 cent reduction in the tax rate.

When threats were made of a tax strike by a large delegation who were present, Supervisor Duell advised them "to look up the results of tax strikes, and they would learn who paid for the min the end."

Supervisor Duell stated that if the budget was not passed the schools would have to close, as the school districts are now trying to borrow, and if the budget is passed they will be able to do so; if it is not passed, and since the schools borrow on the credit of the town, they will not be able to procure the funds to operate.

A communication was read which, was signed by the presidents of the Cotswold Association, the Longview Association, the Greenville Club, the Manor Woods Association, and the Green Ridge Association, recommending that the number of assessors be reduced to one, saving $6,500; that the pay of poll clerks and inspectors of election be reduced from $10 to $7 per day, saving about $2,200; and that the $200,000 back tax collected since December 31 be deducted from the budget. In the communication the council was advised that it was believed unwise to unnecessarily increase the budget, as it might lead to tax strikes.

Mrs. Moyer declared that Supervisor Duell was drawing too high a salary, but he stated that of his $9,000 salary he was compelled to pay $1,200 for clerk hire, which actually netted him $6,700, after paying other expenditures which the taxpayers would otherwise have to pay.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

APR 5 1934

Negro Democrats Endorse W. L. Dill

Resolution Adopted at Tuesday Night's Meeting.

The Passaic County Negro Democratic league, located at 140 Governor street, at its regular meeting, April 3, on behalf of the gubernatorial candidacy of the Honorable William L. Dill, adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, it shall be both the privilege and duty of the elecorate of this state to elect a governor at the forthcoming general election; and

"Whereas, this particular office necessitates that there be selected one who has the courage of decision, the respect of all the citizenry, integrity beyond the slightest doubt of reproach, a keen perception of prevalent ills and their solution, a dutiful and judicious public administrator, irrespective of class, color or creed and a scholar and statesman; and

"Whereas, the Democratic party of the state of New Jersey has seen fit to select and offer as its candidate, a true scholar and statesman, possessed of all he requisites of this honorable office; therefore,

"Be it further resolved, that we, the members of the Passaic County Negro Democratic league, on this 28th day of March, 1934, as a token of the esteem in which we hold the Hon. William L. Dill, the Democratic candidate for governor of the state of New Jersey and so that our most humble office may proclaim to the citizenry at large our most sincere affection and respect for an honorable public servant, do most heartily endorse the candidacy of the Hon. William L Dill, and

"Be it further resolved, that we the members of the Passaic County Democratic league in furtherance of our endorsement, do announce and pledge our fullest co-operation and support in effecting a successful election of the Hon. William L. Dill, as governor of the state of New Jerey, and

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Hon. William L. Dill, and

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the public press, so that our sentiments may be fully and properly proclaimed, and

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be written at large in the minutes of this organization."

The leader of the organization the largest in Passaic county, is the Rev. George Bert Riley, pastor of the First Baptist church, Spring Valley, N. Y., who has been recently appointed a deputy collector of internal revenue by Charles V. Duffy, collector of internal revenue and Democratic chairman.

Political-1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

If Democrats Are Ready to "Dish Out" the Jobs, Colored Citizens Will Show That They Can "Take 'Em"—Bitter Battles Loom.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23—Jobs will be the deciding factor the brother will prove that he can absorb them, and the effect tion in November.

If the Democrats are prepared to "dish out" the jobs the brother will prove that he can absorb them, and the effect of his improved economic status will be registered on the side of the Democratic party.

The Democrats are out after two big posts: Oscar DePriest's seat in the United States congress and the seat in the State senate made vacant by the defeat for nomination of Adelbert H. Roberts, a Republican.

In the congressional fight, the Democrats have little more to do than to keep lined up behind Arthur Mitchell, the colored candidate endorsed, the white votes in the district. These, with the colored Democratic votes already in the Rooseveltian column, are enough to inspire the greatest confidence among party leaders.

But the State senate fight is a donkey of a different bred. There are some white votes in the Third senatorial district, but not enough to form such a ballast as those in the congressional district. Success in the senatorial battle must largely be achieved by making black Democrats out of black Republicans.

The candidates are William E. King, Republican, and Bryant Hammond, Democrat. King, though young in years, is a veteran campaigner, who has won all his political battles save one in the last fifteen years. Hammond, prominent business man and civic worker, is taking his first bath in fire at the hands of the voters.

Ten years ago, a Democrat would scarcely have raised his voice in the district which was then 90 per cent Republican. But times have changed. The Democratic strength in the district today is conservatively estimated at between 35 and 40 per cent.

Some Democratic leaders have been reluctant to talk jobs for the Negroes because they could not think the fact that the district still returns Republican majorities. Negro Democratic leaders have sought to impress upon them that these majorities are dwindling and that the thing for the men who control the jobs to do is not to be stubborn and insist that the Negro must prove he is a Democrat first.

Up until now, the Republicans throughout the years, have kept busy watching and fighting one another. The day has arrived when they must exercise all their vigilance to protect themselves from the strategic onslaughs of the sable Democrats, backed by the cash jobs and ingenious devices controled by the Democratic party.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

DEC 7 1934

Colored Democrats Of County Organized

On Wednesday evening the Roosevelt Colored Democratic league of Passaic county was organized with headquarters at 1 Arch street. The officers elected were the following: Walter Barbour, president; Mrs. Marie Nash, first vice-president; John Steppe, second vice-president; Mrs Sarah Mason, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen Barbour, financial secretary; Mrs. Helena Pellington, assistant financial secretary; Rev. G. B. Riley, treasurer. The trustees are as follows: Walter Barbour, John Steppe, Edward Mishaw, George B. Riley, Marie Nash, Carrie Ali, Sarah Mason.

Committees appointed were the following: Social, Mrs. Helen Barbour, chairman; Mrs. Marjorie Jenido, Mrs. Carrie Ali, Edward Mishaw, Henry Brown, Earl Taylor, Mrs. Sarah Peete, Mrs. Elizabeth Driver. Membership: Charles Brown, Harry Johnson, Raymond Abdel. Sick: Mrs. Maria Mason Mrs. Julia Randio, Mrs. Sarah Smith. House: Earl Taylor, Marcel Earl.

All officers were duly installed. First and third Wednesday of each month will be regular meeting nights. The newly organized Fourth ward colored Democratic club of 20 Straight street will hold their installation of officers this evening at 9 o'clock. Rev. George B. Riley, standard bearer of the Passaic County Negro Democratic league is also organizer and leader of the new organizations.

BUFFALO, N. Y.
NEWS

DEC 8 1934

NEGRO VOTERS PRAISED FOR DEMOCRATIC SWING

Negro voters were lauded for what was termed a swing to the Democratic party in the last election by speakers at a dinner to Senator-elect David F. Doyle and Assemblyman-elect Bert Fischer in Hotel Vendome Friday evening sponsored by the Square Deal Colored Democratic association.

Clarence B. Maloney was toastmaster. Gifts to Mr. Doyle and Mr Fischer were presented by Andrew Jackson Smitherman, editor of the Buffalo Star. The dinner was planned by Lansing E. Johnson president of the Square Deal association, and Edward V. Bennett business manager.

Party Affiliation.

President Roosevelt Host to Harvard Classmates at the White House

Top photo (arrow), shows President and Mrs. Roosevelt as they came on porch of White House to greet his Harvard classmates after entire group had been received inside. All members of 1904 class and their families were invited. Lower photo, guests on left and right wings of porch as group photographs were taken. Arrows, left to right, James G. Wolf, Boston, lawyer; T. G. Williams, assistant principal at manual training school, Bordentown, N.J.; Carrington L. Davis, vice-principal of Douglass High School, Baltimore; and William R. Valentine, principal at manual training school, Bordentown, N.J. The grads and their families dined, talked and hob-nobbed on the White House grounds for nearly two hours. There were six colored members of the 1904 class present with their families.

PATERSON, N. J.

CALL

APR 21 1934

Negro Democrats of County Hold Meeting

The Passaic County Negro Democratic league with headquarters, 140 Governor street, held a very enthusiatstic meeting last evening. Henry Moone, first vice-presdient presided. Reports on registration was made by Andrew King, second vice-president and Miss Sallie Griffin. Fifteen new registrants closed the drive on the last day. A stearing committee consisting of the following: Clarence Peter, chairman; Miss Alice Wilson, Stepher Hall, Hurley Cot and Harold Griffin were apponited by the Standard bearer to push a house to house canvas leading to primary election.

Lawyer Edward H. Saltman was unanimously endorsed by the organization as their candidate for alderman of the Fourth ward also Rev. George B. Riley, the Standard bearer for justice of peace.

The organization opens a vigerous campaign to help elect all the candidates on the primary of May.

Organize First Negro Democratic Club In Jasper County, Missouri

Argus

JOPLIN, Mo. May 2 — The recently chartered Out State Negro Democratic Club, Inc., with headquarters at Jefferson City organized the first Negro Democratic Club in Jasper County here last Friday night. Following a Jefferson Day program at Handy Chapel, a 150-plate banquet and installation of officers of the new club were held at The Colored Citizens Hall. Officers installed by W. G. Rosley, president of the Out State Club were Pres., R. W. Stennett; V. P., M. Stephens; Secty., Rev. A. C. Harper, and Treas., A. Anderson.

The guest speaker at the banquet was Hon. Chas. S. Bettes, Deputy Sheriff of Sedgewich County, Kansas, and National President of the Young Negro Democratic Clubs of America. Other visiting speakers were Fred W. Ferguson, Sedalia undertaker; James Morton, mail dispatcher, and Arthur Edwards, Lincoln U. Senior. Representative Claycomb of Jasper County made the welcoming speech.

The Out Negro State Democratic Club was organized Jan. 18 and a charter issued April 7th. It now has more than 200 names on its roster. Twenty-five counties are represented in the membership.

Party Affiliation.

President Roosevelt Host to Harvard Classmates at the White House

Top photo (arrow), shows President and Mrs. Roosevelt as they came on porch of White House to greet his Harvard classmates after entire group had been received inside. All members of 1904 class and their families were invited. Lower photos, guests on left and right wings of porch as group photographs were taken. Arrows, left to right, James G. Wolf, Boston, lawyer; T. [illegible] Williams, assistant principal at manual training school, Bordentown, N.J.; Carrington L. Davis, vice-principal of Douglass High School, Baltimore; and William R. Valentine, principal at manual training school, Bordentown, N.J. The grads and their families dined, talked and hob-nobbed on the White House grounds for nearly two hours. There were six colored members of the 1904 class present with their families.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL
APR 27 1934

Negro Democrats of County Hold Meeting

The Passaic County Negro Democratic league with headquarters, 140 Governor street, held a very enthusiatstic meeting last evening. Henry Moone, first vice-presdient presided. Reports on registration was made by Andrew King, second vice-president and Miss Sallie Griffin. Fifteen new registrants closed the drive on the last day. A stearing committee consisting of the following: Clarence Peter, chairman; Miss Alice Wilson, Stepher Hall, Hurley Cot and Harold Griffin were apponited by the Standard bearer to push a house to house canvas leading to primary election.

Lawyer Edward H. Saltman was unanimously endorsed by the organization as their candidate for alderman of the Fourth ward also Rev. George B. Riley, the Standard bearer for justice of peace.

The organization opens a vigerous campaign to help elect all the candidates on the primary of May.

Organize First Negro Democratic Club In Jasper County, Missouri

Argus

JOPLIN, Mo. May 2 — The recently chartered Out State Negro Democratic Club, Inc., with headquarters at Jefferson City organized the first Negro Democratic Club in Jasper County here last Friday night. Following a Jefferson Day program at Handy Chapel, a 150-plate banquet and installation of officers of the new club were held at The Colored Citizens Hall. Officers installed by W. G. Rosley, president of the Out State Club were Pres., R. W. Stennett; V. P., M. Stephens; Secty., Rev. A. C. Harper, and Treas., A. Anderson.

The guest speaker at the banquet was Hon. Chas. S. Bettes, Deputy Sheriff of Sedgewich County, Kansas, and National President of the Young Negro Democratic Clubs of America. Other visiting speakers were Fred W. Ferguson, Sedalia undertaker; James Morton, mail dispatcher, and Arthur Edwards, Lincoln U. Senior. Representative Claycomb of Jasper County made the welcoming speech.

The Out Negro State Democratic Club was organized Jan. 18 and a charter issued April 7th. It now has more than 200 names on its roster. Twenty-five counties are represented in the membership.

Young Negro Democrats Endorse Bond Issues

At the meeting of the Young Negro Democratic Club last Tuesday night it was unanimously agreed to support the entire program of the city and state in the coming bond election. No action was taken on the proposed school bond issue because of the indefinite stand taken by the Board of Education concerning the Vocational Training School for race pupils.

The club members enjoyed refreshments and games of cards before and atfer the business meeting. They will meet again next Tuesday night at 122 N. Channing Ave. Both men and women are invited to attend.

DEMOCRATS TOLD TO KEEP ABREAST OF THE TIMES

New Recorder of Deeds Tells Local Club to Read Congressional Record

The Allied Colored Democratic Club of Washington was told to "get acquainted with what's going on" when members of the organization visited the office of Dr. William J. Thompkins, newly appointed recorder of deeds, Tuesday noon.

Dr. Thompkins also told the group that it ought to "at least get a copy of the Congressional Record in order to know what the government is doing."

"The office is half legislated out of existence. You have an organization and you don't know what's going on up in congress. You are not connected with the national organization. If you carry the name, make it worthy," he arrested.

Welcomed by Howard

Mack D. Rowe, organizer of the Allied Democratic Club, was the spokesman for the group and introduced James H. Howard, chairman of the organization. Mr. Howard extended a welcome to Dr. Thompkins on behalf of the Democrats of the District.

Dr. Thompkins in responding urged the members to use pressure to keep the appointment of the recorder out of the hands of the District commissioners.

Those in the group included besides Mr. Howard and Mr. Rowe, Attorney John H. Clinton, Attorney Brooks T. Sanders, a candidate for assistant U.S. attorney; Mrs. J. E. Gray, J. D. Williams, Lewis A. Johnson and M. Pope.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

MAY 3 1934

Negro Democrats of Passaic County Meet

Passaic County Negro Democratic League, with headquarters at 140 Governor street, held its regular weekly meeting last evening. In the absence of the president, Jacob Holmes; Harry Moore, first vice-president. Reports showing splendid accomplishments were made by the following: Clarence Pete, for the steering committee; William Hogan, for the house; Steve Hall, for the membership, and Miss Alice Wilson for the entertainment. Primary workers assigned to districts 1, 2 4 and 6, of the Fourth ward, reported results of their canvass.

Special instructions relative to the primary was given by the standard bearer, Rev. George Bert Riley. The name of the Roosevelt Regular organization candidates were posted for special attention of the members with that of the standard bearer, Rev. Riley, as justice of the peace of the Fourth ward. An extraordinary mass meeting for next Tuesday was arranged. The leader of the Fourth ward, George Dimond, and the aldermanic candidate, Edward H. Saltzman, will be the special guests. A most cordial invitation is extended to all Democrats and their friends. Refreshments will be served.

TAMPA, FLA.
TRIBUNE

MAY 7 - 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS INQUIRE

TAMPA.—Hon. Cary A. Landis, Attorney General, Tallahassee, Honorable sir: I am addressing you this open letter, for an opinion on the legal status of negro Democrats voting in the June coming primary. I happen to be the chairman of the negro democracy of this state. According to an opinion by the county Supervisor of Registration negroes can register as Democrats but will not be allowed to vote in the June primary. That's why we are calling on you for an opinion so we will know our legal standing.

During the last national campaign other members as well as myself, who represent the negro democracy of this state worked hard to elect all Democrats to office from Constable to President. I thank God that we were able to build up a strong party that helped elect Franklin D. Roosevelt President, who has created the new deal, and is now being hailed as one among the greatest Presidents since Lincoln.

The new deal means all men up and none down. It was a strange thing to see a negro Democrat a few years ago but not so today. The negro thought he was Republican by birth, but today thousands are listed as Democrats, receiving endorsements for appointments for positions in our national government from Democrats in the south as well as in the north. As you know negroes vote in Democratic primaries in several southern states. Why not Florida? Virginia the cradle of Democracy and the nest of wisdom of this great nation has recognized the negro in this long awaited capacity. The democracy of Florida should do no less. Among our group are war veterans, who are still suffering from wounds. Will it be said of Florida that the enemy of this country a few years ago has mere political privileges, since coming to this country, than we black Americans who have always remained true to the Stars and Stripes; on our lips will always be our country's national anthem?

DEWEY A. RICHARDSON.

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y.
ADVANCE

MAY 8 1934

Negro Democrats Plan Reunion of All Factions

A REUNION of Negro political forces on Staten Island, split since the November, 1933, elections, will be sought at a meeting tomorrow night, at which delegates from all factions will get together at Democratic Headquarters, 292 Van Duzer street, Stapleton.

Phoenix B. Armstrong, president of the Richmond Borough Colored Democracy, Inc., the club that has been recognized as "regular" in the Democratic ranks, has called this meeting. According to Armstrong, factional differences already have been ironed out, and tomorrow night's meeting is merely a formality to put the agreement into effect.

Armstrong for more than ten years has been looked upon by the Democratic forces as leader among the Negro voters. With the split between Commissioner David S. Rendt and former Borough President John A. Lynch, however, the colored voters also broke into factions.

"All factions will come together now," Armstrong said today, "under the Richmond Borough Colored Democracy banner. We have had preliminary meetings at which all factions have agreed to come together. They will do that tomorrow night when we will elect an executive committee of the club that will represent all factions."

The Staten Island Colored Voters League, the group that broke away from the organization to support Lynch, has expressed willingness to come back into the ranks, according to Armstrong. Another group of Negro voters, that followed the Fusionists in the last campaign, also will reunite, he predicted.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

APR 24 1934

NEGROES PLAN MEETING HERE

Political Group to Hold State Convention May 12.

Iowa Negro Democrats will meet in state convention in Des Moines May 12, it was announced Monday.

The call for the convention followed a special meeting of the Roosevelt Negro Democratic club, according to Quentin Mease, president of the Des Moines organization.

Committeemen and workers throughout the state are being notified of the meeting, he said.

The next meeting of the club will be at the Negro Community center, Wednesday, May 2.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

MAR 10 193

Colored Democrat Club Will Open Headquarters

Headquarters of the Colored Democratic voters, who are supporting the Roosevelt-Horner organization ticket of candidates, will be formally opened tonight at 122 South Eleventh street. All voters are requested to attend.

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y.
ADVANCE

MAY 11 1934

Colored Democracy Forms New Club

The Richmond Borough Colored Democracy, representing a merger of the three Negro factions on Staten Island, is forming a Young Colored People's Democratic Club.

William Lambert, chairman of the advisory board of the senior group, conducted a meeting of the board at his home, 43 Van Duzer street, last night to plan the new organization.

Three hundred young men and women of the Negro race on the Island are eligible for membership, Lambert said.

WHEELING, W. VA.
REGISTER

OCT 25 1934

G. O. P. OF 1864 NOT LIKE TODAY

Negro Democratic Leader Addresses 300 In Wheeling High Hall.

I. J. K. Wells, state president of the West Virginia Negro Democratic clubs, told an audience of 300 in the Wheeling high school auditorium last night that Republican politicians of today cannot be compared with those of Abraham Lincoln's day. The rally was sponsored by the Ohio County Negro Democratic club.

The negroes have always felt themselves indebted to the Republican party because it was the party of Lincoln," he said, "but the Republicans of Lincoln's time were far above those in office now."

Wells continued with a discussion of what the present Democratic administration has done for the negroes of West Virginia. Other speakers at the rally were Thomas F. Gavin, Democratic nominee for county commissioner, and Stephen Russek and Jack R. Adams, candidates for the house of delegates. A five-piece orchestra provided music during the rally.

Democratic.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS

OCT 1 1934

Stafford and Neilley Scheduled to Speak at Negro Democratic Club

The United Colored Democratic Club will open its new headquarters at 272 Chestnut Street this evening. Acting County Chairman Bernard Stafford and Vice-Chairman Robert J. Neilley, of Passaic, are expected to be present to address the members. Anthony V. Gross, Mrs. Anna Gilmore, candidates for re-election to the Assembly, and Dr. Frank Van Noort, candidate for Congress, are also scheduled to speak.

There will be a sociable at the clubrooms on Thursday evening. John Wallen, the president, has extended a general invitation for all Democratic clubs of the City to participate in the party.

READING, PA.
TIMES

SEP 26 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS TO HEAR CANDIDATES

Gather Tonight at River Road Clubhouse

E. D. Hamilton, president of the Colored Democratic club, 104 River st., has called a meeting for tonight at 8.30 o'clock. This is the only Negro voters' club in the city and county and officers are confident of a large attendance. Candidates and party leaders will speak.

Additions will be made to standing committees of the club at this meeting, Hamilton said last night. A feature of the session will be appointment of a large committee to represent the club at the Democratic outing at the Fair Grounds Saturday.

The first two city registration days brought a large increase in number of Negro voters on the books, due to the club's activities, officers declare.

The committee in charge of enrollment is made up of Mrs. Carrie Nelson, Myrtle Cahman, Caroline Bland, Gertrude Davis, Elizabeth Call, Catharine Banks, Ralph Perrod, Dane Bryant, Alexander Cook, Walter Bland, Eddie Burton and Howard Oxenford.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT

OCT 2 1934

Colored Democratic Meeting.

The postponed meeting of the Colored Democratic Club will be held tonight at 8:15 o'clock at 236 Bellevue Street. Edward J. Daly, Democratic nominee for State Attorney General, and other speakers will address the meeting.

WHEELING, W. VA.
REGISTER

SEP 29 1934

NEGROES FOR HOLT

From the Parkersburg Sentinel

The West Virginia Negro State Democratic league in session at Charleston a few days ago endorsed unanimously Rush D. Holt, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, and the party's entire state ticket. One doesn't need to be very old to recall the time when there were not enough Democratic Negroes in the Mountain State to form a league to hold a meeting. The colored man has learned, however that the Republican politician is not his friend. That was an old Civil war tradition

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

SEP 29 1934

Dill Colored Club To Open Headquarters

Dill for Governor Colored club with headquarters at 20 Straight street will be officially opened this evening. John E. Walton of the Hudson Speakers' bureau will be the principal speaker. Buffet supper will be served. Democrats of other clubs are invited. Richard Lee, the president, will preside.

CHARLESTON, W. VA
GAZETTE

SEP 15 1934

Negro Democratic Club To Meet at Courthouse

Bishop T. C. Glashen of Beckley, Dr. S. T. Bamfield of Logan and D. W. Ambrose of Huntington are to be among the speakers at the meeting of the Negro Democratic club at two o'clock this afternoon at the court house.

James M. Mason will give the address of welcome and Dr. J. D. Gibson of Logan, the response. All Democratic candidates have been extended an invitation.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

SEP 26 1934

TALKS GIVEN BY DEMOCRATS

McEniry, Hanson Outline Policies to Negro Club.

Prominent Polk county Democrats addressed the Negro Roosevelt Democratic club at the Negro Community center, Fifteenth and Crocker streets Tuesday night.

Dan McEniry, candidate for sheriff, and the Rev. Joseph Hanson, candidate for clerk of district court, outlined their policies. Mrs. George W. Richter, county Democratic chairwoman, explained the women's organization within the county.

Quentin Mease presided.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
OKLAHOMAN

SEP 16 1934

PARTIES PLAN TO FIRE FIRST GUNS IN WEEK

Rallies to Be Held Soon To Stir Interest in State Ballot Appeals.

By OBSERVER

The general election campaign has emerged from the preliminary stages and this week will find both E. W. Marland, Democratic nominee for governor, and W. B. Pine, Republican nominee, in the field campaigning.

Political leaders expect the campaign to arouse public attention by October 1, and both parties will offer their best in the October campaigning before the general election, November 6.

Marland will open a drive in the eighth district at Perry and Alva Monday, and will formally open his state campaign at Ardmore a week later, September 24. Pine is billed for a "Pine day" rally at Chandler next Saturday, which may be classed as his campaign opening.

Ferguson to Get Aid

Both parties will put their best speakers into the campaign. Democrats are paying particular attention to the eighth district where party efforts will be doubled in the effort to elect Phil Ferguson, Woodward, to congress over T. J. Sargent, Newkirk, Republican.

The campaign has rocked along for almost two months since the primaries with the only activity shown in organization and convention work. Both parties are attempting to perfect organizations that will reach to the precinct.

To the average dopester and man on the street the question is: "Will Pine gather sufficient strength to make it interesting?"

Campaign developments alone will bring the answer. The Republicans have laid the ground work for a vigorous campaign. Evidently a better organization than usual is being prepared to form the backbone of the vote drive. Pine's candidacy has been widely advertised by signs along the highways, indicating the minority party means business.

Other Bolts Are Forecast

Yet the Republicans have not developed a trend of sentiment to endanger the normal Democratic majority.

C. C. Hawk, Republican chairman, promises plenty of developments in the campaign in the next two weeks. He is forecasting further bolts.

The Republican strategy will be to place Marland on the defensive. The G. O. P. will attack his business relations with the state and attempt to keep him answering charges, it is indicated. The administration of relief will be one point for them to hammer upon.

The Democratic strategy is to hold the party's normal advantage, and be prepared in case the Republican campaign should catch the crest of public sentiment.

The Democrats will play upon the fact that Frank Anderson, Okmulgee Negro, is on the Republican ticket as the nominee for corporation commissioner. Incidentally, the failure of Republican leaders to obtain his withdrawal is one of the question marks of the campaign. Hawk and the others would like to have him off the ticket, although Democrats are charging Pine wants him to remain on the ballot as a bid for Negro votes.

Hawk Not to Vote for Him

Hawk denied that he would vote for the Negro if he remains on the ticket.

"No sir," he said. "I'm not going to vote for him. I didn't help put him on the ticket either."

In addition to Marland speaking next week, Senators T. P. Gore and Elmer Thomas will aid in the campaign. Scott Ferris, national committeeman, and W. W. Hastings, congressman, will aid the party headquarters in directing the campaign. Marland's speech at Alva Monday night will be before a rally of young Democrats.

Republican leaders billed for speeches include A. Langley Coffey, leader of the Young Republicans; Cleo Wilson, Norman, and George A. Hutchinson, Enid, state senator.

SOCIALISTS ADOPT SLOGAN OF SINCLAIR'S CAMPAIGN

While the major parties are sparring in preliminaries before the actual campaigning gets under way, the Socialists have adopted the slogan of Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee for governor in California, to start an EPIO (End Poverty in Oklahoma).

Edgar Clemons, state secretary, said five all-day mass meetings will be held to introduce Oklahoma voters to

STAMFORD, CONN.
ADVOCATE

SEP 19 1934

POLITICS

Colored Jeffersonian Club

A get-together meeting of the executive committees of the Colored Jeffersonian Democratic Club and the Colored Democratic Club (West Side) was held at the Astoria Hotel, Monday evening, Sept. 8. Representatives of the Colored Democratic Club attended by invitation from Hubert A. Noville, chairman of the executive committee of the Colored Jeffersonian Club. Among those present were Hubert A. Noville, Vilana Harbrook, Christopher Reed, and John Wilson, representing the Jeffersonian, and Harry H. Williams, Brody Higgs and Mrs. Lucy Johnson, representing the West Side Club. The meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic. Mr. Noville presided.

the EPIO Socialist plan.

Meetings will be held at Elk City Tuesday; Chickasha, Thursday; Okemah, Friday; Bristow, Saturday, and Carnegie, September 26. The speakers are S. P. Green, Socialist candidate for governor; Fred D. Warren, Girard, Kan., former editor of the Socialist weekly, "The Appeal to Reason," and Oscar Ameringer, Oklahoma City.

"Although we are using the Sinclair slogan, our program goes much farther than that he proposed," said Clemons. "Fortunately, the Oklahoma constitution permits the state to enter any business whatsoever, and that is exactly what we propose to do."

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE
SEP 26 1934

Johnson to Address Negro Democrat Club

Thomas M. Johnson, jr., president of the Randolph County Negro Democratic club, will deliver the principal address at a raily of Negro Democrats Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock in Glen Rogers, Wyoming county, it was announced yesterday by Robert H. Kidd, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Holt-for-U. S. senate campaign committee.

Negro voters from various parts of the Southern West Virginia coal fields will participate. Mr. Johnson who is a graduate of West Virginia State college and who has his master's degree from Ohio State university has been active in advancing the candidacy of Mr. Holt among members of his race.

Arrangements for the rally were completed by Henry Clay of Pineville, chairman of the Wyoming County Democratic executive committee.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE
SEP 17 1934

Negro Democratic Quarters Opened

David S. Ware, Fayette, Named Campaign Head; Meeting Tonight

Chairman I. J. K. Wells of the Negro state executive committee announced last night the opening of headquarters at the Ferguson hotel, from where the Negro state Democratic campaign committee will function under direction of David S. Ware of Fayette county.

Invitation is extended to all Negro Democrats in Charleston and vicinity to attend a smoker tonight at the headquarters, following which plans for formally launching the fall drive under the slogan, "Elect Every Democratic Candidate", will be announced.

To Organize State

An executive council composed of one representative from every county in the state in which Negroes reside, will work with Director Ware in formulating and conducting details of the campaign.

Ware said "Every Negro is considered a potential Democrat and their demonstration of favor to the new order is attested to by the huge turnover during the last year. We intend to contract every voter and to carry this fight into every county and precinct with the intention of joining together for a common cause the greatest number of Negroes in the history of the state.

"With a minumim amount of deflection within our ranks, the Negro state executive committee has cause for rejoicing as a result of disaffection among a recalcitrant group of independent Negro Democrats, a large number of whom have voluntarily tendered their offer of support to the committee under their adopted slogan, "Elect Every Democratic Candidate". The committee invites every Negro Democratic voter in the state to unite with them in this effort."

Smith Visits Here

Lloyd G. Smith of Huntington, treasurer, was in Charleston Friday, conferring with members of the committee on matters pertaining to the campaign.

Because Director Ware will be engaged in field activities for the next two weeks, George Scott of Beckley and William Holmes of Bluefield have been placed in charge of headquarters details until October 1. R. T. Jordan, former editor of a local Negro newspaper, has been selected as publicity director for the campaign.

All persons visiting headquarters tonight and hereafter are requested to register with the secretary or clerk.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
JOURNAL-POST & EXPRESS
SEP 24 1934

Organizer Confers With City Democrats

Representing more than 10,000 Negro voters of the state, Vann H. Scott, executive secretary of the newly-organized Consolidated Democracy of New York State, was in Rochester today conferring with Democratic leaders.

Scott is on his way to Buffalo for the Democratic state convention, opening there Wednesday. With Dr. Albert E. Pearlman, secretary of the Iroquois Club and one of the principal organizers of the new association, Scott launched a membership campaign in this territory.

State Democrats Urge Passage of Wagner-Costigan Anti-Lynching Bill In Their Party Platform

Buffalo, N. Y.—Going to Buffalo to the Democratic State Convention, September 26-27, as the first State Committeemen in the history of the State, Dr. Godfrey Nurse, from the 19th Assembly District and Assistant District Attorney Thomas B. Dyett from the 21st Assembly District more than justified the confidence of their constituents. Without ballyhoo or publicity these two Committeemen, together with Attorney Richard E. Carey, delegate from the 22nd Assembly District, and Bertram L. Baker delegate from the 17th Assembly District of Kings County, campaigned through the Statler Hotel for two days and nights, and procured the insertion of a plank in the platform of their party advocating the passage of the Wagner-Costigan Anti-Lynching Bill.

Resolutions had been rejected from veteran's organizations, women's clubs, labor organizations and many others, but the drive started for the anti-lynching plank by these stalwart men could not be sidetracked. This reporter saw them flying from one floor to the other of the Statler Hotel, interviewing Senator Wagner who gave enthusiastic support to the measure; storming the office of William J. O'Shea Jr., chairman of the Platform Committee, and keeping up a continual barrage until Chairman Farley himself was reached, and having obtained his approval, the battle seemed won. But even after his assurance had been received these men carried on until 3 o'clock Thursday morning when the Hon. George Gordon Battle, who had been working with them definitely assured them that the plank was in the stay.

Minnie J. Abel Joins Fight

Mrs. Minnie J. Abel of the 17 Assembly District of Kings County, on whose ticket Bertram L. Baker was elected a delegate, when approached for her support, jumped into the fight with whole hearted interest and before long the signatures of her entire delegation were affixed to a strong endorsement of the measure.

Others who gave their support were Alderman Charles Bradford from the 19th, Joyce Bushel co-leader from the 21st., and William McIntosh, also James J. Hines of the 11th, John J. Kelly of the 22nd Andrew B. Keating of the 13th, Congressman Gavagan, and assistant District Attorney Irving Mendelson.

When interviewed in his suite at the Hotel Lafayette, Dr. Nurse said he was happy over the result. Mr. Dyett said that he hoped that the example and courage of the Democrats in this state would be followed by both Republicans and Democrats in other States. Mr. Carey questioned in his suit adjoining Mr. Dyett's at the Statler said that it was the beginning of a new day. Mr. Baker of Kings County stated that as the first colored delegate to have the honor of representing the voters of his district he felt greatly pleased to have been able to contribute his efforts toward such a worthy and important measure.

The plank reads as follows:

"We urge Congress to enact the Wagner-Costigan Anti-lynching bill."

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE
SEP 16 1934

Negro League Endorses Holt

C. E. Kimbrough, Sr., Made Chairman of Campaign; Others Elected

Rush D. Holt, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, and the party's entire state ticket were endorsed unanimously at a meeting of the West Virginia Negro State Democratic league at the Kanawha county court house yesterday. C. E. Kimbrough, sr., Charleston attorney, was elected chairman of the league for the November election campaign.

On the campaign committee were appointed C. W. Dickerson, Kanawha county: Mrs. Lucy M. Froe of Harrison county, and D. W. Ambrose of Cabell county.

The meeting was addressed by several prominent persons, including R. H. Kidd, representing Mr. Holt; Charles E. Barnett of the state auditor's office; William Easly of the state board of control; Dr. J. M. Bamfield of Logan, and James M. Mason, III, of Charleston.

The league elected the following officers:

Mr. Kimbrough, chairman; Bishop Glashen, first vice chairman; Mrs. J. Jean Bays, Logan county, second vice chairman; W. B. Fox, Cabell county, third vice chairman; E. L. James, Kanawha county, secretary; A. L. Trigg, Mingo county, assistant secretary; L. D. Dawson, Mingo county, corresponding secretary; Dr. R. G. Warren, Pocahontas county, treasurer; Ashby Grayson, Harrison county, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Froe, Harrison county, in charge of women's activities.

McAlester Demos Start Activities

Black Dispatch

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 11.—Negro Democrats of Pittsburgh county have opened headquarters on E. Choctaw avenue, under the leadership of Walter Seward, county chairman. Steward has been in conference with O. B. Jefferson, chairman of the Negro Democratic Central Committee, and is working in harmony with Jefferson.

Prominent in the headquarters is a bulletin board on which is displayed the recent editorials of the Black Dispatch, in support of the Marland candidacy. Appended under the bulletins is the inscription, "By Our Own Roscoe Dunjee."

"I think the editorials published weekly in the columns of the Black Dispatch are having great effect upon the citizens of Pittsburg county, and I presume they are having like effect all over Oklahoma," declared Steward.

The headquarters is also enthusiastic over the candidacy of Judge E. P. Hill, who is the Democratic nominee for the legislature from Pittsburgh county.

Other officers in the headquarters are L. N. Neal, treasurer, and Mrs. J. W. Price, secretary.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

Plan To Exhaust Every Legal Remedy Before They Accept Defeat

Houston Chronicle 7-14-34

HOUSTON.—Members of the Harris County Negro Democratic Club, through their president, Julius White, filed suit in the District Court of Harris County, Tusday, to compel Albert Townsend, county clerk, to issue absentee ballots to Negroes, especially Julius White, the movant.

The petition alleges that Clerk Townsend has, arbitrarily and without justification, refused to comply with Articles 2955 and 2956 of the in the county six months, and have a poll tax receipt are qualified to vote; and that when such elector or voter presents himself and receipt to the county clerk, the clerk SHALL give him an absentee ballot.

Negroes say that Albert Townsend voluntarily went to the officers of the Harris County Democratic Executive Committee to get a copy of a spurious resolution purporting to bar Negroes from the Democratic primary elections of Harris County, and announced that he was going to bar Negroes under that resolution. His office is notorious among Negroes as the most hostile to Negro visitors in the Court House.

Attorney J. M. Nabrit, who is the official legal representative of the Club and who has shaped the policy and line of procedure, pointed out that mandamus lies in the State court to require an officer to perform any act about which he has no discretion. The statute says when an elector comes the clerk shall give him the ballot and it makes no provision for the hearing in the 80th Court Monday morning at 9 a. m. before Judge Roy Campbell. It is years since Negroes went into the District Court of Harris County. Somehow, they have imagined there was too much political pressure, but there are those who believe our district judges have the courage to follow the law.

It seems that this is but the first gun in what bids fair to be a real war. Probably, before this story is off the press, a damage suit will be filed against Albert Townsend and his bondsmen. It is also planned to file suit in both the Federal and State courts against John "Shorty" Lubbock and his committee. Without doubt, Negroes in Harris County will also file hundreds of damage suits against registrars and all who interfere with their voting.

Negroes of Harris County feel particularly outraged because they think it is a double insult for them to be thus mistreated when Negroes of Dallas and San Antonio are bing encouraged to vote. It looks like the diehard Democrats will have plenty fun riding this horse. If the court doesn't stop them, their whole election may be declared void later. Attorney Nabrit says they will exhaust every remedy.

PATERSON, N. J.

CALL

JUL 6 1934

Negro Democrats Plan Social Events

Passaic County Negro Democratic league of 77 Twelfth avenue, and Billy Dill club have arranged many social events in order to boost the Dill campaign among colored voters of the State. Plans are complete for the bus ride to Asbury Park Saturday night, July 14. The bus will leave Governor street at 8:30 p. m., and return 6:00 a. m. Sunday. Two large streamers "Bill Dill for Governor" are being prepared for the bus. Friends interested in Judge Dill's campaign are requested to get in touch with Rev. Geo. B. Riley, Democratic leader and assist in making these efforts a success. The league holds its meetings every Tuesday evening at 77 Twelfth avenue and Bill Dill's club every other Wednesday evening at 19 North Main street.

COLORED DEMOCRATS EMPLOY HOPKINS, KRAVITCH JACKSON

Savannah Journal 7-21-34

MR. KRAVITCH DECLARES THE NEGRO AND JEW ARE BOTH DEPRESSED.

Savannah, Ga.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Colored Democratic Club of Chatham County was held at St. Phillip A. M. E. Church on Monday, July 16. Attornes Aaron Kravitch and W. H. Hopkins spoke on our rights and our methods to secure these rights.

The meetings was opened with prayer by Mr. Romeo Smith. The president, Mr. T. J. Hopkins, Jr., spoke on the reasons or purpose of organizinga Democratic Club.

1. That the eqclusion of colored voters from the Democratic primary is illegal. 2. That the Constitution of the United States gvies you the right to vote in the primary. 3. That the colored people of Texas won their fight for the right to vote in the primary. 4. That our lowly position in our community is due to the lack of vote in the primary. 5. That our children have only one decent public school building and that is over crowded.

We constitute about 45 per cent of the population of the city of Savannah and we do not have any member on any official board in our formal government. The foreign element is 10 per cent. to 15 per cent of the people of our city. The fight is not only a fight of the colored Democrats, but a fight of every colored citizen.

Attorney Kravitch, who followed Mr. Hopkins on the platform, said the Republican party is less than 10 per cent. of the population in the South. The Democratic party in the North and South offers more to us than any other party. We rae living in the South, therefore we must be Democrats in order to gain our rightful place in the community. We will have to assert ourselves legally, peacefully and quietly to get our rights.

As soon as the Firteenth Amendment was passed the Southern states began to pass laws to get around that amendment and keep the Negroes from getting equal rights. Now we have no voice in the local affairs. If we had a man like Hitler in office and who said we are not going to have any more schools, city doctors, we would have to accept it. He told us to meet the issue fairly and squarely. If we have the courage and manhood we will not lose. the fight would have to go to the United States Supreme Court before a finfial decision is reached. Our expenses will be at least $1,500.

In comparing the Negroes and the Jews, Mr. Kravitch said: "That Negroes and Jews belong to the minority group and even both oppressed, but that Jews had representatives in the courts, and in political offices and also money, but the Negro had neither.

"The Fifteenth Amendment is our only weapon. We have only one colored officer, two doctors and only a few other people working for the city. The lawyers, doctors and all other business and professional people must forget whether they are Republicans or Democrats and make a united front. We must have faith. There was wild aplause as Attorney Kravitch took his seat.

A few remarks were made by Prof. T. N. Roberts. He told us we must have some type of representative in our government. We must support any good movement whose purpose is for the benefit of the people.

He said further that we had tried religion to raise us in the community and it had failed us; we had tried education and it had done likewise and at least we should be willing to give the ballot a try now and if that fail we should leave America.

Savannah Ga. Journal 7-21-34

Attorney W. H. Hopkins then analyzed our legal attack and the methods that would be used by our attorneys in their fight. He gave us the cost of seeing the fight through the United States Supreme Court to be at least fifteen hundred dollars and he detailed how this money would be spent. He asked the audience if they would not be willing to pay ten thousand dollars to see our rights protected and to give our children their rights and privileges as guaranteed by the Constitution. He pledged himself, Mr. Kravitch and Mr. Jackson to make the strongest fight possible for our cause and assured us that we would be successful if we stuck to them.

All of these addresses were well received and Rev. Hobbs responded and assured us that he would support the movement and would do everything possible to see the fight through.

The meeting adjourned with prayer by Rev. Paul Johns after the president announced that solicitors would try to see every one for a contribution to this legal attack and if you did not receive a call from a solicitor send your contribution to Toland J. Edwards, treasurer, 611 West Broad street.

Reifer Asserts Negro Still Wears Shackles

L. S. Reid Sees Brighter Picture and Points to Accomplishments at Democratic Parley

Conflicting views on the opportunities presented the Negro in America today transformed into a debate between Walter E. Reifer of Corona and L. S. Reid of Bayside at the meeting Monday night of the Queens County United Colored Democracy at 107-50 New York boulevard, South Jamaica

Seventy delegates from Negro Democratic clubs in all parts of the county, who had come to hear reports and receive final instructions for Wednesday night's installation dinner of the United Democracy, hitched their chairs up closer as Reid and Reifer clashed forensically.

Reifer piled up the fireworks when he declared that Negroes were only fooling themselves when they declared they were free.

"I witnessed several graduations last month," said Reifer, who is general secretary of the United Democracy. "I saw the white boys and girls march proudly across the platform to claim their diplomas, cherished certificates enabling them to go out and make their way in the world without any limitations but their own abilities.

"I saw colored boys and girls drag their feet across the same platforms, without self-confidence and without that bright, adventurous spirit. It was as if they already knew and I believe many of them did—that very few of them would be succesful doctors and lawyers no matter how bright and ambitious they were.

"It was as if they knew that some of their finest minds would wind up as redcaps because the doors of other employment would be closed to them."

Reifer said that the sooner Negroes realized this state of affairs the sooner could they unite their votes to demand a fair deal.

"The only way is to unite in politics as Negroes," he said. "Our votes, even though in a minority, can pile up a hell of a protest."

Reid, who was chairman of the meeting, took issue with Reifer as soon as the Corona man, who is leader of the Progressive Democratic Club, had sat down.

"There is no country on God's earth that gives the black man the opportunity that the United States gives him," said Reid after he had challenged the accuracy of Reifer's observations.

"I know there are Negro children who marched up bravely to get their diplomas," he said, "and Negro college men and women who reached for their degrees with the assurance that they were fit to do things that would win new respect and honors for the race.

"I know Charlie Anderson," Reid said; "would you say he went through life with dragging feet? I know John Defoe, the collector of the port at Savannah. I know Judge Lee at Jacksonville, Miss.

"I know a score of other Negroes in responsible positions. Look at Delany! LaGuardia wasn't forced to give him his job. LaGuardia didn't have to do that, but Delany showed himself the man for the job.

"If a Negro boy is graduated from school in New York State there is no limit upon his opportunities. Ask Judge Toney. If he's a West Indian Negro, ask Judge Watson.

"I'd rather be in the United States and be a Negro," he declared, "than be in Germany and be a Jew."

Other speakers, some of whom touched on the Reifer-Reid controversy in subsequent speeches, were Profit I. Bailey of Corona, county leader of the United Democracy; James E. Williams, Mrs. Viola Adams, James Brown, Oscar H. Waters, Cyril A. Lucas, Dr. Judge A. Thompson, all of Jamaica; Robert Lee and Mrs. L. Brown of Far Rockaway; Frank Small of Arverne, and Clarence McD. Clark and Henry Gittens of Corona.

ORGANIZATION OF RACE DEMOCRATS CREATES INTEREST

By SAM H. READING

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—The city-wide organization of Negro Democrats created last week at a meeting in the Democratic City Committee headquarters, 15th and Chestnut, has been the principal topic of conversation in political circles throughout the week. City Chairman John B. (Jack) Kelly presided at the meeting and with every important Negro leader present and nearly every organization represented officially, the meeting was the most significant in local Democratic history.

The meeting arranged by Paul F. Jones, Negro state organizer of Pittsburgh, now engaged in organizing the entire state, was remarkable both in number and importance of the workers present. Misinterpretation of remarks made by Attorney Robert L. Vann, Special Assistant Attorney General of the U. S., were widely discussed. Mr. Vann's statement was interpreted by most of those present as a prophesy of a state-wide Democratic victory of such stupenduous proportions that the present importance of the Negro Democratic enrollments might be minimized by such as could profit by doing this when it comes to the matter of patronage.

"Don't you permit these Democrats to win this election without your fullest co-operation," he said. "We Negroes have done much of the rough pioneer work which has made possible the present success of the Democrats in America, and we must not lose one iota of the influence and respect thus gained by permitting ourselves to be divided by little petty squabbles which weaken our united strength."

The fact that the large body of workers present unanimously adopted the report of the nominating committee which named a steering committee of seven, was evidence that Mr. Vann's warning had struck home in the minds of those present.

The committee elected on Tuesday night met on Friday night and perfected a permanent organization by electing the following officers: Dr. Marshall L. Shepard, chairman; Mrs. Sommerville Fauntleroy, vice chairman; Samuel H. Reading, secretary; Magistrate Edward Henry, chairman campaign committee and Edward R. Hazell, city organizer. The other members of the advisory committee are Dr. J. Max Barber and Mrs. Laila Lawrence. Dr. Barber headed the Negro work in Philadelphia duirng the Roosevelt campaign, while Mrs. Lawrence is woman leader of the 47th ward.

Dr. Shepard is the Democratic nominee for legislature from the 18th District, comprising the 24th, 34th and 44th wards, three of the most populous residential wards in the city. Mrs. Fauntleroy was elected State Committeewoman at the last election, while Mr. Reading is president of the Pennsylvania Democratic Association and president of the Progressive Democratic Club of the 44th ward. Magistrate Henry polled the highest vote of any of the 16 contestants for magisterial honors last fall and is recognized as a great vote-getter.

Plans for organizing the city by having two representatives from each ward in the central organization are going forward under the direction of Edw. R. Hazell, city organizer. The work is expected to be completed by August 10. Headquarters for the organization will be maintained at 736 South 20th street, and all communications may be addressed to the advisory committee of the Negro Democratic organization there.

Lantern
Muskogee, Okla.
AUG 25 1934

Calling all Negro Democrats

The Regular and Recognized Democratic Organization Will Meet at Oklahoma City September Tenth. Will Lay Plans for the Fall Campaign

Dr. I. W. Young, chairman of the State Negro Democratic Central committee, is issuing a call for a meeting of the Negro Democratic Central committee, the governing body of the only recognized and functioning Negro democratic organization in Oklahoma, for the purpose of laying plans for the prosecution of the fall campaign of the democratic party. Because this organization has fashioned its operations so nearly along the lines of the state democratic party, it has received the support and recognition of the regular party for the past twelve years.

State-like, the Democratic State Central committee, the Negro Democratic Central committee has refrained from entering the primary campaigns as an organization per se for any candidate; thereby leaving itself in a position to support the democratic ticket without hesitation. Its individual members may support any one of the candidates in the primary they desire to. This is their right as citizens. But when the primaries are over they are called upon to come together and support the democratic ticket without hesitation or equivocation. This has always been their procedure and will continue to be so, says Chairman Young. The chairman himself has refrained from any pernicious activity in the primaries, avoiding the possible chance for his acts to be construed as the will and act of the organization. This is true of the chairman of the regular organization and this precedent has been followed by Chairman Young, who is the founder of the organization more than twelve years ago.

Chairman Young says the democrats of this state have spoken in no uncertain terms expressing their will about the future administration of this state's government and it's now the duty of all good democrats to rally to party standard, now borne by Hon. E. W. Marland of Ponca City, and make the election in November an overwhelming victory for the democratic party and Marland.

Reifer Asserts Negro Still Wears Shackles

L. S. Reid Sees Brighter Picture and Points to Accomplishments at Democratic Parley

Conflicting views on the opportunities presented the Negro in America today transformed into a debate between Walter E. Reifer of Corona and L. S. Reid of Bayside at the meeting Monday night of the Queens County United Colored Democracy at 107-50 New York boulevard, South Jamaica.

Seventy delegates from Negro Democratic clubs in all parts of the county, who had come to hear reports and receive final instructions for Wednesday night's installation dinner of the United Democracy, hitched their chairs up closer as Reid and Reifer clashed forensically.

Reifer piled up the fireworks when he declared that Negroes were only fooling themselves when they declared they were free.

"I witnessed several graduations last month," said Reifer, who is general secretary of the United Democracy. "I saw the white boys and girls march proudly across the platform to claim their diplomas, cherished certificates enabling them to go out and make their way in the world without any limitations but their own abilities.

"I saw colored boys and girls drag their feet across the same platforms, without self-confidence and without that bright, adventurous spirit. It was as if they already knew—and I believe many of them did—that very few of them would be succesful doctors and lawyers no matter how bright and ambitious they were.

"It was as if they knew that some of their finest minds would wind up as redcaps because the doors of other employment would be closed to them."

Reifer said that the sooner Negroes realized this state of affairs the sooner could they unite their votes to demand a fair deal.

"The only way is to unite in politics as Negroes," he said. "Our votes, even though in a minority, can pile up a hell of a protest."

Reid, who was chairman of the meeting, took issue with Reifer as soon as the Corona man, who is leader of the Progressive Democratic Club, had sat down.

"There is no country on God's earth that gives the black man the opportunity that the United States gives him," said Reid after he had challenged the accuracy of Reifer's observations.

"I know there are Negro children who marched up bravely to get their diplomas," he said, "and Negro college men and women who reached for their degrees with the assurance that they were fit to do things that would win new respect and honors for the race.

"I know Charlie Anderson," Reid said; "would you say he went through life with dragging feet? I know John Defoe, the collector of the port at Savannah. I know Judge Lee at Jacksonville, Miss.

"I know a score of other Negroes in responsible positions. Look at Delany! LaGuardia wasn't forced to give him his job. LaGuardia didn't have to do that, but Delany showed himself the man for the job.

"If a Negro boy is graduated from school in New York State there is no limit upon his opportunities. Ask Judge Toney. If he's a West Indian Negro, ask Judge Watson.

"I'd rather be in the United States and be a Negro," he declared, "than be in Germany and be a Jew."

Other speakers, some of whom touched on the Reifer-Reid controversy in subsequent speeches, were Profit I. Bailey of Corona, county leader of the United Democracy; James E. Williams, Mrs. Viola Adams, James Brown, Oscar H. Waters, Cyril A. Lucas, Dr. Judge A. Thompson, all of Jamaica; Robert Lee and Mrs. L. Brown of Far Rockaway; Frank Small of Arverne, and Clarence McD. Clark and Henry Gittens of Corona.

ORGANIZATION OF RACE DEMOCRATS CREATES INTEREST

By SAM H. READING

PHILADELPHIA, July 26—The city-wide organization of Negro Democrats created last week at a meeting in the Democratic City Committee headquarters, 15th and Chestnut, has been the principal topic of conversation in political circles throughout the week. City Chairman John B. (Jack) Kelly presided at the meeting and with every important Negro leader present and nearly every organization represented officially, the meeting was the most significant in local Democratic history.

The meeting arranged by Paul F. Jones, Negro state organizer of Pittsburgh, now engaged in organizing the entire state, was remarkable both in number and importance of the workers present. Misinterpretation of remarks made by Attorney Robert L. Vann, Special Assistant Attorney General of the U. S., were widely discussed. Mr. Vann's statement was interpreted by most of those present as a prophesy of a state-wide Democratic victory of such stupenduous proportions that the present importance of the Negro Democratic enrollments might be minimized by such as could profit by doing this when it comes to the matter of patronage.

"Don't you permit these Democrats to win this election without your fullest co-operation," he said. "We Negroes have done much of the rough pioneer work which has made possible the present success of the Democrats in America, and we must not lose one iota of the influence and respect thus gained by permitting ourselves to be divided by little petty squabbles which weaken our united strength."

The fact that the large body of workers present unanimously adopted the report of the nominating committee which named a steering committee of seven, was evidence that Mr. Vann's warning had struck home in the minds of those present.

The committee elected on Tuesday night met on Friday night and perfected a permanent organization by electing the following officers: Dr. Marshall L. Shepard, chairman; Mrs. Sommerville Fauntleroy, vice chairman; Samuel H. Reading, secretary; Magistrate Edward Henry, chairman campaign committee and Edward R. Hazell, city organizer. The other members of the advisory committee are Dr. J. Max Barber and Mrs. Laila Lawrence. Dr. Barber headed the Negro work in Philadelphia duirng the Roosevelt campaign, while Mrs. Lawrence is woman leader of the 47th ward.

Dr. Shepard is the Democratic nominee for legislature from the 18th District, comprising the 24th, 34th and 44th wards, three of the most populous residential wards in the city. Mrs. Fauntleroy was elected State Committeewoman at the last election, while Mr. Reading is president of the Pennsylvania Democratic Association and president of the Progressive Democratic Club of the 44th ward. Magistrate Henry polled the highest vote of any of the 16 contestants for magisterial honors last fall and is recognized as a great vote-getter.

Plans for organizing the city by having two representatives from each ward in the central organization are going forward under the direction of Edw. R. Hazell, city organizer. The work is expected to be completed by August 10. Headquarters for the organization will be maintained at 736 South 20th street, and all communications may be addressed to the advisory committee of the Negro Democratic organization there.

Lantern
Muskogee, Okla.
AUG 25 1934

Calling all Negro Democrats

The Regular and Recognized Democratic Organization Will Meet at Oklahoma City September Tenth. Will Lay Plans for the Fall Campaign

Dr. I. W. Young, chairman of the State Negro Democratic Central committee, is issuing a call for a meeting of the Negro Democratic Central committee, the governing body of the only recognized and functioning Negro democratic organization in Oklahoma, for the purpose of laying plans for the prosecution of the fall campaign of the democratic party. Because this organization has fashioned its operations so nearly along the lines of the state democratic party, it has received the support and recognition of the regular party for the past twelve years.

State-like, the Democratic State Central committee, the Negro Democratic Central committee has refrained from entering the primary campaigns as an organization per se for any candidate; thereby leaving itself in a position to support the democratic ticket without hesitation. Its individual members may support any one of the candidates in the primary they desire to. This is their right as citizens. But when the primaries are over they are called upon to come together and support the democratic without hesitation or equivocation. This has always been their procedure and will continue to be so, says Chairman Young. The chairman himself has refrained from any pernicious activity in the primaries, avoiding the possible chance for his acts to be construed as the will and act of the organization. This is true of the chairman of the regular organization and this precedent has been followed by Chairman Young, who is the founder of the organization more than twelve years ago.

Chairman Young says the democrats of this state have spoken in no uncertain terms expressing their will about the future administration of this state's government and it's now the duty of all good democrats to rally to party standard, now borne by Hon. E. W. Marland of Ponca City, and make the election in November an overwhelming victory for the democratic party and Marland.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic

NEGRO DEMOCRATS NOT WANTED

The Chatham County Democratic Committee has decided in a pronouncertain manner that the Negro is not wanted in that party and will not be voluntarily recognized or, in fact, permitted to vote in the primary of that party. This is the first time that this committee has given such an emphasis in regard to Negro voters. Heretofore, the mere mention of "white primary" was the only reference. No doubt, the more decided stand was taken because of the increased registration and the formation of the strong Negro Democratic Club. It is felt that the leaders of the local democratic party are not ignorant of the fact that a Negro democrat can not be legally debarred from participation in the primary of that party. Many of them are lawyers and must be conversant with the decisions of the courts, especially the Supreme Court of the United States. For them to acquiesce in the approval of such an order depriving the Negro democrats, proves that it was done in a deliberate way and in utter disregard of any right of voters. It remains to be seen if the recently formed democratic club will abide the local party's declaration or attempt to contest it. The latter action is the only plain path that is open. On the day of the primary election attempt should be made to cast a vote. Upon refusal, then legal proceedings must be instituted. Able legal advice is necessary so that the basis will be so firm as to prevent any loophole. Such proceedings are costly, but this should not be considered in the attempt to secure privileges that are being denied. In appealing to the local courts no remedy may be secured, but the straight direction is to the highest tribunal which has already decided that such democratic primaries are contrary to the law.

CHARLESTON, S. C.
NEWS

MAY 18 1934

"We, the Democratic Party"

The newly adopted state Democratic platform begins with an assertion which, we mildly submit, is without factual foundation, and it is this:

"We, the Democratic party of South Carolina, in convention assembled," and so forth.

The representation in the state convention is based on legislative representation, which is based on negro as well as white population. Hence Georgetown and Barnwell, with large negro majorities in their population, each have six delegates in the convention, as have Oconee and Pickens, counties in which about three-fourths of the people are white.

Therefore, it is possible, indeed not uncommon, that a majority in the convention may represent a white minority in the state.

Not a delegate in Wednesday's convention appears to have made this point in opposition to the Crouch resolution (not passed) which would have pledged candidates to abide by the convention's platform. The "Democracy" of South Carolina speaks only through the primary, and therefore says nothing—beyond an expression of love and affection for persons.

Whenever is a debate in a Democratic state convention is an exposition of the profundity of knowledge of "leaders" about their state government. It is obvious that the adoption of the Crouch resolution would have blown the South Carolina "Democracy" into smithereens. What do the Democratic leaders in a state convention know about the constitution of their party?

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

MAY 13 1934

NEGROES FORM POLITICAL CLUB

Vote to Back F. R., and Program.

The Iowa Roosevelt Negro Democratic league was organized at the Negro community center Saturday.

Having for its purpose the bringing of Iowa Negroes into the Democratic ranks, the league voted to back the Roosevelt program "in every way," and to name itself after the president.

Martin Elected.

Thomas E., Martin of Des Moines was elected state chairman and Howard Spencer, Mason City, was elected as state organizer.

Other officers are W. Lawrence Oliver, Iowa City attorney, vice-chairman; Gertrude North, Des Moines, recording secretary; Henry Mease, Des Moines, corresponding secretary; Peter Russell, Webster county, treasurer and Jesse Taylor, Cedar Rapids, sergeant at arms.

Kenderdine Speaks.

G. A. Kenderdine, Iowa City, deputy for the state securities department, delivered the principal address of the evening session. Speaking on the principles of democracy, he said it would be advantageous if the two major political parties were nearer the same size "so that each might act as a check on the other."

Quentin Mease, president of the Roosevelt Negro Democratic club of Des Moines, welcomed the visiting committeemen and workers.

FORT WORTH, TEX.
MORNING STAR TELEGRAM

MAY 26 1934

DEMOCRATIC BODY TO DECIDE ON NEGRO VOTE

Whether negroes will be permitted to vote in the Democratic primaries in Tarrant County in July for the first time will be decided when the county executive committee meets June 18, Hugh L. Small, county chairman, said yesterday. A petition, presented to Small by a group of negroes cited a United States Supreme Court decision holding that they could not be barred.

At the committee session candidates will be assessed for the expense of the primaries, the drawing for places on the ballot will be held and election judges will be appointed.

NEGRO DEMOCRATS ADOPT RULES TO BAR PIE-COUNTER LEADERSHIP FROM CONTROL OF ORGANIZATION

Black Dispatch

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE INCREASED FROM NINE TO FIFTEEN; QUESTIONNAIRE PREPARED FOR CANDIDATES

29 Counties Answer Call of O. Ben Jefferson

Representatives of 29 Oklahoma Counties, constituting the Oklahoma Negro State Democratic Central Committee, in a special meeting at Tucker's Hall, went on record Monday in demanding a larger participation in party and state governmental affairs.

The committee was called to order by the chairman, O. B. Jefferson, Oklahoma City attorney, who, in a brief address, congratulated the Negro citizens of the state on the unusual interest they are taking in the machinery of their government, as evidenced by their affiliation with the Democratic party in overwhelming numbers throughout the state, in recent years, and pointed out to the members of the committee, as leaders in their respective counties, the duties and responsibilities resting upon them.

Basic rules of procedure and policy were adopted to govern the committee. A rule, proposed by the committee on rules at the suggestion of the state chairman, provides that no person holding a place of profit under the state government shall be eligible for the position of chairman of the state committee.

A special committee consisting of J. C. Evans, J. W. Sandford, E. W. Toliver, W. R. Fields, Frank W. Reed and Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, was appointed and directed to formulate a questionairre, to be submitted to state and local Democratic candidates, seeking information with respect to their attitude on 32156—Black Dispatch ---- ---- -- certain questions affecting Negro citizens and especially members of the Democratic party. This questionairre will be mailed to the major state and legislative candidates within the next few days, according to the chairman.

By vote of the committee, the executive committee was increased from nine to fifteen; E. W. Toliver, Duncan; J. W. Sandford, Ardmore; Dr. H. W. Williamson, Idabel; C. R. Buford, Berwyn; Rev. A. H. Miller, Coalgate, and Rev. M. W. Johnston, Lawton, were added to the executive committee. J. J. Dawson, of Oklahoma City, succeeded Dr. A. P. Bethel on the Central Committee.

Refreshments of assorted sandwiches, beer, soft drinks and hot coffee were served at the lunch hour, after which the meeting was called to order by the chairman, John Brooks, Snyder; H. C. Clemmont, G. T. Allen and Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, Langston; J. A. Vinson and General Wright, Bokchito; J. J. Goodloe, Mountain Park; W. S. Peters, Boley; E. W. Toliver, Duncan; James Wright, Burbank, and O. P. Alderson and A. M. Salone, Oklahoma City.

Brief addresses were delivered by the following members of the committee: W. A. Arnstead, Duncan; Frank W. Reed, Oklahoma City; C. H. Henderson, J. Taha, Seminole, Stevens, Tillman and Tulsa. The officers of the committee are O. B. Jefferson, Chairman; Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, vice chairman, Langston; J. Henry Ferguson, secretary, Boley; and W. E. Mitchell, treasurer, Ardmore.

Counties represented on the committee are Blaine, Bryan, Carter, Choctaw, Coal, Comanche, Cotton, Creek, Garvin, Grady, Hughes, Jefferson, Johnston, Logan, Love, McCurtain, McIntosh, Marshall, Murray, Muskogee, Okfuskee, Oklahoma, Pittsburg, Pushmataha, Seminole, Stevens, Tillman and Tulsa. The officers of the committee are O. B. Jefferson, Chairman; Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, vice chairman, Langston; J. Henry Ferguson, secretary, Boley; and W. E. Mitchell, treasurer, Ardmore.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation

Democratic

NEGRO DEMOCRATS NOT WANTED

The Chatham County Democratic Committee has decided in a pronouncertain manner that the Negro is not wanted in that party and will not be voluntarily recognized or, in fact, permitted to vote in the primary of that party. This is the first time that this committee has given such an emphasis in regard to Negro voters. Heretofore, the mere mention of "white primary" was the only reference. No doubt, the more decided stand was taken because of the increased registration and the formation of the strong Negro Democratic Club. It is felt that the leaders of the local democratic party are not ignorant of the fact that a Negro democrat can not be legally debarred from participation in the primary of that party. Many of them are lawyers and must be conversant with the decisions of the courts, especially the Supreme Court of the United States. For them to acquiesce in the approval of such an order depriving the Negro democrats, proves that it was done in a deliberate way and in utter disregard of any right of voters. It remains to be seen if the recently formed democratic club will abide the local party's declaration or attempt to contest it. The latter action is the only plain path that is open. On the day of the primary election attempt should be made to cast a vote. Upon refusal, then legal proceedings must be instituted. Able legal advice is necessary so that the basis will be so firm as to prevent any loophole. Such proceedings are costly, but this should not be considered in the attempt to secure privileges that are being denied. In appealing to the local courts no remedy may be secured, but the straight direction is to the highest tribunal which has already decided that such democratic primaries are contrary to the law.

CHARLESTON, S. C.
NEWS

MAY 18 1934

"We, the Democratic Party"

The newly adopted state Democratic platform begins with an assertion which, we mildly submit, is without factual foundation, and it is this:

"We, the Democratic party of South Carolina, in convention assembled," and so forth.

The representation in the state convention is based on legislative representation, which is based on negro as well as white population. Hence Georgetown and Barnwell, with large negro majorities in their population, each have six delegates in the convention, as have Oconee and Pickens, counties in which about three-fourths of the people are white.

Therefore, it is possible, indeed not uncommon, that a majority in the convention may represent a white minority in the state.

Not a delegate in Wednesday's convention appears to have made this point in opposition to the Crouch resolution (not passed) which would have pledged candidates to abide by the convention's platform. The "Democracy" of South Carolina speaks only through the primary, and therefore says nothing—beyond an expression of love and affection for persons.

Whenever is a debate in a Democratic state convention is an exposition of the profundity of knowledge of "leaders" about their state government. It is obvious that the adoption of the Crouch resolution would have blown the South Carolina "Democracy" into smithereens. What do the Democratic leaders in a state convention know about the constitution of their party?

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

MAY 13 1934

NEGROES FORM POLITICAL CLUB

Vote to Back F. R., and Program.

The Iowa Roosevelt Negro Democratic league was organized at the Negro community center Saturday.

Having for its purpose the bringing of Iowa Negroes into the Democratic ranks, the league voted to back the Roosevelt program "in every way," and to name itself after the president.

Martin Elected.

Thomas E., Martin of Des Moines was elected state chairman and Howard Spencer, Mason City, was elected as state organizer.

Other officers are W. Lawrence Oliver, Iowa City attorney, vice-chairman; Gertrude North, Des Moines, recording secretary; Henry Mease, Des Moines, corresponding secretary; Peter Russell, Webster county, treasurer and Jesse Taylor, Cedar Rapids, sergeant at arms.

Kenderdine Speaks.

G. A. Kenderdine, Iowa City, deputy for the state securities department, delivered the principal address of the evening session. Speaking on the principles of democracy, he said it would be advantageous if the two major political parties were nearer the same size "so that each might act as a check on the other."

Quentin Mease, president of the Roosevelt Negro Democratic club of Des Moines, welcomed the visiting committeemen and workers.

FORT WORTH, TEX.
MORNING STAR TELEGRAM

MAY 26 1934

DEMOCRATIC BODY TO DECIDE ON NEGRO VOTE

Whether negroes will be permitted to vote in the Democratic primaries in Tarrant County in July for the first time will be decided when the county executive committee meets June 18, Hugh L. Small, county chairman, said yesterday. A petition, presented to Small by a group of negroes cited a United States Supreme Court decision holding that they could not be barred.

At the committee session candidates will be assessed for the expense of the primaries, the drawing for places on the ballot will be held and election judges will be appointed.

NEGRO DEMOCRATS ADOPT RULES TO BAR PIE-COUNTER LEADERSHIP FROM CONTROL OF ORGANIZATION

Black Dispatch 5-27-34

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE INCREASED FROM NINE TO FIFTEEN; QUESTIONNAIRE PREPARED FOR CANDIDATES

29 Counties Answer Call of O. Ben Jefferson

Representatives of 29 Oklahoma Counties, constituting the Oklahoma Negro State Democratic Central Committee, in a special meeting at Tucker's Hall, went on record Monday in demanding a larger participation in party and state governmental affairs.

The committee was called to order by the chairman, O. B. Jefferson, Oklahoma City attorney, who, in a brief address, congratulated the Negro citizens of the state on the unusual interest they are taking in the machinery of their government, as evidenced by their affiliation with the Democratic party in overwhelming numbers throughout the state, in recent years, and pointed out to the members of the committee, as leaders in their respective counties, the duties and responsibilities resting upon them.

Basic rules of procedure and policy were adopted to govern the committee. A rule, proposed by the committee on rules at the suggestion of the state chairman, provides that no person holding a place of profit under the state government shall be eligible for the position of chairman of the state committee.

A special committee consisting of J. C. Evans, J. W. Sandford, E. W. Toliver, W. R. Fields, Frank W. Reed and Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, was appointed and directed to formulate a questionairre, to be submitted to state and local Democratic candidates, seeking information with respect to their attitude on certain questions affecting Negro citizens and especially members of the Democratic party. This questionairre will be mailed to the major state and legislative candidates within the next few days, according to the chairman.

32156—Black Dispatch ---- ---- --

By vote of the committee, the executive committee was increased from nine to fifteen; E. W. Toliver, Duncan; J. W. Sandford, Ardmore; Dr. H. W. Williamson, Idabel; C. R. Buford, Berwyn; Rev. A. H. Miller, Coalgate, and Rev. M. W. Johnston, Lawton, were added to the executive committee. J. J. Dawson, of Oklahoma City, succeeded Dr. A. P. Bethel on the Central Committee and the executive committee.

Refreshments of assorted sandwiches, beer, soft drinks and hot coffee were served at the lunch hour, after which the meeting was convened as a Democratic rally. Brief addresses were delivered by the following members of the committee: W. A. Armstead, Duncan; Frank W. Reed, Okmulgee; J. J. Taha, Seminole, Stevens, Tillman and Tulsa. The officers of the committee are Blaine, Bryan, Carter, Ardmore. Coal, Comanche, Cotton, Choctaw, Garvin, Grady, Hughes, Jefferson, Johnston, Logan, Love, McCleveland, Robert McDonald and W. E. Mitchell, treasurer, John Brooks, Snyder; H. C. Clemmons, Okmulgee, Pittsburg, Pushmataha, Stevens, Tillman and General Wright, Bokchito; J. J. Curtain, McIntosh, Marshall, Murray, Okfuskee, Okmulgee, Seminole, Tulsa. The officers of the committee are O. B. Jefferson, Chairman; James Wright, Burbank, and Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, Langston; J. A. Vinson, Okmulgee; Mrs. Pearl E. Howard, vice chairman, Langston; A. M. Salone, Oklahoma City; J. Henry Ferguson, secretary, Boley; E. W. Toliver, Duncan; C. A. Clanton, Oklahoma City. Counties represented on the committee are Blaine, Bryan, Carter, Ardmore. Lawton; R. B. Butts and Griffin Rose, Vernon; W. R. Fields and R. Cooper, Watonga; Chas. A. Brown, Okmulgee; Rev. Austin Cleveland, Robert McDonald and Jefferson, Johnston, Logan, Love, Mc-

New Democratic Leadership

Response which came to the call of O. B. Jefferson, head of the central committee of Negro democrats, formerly headed by Dr. I. W. Young, showed conclusively in the Monday meeting that I. W. Young has lost his political power in Oklahoma. No one need doubt any longer that the "paper organization" of that gentleman is of force or effect.

The group in meeting did nothing of particular significance, so far as the work day was concerned. It, in fact was called for the purpose of determining whether the rank and file of the organization would recognize O. B. Jefferson as it leader. From this angle and standpoint it was a howling success.

A committee was appointed for the purpose of quizzing candidates along lines in which the group is interested, but this was in a large measure an idle gesture for the reason that all of the major candidates have fully expressed themselves along many lines, in answer to the questionnaire sent out by the Black Dispatch, the teachers and the Southern Oklahoma Convention last month.

It has been freely predicted that an attempt would be made to endorse another candidate at this meeting other than Senator Anglin, and that the guiding spirits behind the effort would see to this. Whether this was intended or not, the Anglin sentiment was too obvious and definitely drawn for anyone having such a notion in mind to have sought to secure endorsement of any other name. It is the policy of the organization not to endorse candidates in the primary.

As we said at the outset, the meeting was primarily called as a test of power and control, and so far as the O. B. Jefferson adherents are concerned, the meeting showed them in complete control. It was indeed a funeral service for the former Napoleon of University Hill.

Jacksonville, Fla.
JOURNAL

MAY 25 1934

NEGROES CAN'T BE DEMOCRATS

Judge Gibbs Rules They Can't Vote in June

It was understood at the courthouse today that negro voters will carry their fight for membership in the Democratic party to the state supreme court, and if necessary to the U. S. supreme court.

They had not filed their writ of error at noon at the office of Elliot W. Butts, clerk of the circuit court. It was said, however, that the petitioners are determined to continue the battle designed to force Supervisor of Registration Emory H Price to register them as Democrats.

In a 20-page opinion handed down yesterday by Circuit Judge George Couper Gibbs, the court gave in detail the reasons for denial of a peremptory writ of mandamus brought by Sylvanus H. Hart, negro voter.

Under the decision, negroes will not be allowed to vote in the Democratic primaries next month.

It had been the contention of Hart's attorneys that a resolution of the Democratic executive committee limiting membership to white persons was in violation of the 14th and 15th amendments to the federal constitution.

They held that since the state law gave to the committee the right to prescribe conditions and limitations in the primaries, the law was unconstitutional.

It was the opinion of the court, however, that "that statute in question in this case is but the recognition by the state of the powers inherent in the state executive committee of the party.

"Such limitations or restrictions as appear in the primary laws are in no sense grants of power, nor do they indicate a surrender of inherent power residing in the Democratic party to the state.

"Neither to do they make of the members of the committee delegates to the state, or the action of the committee by resolution, or otherwise, the action of the state."

Under the decision, negroes will be allowed to participate only in the general election of November.

WILL THEY BE LAW-ABIDING

This editorial is being written upon the eve of the meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin on Monday, June 11. This is the same committee which the Supreme Court of the United States has held to be an "agency of government," and as such "bound by the mandates of liberty and equality which bind officials everywhere."

The question is clear and simple: Will the members of that committee be law-abiding and obey the dictates of the supreme law of the land? Or will they be law-breakers and trample the supreme law of the land?

If they are law-abiding, Negroes will vote in the coming statutory Democratic primary elections; if they are not, Negroes will be relegated again to a long court battle to attempt to compel recognition and respect for the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. We hope they will be law-abiding.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

SEP 9 1934

Negro Democrats Name Committee To Run Campaign

Ware Chosen Manager; Chairman Wells Gives High Points Of Work

David S. Ware of Fayette county was named state Negro Democratic campaign manager yesterday at the meeting of the Negro Democratic state executive committee, presided over by Chairman I. J. K. Wells, state supervisor of Negro schools. Approximately 200 Negroes from 40 counties attended.

Mrs. Awhaneda P. Hairston of Mingo county was named campaign secretary, Lloyd G. Smith of Cabell county was elected treasurer and A. B. Grasty of McDowell county was named assistant treasurer.

Chairman Wells was authorized to appoint a committee to make plans for the second annual Kump state dinner to be held on Columbus day, October 12. It is also planned to hold a big Negro Democratic rally on the same day and the executive committee will meet prior to the dinner.

Capitation Amendment Opposed

The committee adopted a resolution of "unqualified opposition" to the proposed capitation tax amendment, which would require the presentation of a poll tax receipt as a prerequisite for the privilege of voting. E. L. Powell, committee secretary, who called the meeting to order, pointed out that Rush D. Holt, Democratic nominee for United States senator, voted against the amendment when it was before the legislature.

Several prominent white Democrats attended, among them being Col. J. H. Long, manager of the Holt senatorial campaign; Sterrett O. Neale, publicity director; Robert G. Kelly, Democratic state chairman, and E. L. Bailey, state road commissioner. Each was introduced and made a few remarks.

Chairman Wells reviewed the accomplishments of the committee and paid a tribute to the record of the Kump administration. He said that under the leadership of the governor, this state now has the best school system in the nation.

Negroes Get Appointments

He said that through the work of the committee, Negroes have been appointed to every position formerly held by members of the race under Republican control. In addition, he pointed out that Negroes have been appointed to several other positions.

Among the "new" positions now occupied by Negroes, he said, were desk clerk and telephone operator for the state road commission in Wilson street, road engineer in the road commission, safety director and mining engineer for the compensation department, an attache in the tax commissioner's office and several lesser positions.

Through the efforts of the committee the only Negro board of education ever to be appointed in the world as an autonomous body is now functioning with efficiency.

The committee secured the enactment of an amendment to the county unit law providing for the appointment of Negro county supervisors in all counties employing 50 or more Negro teachers. The committee also secured Negro representation on the state barber board. The Welch state hospital has a Negro assistant physician and four colored nurses. The chairman gave special credit to Charles Moore, an employe of the state commission for aiding and [illegible]ting many of these openings.

CISCO, TEX.
NEWS

SEP 2 1934

Maryland Negro Throws Hat Into Demo Ring

Baltimore is the proud city of "Maryland, My Maryland." For the first time in history of the commonwealth a negro is seeking election to state office on a democratic ticket. Joshua F. Henry, Jr., shattered a Maryland precedent by announcing as a candidate for nomination in the leading negro district of Baltimore. There are thousands of negroes in Maryland who vote the democratic ticket. They could not do it in Texas where they are barred from casting primary ballots by order of leaders of the democratic party and the lawmakers of the commonwealth.

New Democratic Leadership

Response which came to the call of O. B. Jefferson, head of the central committee of Negro democrats, formerly headed by Dr. I. W. Young, showed conclusively in the Monday meeting that I. W. Young has lost his political power in Oklahoma. No one need doubt any longer that the "paper organization" of that gentleman is of force or effect.

The group in meeting did nothing of particular significance, so far as the work day was concerned. It, in fact was called for the purpose of determining whether the rank and file of the organization would recognize O. B. Jefferson as it leader. From this angle and standpoint it was a howling success.

A committee was appointed for the purpose of quizzing candidates along lines in which the group is interested, but this was in a large measure an idle gesture for the reason that all of the major candidates have fully expressed themselves along many lines, in answer to the questionnaire sent out by the Black Dispatch, the teachers and the Southern Oklahoma Convention last month.

It has been freely predicted that an attempt would be made to endorse another candidate at this meeting other than Senator Anglin, and that the guiding spirits behind the effort would see to this. Whether this was intended or not, the Anglin sentiment was too obvious and definitely drawn for anyone having such a notion in mind to have sought to secure endorsement of any other name. It is the policy of the organization not to endorse candidates in the primary.

As we said at the outset, the meeting was primarily called as a test of power and control, and so far as the O. B. Jefferson adherents are concerned, the meeting showed them in complete control. It was indeed a funeral service for the former Napoleon of University Hill.

Jacksonville, Fla.
JOURNAL

MAY 25 1934

NEGROES CAN'T BE DEMOCRATS

Judge Gibbs Rules They Can't Vote in June

It was understood at the courthouse today that negro voters will carry their fight for membership in the Democratic party to the state supreme court, and if necessary to the U. S. supreme court.

They had not filed their writ of error at noon at the office of Elliot W. Butts, clerk of the circuit court. It was said, however, that the petitioners are determined to continue the battle designed to force Supervisor of Registration Emory H. Price to register them as Democrats.

In a 20-page opinion handed down yesterday by Circuit Judge George Couper Gibbs, the court gave in detail the reasons for denial of a peremptory writ of mandamus brought by Sylvanus H. Hart, negro voter.

Under the decision, negroes will not be allowed to vote in the Democratic primaries next month.

It had been the contention of Hart's attorneys that a resolution of the Democratic executive committee limiting membership to white persons was in violation of the 14th and 15th amendments to the federal constitution.

They held that since the state law gave to the committee the right to prescribe conditions and limitations in the primaries, the law was unconstitutional.

It was the opinion of the court, however, that "that statute in question in this case is but the recognition by the state of the powers inherent in the state executive committee of the party.

"Such limitations or restrictions as appear in the primary laws are in no sense grants of power, nor do they indicate a surrender of inherent power residing in the Democratic party to the state.

"Neither to do they make of the members of the committee delegates to the state, or the action of the committee by resolution, or otherwise, the action of the state."

Under the decision, negroes will be allowed to participate only in the general election of November.

WILL THEY BE LAW-ABIDING

This editorial is being written upon the eve of the meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin on Monday, June 11. This is the same committee which the Supreme Court of the United States has held to be an "agency of government," and as such "bound by the mandates of liberty and equality which bind officials everywhere."

The question is clear and simple: Will the members of that committee be law-abiding and obey the dictates of the supreme law of the land? Or will they be law-breakers and trample the supreme law of the land?

If they are law-abiding, Negroes will vote in the coming statutory Democratic primary elections; if they are not, Negroes will be relegated again to a long court battle to attempt to compel recognition and respect for the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. We hope they will be law-abiding.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

SEP 9 1934

Negro Democrats Name Committee To Run Campaign

Ware Chosen Manager; Chairman Wells Gives High Points Of Work

David S. Ware of Fayette county was named state Negro Democratic campaign manager yesterday at the meeting of the Negro Democratic state executive committee, presided over by Chairman I. J. K. Wells, state supervisor of Negro schools. Approximately 200 Negroes from 40 counties attended.

Mrs. Awhaneda P. Hairston of Mingo county was named campaign secretary, Lloyd G. Smith of Cabell county was elected treasurer and A. B. Grasty of McDowell county was named assistant treasurer.

Chairman Wells was authorized to appoint a committee to make plans for the second annual Kump state dinner to be held on Columbus day, October 12. It is also planned to hold a big Negro Democratic rally on the same day and the executive committee will meet prior to the dinner.

Capitation Amendment Opposed

The committee adopted a resolution of "unqualified opposition" to the proposed capitation tax amendment, which would require the presentation of a poll tax receipt as a prerequisite for the privilege of voting. E. L. Powell, committee secretary, who called the meeting to order, pointed out that Rush D. Holt, Democratic nominee for United States senator, voted against the amendment when it was before the legislature.

Several prominent white Democrats attended, among them being Col. J. H. Long, manager of the Holt senatorial campaign; Sterrett O. Neale, publicity director; Robert G. Kelly, Democratic state chairman, and E. L. Bailey, state road commissioner. Each was introduced and made a few remarks.

Chairman Wells reviewed the accomplishments of the committee and paid a tribute to the record of the Kump administration. He said that under the leadership of the governor, this state now has the best school system in the nation.

Negroes Get Appointments

He said that through the work of the committee, Negroes have been appointed to every position formerly held by members of the race under Republican control. In addition, he pointed out that Negroes have been appointed to several other positions.

Among the "new" positions now occupied by Negroes, he said, were desk clerk and telephone operator for the state road commission in Wilson street, road engineer in the road commission, safety director and mining engineer for the compensation department, an attache in the tax commissioner's office and several lesser positions.

Through the efforts of the committee the only Negro board of education ever to be appointed in the world as an autonomous body is now functioning with efficiency. The committee secured the enactment of an amendment to the county unit law providing for the appointment of Negro county supervisors in all counties employing 50 or more Negro teachers. The committee also secured Negro representation on the state barber board. The Welch state hospital has a Negro assistant physician and four colored nurses. The chairman gave special credit to Charles H. Moore, an employe of the state commission for aiding and [illegible] many of these openings.

CISCO, TEX.
NEWS

SEP 2 1934

Maryland Negro Throws Hat Into Demo Ring

Baltimore is the proud city of "Maryland, My Maryland." For the first time in history of the commonwealth a negro is seeking election to state office on a democratic ticket. Joshua F. Henry, Jr., shattered a Maryland precedent by announcing as a candidate for nomination in the leading negro district of Baltimore. There are thousands of negroes in Maryland who vote the democratic ticket. They could not do it in Texas where they are barred from casting primary ballots by order of leaders of the democratic party and the lawmakers of the commonwealth.

Democratic.

Political – 1934
Party Affiliation.

WHEELING, W. VA.
REGISTER

SEP 7 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS TO MEET SATURDAY

CHARLESTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The negro state Democratic executive committee will convene in Charleston Saturday afternoon to discuss plans for the fall campaign.

The session was called by I. J. K. Wells, of Charleston, state chairman.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB CHATHAM COUNTY

Journal
9-22-34

September 19, 1934

Dear Colored Citizens:

Savannah, Ga.

The Colored Democratic Club of Chatham County is asking you to assist in raising funds to attack the disfranchisement of Colored voters in the Democratic Primary which was held on September 12, 1934.

This disfranchisement barred us from voting for our Governor, Representative in Congress, State Senator, State Representatives and Judge of our Superior Court. This disfranchisement was based solely upon the fact that we were not white but instead were Colored. The Governor of our State Eugene Talmage, said that The Primary is the election and every citizens who is qualified should cast his ballot in the Primary. This did not apply to us because we are Colored tho we are tax payers and good lawabiding citizens of our city, county and state.

This disfranchisement will continue to exist as long as we are satisfied to allow it to go on. We will be able to stop it if we will wage a consistent legal fight in the Courts of the United States in order that the officials of the Democratic Party in this State recognize that the fifteenth Admentment to the Constitution of these United States means exactly what it says "The Right of the Citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race color, or previous condition of servitude.

The United States Supreme Court has ruled in reference to the Texas Democratic Primary that "The right to vote in the Primary is the right to vote as intended in the Constitution of the United States. It is necessary for us as men and women to have the United States District Court of Appeals or Supreme Court to rule similary in our case which is identical with the Texas case in that we were denied the right to vote solely because of color. Those of you who attempted to vote on the twelfth of September remember that we were told that we could not vote because the Primary was for White only.

To secure the right to vote in seleeting the officials of our city, county and state it is necessary for us to raise fifteen hundred dollars and we are asking you to do your share by contributing your part to this cause and help yourselves. your children your friends and future generation of Colored men and women.

Thanking you for your contribution which you can send to Mr. Tolond J. Edwards Monroe's Funeral Directors, 611 West Broad Street or to any of the Solicitors who may call upon you we remain

The Colored Democratir Club of Chatham County.

by T. J. Hopkins Jr. Pres.
Dr. J. W. Wilson, Secretary
Toland J. Edwards, Treasurer.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.
JOURNAL

SEP 4 1934

CHARGES COLORED WORKERS SLIGHTED

Cromwell P. West, State Director of Democratic Clubs, Resigns.

LOPEZ WILL FILL POST

Retiring Official Declares "Chick" Suggs Could Not Be Placed Under CWA in Newport

Charging that party leaders in Providence and Newport had slighted colored workers when patronage was distributed, Cromwell P. West of Newport, State Director of the Colored Democratic Clubs and Units of Rhode Island, resigned at a meeting of the delegates at Newport yesterday. John F. Lopez of Providence was elected unanimously to succeed him.

In charging bad faith on the part of Democratic leaders in failing to reward colored workers, West cited, among others, the case of Edward "Chick" Suggs, former colored boxer, who, he said, had rendered valuable service to the party in Newport and Providence, and who "could not be placed under the CWA activities in Newport, even on the Recreational Commission controlled by prominent Democrats, despite his athletic reputation."

Twenty-four colored Democratic units, embracing all local organizations except Pawtucket, were represented by 37 delegates.

Tracing his own Democratic activity, West said that in 1928, Alfred A. Clark, chairman of the Newport Democratic City committee, and the late Arthur Riley, asked him to lay plans for a State and local Democratic colored organization.

Helped in Victory

"Prior to the Campaign of 1932," he said, "Clark came to my store with 'Chick' Suggs, founder of the Providence Colored Democratic Club; Martin Canavan and A. C. Cannel, Jr., and urged my wife and myself to come to Democratic headquarters to meet other Democratic colored leaders of the State. I was elected State Director of the Colored Roosevelt League in Rhode Island, and, with your support, helped in the victory that followed.

"Following the election, there was a meeting of the League to receive a report on activities, attended by Clark, John McGrane and Congressman F. B. Condon. City Chairman Thomas P. McCoy of Pawtucket kept his word regarding patronage by appointing John Parks custodian of City Hall, the first colored Democrat and only colored person to receive an indorsement for any position in Rhode Island from any Democratic City committee. John McGrane of the Eighth Ward placed the manager of the Colored Roosevelt League in a job three weeks later."

Addressing himself to the situation in Providence and Newport, West said Suggs came to him in 1929 for political work, and, through Clark, joined the Colored Democratic Club in Newport.

"The president, Martin Canavan, gave Suggs $12 for two months' expenses in Providence, where he organized the Colored Men's Democratic Club of that city," West continued.

Suggs Not Placed

"Through the assistance of the late Arthur 'Daddy' Black, Suggs returned to Newport, and in the Casey-Fitzgerald fight brought in 40 per cent. of the organization votes. Despite his athletic reputation, he could not be placed under the CWA activities even on the Recreational Commission, controlled by prominent Democrats.

"The Newport Democratic Colored Units contributed more money to the city, State and national campaigns than the white Democratic clubs, but, up to date, not one colored person has received an indorsement for the Newport Democratic city committee, and many campaign bills contracted by the colored units are still unpaid, although Congressman Condon sent a check for half the deficit."

West declared colored Democrats locally have failed of appointment to jobs which for three generations had been held by colored workers under Republican leadership.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
NEWS

SEP 9 1934

BOTH PARTIES LAUNCH DRIVE FOR FALL VOTE

Democrats Lay Final Plans for State Convention Here Monday

GORE TO RUN AGAIN

Senator Announces He Will Seek Re-Election; Marland Arrives Today

By LEE HILLS

Big artillery of both parties was moved into action for the fall campaign Saturday night with these political developments:

ONE: The Democratic state executive committee put finishing touches on plans for the state convention here Monday.

TWO: U. S. Sen. Thomas P. Gore, preparing to stump the state for the Democratic ticket, announced he will be a candidate for re-election in 1936.

THREE: W. B. Pine, Republican nominee for governor, rapped "playing politics with federal relief," and urged a change in political control of Oklahoma, in a radio speech.

FOUR: Democrats awaited the arrival Sunday morning of E. W. Marland, party nominee for governor, around whom the convention and the opening of the Nov. 6 gen-

FIVE: A three-cornered internal war raged among Oklahoma's 25,000 to 50,000 Negro Democratic voters, with two Negro state chairmanship claimants calling "state conventions," and a third threatening to do likewise unless a compromise is reached.

SIX: Moses Bellmard, Kaw Indian wired the U. S. division of subsistence homesteads in Washington charging that Marland is attempting to sell 240 acres of land to the government for subsistence homesteads, a federal recovery project Marland sponsored during the primary campaign.

The Democratic convention and the Pine speech mark the formal opening of autumn hostilities.

Democrats Claim Landslide

Democrats already are claiming victory in November by 100,000 to 200,000, but Democratic plans following activities from Republican headquarters indicate the majority party is not looking for a default.

Final draft of the Democratic platform is not expected until after conferences with Marland Sunday. Leaders indicated the platform will be a brief statement of Marland's program for state recovery and reorganization of state government.

District Judge E. L. Richardson, Lawton, will open the convention of 1200 to 1500 delegates at Shrine Auditorium Monday morning, as temporary chairman and keynoter.

In line with the current national trend, the campaigns of both parties are expected to include more radical appeals than normally.

Pine Listed as 'Liberal'

Pine, who has been called a "Roosevelt Republican," is classed as a liberal. Marland has been called the Roosevelt New Deal candidate, and is sponsoring a progressive program for Oklahoma similar to the president's national theories. Campaigns of both parties may touch a non-political note in this state where party lines rest lightly upon the electorate.

The Upton Sinclair victory in California may have a tendency to drive both parties farther to the left in their appeals.

Sen. Gore appeared on the scene Saturday as a conservative Democratic figure in the midst of young New Deal enthusiasts.

Scotching reports he may retire in 1936, the famed orator declared: "If I am alive, I will be a candidate. Somebody will have me to beat.

"As the officer said in the Mexican War when called upon by the enemy to surrender his sword, 'Come and take it'."

Gore Defends Record

In answer to critics of his opposition to many Roosevelt measures, Sen. Gore pointed out he was the only member of the Oklahoma delegation to stand by the president on two measures when the administration went down in defeat—the vote on overriding the salary increase bill veto, and the St. Lawrence waterway bill.

As opposed to many New Deal principles as the outspoken Sen. Carter Glass, Sen. Gore has been loud in his praise of President Roosevelt and remains in the good graces of the administration as a "Jeffersonian Democrat."

"Some think I'm a 1907 model,' he laughed, dscussing his conservative leanings Saturday afternoon at the office of his brother, Dick Gore.

"But I'm like a cannon ball fired at night. If there comes a flash of lightning, the cannon ball looks like it's standing still. I'm still going as fast as a cannon ball, but not as fast as lightning."

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.
NEW DOMINION

AUG 20 1934

Negro Democrats Hear Talks, Name Officers

Meeting for the first time at the Courthouse, Monongalia County Negroes formed the Negro Democratic Progressive Organization last night and elected officers and a general executive committee. Nominees and prominent leaders of the Democratic Party spoke to the gathering. About 200 men and women attended.

The Rev. Mr. J. C. Streets was elected chairman to replace the temporary chairman, W. P. Crook. Other officers elected were: Vice-chairman, Samuel Barkins, secretary, Mrs. Louisa Martin, and treasurer, H. C. Blue. An executive committee appointed with members in Cass, Morgan, and Grant districts is composed of R. C. Shelton, Mrs. Alice Walker, Verge Hodge, Frank Thomas, Albert Williams, Rev. Mr. C. T. Green, and Mrs. Charity Hall. Nine other members will be appointed later by the different district chairmen.

Democratic nominees who spoke briefly to the organization were Frank M. McQuay, candidate for County commissioner; Chape Wilson, for membership on the school board; C. B. Morris, for House of Delegates, and Joseph Blackburn, for sheriff.

In behalf of the Monongalia County Democrats, John Sanders welcomed the new organization and introduced Ernest Gilbert Jr., chairman of the local organization of young Democrats, Dayton Shahan, chairman of the City Executive Committee, Roscoe Akin, Chester C. Thomas, and other party leaders.

A roll call of all registered Negro Democrats revealed almost 100 per cent attendance. The organization will announce plans for the coming campaign at its next meeting.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

SEP 21 1934

Negro Democrats Plan Election Drive

The Passaic County Negro Democratic league met last evening in its new headquarters, 132 Governor street. Henry Moore presided. Judge W. L. Dill for governor, and Dr. Frank J. Van Noort for congress, are holding the principal places in the minds of the organization in the beginning of the election drive.

Dill's Colored club of the First Ward with Clarence Peete in charge will open headquarters at 66 Clinton street within a few days. Plans are rapidly rushed. The club was organized two months ago and has a voting membership of seventy-five members.

Dill for Governor Colored club of the Fourth Ward will be organized Monday evening. Headquarters which are being decorated will be opened Saturday evening, Sept. 29. The headquarters will be at Montgomery and Straight streets. Richard Lee is in charge.

These three organizations under one leadership are planning to play a very important part in the coming campaign. New membership drive and registration is their uppermost present concern Tuesday evening Sept. 25.

For Candidates night at 91 Broadway—all activities will be suspended by request of County Chairman Stafford.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
STAR

SEP 18 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis Star:

In reading Arthur Swanagan's illusive monologue of what the Negro is going to do, I have reasons for not thinking much of what he said. He was one of the many Democrats that did not have a platform in the last primary. The few colored that vote the Democratic ticket do it not because of their belief in principle, just a mere opportunity that did not and does not exist in the Democratic South.

There are not enough Democrats to beat Republicans at the polls. It always takes some Republicans plus all Democrats. If the "new deal," other than the "original" platform had been an issue, I wonder what would have been the result?

I would like to take a "bird's-eye view" of a colored man in Mississippi or any of the like states trying to convince them that he is a Democrat! I saw in the paper where Sherman Minton's father came from Texas to stump the state for his son. I advise a colored voter to get face to face with him and ask him this one question: "Mr. Minton, just what do you Texans think of a colored person as a voter?"

FENTON BLUESTEIN JR.
618 West Twenty-ninth street.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND
NEWS

SEP 8 1934

300 PERSONS AT COLORED RALLY

The Colored Democratic club rally last night was attended by more than 300 persons despite the rainy weather J Chester Allen, attorney for the indigent in St. Joseph county was the main speaker of the evening, delivering a powerful address on "The Negro and the New Deal"

Mrs. Zoia Smith of South Bend, talking on "Why I Am a Democrat" also gave a very fine talk, appreciated by all. Following remarks from the president, Clarence Kemp Carl Woodward, candidate for joint-representative of Laporte and Starke counties gave a very interesting talk in which he quoted President Roosevelt, "Let us unite to banish fear. United, we cannot fail."

Mrs. King S. Jones spoke very ably on "The Background and History of the Democratic party."

Candidates introduced by Dr. Jones, who spoke were: R. C. Fedder, James Gleason, Al Norris, Russel Smith Wirt Worden of Laporte, Carl Woodward and Glenda Marquardt, city chairman and Mrs. R. Rydzy, vice-county chairman. Others introduced were: A. C. Ott, Kenne Fail, William Blank, Edward Damerau, John Kelley, county surveyor, Otto Baumgarten, Marshall Krueger, William McNew and T. E. Graves and Mrs. Ellis Shepherd.

After the meeting a reception was held at the Odd Fellow's hail for the South Bend guests. The next meeting will be held next Friday night at 117 Franklin street.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

SEP 1 1934

Negro Democratic League Will Meet Here Saturday

The Negro State Democratic league is to hold its annual meeting at eleven o'clock next Saturday morning at the court house here, it was announced yesterday by C. E. Kimbrough of South Charleston, chairman.

Following the business session in the morning, an afternoon session is to be held at two, which will be open to the public. Candidates and other political leaders are to speak.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.
REGISTER

SEP 21 1934

Colored Democrats To Have Big Dinner

The 19th Ward Colored Democratic Club which is the official Democratic club of the ward will hold a Southern fried chicken dinner in Masonic Hall, 76 Webster Street, Thursday evening.

Dinner will be served from 6 P. M. after which there will be an entertainment and dance.

Tickets may be secured from ward chairman and members of club.

Democratic.

Political – 1934
Party Affiliation.

in these wards and precincts, the Democrats have something more than "a sneaking feeling" that the money was not used for their benefit—that some of it may even have been used against them. As a consequence, Walter Robinson, D. C. Harper and Sid Byers, Negro political leaders, are under fire from the Democrats who feel that they did not get Negro votes for their money.

There have been demands for the return of certain funds and there are under way movements to remove Robinson and Harper from the city and county payrolls, respectively. The fight is going to be interesting, but the hanging out of dirty Democratic linen must give many a citizen a rather disillusioning, if not disgusting, glimpse of the ways of practical politics.

In this connection let it be said that no brief is held for the Negro leaders and no sympathy entertained for the Democrats who feel that they were double-crossed. As a matter of fact, the latter seem to have got about what they deserved. The city and county will be infinitely better off when the day of Democratic dickering with Negro leaders for Negro votes is over.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.
NEWS

SEP 5 1934

DEMOCRATS IN R.I. SUPPORTED BY CANNAVAN

Newport Negro Leader Takes Strong Issue With Cromwell P. West

Martin L. Cannavan, president of the Colored Men's Democratic unit of Newport, in a statement today took issue with Cromwell P. West, who recently charged that the Democrats of Rhode Island had ignored the Negro voter in passing out patronage.

Cannavan says this charge is unfounded and points out that the Democrats have control neither in Newport nor in the State. "We have a Republican council here in Newport and a Republican Senate in Providence, and I would like Mr. West to tell me and the public how the Democrats are to give something they haven't got," read Cannavan's statement.

"If the Democrats were in power in both places and denied colored men representation, I would fight to the last ditch myself, but until that day comes the intelligent colored voter will stand firm," Cannavan said.

WEST CONTRADICTED

West's statement came as he resigned the presidency of the Colored Democratic Clubs. In his statement he said 37 delegates representing 24 units of colored men throughout the State had accepted his resignation. Cannavan in his statement today disputes that contention and says he doubts such a number of units exist in Rhode Island.

At the meeting which accepted West's resignation it was announced that John F. Lopez of Providence was elected in his stead. On notification of his election Mr. Lopez declined to accept the honor and said he was not a party to the movement.

Mr. Cannavan's statement in part reads:

"At a meeting in October, 1932, at 37 Weybosset street, Providence, the following attended: Hon. A. A. Clark, C. P. West, Mrs. C. P. West, A. Clayton Cannal, Jr., Martin L. Cannavan, Edward Suggs, all of Newport, with John F. Lopez, Paul Grandy, John C. Minckens and another of Providence, together with Hon. Julius D. Rainey of Boston.

FOR SHORT DURATION

"Hon. J. Howard McGrath was present at the opening of the meeting, but was forced to leave because of pressing business. At this meeting Mr. Cromwell P. West was named chairman of the Roosevelt League that was to live during the campaign. There was no thought expressed at that meeting in regard to its permanency. How it became a permanent organization and what they used for money no one knows, and possibly no one could answer but the individual who at this particular time is bent on its destruction.

He states, however, that following the campaign 30 delegates met at headquarters in Providence and elected him director. I was president of the colored men's unit of Newport at the time, and I can truthfully say that I know of no such meeting, nor do I know of any of our colored men or women of Newport who know anything about such a meeting.

"Mr. West criticises the local Democrats for overlooking the colored man and woman. Any individual that is as intelligent as he is supposed to be should know that the Democrats are not in power here nor up-state. We have a Republican council here in Newport, and a Republican Senate in Providence and I would like Mr. West to tell me and the public how the Democrats are to give something they haven't got. Now if the Democrats were in power in both places and denied the colored man, I would fight to the last ditch myself, but until that day comes the intelligent colored Democrat will stand firm.

"The great reason I think for all this is Mr. West did not receive an ambassadorship to some foreign court or some position that would have been commensurate to the dignified one of State director. Another wild statement that he makes is that he didn't believe the Democrats could muster 20 colored votes at present. Thank God that all of us haven't lost our heads and reason. The intelligent colored man and woman is mindful of the fact that this present administration has done more to stem the tide of Communism than any administration we have ever had.

HELP FOR HUNGRY

"I don't know what would have happened last winter were it not for the NRA, CCC, CWA, PWA, FERA and a few more organizations and corporations that reached out and helped individuals that no other aid could reach. No one starved in Newport that I know of, and no one went without clothing and fuel when the necessary agencies were acquainted with the condition. None of us has had all we want nor all we could use, but under the conditions I think the Negro has shared fairly well.

"All the conditions that have affected the white man have affected the colored man in Democratic circles, yet we don't find a single white man of the Democratic circle attempting to change horses in the middle of the stream, and I for one, want the public to know that Cromwell P. West could not muster a corporal's guard for anything in the city of Newport.

"On election day contrary to the belief and opinions of Mr. West, there will be more than 20 colored votes to the Democratic side—yes there will be hundreds that will reaffirm their belief in the New Deal and will be proud that they stood with Roosevelt and the party and helped and not hindered the cause of American Democracy."

Why Have a Jim Crow Organization?

The democratic candidate for governor, Mr. Marland, struck pay dirt Monday when he told the Negro democrats assembled at Cleaves Memorial church, that he saw no need for a NEGRO Democratic Central Committee. On this proposition Mr. Marland and the Black Dispatch see eye to eye. Two years ago the Black Dispatch said exactly the same thing. We cannot see any good reason why, in a liberal state like Oklahoma, with the gates wide open in Democratic ranks, Negroes would voluntarily Jim Crow themselves.

Black Dispatch 7-34

"I pledge to do everything possible to make you part and parcel of the State Democratic Convention, so that there will be no need of this separate convention," declared the democratic nominee Monday.

Of course this willingness on the part of Mr. Marland to make the Negro contingent of the party a recognized unit within the democratic ranks will fall on a few deaf, selfish ears. It is patent to a few who use such a vehicle with which to enhance their personal ambitions, that such a leveling process will spell their doom, even though that in the sum total of progress the race advances. The Negro, his self respect and his interests can go to hell so far as this type of leadership is concerned, for when the Negro vote merges into the democratic party as "part and parcel," where will they be? Who will observe their worthless carcass sticking up above the crowd? What can they get out of unity?

There never was, and there will never be any reason why the Negro should organize a Jim Crow unit. Of course practical men seek to work with what they have until they get what they want, and that is the reason why the Black Dispatch, along with others who want to see the Negro receive decent treatment within the democratic fold, have fought to place decent leadership in control of the Negro Democratic Central Committee.

But Mr. Marland has sounded a clarion. He has issued a challenge. That challenge is: Will the Negro democrats see the wisdom in disbanding a faulty, spurious, unwise set-up and accept honest-to-God membership within the ranks of the Democratic party?

The type of organization we have in Oklahoma would perhaps be fully justified in Texas, where the Negro vote is barred from democratic primaries, but never in liberal Oklahoma.

Here we are in the midst of a political campaign to elect a governor, and at the very moment when there should be unity and an undivided front, we find at least four factions all claiming that they should be recognized as the "one and only." It should be kept in mind that the Negro vote can mean something to the democratic party only on the basis that it remains united, and it can mean something to the Negro, if, instead of serving selfish interests, the group interest is advanced.

For instance, what effort was made Monday to commit Mr. Marland to a definite, set program in the interest of black folk? Do you know of any attempt to solve the black man's problems, that was placed in the democratic nominee's hands at the state convention?

All of this was shelved Monday while a few selfish ones tried to get control so that if something is done to advance the interest of Negroes, some empty-headed individual could march to the front and say "I did it," etc.

We have the deepest sympathy for and with those who seek to wrest control of the present set-up from Dr. I. W. Young. To our notion they have made a pretty good job of it, from the standpoint of sentiment created against his leadership over the state. There is no question but that the Jefferson convention Monday showed conclusively that the majority of the citizens over the state think that Young's usefulness is ended, and that a stop should be put to his political activities. The very fact that Young slipped students out of the schools without their band instruments and came down borrowing them from Mrs. Breaux, indicates the low depths to which the school has dropped. Dragging students around over the state to play for political meetings and using them in caucases against the adults in Logan county is one of his forts. No educational institution can operate successfully with its president spending all of his time away from the school playing politics. We are fighting to break up this sort of thing, and Mr. Marland's plans will accomplish that end.

The ambition of every Negro democratic should be to have a place in the ranks of the democratic party just as Negroes have in the Republican party. Anything short of this objective is foolish. Mr. Marland's speech was short Monday, but in his few observations he said enough to orient every Negro democrat into the proper direction.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
NEWS
AUG 31 1934

YOUNG DEMOS FOR INFLATION

State League, Meeting Tomorrow, Supports Thomas; May 'Spank' Murray

The autumn campaign, national monetary policies and possibly the attitude of Gov. W. H. Murray will hold the center of attention tomorrow when the State League of Young Democrats holds its annual powwow at Medicine Park.

One group in the league, it was learned, has prepared a resolution spanking Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin, as a "traitor" for "contemptible desertion to the enemy."

Leaders were not certain today whether this condemnation of Cicero's Blue Valley Farmer attacks on E. W. Marland, Democratic nominee, would be introduced tomorrow.

May Withhold Fire

Others are opposed and the temper of the convention likely will determine how far the young Democrats go in attempting to put the state administration "on the spot" in the current campaign.

The Comanche County chapter, under Charles Bledsoe, has finished arrangements for early arrivals expected late today, said Frank O. Hall, sixth district Democratic chairman, in charge.

The convention is expected to indorse the monetary inflation program of U. S. Sen. Elmer Thomas, who will be principal speaker at the banquet tomorrow night.

One of the senator's chief points is opposition to further issuance of interest bearing bonds by the government until the country has used the "accumulated surplus of profits and additional necessary profits in meeting the expenses of government."

Jed Johnson to Speak

Rep. Jed Johnson, Anadarko, sixth district congressman, will be principal speaker at the afternoon session.

State Chairman J. B. Moore, State Secretary Sam Battles, Eugene Mapel, state league president; Mrs. George Martin, vice-chairman; Howard Drake, Marland campaign manager, and others will speak.

Meanwhile, headquarters activities in both camps were increasing. Republican leaders said their campaign machinery is completed and functioning, with a full battery of speakers to be in the field in a few weeks.

The failure thus far of G. O. P. chieftans to get Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee Negro, off the ballot as their corporation commission nominee, saw the Democrats take advantage of the situation by circulating pictures and "Republican State Ticket" cards picturing the Negro candidate beside W. B. Pine, gubernatorial nominee.

Two Delegates at W. Va. Democratic State Meeting

Half of New Democratic Registrations Is Said to be Colored.

HEADQUARTERS TO BE SET UP IN CHARLESTON

Appointments Under New Deal Exceed G.O.P.'s.

CHARLESTON, W.Va. — At a meeting of 200 members of the Colored Democratic State Executive Committee of West Virginia, Chairman Robert G. Kelly said that perhaps more than one-half of the new Democratic registration came from colored ranks.

Achievements of State Committee

I. J. K. Wells, chairman, of the state committee declared the ill-will which existed between the colored and the Democratic party prior to the 1932 election is no more.

Among the Democratic State Executive Committee's achievements, the following were reported:

(1) Colored State Board of Education, (2) Five colored Assistant County Superintendents of Schools. (3) Colored engineer in the State Road Commission. (4) Colored Safety Engineer in the Compensation Department. (5) Colored member of the Barber Board.

Other Achievements

Among other achievements that were reported by the committee was for the first time a plank in the State Platform in which the Democratic Party pledged equal opportunities to all citizens regardless of race or color. A number of minor positions have been secured for colored people in the several departments of the State Government that were never had before, while many colored people have been employed on the highways in minor positions more so than ever before.

To Direct Campaign

Dave S. Ware of Fayette County, veteran political leader and former organizer of the United Mine Workers of West Virginia, treasurer of the Colored Democratic State Executive Committee of West Virginia, and Safety Director in the Department of Mines, is chosen to direct the campaign. He is preparing to secure a leave of absence from his position to do the Democratic Party and the State this service.

Mrs. Awhaneda Pack Hairston of Williamson is chosen as Secretary of Headquarters, while Lloyd G. Smith, prominent Cabell County leader is elected as State Treasurer, with A. B. Grasty, Associate Chairman of McDowell County Democratic Committee and proprietor of the only amusement park for colored people in West Virginia, is elected as assistant treasurer.

Notables Present

Delegates included Robert Alston, Carl T. Hairston, San Swan and Dr. Thompson from Williamson; Wyatt Colquitt from Wairton, N. N. Parker from Clarksburg, Mr. Grayson, from Clarksburg; the Rev. W. B. Womack, George Williams and Thomas Johnson from Elkins; Eddie James from Institute; James Jones, Lee Grant from Cabin Creek; Dr. G. A. Banks from Lakin; Attorney Sweeney from Fayetteville.

Headquarters to be in Charleston

The committee has decided to place headquarters in Charleston. Director Ware and Mrs. Hariston will have complete charge.

DEMOCRAT HITS BACK

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir—I see where Grant Morgan and Milton Hart are writing in defense of the Republican party. Well, all I can say is that neither one knows what he is talking about. Mr. Hart says that there has not been a time since the Civil War when it has been so necessary for the voter to consider well the situation as it exists and act wisely. He seems to fear that we are going to have a dictator similar to Hitler of Germany but he need have no fears so long as Roosevelt is in the White House. If Hoover ever gets back in the limelight, then the possibility of a dictator is at hand.

Abraham Lincoln was a good President but when he died all the good Republican principles died with him. The Republican party was in power too long and Wall Street gained control of it. After a time, the Democratic party, too, will become corrupted because the curse of money ruins almost everything.

Roosevelt has stopped child labor, he wants to put in a shorter working day, old age pensions, and more employment—all things for the good of the people and directed to putting the country back on its feet. Just because Abraham Lincoln, a Republican, freed their race from slavery some sixty years ago, some Negroes still vote Republican. It's [redacted]ble.

It looks to be as though these writers are just trying to elevate themselves in the minds of the colored people. As for having Communistic leanings, I am a better citizen than either of them. I have lived in Trenton for more than 45 years and have always had a good reputation. The reason I defend Roosevelt is because I believe that he is the best President we have had for many years and that he is trying to give everyone a better living.

So, Morgan and Hart, remember that you are not living in 1870 but in 1934, a new era. I voted for Hoover in 1928, but I got sick and tired of looking for prosperity around the corners and so I gave Roosevelt a chance. I think it is every good citizen's duty to help rather than mock him at the slightest pretext. — DEMOCRAT.

TRENTON, N. J.
TIMES
SEP 21 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATIC CLUB MEETS WEDNES.

Savannah, Ga.
Journal

The Colored Democratic Club of Chatham County will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday night, October 3rd at Monroe's chapel. Charles and West Broad at 8 o'clock.

Business of importance to all members and citizens will be discussed including our voting in the general election and also in the municipal primary to be held in December. Plans for the furtherance of the campaign to raise funds to carry the fight against the disfranchisement of colored citizens in the recent primary will also be discussed. 9-29-34

The public is invited to attend all meetings as they have as their basis the improvement of the colored people as a whole.

paid off a $25,000 deficit and ended the year with a surplus of nearly $2,000. In outlining the changed conditions which the policies of the University in confront the nation and the world, Dr. Jones said in part.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

PROVE YOURSELF DEMOCRACY

Ten months have rolled past now since the Democratic National administration swept into office. For twelve long years the majority vote of the country had denied them this honor. This victory made it plain that it was no longer a secret as far as the vote was concerned, that the Republican Party had showed itself thoroughly incapable of meeting the emergencies of the time. In fact if historians of the future prove themselves narrow enough to judge the entire Republican Party by the vacillating leadership of Hoover in the face of a crisis, harsh indeed will be the conclusions.

1-20-34

Now we face a so-called new era, with the Democratic Party serving up their interpretation of government. They are supposedly the party of the people.

From the election of Ulysses S. Grant in 1869 up to the ascendency of Herbert Hoover in 1929 Negro voters were increasingly casting their voting strength with the Republican Party. They aided in placing eleven Presidents from this party with a greater degree of consistency than any other racial group in America, with only three Democrats winning in these fourteen contests. As we look at the records today, this more than sixty years of effort will nigh seems to be "Love's Labor Lost."

In 1932 the Negro had gotten his fill of being ignored and taken for granted. He displayed it by his tremendous switch to the Democratic cause. Most white politicians, either Democratic or Republican, seem to be unable to look beneath the surface and recognize what a fundamental change this one switch presages. They do not seem to know that Republicanism for sixty years meant hopefulness to the Negro despite continued insult. Democracy was the exemplification of hatred and the lynch spirit.

With the increase of the Negro voting power in northern cities Democracy in this section has striven to allay the prejudice of the black man to their cause. After years they met with marked success in 1932. The National Administration seems to have recognized their golden opportunity but the burden of proof is up to the northern states as a whole. As yet some of these states have been winding up for the past ten months but delivering nothing but promises. Strikingly outstanding is the State of Massachusetts, the very place where every inch gained by Negro democratics is worth a mile of progress in many other states, because of this section's traditional background. Yet there were men and women of our group who had the courage to battle through to the finish and carried hundreds of votes to Democracy. Now, this leadership stands back wondering if the Massachusetts Democratic State Committee is about to repudiate their "grand promises" and leave them to the bitter criticism of their people who took the long chance. Right now Massachusetts Democracy has the chance to make the play by immediate action and cessation of soft promises. To date absolutely nothing of significance has been done in proportion to service rendered.

NEGRO DEMOCRATS AT JEFF. CITY ORGANIZE

Angus

The Negro Democratic employees at the state capital, last week organized the Out State Negro Democratic Club by electing the following officers: W. G. Mosely, Kansas City, president; W. T. Sykes St. Louis, 1st vice-president, Arthur Foster, Pemiscot Co. secretary; Jessie Mae Jones, Jefferson City, asst. secretary; James Brashers, Columbia, treasurer; Rev. Isaac Hooker, New Madrid chaplain; E. T. Hogan, Carruthersville and Harry Todd, Jefferson City, sergeants at arms. Fred D. Furguson, undertaker of Sedalia was unanimously elected chairman of the executive committee. Capt. I. H. Jordin, formerly a resident of Kansas City, but for the past fifteen years a resident of Jefferson City was elected Historian. Other chairman of committees were appointed as follows: R. H. Kelly, Columbia, entertainment; Wilbur Berry, Jefferson City, current news and publicity; Howard Galbreath, Fulton, refreshments; Harry Rogers, Richmond, membership.

Headquarters

The functions of the Out State Democratic Club composed of men employed from practically every section of the State where Negroes gave support to the Democratic party last year will be advisory, informative and educational. Headquarters will be maintained in Jefferson City where a bureau of publicity will send out data in newspapers, Democratic Clubs and individuals. The headquarters will also serve as a gathering place for delegations visiting the capital on party or legislative affairs as well as serve as a meeting place where committees may meet and carry on their deliberations.

Educational

The Out State Negro Democratic Club will undertake to plan a program of education to present to the masses, embracing civic, economic and industrial problems along with political issues which will furnish the subject matter for discussion. An annual outing day will be selected as the means by which to carry out such a state wide program. Second to promote solidarity among Negro Democrats an annual banquet day will be established where matters purley political will be the order of the day. It will assist any club in any community of Negro voters, but its membership will be confined to the individual and not composed of representatives from clubs or organization, according to its platform and constitution, which will be presented at its next meeting Thursday evening, February 1, at the Community Center, corner of Dunklin and Linn streets.

BALTIMORE, MD.
EVENING SUN
JAN 2 1934

Roosevelt

By H. L. MENCKEN

[Copyright, 1934, by The Evening Sun. Republication Welcomed When Credit Is Given]

I.

ABOUT some of Dr. Roosevelt's schemes to save us all from ruin, revolution and cannibalism there are rising doubts, but the popularity of the man himself continues, and if he suffers a combat with Congress this Winter he is pretty sure to have the public on his side. In part this is due to his sheer skill as a politician, or as one would say if he were not President of the United States, as a demagogue, but probably in larger part it is due to a widespread and not irrational confidence in his intelligence and courage. We have had so many Presidents who were obvious numskulls that it pleases everyone to contemplate one with an active cortex, and so many who hugged their corners that it is stimulating to have one who leaps out into the ring, and can give as well as take.

The contrast with Hoover is very striking. I pass over Hoover's long and preposterous efforts to deny that there was any Depression, and point to his almost incredibly incompetent dealing with Prohibition. He was too stupid to see that the vast majority of the people were sick of it, and too cowardly to risk the crumbling fangs of the Anti-Saloon League, and in consequence he hung on to the Eighteenth Amendment at least two years too long, and when he turned on it at last he seemed a traitor rather than a hero. Centuries ago some wise man said that though many welcome treason, no one loves a traitor. Poor Hoover discovered the truth of this on the Tuesday following the first Monday in November, 1932. With both drys and wets distrusting and disliking him he went down to ignominious defeat.

The course of Dr. Roosevelt was much more shrewd, candid and bold. He saw clearly back in 1929, when he was a candidate for Governor of New York, that Prohibition was on its way out, and he got upon the wet bandwagon forthwith. In the past he had been more or less friendly to the dry delusion, but he had studiously avoided incurring any debt to the Methodist bishops, and his conversion was thus free of the smell of treason. In the Presidential campaign he spoke out unequivocably, promising the immediate return of beer and the immediate resubmission of the amendment in case of his election. Elected by a huge majority, he straightway undertook to make good on both promises. His resurrection of beer, in fact, was so swift that it lifted the wets to heights of joy from which they have not yet descended, and when repeal followed almost at once they were still sailing the stratosphere, and throwing down tons of roses on Dr. Roosevelt.

II

HE showed his mettle again in the matter of lynching. At the time of the last public butchery on the lower Eastern Shore he was heading for Chestertown, which is on the upper Shore, to receive an honorary degree, an attention inspired by a pedagogical itch to get some free notice and prestige out of him, but the sort of thing that a President can hardly avoid. Obviously, it would have been an indecorum if he had denounced lynching in his address of thanks, for he was in the position of a guest, and could not question the common decency of the neighbors of his hosts. But when the California obscenity followed he was not incommoded by any such obligation, and what he had to say was said quickly, plainly and forcefully. The Eastern Shore assassins, if they have any sense left, now know what he really thinks of them, and what all civilized men think of them.

Hoover was also heard on the subject of the San José civic pageant, but he spoke only as a very private citizen, and after four years of dense silence in the White House. During those four years there were scores of lynchings in the Bible country, and more than one delegation of Aframericans had at him with demands that he denounce the sport, but he said nary a word. It was not difficult to surmise reasons for his holding his tongue. He had carried a large part of the South in 1928 through the efforts of the evangelical Ku Kluxers, which is to say, through the efforts of convinced and habitual lynchers, and he was in hopes of carrying it again in 1932. It is possible, of course, that he had some nobler reason, but if so it did not appear. The colored brethren believed, and still believe, that he was afraid of offending his homicidal friends, and so believing, they voted for Roosevelt.

It took no courage for Hoover to denounce Governor Rolph a few weeks ago. Having learned a lot since 1932, he knows very well that he can never collar another elective office in this life, and so the enmity of bucolic and barbaric evangelical sects is now nothing to him. But it may mean a very great deal to men who are still in politics, as the recent earnest silence of the Maryland job-holders has demonstrated. Not a word has come out of the Goldsboroughs, or out of any other professionals of their class. The local Roosevelts have been few, and when I have mentioned Governor Ritchie, Attorney-General Lane, and the Secretary of State, Mr. Winebrenner, I can think of only two or three others. The rest, like Warden Martin of the City Jail and President Ames of the Johns Hopkins, have been extremely careful not to offend the lynchers.

III

I SUSPECT that a large part of Dr. Roosevelt's hold on the plain people is that they recognize him to be what is called, for a lack of a better word, a gentleman. Most of them, I suppose, would have difficulty defining the term, but all the same they know what it means. A gentleman is one who is somehow superior to the common run. He will fight longer, and he can be trusted further. There is a point, perhaps, at which he, too, will turn and run, and another at which he will sell out his friends to his own advantage, but both points lie far out in space, and much beyond the spot at which an ordinary politician will be ready and even eager to barter his grandmother's false teeth for a job.

The very superiority of such a man causes him to be viewed with a certain uneasiness, for some of his processes of mind are incomprehensible to his inferiors, and he commonly strikes them as a bit stiff and pedantic. He may be, in the ordinary relations of life, what they call a good fellow, and very often he is, but he nevertheless keeps up a considerable dignity, and is never quite a swine among swine. This dignity is resented increasingly as one goes down the scale, and on the lowest levels it encounters an implacable hostility, shot with envy, no doubt easily explicable on Freudian grounds. When a gentleman, by any chance, gets into politics, and especially if he arises to any sizable office, the vermin at the bottom feel uncomfortable in his presence, and are always ready, when it seems safe, to fall on him.

Here, perhaps, we may find a clue to some of the adventures of Governor Ritchie. It is pretty generally recognized that he is superior, in tradition and character, to the common run of Maryland politicians, and this superiority has probably had quite as much to do as his mere political skill with keeping him at Annapolis. The more reflective sort of people have confidence in his fundamental decency. They may believe that he is unwise on occasion, but they do not believe that he is knavish. There are obviously things that he will not do, even to continue in office. But all his qualms and points of honor are bound, soon or late, to alienate the low-down variety of politicians, who have no more notion of honor than so many street-walkers, and with them go the simian half-wits who are their customers. It is useful, in politics, to be decent, if only because it is so rare, but only up to a point. After that, it is hazardous, as Grover Cleveland discovered.

IV

WHETHER or not Dr. Roosevelt will hang on to his principia as long and as tenaciously as Dr. Cleveland, and pay for it in the end by going out of office unthanked and unpopular—this remains to be seen. He is a Roosevelt, and hence, by American standards, a gentleman, and he shows plain signs of being aware of the obligations that go with the character. But as a Roosevelt he is also—a Roosevelt, and that means a born politician. Some of his appointments have certainly involved little apparent sacrifice of political advantage to the public interest. But in this field, perhaps, it is imprudent to ask too much, for a President is elected for four years only, and on the day he takes office he has to begin laying his plans to be reëlected. The persons he must rely upon to achieve that end need not be as dreadful as Hoover's evangelists, but at best they are likely to be pretty bad.

So far, though he has made some lamentable concessions to them, Dr. Roosevelt has kept the whip-hand over the whole outfit, including both the professional politicians and the Brain Trust. He knows how to get rid of men when they become too manifestly liabilities, and he does it without any vain gurgle of apologies. More than any other President since Cleveland, he is his own man. The well-heeled yearners who put up the money for his campaign have all been taken care of, but they have been taken care of in such a way that they have done a minimum of damage to the public interest, and some of them are already on their way out. So with the Brain Trust. Its members have rolled and hollered in the catnip of publicity, and will never be fit for flogging sophomores again, but it must be evident by now that they are not running the White House. All orders still come from the front office, and not infrequently they leave the Brain Trust looking silly.

On this fact we must pin what remains of our trust. The science of government is really very simple, else the world would have gone to pot long ago. The country will remain safe enough for all practical purposes so long as it is in the hands of a man of character, honest, gallant, and mellowed and moderated by a sense of humor. Most Americans, I take it, still believe that Roosevelt answers to these specifications. He will have a free hand while he can keep them thinking so.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS

JAN 30 1934

Negro Democrats Back Judge Dill

Holmes Re-elected to the Presidency; Plan Fete

Officers were re-elected and the candidacy of Judge William L. Dill for the governorship endorsed at the last meeting of the Passaic County Negro Democratic league. The session was held at headquarters, 140 Governor street.

The officers are: Jacob Holmes, president; Henry Moore, first vice-president; Joseph Delaney, second vice-president; Mrs. Lula Turner, secretary; and Mrs. Loretta Carter, treasurer.

The President's birthday will be celebrated tomorrow evening be celebrated this evening by a dance in headquarters. Music will be furnished by the "Hot Shots," of Atlantic City.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
NEWS

FEB 6 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS ELECT OFFICERS

O. B. Jefferson Chosen Chairman Of Party Central Committee

The Negro state Democratic central committee met here yesterday and elected officers.

O. B. Jefferson, attorney, was elected state chairman; Pearl Howard, vice-chairman, and J. Henry Ferguson, secretary. Convention organization included Dr. A. P. Bethel; Prof. A. M. Sa one, J. C. Evans, Prof. W. A. Hill, R. M. Butts, and J. E Roberts.

NEWPORT DEMS MEET

Chronicle
2-17-34
Boston, Mass.

Feel Themselves Slighted

Members of all colored Democratic units held a joint meeting in the Newport Democratic Club last week, at which place matters were under discussion which will bring to light the status of the Newport Colored Democrats in the eyes of the white Democrats of Rhode Island.

The Colored Democratic Clubs here have every reason to feel the slight that has been put upon them.

The Colored Democrats went on record in stating that the recognition as a group of people they have thus far received in the last ten years in this city has come directly from Mayor M. A. Sullivan of the City of Newport. He has persistently at the loss of many of his followers showed the colored people their deserved recognition with positions and jobs.

The Assembly went on record in voting to send him a congratulatory letter for having a colored mechanic taken out of the laborers' class and placed as a mechanic's helper with the promise from the officer in charge that he is to be promoted at the first opportunity.

The Colored Democrats are highly cognizant of the fact that in the last few years the Republicans have made five colored appointments to different jobs here.

People that know colored Newport voters do not expect to see them working to put white men out of office who have given colored Republicans jobs, without giving colored Democrats reserving jobs on the basis of their work in political activities. The Democrats are figuring on a very small number of Newport colored Democratic votes.

Colored voters in Newport as a rule vote the way the jobs go.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

JUN 15 1934

Negro Democrats Meet In First Ward

A large gathering of colored voters was held at 19 North Main street, last evening. The meeting was presided over by Rev. George B. Riley, leader of Negro Democrats. Colored people of the First and Third wards attended and expressed their willingness not only to set up a "Billy Dill club" but to support the Democratic party with George B. Riley as their leader.

A splendid address was made by Mr. Riley in which he mentioned the five jobs that came to negro Democrats this year, one from the county chairman, Charles V. Duffy, two from Freeholder Harry Behrman, two from Commissioner Shortell of the city. Praise for the organization was expressed by the following: William DeGroat. Mrs. Rudean Beno, Miss A. Jackson, Mrs. Marie Nash, Mrs. Elder West, Elder West, Ray DeGroat, Henry Teabout, Marcel Earl, Mrs. M. Mason, Mrs. Clarence Peete and Clarence Peete, who is the chief worker in the ward. Encouraging remarks were made by Al. Mitch, First ward leader, Commissioner Boris Hertzberg, Jack Ackerman, Jack Walsh and Joe Ribuffo who represented the First ward organization.

Wednesday evening June 27, will be permanent organization evening. County Counsel Harry L. Schoen will be the principal speaker. Refreshments will be served.

Political -1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

McDOWELL COUNTY CHIEFTAIN

Courier 6-23-34

A. B. GRASTY

Of Yukon, W. Va., associate chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of McDowell county. He is the only Negro in the State to hold such a position. Grasty is leader of the County Committee in the "free state" of McDowell, the largest and most powerful county, in voting strength, among Negroes in the great little State of West Virginia. Grasty is proprietor of the only Negro amusement park in West Virginia. He recently held a smoker with party moguls in his camp at Yukon. He is level-headed and enjoys the confidence and respect of citizens of both races in both parties in McDowell county.

WELCH, W. VA.
NEWS
MAY 24 1934

COMMUNICATION

The Editor,
Welch Daily News,
Welch, W. Va.
Dear Sir:

Permit me to say a few words in answer to the long dissertation that was published in the Welch Daily News, dated May 15, by Joseph Travis, relative to the organization of the McDowell County Democratic clubs by young Negro men.

What has become of the "Democratic Scare" propagated by high-up Republicans just after the Democratic landslide of the general election of 1932? Instead of the general disfranchisement of Negroes as was predicted, more recognition and positions have been opened to Negroes than ever before in the 71 years West Virginia has been a state.

True it is that in some Southern states the Negroes have been disfranchised. It is also true that in West Virginia the Negroes has been under political bondage in that he could not always vote according to his owr convictions. But by the Grace of God, hard work and a little fore-thought, Negroes can no longer be herded to the polls in mass to vote according to, or for what "Mr. John" wants. The new deal has licensed him to vote according to his opinion. Lincoln in answer to thousands of prayers from turned down tubs and to save the Union, gave our fore-parents freedom from the corn and cotton fields. The new deal has given their grandchildren freedom from political bondage

The Negroes do not want to run McDowell county, as they have been accused of doing, they simply want justice as American man and women. Neither are the Negroes of this county about to appreciate one or two important positions given to members of the group on the eve of the elections, when any "self-respecting Negro man or woman" should know that if these positions are merited now, they were merited by members of our group ten years prior to these elections.

The Negroes of Big Creek District, here in the Free State of McDowell might as well have been in darkest Africa as far as recognition from "Welch" is concerned. Until the recent Democratic elections, this district could boast of two things—the first, that it is the second largest Negro Republican voting district in the county—the second, that for this stoic loyalty year after year, the Negroes of this district have been able to get not even one measley county job, until an attendance officer was appointed by the recently appointed Board of Education.

The wheels of time have ground into dust from over use of the old anti-bellum propaganda that the black vote belongs forever to the G. O. P. "Wise men change—fools never." A new day, a new deal for the new Negro. All praise and honor to the Negro who has the grit and the intestinal fortitude to break the chains that have for 40 years so subtly bound him, and proclaim himself—a man.

Again may I thank you for allowing me space in your liberal paper?

Respectfully,
A. B. GRASTY.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS
JUN 14 1934

Reed President Of Colored Voters

Organization of Republican Unit Accomplished Last Night

Charles Reed was elected president of the Passaic County Colored Voters' association at an organization meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harold Tobias, 14 Clinton street.

The group is a Republican organization. Joseph J. Feenan has been selected as standard bearer of the club which was organized by Mrs. Anna Randolph.

The complete slate of officers includes:

The members appointed to hold the various offices were Charles Reed, president; Mrs. Anna Randolph, vice-president; Mrs. Bertha Tobias, secretary; Mrs. Elias Burns, assistant secretary; Mrs. Maceo Reeves, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Mamie Howard, treasurer.

TWENTY-NINE AT DEM. CONVENTION

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — Twenty-nine colored delegates, the largest number ever to attend a pre-primary Democratic convention, attended the annual two-day sessions of Michigan Democrats, here, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Detroit sent the largest delegation, fifteen coming as representatives of the First, Thirteenth, and Fifteenth Districts.

Among the Detroit delegates were: Mrs. Harold Bleasbe member of the State Central Committee; Mrs. Margarite Hawkins, Mrs. Mayme Donovan, James Eaton, James Orum, Charles Diggs, state organizer for Michigan Democratic League; Edward Swan, George Miller, Fowler;

Mrs. J. C. Garvin, of Muskegun; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Henry, Flint; Jack Stevenson, Fred Dosey, John Brown, John Graham and Oscar Baker, Lansing; Clarence Beeler, and Dr. Claude Evans, Battle Creek; Elmer Byrd, Lansing; and J. Danley, Mason City.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS
JUN 26 1934

Negro Democrats Working For Dill

Rev. Riley Describes Plans At Well Attended Meeting

A plea to support William Dill for Governor was made at the regular weekly meeting of the Passaic County Democratic league on Friday by the Rev. George Bert Riley, the standard bearer of the organization.

Mr. Riley concluded with a passionate plea for a continuance of the existing harmony in order that future objectives might be accomplished.

Dr. Clifford M. Gordon, the league's physician, also addressed the well-attended meeting and made a donation. First vice-president Henry Moore, presided in the absence of the president, Jacob Holmes. Committees headed by Clarence Peete, William Hogan and Miss Alice Wilson, made reports. Three new members were introduced.

The first "Billy Dill Big Social Event," in accordance with one of Mr. Riley's campaign plans, will be given by the league in Hackensack, on Thursday evening, July 12, with Broadway Stompers furnishing the music.

All members present and their friends were invited to meet at Hinchliffe stadium, Friday evening, to boost the William Dill rally.

Political -1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

McDOWELL COUNTY CHIEFTAIN

Courier A. B. GRASTY 6-23-34

Of Yukon, W. Va., associate chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of McDowell county. He is the only Negro in the State to hold such a position. Grasty is leader of the County Committee in the "free state" of McDowell, the largest and most powerful county, in voting strength, among Negroes in the great little State of West Virginia. Grasty is proprietor of the only Negro amusement park in West Virginia. He recently held a smoker with party moguls in his camp at Yukon. He is level-headed and enjoys the confidence and respect of citizens of both races in both parties in McDowell county.

WELCH, W. VA.
NEWS
MAY 24 1934

COMMUNICATION

The Editor,
Welch Daily News,
Welch, W. Va.
Dear Sir:

Permit me to say a few words in answer to the long dissertation that was published in the Welch Daily News, dated May 15, by Joseph Travis, relative to the organization of the McDowell County Democratic clubs by young Negro men.

What has become of the "Democratic Scare" propagated by high-up Republicans just after the Democratic landslide of the general election of 1932? Instead of the general disfranchisement of Negroes as was predicted, more recognition and positions have been opened to Negroes than ever before in the 71 years West Virginia has been a state.

True it is that in some Southern states the Negroes have been disfranchised. It is also true that in West Virginia the Negroes has been under political bondage in that he could not always vote according to his owr convictions. But by the Grace of God, hard work and a little fore-thought, Negroes can no longer be herded to the polls in mass to vote according to, or for what "Mr. John" wants. The new deal has licensed him to vote according to his opinion. Lincoln in answer to thousands of prayers from turned down tubs and to save the Union, gave our fore-parents freedom from the corn and cotton fields. The new deal has given their grandchildren freedom from political bondage

The Negroes do not want to run McDowell county, as they have been accused of doing, they simply want justice as American man and women. Neither are the Negroes of this county about to appreciate one or two important positions given to members of the group on the eve of the elections, when any "self-respecting Negro man or woman" should know that if these positions are merited now, they were merited by members of our group ten years prior to these elections.

The Negroes of Big Creek District, here in the Free State of McDowell might as well have been in darkest Africa as far as recognition from "Welch" is concerned. Until the recent Democratic elections, this district could boast of two things—the first, that it is the second largest Negro Republican voting district in the county—the second, that for this stoic loyalty year after year, the Negroes of this district have been able to get not even one measley county job, until an attendance officer was appointed by the recently appointed Board of Education.

The wheels of time have ground into dust from over use of the old anti-bellum propaganda that the black vote belongs forever to the G. O. P. "Wise men change—fools never." A new day, a new deal for the new Negro. All praise and honor to the Negro who has the grit and the intestinal fortitude to break the chains that have for 40 years so subtly bound him, and proclaim himself—a man.

Again may I thank you for allowing me space in your liberal paper?

Respectfully,
A. B. GRASTY.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS
JUN 14 1934

Reed President Of Colored Voters

Organization of Republican Unit Accomplished Last Night

Charles Reed was elected president of the Passaic County Colored Voters' association at an organization meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harold Tobias, 14 Clinton street.

The group is a Republican organization. Joseph J. Feenan has been selected as standard bearer of the club which was organized by Mrs. Anna Randolph.

The complete slate of officers includes:

The members appointed to hold the various offices were Charles Reed, president; Mrs. Anna Randolph, vice-president; Mrs. Bertha Tobias, secretary; Mrs. Elias Burns, assistant secretary; Mrs. Maceo Reeves, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Mamie Howard, treasurer.

TWENTY-NINE AT DEM. CONVENTION

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — Twenty-nine colored delegates, the largest number ever to attend a pre-primary Democratic convention, attended the initial two-day sessions of Michigan Democrats, here, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Detroit sent the largest delegation, fifteen coming as representatives of the First, Thirteenth, and Fifteenth Districts.

Among the Detroit delegates were: Mrs. Harold Bledsoe member of the State Central Committee; Mrs. Margarite Hawkins, Mrs. Mayme Donovan, James Eaton, James Orum, Charles Diggs, state organizer for Michigan Democratic League; Edward Swan, George Miller, Fowler;

Mrs. J. C. Garvin, of Muskegun; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Henry, Flint; Jack Stevenson, Fred Dosey, John Brown, John Graham and Oscar Baker, Lansing; Clarence Beeler, and Dr. Claude Evans, Battle Creek; Elmer Byrd, Lansing; and J. Danley, Mason City.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS
JUN 26 1934

Negro Democrats Working For Dill

Rev. Riley Describes Plans At Well Attended Meeting

A plea to support William Dill for Governor was made at the regular weekly meeting of the Passaic County Democratic league on Friday by the Rev. George Bert Riley, the standard bearer of the organization.

Mr. Riley concluded with a passionate plea for a continuance of the existing harmony in order that future objectives might be accomplished.

Dr. Clifford M. Gordon, the league's physician, also addressed the well-attended meeting and made a donation. First vice-president Henry Moore, presided in the absence of the president, Jacob Holmes. Committees headed by Clarence Peete, William Hogan and Miss Alice Wilson, made reports. Three new members were introduced.

The first "Billy Dill Big Social Event," in accordance with one of Mr. Riley's campaign plans, will be given by the league in Hackensack, on Thursday evening, July 12, with Broadway Stompers furnishing the music.

All members present and their friends were invited to meet at Hinchliffe stadium, Friday evening, to boost the William Dill rally.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

JUN 25 1934

Passaic County Negro Democratic Club Meets

Judge Dill For Governor Is Rallying Cry For League.

The regular weekly meeting of the Passaic County Negro Democratic league of Friday was splendidly attended. In the absence of the President, Jacob Holmes, the First Vice-President Henry Moore presided. Committees headed by Clarence Peete, William Hogan, and Miss Alice Wilson made good reports. Three new members were introduced.

Dr. Clifford M. Gordon, the league's physician made a very encouragaing address and made a donation. The Rev. George Bert Riley, the standard bearer, made a passionate plea for a continuance of the splendid existing harmony in order that future objectives might be accomplished.

"William Dill for governor, must hold our foremost attention together with all other Democratic nominees. To that end our new activities among our people of the First ward will take the form of a rally on Wednesday evening the 27th, with Harry L. Schoen, county counsel, the principal speaker. The Negroes of Paterson in a well organized manner have now their first real opportunity to work for the election of a real Patersonian statesman, an American who knows no color, for the next governor and therefore we must set a pace for all other communities and organizations throughout the state," he said.

In carrying out one of Mr. Riley's campaign plans the first 'Billy Dill Big Social Event' will be given by the league in Hackensack, on Thursday evening, July 12. Broadway Stompers will furnish music.

The league is preparing, if the cooperation of the party leaders can be obtained, to take the name and record of Judge William Dill to every community by social contacts. All members present and their friends were invited to meet at Hinchliffe stadium, Friday evening, to boost the William Dill rally.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
STAR

JUN 11 1934

MORE PATRONAGE ASKED FOR NEGRO DEMOCRATS

Western Representatives to Call on Farley and Seek Aid.

By the Associated Press.

A group of Representatives today appointed a committee of six to confer with Postmaster General Farley tomorrow in an effort to secure more jobs for Negroes.

Members of the committee are Representatives Burke, Democrat, of Nebraska; Sabath, Democrat, of Illinois; Cole, Democrat, of Maryland; McKeown, Democrat, of Oklahoma; Duncan, Democrat, of Missouri, and Lozier, Democrat, of Missouri.

Burke said he believed that, "in view of the splendid assistance which has been given President Roosevelt by colord Democrats," they were entitled to more recognition on patronage.

Robesonian
Lumberton, N. C.

JUL 2

NEGRO PARTICIPATION IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

To the Editor of The Robesonian.

The inconsistency of the argument that has been used for the last several decades, by the Democrats, regarding negro participation in public affairs, is clearly shown by a recent happening.

During the Hoover administration, Mrs. Hoover invited the wife of Congressman DePriest, negro, to a social function at the White House. The wife of DePriest did not enter the White House but remained on the White House lawn for about thirty minutes and departed. Papers throughout the Southland carried this happening in big headlines. Several of the legislatures of the South passed resolutions condemning this act on the part of Mrs. Hoover. Many Southern members of Congress declared they would not attend any social functions at the White House for fear of having a negro in the party. The hue and cry of it went the bounds of the Southland. Many of us who are Republicans heard no end to it. The Democrats delighted in ridiculing us and allowed no occasion to pass to remind us of it.

Last week Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt came to North Carolina. During her stay here she visited Durham. During one hot afternoon last week she toured the negro section of Durham with C. C. Spaulding, negro, after which she made a talk to some 200 negroes. In her remarks before these negroes she said among other things, "I am happy to see you and be with you and enjoyed riding" etc. At the conclusion of her talk she was presented a bouquet by C. C. Spaulding, negro.

It all depends on whose ox is gored. Had this been the wife of a Republican President, every paper in this country would have carried it in big headlines. Resolutions condemning such acts would have been passed. The rip-snorting Red-Shirters in Congress and elsewhere would have cried out from the housetops. The press would have taken it up. Many editors would have relieved their chesty bosoms of much pent-up philosophy. The cry of social equality and negro domination would have been heard throughout the land. Again children of Republicans would have been reminded, that their daddy belonged to the negro party. We Republicans would have had it called to our attention everytime we met a Democrat.

We are not going to pass our judgment upon these two happenings but we leave it to the reader to judge for himself which of the two happenings reflects the greater trend towards social equality between the races.

The Democrats always use such arguments when it is to their advantage, refusing to inform the public as to the doings of their own party, thus holding thousands of voters in line by making them believe that only Republicans give any consideration to negroes. This has been true of every Democrat administration since the war. The truth of the matter is, when a Democrat does it, it is all right. If a Republican does it, it is all wrong. This has been our contention for years and happenings around Washington during the stay of the present administration bears us out conclusively. Not a finger has been raised and not a word has been spoken through the press condemning any acts that have taken place around Washington since March 4, 1933, regarding negroes and social equality, notwithstanding the fact that a negro was a White House guest as early as Sunday, March 5, 1933.

E. C. PERRY.

Rennert, N. C.

(There was no suggestion of social equality in Mrs. Roosevelt's activities during her recent visit to Durham. Men and women of the South always have been interested in the well-being and advancement of the negro. There is a vast difference between touring a negro section to see what progress was being made, commending the negroes for that progress, and inviting negroes to a social function to mingle with whites.—Editor).

SEDALIA, MO.
DEMOCRAT

JUL 8 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS PLAN BIG RALLY

A state-wide rally for the Democratic Negroes of Missouri is set for August 4, to be held at Liberty Park in Sedalia at which time several thousand Negroes from all over the state will attend to hear many democratic addresses.

Mayor Bernard Dickman, of St. Louis, sent word Friday evening to Fred Ferguson, of this city in charge of the arrangements for the meeting that he would be in Sedalia to give the principal address of the evening. Several state officials including Governor Guy B. Park, have announced their intention to attend the rally.

The United States senatorial candidates and all congressional candidates have been sent invitations to attend the gathering.

The Progressive Democratic Club of Pettis County of which Carl Abbott, is president, is in charge working with the state organization endeavoring to have as many as five thousand Negroes here.

REGISTER
Guthrie Okla.

JUN 28 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATIC RALLY SCHEDULED

A county-wide Negro democratic rally will be held on Monday night, July 2, on Second-st, between Harrison-av and Vilas-av, in Guthrie, it was announced Thursday.

Prominent state and county speakers will be on hand and a large crowd is expected. A forty piece band will furnish a band concert at 8 o'clock. A loud speaker will be provided the speakers.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
DEMOCRAT & CHRONICLE

JUL 7 1934

Negro Democrats

Form Organization

Organization of the Colored Iroquois Democratic League of Western New York with headquarters in Rochester was announced last night by Dr. Alfred E. Pearlman, 1573 East Main Street, reputed negro Democratic leader of Monroe County.

The club has branches in Binghamton, Ithaca, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Lackawana. Units are to be organized in Geneva and Syracuse. When all branches are organized, a convention will be arranged in Buffalo, Doctor Pearlman said. He is being aided in the work by Vann Scott and J. Walter Jones.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS

SEP 25 1934

Colored Democrats to Meet Next Monday

New Headquarters Will Be Officially Opened

The United Colored Democratic Club, of which John Wallen is president, will open its new headquarters at 272 Chestnut Street at a meeting next Monday evening. The organization filed papers of incorporation at the office of the County Clerk Saturday.

Bernard L. Stafford, chairman of the Democratic County Committee, and Robert J. Neilley, vice-chairman, are scheduled to address the club, along with candidates on the Democratic ticket.

A delegation from the club will attend the "Candidates" Night" meeting to be held in Paterson.

The organization will hold a card party on Thursday evening, October 4, and a Hallowe'en party at a later date.

Plans for a house to house canvass of Negro voters in the four wards of the City were furthered.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

The Negro DEMOCRATIC FORUM

Sponsored by the Negro Democrats of Iowa

Spell Binders

The common people are better informed today than at any previous time in history. The affairs of government are not only the daily topic but are the chief subjects broadcasted over the radio. The people are now thinking for themselves and the issues of a campaign are not so beclouded as to be out of their understanding. The vital question with the masses is sustenance; food, housing, employment and old age pensions are uppermost in their minds. Therefore spellbinders are finding it increasingly more difficult to do more than entertain. Their oratory, unless weighted with facts, carries no influence. Today's problems are too insistent to be forgotten in a flood of oratory about old and long forgotten historical incidents.

The main issue of this campaign, as far as the Negro is concerned, is not taxes, liquor control or world war pensions. It is racial. He knows that under whatever party, be it Republican, Democratic, Socialist or what not, to the other fellow he is still a Negro and expected to keep in the Negro's place. The only time and occasion that this is not so is when the Negro unites, not under the same old free-promising Republicans, but also under an opposition. It takes competition in this country to make business and the Iowa Negro Democratic League is surely giving the poor blind mice of the G. O. P. plenty of competition.

Tax Question

(Conclusion of article taken from The New Outlook on the tax question as it operates in the counties.)

By 1933 the results of two years of this sort of economy showed in some very startling national figures. As compared with 1929, library service was reduced nearly 43 per cent in the face of the greatest demand for library services this country has ever known. Park and playground extension practically ceased and maintenance was reduced by 65 per cent. Fire and police appropriations fell off approximatey 27 per cent capital expenditures for schools were reduced by 57 per cent; school maintenance was cut from 2 per cent to 29 per cent in different states.

A reaction has now come which, characteristically, the politicians did not foresee. A Tammany patriot recently remarked, "Reform waves are like bees. They sting you once and then die." This has so long been an axiom in American politics that very few organization leaders know what to do if the reform spirit persists—as witness Cincinnati....and in this case reform not only persisted but stung harder. Many of the leaders of the tax uprising are business men who have had years of ceaseless battling against competition. Such men do not rest after a temporary victory. Finding that their demands were obstructed by their own laws, the tax associations assailed the laws in their state legisatures.

There, in the face of mounting public sentiment, the state political parties are beginning to yield. In Alabama, for instance, one candidate for governor announces a platform with county reorganization as a major issue. In Mississippi several legislative candidates are running on the same issue. Several states, Maryland, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Massachusetts among them, have appointed state planning commissions to work out reorganization methods. In Virginia four counties have adopted the county manager plan and others are considering it. In North Carolina the entire responsibility for education and for highway maintenance has been taken from the counties and centralized in the state. Texas, Ohio, Minnesota and California have adopted sweeping contsitutional changes which will permit any of their counties to adopt advanced forms of local government. Thus for the first time in our history, changes toward efficiency in personnel and in methods of county government are actually making headway, with resultant economies to the taxpayers without curtailing necessary public services.

UTTERBACK

The whole industrial recovery program gets its bearing from the administration at Washington. In national crises the federal governmen always takes the initiative. The personnel of the next congress should contain officials who are in full accord with the program thus far advanced. This year the house of representatives are elected and a section of the senate. The Democrats initiated this program. The full responsibility should be theirs.

Now the house is composed of about 340 members and the makeup of its representation will governl largely whether the furtherance of the New Deal to its ultimate success. The Sixth district is at present represented by C. C. Dowell, a representative who has two decades of official life in Washington. Mr. Dowell cannot be said to be a friend of the "New Deal." His voting record is either not voting, absent or paired. His whole concept of governmental obligation is dictated by the Republican High Command. He has not distinguished himself or sponsored legislation that would give him a place among Iowa's statesmen. The Sixth district is Iowa's most important and has been represented by notable men. In fact, Congressman Dowell has made a record of Iowa's chief dispenser of patronage and seeds.

Judge Hubert Utterback, the Democratic nominee, has a particular appeal to the Negro voters, as he has been a member of the Interracial Commission since its inception; been much interested in the juvenile movement and conspicuous in advancing the same. His name in judicial circles rates the highest. Judge Utterback has a thorough sympathy for the consummation of the 'New Deal." His well-rounded public service career will make him a worthy addition to the official family. Negro voters should vote for the friends and supporters of the New Deal. Organized capital is striking, waiting to break the morale of the New Dealers. Vote the ticket straight.

Henry U. Mease.

Negro Is Thinking

The new magnet of public interest is 522 Grand avenue, the Negro Democratic headquarters for state and county organizations. East, west, north and south voters are stepping up and registering with the organization. This is the first time in the history of the state that the public has been so impressed with the independence of Negro thinkers. They know now that, like all other races, the Negro thinks on more than one side of a national question. After a while they will no longer think a black man is a peculiar creature different from other human species.

Answer To Roscoe Conkling Simmons

By W. Lawrence Oliver

With all due respect to the Honorable Mr. Simmons, I am still trying to figure out where he got his title of being an orator. Be it as it may, I would say his oratorical substance is by far seventy years behind time. I wish to apologize for anything that I may say later in the way of debunking Honorable Mr. Simmons, but I feel that the public attention should be called to the other side of the story. With special reference to Honorable Mr. Dowell and how he has always been on the job where Negroes were concerned, I ask somebody to tell me where Mr. Dowell was when all the legislation was passed in congress that has caused over twenty-five millions of dollars to come into Iowa for the poor people? How did he vote on various matters that kept fifty thousand families in food, clothing and shelter last winter? The first thing Mr. Dowell put before the audience last Saturday night was a newspaper dispatch about Texas. I wonder if he believes we can't read and that we are ignorant on the problems which Texas has to solve? Everything that he said was put in a way you would talk to primary children that were just starting to school and didn't know how to read for themselves, much less understanding what they might read. I wonder again if Mr. Dowell knows that Iowa leads in intelligence in North America and that we have read history and newspapers just as he has. From what I heard, I think it was a slam on the intelligence of the Iowa Negro to quote some event that happened in Texas rather than to tell us what he had done to help our cause in all of his twenty years in congress. Is there any difference in using liquor to put over a campaign speech than to quote what happened in Texas to arouse our sentiment Maybe there is, but to date I haven't been able to figure it out. From the way Mr. Simmons swayed in his posture at the beginning of his speech, it seemed as though Mr. Dowell had used the former on him.

Now to Mr. Simmons. He related to Texas and that Ozzie Simmons had to come to Iowa to play football. That I don't deny, and furthermore when he finished I bet my life to a dime with a hole in it that Ozzie will have to go back to Texas to coach football, too. Why is that? And this is Iowa. ANSWER ME, REPUBLICANS. I know girls that finish Drake and Iowa university with master's degrees and then go into some person's kitchen and cook. But they don't do it in Texas. Why is swer me. (Concluded next week in this column.)

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
TIMES

OCT 19 1934

OCRATIC PARTY
NEGROES

E.

Whether Benjamin A. Osborne, who assumes the role of spokesman for the Negro in Indianapolis, deliberately or mistakenly misstates facts makes little difference, but in his efforts to assist the Democrats he has gone far afield from actualities. He praises the President for unprejudiced, thoughtful statesmanship for selecting a Negro or two for responsible positions in the Virgin Islands, which were acquired from Denmark, and the population of which is nearly wholly Negro.

In making this long jump to the Virgin Islands, he bounced over Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and other southern Democratic states.

He would have done well and learned much if in his long jump to the Virgin Islands he had stopped over in the "dark south," as it is to the Negro. The basic foundation of the Democratic party is the "solid south" and he should have talked with some of the overlords of the Democratic party on his way to these faraway islands.

He could have gotten the southern Democrats' feeling for the Negro from Representative Homer C Parker of Georgia, who, when interviewed in December, 1932, as to whether or not congress should authorize action on the repeal of the prohibition amendment by conventions rather than by the legislatures, said, in part:

"If we should permit the federal government to call a constitutional convention in Georgia for the purpose of repealing the eighteenth amendment, a precedent would therefore be established whereby the federal government might later call a constitutional convention in Georgia and other states to reduce the number of Georgia's representatives in congress because of the fact we have successfully disfranchised the Negro in our state."

Then Mr. Osborne could have, with benefit to himself and others of his frame of mind, visited the seven youths who twice have been convicted of murder, solely on account of their color. He should a have spoken to the prosecutors of the Negro young man who was convicted and sentenced to eighteen years' imprisonment for exercising his right of free speech, under a pre-slavery statute forbidding urging the Negro slave to insurrection.

He should also have made a trip to Mississippi and learn that in one month last year seven Negro firemen employed by the Illinois Central railroad in that state were killed for refusing to relinquish their jobs to white men, and that in that same period twelve others were seriously wounded for the same reason.

In New Orleans, according to press dispatches of a few days ago he would have learned that a Democratic leader declared that Louisiana was still a slave state. Does Mr. Osborne hold a job under the Democrats or is he a pay roll "race man?" Let Mr. Osborne bear in mind that it is not so much what the Deomcratic party does "for" a few individuals that counts. It's what the Democratic party does "to" the Negro that is important.

UNION CITY, N. J.
HUDSON DISPATCH

OCT 23 1934

RALLY TONIGHT FOR NEGRO DEMOCRATS

Leaders Scheduled to Speak—Back Moore, Dill

Negro Democrats of Hudson County will meet tonight at School 14, in Jersey City, at a rally sponsored by the New Era Colored Democracy of New Jersey, to boost the candidacies of Gov. A. Harry Moore and William L. Dill, party nominees for United States senator and governor, respectively, and the rest of the Democratic ticket.

Speakers, according to the announcement, will include Mayor Frank Hague, Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward J. Hart, of Jersey City, candidate for member of the House of Representatives in the 14th Congressional District; Counselor Robert M. Yancey, of Newark and Counselor Robert S. Hartgrove of Jersey City, who was appointed deputy attorney general yesterday by Attorney General David T. Wilentz. Dr. H. R. Furlonge will preside.

United States Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican opponent of Gov. Moore, will be criticized for his vote in the Senate to confirm President Hoover's nomination of Judge Parker, of North Carolina, for associate justice of the Supreme Court. Confirmation was denied after protests had been registered by American Federation of Labor and Negro organizations throughout the country.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL

OCT 18 1934

DEMOCRATS PLAN 4 RALLIES TONIGHT

Democrats will sponsor four rallies Thursday night in the interest of the candidacies of Emmet O'Neal for Congress, James W. Stites for Judge of the Court of Appeals and W. Lawrence Ott for Constable of the Second Magisterial District. All of the meetings will be held at 8 o'clock.

The Beechmont Democratic Club is to meet at Fifth and Ashland Streets. Speakers will be Luther M. Roberts, Mr. O'Neal and M. Stites.

Judge John B. Branchey, Judge Joseph J. Hancock, Shackleford Miller, Jr., and W. Lawrence Ott are on the programme for a rally under the auspices of the Highland Park Democratic Club to be held at the Masonic Hall, Park Boulevard and Wampum Streets.

The South Louisville Democratic Club is scheduled to meet at Carlisle and Woodruff Streets, where W. C. Edrington and Mr. Ott will speak.

Negro Democrats have arranged a meeting at Brook and Liberty Streets. Speakers include C. Eubanks Tucker, the Rev. J. H. D. Bailey, Prof. J. A. Moran, Tyree Bateman, Robert McGruder, E. E. Pruitt and Mr. Ott.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
NEWS

OCT 22 1934

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD SERIES OF MEETINGS

U. S. Assistant Attorney General George C. Sweeney, of Washington, D. C., will address a rally of the First, Third and Tenth ward Democrats at the Mary C. I. Williams school, Thursday night.

Magistrate Edward W. Henry, of Philadelphia, will address a Negro Democratic rally Friday night.

Other Democratic meetings announced, follow: tonight, School No. 3, New Castle, with Joseph A. L. Errigo, candidate for register of wills; Henry E. Snavely, candidate from the Tenth Representative District; Joseph A. Doto, candidate for recorder of deeds; Representative Scott E. Rees, nominee for State Auditor, and A. B. Tribuiani as speakers.

Wednesday, Middletown, with City Auditor Zack W. Wells the speaker; Marshallton, with Mr. Errigo and Maurice Walsh as the speakers.

Thursday, New Castle Opera House, with Ivan Culbertson, Wilmington attorney, and the candidate as the speakers.

Friday, Grange Hall at Talleyville with Mr. Walsh, Hugh F. Gallagher Mr. Errigo and William Smith, Jr., candidate for coroner, as the speakers.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
HERALD POST

OCT 20 1934

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Three Democratic rallies in behalf of Emmet O'Neal, nominee for Congress; James W. Stites, candidate for judge of the Court of Appeals, and W. Lawrence Ott, candidate for constable of the Second Magisterial District, will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night in various parts of the city and county.

The three candidates will speak at a rally at Fern Creek, with Martin J Conners also on the program. Mark Beauchamp, Luther M. Roberts and Kendrick Lewis will speak at a rally sponsored by St. Helens Democratic Club at the Cane Run Improvement Club.

Negro Democrats have scheduled meeting at Ninth and Walnut Streets at which Mr. Ott, C. Eubanks Tucker, Prof. J. A. Noran, J. H. Petrie and Rev. J. H. D. Bailey will speak. The St. Matthews Democratic Club will sponsor a dance at the American Legion Hall in St. Matthews.

TRENTON, N. J.
TIMES

OCT 19 1934

Candidates Address Colored Democrats

Seven hundred persons attended a rally of colored Democrats last night at the Elks quarters on Fowler Street. William L. Dill, Democratic candidate for governor, was among the speakers. Armond W. Scott, Negro lawyer of Washington, spoke for Governor Moore, the Senate candidate. The complete slate of county candidate was also heard.

Arrangements for the rally were made by Dr. Leroy Morris who presided. He introduced Frank S. Hartgrove, Negro Jersey City lawyer, who outlined the Democratic claim for support.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

OCT 18 1934

Negro Democrats Open Headquarters

Headquarters for the Negro Democratic club have been opened at 522 Grand ave. with Theodore Martin, sr., in charge, it was announced Wednesday.

Martin is being assisted by Henry Nease, Gertrude North and Doc White.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND
NEWS

OCT 20 1934

Democratic Party and Negroes

To the Editor of The News:

Indianapolis Negroes arguing that the Democratic party is their friend should look at Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and other southern states for the southern Democrat's feeling for the Negro. Congressman Homer C. Parker, of Georgia, who when interviewed by the Associated Press in December, 1932, as to whether or not congress should authorize action on the repeal of the prohibition amendment by convention rather than by the legislature, said in part: "If we should permit the federal government to call a constitutional convention in Georgia for purpose of repealing the Eighteenth amendment, a precedent would be established whereby the federal government might later call a constitutional convention in Georgia and other states to reduce the number of Georgia's representatives in congress, because of the fact we have successfully disfranchised the Negro in our state."

LAWRENCE B. EVANS.

SHARON, PA.
HERALD

OCT 18 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR MEETING

Thorn B. Hamilton of Pittsburgh, fee attorney for the HOLC, will address a meeting of Shenango Valley Democratic colored voters to be held Saturday night, the place to be announced.

All colored voters of the valley are invited. Members of the race have been waiting for considerable time to hear a colored leader acquainted with the present political campaign. Attorney Hamilton comes to them highly recommended.

WICHITA, KANS.
MORNING EAGLE

OCT 23 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS MEET

Colored Democrats interested in the old age pension bill and in the continuation of President Roosevelt's new deal program are invited to attend a meeting at 8 p. m. today at the Democratic colored headquarters, 1001 East Thirteenth. The call is issued by Ernest DeFrance.

night. The addresses were before an audience composed of all Democratic Negro groups in Decatur.

DECATUR, ILL.
REVIEW

OCT

ADDRESS NEGRO DEMOS.

President Roosevelt's administration is benefitting the Negro race, W. B. Bruce and C. W. Tinsley, Springfield Negro lawyers, declared in a meeting in Democratic headquarters in Decatur Wednesday

when he finished I bet my life to a dime with a hole in it that Ozzie will have to go back to Texas to coach football, too. Why is that? And this is Iowa. ANSWER ME, REPUBLICANS. I know girls that finish Drake and Iowa university with master's degrees and then go into some person's kitchen and cook. But they don't do it in Texas. Why is swer me. (Concluded next week in this column.)

count of their color. He should a have spoken to the prosecutors of he Negro young man who was convicted and sentenced to eighteen years' imprisonment for exercising his right of free speech, under a pre-slavery statute forbidding urging the Negro slave to insurrection. He should also have made a trip o Mississippi and learn that in one month last year seven Negro firemen employed by the Illinois Central railroad in that state were killed for refusing to relinquish their jobs to white men, and that in that same period twelve others were seriously wounded for the same reason.

In New Orleans, according to press dispatches of a few days ago he would have learned that a Democratic leader declared that Louisiana was still a slave state. Does Mr. Osborne hold a job under the Democrats or is he a pay roll "race man?" Let Mr. Osborne bear in mind that it is not so much what the Deomcratic party does "for" a few individuals that counts. It's what the Democratic party does "to" the Negro that is important.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
TIMES

OCT 19 1934

OCRATIC PARTY
NEGROES

E.

Whether Benjamin A. Osborne, who assumes the role of spokesman for the Negro in Indianapolis, deliberately or mistakenly misstates facts makes little difference, but in his efforts to assist the Democrats he has gone far afield from actualities. He praises the President for unprejudiced, thoughtful statesmanship for selecting a Negro or two for responsible positions in the Virgin Islands, which were acquired from Denmark, and the population of which is nearly wholly Negro.

In making this long jump to the Virgin Islands, he bounced over Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and other southern Democratic states.

He would have done well and learned much if in his long jump to the Virgin Islands he had stopped over in the "dark south," as it is to the Negro. The basic foundation of the Democratic party is the "solid south" and he should have talked with some of the overlords of the Democratic party on his way to these faraway islands.

He could have gotten the southern Democrats' feeling for the Negro from Representative Homer C Parker of Georgia, who, when interviewed in December, 1932, as to whether or not congress should authorize action on the repeal of the prohibition amendment by conventions rather than by the legislatures, said, in part:

"If we should permit the federal government to call a constitutional convention in Georgia for the purpose of repealing the eighteenth amendment, a precedent would therefore be established whereby the federal government might later call a constitutional convention in Georgia and other states to reduce the number of Georgia's representatives in congress because of the fact we have successfully disfranchised the Negro in our state."

Then Mr. Osborne could have, with benefit to himself and others of his frame of mind, visited the seven youths who twice have been convicted of murder, solely on ac-

UNION CITY, N. J.
HUDSON DISPATCH

OCT 23 1934

RALLY TONIGHT FOR NEGRO DEMOCRATS

Leaders Scheduled to Speak—Back Moore, Dill

Negro Democrats of Hudson County will meet tonight at School 14, in Jersey City, at a rally sponsored by the New Era Colored Democracy of New Jersey, to boost the candidacies of Gov. A. Harry Moore and William L. Dill, party nominees for United States senator and governor, respectively, and the rest of the Democratic ticket.

Speakers, according to the announcement, will include Mayor Frank Hague, Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward J. Hart, of Jersey City, candidate for member of the House of Representatives in the 14th Congressional District; Counselor Robert M. Yancey, of Newark and Counselor Robert S. Hartgrove of Jersey City, who was appointed deputy attorney general yesterday by Attorney General David T. Wilentz. Dr. H. R. Furlonge will preside.

United States Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican opponent of Gov. Moore, will be criticized for his vote in the Senate to confirm President Hoover's nomination of Judge Parker, of North Carolina, for associate justice of the Supreme Court. Confirmation was denied after protests had been registered by American Federation of Labor and Negro organizations throughout the country.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL

OCT 18 1934

DEMOCRATS PLAN 4 RALLIES TONIGHT

Democrats will sponsor four rallies Thursday night in the interest of the candidacies of Emmet O'Neal for Congress, James W. Stites for Judge of the Court of Appeals and W. Lawrence Ott for Constable of the Second Magisterial District. All of the meetings will be held at 8 o'clock.

The Beechmont Democratic Club is to meet at Fifth and Ashland Streets. Speakers will be Luther M. Roberts, Mr. O'Neal and M. Stites.

Judge John B. Branchey, Judge Joseph J. Hancock, Shackleford Miller, Jr., and W. Lawrence Ott are on the programme for a rally under the auspices of the Highland Park Democratic Club to be held at the Masonic Hall, Park Boulevard and Wampum Streets.

The South Louisville Democratic Club is scheduled to meet at Carlisle and Woodruff Streets, where W. C. Edrington and Mr. Ott will speak.

Negro Democrats have arranged a meeting at Brook and Liberty Streets. Speakers include C. Eubanks Tucker, the Rev. J. H. D. Bailey, Prof. J. A. Moran, Tyree Bateman, Robert McGruder, E. E. Pruitt and Mr. Ott.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
NEWS

OCT 22 1934

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD SERIES OF MEETINGS

U. S. Assistant Attorney General George C. Sweeney, of Washington, D. C., will address a rally of the First, Third and Tenth ward Democrats at the Mary C. I. Williams school, Thursday night.

Magistrate Edward W. Henry, of Philadelphia, will address a Negro Democratic rally Friday night.

Other Democratic meetings announced, follow: tonight, School No. 3, New Castle, with Joseph A. L. Errigo, candidate for register of wills; Henry E. Snavely, candidate from the Tenth Representative District; Joseph A. Doto, candidate for recorder of deeds; Representative Scott E. Rees, nominee for State Auditor, and A. B. Tribuiani as speakers.

Wednesday, Middletown, with City Auditor Zack W. Wells the speaker; Marshallton, with Mr. Errigo and Maurice Walsh as the speakers.

Thursday, New Castle Opera House, with Ivan Culbertson, Wilmington attorney, and the candidate as the speakers.

Friday, Grange Hall at Talleyville with Mr. Walsh, Hugh F. Gallagher, Mr. Errigo and William Smith, Jr., candidate for coroner, as the speakers.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
HERALD POST

OCT 20 1934

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Three Democratic rallies in behalf of Emma O'Neal, nominee for Congress; James W. Stites, candidate for judge of the Court of Appeals, and W. Lawrence Ott, candidate for constable of the Second Magisterial District, will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night in various parts of the city and county.

The three candidates will speak at a rally at Fern Creek, with Martin J Conners also on the program. Mark Beauchamp, Luther M. Roberts and Kendrick Lewis will speak at a rally sponsored by St. Helens Democratic Club at the Cane Run Improvement Club.

Negro Democrats have scheduled meeting at Ninth and Walnut Streets at which Mr. Ott, C. Eubanks Tucker, Prof. J. A. Noran, J. H. Petrie and Rev. J. H. D. Bailey will speak. The St. Matthews Democratic Club will sponsor a dance at the American Legion Hall in St. Matthews.

TRENTON, N. J.
TIMES

OCT 19 1934

Candidates Address Colored Democrats

Seven hundred persons attended a rally of colored Democrats last night at the Elks quarters on Fowler Street. William L. Dill, Democratic candidate for governor, was among the speakers. Armond W. Scott, Negro lawyer of Washington, spoke for Governor Moore, the Senate candidate. The complete slate of county candidate was also heard.

Arrangements for the rally were made by Dr. Leroy Morris who presided. He introduced Frank S. Hartgrove, Negro Jersey City lawyer, who outlined the Democratic claim for support.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

OCT 18 1934

Negro Democrats Open Headquarters

Headquarters for the Negro Democratic club have been opened at 522 Grand ave. with Theodore Martin, sr., in charge, it was announced Wednesday.

Martin is being assisted by Henry Nease, Gertrude North and Doc White.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND
NEWS

OCT 20 1934

Democratic Party and Negroes

To the Editor of The News:

Indianapolis Negroes arguing that the Democratic party is their friend should look at Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and other southern states for the southern Democrat's feeling for the Negro. Congressman Homer C. Parker, of Georgia, who when interviewed by the Associated Press in December, 1932, as to whether or not congress should authorize action on the repeal of the prohibition amendment by convention rather than by the legislature, said in part: "If we should permit the federal government to call a constitutional convention in Georgia for purpose of repealing the Eighteenth amendment, a precedent would be established whereby the federal government might later call a constitutional convention in Georgia and other states to reduce the number of Georgia's representatives in congress, because of the fact we have successfully disfranchised the Negro in our state."

LAWRENCE B. EVANS.

SHARON, PA.
HERALD

OCT 18 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR MEETING

Thorn B. Hamilton of Pittsburgh, fee attorney for the HOLC, will address a meeting of Shenango Valley Democratic colored voters to be held Saturday night, the place to be announced.

All colored voters of the valley are invited. Members of the race have been waiting for considerable time to hear a colored leader acquainted with the present political campaign. Attorney Hamilton comes to them highly recommended.

WICHITA, KANS.
MORNING EAGLE

OCT 23 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS MEET

Colored Democrats interested in the old age pension bill and in the continuation of President Roosevelt's new deal program are invited to attend a meeting at 8 p. m. today at the Democratic colored headquarters, 1001 East Thirteenth. The call is issued by Ernest DeFrance.

DECATUR, ILL.
REVIEW

OCT 18

ADDRESS NEGRO DEMOS.

President Roosevelt's administration is benefitting the Negro race, W. B. Bruce and C. W. Tinsley, Springfield Negro lawyers, declared in a meeting in Democratic headquarters in Decatur Wednesday. The addresses were before an audience composed of all Democratic Negro groups in Decatur.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

OMAHA, NEB.
MORNING BEE NEWS
OCT 28 1934

Bauman Endorsed

The Negro Nonpartisan Voter and Civic league endorsed Otto Bauman, county treasurer and Democratic candidate for re-election, last week, but his name was omitted by mistake from the list of those endorsed. The league will hold nightly meetings at 2417 No. 24th St. beginning Monday night to arouse interest in its slate. Bauman and other candidates will speak at the league meeting Friday night.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT
OCT 22 1934

Colored Democrats Will Meet Tonight

"Why I Am a Democrat" will be the topic of a general discussion at a meeting of the Colored Democratic Club, to be held this evening at the club's headquarters on Bellevue Street. A number of Republicans are expected to attend the meeting according to Secretary Henry T. Mitchell of the club.

Also at tonight's meeting arrangements will be made for a rally of Negro voters, to be held on Thursday night. The speakers at the rally will be Congressman Herman P. Kopplemann, candidate for reelection; Attorney Edward J. Daly, candidate for attorney-general, and Robert F. Claffey, candidate for state senator.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER
OCT 24 1934

Heilman Will Speak To E. Orange Democrats

Warren B. Heilman and other candidates will speak tonight at a meeting of the First Ward Democratic Club of East Orange. The meeting will be in Franklin School and Governor Moore is expected to be present during the program.

Mayor Charles H. Martens of East Orange was a speaker last night at meetings in the Elmwood Republican Club, the North End Republican Club and at a gathering of the Associated Colored Clubs in the Vernon Davey Junior High School.

Harry J. Christensen, Fourth Ward Democratic candidate for council of East Orange, spoke last night at a meeting of the Fourth Ward in the headquarters.

Speakers' Bureau Head

PETRY FISHER,
Detroit newspaper man and member of the Michigan State Conservation Commission, who has recently been named chairman of the speakers' bureau of the colored division of Michigan Democrats.

DECATUR, ILL.
HERALD
OCT 25 1934

NEGRO RAILS DEMOCRATS BEFORE 500

Roscoe Simmons Declares His Race Owes Debt to Republicans

HAS STYLE OF OWN

An eloquent appeal to Negro voters to vote Repubican "on principle" was made by Roscoe Conklin Simmons, noted Negro orator, in an address Wednesday night in the Decatur high school auditorium.

About 500 people braved a rainstorm to hear the famed Simmons oratory and they weren't disappointed. For two hours he held his audience, bringing gales of laughter and applause without resorting to personalities, recriminations or other familiar tricks of politicians. It was a campaign speech that was different.

Says Negroes Have Debt

That Negroes never will repay their debt to the party of Lincoln was the theme of the address. Now and then he stepped down from the higher planes of his oratory to poke sarcastic fun at the Democrats and these sallies never failed to bring roars from the audience.

An example was when he declared the Republican party was "born to run the government; when the Republican party isn't running it there is no government—there's just something going on."

The Democratic party, he stressed, is one of sectionalism. "In Decatur, I am invited to be a Democrat; in Alabama, I'm forbidden to be one. The Democratic party welcomes me only where I have a vote."

Because of this "discrimnation," Decatur's 1,200 Negro voters should stick with the Republican party, he argued.

Has Distinctive Manner

Slight of build, auburn haired and wearing a flowing black Windsor tie, Simmons' appearance and manner on the platform was as distinctive as his oratory. He displayed a complete mastery of gestures and inflection. He walked constantly back and forth across the platform, often turning his back to the audience and speaking directly to former Congressman Charles Atkins, Chairman R. H. Hackley and others on the rostrum.

Mr. Simmons is a Chicago attorney whose most famous speech was delivered at the 1932 Republican convention when he seconded the nomination of Herbert Hoover. He declared last night he has no apologies to offer for that action, describing Mr. Hoover as "one of the great intellects of the age."

Says Roosevelt Can't Last

In the next breath he declared that history bears out his contention that a "Democratic administration never was successful." He believes the popularity of President Roosevelt will not last.

"It will be with Roosevelt like all the rest," he continued. "No party built to keep men down, as the Democratic party always tried to keep me down, can ever hold a man up. They tell me Roosevelt is popular. They say he is more popular than I. And to this I say give me 20 billion dollars, and every white man in Decatur will be shouting tomorrow: 'Where's Simmons—where's he live—which way did he go?'"

A short talk by Charles H. Fletcher, candidate for congress, and music by a Negro male quartet and a mixed chorus rounded out the program. About half the audience was Negroes.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER
OCT 27 1934

Parker to Address Negro Democrats

William H. Parker, St. Louis, Mo., Negro, will tell the Iowa Negro Democratic league of the "New Deal and the Negro in the National Administration" at a rally in East High school Monday night.

Parker is an attorney in the St. Louis city legal department. Governor Herring has been invited to welcome league delegates and visitors from over the state.

Hubert Utterback, former district judge and candidate for congress in the sixth district, will address [illegible]

[illegible] ENTERPRISE
Elkins, W. Va.
OCT 11 1934

Negro Democratic Officia's

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 6th—Organization for activities of the Democratic Negroes of the State was completed here today with the announcement from Robert G. Kelly, Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, of the appointment of S. Brady Briggs, Hinton, as Executive Vice-Chairman in charge of Negro Democratic Headquarters.

Mr. Kelly in announcing the appointment said, "indications from all over the State and particularly from counties with large Negro populations, are that Negroes are declaring their intentions of supporting the Democratic Party in appreciation of the recognition given their race by the National and State administrations. They are not only registering the Democrats by the tens of thousands but are talking Democracy on the streets, in the mines and in their homes."

In addition, Mr. Kelly announced the appointment of F. G. Blackman, Bluefield, as Chairman of the Speakers' Bureau for the Negro Democratic Headquarters located in Charleston and Dave S. Ware who was named Director of Field Work.

Mrs. A. P. Hairston, of Williamson, has been named Secretary; L. G. Smith of Huntington, Treasurer; A. B. Grasty of Yokun, Assistant Treasurer and R. T. Joran as Publicity Director.

With the completion of the Negro Democratic Organization at State Headquarters plans are now being made for a gigantic opening of the campaign next week featured by the annual Kump State Dinner.

HARRISBURG, PA.
NEWS
OCT 26 1934

Colored Democrats to Hold Rally Next Week

Colored Democrats are planning for a rally here next Thursday evening when Dr. Kelly Miller, dean emeritus of Howard University, will be the principal speaker.

Motorcades from nine nearby counties are being arranged for and there will be a parade at 6 o'clock in the evening. The meeting will be held at the Chestnut Street Auditorium, starting at 7.30 o'clock.

Other speakers will be Robert L. Vann, assistant United States Attorney General; Judge Edward Henry, Philadelphia; W. Justin Carter, Harrisburg; Mrs. Joseph H. Rainey and Paul F. Jones, Pittsburgh.

The National Association for Advancement of Colored People has asked the 500,000 Negroes in Pennsylvania to vote against David A. Reed, Republican candidate for the Senate "because Reed voted for confirmation of Judge Parker to the United States Supreme Court after Parker had openly declared he was against economic and political equality for the Negro."

ST. LOUIS, MO.
STAR TIMES
OCT 24 1934

NEGRO EMPLOYES OF CITY GIVING TO DEMOCRATIC FUND

Contributing One Per Cent o Year's Pay After Talk by Assistant Counselor.

Following a talk by David Grant Negro assistant city counselor, Negro employes at the city stables, Vandeventer avenue and Forest Park boulevard, are contributing 1 per cent of their salaries to the Democratic city campaign fund.

Grant's talk was made on pay day, October 17, two days after Mayor Dickmann issued a statement that no city employe would be assessed for political purposes.

Four Negro employes at the stables told a reporter for the Star-Times that most of the 125 Negroes in the refuse department had contributed from $6 to $7.50 each to a Democratic worker who was at the stables immediately after Grant's talk.

They said that Grant had not told them they were compelled to contribute to the fund, but one employe said that a stable boss had told them they were supposed to contribute 1 per cent of a year's salary.

The wage scale in the refuse department ranges from $100 to $220 monthly. One per cent contributions thus range from $12 to $26 which the Negroes are paying in two installments.

It was learned today that certain city employes who have been active in Democratic campaign work have been soliciting contributions from other employes. Workers have been told they are not required to pay. If they ask how much they should contribute, the solicitors usually suggest 1 per cent of their salaries. With approximately 6,000 city employes some observers have predicted the total contributions will amount to $15,000 or $20,000.

Joseph R. Slay, brother of Alderman John Slay and superintendent of the city stables, told a reporter he had solicited no contributions and that Grant made it clear workers need not contribute against their will.

Several refuse wagon drivers declared a foreman and inspector had told them they were required to contribute. Slay denied this had been done.

Grant told a reporter he talked at both the stables and the city asphalt plant, Kingshighway boulevard and De Tonty street, on behalf of the Democratic organization of his own volition. He said he explained to the employes that they were not "compelled or under any obligations to contribute," but that any contributions they might desire to make would be acceptable. He declared he called particular attention to the mayor's statement that no pressure would be exerted upon any employe.

Thirty employes, the reporter was told, did not contribute to the fund last pay day. One of them, a garbage wagon driver, informed the reporter that he intended to contribute his 1 per cent on his next pay day.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER
OCT 22 1934

Moore and Dill Tour in Union County Today

Two Meetings in Elizabeth, Others in Plainfield, Rahway, Linden Set

Gov. Moore, Democratis candidate for U. S. Senator and Judge William L. Dill, Democratic candidate for governor, will carry their campaigns back into Union county today.

Both candidates will speak tonight at the Elizabeth Elks club; Falcon's hall, 157 Third street, Elizabeth; Plainfield High School; Rahway High School, and Linden School No. 1, Wood avenue and Curtis street.

21 Meetings Addressed

Gov. Moore and Judge Dill completed one of their busiest weeks last Saturday, addressing two meetings during the day, one in Trenton and the other in Elizabeth. During the week, they spoke at 21 meetings, swinging through the southern and central portions of the State.

With Congresswoman Mary T. Norton, women of Hunterdon, Somerset and Mercer counties attended the Trenton rally. Gov. Moore, in discussing issues of the campaign, singled out the New Deal, declaring present figures show much improved conditions under President Roosevelt.

Judge Dill discussed his tax plan and urged election of a Democratic majority in the legislature as a cooperative force to aid in putting the plan into effect.

Schedule for Week

The Dill-Moore schedule for tomorrow and the remainder of the week follows:

Essex county—Radio broadcast over Station WOR 8:00 to 8:30 P. M.; Newark, Fourteenth Ward Democratic club at 14th avenue school; Essex Colored Democratic club at Robert Treat school, 13th avenue; Sixteenth ward rally, 44 Hawthorne avenue; Maplewood—Municipal building, and St. Joseph's church; Hudson county, veterans rally at Columbia park, North Bergen.

Wednesday, Essex county—Newark, Lew Meyerson association, 196 Clinton avenue; Sixth Ward Democratic club, South Eighth street school; Third Ward Democratic club, Montgomery street school; Mt Oliver Baptist church, Eighth street (near High); Sam Coltattio association, Kreuger's auditorium; Verona Democratic club; Passaic county, Pompton Lakes; Little Falls and Hawthorne.

Thursday, Middlesex county—Dunellen-Whittier High school South River, Capital theater Woodbridge, State theater; Cartere High school; New Brunswick, Junior High school.

Friday, Bergen county—Women's reception to candidates at 4:00 P. M., Swiss Chalet; Cliffside Park High school; Teanock High school; Hackensack State street school Ridgewood Woman's club, Garfield school No. 8, Cedar street; Lyndhurst High school.

Saturday, Tri-County Women's meeting, 2:00 P. M. at Hotel Ambassador, Atlantic City for women of Atlantic, Cape May, Salem and Cumberland counties; Essex county—Fifth, Tenth and Twelfth Ward Democratic clubs, Monahan club Lafayette street, Newark; Bazaar St. Patrick's cathedral; Weequahic Democratic club, Elk's club, Newark; Orange Central school, Main and Cleveland streets; Polish rally 42 Beacon street, Newark.

LANCASTER, PA.
INTELLIGENCER
140
OCT 22 1934

50 WOMEN FORM DEMOCRATIC CLUB

Miss Mary Woods Heads Colored Group; Pledge Loyalty To Party

About 50 colored Democratic women Saturday evening organized a club to be known as the Democratic Council of Lancaster—the first such organization of colored women in the city.

Officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Miss Mary Woods; vice-chairman, Mrs. Chloe Warren; second vice chairman, Mrs. Emma Randolph of Columbia; secretary, Mrs. Ruth Henry; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Diggs. Organization was effected under the leadership of Miss Julia Bolbach, jury commissioner, who was introduced by Miss Woods in a brief address outlining the purposes of the organization.

Miss Woods said, in part:

"The Republican party, as nearly as I can remember, about 36 years ago promised Edward Mellin a place on the police force. But it remained a promise. When the late Mr. Frank C. Musser was nominated for mayor he said, if elected, he would see that we had two colored officers on the police force, and colored matrons in the comfort station, and colored men on the streets. And Mr. Musser did just as he said he would do something which was never known before.

"I know, and feel sure that we all do, that everything we have has come through the Democratic party; and we feel that knowing right, we can only show our appreciation by pledging our loyalty to those who have been loyal to us."

The new club will meet next Thursday evening at the Democratic Women's headquarters, 124 E. King.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
BULLETIN
OCT 29

DEMOCRATIC DRIVE IN EASTERN PENNA.

Farley and State Nominees Speaking in Anthracite Regions

IN SCRANTON TONIGHT

The Democratic campaign will be concentrated in eastern Pennsylvania during this final week preceding the November 6 election, with Postmaster General James A. Farley and the State ticket nominees opening today in the Anthracite region.

Mr. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will speak tonight at a meeting in Scranton.

Prior to that, Joseph F. Guffey nominee for U. S. Senator, and George H. Earle, for Governor, will deliver addresses at Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth.

Mr. Earle delivered two speeches in this city yesterday. He spoke to 1,200 members of the Ukrainian Democratic Committee, at 847 N. Franklin st., and later to 2,000 colored voters in the Lincoln Theatre, Broad and Lombard sts, at which Magistrate Edward W. Henry presided.

Earle told the audience that if Negro Republican voters received the recognition to which they are entitled under G. O. P. political rule, the Negroes of the State would have 2,450 jobs.

"Do you know how many you actually have?" Earle asked, and then answered his own query: "Exactly 63."

"I promise you a square deal," he said, "and I don't break my promise."

The Ukrainians, headed by George Sanbor and representing nine organizations, adopted a resolution of support for the entire Democratic ticket.

"There is only one issue in this election," the Governorship candidate declared. "That is, whether you want to go forward with the New Deal or return to Hooverism.

"The Republicans offer nothing except destructive criticism. They complain about expenditures for relief. If we attempt to balance the budget now, as Republicans would have the Government do, millions would starve."

Charles J. Margiotti, unsuccessful aspirant for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, now supporting the Democratic ticket, alleges that large corporations are attempting to coerce employes into voting the Republican ticket. He made the charge in an address last night at 7th st. and Snyder av.

He said that Attorney General Schnader, Republican nominee for Governor, held two secret conferences with industrial leaders here last summer.

Political—1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

LANGSTON PRESIDENT SHOULD NOT BE ACTIVE IN POLITICS SAYS DEMOCRATIC CHIEFTIAN

Black Dispatch
9-1-34

JEFFERSON NAMED IN HARMONY MOVE AS FALL CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED

Marland-Maple-Will Rogers Scheduled To Speak At September Meeting

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 27.—Definitely ending a controversy which has raged in the state for several months, J. B. Moore, chairman of the democratic central committee Monday named O. B. Jefferson, Oklahoma City attorney, as chairman of the Negro democratic central committee.

Many Oppose Young

I. W. Young, ousted as head of the organization, had called a state meeting in Oklahoma City for Sept. 10, at the same time as Jefferson, who heads the regular organization. The ultimatum of Moore will be accepted as final, Moore taking this action, following a statement to a Black Dispatch representative that he had received telegrams from all over Oklahoma asking that Jefferson be recognized.

Moore Gives Reason

"I chose Jefferson," said Chairman Moore, "because a greater majority of the Negroes of the state favored him, and mainly because of Young's position as head of the largest Negro school in the state. He should not be active in politics."

Wants Harmony

Chairman Moore added that his only interest was that harmony would exist and that he was sure he was following the correct course in eliminating Young from active participation in the campaign.

[illegible]es Deadlock

The [illegible]hanship of the Negro democratic central committee has been in controversy since last February, when during the course of a meeting held in Oklahoma City fully seventy-five per cent of the Negro Democrats moved to the rear end of the hall and elected Jefferson chairman, following Young's refusal to permit Jefferson adherents to be heard.

Headquarters To Open

Instructions were immediately sent to Jefferson at Oklahoma City to open offices for the campaign and to make all necessary arrangements for prosecuting a vigorous campaign from now until November. J. W. Sanford, Ardmore, was intrusted with this information to Jefferson, as to tentative plans up to the convention, and he left for Oklahoma City Monday morning.

Sanford In Combination

Sanford, who was pre-primary chairman of the Marland set-up, was active in the contention that Jefferson should head the fall campaign and it is certain that with this combination a strong organization will be at once effected.

Notables To Speak

At the meeting to be held Sept. 10, two of the scheduled addresses will be made by Congressman E. W. Marland and Hon. Eugene P. Maple, president of the Young Democratic League of Oklahoma. Will Rogers, famous humorist, has also been asked to be present.

STAMFORD, CONN.
ADVOCATE

OCT 4 1934

Colored Democratic Club.

The Colored Democratic Club, Inc., will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening at 8:30. Members of the club, this week, adopted a resolution thanking all those who aided the club in its work during election.

Negro Democrats Open Headquarters

Bystander
10-18-34

For the first time in the history of Des Moines Negro Democratic state and county headquarters opened Wednesday at 522 Grand avenue. Quentin Mease, secretary of the Crocker Street branch of the Y. M. C. A. and president of the Roosevelt Negro Democratic club, announced that literature and general information relative to the Democratic state and county campaign would be distributed from this office. Theodore Martin, Rev. D. Buford, Arthur Branham and Mrs. Grtrude North will be in the new location.

Horace Spencer of Mason City, state organizer for the Iowa Negro Democratic League, was in town Monday and Tuesday on business relative to the approaching election. He will be in the eastern part of the state for the remainder of the month. Arthur Branham has been appointed special worker among the Negro voters by the Democratic organization.

YONKERS, N. Y.
HERALD STATESMAN

OCT 11 1934

Republican Disregard Of Negroes Assailed At Democratic Rally

Republican consideration of the Negro in politics started and ended with freeing the slaves, John M. Lee, temporary chairman of a committee to form a Seventh Ward Colored Democratic Club, told a large audience last night at headquarters of the Seventh Ward Democratic Club, Waverly Street.

Mr. Lee, who addressed a mass meeting of Negro Democrats, acted as presiding officer. Formulation of the club and selection of officers was deferred.

"The future is dark for our people," said Mr. Lee, himself a former Republican, "if we accept things as they are. The system under which the Republican Party is operated now is different from the principles on which it was founded."

"For too long a time now, the Republican Party has been resting on the frame of Abraham Lincoln."

The Rev. R. S. Oden, also a speaker, reminded those present that voting was an important business and that Negroes who vote for a party are entitled to a share in the victory if the party wins.

Others who addressed the meeting were Randall Tolliver, president of the Westchester County Colored Democratic Clubs and organizer of the local group; former Alderman Ross F. Calcagno and James A. Garrity, Democratic candidate for State Senate.

Assisting Mr. Lee on the temporary organization committee are Thomas Small, William Brooks, Woodrow Miller and Edward Campbell.

ERIE, PA.
TIMES

SEP 29 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS WILL MEET FRIDAY

Under the auspices of the Negro Welfare League of Erie, a Democratic meeting will be held in the large court room at the court house Friday night at 8 p. m. when two out-of-town speakers will address the colored voters of the 29th congressional district.

Paul and Louis Jones, Pittsburgh, state Negro organizers for the Democratic party, will be in charge of the meeting. The speakers will be announced later.

Republicans and Democrats in Public Debate Thursdau Night

Bystander
10-18-34

A new idea in political rallies will be presented when local Negro Republicans and Democrats will engage in a public debate Thursday evening, Oct. 25, at the St. Paul A. M. E. church at eight o'clock.

The issues of the present campaign will be argued by their respective speakers, the headquarters of both parties announced. M. F. Fields heads the colored G. O. P., and Theodore Martin, Sr., is president of the Negro "New Dealers."

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.
JOURNAL

OCT 3 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS TO MEET

The New Deal (Negro) Democratic club will meet Thursday night at 810 Division avenue at which time a number of candidates will address the membership of the club.

NEWARK, N. J.
NEWS

OCT 5 1934

Negro Democrats of Essex County centered their campaign activities in East Orange last night when an audience of nearly 300 heard Colonel William H. Kelly, J. Bernard Johnson and several candidates at East Orange headquarters in Main street. Dr. Lloyd Granger, Democratic Assembly candidate, assured several organizations last night that he would seek action on the federalization of New Jersey's Negro militia.

SPRINGIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

SEP 30 1934

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD RALLY AT MASONIC HALL

Indiana Legislator to Speak at Roundup Next Sunday Afternoon

Colored democrats last night announced plans for a rally to be held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, October 7, in the Masonic temple at 119 North Eighth street.

Attorney Henry J. Richardson, Jr., Negro member of the Indiana state legislature, will be the principal speaker.

Delegations from Jacksonville, Decatur, Danville, Peoria, Madison, East St. Louis, and other downstate points are expected to attend.

To Present Candidates

Dr. Robert Beverly, Springfield, who is president of the Downstate Democratic league, will preside and introduce the various democratic candidates.

Lunch and refreshments will be served.

The principal speaker is announced as an orator, aviator, and farmer, in addition to his law and political activities.

He attended high school in Indianapolis, the University of Illinois, and the Indiana law school.

Positions held by him in the past are said to include that of judge pro tem of the Marion county superior court, special judge of the circuit court on occasions, and special prosecutor of Marion county in 1932.

In 1932 he was elected to the state legislature, being the first Negro to hold a similar office in Indiana in 40 years. He became the author of a bill prohibiting discrimination against Negroes on projects financed by public funds. He was the author also of an amendment to the state constitution, creating a Negro militia. He was co-chairman of the legislative committee of affairs in the city of Indianapolis. He was re-nominated for the legislature this year.

Name Committees

Local organizations are co-operating in arranging for the rally. Among the leaders are Chief McClain, Clarence Holmes and Herschel White.

Committee chairmen are: Otto Franklin, East St. Louis, general chairman: Floyd Nourse, delegation

Democratic Speaker

HENRY J. RICHARDSON

committee; Robert Brown, refreshments; Harlan Watson, publicity; Russell Clem, finance; A. L. Walker and Edward White, fund; L. Maples, program; Horace Adams, transportation; Harry Hawkins, state and county candidates; Mrs. Hazel Scott, music; Herschel White, reception; Chief McClain, sergeant-at-arms.

The Harmony club is co-operating. Club officers are: J. S. LeVine, president; Harlan Watson, secretary; Thomas Tinsley, assistant secretary and Harvey Grimmett, treasurer.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT

OCT 4 1934

Negro Democrat Claims 'Parasiting' on Party In Patronage Matters

"Parasiting" on the Democratic Party, in matters of patronage, by persons who falsely claim to represent the Negro voters of this city, was charged Tuesday night by Walter Johnson, spokesman for the Colored Democratic Club, following a meeting at 236 Bellevue Street. Although he did not say who the persons are, he asserted the club proposes to take steps to end the pretenses they have practiced for the past year.

Mr. Johnson, acting as chairman of the meeting, asked former Mayor William J. Rankin if the leaders of the Democratic Party in Hartford are willing to recognize his club as the true representative of the Negro voters. Such action, he indicated later, would serve as an effective way to "end the parasiting" when patronage is to be dispensed.

After being introduced to the audience of 35 persons, the former mayor expressed the opinion "the club should have recognition."

Congressman Kopplemann and Attorney Edward J. Daly, scheduled as the principal speakers, were unable to appear, and their places were taken by Attorney Lewis Fox and former Assistant Corporation Counsel Dennis P. O'Connor.

SPRINGIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

OCT 3 1934

Colored Democrats Will Gather Tonight

Colored democrats are scheduled to hold a meeting tonight in the party's headquarters in the community room of the Ridgely-Farmers' Bank building.

A meeting for Italian, Slovak and Lithuanian workers is scheduled to be held there at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, with Joseph Croce, M. J. Lascody, and Charles Grigas as speakers.

There was no headquarters meeting last night, all attention being given to the high school meeting for state candidates.

READING, PA.
TIMES

OCT 4 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS TO HEAR SHEPHERD

The Rev. Marshall L. Shepherd, Democratic candidate for Assemblyman from Philadelphia, will speak at a mass meeting of the Negro Democratic clubs of Reading at 8 o'clock tonight in the Poinsettia club, 216 Washington st.

Rev. Shepherd also is a member of the speakers bureau for the state committee.

W. Justin Carter, Jr., chairman of the committee, is being assisted by the Rev. James A. Crump, Edgar A. Still, James Bainbridge, E. D. Hamilton and Edgar Quarles.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

OCT 7 1934

Negro Democratic Committee Named

Hinton Man Chosen Vice Chairman in Charge Of Headquarters

Organization for activities of the Democratic Negroes of the state was completed yesterday with the announcement by Robert G. Kelly, Democratic state chairman, of the appointment of S. Brady Briggs of Hinton as executive vice chairman in charge of Negro Democratic headquarters.

Kelly in announcing the appointment said "indications from all over the state, and particularly from counties with large Negro populations, are that Negroes are declaring their intentions of supporting the Democratic party in appreciation of the recognition given their race by the national and state administrations. They are not only registering as Democrats by the thousands but are talking Demoocracy on the streets, in the mines and in their homes".

In addition, Kelly announced the appointment of F. G. Blackman, Bluefield, as chairman of the speakers' bureau for the Negro Democratic headquarters in Charleston and Dave S. Ware as director of field work.

Mrs. A. P. Hairston of Williamson has been named secretary; L. G. Smith of Huntington, treasurer; A. B. Grasty of Yukon, assistant treasurer, and R. T. Joran, publicity director.

With the completion of the Negro Democratic organization at state headquarters plans are now being made for a big opening of the campaign next week featured by the annual Kump state dinner.

GAZETTE

Brazil Ind.
OCT 5 1934

Colored Voters Formally Open Democrat Club

Sponsored b ythe Clay County Democratic Central Committee, a colored Democratic club was launched in Brazil Tuesday evening when the headquarters at 109 S. Meridian street was dedicated with a formal opening.

The club room was crowded with colored folks, Democratic leaders and a number of the candidates. The colored jug band furnished the music during the evening.

Jerry Henderson, (colored) president of the colored Democratic club, presided at the meeting and tintroduced M. L. Smith, city chairman, who made a short talk and introduced the candidates. County Chairman George Sheehan also made an interesting talk, urging every colored voter to work for the success of the Democratic party in the November election.

The many colored speakers on the program were: William Rice, Dr. Skelton, Henry Fleming ,chairman of the colored bureau of the Democratic state committee, Rev. Vernon L. Anderson, all of Indianapolis; Dr. J. J. Hoover, of Terre Haute, and Dr. John Oliver, of this city, all of whom were spirited orators and were well versed in the principles of democracy. They urged that every colored man and woman go to the polls in November and vote the straight Democratic ticket and support President Roosevelt in the new deal.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

YONKERS, N. Y.
HERALD STATESMAN

OCT 19 1934

Colored Democrats Elect John M. Lee

John M. Lee last night was elected first president of the recently formed Seventh Ward Colored Democratic Club at a meeting at headquarters of the Seventh Ward Democratic Club, Waverly Street.

Mr. Lee announced installation of new officers for next Thursday night.

Former Alderman Ross F. Calcagno pledged the support of every Democrat in the ward for the new venture.

Others who addressed the group were Elmer M. Cunningham, who represented Sydney A. Syme, candidate for District Attorney; Deputy Public Safety Commissioner Sheldon Pollock, who spoke on behalf of Supervisor J. Albert Gleeson, candidate for county clerk; James P. Joice, Jr., Democratic candidate in the Fifth Asembly District, and Dr. Harold W. Ames.

Officers elected with Mr. Lee are Woodrow Miller, vice-president; Thomas Small, secretary; George Richardson, treasurer; Edward Campbell, sergeant-at-arms; William Brooks, chairman of the house committee, and Ralph J. West, chairman of the by-laws committee.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation

Democratic

Negro Democrats Fret As Key Positions Go To Republican Leaders

Informer 2-8-34

Washington, D.C.

Only 3 of 20 Appointees Registered in Party's Primaries

"BIG FOUR'S" MEMBER IS NOT RECOGNIZED

Demoralization in Ranks of Roosevelt Party is Forecasted

By EUGENE DAVIDSON

For the Associated Negro Press

Colored democracy is in a definite state of unrest. Democratic leaders are at odds. Republicans have at least one ear of the New Deal administration. About twenty federal jobs have been passed out to colored persons and only three of these persons can show registration certificates in a democratic primary.

The history that saw colored Democrats returning to the Republican fold after the Wilson administration seems to be repeating itself, and November elections are less than nine months away.

Big Fours' Promises

An analysis of the political situation in so far as it concerns the Negro vote is interesting, if not sensational. Almost a year ago the Democratic party was swept into power with more Negroes voting the Democratic ticket than ever before, due largely to the fact that colored democrats were better organized than ever before. The hordes of Negro voters who went to the polls were led by the so-called "Big Four," composed of Dr. Joseph L. Johnson, minister to Liberia under Wilson; Dr. W. J. Thompkins, of Kansas City, Mo.; Julian D. Rainey, of Boston, Mass.; and Robert L. Vann, of Pittsburgh, Pa., now assistant attorney general. This group, of which Dr. Johnson was chairman, garnered in colored votes from all over the country with the promise that the New Deal was to be different and that colored Democrats would have their share of the new political power.

Democrats Not Recognized

Investigation by the Associated Negro Press reveals that on February 1, 1934, nearly one year after Roosevelt was inaugurated, about twenty federal appointments of Negroes have been made throughout the country and that but three of these appointees can exhibit certificates of registration in a Democratic primary.

Two of these are Dr. Joseph L. Johnson and Theophilus M. Mann. Dr. Johnson, a Democrat of thirty years' standing, has a comparatively small and temporary position under Dr. Clark Foreman, white, advisor on Negro Affairs in the Interior Department. Mr. Mann is a recently appointed attorney in the Public Works Administration. Dr. Thompkins, one of the "Big Four," has not been recognized at all, nor has any position been offered Mr. Rainey, of Boston. Other Democratic leaders and followers throughout the country are without recognition by the administration.

Washington, D.C.

Republican Advisors

But what seems to have disturbed the equilibrium of leading Democrats most is the fact that Republicans are advising a Democratic Administration on the affairs of the Negro. It is pointed out and alleged that one of the strongest influences and powers in the New Deal Administration is G. David Houston, a registered Republican in Massachusetts, but classmate and friend of President Roosevelt at Harvard.

No accurate picture of the political situation of the Negro would be complete without a mention of G. David Houston, who is the principal of a high school in Washington. He admits that he is a Republican. He also insists that he is not in politics and will have nothing to do with political patronage. There is no doubt among those in the know that he has the ear of many of the party leaders. There is no doubt that his suggestions are heeded and that he does make suggestions. It is said that Dr. Johnson, himself, was asked to talk to Mr. Houston by a high official. The pre-election "Big Four" has become, in spite of itself, and maybe of Mr. Houston himself, the post-inauguration "Big Five."

Mr. Housotn's only idea seems to be that Mr. Roosevelt's administration shall be a success and that key positions in the government available to colored persons be given to the best men or women obtainable, regardless of party affiliations. And this desire of Mr. Houston is most laudable, except that it ignores the very important fact that our government is one of parties, and that at election time Mr. Roosevelt needs more than his "brain trust," Democratic votes that can be counted.

Advisory Committee

Of the "Big Five" Mr. Vann and Mr. Houston work well together. These two helped to select the "Negro Advisory Board" to Secretary Roper of the Commerce Department. Mr. Vann is chairman of the board and Mr. Houston is secretary. Other members are Harry H. Pace, the Rev. Marshall A. Talley, Benjamin F. Hubert, Mrs. Helen W. Crosley, Eugene Kinckle Jones, William H. Lewis, Garnet C. Wilkinson, and Dr. Mary F. Waring.

Some of these members are definitely Republicans, some are nonpartisan, but none, with the exception of Mr. Vann, are Democrats. Dr. Joseph L. Johnson was invited to become a member of the board, but dubbing the board "Republican in political make-up" he flatly refused to accept membership. Julian D. Rainey and Dr. Thompkins agree with Dr. Johnson in his attitude. The "Big Five" are certainly not in accord in many matters of political significance.

Cobb and Coage

Moreover in the offing is a decision to be made as regards the filling of two important posts in Washington, which should go to Democrats. In a few weeks the term of Judge James A. Cobb, of the Municipal Court, will expire. The office of Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia is still being filled by Jefferson S. Coage. Both of these men are Republicans and Republican leaders. And both are candidates for re-appointment. The re-appointment of either of both of these Republicans, Democratic leaders say, will spell the complete demoralization of colored Democracy.

History Repeating Itself

The recognition of Republican leaders by a Democratic Administration has been done before with disastrous results. The Wilson administration used almost the same method that the present administration seems to be adopting. There was an Advisory Committee composed of Republicans. Dr. Emmett J. Scott was made special assistant to the Secretary of War. Deserving colored Democrats were almost entirely shut out of the political picture, only Dr. Johnson securing the ministership to Liberia. But when election time came around in 1920, colored voters for Wilson turned to the party of their fathers and became again Republicans.

Balance of Power

It is pointed out by political observers that the present situation is quite as serious. President Roosevelt admits that he can not possibly complete his program until 1936. He will then rise or fall on the success of that program. The election of an obstructing Republican Congress in November of this year would play havoc with Democratic policies. But Negroes in many states hold just enough balance of power to turn such a trick, if they are not held in line by leaders. If Negroes in these states vote nearly solidly for Republicans, ninety-four Democrats will be unseated in the next Congress.

Democratic Leaders Worried

Democratic leaders interested in the future of their party are frankly worried. With key positions in the government being given to Republicans, they can see nothing but defeat for the party in November of this year, which defeat can conceivably mean defeat in 1936. The unrest of colored Democrats all over the country at the present state of affairs is growing, for students of history know that the Negro is traditionally Republican and that it takes more to keep him a Democrat than to put him back to the G.O.P. of Abraham Lincoln.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS

MAY 5 1934

Dimond, Sultzman To Speak at Negro League

George Dimond, Democratic leader of the Fourth ward, and Edward H. Saltzman, Democratic aldermanic candidate, will be the principal speakers at the mass meeting of the Passaic County Negro Democratic league at headquarters, 140 Governor street, on Tuesday evening.

Harry Moore, first vice-president, presided at the last meeting in the absence of President Jacob Holmes. Reports were rendered by Clarence Pete, for the steering committee; William Hogan, for the house committee; Steve Hall, for the membership committee and Miss Alice Wilson, for the entertainment committee.

The names of the Roosevelt Regular organization candidates and Rev. George Bert Riley, standard bearer and justice of the peace candidate, were posted.

Charleston, S. C., News & Courier

May 18, 1934

"We, the Democratic Party"

The newly adopted state Democratic platform begins with an assertion which, we mildly submit, is without factual foundation, and it is this:

"We, the Democratic party of South Carolina, in convention assembled," and so forth.

The representation in the state convention is based on legislative representation, which is based on negro as well as white population. Hence Georgetown and Barnwell, with large negro majorities in their population, each have six delegates in the convention, as have Oconee and Pickens, counties in which about three-fourths of the people are white.

Therefore, it is possible, indeed not uncommon, that a majority in the convention may represent a white minority in the state.

Not a delegate in Wednesday's convention appears to have made this point in opposition to the Crouch resolution (not passed) which would have pledged candidates to abide by the convention's platform. The "Democracy" of South Carolina speaks only through the primary, and therefore says nothing—beyond an expression of love and affection for persons.

Whenever is a debate in a Democratic state convention is an exposition of the profundity of knowledge of "leaders" about their state government. It is obvious that the adoption of the Crouch resolution would have blown the South Carolina "Democracy" into smithereens. What do the Democratic leaders in a state convention know about the constitution of their party?

Executive Committee Refuses To Take Any Action To Bar Negro

AUSTIN.—Monday, the State Democratic Executive Committee refused to pass a resolution barring Negroes or in any way affecting the right of Negroes to vote in the Democratic Primary. Thus for the first time since the passing of the Terrell act over twenty years ago, Negroes have a clear legal right to vote in the Texas Primaries.

Negroes are sure to vote throughout Texas as a result of the action of the executive committee. It is anticipated that a few malcontents will try to persuade registrars and local committees to refuse to let Negroes vote. But in the absence of action by the State Democratic Executive Committee, interference by registrars will be coercion, or plain assault, subject to immediate redress. They no longer can hide behind the statute or the State Democratic Executive Committee. Now, they'll have no excuse except that they want to interfere and any court action can enjoin their interference or fine them.

Negroes Rejoice

Wherever there were Negroes, there was rejoicing Monday. It was noticed that Former Governor Jim Ferguson was given credit by most of the Negroes.

It has been in the minds of Negroes for a long time that the Ferguson faction controlled the State Executive Democratic committee and could let Negroes vote. It was known that Ed Hussion. his Lieutenant. was secretary, and J. K. Brim, another follower, was chairman.

Judging by the sentiment expressed, it will be hard to keep the rank and file of Negroes throughout the state from voting Jim Ferguson's candidate if he has one. For a long time, one has heard leaders saying that whoever should give Negroes the right to vote would earn Negroes' support. It looks like Jim Ferguson has put another bunch in that old vest pocket.

Without a doubt, Negroes are glad to be able to vote. They believe that getting the ballot is like getting civic emancipation. They are happy.

Long Struggle

Negroes have been fighting to get in the Democratic primary of Texas ever since the primary was established by the Terrell Act. Among those who fought were O. P. DeWalt, J. B. Grigsby, N. N. Dudley, C. N. Love, Julius White, and Wm. Drake of Houston, and the stubborn warrior of El Paso, L. A. Nixon.

At first the local executive committees had authority to decide who could vote. Many of them let Negroes vote. So, finally in 1923, the Negro haters got the ascendency and put it in the statute that "in no event shall a Negro be eligible to participate in a Democratic party primary election held in the State of Texas." The Supreme Court of the United States declared that part of the law unconstitutional. Immediately, Gov. Dan Moody called a special session of the 40th legislature and had it enact the present Article 3107 of the Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, which provided that the State Executive Committee should fix the qualifications of the respective members. Acting under color of this statute the Democratic State Executive Committee, under the leadership of W. O. Huggins, Editor of The Houston Chronicle, voted that only white Democrats should be eligible to vote in Democratic primaries.

Dr. L. A. Nixon took this act of the Executive Committee, under color of Article 3107 of the Statutes, up to the Supreme Court of the United States, claiming that such interpretation of the said article was unconstitutional and beyond the power of the State Democratic Executive Committee. The Supreme Court sustained the claim and held the State Democratic Executive Committee's act illegal.

This spring, Federal District Judge Charles H. Boynton gave Dr. Nixon judgment for damages, because the judges had illegally barred him, relying upon the void ruling of the State Democratic Executive Committee. The State Democratic Executive Committee is the only body given any authority to fix qualifications, and the Supreme Court has held that it does not have authority to bar Negroes from the primaries.

Faction Defy Law

There is a faction in Houston led by W. O. Huggins and Shorty Lubbock, who have believed the Supreme Court wrong and have caused their organizations to take acts that virtually nullified the decisions of the Supreme Court. Even since the act of the State Democratic Executive Committee was published, Shorty Lubbock has been quoted as saying the Harris County Democratic Executive Committee has been called to vote on barring Negroes.

Negroes are not accepting his statement that he isn't taking sides. They recall that it was he and his secretary who stopped Negroes from voting in certain precincts during the last election. They recall that he was quoted as saying a few months ago that the Harris County Executive Committee would do all in its power to keep Negroes from voting.

Every court in this state has held that the power to fix party qualifications is lodged in the State Executive Committee. In the '28 election, Shorty Lubbock and his secretary said they were only barring Negroes because of the state executive committee's ruling. In '32 it was because the act of the State Democratic Convention forced them. Now, nobody has passed anything forcing him. There is no authority for meddling Negro Democrats. The Supreme Court has held they can't be barred. But, Shorty Lubbock is calling a meeting Monday, June 18, to bar them anyway.

It is claimed that he knows Negroes can't be legally barred, but hopes to force them to court and try to keep them fighting until too late to vote effectively. This strategy is aided by the timidity of fairminded white people and candidates who would get the Negro vote. Such people let Negro votes be taken from them because they fear they may be called Negro lovers if they stand up for the right.

The group in Austin who went before the committee were: Prof. G. W. Norman, Col. L. D. Lyons, Prof. J. W. Frazier, Dr. E. H. Givens, Prof. E. F. Dennis, Prof. W. H. Fuller, all of Austin, Mrs. Cora Diley of San Antonio, C. A. Booker of San Antonio and Dr. C. A. Whittier of San Antonio.

NEWS
Hastings, N.Y.
FEB 23 1934

200 Taxpayers Vote Against "Tax Strike"

Resolution Adopted by Fairview Members Says "People Will Be Unable To Pay Anyway."

Braving bitter winds and snowdrifts, 200 taxpayers assembled at the Greenburgh School, Hillside Avenue, to discuss a tax strike against the town rate of $10.18 in the unincorporated section of Greenburgh.

The meeting, called by the Fairview Taxpayers' Association, voted against a tax strike following a spirited debate and sharp protests against the sharp rise from the $5.44 levy of last year.

The resolution adopted based the decision on not to strike because "many people will be unable to pay the taxes this year anyway."

Members adopted a resolution demanding an investigation of the Greenburgh Welfare Department which was passed when residents declared that they had been denied relief because they were not in favor with political leaders.

Henry Lyons, Negro Democratic leader, reported on the meeting of the town board, Monday, at which the budget was adopted over the protests of a delegation from Fairview.

Mrs. Helen Moyer, president, reported the enrollment of 30 new members.

Recognition Of Negro Democrats Suggested

WASHINGTON, June 11. — (AP) — A group of representatives today appointed a committee of six to confer with Postmaster General Farley tomorrow in an effort to secure more jobs for Negroes.

Members of the committee are: Representatives Burke (D), Nebraska; Sabath (D), Illinois; Dole (D), Maryland; McKeown (D), Oklahoma; Duncan (D), Missouri, and Lozier (D), Missouri.

Burke said he believed that "in view of the splendid assistance which has been given President Roosevelt by negro Democrats," they were entitled to more recognition on patronage.

GUTHRIE, OKLA.
LEADER

SEP 26 1934

NEGRO DEMOS TO FORM CLUB ON THURSDAY

Marland For Governor Club Will Be Organized At Meeting Scheduled To Be Held At Tabor Hall

County and state negro Democrats groups are getting organized for the coming general election.

Negro Democrats of Logan county will meet here at Tabor hall at 7:30 p. m., Thursday, to form a Marland for Governor club, according to Oxie Johnson, secretary of the county group.

C. J. Josephs, J. C. Evans and Frank Redd, all of Oklahoma City, are scheduled to speak at the meeting.

Charles W. Allen, Democratic candidate for the state legislature from Logan county will also speak, Johnson said.

Dr. I. W. Young, Langston, state chairman of the Negro Democratic central committee announces that J. J. Josephs, Oklahoma City attorney, has been elected chairman of the Negro Speaker's bureau.

Also that Mrs. Birdie L. DeLyles, vice-chairman of the state committee and president of the state Negro Women's Democratic Council, has been elected chairman of the Women's Bureau of the state negro political organization.

Democratic.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

MICHIGAN AND TEXAS DEMOCRATS

That there is a vast difference between democracy in the North and South was very strikingly illustrated during July, when the Democratic attorney general of Michigan appointed a Negro (Harold E. Bledsoe, native of Marshall, Texas), as assistant attorney general of the Wolverine State; while at the same time the "Democratic" attorney general of Texas, seeking the partisan gubernatorial nomination, even ruled that Negroes were ineligible to cast a ballot as a Democratic elector.

While the Democratic governor of Michigan was busy congratulating Mr. Bledsoe upon the attainment of this signal honor and high governmental post, the "Democratic" supreme court of Texas was refusing to grant Negro Democrats any legal relief from discrimination and disfranchisement at the hands of public officials and certain party managers and committeemen.

In other words, the Democrats of Michigan and other states north of the Mason and Dixon line believe in real democracy—government by the people, for the people and of the people; while their partisan fraters in Texas and the rest of Dixie hold to the traditional notion that the Democratic party is a party of a people, for a people and by a people, and that only the "elect" of the dominant race are eligible for membership in the party in this section of the country.

Even President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the third Democratic chief of the nation since 1880, recognizes Negroes as citizens and Democrats, and has appointed more Negroes to public offices than any president in the history of the United States and has made strenuous efforts to include colored Americans in his much publicized "New Deal" and national recovery program.

The ancient shibboleth of the Democratic party, as enunciated by the immortal Thomas Jefferson, is "Equal rights for all, special privileges to none"; and yet Texas and Southern Democrats have the audacity to proclaim to the world that they are "Jeffersonian Democrats," and believe the tenets and principles of the party as outlined and advocated by its illustrious founder.

In Michigan and other states of similar leanings, Negroes are encouraged to embrace the Democratic faith and maintain allegiance to the party, both locally, state and nationally; while in Texas and sister Southern states Negroes are refused and denied the right to participate even in Democratic primary elections and are threatened with violence and extermination for daring to offer to vote in such partisan elections. Selah!

FORT WORTH, TEX.
MORNING STAR TELEGRAM

AUG 4 1934

DEMOCRATS TO CONVENE TODAY

Unless there is a debate over submission of prohibition repeal which would wipe out the Dean law, the Tarrant County Democratic convention this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the courthouse promises to be a tame affair. County Chairman Hugh L. Small will call the session to order.

The permanent chairman may be P. W. Seward or Ernest May.

A resolution will be presented and undoubtedly adopted praising the Administration of President Roosevelt. Fifty-five delegates and a like number of alternates will be elected to the State Democratic convention at Galveston Sept. 11.

Members of the Tarrant County Democratic Executive Committee will meet at 10 o'clock this morning at the courthouse when the returns from last Saturday's Democratic primary will be canvassed. The executive committee expects to conclude its business within an hour.

Only about 12 negroes cast votes in the primary in this county, according to Small and, unless contested, they will be counted.

"If they are contested, the courts can attend to that," he added.

ST. LOUIS, MO.
GLOBE DEMOCRAT

AUG 29 1934

Brisk Battles Mark Party Conventions Naming Committees

Former Democratic City Chairman Godfrey Beaten in Eleventh District.

The members of the new Republican and Democratic State Committees were chosen yesterday at conventions held in Missouri's thirteen congressional districts.

The 52 members of each committee selected at the district conventions will meet in Jefferson City September 11 to organize by the election of officers and to participate in the adoption of party platforms upon which the fall campaign will be conducted.

Kinney and Fitzsimmons Named.

In St. Louis minor controversies added interest to two of the three Democratic conventions. In the Eleventh District State Senator Michael Kinney and James J. Fitzsimmons, City Committeeman from the Eighth Ward, defeated Dewey S. Godfrey, former chairman of the Democratic City Committee and Committeeman from the Seventeenth Ward. Kinney is a member of the present State Committee from the old Twelfth District.

There was no fight on the women members of the State Committee from this district, Mrs. Lucy K. Gorman of the Seventh Ward and Mrs. Lottie C. Walsh of the Sixteenth Ward being elected without opposition.

Both Mrs. Gorman and Mrs. Walsh are members of the present committee from the old Twelfth District.

Mayor's Secretary Loses.

The new Twelfth District, which includes all of St. Louis County and several of the South St. Louis wards, elected L. J. Gualdoni, leader in the Twenty-fourth Ward, and Sidney Shotwell of St. Louis County over Ray Tucker, secretary to Mayor Dickmann.

Both Gualdoni and Shotwell defeated Tucker on separate roll calls, the vote being 14 to 7 on each. Gualdoni, a member of the present committee from the old Tenth District, supported Judge Harry S. Truman of Independence for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator over Congressman John J. Cochran of St. Louis.

Shotwell is a brother of State Senator Clarence Shotwell of St. Louis County. He succeeds Con P. Curran of St. Louis County as a member of the committee.

Women elected in the Twelfth District were Mrs. Florence Kirk of Carondelet Township and Mrs. Luella Williams of the Twenty-Eighth Ward, both new members of the State Committee.

The Thirteenth District Democrats re-elected the present State Committeemen and Committeewomen from the old Eleventh District William J. Brennan and Thomas Quinn and Mrs. Catherine Roden of the Twenty-seventh Ward and Mrs. Kate Spath of the Third Ward.

No G. O. P. Fights Here.

No fights were reported in the three Republican district conventions. In the Eleventh District B. T. Mattingly, an attorney of the Twenty-sixth Ward, and James Harrison, a Negro of the Sixth Ward, are the new state committeemen. William Sacks, State Committeeman from the old Twelfth District, and Henri Chouteau, State Committeeman from the old Eleventh District, were not candidates for re-election. Miss Cleta Smith of the Fourteenth Ward and Mrs. Blanche Edwards, Negro, of the Sixth Ward, are the committeewomen chosen from the Eleventh District.

Mattingly's election to the committee marks his first bid for office. He is a member of the St. Louis Bar Association, the American Legion, the Forty and Eight, the Disabled Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Second Division Association.

A bitter fight between Mattingly and Sacks had been anticipated in this district, but Sacks withdrew before the convention was called to order and his name was not placed in nomination.

In the Twelfth District, William Autenrieth of Clayton, a member from the old Tenth District, was re-elected to the State Committee. The new member from this district is Louis J. Reidel, an Assistant Prosecuting Attorney and member of the Republican City Committee from the Thirteenth Ward. Women members elected were Miss Mae Gardner of St. Ferdinand Township, St. Louis County, and Mrs. Ruby Koelling of the Twenty-fourth Ward.

Nester and Brod in 13th.

The Thirteenth District Republicans re-elected Thomas E. Nester committeeman from the Third Ward, and chose as their new representative John H. Brod Jr., former Director of Public Safety under Mayor Victor J. Miller. The committeewomen chosen were Mrs. Mary A. Detchemendy of the Twenty-seventh Ward and Mrs. Louis Wolbrinck of the Twenty-second Ward.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS

AUG 20 1934

Negroes to Form City-Wide Club

John Wallen Announces Plans for Campaign

Plans for a City-wide canvass among members of the Negro race during the Fall campaign were discussed Friday night at a meeting of the Second Ward Colored Democratic Club in its headquarters at 81 Tulip Street.

John Wallen, president of the organization, outlined the plan to the gathering which consisted of First and Fourth Ward residents. It was also agreed that one central Negro Democratic club should be established for the Negroes of Passaic.

Mr. Wallen also declared that the Democratic Party of Passaic County, through the County vice-chairman, Robert J. Neilley, "stands ready to give permanent recognition to members of the Negro race who have rendered services to the party."

Another joint meeting of First and Fourth Ward Negro voters will be held tomorrow in the First Ward at 100 Market Street in the offices of Lawyer Teig. Mr. Neilley has been invited to address the members.

Guide
Omaha, Neb.

AUG 11 1934

EDITORIAL

HIS NOMINATION ASSURED

Harlan L. Mossman

JUDGING by the popular receptions received by Harlan L. Mossman, Democratic candidate for County Attorney at all meetings held for him at which he has been a speaker and current talk throughout the city, as well as popular sentiment amongst the Negro voters, Mr. Mossman will without a doubt be the Democratic nominee for County Attorney.

He is known to be fearless and uncontrolled by political cliques. Citizens may look forward to his nomination and election with feeling of safety and security and a knowledge that under the laws of the state offenders shall be prosecuted and no one persecuted that understanding shall prevail and courteous treatment be the rule in his office.

Citizens, especially of our group can ill afford to pass up this opportunity to place a man such as Harlan L. Mossman in office. Past experience has shown the dire necessity of doing away with political manipulation in the county attorney's office. Dougls county has seen crimes of violence go unpunished, because of weak-kneed prosecution chargeable to politics. Likewise have persecutions of our citizens taken place chargeable to the same source. Mossman wears no man's collar and will give a square deal to all. Politics will be removed from the equation when Harlan L. Mossman assumes the duties of the County Attorney's office. Right and justice shall prevail regardless of race, creed or color.

Negro citizens will have two friends in the County attorney's office if Mossman is elected Harland L. Mossman and Dennis O'Brien, both tried and true friends.

We may make a lasting contribution to our county and state, insuring justice and fair play and at the same time place a friend of the Negroes in office by electing Harland L. Mossman, County Attorney. A vote for Mossfan is a vote for safety and securiy for us and for our children.

Remember HARLAN L. MOSSMAN, Democratic candidate for County Attorney.

C. C. Galloway,
Acting Editor of Omaha Guide.

CHRONICLE

St. Clairsville, O.

AUG 15 1934

THE ~~COLORED~~ VOTE

What is the answer to the question—"Why has the colored vote deserted the ranks of their friends—The Republicans?"

Democrats point proudly to this fact—explaining that "Old prejudices born of the Civil War have disappeared.

We do not, however, believe this to be the case.

Old prejudices are not soon forgotten as is PROVEN BY THE ALMOST FANATICAL LOYALTY TO THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF EVERY SOUTHERN STATE WHICH FOUGHT FOR THE RIGHT TO RETAIN SLAVERY. Only in the "Democratic states of the South, does the lynching of negroes go unpunished.

These people are solidly Democratic—despite their conservative tendencies. In the North it is different. The Northernor votes as a rule according to what he thinks is right for the Nation.

In the South—all is Bitterness!

And yet the Democratic Party has to depend on this section to "PUT IT OVER."

What can we expect from such a party?

PASADENA, CAL.
NEWS STAR

AUG 22 1934

COLORED DEMOCRAT MEETING ARRANGED

County Leaders to Gather at Brookside Sunday

Henry J. Smith, president of the Colored Democratic Club of Pasadena and of the Co-ordinating Negro Democratic Clubs of Los Angeles County, today announced a picnic at Brookside Park next Sunday. Every Negro Democratic leader in the county has been invited to be present. Attorney Willis O. Tyler will represent George Creel, Walter L. Lawson will represent Justus S. Wardell, Mr. Smith will represent Dr. Z. T. Malaby, Attorney Clarence A. Jones will represent John S McGroarty and Miss Phidella Holloway will represent James S. O'Connor.

Other Negro leaders including John W. Fowler, Emery V. Crain, Miss Theodora V. Jones, E. T. Ellsworth, Dan Shaw, Baron Lawson, Dr. T. M. Howard, Dr. Bert L. Boswell, Dr. Howard Allen, Dr. P. P. Cobbs, Dr. H. T. Daily and others have been invited

Negro Democratic candidates for the Assembly in the Sixty-Second District will be the guest of the Colored Democratic Club of Pasadena. They are Fred C. Williams, Dr. John A. Somerville, Sam Baumann, Sidney P. Dones and Augustus Hawkins. This will be the first time all the Negro Democratic leaders in the county have ever gotten together at one meeting.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.
TIMES UNION

AUG 26 1934

A number of Democrats met at the home of ~~County Committeeman~~ Benjamin F. Butler, 1710 Fulton st., and mapped out plans to aid James J. Sexton in defense of his district leadership and all the designees named by the regular organization. Mrs. Mamie J. Hall, also a member of the county committee and leader of the colored women Democrats in the Fifth, and Walter R. Lofton, chairman of the publicity committee of the county, colored organization, will assist. They will seek to get out a 100 per cent. vote in the primaries.

CHARLSTON, W. VA.
MAIL

SEP 15 1934

Negro Democrats Will Convene at Courthouse

The Negro Democratic club was to hold a rally at the courthouse on Saturday afternoon at which Bishop T. C. Glashen, of Beckley; Dr. T. S. Bamfield, of Logan, and D. W. Ambrose, of Huntington, were expected to speak. All Democratic candidates have been invited to attend the meeting.

James M. Mason, III, was to give the address of welcome and Dr. J. D. Gibson, of Logan, the response.

Political-1934

Democratic.

Party Affiliation.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL.
COURIER

OCT 13 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS MEET

The Morgan County Colored Democratic Club met at the home of Richard Harris, 404 Lurton street last night, with more than 65 persons in attendance.

John R. Dunn, president of the club, spoke on the New Deal and also endorsed the Horner administration.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.
PRESS
Reporter

OCT 17 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS TO MEET

The White Plains Colored Democratic Club will meet at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening at Democratic Headquarters, 192 Martine Avenue. Some of the Democratic nominees will speak. The newly drawn Platform of the all colored voters will be read. All colored voters regardless of party affiliation are invited to attend.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS

OCT 16 1934

Van Noort Praises Roosevelt Aims

Congressional Candidate Says F. D. Averts National Disaster; Many Meetings

Characterizing President Roosevelt as a "fire chief" who has stepped into conquer a 'fire' which has threatened the nation with disaster, Dr. Frank J. Van Noort, Democratic candidate for congress, last night addressed members of the Charles V. Duffy league.

He took his cue from a speech by a Republican candidate for assembly, who inferred that the President was merely doing his duty in taking the steps he had. In refusing this argument. Dr Van Noort said:

"If you have no case, abuse the other side, is an old axiom among lawyers and that seems to be the policy to be adopted by the Old Guard in an effort to give my opponent his seventh term in office.

"The speaker for the congressman found nothing in the record of the Roosevelt administration to praise. The Democratic party is bragging, he told his audience, and then he explained that 'It did no more than its sworn duty, the same as it is the duty of a fireman to go to a fire.'

"Well, I will admit that there was a fire when Roosevelt was sworn into office, and it was a fire that threatened grave disaster. It was a fire that threatened the financial structure of the nation. It was a fire that threatened the industrial structure of the nation, a fire that had been smouldering for a long time with a helpless fire department in Washington before President Roosevelt responded to the alarm.

"The facts concerning that fire and the work that has been carried on for two years to extinguish it are of vital interest to every man and woman in this country. In this campaign they are told about it from one end of the country to another. I have been telling something about them in this congressional district, but I have only begun and I have done no "bragging" unless we are to believe that telling the truth about economic conditions and what has been done to improve them is bragging.

"I am asking the people of the eighth Congressional district to send me to the next congress to help put out the smouldering embers and build on a new structure that will be fireproof.

"But the spokesman for the Old Guard goes a step further. He says we are "capitalizing on the unfortunate victims of the times." In other words, President Roosevelt and his aides should remain silent when to tell truths the public should know interferes in any way with their attempts to slide back into office.

"No man in American history has worked harder or accomplished more in two years to save the nation in time of peace than President Roosevelt and only politicians of the Old Guard will accuse him of dragging when he tells the people of this country:

"From the bottom of my heart I believe that this country of ours is entering upon a time of great gain for 120,000,000 human beings and not a prosperity for the top of the pyramid alone."

SALTZMAN WAGES ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Lawyer Edward H. Saltzman Democratic candidate for Alderman of the Fourth ward, is waging an active campaign. He is carrying his pledge of service to all the organizations and citizens of the ward. Mr. Saltzman was the guest speaker at a giant rally given by the Civic Democratic league. Mr. Saltzman was enthusiastically received.

Later, that same evening, Mr. Saltzman addressed the Passaic County Negro Democratic league and sounded the key note of the evening when he stated that he pledged himself for a new deal for the colored people of the Fourth ward.

On Thursday evening, Mr. Saltzman and Dr. Frank Van Noort were the guest speakers at the Lithuanian Democratic club. Both were splendidly received and were assured of complete support of the organization.

ERIE, PA.
TIMES

OCT 27 1934

COLORED VOTERS HEAR DEM LEADERS

A large meeting of colored voters was held Friday night in the court house in the interests of the Democratic ticket.

Mayor James P. Rossiter, Attorney J. S. Jiuliante, Edward Rosenzweig and E. F. Smith were the principal speakers.

They expressed satisfaction with the large registration among colored voters and urged them to greater efforts on election day.

Cartersville, Ga., News
November 1, 1934

Negro Working For Democrats

Out in Mississippi there is a negro named Sylvester Harris. He once telephoned President Roosevelt, and asked the chief executive to help save his home. F. D. R. got busy and soon a remedy arrived. Now Sylvester feels he owes something to the President, so he has gone there to help out in the fight being waged upon Oscar DePriest, the only negro member of Congress. "Certn'y I'se a Democrat," said Sylvester, "and Mistuh Roosevelt done me a turn and now I'se goin' to he'p. All I got to do is tell the folks what happened. Ain't no Republican President ever done what Mistuh Roosevelt done." If he gets his story over, there will be no DePriest in Congress next term. That is as certain as anything can be here stated.

THE NEGRO AND THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Returns from northern, eastern, western and southern states, following the election of last week, indicate the selection of Negroes for positions ranging from congressman to constable, and include state senatorships, members of legislatures and justices-of-the-peace. The state of North Carolina even, for the first time in its history, finds two Negroes chosen justices-of-the-peace, at Durham, under the nominations as given them by the Democratic party.

Such a state of affairs will have a telling effect in the way of drawing Negroes into the folds of the Democratic party, and try however hard as they may, leaders of Republicanism will have to offer more than the reminder that "Abaham Lincoln freed the Negro slaves," to retain the votes of the race which has heretofore enabled them to hold the choicest offices of our nation.

The situation offers just another example of "action is what is needed." Time and time again, Negroes have been nominated by Republicans for public office and after the leaders of the ticket rode into office on the strength of the party having "nominated" a Negro, the racial group awoke on the morning after the election only to find that he had only been used as the "scapegoat."

With Mitchell, of Illinois; Richardson, of Indiana; Watkins, of North Carolina, and numerous others having sailed into office under the flag of Democracy, the members of that party, without question, have issued an invitation to the Negro voter for support, that savors of a marked degree of earnestness.

Democracy Marches On

Gary American

America Tuesday showed the world and her own disgruntled that she was satisfied with Franklin D. Roosevelt and his administration. The nation not only demonstrated confidence in his ability thus far but even gave him greater power by sending to Congress an overwhelming majority of New Dealers who are rabidly sympathetic with his ideals. Opponents of the administration went down for the most part to inglorious defeat. 11-9-34

In Chcago Arthur W. Mitchell a comparatively newcomer to the Windy City political scene, rode into office on the high tide of democratic sentiment Oscar DePriest, republican incumbent since 1928, lost out. It is hoped that during his tenure of office Mitchell will accredit himself with an eye to the peculiar distinction enjoyed by the only Negro in congress.

Gary American

Lake county showed itself likewise to be in perfect accord with the New Deal. The voter knows his friend. The moneyed interests may control employment, but on election day John D. Rockefeller and John Jones may mark just one ballot each.

That the Negroes of Gary defected in amazing numbers to the Democratic banner cannot be denied That their support was instrumental and essential for his election has been publicly acknowledged in this issue of The American by no less a person than Mayor-elect Barney Clayton himself. The figures this year represent a 31 per cent gain by the democrats in the Negro section over former years.

The American congratulates the winners and is happy if its influence aided the cause of Roosevelt and his party. The American asks only that Negroes of Gary be given a square deal commensurate with other racial groups and the part they played in the election.

Louisville, Ky., American
November 17, 1934

THE NEGRO VOTE BREAKS AWAY.

Louisville is not the only place in the country where the Negroes have deserted the Republican Party, and in many other parts of the country the desertion has become noticeable. Discussing this fact, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says:

"For the first time in history, a Negro Democrat has been elected to Congress. He is Arthur W. Mitchell of Chicago, and he succeeds in office Oscar DePriest, another Negro. In Oklahoma, the town of Boley, entirely populated by Negroes, deserted the Republican party Tuesday and gave a plurality to all Democratic candidates. In St. Louis, Thomas C. Hennings, Democrat, was elected to Congress from the Eleventh Missouri District, whose population is 40 to 45 per cent Negro. St. Clair County has elected to the Illinois Legislature Dr. A. H. Smith of East St. Louis, the first Negro Democrat to sit in that body.

"These and other examples that might be cited show that the historic adherence of Negroes to the party of Abraham Lincoln has been gravely shaken. The Negro vote has formed a source of support that G. O. P. leaders could always count on in advance. That this condition did not minister to the best interests of Negroes has been vainly preached by many intelligent members of the race. That the Democratic and Republican parties of today bear little resemblance to the same parties in the '60s has likewise been a futile argument.

"Now, it seems, modern Negroes, responding to education, are beginning to vote with discrimination. Many of them have joined the great and growing army of independent voters, who give constant allegiance to neither of the great parties but decide between them in the light of men and issues. The change from the day when the Negro vote went blindly to one party is a salutary thing for the Negroes—and for all the political parties, including the Republican. as well."

Louisville, Ky., Irish American
November 24, 1934

NEGRO BOLT SPREADS TO PENNSYLVANIA.

It was remarked in these columns last week that the wholesale bolt of the Negro voters from the Republican Party to the Democrats was noted in other places besides Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago and cities in Oklahoma showing the effects of a desertion by Negro voters from the G. O. P. standard. The worst was yet to come as the Sunday Transcript, 87-year old paper of Philadelphia, reports that the surprising defeat of Senator Reed and other Republicans in Pennsylvania is attributed to the change of the Negro voters from Republican to Democrat. The Transcript says that new Negro leaders have convinced Negro voters that they should not be swayed by the trick of the Republicans, running Abe Lincoln as a candidate since '61. When Pennsylvania drops out of the Republican fold and the Negroes bolt wholesale from the ranks it is dark days indeed for the G. O. P.

Race Issue Enters Campaign As Echo of Former Years

Journal and Guide

WASHINGTON—As an echo of a former day, when no election campaign was complete without the Negro becoming an issue, there came into the just closed campaign the color question. It was introduced into the 1934 congressional campaign when Senator Hastings of Delaware, co-chairman of the Republican congressional committee and Representative John E. Rankin of Mississippi (Democrat) engaged in a controversy.

Representative Rankin had been speaking for the Democratic ticket in Delaware. Senator Hastings addressed this question to him, among others: "And finally, may I inquire whether distinguished New Dealers like yourself advocate that we disfranchise the Negro in this state by following the course that has been effectively pursued for this purpose in the state of Mississippi?"

Republican Worried

The Republican worry over the growing number of Negro Democrats was regarded as the reason Senator Hastings popped his question at the southern Democrat. Many of the colored candidates in various states were Democrats.

MEMPHIS, TENN.
PRESS SCIMITAR

DEC 1 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS WILL MEET MONDAY

A meeting of negro Democrats will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the W. A. Hart undertaking parlors, 306 S. Fourth.

The meeting has been called by Hart and W. R. Fairley.

"The name of our organization is the 'Roosevelt New Deal Negro Democratic Club,'" they say. "It shouldn't be confused with another Negro Democratic club with a name almost like it."

CHARLESTON, S. C.
NEWS AND COURIER

NOV 26 1934

Good "Ole Marster"

A private letter from New Jersey tells us the colored people are joining Democratic clubs. A colored Democrat has been elected to congress from Chicago, and in South Carolina negroes abstained from voting the Republican ticket November 6. "Uncle Sam" is now a Democrat and in giving out food and other relief he is behaving in some degree after the manner of "Ole Marster" in the 1860's.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

NEGRO DEMO VOTE INCREASES 31 PER CENT

Gary American 11-9-34

Threats Fail to Stop Defection Old G O P Leaders are Repudiated

BY THE OBSEDVER

Polling the strongest vote ever recorded in the Gary centra district, Lake Co. democrats swept on to one of the greatest an most decisive victories ever registered here at the polls Tuesday. At least 31 per cent more Negroes voted for standard bearers o the party of Roosevelt than have ever before gone democratic i this normally republican stronghold.

One of the significant features of the polling was the showing of colored candidates. On the democratic party, Negro office seekers got strong support and led the ticket. Robert L. Stanton, East Chicago, dentist succeeded himself in the state legislature runing in the No. 2 position on the ticket. Robert Anderson was named to the city council of Gary over Wilbur Hardaway the republican incumbent, and also ran second.

On the other hand, the three republicans ran far behind. Milo Murray was snowed under in the assembly fight. Only 12 candidates sought the nine assembly posts and Hardaway ran 11th with Bill Burrus an ex-alderman and big gun for the republicans out south standing 12th and on the bottom.

Results of the vote show Gary with every prospect for an unusually high class council. Eight of the nine aldermen are well known business men of long standing in this community. Anderson, Hardaway's successor, is a product of Gary, having finished the public schools here and studied at the University of Michigan.

Robert Knotts the city-clerk, is the son of the Steel City's first mayor, Tom Knotts.

Barney Clayon, the newly elected mayor, expressed his thanks for the support shown him by all the people of Gary and by the colored in particular in a statement given The American.

Mr. Clayton will cooperate with the best people of the city, he stated, and will particularly recognize all groups that played a part in the election. Negroes aided him tremendously, he said, and had he not received the colored vote he would have been an "also-ran.' He pledged throughout the campaign to give more recognition to colored than they had formerly received.

The democratic victory demonstrated, among other things, that the present leaders of the republican party have been discarded by this section as a whole. The old time, hat in hand hutsling politician in the G. O. P. ranks is through. They were relegated to the ash heap Tuesday by thorough thinking Americans who have grown tired of the yoke.

Since the party of Roosevelt was returned the victors, nobody now will have to "leave town" because of republican wrath. No plan is brewing to run the workers who made such boasts from this section but they will be shown that the better element in Gary will work harder to make the city a better place in which to live.

HARRISBURG, PA
NEWS

NOV 2 1934

EARLE SPEAKER AT NEGRO RALLY

Approximately 3000 Negroes, who filled the Chestnut Street Auditorium to capacity, last night heard George H. Earle, Democratic nominee for Governor, and Thomas A. Logue, Democratic nominee for Secretary of Internal Affairs, and many Negro speakers of the State, who argued in favor of the principles of the Democratic party and pleaded for the support of candidates pledged to carry out the program of recovery as outlined by President Roosevelt.

A parade through the Negro section of the city, led by a band and accompanied by flares and banners and winding up at the Chestnut Street Hall, preceded the rally. The parade lasted for nearly two hours.

Earle and Logue, accompanied by Mrs. Earle, hurried here from Pottsville, where they spoke last night. They arrived here about 11 o'clock and were loudly received as they took the platform to address the audience. An ovation followed Earle's declaration that opportunities in the State government will be shared equally, regardless of race, creed or color under a Democratic administration. Logue repeated his adherence to the Democratic platform and the program of social legislation that it offers. Mrs. Earle confined her remarks to an expression of appreciation.

Prior to the arrival of Earle and his party, Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller sister of Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic nominee for United States Senator drew rounds of applause as she criticized the Republican regime and called for the support of a Democratic government "for the people."

"Gifford Pinchot's administration dare not stand an audit," she charged. "Schnader has had information for eighteen months of fraud and corruption in the State Highway Department, but he did not proceed to prosecute, because he wanted to keep it as a club over Pinchot's head during the election.

The Negro speakers urged the colored voters to disregard the plea of the Republicans for the support of the party of Abraham Lincoln.

"For the first time in many long years, the Negro is awake to the fact that Lincoln is not on the ticket this year," Joseph Rainey, Philadelphia said, and Judge Edward Henry, Negro magistrate in Philadelphia, added later that "if Abraham Lincoln had lived today, he would not have subscribed to the principles and doctrines of the Republican Party, which caters to the privileged few and ignores the welfare of the ordinary man."

Predicts Big Majority

Judge Henry predicted that the Democrats will carry Philadelphia by 125,000, urging that the political future of the Negro lies with the Democratic Party.

Mrs. Rainey, a school teacher in Philadelphnia, attacked the educational disregard of the Negro by the Republican administration, and W. Justin Carter, Jr., this city, urged that this is a fight for economic emancipation as much as the Civil War was a fight for physical emancipation.

Among the speakers were also Dr. Lewis King, of the Gettysburg CCC, and Paul F. Jones, Pittsburgh. Forrest Mercer, Democratic candidate for Congress from Dauphin, Cumberland and Lebanon counties, also addressed the audience. George Potts, local Democratic Negro leader, presided.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL.
COURIER

OCT 30 1934

SPEAKER URGES NEGRO LOYALTY TO DEMOCRATS

Negroes want to prove that they can be as loyal to the Democratic party as they were to the Republican party, if the Democratic party remains true to them, Attorney William Bruce, of Sangmon county, told a gathering of negroes at the Morgan county court house last night in espousing the cause of the Democratic party.

Negroes are not looking for any special favors he declared, but they are seeking the right to earn an honest, earnest, lawful and sufficient living, the same as persons in other races are being permitted to obtain from government positions. The time has passed, he said, when the promises of jobs as janitors will be sufficient to obtain negro votes.

Schools have trained members of his race, he said, for positions as stenographers, deputy sheriffs, deputy clerks, and assistant attorneys. The speaker challenged the right to give all of these positions to members of other races.

Business men do not hesitate to take money from colored people in trade, he continued, and white men have fraternized with the colored race during elections but the association ends there. The colored race has not received due consideration, he said.

Harvey Brinkman was chairman of the meeting, and closed with a stirring appeal to support the Democratic candidates for county offices.

EVANSVILLE, IND.
JOURNAL

OCT 30 1934

DEMO PARTY IS NOT FOR NEGRO, ATTORNEY SAYS

Simmons Declares Race Should Be for G. O. P.

Herbert Hoover's defeat in 1932 was 'a scandal of the world," Colonel Roscoe Conklin Simmons, Chicago Negro attorney and orator, declared Wednesday night at a republican rally at the Agoga tabernacle.

He asserted that had Hoover been re-elected president "our troubles would have been behind us."

"The nation today is not fighting a depression, but rather a deception in government," Simmons declared. "What Roosevelt is attempting can not be done under the constitution. You say now the democratic party is attempting to enslave, to regiment you. They always have. I have suffered under the heavy chains of their slavery."

Party of Principles

He said the republican party "which rescued the Negro race from slavery," will save the whole nation "from this regimentation."

"The republican party is a party of principles," he declared, "founded to destroy the two last vestiges of barbarism, slavery and bigotry, while the democratic party is a party of policies, an organism of opportunity.

"The democratic party was born to put chains on you and me!"

Addressing members of his own race, who composed about half the audience, Simmons said the democratic party was "born in original sin and has never been converted."

He said that throughout the South today, where the democratic party is in power, the Negro race is still held down by the white race.

In many states, he said, the ballot is denied the Negro.

Praises Robinson

"And then they ask you to vote the straight democratic ticket," he summed up. "If I am not good enough to vote the democratic ticket in Texas I am too good to vote it in Indiana."

Simmons praised Senator Arthur R. Robinson, referring to him as "the only man in the senate who can worry Roosevelt."

Other darts directed at the democratic party:

"Any man who votes the democratic ticket should be examined by a sanity commission, and any Negro who votes democratic should be committed to the asylum without examination.

"You are not opposed to the republican party, you are just mad at it.

"The democrats are giving away republican money.

"All the great men of the nation have been republicans.

"Hoover was a man of great intellect. One thought of his would

Democratic.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

NEGRO DEMO VOTE INCREASES 31 PER CENT

Gary American 11-9-34

Threats Fail to Stop Defection Old G O P Leaders are Repudiated

BY THE OBSEDVER

Polling the strongest vote ever recorded in the Gary centre district, Lake Co. democrats swept on to one of the greatest and most decisive victories ever registered here at the polls Tuesday. At least 31 per cent more Negroes voted for standard bearers of the party of Roosevelt than have ever before gone democratic in this normally republican stronghold.

Gary

One of the significant features of the polling was the showing of colored candidates. On the democratic party, Negro office seekers got strong support and led the ticket. Robert L. Stanton, East Chicago, dentist succeeded himself in the state legislature runing in the No. 2 position on the ticket. Robert Anderson was named to the city council of Gary over Wilbur Hardaway the republican incumbent, and also ran second.

On the other hand, the three republicans ran far behind. Milo Murray was snowed under in the assembly fight. Only 12 candidates sought the nine assembly posts and Hardaway ran 11th with Bill Burrus an ex-alderman and big gun for the republicans out south standing 12th and on the bottom.

Results of the vote show Gary with every prospect for an unusually high class council. Eight of the nine aldermen are well known business men of long standing in this community. Anderson, Hardaway's successor, is a product of Gary, having finished the public schools here and studied at the University of Michigan.

Robert Knotts the city-clerk, is the son of the Steel City's first mayor, Tom Knotts.

Barney Clayon, the newly elected mayor, expressed his thanks for the support shown him by all the people of Gary and by the colored in particular in a statement given The American.

Mr. Clayton will cooperate with the best people of the city, he stated, and will particularly recognize all groups that played a part in the election. Negroes aided him tremendously, he said, and had he not received the colored vote he would have been an "also-ran.' He pledged throughout the campaign to give more recognition to colored than they had formerly received.

The democratic victory demonstrated, among other things, that the present leaders of the republican party have been discarded by this section as a whole. The old time, hat in hand hutsling politician in the G. O. P. ranks is through. They were relegated to the ash heap Tuesday by thorough thinking Americans who have grown tired of the yoke.

Since the party of Roosevelt was returned the victors, nobody now will have to "leave town" because of republican wrath. No plan is brewing to run the workers who made such boasts from this section but they will be shown that the better element in Gary will work harder to make the city a better place in which to live.

HARRISBURG, PA
NEWS

NOV 2 1934

EARLE SPEAKER AT NEGRO RALLY

Approximately 3000 Negroes, who filled the Chestnut Street Auditorium to capacity, last night heard George H. Earle, Democratic nominee for Governor, and Thomas A. Logue, Democratic nominee for Secretary of Internal Affairs, and many Negro speakers of the State, who argued in favor of the principles of the Democratic party and pleaded for the support of candidates pledged to carry out the program of recovery as outlined by President Roosevelt.

A parade through the Negro section of the city, led by a band and accompanied by flares and banners and winding up at the Chestnut Street Hall, preceded the rally. The parade lasted for nearly two hours.

Earle and Logue, accompanied by Mrs. Earle, hurried here from Pottsville, where they spoke last night. They arrived here about 11 o'clock and were loudly received as they took the platform to address the audience. An ovation followed Earle's declaration that opportunities in the State government will be shared equally, regardless of race, creed or color under a Democratic administration. Logue repeated his adherence to the Democratic platform and the program of social legislation that it offers. Mrs. Earle confined her remarks to an expression of appreciation.

Prior to the arrival of Earle and his party, Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller sister of Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic nominee for United States Senator drew rounds of applause as she criticized the Republican regime and called for the support of a Democratic government "for the people."

"Gifford Pinchot's administration dare not stand an audit," she charged. "Schnader has had information for eighteen months of fraud and corruption in the State Highway Department, but he did not proceed to prosecute, because he wanted to keep it as a club over Pinchot's head during the election.

The Negro speakers urged the colored voters to disregard the plea of the Republicans for the support of the party of Abraham Lincoln.

"For the first time in many long years, the Negro is awake to the fact that Lincoln is not on the ticket this year," Joseph Rainey, Philadelphia said, and Judge Edward Henry, Negro magistrate in Philadelphia added later that "if Abraham Lincoln had lived today, he would not have subscribed to the principles and doctrines of the Republican Party, which caters to the privileged few and ignores the welfare of the ordinary man."

Predicts Big Majority

Judge Henry predicted that the Democrats will carry Philadelphia by 125,000, urging that the political future of the Negro lies with the Democratic Party.

Mrs. Rainey, a school teacher in Philadelphia, attacked the educational disregard of the Negro by the Republican administration, and W. Justin Carter, Jr., this city, urged that this is a fight for economic emancipation as much as the Civil War was a fight for physical emancipation.

Among the speakers were also Dr. Lewis King, of the Gettysburg CCC, and Paul F. Jones, Pittsburgh. Forrest Mercer, Democratic candidate for Congress from Dauphin, Cumberland and Lebanon counties, also addressed the audience. George Potts, local Democratic Negro leader, presided.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL.
COURIER

OCT 30 1934

SPEAKER URGES NEGRO LOYALTY TO DEMOCRATS

Negroes want to prove that they can be as loyal to the Democratic party as they were to the Republican party, if the Democratic party remains true to them, Attorney William Bruce, of Sangmon county, told a gathering of negroes at the Morgan county court house last night in espousing the cause of the Democratic party.

Negroes are not looking for any special favors he declared, but they are seeking the right to earn an honest, earnest, lawful and sufficient living, the same as persons in other races are being permitted to obtain from government positions. The time has passed, he said, when the promises of jobs as janitors will be sufficient to obtain negro votes.

Schools have trained members of his race, he said, for positions as stenographers, deputy sheriffs, deputy clerks, and assistant attorneys. The speaker challenged the right to give all of these positions to members of other races.

Business men do not hesitate to take money from colored people in trade, he continued, and white men have fraternized with the colored race during elections but the association ends there. The colored race has not received due consideration, he said.

Harvey Brinkman was chairman of the meeting, and closed with a stirring appeal to support the Democratic candidates for county offices.

EVANSVILLE, IND.
JOURNAL

OCT 30 1934

DEMO PARTY IS NOT FOR NEGRO, ATTORNEY SAYS

Simmons Declares Race Should Be for G. O. P.

Herbert Hoover's defeat in 1932 was 'a scandal of the world," Colonel Roscoe Conklin Simmons, Chicago Negro attorney and orator, declared Wednesday night at a republican rally at the Agoga tabernacle.

He asserted that had Hoover been re-elected president "our troubles would have been behind us."

"The nation today is not fighting a depression, but rather a deception in government," Simmons declared. "What Roosevelt is attempting can not be done under the constitution. You say now the democratic party is attempting to enslave, to regiment you. They always have. I have suffered under the heavy chains of their slavery."

Party of Principles

He said the republican party, "which rescued the Negro race from slavery," will save the whole nation from this regimentation."

"The republican party is a party of principles," he declared, "founded to destroy the two last vestiges of barbarism, slavery and bigotry, while the democratic party is a party of policies, an organism of opportunity.

"The democratic party was born to put chains on you and me!"

Addressing members of his own race, who composed about half the audience, Simmons said the democratic party was "born in original sin and has never been converted."

He said that throughout the South today, where the democratic party is in power, the Negro race is still held down by the white race.

In many states, he said, the ballot is denied the Negro.

Praises Robinson

"And then they ask you to vote the straight democratic ticket," he summed up. "If I am not good enough to vote the democratic ticket in Texas I am too good to vote it in Indiana."

Simmons praised Senator Arthur R. Robinson, referring to him as "the only man in the senate who can worry Roosevelt."

Other darts directed at the democratic party:

"Any man who votes the democratic ticket should be examined by a kill a democrat."

"The democrats are giving away republican money.

"All the great men of the nation have been republicans.

"Hoover was a man of great insanity commission, and any Negro who votes democratic should be committed to the asylum without examination.

"One thought of his would

"You are not opposed to the republican party, you are just mad at it.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.
GAZETTE

OCT 28 1934

Negro Democrats Opposed To Poll Tax Amendment

West Virginia Leaders Urge Followers to Vote No Claiming Measure Will Defranchise Thousands of Both Races

Leading Negro Democrats all over the state are opposed to the proposed capitation tax amendment and are urging their people to vote against its ratification on Nov. 6, according to a statement released from the Negro Democratic state campaign headquarters here.

Requires Tax Payment

The statement says the proposed poll tax amendment requiring every male and female of voting age to have paid an annual poll tax of one dollar before being permitted to vote would result in the defranchising of a large number of the electorate of both races, and for that reason is not in favor with political observers.

E. L. Powell, secretary of the Negro Democratic State Executive committee says, "In direct refutation of the propaganda being put out by the Republicans on the stump, our committee backed up by thousands of Negro Democrats throughout the state have expressed our stand in this matter verbally and in print.

No Change Needed

"Republican leaders would have voters believe that the Negro Democratic leaders are urging the support of a measure that will in time be used to defranchise thousands of voters in a frantic effort to influence the Negro labor vote, but we feel that the record of the Democratic party in the state and nation reveals a fairness toward all groups regardless of race so that there is no need for change."

ELMIRA, N. Y.
STAR GAZETTE

OCT 27 1934

200 Hear Speakers Before Negro Club

Nearly 200 attended the second annual mass meeting of the Queen City Negro Democratic Club of Chemung County at Castle Hall, 657 Dickinson Street.

Ralph F. Freeman of Buffalo, financial secretary of the Consolidated Democracy of New York State, was the principal speaker.

Other speakers were: J. Walter Jones of Rochester, state chairman of the Consoldiated Democracy; P. M. Young of Binghamton, secretary; the Rev. Luther B. Lightford of Binghamton, chaplain; Martin T. Purtell, chairman of the Chemung County Democratic Committee; Richard S. Heller, candidate for district attorney; T. Jacob Banfield, state assemblyman; Edward L. Monroe, candidate for county treasurer; Mrs. Rena Rockwell, president of the Women's Democratic Club of Chemung County, and Miss Mary M. Murphy, secretary of the Women's Democratic Club. Mrs. Minnie Floyd presided.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL

OCT 30 1934

DEMOCRATS PLAN SIX RALLIES FOR TONIGHT

Democrats will sponsor six rallies at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the interest of the candidacies of Emmet O'Neal for Congress, James W. Stites for Judge of the Court of Appeals and W. Lawrence Ott for Constable.

Shackelford Miller, Jr., Mr. O'Neal and Mr. Stites are to address the Highland Democratic Club at a meeting at Aurora Hall, Bardstown Road and Deerwood Avenue. They also will speak at St. George's Hall, Twenty-sixth and Oak Streets, under the auspices of the Parkland Democratic Club.

Speakers at a rally at Fifth and Kenton Streets include Judge John B. Brachey, Thomas A. Ballentine, Mr. O'Neal and Mr. Stites.

The Tenth Ward Democratic Club is to meet at 805 South Twenty-third Street. Those on the programme are Lawrence Poston, Frank G. Drewry, Paul Jansen and D. D. House.

Negro Democrats have scheduled two rallies, one at Twenty-ninth and Walnut Streets, where H. A. I. Rosenberg, Mr. Drewry and J. A. Moran will speak. Will Hill is to preside over the meeting. C. Eubank Tucker, J. H. D. Bailey, Robert McGruder, J. A. Moran and Mack T. Adams are to address the other Negro rally at Hancock and Burnett Streets.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.
JOURNAL

AUG 10 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS COMING TO CITY FOR CONVENTION

Delegates from all over downstate Illinois were arriving in East St. Louis Friday morning for the convention of Negro Democrats which was scheduled to open in the auditorium of the city hall Friday at 2 p. m.

Bruce Campbell, Democratic state committee chairman, was to be the principal speaker in the evening session of the convention in the city hall auditorium. State, congressional and county candidates were also to appear.

Delegates from East St. Louis include: Raymond Hill, Mrs. Estelle Barnhardt, Dr. A. H. Smith, Mrs. Elnora Johnson, Lish Gully, Mrs. A. B. Gentry, Mrs. A. A. Herron, Mrs. A. Phillips and Elmer Miller, William Gaulkner, Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. B. Clay, Mrs. Ida Young, Morris Campbell, Paul Wore, Mrs. M. E. Halbrooks, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, Thomas Hunt, Mrs. A. Petty, Miss Mamie Holiday, Miss Helen Humphrey, George Braddix, Jessie Swanson, Roth Brewer, Richard Hurst, E. J. Hoover, Jessie Gains, Tom Sains, Mrs. Leela Brooks, Mose Allen, Mrs. Lillie Fort, Jessie Criggler, Mrs. W. Samuel, Howard Chandler, Ben Hardy, Alex Huff, H. A. Adams, Mrs. Callia Spelling, John Thomas, Bruce Petty, Mrs. Emma Jourdan, Arthur Jackson, Dewey Shark, Bill Bailey, Mrs. Mary Washington, Eddie Williams, Robert Floyd, Mrs. Annie Williams, Mrs. C. Warfield, Everette Windam, Mrs. J. Smith, Sylvester Peace, John Tucker, Pearl Criggler, Mrs. Alice Austin, Mrs. Joseph White, Mrs. J. Hogan, O. G. Walls, Harry Kaggler, Mrs. L. Bright and John Pickett.

REGISTER

Hannibal Mo.

SEP 15 1934

REFLECTIONS

Editor, Hannibal Register.

ROOSEVELT 1936

Now that the election in Maine is a matter of record, leading newspapers are trying to roason out if the nation will follow Maine and go for the New Deal. The election was of much importance to thinking colored people who are looking forward to the next general election. There has been a very noticable trend of the black vote away from the Republican Party in the last few years, the trend had its start in the cities, and followed to the smaller areas. While it is true that there is a solid south, and that as far as the Negro is concerned, he is deprived of his ballot in those states. But leading Negro democrats take the veiw that by joining the democratic party, influence and friendships among the northern, eastern, and western democrats will in time bring pressure to bear on the democratic party in the south for the benefit of the colored voter. Is it not true that the Negro faces a new day and a new order of things? And in meeting this new day he breaks away from his old political mooring, and embraces the party of Jefferson. The Negro democrat might well be called Political Pioneers, in that they have the courage to embrace a new political faith, all to the end that his race might benefit. So far as the Negro is concerned, neither party is overloaded with angels for his cause. But there should be no fight if we choose either side. As a minority group we must ever be viligant for our right as men, for economic and political advantages within any group in our political parties. Only when our black brother in the south can cast an honest ballot, can we say that we are proud of our political parties. I have faith that the right of the black man in the south under the constitution will yet be recognized. It must come thru the power of one of our major political parties. Since the last days of reconstruction, millions of colored people in the south have been turned away from the voting booths. In this day of the forgotten man, in this age of new things, what party will reccomend that the Negro be given his vote in the south? This is a sixty-year old question. Franklin D. Roosevelt with a record of a great humantarian, has to his credit the National Bank Holiday at a very serious time in our financial troubles, Repeal of Prohibition, Federal housing, Wall St. legislation, and many other measures that might well be called constructive, like all administrations since that of Washington, mistakes will ever be made. But it is the general belief that Mr. Roosevelt is seriously working to bring about National reeovery. The Brain Trust comes in for praise and censure, and so goes the merry wheel of political followers. With both Hoover and Roosevelt in the White House, this recovery business would still be a pretty big Job.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO
CAPITAL NEWS

OCT 11 1934

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND NEGRO POLITICAL MEET

About two hundred members of the Cole County Negro Democratic Club attended a meeting of the organization at Washington school last night.

Several democratic candidates appeared at the meeting and made short addresses to the members.

Long Island City, N. Y.
DAILY STAR

OCT 12 1934

Sheridan Is Invited To Negroes' Meeting.

Democratic Leader Sheridan was invited yesterday at Democratic headquarters, Woodside, to attend the representative meeting of the Queens County United Colored Democracy on October 23 at Olympia Hall, 107-50 New York avenue, Jamaica.

The invitation was extended to Mr. Sheridan by Walter E. Reifer of Corona, Robert Lee of the Rockaways and James E. Williams of Jamaica.

Mr. Sheridan was told he will be asked to outline his policies toward Negro Democrats as to recognition, platform, patronage and representation.

"The Democratic candidates will not receive the indorsement of the United Colored Democracy until after the meeting on October 23," Mr. Reifer said.

ARDMORE. OK
DAILY ARDMORE

OCT 11 1934

Negro Demos Rally to Support Marland

The Negro democrats are giving full support to Marland is the opinion voiced by W. E. Mitchell, who has just returned from a trip which carried him to Sand Springs, Tulsa, Haskell, Taft, and Muskogee.

"Many so-called Pine republicans are in much confusion about that large pay-roll which is already past due and they, too, will be on the Marland bandwagon Nov. 6," Mitchell said. J. M. Bryant, Muskogee Baptist preacher, accompanied Mitchell in the search for democratic recruits from these republicans.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL.
JOURNAL

OCT 13 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS MEET

The Morgan County Colored Democratic Club met at the home of Richard Harris, 404 Lurton street last night, with more than 65 persons in attendance.

John R. Dunn, president of the club, spoke on the New Deal and also endorsed the Horner administration.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y
PRESS
Reporter

OCT 11 1934

Colored Democrats To Dance Tonight

Members of the Westchester County Colored Democratic Clubs will hold their first annual dinner dance tonight at the White Tower Lodge, on the Saw Mill River road, near the Bronx River Parkway, just south of Briarcliff. Canute W. Ferrin, chairman of the dance committee, announces that an interesting program has been prepared and an interesting evening should be enjoyed.

It is expected that many of the Democratic candidates for election this fall will attend and be introduced to the guests.

Serving with Mr. Ferrin on the committee are the following: Mrs. R. Toliver, Mrs. Mae Jones, Miss Esther Brown, Mrs. Fanny Watts, Henry Armstead, Addison Johnson, Norman Downs, Edward Smith, Percy Crippen, Frank Bailey, Curtis Ruth, William White, Nathan T. Seeley, Mrs. M. Rogers, Mrs. S. Jackson, Mrs. F. Johnson, Mrs. F. Townes, Miss V. Shurland, J. Baldwin and Stanley Morris.

McALESTER, OKLA
NEWS CAPITAL

OCT 8 1934

Colored Demos Open Offices

Colored democrats have opened headquarters on East Choctaw avenue. Walter Seward, county chairman, has received copies of the congressional records that are available at headquarters to those interested in bill HR8402 or the cotton bill in Vol. 78 No. 68. Bulletins from the editorial sheet of the Black Dispatch by "our own Roscoe Dunjee" are on hand, also.

Real Peril Seen In Red Methods

Advertiser
10-19-34

Organization Best Answer To Communism, Knight Tells Young Democrats

Montgomery Ala.

The specter of Communism should be the chief dread and concern of every loyal Democrat, Thomas E. Knight, Jr. lieutenant governor designate and attorney general, told the first convention of the Alabama State League of Young Democrats here last night.

Democracy, Attorney General Knight declared, has nothing to fear from either Republicanism or Socialism since each seek to supplant the Democrats in power by means of the ballot.

Communism, however, he declared "seeks to achieve its ends by whatever force necessary."

"We must fear," he said, "whether the word is used advisedly or not, the Communist Party when it seeks to overthrow our Government by whatever means it can. This is a party which recognizes no Constitution, nor the sovereignty of any agency of Government, be it Federal or State.

"This is reason enough for the organization of Democracy."

Organization, he said, is the most practical means of combatting assaults upon a system of Government.

Mr. Knight said:

"Of course, I as any other victorious candidate for a Democratic nomination, appear before you with a great deal of pleasure. It is only human that a victor likes to exhibit himself. On the other hand, I am just as confident that my opponent, who is a loyal Democrat, is just as interested in the success of the Democratic Party in the forthcoming General Election as am I.

"I have no fear of the success of our party in November. No one should entertain the slightest doubt of the success of the State ticket. It is highly probable that some persons displeased with the action of the governing body of our party will run as independents. However, the party has always repelled each attack from an independent.

"We are united today in contrast to the split which existed in 1928. We must stay united.

"A great many times I have heard the question asked: Why all this organization in a year which is sure to be Democratic? There are many reasons. At this time, above all times, the Democratic Party must organize.

"I do not particularly like the name 'Young Democrats'—nor am I carried away with an appellation ancient minds and ancient methods. I am not prepossessed with the disregard of any person who has passed the age of eligibility to this organization. We need their advice and the benefit of their experience and there is no reason why those persons who are older than us should not give us the benefit of their experience and of their advice.

"Our goal is a solidified Democracy.

"Our opponent at this time, contrary to that which everyone thinks, is not the Republican Party. They have been rendered impotent by their lackadaisical efforts, when they were in charge of the Government. That party by its favoritism of capitalistic monopolies has lost its hold upon the American people. Neither are the American people endangered by a pushing forward of the efforts and principles of the Socialist Party.

Socialism vs. Communism

"I recently heard in the home, of a friend of mine, of a social occasion, the definition of the difference between Communist and a Socialist, it struck me as apt. His excuse was that the Socialist Party undertook to achieve their ends by use of the ballot. The Communist undertook to achieve their ends by the use of whatever force necessary and by the overthrow of any constitutional impediments any Government may have placed in his way—all advocating a redistribution of wealth.

"We need not fear the Republican Party, neither need we fear the Socialist Party, each of which are at the present time unable to cope with this overwhelming Democratic sentiment.

"We must 'fear,' whether the word is advisedly used or not, the Communist Party, when it seeks to overthrow our Government, by whatever means it can. This is a party which recognizes no Constitution, nor the sovereignty of any agency of Government, be it Federal or be it State.

"This is reason enough for the organization of Democracy.

"The Communist Party and its sympathizers and allies have propagandized America. They are reputed to have sympathy within the ranks of supposedly responsible governmental officials.

"Organization is necessary on the part of the Democrats that we may fill that much needed place in political life, that of a middle ground.

"The Republicans have woefully failed to discharge their duties. The Socialists can never achieve their ends—economic principal will not admit of such an achievement.

"Communists who are today offering candidates for public office can never hope, in a Democratic country to achieve their ends, because we will suppress revolution.

Function of Democrats

"It is a function of all Democrats to organize to suppress any effort to overthrow a constitutional system of government, whether it comes from the failure of the Republican Party to respond to the needs of the people as a whole, or whether it comes from the Communists, who would seek to foster their ideas, which are thoroughly impracticable, by means of force and rebellion.

"We can fight these assaults upon our system of Government, but the most practical way to fight such an assault is by an adoption of the methods of our opponents, that is, by organization with definite design in view.

"I have witnessed probably as flagrant disrespect of the Government of the United States and the principles of the Government, as has any other person in America. I have been engaged in the trial of cases before the Supreme Court of the United States when the police authorities in the City of Washington felt that the safety of counsel depended upon armed protection. I have gone to the forum of that highest tribunal and found 1,000 people without the doors of that sacred place, or one which should be sacred to every American, crowding its entrance, not out of curiosity nor out of legitimate interest in the case to be argued, but as a demonstration calculated to influence that tribunal in its decision. I was informed, at the time, that more 1,700 letters and telegrams reached, from Communist sources, and allied interests, the highest tribunal of the world, the Supreme Court of the United States, importuning that body to decide a case in a certain way. I have been present at our national capitol when our Supreme Court rendered a decision in a case, when there was a mob as pictured in the Literary Digest, offering open rebellion to the awful constabulary of the people of America.

"This is all disgusting. It is a movement which should be stamped out, by armed force if necessary; preferably by the organization of our party, which can countenance nothing of the sort.

Sop To Some

"It may be probable that some of the malcontents of this country may have been placated by the appointment to bureaucratic positions. But their activities in these positions should be as carefully watched as that of the last emigrant from Russia, or any other Soviet State.

"Of course, everyone cannot agree with everything undertaken by our great President, but everyone has a right to one's idea of the effects of the action of our Chief Executive. Likewise one has a right to criticise them or approve them. It is to be hoped that the President's more thorough study of conditions, than those who disapprove of his policies will inure to a greater benefit.

"It is also necessary that we organize, ever watchful and ever careful, that we have no persons in our organization who do not entertain the principles of our party. I do say that this organization should watch from within as well as guard from without, and no one should be allowed within our organization who is in the same purely for the purpose of boring from within.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND
TIMES
OCT 9 1934

Three-Fourths of Negroes Declared Democrats

a Constant Reader.

In The Times of Oct. 5 I note the severe criticism of Benjamin Osborn, who was referred to as the political barometer of the Negro vote simply because Mr Osborn endeavors to prove the disloyalty of the Republican party of today to the Negro race. The criticism of Mr. Osborn is based upon his assertion that the Republican party does not distinguish between the Negro of 1861 and 1934, which is very true.

However, the Negro who makes this assertion often is misunderstood and branded as ungrateful to such great leaders as Lincoln and Washington, but this is not true.

All honor to Lincoln and Washington and Grant and Harrison and scores of other great leaders who made it possible for the Negro to enjoy what he is enjoying today. However the Republican party has outlived its usefulness and become the tool of the rich and aristocratic, while the Negro represents the poor laboring class and the party which Frederick Douglass, that matchless Negro Republican orator of long ago, once referred to as the ship for the Negro.

Now the party has become the haven for the corrupt office seeker and grafter, since the Negro is known to constitute the balance of power in the Republican party, and the shrewd grafter and office seeker falls desperately in love with the Negro overnight and attaches his name to the Republican ballot and becomes a member of all the Negro churches who chance to be simple enough to admit him.

For more than a decade the Negro permitted himself to be used as a tool and if you should trace the ancestors of such grafters after the election nine times out of ten you would find this same man to be the son or grandson of a soldier of the South who fought to keep the Negro enslaved, but while seeking the Negro vote his slogan was "We freed you."

The Negro becomes tired of this same old warmed-over hash, and now you will find that three-fourths of the Negro voters have turned Democratic and they represent the very best class of the Negroes of Indianapolis and elsewhere.

If any one doubts my statement he has only to visit the Walker casino, Indiana avenue and West street, during a Democratic rally and he will be convinced.

The new Negro of 1934 is beginning to think for himself, and instead of following a party which has become obsolete as the Republican party has, he is endeavoring to better his condition by following the grand old Democratic party with that matchless leader in the person of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

ERIE, PA.
TIMES
SEP 27 1934

FORM COMMITTEE

Democrats Organize Negro Welfare Group Here.

Paul and Louis Jones, of Pittsburgh, Negro organizers for the Democratic state committee, formed the Negro Welfare committee of Erie at a meeting held in Pope's hotel Wednesday night.

Thirty representatives of Erie's colored families were present. A mass meeting will be held in the near future when prominent out-of-town colored speakers will be present.

Earl Lawrence was elected temporary chairman of the organization and Mrs. Hattie Cheeks, temporary secretary.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT
OCT 9 1934

Colored Democratic Club Lauds Candidates

Candidates on the Democratic state and local tickets, particularly Congressman Herman P. Kopplemann, Attorney Edward J. Daly, candidate for attorney-general, and Police Commissioner Robert J. Claffey, candidate for State senator, were praised by speakers at a meeting of the Colored Democratic Club, held at 236 Bellevue Street Monday night. President Boce Barlow presided and announced that another meeting will be held next Monday night.

Senator Frederic C. Walcott was criticized by members of the club who spoke. Horace Lee and Ernest Moreland were appointed to prepare talks for the next meeting. The club members discussed prospects of making new voters.

ARDMORE. OKLA
DAILY ARDMOREITE
OCT 5 1934

Negro Democrats in Milo Meeting

Colored folk who are supporters of the democratic ticket and the new deal held a meeting at Milo Thursday night and were addressed by Pearl Prater and W. E. Mitchell, who spoke in behalf of the candidacy of E. W. Marland for governor.

Mitchell said after the meeting a vote of the assembly was taken and all but three of a large audience failed to sign up and pledge support to the democratic nominee.

Mitchell said colored folk of Southern Oklahoma were rallying to the support of Marland and the ranks of those who formerly voted allegiance to the republican party will be slim this fall.

LEADER
Newark O.
SEP 20 1934

Colored Democrats Form Organization

Begin Active Campaign for New Members in Behalf of Party

The Colored Democratic club Monday night elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

F. G. Trumbo, president.
Howard Stevens, vice president.
Eugene Herndon, secretary.
George Weaver, treasurer.
Winslow Williams, chairman of the executive committee.

Mr. Williams is starting a vigorous drive for members and for campaign funds.

ERIE, PA.
TIMES
SEP 29 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS WILL MEET FRIDAY

Under the auspices of the Negro Welfare League of Erie, a Democratic meeting will be held in the large court room at the court house Friday night at 8 p. m. when two out-of-town speakers will address the colored voters of the 29th congressional district.

Paul and Louis Jones, Pittsburgh, state Negro organizers for the Democratic party, will be in charge of the meeting. The speakers will be announced later.

READING, PA.
TIMES
SEP 28 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS GIVEN INVITATION

Members of the Colored Democratic club of Reading were urged by representatives of the Labor Defense, at a meeting held Wednesday night at the club's quarters, 107 River st., to attend a mass meeting to be held in this city, October 11.

A committee to represent all Negro organizations in the city will be organized at a meeting at the colored Elks home, 618 Franklin st., and Edgar R. Quarles and Mrs. Eunice Miller were elected to represent the club thereon.

The Rev. J. A. Crump presided at the meeting and E. D. Hamilton, president, outlined the work the club is undertaking. Addresses were made by W. Justin Carter, attorney; Quarles, B. W. Dismond and Edgar A. Still.

Dancing followed the meeting, with music by Blake's orchestra. Several hundred persons attended

The Negro Democracy

There are many evidences, from widely separated sections of the country to show that Negroes have gone into the Democratic Party to stay. The latest indication comes in the form of the 1934 Democratic Red Book, published by the Negro Democratic State Executive Committee of West Virginia. It pictures an accomplished program of progress for Negroes under Democratic rule, unheard of under Republican administrations.

A few samples are these: Negro State Board of Education ("only one in the world," say the Red Book); five Negro Assistant County Superintendents of public instruction; a Negro member of the Barber Board; a Negro engineer in the Highway Department; a Negro as Safety Engineer in the Compensation Department, ("the first of its calibre in our State and Nation," says the Red Book).

Most significant are the traditions which the Negro Democracy of West Virginia would build for itself, the first and fifth of which we quote as follows: "1. We shall pay our way, not beg it." "5. Negro Democrats must use their politics for health, for protection of liberty, for education, for social well-being and the like. Assuredly we must teach our people to use it for a broader instrument than that of merely getting a job and holding a job."

READING, PA.
EAGLE
NOV 1 1934

LOCAL NEGRO DEMOS TAKE PART IN RALLY

A Negro rally, to be held tonight in Harrisburg, will be attended by members of the Negro Democratic clubs of Reading, who will leave Front and Washington streets in two busses at 4 p. m.

E. D. Hamilton will be in charge of the caravan. Speakers at the affair in Harrisburg will include Robert L. Vam, Assistant Attorney General; Judge Edward W. Henry and W. Justin Carter, sr., of Harrisburg. On Monday night the Democratic Colored Club will hold a meeting at 107 River street.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation - Democratic -

The Negro DEMOCRATIC FORUM

Sponsored by the Negro Democrats of Iowa

DECISION 8

As the campaign draws to a close we may look back and reflect that this year the contest has been different in many respects to previous years. To begin with, there was practically one issue, the New Deal. Candidates were either for or against it and that simplified the matter for the voter to decide. The Republican party had no platform and nothing to offer in place of what we already have. President Roosevelt, though pleased with his NRA venture, still sees its flaws and is busily engaged in correcting whatever mistakes that have been made, even to changing its administrative head. He realizes that nothing man has ever done has been perfect, and he is prone to error, but it is his duty to strive for perfection. Strict party lines have almost been entirely abolished and leads one to the belief that we are about to witness the birth of one or more major political parties or perhaps the doing away of the present method of selecting our government officials. Both old parties and the system are antiquated. Perhaps the New Deal will also bring out of the chaos a new order of politics. Even though this is not a presidential year, Roosevelt is by far the greatest single issue throughout the states where there are to be held fall elections. The people have confidence in a man who sees his mistakes and immediately strives to correct them.

Now to Mr. Simmons. He related to Texas and that Ozzie Simmons had to come to Iowa to play football. Ohat I don't deny, and furthermore when he finishes, I bet my life to a dime with a hole in it that Ozzie will have to go back to Texas to coach football, too. Why is that? And this is Iowa.

"ANSWER ME, REPUBLICANS."

I know girls that finish Drake and Iowa university with master's degrees and then go into some person's kitchen and cook. But they don't do it in Texas. Why is that? I want the Republicans to answer me. I know a Negro that OWNS a $90,000 home in San Antonio, Texas, and employs five servants, two of which are chauffeurs. But he doesn't vote in the primaries in Texas. Now name me a Negro that has EVEN a chauffeur in Iowa, not saying anything about the $90,000 home. When you get off the train in Houston, Texas, you can see twenty-five taxis standing there with Negro chauffeurs ready to take you to a hotel as fine as any in Iowa. What I mean is that the cabs and hotels are owned by Negroes, too. But what will you see when you get off the train in the capitol city of Iowa? Why is all this? I want the Republicans to answer me.

Then Mr. Simmons jumped over to Mississippi and about the Negro's voting status there. Do you remember a few years ago when the bankers' convention was held here? And a Negro from Mississippi stood up in St. Paul church and told about his bank in Mississippi and how many there were working in it, and how satisfied he felt when he was here knowing that business was being taken care of all right? Now tell me how many Negroes have as small a thing as BANK ACCOUNTS here in Iowa, not saying anything about the bank? I wish the Republicans would answer some of these questions. But they don't vote in Mississippi though. Sometimes I think the Negro votes too much, especially when he votes wrong all the time. While we are making so much ado over voting (70 YEARS BEHIND TIME), the Negro in Texas and Mississippi is building fine homes, hotels, office buildings, meeting halls, cafes and operating banks and many other businesses. Mr. Simmons mentioned about DePriest and how he has fought for the Negro in congress. As far as I have been able to find out, and I admit that is very little, Mr. DePriest made more ado over ONE NEGRO not being able to eat in the White House cafe than he did over millions in Chicago, where his home is, not having ANYTHING to eat and nowhere to eat it if they did have something to eat. Instead of grieving over what the Negroes in Texas and Mississippi can or can't do, suppose we figure out a way to feed, clothe and shelter the Iowa Negroes this winter that is not far off. In other words, before we go next door and tell Mrs. Jones her house is dirty, "LET'S CLEAN UP OUR OWN HOUSE."

W. Lawrence Oliver.

COLUMBIA, PA.
NEWS

OCT 12

COLORED DEMOCRAT CLUB PLANS RALLY

The Colored Democratic Club of Columbia will hold its first political rally tonight at 8 o'clock on the third floor of Bittner hall, North Fourth street. Negroes of Lancaster, Marietta and other points will attend.

County Chairman Albert Fritz, Quarryville, will head a delegation of county Democrats including a number of candidates. The principal speakers will be H. Justin Carter, esq., Harrisburg and Paul I. Gifford, also of the Capitol city.

Local Colored Democrats have arranged the meeting in conjunction with H. P. Shreiner, local Dersocratic leader

ST. LOUIS, MO.
POST DISPATCH

OCT 14 1934

DEMOCRATS USE ROOSEVELT ISSUE IN CITY CAMPAIGN

Republican Leaders Hold to Previous Policy of Not Criticising the Administration's Head.

The personal popularity of President Roosevelt continues to provide the offensive impetus and the defensive bulwark of the Democratic City Committee's campaign for local candidates, and Republicans, who were counseled by their leaders not to "try to beat Roosevelt" at the beginning of the primary campaign, have shown little inclination to depart from that policy in spite of recent criticism of the administration by some Eastern Democrats.

"Complete the recovery program" is the slogan of the Democratic City Committee. It was adopted after former Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel, chairman of the Speakers' Committee, returned from a speaking tour in Wisconsin and reported the slogan there was 'Don't bite the hand that's feeding you."

Congressman John J. Cochran, candidate for re-election in the Thirteenth District, at a recent meeting advised Democratic speakers to tell their audiences that the next Congress must provide more relief, that only a Congress sympathetic with the President can be depended upon for imperative appropriations and that success or defeat of the local ticket would be interpreted as an indorsement or repudiation of Roosevelt.

Writes Letter to G. O. P. Nominee

These points were made use of yesterday in a letter McDaniel wrote former Congressman L. C. Dyer, Republican nominee for Congress in the Eleventh District. McDaniel expressed indignation when he received one of the personal letters and a batch of campaign cards with which Dyer has been showering Democrats and Republicans alike.

McDaniel characterized the sending of the letters to Democrats as "offensive," referring to Dyer's statements: "While I am a candidate on the Republican ticket, I will appreciate the votes of Democrats. I am not a partisan. I will vote for good legislation whether it is recommended by a Republican or a Democratic President."

"Your record in Congress shows you have at all times been a most bitter partisan, voting along party lines on all measures in Congress," McDaniel wrote.

Particularly anxious to beat Dyer, the Democratic board of strategy has arranged that its next city-wide meeting be held in the Eleventh District for the particular benefit of the Democratic Congressional nominee, Thomas C. Hennings Jr. The meeting will be Wednesday night at Old Concordia Hall, 1441 Chouteau avenue.

Cochran will speak tomorrow night at a meeting of the First Ward Democratic Organization at 1208 West Florissant avenue. Eighth Ward Democrats will meet tomorrow night at St. Joseph's Croatian Hall, Twelfth and Russell boulevard, and the Sixth Ward organization at 1126A Pine street. Tuesday night the Twenty-eighth Ward Regular Democratic Organization will meet at 5920 Delmar boulevard.

Republican Meetings.

The National Young People's Bible Congress, Negro group, will hear Republican candidates this afternoon at Poro College, St. Ferdinand and Pendelton avenues.

The Twenty-fourth Ward Republican Boosters' Club will meet at 5759 Manchester avenue tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and at the same time Sixth Ward Negro Republicans will meet at Pythian Hall, 211 North Cardinal avenue.

Dyer, Cleveland A. Newton and George W. Strodtman, Republican candidates for Congress from the three St. Louis districts, will speak Tuesday at North St. Louis Turner Hall, Twentieth and Salisbury streets. The meeting is for Republican voters in the First, Second, Third, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-first and Twenty-seventh Wards.

Newton, John Schmoll and Harry P. Rosecan will address the Thirteenth Ward Republicans Tuesday at Remley's Hall, 5015 Gravois avenue.

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y
ADVANCE

OCT 17

500 NEGRO WOMEN AID DEMOCRATS

Colored Democracy Forms Auxiliary to Support Fetherston's Candidates

Democratic candidates, the so-called Fetherston ticket, will receive the support of a group of approximately 500 Negro women voters, recently organized in conjunction with the Richmond Borough Colored Democracy, Inc., it was announced today.

The new group, the Women's Auxiliary of the Colored Democracy, has been in the process of organization during the past two weeks. It is composed to a great extent of members of a similar Negro women's group that worked last year as an auxiliary to the Regular Democratic Organization.

The auxiliary has been re-organized this year by Miss Nettie Carter and Mrs. Margaret Harris. One of its first acts, according to Miss Carter, was to vote support of the Fetherston ticket.

Miss Carter is president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Mabel Ashford is vice-president, Mrs. Catherine Robinson, secretary, and Mrs. Harris, treasurer. The directors are Mrs. Mary Dixon, Mrs. Esther Godfrey, Mrs. Margaret Warren, Mrs. Estelle Freeman and Mrs. Lottie Roberts.

The auxiliary now has more than 400 members, it was announced, and expects to pass the 500 mark before the election campaign closes.

Although an auxiliary of the Colored Democracy, the group will operate and carry on its campaign independently. This was arranged Monday night when its officers conferred with the Colored Democracy's advisory board, of which William Lambert is chairman, at Miss Carter's home, 12 St. Julien place, Tompkinsville.

The women also have conferred with former Judge William T. Fetherston, who promised them his assistance and co-operation.

The auxiliary will start its campaign at a mass meeting of Negro women to be held within the next two weeks. The exact date and place for the meeting has not been arranged.

SOUTH BEND, IND.
NEWS TIMES

OCT 16 1934

FORM CENTRAL COLORED GROUP

Democratic Bodies Join In Montgomery for Mayor Club.

Seventy-five district and precinct chairmen and workers of the Colored Senior Men's Democratic club and the Young Colored Men's Democratic club met Monday afternoon at their headquarters, 123 N. Birdsell st., and formed a centralized campaign unit known as the Montgomery for Mayor club.

J. Chester Allen was named president, Otha Lee Hill, vice president and LeRoy Fingers, secretary. The officers represent the east, west and south sides of the city.

Present Talks

Talks at the meeting were made by the Rev. R. W. Alexander, Ernest Harris, Al Haynes and Mr. Allen.

Monday night a meeting of the workers and voters in the Eighth precinct of the Fourth district was held at the home of Henry Davis, 1039 Talbot st., under the auspices of the Fourth District Montgomery for Mayor club, which was organized three weeks ago by Jesse Dickerson, 723 N. Frances st., a former Republican.

Talks were made by City Judge George N. Beamer, who discussed the national issues of the campaign and Mr. Allen, who declared the Roosevelt administration was doing more for southern negroes than any other national administration.

Aid to Negroes

Mr. Allen pointed to the steps being taken at Atlanta, Ga., to eliminate slums. He showed that the FERA program in the south is establishing 20 nursery training schools for Negro children. He also pointed to the 59 per cent increase in the enrollment this year at the A. T. college, Raleigh, N. C.

A precinct meeting was held Monday night at 124 S. Iowa st. which was addressed by Arthur Scheer, Democratic candidate for the county council, F. Douglas Coker and Deputy Prosecutor Seymour Weisberger.

A Democratic rally will be held Tuesday night at 1519 W. Washington ave., and another at 428 S. Laurel st.

Logan, W. Va. Democrat
October 8, 1934

Democratic Negro Group Organized

S. Brady Briggs of Hinton In Charge of State Headquarters Established at Charleston

Organization for activities of the democratic Negroes of the state was completed at Charleston late last week with the announcement from Robert G. Kelly, chairman of the Democratic State Executive committee, of the appointment of S. Brady Briggs Hinton, as executive vice-chairman in charge of Negro Democratic headquarters.

Mr. Kelly in announcing the appointment said, "indications from all over the state and particularly from counties with large Negro populations, are that Negroes are declaring their intentions of supporting the democratic party in appreciation of the recognition given their race by the national and state administrations. They are not only registering as democrats by the tens of thousands but are talking democracy on the streets, in the mines and in their homes."

Mr. Kelly also announced the appointment of F. G. Blackman, Bluefield, as chairman of the Speakers' bureau for the Negro Democratic headquarters located in Charleston and Dave S. Ware who was named director of field work.

Mrs. A. P. Hairston of Williamson, has been named secretary; L. G. Smith of Huntington, treasurer; A. B. Grasty of Yukon assistant treasurer and R. T. Joran as publicity director.

With the completion of the Negro Democratic organization at state headquarters plans are now being made for a gigantic opening of the campaign next week featured by the annual Kump State Dinner.

NEWARK, N. J
NEWS
OCT 11 1934

Dr. Lloyd Granger, Democratic assembly nominee, gave talks last night before the Orange Colored Democratic Club at 316 Main street, that city, and the Sixth Ward Colored Democratic Association, 172 South Orange avenue, Newark.

Lantern
Muskogee, Okla
OCT 6 1934

WORKING FOR MARLAND

The publicity man for the Muskogee county democratic organization and directing publicity in the Lantern, official organ of Negro democrats of the state, C. G. Lowe, was in Tulsa last week contacting Julius Tyler, Tom Gentry, John Bush, P. A. Chappelle, A. McHunt and other leaders in the Marland camps. They are for the local county setup as approved by the Oklahoma City headquarters. This makes a strong working force and is showing results. Mr. Marland, in a speech to his "bronze" leaders there recently stressed the fact that he was especially noticing their activities and would catalog the results. Thus Negroes in thickly settled precincts are not to "tell Mr. Marland" of the hard and loyal work they did for him unless their precincts show up in the county November 6th. Thus we wonder how the Negroes from districts with Negro ~~voters~~ are going to "reckon" who do not show results of leadership and followers.

Lantern
Muskogee, Okla
OCT 6 1934

YOUNG NEGRO DEMOCRATS

And who are they? Calling themselves unconnected democrats or a voters league and holding themselves out for a price. Such untrained minds are lending the Negro to that political grave the Negro found himself in following the Civil war. Both parties became tired watching and trying to keep ignorant men in line and disfranchisement was the best thing for all concerned. It is not a far step back to the time when a Negro vote could be bought for a small price. Then when the time came to deliver, the Negro either failed to "deliver" as promised or he failed to show up, having again traded his vote to both parties and thought he was smart enough to get away with it. Both parties became tired looking for the purchased voter and put him out of the game.

Remember the man who had the votes in his pocket to deliver, recently.

LEADER
Newark - O.
OCT 4 1934

Colored Democrats Hold Pep Meetings

G. F. Trumbo, president of the Negro Democratic club, has instructed the chairman of the executive committee to held pep meetings in every ward in the city during the next four weeks.

Those who are unable to attend are to be contacted personally by some member of the committee.

Winslow Williams, chairman of the executive committee, states that owing to the outstanding character of each candidate, and his qualifications for the particular office he seeks, makes it very easy to vote a straight Democratic ticket.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J.
NEWS
OCT 15 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATIC VOTERS HOLD MEETING

An overflow of colored citizens jammed Democratic headquarters in Madison avenue, Friday night to hear a program of addresses on the issues of the current campaign with Dr. J. LeRoy Baxter, former Republican assemblyman of Essex County delivering the principal talk. Colored citizens from all parts of Middlesex county attended the meeting.

Other speakers were the various county candidates, Henry Robinson and Moses Thompson, of New Brunswick; J. L. Jordan, of Elizabeth; and several from this city. Eugene Sewell, of this city, presided at the meeting

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

PATERSON, N. J.
NEWS
OCT 12 1934

Steuben Members Hear Democrats At Open Meeting

Johann Von Kalb Unit Given Platform On Which Candidates Run

Democratic candidates had the opportunity last night to present their views at the first of two "Candidates' nights" sponsored by the members of the Johann Von Kalb unit of the Steuben society before a large audience at Steuben hall. On October 25 the Republican candidates will be given the same opportunity.

Mrs. Augusta V. Schneible acted as chairman, and during the course of the meeting urged members of the society to oppose the proposed referendum for additional county park funds.

Before introducing the Democratic candidates for office Mrs. Schneible, introduced several members of the society including William A. Merz, Passaic county park commissioner; Dr. Charles L. Ritter board of adjustment commissioner; Dr. Frederick H. Ulrich, chairman of District Council No. 1 of Passaic county; Commander Rudolph Keilmann, of the German-Austrian War veterans' association; William F. Zeigler, president of the Von Kalb Home association; Carl Schleif president of the Passaic County Steuben Citizens' league.

The first speaker was Dr. Andrew F. McBride, who briefly told of his interest in clean politics and good government which in his opinion was placed before the voters of this county and nation by the Democratic candidates. Dr. McBride was sure that the Democratic ticket today was capable of serving the voters four square.

William L. Dill, Jr., son of the gubernatorial candidate for governor followed Dr. McBride speaking on behalf of his father quoting his public record as suitable to serve as the state's leading official. Mr. Dill, Jr., also spoke briefly on the "New Deal" which his father, if elected, will try and uphold.

Dr. Frank J. Van Noort, candidate for congress spoke of the new deal policies of President Roosevelt and declared if elected will do his best to assist and uphold the national recovery plan instituted by the President.

"When the 1934 congressional campaign opened the leaders of the Old Guard decided that they must have an issue and after many conferences it was decided to attack the President mainly on the ground extravagance, but they offered no plan of their own to feed the hungry, to give employment to the idle, to save the nation's financial structure and to save the country from financial and industrial disaster," he said.

"I will not attempt to go into the details of what has been accomplished. I will merely state, without fear of contradiction that there has been a great increase in business within one year and that millions of men are employed who a year ago were idle."

Louis C. Stengel, candidate for county clerk announced that he would serve the public to the best of his ability and carry out the program of economy inaugurated by the Democratic board of freeholders.

"Our President has shown the voters that women play an important part in government and are capable and I ask you to consider the record of the Democratic office-holders and candidates and if you like them return them to serve you," said Mrs. Anna Gilmore, candidate for assembly.

Anthony V. Gross, Passaic's representative on the freeholder ticket briefly told of the work accomplished by Democratic legislation and asked that the entire Democratic ticket be elected.

Dr. Leo V. Becker, Willard L. De Yoe, and Harry Behrman, candidates for freeholder spoke of their economy record as members of the board of freeholders and as a reward for faithful service to the taxpayers requested that they be re-elected. All three candidates promised to continue a clean, honest, efficient, economic county government if elected.

Walter J. Hunziker, candidate for assembly spoke of financing of relief through the various taxes proposed, of temporary measures pending, and the work towards this end by the assembly of which he is a member and is seeking re-election on his record.

At the conclusion of the speaking program the chairman thanked the members and friends who had come to hear the candidates. Pretzels and beer were served to the audience following the various talks.

A Republican candidates night will be held at Steuben hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 25, when all Republican candidates will be given a chance to speak on their qualifications for office. The Pinedale Trio entertained with vocal selections during the evening.

The committee follows: Mrs. Augusta V. Schneible, Paterson; Mrs. Augusta Wimmershoff, Haledon; August Walters, Passaic; George Herrmann, Paterson; Adolf Grossgebauer, Hawthorne; William Pritz, Paterson; Richard Postma, Paterson; Adam Metz, Totowa Borough; Gustav Drews, Garfield; William R. Schneible, Paterson.

Democratic candidates for office in Passaic county spent a busy evening last night delivering addresses at nine meetings in various sections of the county.

Tax Receiver Walter J. Hunziker, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Duffy league auxiliary, in 9 Smith street and he criticised speakers who have made numerous statements about the supposed shortcomings of Democratic officials in the county.

Dr. Frank J. Van Noort was the main speaker at the rally of the Fourth Ward Democratic club held in the party headquarters in 91 Broadway.

Aldermanic candidate Edward Saltzmann was also a speaker at this rally which was largely attended.

MURNER SPEAKS IN ELEVENTH WARD

James J. Murner, former county chairman and at the present time the secretary of the County Board of Taxation was one of the speakers at the rally of the Eleventh Ward Democratic club held in 444 Twenty-first avenue.

Mr. Murner urged that the members of the organization get out on the firing line and prove to the skeptics that democracy today is far stronger than it has ever been in the past.

Other speakers at this meeting which was well attended were Assemblyman Harry Schoen, Freeholder Augustus King, and Assemblyman Hunziker.

COLORED VOTERS MEET TONIGHT

A Democratic rally of colored voters will be held at 91 Broadway Duffy's League, this evening at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Passaic County Negro Democratic League and the Dill for Governor Colored Clubs of 1 Arch street and 20 Straight street, Paterson. The principal speaker of the evening will be the Honorable William L. Dill, gubernatorial candidate and Dr. Frank J. Van Noort, candidate for congress. The work done for negroes by the present Republican senator and congressman will be told by Dr. John D. Brooks of Newark.

CIVIC DEMOCRATS TO RALLY TONIGT

Final arrangements were made today, by General Chairman Harold Kane, for the Democratic rally to be held at the Civic Democratic league's headquarters, 77-12 avenue this evening. The building has been fittingly decorated and refreshments prepared.

President Ralph Pabian was assured today of the personal appearances of all the Democratic candidates including William L. Dill. Honorary Chairman Samuel J. Grobart is expected to introduce the candidates to the audience. An orchestra under the direction of Mr. Kane will furnish splendid music for dancing.

The committees appointed by Mr. Kane are as follows: Reception, Theodore D. Rosenberg, chairman, chairman; Marcus Mandelbaum, Ralph Pabian; hat check: Irving Ginsberg, chairman; Jack Kutner; Jack Kadish; bar, Harry Poubian, chairman; Harold Seradyzk; Harry Shapiro; tickets, Ben Lassman chairman, Hy Selick; Henry Berman; assisting Mr. Kane on the social commitee are Harry Poubian, William Ackerman Jack Kadish, Harold Seradzky Irving Ginsberg and Ben Lassman.

HAROLD KANE

Admission to the rally is free and the public is invited to attend.

ROOSEVELT CLUB TO HOLD DANCE

A dance will be held tomorrow evening by the F. D. Roosevelt Democratic and Social club at the club's headquarters, 57 Arch street.

The committee in charge follows: Andrew Rooney, honorary chairman; Hyman Cohn, chairman; William Ticheuer, assistant chairman; Joseph S. Riley Thomas Swankie, Mrs. William Ticheuer, in charge of refreshments; Mrs. H. Rooney, Mrs P. Nicholas, John Miller, Malton Hall, Mrs. S. Miller.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL
OCT 16 1934

SEARCY URGES TAX CURB IN BUFFALO TALK

Declares Democrats Halt Vast Assessments In Cook County.

State Senator Earl B. Searcy was the principal speaker at a Republican meeting held last night at Buffalo, the first of a series of rural gatherings to be held during the campaign. H. C. Garvey presided and the candidates were presented.

While Republicans were active at Buffalo, candidates and party workers were busy in the headquarters on the west side of Lincoln square. Issues of the campaign were discussed and activity for getting out the vote at the polls in November was considered.

In his address at Buffalo, Senator Searcy urged tax limitation and charged that the Democratic organization had prevented the assessment of vast properties in Cook county.

Advocates Curb On Taxes.

"Public officials either stand or fall on their records. Results, not ballyhoo, count. Republicans are for tax limitation," Searcy said. "Personally I have advocated this for years. We will curb tax-spending in no other way. I was against the so-called Skarda law, which sets up tax receiverships over the property of distressed taxpayers. A Cook county Tammany however, jammed it through. That law should be repealed.

"If bi-partisan Tammany control has been so fine for Cook county, why is it that Cook county and her subdivisions today are over a billion dollars in debt? The answer is that this same Tammany has ravaged and ruined the county. Cold figures tell the story. Easy verification can be had. No one has to take my word for it.

"Why is it that not over one-fourth of the property in Cook county has ever been brought to light by assessors for taxing purposes? Because the Tammany system there has thrived on 'protection' and maladministration.

Opposes Discrimination.

"The next legislature will face reapportionment, which as the population now stands, would give Cook county 52 per cent of the legislature. Then would follow the proposal to cancel the $30,000,000 which Cook owes in back taxes to Illinois—their share of which Sangamon, Morgan and all other downstate counties have long since paid. I'm against such a discrimination, have always been against it, and will continue to fight it, if re-elected.

"As regards farm matters, we shall take our orders from farmers and farm groups of this community. If their interests tally with what is going on at Washington, well and good If not, the judgment of our own agricultural people will prevail."

"Elect the entire Republican ticke in Sangamon county" was the plea of Attorney Herman Cohn, in an address before committeemen in the headquarters. "If Sangamon and every other county in the state elected its Republican candidates there can be no doubt as to the result in the entire state."

Urge Straight Ballots.

Cohn said that Republicans are in the majority in Sangamon and expressed the opinion they would return to the party fold in November, "after being on a short vacation."

George Coutrakon was chairman of the meeting. W. R. Von Tobel discussed party issues and urged the voting of the straight ballot.

Attorney Roger Chapin is scheduled to make the principal address at a mass meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the high school at Dawson. Residents of Buffalo Hart also will attend The candidates will be presented and numbers will be furnished by the Capitol City Four.

A meeting for colored voters will be held tonight in the headquarters. Dr. S. A. Ware will be chairman. The speakers will be Attorney Charles Rice, Dr. J. I. Ford and the candidates.

The first of a series of schoolhouse meetings will begin tomorrow night at the Converse school, 1427 North Eighth street. Attorney J. H. Weiner will be chairman, and Attorney John P. Snigg will be the speaker. The candidates will attend.

DEMOCRAT

Logan, W. Va

OCT 11 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRAT

CAMPAIGN CHIEF TO VISIT LOGAN

Dave S. Ware Will Include Trip to This Section Next Monday In Speaking Tour of State

With the November election less than one month away, Dave S. Ware, campaign director of the Negro Democratic state executive committee has announced his itinerary for a whirlwind speaking tour and field activities in the state for the remainder of the month of October, and which will include a visit by him to Logan on next Monday, October 15, when he will confer with democratic leaders and possibly address a mass meeting of colored voters on issues of the campaign.

Ware spent the forepart of this week in McDowell, Mercer and Kanawha counties, and following his visit here next Monday he will go to Mingo, Wyoming, Raleigh and Fayette counties, and the week following he will spend in the northern part of the state.

Kump State Dinner

Mr. Ware also announces that all plans are completed for making the annual Kump State Dinner to be held under th auspices of the Negro Democratic organization of the state at the Garnet high school, Charleston, tomorrow (Friday) night one of the biggest events of its kind ever held in West Virginia. Hundreds of prominent men and women of both races have signified their intentions of attending according to Dr. C. F. Hopson chairman of the committee on arrangements, and indications are that last year's attendance will be almost doubled.

Rush D. Holt, democratic nominee for the United States senate, Governor Kump, high administration officials and nominees on the democratic ticket for various offices all over the state, will be among those present and participate in the speaking program. Dr. William G. Thompson, of Kansas City, Mo., recorder of deeds in Washington, D. C., will be the guest speaker representing the national administration. Dr. E. L. Younge, of Welch, will serve as toastmaster.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

OCT 12 1934

Democrats At Steuben Meeting

Set Forth Their Views On Political Issues Of Campaign

The first of the two candidates' nights sponsored by the members of Johann Von Kalb unit of the Steuben Society of America was held last night at Steuben hall, with the Democratic candidates expressing their platforms before a large attendance.

During the course of the speaking program Mrs. Augusta V. Schneible, who acted as chairman, urged the members to go out and vote against the $200,000 referendum which is expected to be placed on the ballot. Mrs. Schneible stated that the society had voted to oppose the referendum and will put before the public a bitter fight to defeat the referendum. "While the members of the Steuben society like the parks, at this time it is not opportune to ask for such an amount, it would be far better to give this amount to needy families at this time, but if better times come and we find it necessary we may consider the matter," said Mrs Schneible, speaking on the referendum.

Before introducing the Democratic candidates for office Mrs. Schneible, introduced several members of the society including William A. Merz, Passaic county park commissioner; Dr. Charles L. Ritter, board of adjustment commissioner; Dr. Frederick H. Ulrich, chairman of District Council No. 1 of Passaic county; Commander Rudolph Kellnann, of the German-Austrian War Veterans' association; William E. Zeigler, president of the Von Kalb Home association; Carl Schleif, president of the Passaic County Steuben Citizens' league.

The first speaker was Dr. Andrew F. McBride, who briefly told of his interest in clean politics and good government which in his opinion was placed before the voters of this county and nation by the Democratic candidates. Dr. McBride was sure that the Democratic ticket today was capable of serving the voters four square.

William L. Dill, Jr., son of the gubernatorial candidate for governor followed Dr. McBride speaking on behalf of his father quoting his public record as suitable to serve as the state's leading official. Mr Dill, Jr., also spoke briefly on the "New Deal" which his father, if elected, will try and uphold.

Dr. Frank J. Van Noort, candidate for congress spoke of the new deal policies of President Roosevelt and declared if elected will do his best to assist and uphold the national recovery plan instituted by the President.

Louis C. Stengel, candidate for county clerk announced that he would serve the public to the best of his ability and carry out the program of economy inaugurated by the Democratic board of freeholders.

"Our President has shown the voters that women play an important part in government and are capable and I ask you to consider the record of the Democratic officeholders and candidates and if you like them return them to serve you," said Mrs. Anna Gilmore, candidate for assembly.

Anthony V. Gross, Passaic's representative on the freeholder ticket briefly told of the work accomplished by Democratic legislation and asked that the entire Democratic ticket be elected.

Dr. Leo V. Becker, Willard L. Dayoe, and Harry Behrman, candidates for freeholder spoke of their economy record as members of the board of freeholders and as a reward for faithful service to the taxpayers requested that they be re-elected. All three candidates promised to continue a clean, honest efficient, economic county government if elected.

Walter J. Hunziker, candidate for assembly spoke of financing of relief through the various taxes proposed, of temporary measures pending, and the work towards this end by the assembly of which he is a member and is seeking re-election on his record.

At the conclusion of the speaking program the chairman thanked the members and friends who had come to hear the candidates. Pretzels and beer were served to the audience following the various talks.

A Republican candidates night will be held at Steuben hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 25, when all Republican candidates will be given a chance to speak on their qualifications for office. The Pinedale Trio entertained with vocal selections during the evening.

The committee follows: Mrs. Augusta V. Schneible, Paterson; Mrs. Augusta Wimmershoff, Haledon; August Walters; Passaic; George Herrmann, Paterson; Adolf Grossgebauer, Hawthorne; William Pritz, Paterson; Richard Postma, Paterson; Adam Metz, Totowa Borough; Gustav Drews, Garfield; William R. Schneible, Paterson.

Democratic candidates for office in Passaic county spent a busy evening last night delivering addresses at nine meetings in various sections of the county.

Tax Receiver Walter J. Hunziker, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Duffy league auxiliary, in 9 Smith street and he criticised speakers who have made numerous statements about the supposed shortcomings of Democratic officials in the county.

Dr. Frank J. Van Noort was the main speaker at the rally of the Fourth Ward Democratic club held in the party headquarters in 91 Broadway.

Aldermanic candidate Edward Saltzmann was also a speaker at this rally which was largely attended.

Murner in Eleventh Ward

James J. Murner, former county chairman and at the present time the secretary of the County Board of Taxation was one of the speakers at the rally of the Eleventh Ward Democratic club held in 444 Twenty-first avenue.

Mr. Murner urged that the members of the organization get out on the firing line and prove to the skeptics that democracy today is far stronger than it has ever been in the past.

Other speakers at this meeting which was well attended were Assemblyman Harry Schoen. Freeholder Augustus King, and Assemblyman Hunziker.

A Democratic rally of colored voters will be held at 91 Broadway Duffy's League, this evening at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Passaic County Negro Democratic League and the ~~Dill for Governor~~ Colored Clubs of 1 Arch street and 20 Straight street, Paterson. The principal speaker of the evening will be the Honorable William L. Dill gubernatorial candidate and Dr. Frank J. Van Noort, candidate for congress. The work done for negroes by the present Republican senator and congressman will be told by Dr. John D. Brooks of Newark

Democratic.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

JAMAICA, N. Y.
LONG ISLAND PRESS

OCT 15 1934

PATRONAGE QUESTIONED

The Queens Colored Democracy today asked James C. Sheridan, Queens Democratic leader, to answer whether Negro voters would be discriminated against when patronage is doled out. He was asked to address the group at 107-50 New York boulevard. Oct. 23.

DANVILLE, ILL.
COMMERCIAL NEWS

OCT 12 1934

DEMO COLORED WOMEN'S CLUB HOLDS ELECTION

The following officers have been elected by the Colored Women's Democratic Club:

Mrs. Oscar Moore, president; Miss Ethel Stewart, secretary, and Mrs. Eugene Brown, treasurer. A precinct committee of the following members was appointed: Mrs. Ossie Hassell, Mrs. Helen Brown, Miss Geneva Bard and Miss Odessie Williams.

A meeting will be held Monday at the clubrooms at 216 East North Street.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO
CAPITAL NEWS

OCT 9 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS ELECT OFFICERS

Lonnie Brown was elected president of the Cole County Negro Democratic Club, at a recent meeting, with Mrs. Josephine Groves, vice president; Elwood Thomas, secretary; Ludie Walker, assistant secretary; Newt Wiseman, treasurer; James Boone, sergeant at arms; LeRoy Groves, chairman of executive committee.

The club issues an invitation to all Democratic candidates to attend their next meeting at Washington school, on Wednesdy evening, October 10th

JERSEY CITY, N. J.
JOURNAL

OCT 16 1934

Negro Democratic Rally Tomorrow

The Progressive Negro Democracy of Hudson County announces a Moore and Dill rally tonight in John O'Connor's Hall, Oak St. and Jackson Av.

Those announced as speakers are Patrick J. Donnelly, Eighth Ward Democratic co-leader; former Judge Myron C. Ernst, former Assemblyman Le Roy Baxter, of Essex; Miss Teresa Sinclair and James Randolph of Jersey City.

PATERSON, N. J
CALL

OCT 15 1934

Dill Colored Club Opens Headquarters

The Dill for Governor Colored club of the First Ward opened their splendid new headquarters at No. 1 Arch street Friday night with a monster rally of colored Democrats of the First Ward. Every available space was occupied and the hall was taxed to capacity.

The principal speakers were Mrs. William L. Dill, wife of the Gubernatorial candidate; Dr. Frank J. Van Noort, candidate for Congress; Mr. Louis Stengel, candidate for County Clerk; Freeholder Harry Behrman; Mr. Charles Saltenberger, candidate for Alderman of the First Ward: Mr. Max Herman; Mr. James Murner, Mr. Walter Hertzberg and others.

Rev. George Bert Riley thanked the members and their ifrends for the splendid initiative and efforts in behalf of the candidacy of Judge William L. Dill.

President Clarence Peete presided and introduced the speakers.

Refreshments were served and entertainment followed.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.
TIMES UNION

OCT 14 1934

Happenings Among The Colored People

By WALTER R. LOFTON

"I am 80 years old and still going strong and I never felt better," said "Chief" Wesley L. Young, the veteran county leader of the colored Democrats of Kings County, when interviewed by the writer at his home, 207 Butler st., this week. Mr. Young, who does not look like he has passed the three score and ten by ten years from all indications is good for many more years. He is the oldest living colored Democrat in the city if not in the country for he has been an enrolled Democrat ever since he made his home in Brooklyn over 50 years ago, after retiring from the Navy. He has lived in South Brooklyn all of that time. He entered politics as a Democrat and was one of the aides of J. Morrisey Gray who is still living and also about 80 years old. Mr. Young has been county leader of the colored Democrats for 25 years. He defeated Oscar W. Fulcher who was then the county leader and the first colored man to serve as an inspector in the Water Department. Fulcher is now executive secretary of the county organization. Mr. Young is a native of Charleston, S. C. He has withstood many attempts to supplant him and with the death of the late John H. McCooey many of his opponents said he "was through," but the recent triumvirate headed by Public Administrator Kelly recognized him and now Mr. Kelly, who is the county leader, also recognizes Mr. Young's leadership.

* * *

A non-partisan mass meeting will be held at the Ralph Ave. A. M. E. Church, 250 Ralph ave., Monday night, Oct. 15. Candidates of the two major parties have been invited to speak. Dr. S. J. Corrothers pastor of the church and chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting, states that the purpose of the meeting is to see and hear the candidates and learn their attitude on the colored voter. Thus the committee will be in a position to endorse those men regardless of party, who from their record is friendly towards the colored man and woman. Dr. Corrothers will deliver the principal address. His topic will be "Negro Rights, or His Declaration of Independence." A fine musical program has been arranged for the occasion.

SPRINGIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

OCT 7 1934

INDIANA MAN TALKS TODAY ON POLITICS

Democrats to Have Rally in North Eighth Street Masonic Hall

Colored democrats will hold a rally at 1:30 p.m. today in the Masonic hall on North Eighth street, with delegations present from other downstate cities.

Henry J. Richardson, colored state representative from Indiana, will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "The New Political Philosophy of the Negro".

The program will include music and singing. Free lunch and refreshments will be served.

Dr. A. H. Smith of East St. Louis, candidate for state representative, is scheduled to make a short address. Louis M. Moore, representating the state central committee, will be introduced by Dr. Robert Beverly, president of the Downstate Democratic league. Democratic county and district candidates also will be introduced.

Bruce to Preside

Attorney William Bruce of this city, an official of the league, will be master of ceremonies.

Participating in the program will be a number of colored democratic leaders from various downstate counties.

Herschel White, chairman of the speaker reception committee, has arranged for a pilgrimage to Lincoln's tomb, where a wreath will be placed by Mr. Richardson. A number of prominent citizens have been invited to join in the pilgrimage.

Democrats cooperating in the staging of the rally include: Clarence Holmes, president of the Sangamon County Colored Voters' league; Herschel White, president of the East End Democratic club; Harry Hawkins, of the county treasurer's office; Luther Perry, William Bruce, Dr. Beverly, Negro health superintendent in the state department of health; Carl H. Pickett, Edward White, William Marshall, W. George, A. Morris Williams, Charles W. Tinsley, James Douglas, W. L. Smith, secretary of the Downstate Democratic league; Albert A. Draper, affiliated with each of the democratic organizations as secretary and stenographer, and organizer of the Young Colored Jeffersonians.

Given Federal Jobs

According to a statement issued by the colored democrats, the following important appointments have been given Negroes at Washington: Eugene Kinkle Jones, adviser on Negro affairs to the secretary of commerce; Lawrence Oxley, adviser to the secretary of labor; Dr. Ambrose Caliver, adviser on Negro education, U. S. division of education; Forrester B Washington, special Negro adviser in the FERA; Prof. H. A. Hunt, farm and credit administration, department of agriculture; Earl B. Moses economic analyst, FERA; William Hastie, assistant solicitor, department of the interior; Theophilus M Mann, PWA attorney; Dr. Willis J Thompkins, recorder of deeds, District of Columbia; Robert L. Vann special assistant attorney general; Dr. Robert Weaver, first assistant to the adviser to the secretary of the interior on Negro affairs; Victor Cools, economic specialist, subsistance homestead, department of the interior; John P. Murchison, economic specialist, subsistance homesteads, department of the interior.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.
DEMOCRAT & CHRONICLE

OCT 14 1934

Negroes Hear Talk By Democrat Chief

J. Walter Jones, chairman of Consolidated Democracy of New York, Friday night addressed members of the Third Ward Negro Women's Democratic Club in their headquarters, Clarissa and Adams Streets.

He congratulated Negro voters in the Rochester area for party support and urged them to preserve an individualistic viewpoint toward their conception of politics.

TRENTON, N. J.
TIMES
OCT 14 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS WILL HEAR MOORE

The Colored Democratic Club of Trenton will hold a mass meeting Thursday night at the Colored Elks home on Fowler Street.

Governor A. Harry Moore, candidate for the United States Senate and William L. Dill, candidate for Governor, and all Democratic nominees for Mercer County offices will speak. Dr. Leroy Morris, president of the club, will preside at the meeting.

BRONX HOME NEWS
OCT 21 1934

Colored Democratic Club Holds Rally at Clubrooms

The first of a series of Democratic rallies was held the other night by the Bronx County Colored Democracy, 1121 Union Ave. The meeting was in charge of Lindsey Armstrong.

The next rally will be held at the clubrooms on Tuesday night, Oct. 30. The principal speakers scheduled are former City Chamberlain Charles A. Buckley, candidate for Congress in the 23d C. D., and Assemblyman Samuel Weisman, candidate for re-election in the Fourth A. D.

JAMAICA, N. Y.
QUEENS COUNTY NEWS
OCT 16 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS INVITE SHERIDAN

The Queens County United Colored Democracy, in a resolution passed by "The Colored Democratic Clubs of Queens," in convention, at 106-44 New York blvd., extended an invitation to James C. Sheridan, Democratic Leader in Queens, to address a meeting to be held October 23, at Olympia Hall, 107-50 New York blvd.

The resolution expressed the desire of the Colored Clubs of Queens to hear Mr. Sheridan's views as to "the policy of the Democratic Party in Queens toward the rightful recognition of the Colored Democracy in the matter of patronage and representation in those districts where they form a considerable and significant part of the community."

Copies of the resolution have been sent to Mr. Sheridan by a committee composed of James E. Williams, of the Pontier Democratic Club of Jamaica; William E. L. Reifer, Progressive Democratic Club of Corona, and Robert Lee Leland Avenue Democratic Club Far Rockaway.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND
NEWS
OCT 12 1934

COLORED VOTERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Two speakers will address a rally to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Colored Democratic club headquarters, 117 Franklin street, Justice Tenola E. Graves reported.

Robert Lee Anderson, candidate for councilman at Gary, and State Representative Robert Stanton, Lake county, will provide the oratory for the meeting. 2 The Red Apple quartet also is expected to present a short program of vocal numbers.

Mr. Graves spoke last night before 500 ex-service men at Gary. He told his listeners that any colored person who voted the straight Republican ticket ought to be committed to an insane asylum without examination.

Dr. King S. Jones also spoke briefly at the meeting together with a group of Gary candidates.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS
OCT 17 1934

Negro Democrats to Hear Party Leaders

Big Rally Arranged for Casey Hall on October 25th

J. Bernard Johnson, Assistant Prosecutor of Essex County, will be the principal speaker at a rally of the United Colored Democratic Club, of which John Wallen is president, in the Knights of Columbus auditorium, Washington Place and Hoover Avenue, at 8:30 Thursday evening, October 25.

The meeting will be opened by Mr. Wallen, who will then introduce the Rev. David Riley, chairman of the Passaic County Democratic Club, of Paterson, who will preside.

Speakers in addition to Mr. Johnson, who is chairman of the Essex County Colored Democratic League, will be Robert J. Neilley, vice-chairman of the Passaic County Democratic Committee, and candidates running on the party's ticket.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the rally consists of James Harris Wilkinson, B. Coffey, William Bresson, Mrs. Irene Slappery, William Glover, Mrs. Martha Wallen, Samuel Tucker, Irley Jackson, John Houston, Miss Wally De Groot, Mrs. James Harris, Edward Twitty, Mrs. Cora Marshall, Celiley Nevis, Everett Collins, Roland Garner, Clarence Marshall, Mrs. Gertrude Jackson, Mrs. A. Collins, Arthur Fields, Raymond De Groot, Dallis Dickens, Mrs. Olga Balor, Henry Blake, Mrs. Lena De Groot, Richard Epps, Hassel Dansel, George Broun, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. Ruth Schenkes, William Slappery, Henry Jackson, Vernal Millegan, Thomas Schenkes, Bert Collins, John Wallen and James E. Broun.

Dancing and refreshments will follow the rally.

READING, PA.
TIMES
SEP 27 1934

URGES ALL NEGROES TO SUPPORT DEMOS

Harrisburg Man Addresses Political Club

George F. Potts, Harrisburg, Negro organizer for the Democratic state committee, last night was the chief speaker at a meeting of the Colored Political club of Reading, at the club's headquarters, 123 W. Washington st.

Potts urged all Negroes to vote the straight Democratic ticket, declaring that George Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, was a "true friend of the Negro" and a descendant of abolitionists. Potts also declared that the Democratic platform stands for a new deal for the Negro, and that Negroes "may expect in the near future larger and fuller opportunities."

Plans for a Democratic mass meeting some time next week were announced. The Rev. Marshall L. Shepeard, Philadelphia, Democratic candidate for the general assembly will be the chief speaker. No definite date has yet been set.

W. Justin Carter, jr., Reading attorney and president of the club, was in charge of the meeting. While in the city Potts met Assistant District Attorney Dawson Muth, Democratic county chairman.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL
OCT 12 1934

RALLY OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR DEMOCRATS

Emmet O'Neal In Race for Congress; James Stites for Appellate Court.

ADMINISTRATION BACKED

Speakers At Meet See Coming Election As 'New Deal Referendum.'

Sounding the keynote of the forthcoming election as a "New Deal referendum," Democratic speakers addressing a rally at the Memorial Auditorium Thursday night formally opened the campaign of Emmet O'Neal, nominee for Congress, and James W. Stites, for the Court of Appeals. The audience filled the auditorium and crowded the street outside where loudspeakers were installed.

Pledging his allegiance to the Administration programme, Mr. O'Neal asserted, "I do not read President Roosevelt's character to mean he expects a rubber-stamp Congressman," and added. "Should I be elected, it would be a part of my work to see that the geographic location of Kentucky did not cause unjust discrimination, and use my time and efforts to serve my country and my district according to my best judgment and the dictates of my conscience."

Mr. Stites denied charges that phases of the New Deal are unconstitutional. Self-preservation, he said, "is an elementary right of sovereignty. The right of a sovereign government to protect itself from disintegration is axiomatic."

Wilson W. Wyatt, campaign chairman, interpreted "the outpouring of the crowds" at the rally as "a token of victory." He urged party workers to "make the victory decisive," and predicted the election of Mr. O'Neal and Mr. Stites by majorities of 10,000 each. He urged the election of H. Lawrence Ott, nominee for Constable in the Second Magisterial District.

Clubs Are Represented.

More than 100 Democratic leaders, including members of the municipal and county administrations, were seated on the platform. Democratic clubs represented in the audience were :First Ward, Bandana, All-Wool-and-a-Yard-Wide, Mose Green, South End Sixth Ward, and the Negro clubs, Fort Hill, Eighth Ward and Victory Colored Democratic organization. Alvin S. Rosenberg was general chairman in charge of the meeting.

Shackelford Miller, Jr., chairman of the Democratic City and County Committee, speaking in place of Charles W. Morris, who sent a telegram of regret that he was detained in New York, asserted "Louisville and Jefferson County now are normally Democratic." He declared the change of the Republican majority from 33,331 in 1928 to a Democratic majority of 6,400 in 1933 is "indicative of the National situation, with a rejuvenated Democracy under President Roosevelt."

David R. Castleman cited economic gains under the New Deal, and listed as benefits the repeal of prohibition, reforms in the banking laws and changes in the monetary system. He characterized the records of the Democratic city and county administrations as "redemptions of campaign pledges," and urged the election of the three Democratic nominees.

Introducing Mr. O'Neal, Mayor Neville Miller said: "The City Administration needs the services of a Congressman in Washington. Senators Barkley and Logan have given unsparingly of their time, but our district has no Congressman."

Country First, O'Neal Says.

"Should I be elected, I would feel that the district chose me to think first in terms of our country, and then that the business groups of Louisville and Jefferson County, and all classes of its people, were giving me a mandate to watch their interests," Mr. O'Neal said. "Our industries and our people in the last two years have needed a friend at court. This district has lost two years which could have been well used by a practical Congressman acting as your agent in Washington.

"In this city and county we have many big industries, some of them representing in Kentucky a larger investment in that industry than in any other State. Kentucky Congressmen should know more of their problems than Representatives from any other State, and they should be recognized in Congress as authorities on such industries. The interests of this section of our country, from geographical and other causes are often in conflict with other States Your Congressman should be your champion, ready to fight to correct is the rule. This requires close liaison between the people at home and your Representatives in Washington."

Attacking critics of the New Deal Mr. O'Neal cited the "prosperity" statements of leaders during the last national administration from 1929 to 1932, asserting, "It is sheer effrontery, a bit ludicrous and totally unavailing for these gentlemen to say anything, much less to criticise." He added. From 1929 to 1932, were on dead center and bogged down The latter part of 1932 and the first part of 1933 were as critical a period in America as the day of 1861, or the days of 1789 in France."

Stites Holds Acts Justified.

"We should thrill with pride," he continued, "that more than 1,000,000 farm and city home have been saved from foreclosure. Over 3,500 homes in Louisville and Jefferson County have been so aided."

Declaring critics of the Administration in Washington have become "ground shy like certain student airplane pilots," Mr. Stites said the objectors "do not seem to be able to Mrs. Walter A. Radford, co-chairman of the campaign, announced He said the emergency of the depression justified the right and the power of the Pres-Senator M. M. Logan, Mr. O'Neal and dent and Congress to determine the Mr. Stites will address Democratic necessity for action. If the acts of women voters at a luncheon at 12:30 the New Deal are reasonable, appro- o'clock Tuesday afternoon at The priate to accomplish the object to Seelbach. which they are directed, I submit that they are constitutional. That they are accomplishing that object today is, to my mind, conclusive of their propriety."

TRENTON, N. J.
TIMES
OCT 14 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS WILL HEAR MOORE

The Colored Democratic Club of Trenton will hold a mass meeting Thursday night at the Colored Elks home on Fowler Street.

Governor A. Harry Moore, candidate for the United States Senate and William L. Dill, candidate for Governor, and all Democratic nominees for Mercer County offices will speak. Dr. Leroy Morris, president of the club, will preside at the meeting.

BRONX HOME NEWS
OCT 21 1934

Colored Democratic Club Holds Rally at Clubrooms

The first of a series of Democratic rallies was held the other night by the Bronx County Colored Democracy, 1121 Union Ave. The meeting was in charge of Lindsey Armstrong.

The next rally will be held at the clubrooms on Tuesday night, Oct. 30. The principal speakers scheduled are former City Chamberlain Charles A. Buckley, candidate for Congress in the 23d C. D., and Assemblyman Samuel Weisman, candidate for re-election in the Fourth A. D.

JAMAICA, N. Y.
QUEENS COUNTY NEWS
OCT 16 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS INVITE SHERIDAN

The Queens County United Colored Democracy, in a resolution passed by "The Colored Democratic Clubs of Queens," in convention, at 106-44 New York blvd., extended an invitation to James C. Sheridan, Democratic Leader in Queens, to address a meeting to be held October 23, at Olympia Hall, 107-50 New York blvd.

The resolution expressed the desire of the Colored Clubs of Queens to hear Mr. Sheridan's views as to "the policy of the Democratic Party in Queens toward the rightful recognition of the Colored Democracy in the matter of patronage and representation in those districts where they form a considerable and significant part of the community."

Copies of the resolution have been sent to Mr. Sheridan by a committee composed of James E. Williams, of the Pontier Democratic Club of Jamaica; William E. L. Reifer, Progressive Democratic Club of Corona, and Robert Lee Leland Avenue Democratic Club Far Rockaway.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND
NEWS
OCT 12 1934

COLORED VOTERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Two speakers will address a rally to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Colored Democratic club headquarters, 117 Franklin street, Justice Tenola E. Graves reported.

Robert Lee Anderson, candidate for councilman at Gary, and State Representative Robert Stanton, Lake county, will provide the oratory for the meeting. 2 The Red Apple quartet also is expected to present a short program of vocal numbers.

Mr. Graves spoke last night before 500 ex-service men at Gary. He told his listeners that any colored person who voted the straight Republican ticket ought to be committed to an insane asylum without examination.

Dr. King S. Jones also spoke briefly at the meeting together with a group of Gary candidates.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS
OCT 17 1934

Negro Democrats to Hear Party Leaders

Big Rally Arranged for Casey Hall on October 25th

J. Bernard Johnson, Assistant Prosecutor of Essex County, will be the principal speaker at a rally of the United Colored Democratic Club, of which John Wallen is president, in the Knights of Columbus auditorium, Washington Place and Hoover Avenue, at 8:30 Thursday evening, October 25.

The meeting will be opened by Mr. Wallen, who will then introduce the Rev. David Riley, chairman of the Passaic County Democratic Club, of Paterson, who will preside.

Speakers in addition to Mr. Johnson, who is chairman of the Essex County Colored Democratic League, will be Robert J. Neilley, vice-chairman of the Passaic County Democratic Committee, and candidates running on the party's ticket.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the rally consists of James Harris Wilkinson, B. Coffey, William Bresson, Mrs. Irene Slappery, William Glover, Mrs. Martha Wallen, Samuel Tucker, Irley Jackson, John Houston, Miss Wally De Groot, Mrs. James Harris, Edward Twitty, Mrs. Cora Marshall, Celiley Nevis, Everett Collins, Roland Garner, Clarence Marshall, Mrs. Gertrude Jackson, Mrs. A. Collins, Arthur Fields, Raymond De Groot, Dallis Dickens, Mrs. Olga Balor, Henry Blake, Mrs. Lena De Groot, Richard Epps, Hassel Dansel, George Broun, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. Ruth Schenkes, William Slappery, Henry Jackson, Vernal Millegan, Thomas Schenkes, Bert Collins, John Wallen and James E. Broun.

Dancing and refreshments will follow the rally.

READING, PA.
TIMES
SEP 27 1934

URGES ALL NEGROES TO SUPPORT DEMOS

Harrisburg Man Addresses Political Club

George F. Potts, Harrisburg, Negro organizer for the Democratic state committee, last night was the chief speaker at a meeting of the Colored Political club of Reading, at the club's headquarters, 123 W. Washington st.

Potts urged all Negroes to vote the straight Democratic ticket, declaring that George Earle, Democratic candidate for governor, was a "true friend of the Negro" and a descendant of abolitionists. Potts also declared that the Democratic platform stands for a new deal for the Negro, and that Negroes "may expect in the near future larger and fuller opportunities."

Plans for a Democratic mass meeting some time next week were announced. The Rev. Marshall L. Shepeard, Philadelphia, Democratic candidate for the general assembly will be the chief speaker. No definite date has yet been set.

W. Justin Carter, jr., Reading attorney and president of the club, was in charge of the meeting. While in the city Potts met Assistant District Attorney Dawson Muth, Democratic county chairman.

LOUISVILLE, KY.
COURIER JOURNAL
OCT 12 1934

RALLY OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR DEMOCRATS

Emmet O'Neal In Race for Congress; James Stites for Appellate Court.

ADMINISTRATION BACKED

Speakers At Meet See Coming Election As 'New Deal Referendum.'

Sounding the keynote of the forthcoming election as a "New Deal referendum," Democratic speakers addressing a rally at the Memorial Auditorium Thursday night formally opened the campaign of Emmet O'Neal, nominee for Congress, and James W. Stites, for the Court of Appeals. The audience filled the auditorium and crowded the street outside where loudspeakers were installed.

Pledging his allegiance to the Administration programme, Mr. O'Neal asserted, "I do not read President Roosevelt's character to mean he expects a rubber-stamp Congressman," and added. "Should I be elected, it would be a part of my work to see that the geographic location of Kentucky did not cause unjust discrimination, and use my time and efforts to serve my country and my district according to my best judgment and the dictates of my conscience."

Mr. Stites denied charges that phases of the New Deal are unconstitutional. Self-preservation, he said, "is an elementary right of sovereignty. The right of a sovereign government to protect itself from disintegration is axiomatic."

Wilson W. Wyatt, campaign chairman, interpreted "the outpouring of the crowds" at the rally as "a token of victory." He urged party workers to "make the victory decisive," and predicted the election of Mr. O'Neal and Mr. Stites by majorities of 10,000 each. He urged the election of H. Lawrence Ott, nominee for Constable in the Second Magisterial District.

Clubs Are Represented.

More than 100 Democratic leaders, including members of the municipal and county administrations, were seated on the platform. Democratic clubs represented in the audience were :First Ward, Bandana, All-Wool-and-a-Yard-Wide, Mose Green, South End Sixth Ward, and the Negro clubs, Fort Hill, Eighth Ward and Victory Colored Democratic organization. Alvin S. Rosenberg was general chairman in charge of the meeting.

Shackelford Miller, Jr., chairman of the Democratic City and County Committee, speaking in place of Charles W. Morris, who sent a telegram of regret that he was detained in New York, asserted "Louisville and Jefferson County now are normally Democratic." He declared the change of the Republican majority from 33,331 in 1928 to a Democratic majority of 6,400 in 1933 is "indicative of the National situation, with a rejuvenated Democracy under President Roosevelt."

David R. Castleman cited economic gains under the New Deal, and listed as benefits the repeal of prohibition, reforms in the banking laws and changes in the monetary system. He characterized the records of the Democratic city and county administrations as "redemptions of campaign pledges," and urged the election of the three Democratic nominees.

Introducing Mr. O'Neal, Mayor Neville Miller said: "The City Administration needs the services of a Congressman in Washington. Senators Barkley and Logan have given unsparingly of their time, but our district has no Congressman."

Country First, O'Neal Says.

"Should I be elected, I would feel that the district chose me to think first in terms of our country, and then that the business groups of Louisville and Jefferson County, and all classes of its people, were giving me a mandate to watch their interests," Mr. O'Neal said. "Our industries and our people in the last two years have needed a friend at court. This district has lost two years which could have been well used by a practical Congressman acting as your agent in Washington.

"In this city and county we have many big industries, some of them representing in Kentucky a larger investment in that industry than in any other State. Kentucky Congressmen should know more of their problems than Representatives from any other State, and they should be recognized in Congress as authorities on such industries. The interests of this section of our country, from geographical and other causes are often in conflict with other States Your Congressman should be your champion, ready to fight to correct this is the rule. This requires close liaison between the people at home and your Representatives in Washington."

Attacking critics of the New Deal Mr. O'Neal cited the "prosperity" statements of leaders during the last national administration from 1929 to 1932, asserting, "It is sheer effrontery, a bit ludicrous and totally unavailing for these gentlemen to say anything, much less to criticise." He added. From 1929 to 1932, were on dead center and bogged down The latter part of 1932 and the first part of 1933 were as critical a period in America as the day of 1861, or the days of 1789 in France."

Stites Holds Acts Justified.

"We should thrill with pride," he continued, "that more than 1,000,000 farm and city home have been saved from foreclosure. Over 3,500 homes in Louisville and Jefferson County have been so aided."

Declaring critics of the Administration in Washington have become "ground shy like certain student airplane pilots," Mr. Stites said the objectors "do not seem to be able to get down to eadth." He said the depression justified the Pres-Senator M. M. Logan, Mr. O'Neal and emergency of the power of the Mr. Stites will address Democratic "the right and Congress to determine the voters at a luncheon at 12:30 dent and the Acts of women oat The necessity for action. If the Acts of the New Deal are reasonable, appro-o'clock Tuesday afternoon priate to accomplish the objects Seelbach. which they are directed, I submit that they are constitutional. That they are accomplishing that object today is, to my mind, conclusive of their propriety."

Walter A. Radford, co-chairman of the campaign, announced Mrs.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

WHY CHICAGO DEMOCRATS REJOICED---

Ferdinand Barnett, Dean of Attorneys, Takes Hand In Discussion

By FERDINAND L. BARNETT, Sr.

The recent Democratic victory banquet under the auspices of the Regular Democratic Organization of the First Congressional District was a notable gathering in the personnel of white and colored Democrats whose active participation in the last election ousted Hon. Oscar DePriest, colored Republican and elected in his place Hon. Arthur W. Mitchell, a colored Democrat, of outstanding ability and integrity.

The banqueters had good cause to celebrate. Splendid teamwork on the part of white and colored Democrats in an overwhelming colored district had displaced the most prominent colored Republican in the state and the nation and in his place had commissioned a new man to sit on the Democratic side of Congress and support the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democratic President.

This was something new under the sun, and furnished food for thought in both the Democratic and Republican parties. At the reporters' table sat a staff correspondent for The Chicago Defender, Dewey R. Jones, one of the best educated men of his race. Himself a Liberal, and representing the most influential and widely-read Negro newspaper in this country, he was an interested observer. Among those present he saw many of the ablest and most influential Democrats in the District, in the county, and in the state. He heard them address their colored co-workers in the Democratic ranks, expressing their gratification and pleasure that the instant jubilee party was a tangible evidence that the newly arrived era had brought with it racial friendship, fellowship and comradeship. Resounding applause, political amens were followed by timely and eloquent responses on the part of the colored Democrats. Everybody was happy except the staff writer at the reporter's table.

Of high standing in the community, and ably qualified to record the reaction which followed in the wake of the happenings to which he was a witness, the reporter penned his musings which subsequently appeared in the columns of The Defender. They probably represent the viewpoint of colored Republicans in their consideration of the Democratic jubilee.

"The joy unconfined" among the victorious Democrats finds no counterpart in the ranks of the vanquished. The reportorial musings were painfully gloomy with disastrous forebodings of political disrepair. On the Republican horizon there appears no ray of hope. Grand Old Party leaders appear to remember only the direful dictum of Frederick Douglass, when he said, "The Republican Party is the ship; all else is the sea," and the "wailing wall" observations of the Democratic festivities were confined to recounting bitter recollections of Democratic hostility and wrongs which have characterized the treatment of the Democratic Party towards the Negro.

THINGS THAT LED UP TO THE SITUATION

The woes of Reconstruction Days, the wrongs and injuries visited upon the hapless freedman emancipated and then left penniless, homeless and ignorant to "survive or perish," subject to the malicious promptings brutal persecution of racial hatred and the vindictive resentment of their vanquished masters, the red shirt raids, the unspeakable outrages of the Ku Klux Klan, the tissue ballot frauds and the openly avowed acts of nullification of the 14th and 15th Amendments, all combined to make inexpressibly mournful the musings of the disconsolate observer of the Democratic festivities. Unfortuately for the nation and for colored people in particular these bitter recollections in the coming campaign will be recalled, re-vived and amplified by the leaders, spell-binders and demagogues of "old deal" Republicanism in their effort to defeat the Roosevelt program of recovery.

They know and fully realize that our nation is in the throes of a world-wide movement which is certain to minimize the power of exploitation now in the hands of the money changers, industrialists and white collar hosts and bring into a new social order the "forgotten man" who for centuries has been compelled to earn his bread by the "sweat of his brow" and in addition thereto to produce and accumulate wealth to enrich the favored few who in the realm of individual worth and endeavor, "toil not neither do they spin." enceforth the billionaires will exist only in memory, the millionaires will be few and far between. their accumulations mounting through the rugged "individuality" which lawfully rewards the superiority of work, worth and thrift, but, people in the "wide open spaces" of a boundlessly rich country will grow millions and millions of heretofore forgotten men. These, under the reign of boundless opportunity, heartened by comfortable living conditions, secure in the ownership of all they produce and by the inexorable laws of a new social order assured of their well-earned "place in the sun" will bring our nation to the forefront of all civilized people, safe from the periodic depression of all old dogma economics and established it firmly upon the solid foundation of a national policy conceived, built and squared through the applied principles of the Golden Rule.

DEMOCRATIC HILARITY IS JUSTIFIED

From the Democratic viewpoint, the hilarity of their victory banquet is commendably justifiable. During more than a quarter of a century white and black Democrats have labored diligently to improve the political status of colored men by intelligent methods of harmonious co-operation. They were encouraged by their great Presidential leaders, first by President Cleveland, who gave colored Democrats splendid representation during his administration by the appointment of James C. Matthews, of New York, as Recorder of Deeds in Washington, who failed of confirmation, after which he appointed William Monroe Trotter to succeed him. He also appointed Rev. Moses Hopkins, of New York, Minister to Liberia, and at his death appointed C. H. Taylor, a Kansas City Democrat, to take his place. President Cleveland gave to colored Democrats the honor of representation equal to that given by the Republican party to Frederick Douglass when he appointed Hon. John W. Thompson as Minister to Hair.

The next Democratic President, Woodrow Wilson, by the appointment of Adam Patterson endeavored to give colored Democrats a position on par with that of Senator Bruce, who was Registrar of the Treasury. Mr. Patterson was also nominated Registrar of the Treasurer but later requested the withdrawal of the nomination. He is now one of the leading colored Democrats of Chicago. President Wilson also reappointed Judge Robert H. Terrell as Judge of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia. When President Woodrow Wilson was elected he signalized his administration by continuing the policy of the national Democratic party to give colored members of the Democratic party representation in the ranks of Democratic appointees. He appointed Dr. Emmet J. Scott as Special Assistant to the Secretary of War and Prof. Geo. H. Haynes as Special Assistant in the Labor Department of the government.

THEN CAME PRES. ROOSEVELT

President Roosevelt was the next Democrat at the White House. Not only by unequivocal expressions of his determination to embrace in his program of recovery all citizens of the United States without regard to race, color or creed, but by appointment of many of the best known leaders of our race in the country he has shown he means what he says. He appointed Dr. Thomkins, Recorder of Deeds at Washington; Robert L. Vann, militant editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, Special Assistant to the Postmaster General, and Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

In addition to these notable appointments he has selected a number of the ablest educators and busiest men to positions highly responsible to help carry out his program of recovery. He has denounced lynching from the White House and pledged his co-operation in the movement to secure federal legislaion on the subject.

Inspired by these friendly gestures by the leading Democrats of the country the regular Democratic party of the state of Illinois, of the county of Cook, and of the First Congressional district worked shoulder to shoulder to put over the Roosevelt program. They had overwhelming success and they were justly entitled to their victory banquet.

In a recent release Prof. Kelly Miller, admittedly the mentor of our race, said:

"The day of the Negro Democrat has arrived. He measures up fully in character, caliber and quality with his Republican counterpart and the stigma of reproach has been rolled away from his name."

Counselled and encouraged by the friendly treatment of the Democratic party through its President in Washington, Illinois Democrats for more than a quarter of a century have extended the olive branch and welcomed into their ranks all members of our Race who could "forgive and forget" and enrolled themselves as Democrats. The invitation was accepted by a host of intelligent and worthy colored people who believed that color line considerations have no helpful place in a Democratic electorate; they believed that it should not be possible to look into a voter's face and tell what he was thinking about.

RACE JOINS DEMOCRATIC RANKS

The ranks of the colored Democrats grew apace, racial representation was accorded to colored Democrats commensurate with their numbers, members and influence. They became active members in the councils of the Democratic party. Today, the Democratic party of Illinois having overwhelming control of state, Cook county and Chicago offices show their regard and appreciation of members of the party by the employment and appointment of colored men and women in nearly all public offices.

Governor Horner, formerly Democratic judge of the probate court of Cook county, earned, enjoyed and received the enthusiastic support of colored voters regardless of party lines because of his sympathetic interest in the welfare of colored people. He emphasized his regard for our race and his intent to give colored people high class representation and his administration when he named Attorney Herman E. Moore, one of Chicago's ablest lawyers, as assistant commissioner on the board of commissioners of Cook county.

Attorney General Kerner among his first appointments named Attorney Earl Dickerson as an assistant attorney general, one of the best known and most capable colored Democrats in our state. In the city administration, Mayor Kelly has shown his appreciation of his colored supporters by the appointment of Nathan K. McGill as a member of the Mayor's Council to a place on the board of library directory. Attorney J. Gray Lucas was appointed by him as an assistant corporation counsel, also many other colored Democrats have been appointed to positions of honor and emolument.

States Attorney Courtney has appointed four colored lawyers as assistants in his office and all the victorious Democratic officials in the last election have named colored Democrats among their appointees. Especially active and efficient has been the regular second Ward Democratic committeeman, Joseph Tittinger in securing city appointments of colored Democrats in the municipal service. It was through his aggressive and loyal support that Congressman-elect Arthur W. Mitchell defeated Congressman DePriest and will take his place on the Democratic side of the House of Representatives when Congress convenes in January.

When Congressman-elect Mitchell takes his seat in Congress, he will represent the people of the First District without regard to race, color or creed, loyal to the interests of his Race and patriotic in his service to all his constituents. He is safe, sane and sensible and has publicly declared against a firebrand policy. He says he hopes to be a Congressman of the First District it is to be hoped that there will rest the injunction of the Holy Writ, "Love and pray for them that use you "and ever with willing lips" the soft answer turneth away wrath" and upon the never failing power of the Golden Rule.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

WHY CHICAGO DEMOCRATS REJOICED---

Ferdinand Barnett, Dean of Attorneys, Takes Hand In Discussion

By FERDINAND L. BARNETT, Sr.

The recent Democratic victory banquet under the auspices of the Regular Democratic Organization of the First Congressional District was a notable gathering in the personnel of white and colored Democrats whose active participation in the last election ousted Hon. Oscar DePriest, colored Republican and elected in his place Hon. Arthur W. Mitchell, a colored Democrat, of outstanding ability and integrity.

The banqueters had good cause to celebrate. Splendid teamwork on the part of white and colored Democrats in an overwhelming colored district had displaced the most prominent colored Republican in the state and the nation, and in his place had commissioned a new man to sit on the Democratic side of Congress and support the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democratic President.

This was something new under the sun, and furnished food for thought in both the Democratic and Republican parties. At the reporters' table sat a staff correspondent for The Chicago Defender, Dewey R. Jones, one of the best educated men of his race. Himself a Liberal, and representing the most influential and widely-read Negro newspaper in this country, he was an interested observer. Among those present he saw many of the ablest and most influential Democrats in the District, in the county, and in the state. He heard them address their colored co-workers in the Democratic ranks, expressing their gratification and pleasure that the instant jubilee party was a tangible evidence that the newly arrived era had brought with it racial friendship, fellowship and comradeship. Resounding applause, political amens were followed by timely and eloquent responses on the part of the colored Democrats. Everybody was happy except the staff writer at the reporter's table.

Of high standing in the community, and ably qualified to record the reaction which followed in the wake of the happenings to which he was a witness, the reporter penned his musings which subsequently appeared in the columns of The Defender. They probably represent the viewpoint of colored Republicans in their consideration of the Democratic jubilee.

"The joy unconfined" among the victorious Democrats finds no counterpart in the ranks of the vanquished. The reportorial musings were painfully gloomy with disastrous forebodings of political disbair. On the Republican horizon here appears no ray of hope. Grand Old Party leaders appear to remember only the direful dictum of Frederick Douglass, when he said, "The Republican Party is the ship; all else is the sea," and the "wailing wall" observations of the Democratic festivities were confined to recounting bitter recollections of Democratic hostility and wrongs which have characterized the treatment of the Democratic Party towards the Negro.

THINGS THAT LED UP TO THE SITUATION

The woes of Reconstruction Days, the wrongs and injuries visited upon the hapless freedman emancipated and then left penniless, homeless and ignorant to "survive or perish," subject to the malicious promptings brutal persecution of racial hatred and the vindictive resentment of their vanquished masters, the red shirt raids, the unspeakable outrages of the Ku Klux Klan, the tissue ballot frauds and the openly avowed acts of nullification of the 14th and 15th Amendments, all combined to make inexpressibly mournful the musings of the disconsolate observer of the Democratic festivities. Unfortuately for the nation and for colored people in particular these bitter recollections in the coming campaign will be recalled, re-vived and amplified by the leaders, spell-binders and demagogues of "old deal" Republicanism in their effort to defeat the Roosevelt program of recovery.

They know and fully realize that our nation is in the throes of a world-wide movement which is certain to minimize the power of exploitation now in the hands of the money changers, industrialists and white collar hosts and bring into a new social order the "forgotten man" who for centuries has been compelled to earn his bread by the "sweat of his brow" and in addition thereto to produce and accumulate wealth to enrich the favored few who in the realm of individual worth and endeavor, "toil not neither do they spin." enceforth the billionaires will exist only in memory, the millionaires will be few and far between. their accumulations mounting through the rugged "individuality" which lawfully rewards the superiority of work, worth and thrift, but, people in the "wide open spaces" of a boundlessly rich country will grow millions and millions of heretofore forgotten men. These, under the reign of boundless opportunity, heartened by comfortable living conditions, secure in the ownership of all they produce and by the inexorable laws of a new social order assured of their well-earned "place in the sun" will bring our nation to the forefront of all civilized people, safe from the periodic depression of all old dogma economics and established it firmly upon the solid foundation of a national policy conceived, built and squared through the applied principles of the Golden Rule.

DEMOCRATIC HILARITY IS JUSTIFIED

From the Democratic viewpoint, the hilarity of their victory banquet s commendably justifiable. During more than a quarter of a century white and black Democrats have labored diligently to improve the political status of colored men by intelligent methods of harmonious co-operation. They were encouraged by their great Presidential leaders, first by President Cleveland, who gave colored Democrats splendid representation during his administration by the appointment of James C. Matthews, of New York, as Recorder of Deeds in Washington, who failed of confirmation, after which he appointed William Monroe Trotter to succeed him. He also appointed Rev. Moses Hopkins, of New York, Minister to Liberia, and at his death appointed C. H. Taylor, a Kansas City Democrat, to take his place. President Cleveland gave to colored Democrats the honor of representation equal to that given by the Republican party to Frederick Douglass when he appointed Hon. John W. Thompson as Minister to Haiti.

The next Democratic President, Woodrow Wilson, by the appointment of Adam Patterson endeavored to give colored Democrats a position on par with that of Senator Bruce, who was Registrar of the Treasury. Mr. Patterson was also nominated Registrar of the Treasurer but later requested the withdrawal of the nomination. He is now one of the leading colored Democrats of Chicago. President Wilson also reappointed Judge Robert H. Terrell as Judge of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia. When President Woodrow Wilson was elected he signalized his administration by continuing the policy of the national Democratic party to give colored members of the Democratic party representation in the ranks of Democratic appointees. He appointed Dr. Emmet J. Scott as Special Assistant to the Secretary of War and Prof. Geo. H. Haynes as Special Assistant in the Labor Department of the government.

THEN CAME PRES. ROOSEVELT

President Roosevelt was the next Democrat at the White House. Not only by unequivocal expressions of his determination to embrace in his program of recovery all citizens of the United States without regard to race, color or creed, but by appointment of many of the best known leaders of our race in the country he has shown he means what he says. He appointed Dr. Thomkins, Recorder of Deeds at Washington; Robert L. Vann, militant editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, Special Assistant to the Postmaster General, and Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

In addition to these notable appointments he has selected a number of the ablest educators and busiest men to positions highly responsible to help carry out his program of recovery. He has denounced lynching from the White House and pledged his co-operation in the movement to secure federal legislaion on the subject.

Inspired by these friendly gestures by the leading Democrats of the country the regular Democratic party of the state of Illinois, of the county of Cook, and of the First Congressional district worked shoulder to shoulder to put over the Roosevelt program. They had overwhelming success and they were justly entitled to their victory banquet.

In a recent release Prof. Kelly Miller, admittedly the mentor of our race, said:

"The day of the Negro Democrat has arrived. He measures up fully in character, caliber and quality with his Republican counterpart and the stigma of reproach has been rolled away from his name."

Counselled and encouraged by the friendly treatment of the Democratic party through its President in Washington, Illinois Democrats for more than a quarter of a century have extended the olive branch and welcomed into their ranks all members of our Race who could "forgive and forget" and enrolled themselves as Democrats. The invitation was accepted by a host of intelligent and worthy colored people who believed that color line considerations have no helpful place in a Democratic electorate; they believed that it should not be possible to look into a voter's face and tell what he was thinking about.

RACE JOINS DEMOCRATIC RANKS

The ranks of the colored Democrats grew apace, racial representation was accorded to colored Democrats commensurate with their numbers, members and influence. They became active members in the councils of the Democratic party. Today, the Democratic party of Illinois having overwhelming control of state, Cook county and Chicago offices show their regard and appreciation of members of the party by the employment and appointment of colored men and women in nearly all public offices.

Governor Horner, formerly Democratic judge of the probate court of Cook county, earned, enjoyed and received the enthusiastic support of colored voters regardless of party lines because of his sympathetic interest in the welfare of colored people. He emphasized his regard for our race and his intent to give colored people high class representation and his administration when he named Attorney Herman E. Moore, one of Chicago's ablest lawyers, as assistant commissioner on the board of commissioners of Cook county.

Attorney General Kerner among his first appointments named Attorney Earl Dickerson as an assistant attorney general, one of the best known and most capable colored Democrats in our state. In the city administration, Mayor Kelly has shown his appreciation of his colored supporters by the appointment of Nathan K. McGill as a member of the Mayor's Council to a place on the board of library directory. Attorney J. Gray Lucas was appointed by him as an assistant corporation counsel, also many other colored Democrats have been appointed to positions of honor and emolument.

States Attorney Courtney has appointed four colored lawyers as assistants in his office and all the victorious Democratic officials in the last election have named colored Democrats among their appointees. Especially active and efficient has been the regular second Ward Democratic committeeman, Joseph Tittinger in securing city appointments of colored Democrats in the municipal service. It was through his aggressive and loyal support that Congressman-elect Arthur W. Mitchell defeated Congressman De-

Priest and will take his place on the Democratic side of the House of Representatives when Congress convenes in January.

When Congressman-elect Mitchell takes his seat in Congress, he will represent the people of the First District without regard to race, color or creed, loyal to the interests of his Race and patriotic in his service to all his constituents. He is safe, sane and sensible and he will find it. When he takes publicly declared against a firebrand the oath of office as Congressman of policy. He says he hopes to be an the First District it is to be hoped that there will rest the the Holy Writ, "Love and pray for them who despitefully use you "and ever willing lips" the soft answer turneth away wrath" and upon his conscience the never failing power of the Golden Rule.

W. Virginia Democrats Hold State-Wide Meet

CHARLESTON, W.Va.—Representatives of about twenty counties met here in the Knights of Pythias building, Saturday afternoon, in answer to a call for a state-wide meeting of Democrats issued by Dr. R. G. Warren, I. J. K. Wells, E. L. Powell, C. W. Dickerson and D. W. Ambrose.

A constitution was adopted by the group, formally organizing the Democratic Central Committee of West Virginia. The following officers were elected:

A. B. Grasty, chairman; E. E. Twine, first vice-chairman; Dr. R. G. Warren, second vice-chairman; D. W. Ambrose, secretary; Charles B. Moore, assistant secretary; C. T. Hairston, corresponding secretary, and Dave S. Ware, treasurer. Mrs. B. R. Forney was named associate chairman.

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

DEC 30 1934

RACE ISSUE STIRRED BY HOOVER AID

By JOHN O'DONNELL and DORIS FLEESON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—On the desk of President Roosevelt is a memorandum detailing a series of events which deal with one of the most delicate and sensitive political topics in the nation—the New Deal recognition of colored voters who have deserted their traditional Republicanism to vote for Roosevelt Democracy.

The memorandum is important and has been kept a dark secret. It has involved such Cabinet members as Postmaster General Farley in his role of chairman of the National Committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and Attorney General Homer Cummings.

And importantly tied into the situation is none other than that potent Senator-elect, Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania, who has demanded—and probably will get—the political head of the nation's chief narcotic sleuth, Hoover—appointed H. J. Anslinger, the United State Treasury's Commissioner of Narcotics.

How it Happened.

What happened is this: On Dec. 4, when the nation-wide raids on dope were being plotted in the Narcotic Bureau, Commissioner Anslinger received a report from his Manhattan office announcing that a Harlem informer, one Edward Jones, had gone South with some of Uncle Sam's cash, handed over to him for use in his stool-pigeon activities for the bureau.

To every narcotic agent in the nation, under the formal letterhead of the Treasury of the United States, went forth Anslinger's warning to beware of Edward Jones. The description of the informer was attached and it included the phrase, under heading of "Color" the expression: "Medium, and might be termed a ginger-colored nigger."

One of the circulars reached the desk of Assistant Attorney General Robert L. Vann, colored lawyer and political leader of Pittsburgh, who compaigned for Roosevelt among his race before the Chicago convention and who proved his effectiveness so bluntly to Major-Gen. Farley that last November Farley entrusted him with a nation-wide speaking campaign to swing colored votes away from the Republican Party to Roosevelt.

And so effective was he in his native Pennsylvania, according to the Farley figures and those of Democratic Senator Guffey, that 170,000 colored votes, normally cast into G. O. P. columns, were switched to the New Deal candidate, making possible the defeat of Senator David Reed and the Mellon machine.

Political Crack-Back.

Colored organizations gave swift publicity to the Anslinger letter, but it was the political crack-back reported in the capital by Farley's political intelligence unit which spurred action and has given Chief White House Secretary Louis McHenry Howe cause for serious thought.

What has happened—in Harlem in Chicago's ~~colored~~ section, in Pittsburgh and in Northern industrial centers with large groups of colored voters—is that the Republican political leaders who formerly led the colored groups have seized the Anslinger letter, distributed thousands of copies, and argued:

"This is what happens to you colored voters for turning Democrat. You deserted the Republicans you have always voted with and voted for an administration which broadcasts, under the seal of the Treasury of the United States, a description of one of our race as a 'ginger-colored nigger.'"

Now, brothers Farley and Guffey are two gentlemen who are far from slow on the political trigger, and they immediately realized that swift action must be taken to hold the tremendous gains made by the New Deal in wooing the colored vote from its traditional loyalty to the party of Abraham Lincoln.

They were bombarded by petitions from Chicago, where colored Arthur W. Mitchell, a New Dealer, won a Congressional seat from colored Republican Oscar De Priest. Manhattan's Harlem, with its thousands of votes flowing down Democratic channels, was quick to place its rebuke on the White House desk.

Anslinger Seen as Out.

The Pennsylvania situation has become so acute that Guffey has seen fit to explain the matter informally to Roosevelt and to make a formal but secret demand on Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau that Anslinger be booted from office forthwith.

Best inside information is that Anslinger must go. He was appointed during the Hoover regime through the influence of his fellow Pennsylvanian, Andy Mellon, and was continued in office, according to White House intimates, at the personal request of Publisher William Randolph Hearst, whose representatives had several conferences with the narcotic chief regarding campaigns to end traffic in drugs.

Joe Byrns Bursts Out In Pince Nez—and Dignity.

With victory assured, the recognized Speaker-elect of the House, lanky Joe Byrns, has set out conscientiously to live up in a sartorial way to his new estate.

When Joe, gift of a Robertson County, Tennessee, farm to his country, was a mere Representative and House whip a common pair of steel-rimmed spectacles were good enough for him—and frequently these were pushed back somewhere atop the lofty Byrns brow, or else misplaced entirely. Not so now.

Over the Byrns chest falls a broad and gleaming black ribbon, at its end a smart pince nez. And Joe is trying hard to master the technique of handling it with proper nonchalance when the boys, who knew him when, obey the pounding of his gavel in the august chamber of the House of Representatives.

Joe, incidentally, in an exuberant victory party for the gentlemen of the press, blossomed out as a singer and, in a pretty tribute to the helping hand extended at the last moment by the President, rendered Roosevelt's favorite song, "Home on the Range," to the accompaniment of a guitar. The boys unanimously agreed that, as an artist, Joe far outranks the White House quartet consisting of three reporters and Presidential Secretary Marvin McIntyre—who first made "Home on the Range" famous.

Postmaster Farley — Commissioner Anslinger

He's stumped by his doings.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Democratic.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT

OCT 27 1934

THE NEGRO VOTE

It Has Shifted from the Republican to the Democratic Party

To the Editor of The Courant:—

The Negro first participated in politics in a big way during the reconstruction period. Reconstruction with its debauchery of partisan hatreds which was much worse than war itself, brought the enmity between the North and South to a climax. Corrupt politicians of the Republican Party, careless of the real welfare of the Negro race, exploited their wrongs, and welded them into a solid political phalanx for the political conquest of the South. The White South retaliated by making a solid Democratic South. This act of the Northern Republicans cost the Negroes their political rights in the South and robbed the whites of their political freedom.

Ever since then the fear of the Negro has shadowed every ballot box in the South. The result has been a lack of freedom of political thought because the voters were not free to divide in political action.

Gradually but surely the Negroes began to diminish as voters in the South. A few Negroes here and there kept voting the Republican ticket once every four years without being a menace to the white voters in the South and without any benefit to themselves. It took the Negro many years and cost him much suffering before he realized that he could not better his condition until he cast his lot with the party that ruled the South.

In 1928 the Negro began to break away from the Republican Party. Negroes voted in small numbers here and there for "Al" Smith. Herbert Hoover was elected and never before in the history of the United States politics did the Negro receive more insults from a President. In 1932 the Negroes throughout the United States revolted against the GOP. Some estimates are that 75 per cent of the Negro vote went for Roosevelt.

Under the Roosevelt New Deal, the Negro has been helped a great deal although the NRA has hurt temporarily in the South but in the long run I think that it will work out. The NRA is the first step that has ever been taken to wipe out the wage differentials between Negroes and whites in the South. It also took hundreds of thousands of Negro children out of the mills and industrial plants in the South.

The AAA has not helped the tenant farmers, of which the Negro composes a large number, but it has been a Godsend to the Negroes, who own more than 36,000,000 of acres of farm land. The President has seen fit to appoint able Negroes in all key positions of the Government to look after and advise on Negro affairs.

According to statistics in seventeen of the Southern States, with nearly 2,000,000 illiterates and a population of nearly 12,000,000 Negro citizens, over half a million colored persons were taught to read and write during the past year through the aid of FERA. The school term has been extended as much as two and three months a year and a thousand colored teachers received a salary increase.

The Negro votes are going to be the deciding factor in national elections from now on, and in many State elections also.

In the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Missouri, with a total of 76 votes in the electoral college, the Negroes hold a balance of power. In the last four years the States of Kentucky, Tennessee and even Massachusetts the Negro vote has been the deciding factor. Thus it is easy to see just what the Negro vote can do.

With these facts in mind, what course will the Negro choose? Will he go back to the Republican Party which has deceived him for nearly seventy years or will he choose to cast his lot with the Democratic Party, which has shown the nation that it is a progressive party ready to adjust itself to the present day needs of the people?

These are vital questions that will be answered by thousands of Negro voters on Nov. 6, 1934.

As a student of Negro politics I cannot see how the Negro will vote any other than the Democratic tickets.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT McDEW.

New Britain, Oct. 24, 1934.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
RECORD

OCT 29 1934

NEW DEAL IN STATE FOR NEGRO CITIZENS PLEDGED BY EARLE

Democrat Promises to Provide More Jobs; Hailed by Ukrainians.

George H. Earle, Democratic nominee for Governor, yesterday promised the Negroes of Pennsylvania a New Deal.

He was cheered as he delivered this pledge at a rousing meeting of more than 2000 men and women in the Lincoln Theater, Broad and Lombard sts.

Earlier in the afternoon the candidate was acclaimed at a meeting of more than 1200 members of the Ukrainian Democratic Committee, at 847 N. Franklin st. The gathering, representing 250,000 voters in the State, passed a resolution indorsing the entire Democratic ticket.

Only One Issue.

"There is only one issue in this election," declared Earle at the Negro rally, "that is whether you want to go forward with the New Deal or return to Hooverism.

"The Republicans offer nothing except destructive criticism. They complain about the expenditures for relief, but the question is not how much it is costing, but what would happen if the millions of unemployed and starving did not get relief.

"President Roosevelt saved this nation from revolution when he assumed office on March 4, 1933. Chaos stared us in the face, and business men were begging Washington for help.

Won't Let People Starve.

"If we attempt to balance the budget now, as Republicans would have the Government do, millions would starve, and Franklin Roosevelt will not let the people starve.

"The Democratic party wants to put President Roosevelt's policies into effect in the State Government of Pennsylvania in order to give the average man a square deal for the first time in nearly a half century of oppression at the hands of Mellon, Grundy, Atterbury rule.

"For every $27 of taxes paid by you, that clique pays only $1 under the set-up of the tax system in this Commonwealth which they want to continue.

Plans Tax Shift.

"The Democratic party is pledged to revise the State Constitution, which must be done first in order to change the tax system. We will put into effect a graded income tax so those who can most afford it pay the most taxes, and shift the burden from the shoulders of the average man."

Earle told the audience that if Negro Republican voters received the recognition to which they are entitled under G. O. P. political rule, the Negroes of the State would have 2450 jobs.

"Do you know how many you actually have?" Earle asked, and then answered his own query: "Exactly 63."

"I promise you a square deal," he said, "and I don't break my promise."

Promises Housecleaning.

He declared that "when I become Governor Harrisburg will see the biggest housecleaning in 50 years at the Capitol, and the Mellon-Grundy-Atterbury machine followers will be replaced by honest, efficient workers of the New Deal."

Pointing out that President Roosevelt's proposed enlarged public works program must have Congressional approval to release the necessary funds, Democratic City Chairman Jack Kelly stressed the necessity of upholding the President by election of Democratic Congressmen.

"With a solid Democratic delegation backing the President in Congress to give him what he wants," said Kelly, "and with George H. Earle as Governor in Harrisburg to administer properly the funds, Pennsylvania can go forward to recovery."

Henry Presides.

Magistrate Edward W. Henry presided at the rally, at which other speakers were Charles J. Margiotti, former candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, who later came out for the Democrats; State Representative Norbert J. Fitzgerald, of Erie, and Russell Allen, a deputy Coroner.

Allen's denunciation of Senator David A. Reed for his vote on confirm Judge Parker, of North Carolina, for the U. S. Supreme Court, and of Attorney General William A. Schnader for his failure to break up segregation in the schools of Chester county, brought forth "boos" for the Republican candidates.

At the Ukranian meeting Earle reviewed the benefits to the average man under the Roosevelt New Deal and declared his determination to fight for social and economic betterment of the mass of the people in this State.

Ukranians Mark Anniversary.

The Ukranian Democratic Committee represents the Vladimar Parish Association, Ukranian League, Star Association, Peace Association, St. George's Association, Ukranian League of Nicetown, Ukranian League of South Philadelphia, Ukranian Daughters of America and the American-Ukranian Citizens' Association. The latter organization celebrated its 25th anniversary yesterday.

Officers of the committee are George Sanbor, chairman; John Zazworski, vice chairman; Joseph Livatch, secretary, and Joseph Baranowski, treasurer.

Another enthusiastic Democratic rally yesterday was that of the combined Italian-American societies of the 22d ward at 66 W. Chelten ave.

Margiotti, the principal speaker, declared:

"All of the lies, threats or money of the Republican party will not prevent the establishment of the New Deal in Pennsylvania.

"Wealth and power are the political parents of Schnader and Reed. The Senator admits it; Schnader fearfully denies it."

Pinchot Action Assailed.

Margiotti called Governor Pinchot, who is stumping the State for the G. O. P. candidates, "the hired mud-slinger of the Republican party."

Kelly also addressed that meeting. Other speakers were Adrian Bonnelly, who was Margiotti's eastern campaign manager in the primary election and switched with him to the Democrats; Assistant U. S. District Attorney Robert V. Bolger, Democratic leader of the 22d ward; Gilbert H. Cassidy, John Bonanno, Anthony Di Silvestro and Nicholas Tumolo, who is president of the Yellow Cab Drivers' Co-operative and Protective Association. Michael Yanni presided.

HARRISBURG, PA.
TELEGRAPH

OCT 31 1934

JUMBLED POLITICS

AS USUAL, the Democratic bosses are charging the Republican candidates with everything short of murder. Senator Reed's aggressive fight in which he carries the war to Guffey and Earle also suggests the vigorous attitude of Attorney General Schnader in discussing the outstanding issues.

Many meetings are being held throughout the State and reports indicate that former weak-kneed Republicans are now back in line fighting to assure a big victory next Tuesday. It has been a long time since the Republican party presented such a solid front to the common enemy. In the contiguous counties, and in York particularly, a tremendous reaction has set in against the high-handed methods of the political enemy. Secretary of Highways Lewis has accepted the challenge of his opponents on the Codorus and the result a week hence will demonstrate the value of intelligent campaigning.

Governor Pinchot is bringing up his heavy guns and so effective has he been among the miners of the anthracite region and elsewhere that Postmaster General Farley, the Tammany leader of the National Administration was brought into Pennsylvania to brace up doubtful Democrats. Men of all parties resent the intrusion of the National Administration into a State conflict and it is entirely probable that the coming of Farley will have the opposite effect from that intended. Tammany may be able to run things in New York, but it's going to be a difficult proposition to Tammanyize Pennsylvania.

Out California way Sinclair is riding for a hard fall and as the campaign reaches its conclusion the Communistic Democrat is discovering that Americans canot be fooled all of the time.

Everywhere in this State workers are thoroughly organized and the Republican outcome is certain to be pleasing to those who believe in the principles of the party. All manner of tactics are being adopted to confuse the voters and Democrats will stop at nothing to accomplish their purpose.

Even the Republican Negro voters of Pennsylvania are being promised everything under the sun, but they remember that their Negro brothers in the South are having no consideration whatever either at the polls or in the life of that section of the country. Always the Democratic bosses in power have been famous for promises. These Negro men who are pulling chestnuts out of the fire for the Farleys and others will discover soon after next Tuesday that they were being used selfishly and not with any idea of granting them justice in the administration of the affairs of the country.

Old campaign material has been re-vamped by several of the Republican traitors and one hears from the stump nightly preposterous stories which have been used over and over again until they are so thin they have become transparent.

Here and there Republicans who have been misrepresented as having gone over to the Democratic party are resenting the rumor and as a result will throw all their efforts into the election of the Reed-Schnader ticket.

Within the last twenty-four hours satisfactory indications have shown the certain election of the Republican candidates. They have carried the battle to the people and the voters have responded in no uncertain way. Those who wager on election results are apparently of one mind respecting the successful nominees and the apparent unrest of the Democratic leaders at Washington over recent developments is encouraging the Republican forces to even more strenuous activity.

This time next week the fight will be over and confidence exudes from every Republican headquarters. Farmers here and there have been deceived into believing that they will benefit from the election of the Democratic candidates, but they are not forgetting that the millions of money raised for unemployment relief is being used recklessly by those in power at Washington for the building up of a Democratic machine.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. TIMES

DEC 15 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS TO MARK VICTORY

Congressman-Elect Mitchell Will Be Guest.

Plans have been completed for the 12th Ward Democratic victory rally to be held at the Walker Casino at 8 Monday night.

Congressman-Elect Arthur W. Mitchell, only Negro Democrat ever elected to the National House of Representatives, will be the principal speaker.

Rep. Mitchell

Others who will speak are Henry J. Richardson, State Representative, and Dr. Theodore Cable, Councilman - elect. Mr. Mitchell will be introduced by F. B. Ransom while Dr. Sirdastian Meriwether will introduce Dr. Cable.

Chairman of the meeting will be Mrs. Susan Knox, vice president of the 12th Ward. The reception committee is headed by Mrs. Marie Long. John Rutledge and F. B. Dansom are chairmen of the entertainment and arrangement committees, respectively.

William E. Clauer, 12th Ward chairman, expects the occasion to be one of the greatest post-election celebrations in the state's history.

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y. ADVANCE

DEC 24 1934

Colored Democracy Elects Jones

Members of the Richmond Borough Colored Democracy, Regular Democrats, last night elected Harry Jones vice-president of the organization. The election took place at a meeting conducted by L. Freeman, in the headquarters, 198 Bradley avenue, Meiers Corners.

Members voted to pay monthly dues of 25 cents beginning Jan. 15.

PATERSON, N. J. NEWS

DEC 17 1934

Negro Democrats Elect Officers

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the last meeting of the Negro Democratic league, held at headquarters, 132 Governor street.

Clarence E. Peete was elected president, Voorhees Churchill, vice-president; and Louis Johnson, secretary.

A rousing appeal for the perpetuation of the organization was made by Standard Bearer Henry Moore. Moore was chosen as leader on December 4.

The meeting to be held tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock will feature the inauguration of a membership drive.

MEMPHIS, TENN. ~~EVENING~~ APPEAL

Commercial

DEC 9 1934

NEGRO DEMOCRATS MEET

The Roosevelt Negro New Deal Democratic Club will gather at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the W. A. Hart funeral home, 306 South Fourth. Hart is president.

TERRE HAUTE, IND.

Tribune

DEC 20 1934

COLORED DEMOCRATS MEET.

The colored democratic committee and the city committee will hold its regular meeting at 8 o'clock on the evening of Dec. 21, at their headquarters, 1110 South Thirteenth street. Business of importance is expected to be transacted at this time. The members of the women's department are invited to be present at this meeting.

CHARLESTON, W. VA. GAZETTE

DEC 16 1934

New State Negro Group Is Formed

Organization to Be Known As Democratic Central Committee

Representative Negro Democrats from 20 counties met yesterday in the K. of P. building and formed a state-wide Democratic organization to be known as the Negro Democratic central committee of West Virginia.

A. B. Grasty of Yukon, associate chairman of the McDowell county Democratic committee, was named chairman of the new group, which includes outstanding leaders of the former state Democratic league and the Negro state executive committee.

Officers Elected

Other officers elected are Eugene Twine, Kanawha county, first vice chairman; Dr. R. G. Warren, Mingo, second vice chairman; D. W. Ambrose, Cabell, secretary; Dave S. Ware, Fayette, treasurer; Charles B. Moore, Mercer, assistant secretary; C. T. Hairston, Mingo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. R. Forney, Marion, associate chairman.

Congressional district representatives are L. G. Smith, Cabell; M. T. Obie, Marion; C. W. Hart, Jefferson, John W. Love, Fayette, I. K. Wells, Raleigh, and F. G. Blackman, Mercer.

Committees Named

A constitution was adopted and an executive council of twenty-seven members was formed composed of chief officers of the central committee. Council officers chosen were I. J. K. Wells, chairmen; C. W. Dickerson, secretary, and E. L. Powell, national committeeman.

Dr. R. G. Warren, E. L. Powell, D. W. Ambrose, C. W. Dickerson, and I. J. K. Wells was named members of a committee which will confer with state leaders for making plans for fusion of state factions.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation

Democratic.

Analyzing The Central District Vote

Gary American

Many attempts have been made by Republican leaders, and particularly the Post-Tribune, to explain the great defection of the central district to the party of Roosevelt which accounted for Gary going Democratic. Unfortunately, none of these astute analysts have as yet hit upon the real truth. 11-6-34

That the New Deal had its Negro converts cannot be denied. When Roosevelt was elected, the colored voter had not been sold on the new policy of our President, and it took some time to convince him that the administration meant what it said and was doing all in its power to help the man farther down. Yet that is only part of the picture.

Gary Tribune

The real fault lies with the Republican party itself in Lake County. Its leaders have not yet learned they stand in their own way and that new standard bearers are a crying need.

For the past 10 years or more the voter is handed a slate with the same list of Republicans seeking some kind of office. A ticket is hardly official unless it carries the name of August Bremer and John Vincent. In the Central District these candidates year after year hire the same colored campaign strategist. When an election comes around, Bill Burrus and Luther Moore have invariably been active for the G. O. P.

That these Republican leaders would eventually have as many enemies and friends ought to have been anticipated. It is impossible for a candidate or his manager to be active in campaign after campaign without creating nausea in the stomachs of many who wield the ballots.

Bill Burrus has been the successor to Charles Gregory, Gary's first political boss of color. Since Gregory's passing, Burrus has been in the habit of rounding up G. O. P. votes each election. In other years still other outstanding Negro leaders sided with the Republican party. This year, however, most of the power was in the Democratic camp. The leaders who could not conscientiously support a slate having as its leader Arthur Robinson, known ally of the Ku Klux Klan, aided the party of Roosevelt and naturally their friends and supporters followed suit. This demonstrated more clearly than anything else that leadership—and the right leadership—is necessary for any candidate hoping to carry the central district.

It is also time that Republican leaders learned Abraham Lincoln died in the 1860's. It was good propaganda while it lasted, but finally the Negro arose to the fact that what went on at the time of the Civil War had nothing at all to do with what was going on today. It has been the idea that Negroes could be sweet-talked into support and one or two minor jobs distributed after election to aides who really didn't need them anyway. This year the race was not interested in exchanging mass benefits obtained through the NRA, EDA and other agencies for the sugar given certain workers for the G. O. P., while the bulk of those who made it possible starved, Lincoln can't feed and clothe the hungry while the Democratic administration, under President Roosevelt can.

If the Republicans are interested in reclaiming the 31 per cent of Negroes who deserted their ranks this year, let them produce something besides rubber stamp leaders and their equally as well catalogued central district leaders.

A CHANCE TO DELIVER

One of the campaign arguments used quite successfully by Republican orators is that all that has been done in Congress for Negroes has been done by Republicans while practically all the discriminatory legislation against Negroes was found in states controlled at all times by Democrats.

Gary Post Tribune 11-6-34

The strong Democratic majorities in both houses of the next Congress coupled with the fact that one of their number is a Negro Democrat and the further fact that recent lynchings have demonstrated the necessity of Federal anti-lynching legislation, place the Democrats in a position where they can overcome the Republican theory of complete antagonism by the Democrats to his cause.

In other words the Republicans freed Negroes from human slavery; the Democrats have a fine chance to set up machinery which will free him from mob violance and constant threats and intimidation which exist in any community where the mob atmosphere prevails.

We hope the Democrats take advantage of the opportunity. It will help Negro Republicans from a political standpoint. If they don't it is easy to see that the gains they have made in Negro votes at the last two elections will melt away like snow.

RAINEY GOES TO CAPITAL

Will Probably Go on Tour For Democrats

Chronicle 10-27-34

Boston, Mass.

Atty. Julian D. Rainey, former Corporation Council for the city of Boston, was summoned to the White House this week on an urgent call for an interview. The attorney, who was attending the conclusion of a case in Superior Court, hastily made arrangements for the termination of the case, and left for Washington.

While the nature of the hurried request was not definite, it has been learned that Mr. Rainey will be asked to undertake an intensive speaking campaign in Indiana and Pennsylvania. During the last Presidential campaign, the Boston attorney was in great demand by the Democratic party throughout the country.

Mr. Rainey is without doubt one of the most convincing speakers among the Democrats. His rapid progress in his profession has made him one of the outstanding trial lawyers in the State.

CABLE HOLDS HOPE OF RACE ADVANCEMENT

Recorder

Marion county Democrats struck the most popular chord in years when they began a move nine months ago to elect Dr. Theodore (Ted) Cable to the Indianapolis City Council.

11-3-34

For the past twenty years colored citizens engaged in half-hearted and futile efforts to gain representation on the city governing body. Early this year the spark of Democratic chieftians for a strong candidate who could attract and hold large numbers of colored voters led to a widespread demand that Dr. Cable enter the race.

Indianapolis Star

Though he has never before run for public office, since his nomination, Dr. Cable has shown a surprising adaptability to the practical side of politics and is riding the wave of public favor which his friends assert will place him in office.

He has lived in the city for forty years and received his early education in the public schools here. He is a graduate of Harvard university, where he won international fame as an athlete. He completed a course in dentistry at the Indiana School of Denistry and has since practiced here.

During his years of private practice of his profession he has maintained an interest in child welfare and recreational facilities.

Many colored citizens, regardless of party affiliations, are expected to stand loyally behind the election of Dr. Cable.

DES MOINES, IA.
REGISTER

OCT 30 1934

PARKER TALKS ON NEW DEAL

Urges Negro Voters to Back Democratic Administration.

Political strength and progress make it necessary for the Negro to support the New Deal, William H. Parker, Negro attorney and building inspector of St. Louis, Mo., told an audience at East High school Monday night.

Mr. Parker declared that Negroes, having benefited by the New Deal, should help one another. He cited several instances in which Negroes have benefited under new Democratic administrations in other states and urged Iowa Negroes to use their political strength to avail themselves of similar opportunities.

Other speakers included Horace H. Spencer of Mason City, Ia., Mrs. Alex Miller, secretary of state and former Judge Hubert Utterback. The meeting was sponsored by the Iowa Negro Democratic league with T. E. Martin, state chairman, presiding.

CHARLESTON, S. C.
NEWS AND COURIER

DEC 3 1934

Gains for the Negroes

Surely it is not surprising that negroes in the Northern cities are "joining Democratic clubs." Outside of the cities in the North are no negroes. These city negroes, most of them, are the first to lose their jobs when employment is slack. They really need relief—and they are getting it from the Democratic administration at a rate to the family three or four times as large as it is given to the Southern family, white or black.

Negroes would join the Democratic clubs in South Carolina if they were not excluded by the party rules. This year the few retaining the habit of voting the Republican ticket departed from it, did not go to the polls. Among the masses of the colored people there is naturally much affection for President Roosevelt.

Although the negroes are not allowed to vote in Democratic primaries they can vote as farmers in matters pertaining to the Bankhead law, and that is a kind of voting rather more important than is voting for candidates.

The negroes, North and South, have received more "recognition" from the Roosevelt administration than they have had from other administrations, Republican or Democratic, in half a century.

With the increase of centralization in Washington they will have more, and in a few years, unless present reduction of state rights shall be checked, it will come rapidly. Under a centralized national government political distinctions between races would of course be wiped out.

YONKERS, N. Y.
RECORD

DEC 23 1934

New Colored Men's Democratic Club In Second Ward

At the annual meeting of the Second Ward Democratic Club, held Thursday night at the rooms, 22 North Broadway, the following were unanimously elected to head the organization fir 1935:

President, William J. Farrington; vice president, Sylvester Malone; treasurer, Mrs. Nellie Qualey; financial secretary, John O'Mara; recording secretary, Valerie Beairsto; sergeant-at-arms, Thomas Dee.

A public installation of the officers will be held Thursday, January 17. Sylvester Malone will be in charge of the arrangements.

James Malone lauded the work of the retiring officers, stressing the splendid work of Mrs. James Carrigan, who has acted as treasurer of the club for ten years. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the officers and the committee who have served so faithfully during the past year.

President Farrington will cooperate with Ward Leader Thomas P. Quaney in assisting in the formation of the newly organized Second Ward Colored Democratic Club.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
POST

DEC 17 1934

Democracy Vs. Planning.

Overwhelming approval of the Bankhead act through the poll of cotton growers on Friday raises a question of far-reaching importance. Farmers voted for high prices. But it does not appear that they gave any thoughtful consideration to the deeper issue of a sustained demand for their product.

The attitude of the average grower is doubtless epitomized in the reported comment of a Negro farmer voting at Athens, Ga. "I allows it's better to make a little money on a few bales," he said, "than to lose money on a heap of bales." He is thinking specifically about next year's crop, as all farmers must. Through this poll the South has chosen an expedient route to an immediate objective. But what will be gained if the price disparity between American and foreign cotton results in a shrinkage of the world demand for the American product?

Secretary Wallace is very much concerned about integration of his agricultural policy with general economic conditions in this and other countries. But this problem does not appear to have been a factor of any significance in the voting on Friday. The one-mule farmer can hardly be expected to worry about preserving or recapturing foreign markets for his cotton so long as the Government is willing to pay him crop-reduction benefits and lend him 12 cents per pound. Agriculture as a whole has suffered from acute depression during recent years because of the inability of the farmer to adjust his individual output to market demands. Even though majority opinions are expressed through plebiscites, farmers are still incapable of formulating comprehensive policies that will fit into the broad scheme of world agriculture.

What, then, becomes of economic planning? When farmers are permitted to choose the course they will follow charges of regimentation fly out of the window. The cotton poll was doubtless a fine example of what Secretary Wallace calls economic democracy or social discipline. But in view of the AAA's original opposition to the Bankhead measure, and the obvious economic weaknesses of that act, its application to the cotton-growing industry can hardly be considered expert planning.

In his annual report, Secretary Wallace points out that this type of social discipline "may carry us far along new paths if we do not find an efficient substitute." Moreover, he says, "it will involve unexpected and incalculable costs." Even so, it will undoubtedly prove more acceptable to the American people than a dictatorship over agriculture. Freedom of choice will always be more important than a market for cotton.

It should be clearly recognized, however, that the formulation of policies through special polls does not constitute economic planning.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

General.

Two Political Parties for Georgia

Some of Macon's intelligentsia discussed the pros and cons of a two-party political set-up in Georgia when the Palaver Club heard last week a paper that had been prepared by Mr. Warren Grice.

The paper covered the political history of the state, and claimed that Georgia's "golden age" was during the thirties on through the sixties, when a relentless struggle was going on between two parties. It was claimed that more big men were developed during those years than at any other time, and that Georgia stood higher in the councils of the Nation by reason of the thought she devoted to politics or the science of government.

Some of the members of the club were inclined to twit the author of the paper, charging him with forgetting that he came from rock-ribbed Democratic stock and saying it sounded strange to hear him advocating anything but Democracy. He disclaimed any intention to arouse the Republican party or to create a new party, but sought to show what seemed to him an inescapable conclusion that demagoguery cannot thrive when the people divide on principles of government rather than on men. He showed in his paper why the state had to become solidly Democratic, and his audience did not take issue with him on that point.

One of the members of the club said that the reasons for a solid Democracy no longer exist, and it might be to the best interests of all concerned if an opposing party appeared. But it was stated that the Negro Republicans have controlled federal patronage in the state almost constantly since the carpetbagger days, and the corruption that was made public even during the recent Republican administration proved what could happen if the Democrats relax their grip on state affairs. Tribute had been levied on government job holders, and the Republican machine was denounced as thoroughly corrupt and dangerous; and this was taken as evidence that the united front of Democracy should be preserved if possible.

The prejudice against the Republican party in the South will never abate sufficiently to allow any considerable number of white people to ally themselves with it, except perhaps in some rare instance as when Hoover won Democratic votes or Hoovercratic votes by raising false hopes about the "noble experiment."

If another party is to thrive in the South it must have a different complexion and a different smell from the old Republican party. That party had its birth in hatred of the South and all that was Southern, except for the use it made of the Southern Negro. Ghosts would stalk from every grave of Confederate veteran if the sons of those men should leave the Democratic fold and go Republican. The tragedies of reconstruction in the South are in too many memories. The South is solidly Democratic because all of the friend the South knew were in the Democratic party, with very rare exceptions.

In theory two parties are always better for a commonwealth, but new names and new alignments would have to be developed before the South will cease to be solid. Tradition is sacred.

KELLY MILLER'S OBSERVATIONS

POLITICAL REFLECTIONS AND RECOLLECTIONS

Among my last recollections of my home town, Winnsboro, S. C., was a red shirt parade which broke up a Republican meeting in the interest of the campaign of Garfield and Arthur in the fall of 1880. These mounted knights of mischief escorted the speaker to the depot and gave him a red hot send off. A few days later I took the train for Howard University, Washington, D. C., where I arrived on the first of November. On the night of my arrival, the students were holding a bon-fire celebration of the Republican victory. Although I have never fostered political ambitions of any kind, I have always maintained an alert interest in straight, clean, manly politics, as becomes every right minded American citizen.

In those early days politics engaged the chief energies of the Negro mind. Several of my ambitious school mates were hastening through school to return home and engage in politics with a view of returning to congress. They died without fulfillment of the hope, but they were certainly on the way. The reconstruction regime had been overthrown in 1876 but there was universal hope and expectation of regaining the blissful seats from which the race had been recently cast out. The Negro vote, though intimidated, was still allowed to function at a reduced rate of speed. Just then the disfranchisement movement swept over the South and by revised constitutional provision, deprived the race of the last vestige of political power. This movement sprung up and culminated in the early and middle nineties.

The Negro in high official life flourished fully a decade after the overthrow of the reconstruction regime. I used to see B. K. Bruce, of Mississippi as he moved in dignifed and potential silence in and out of the United States senate. I can recall John R. Lynch as a member of congress from Mississippi. Robert Smalls, George W. Murray and Thomas Miller from South Carolina, John M. Langston of Virginia, and O'Hara and George White of North Carolina fell under my eye as duly elected and seated members of of the lower house of congress. I also remember a number of Negro contestants who failed to be seated.

A long while after the Negro had been frustrated in his ambition for elective office, he was recognized by being assigned many important appointive positions. I have known a half dozen ministers to Haiti and as many or more to Liberia along with consular representatives by the half score. Negro registers of the treasury, recorders of deeds, auditors of the navy and recorders of the land office used to be familiar figures on the streets and in the parlors of Washington. Throughout the Southern states there were collectors of the port, postmasters, receivers of public monies and internal revenue officials galore, who must needs make frequent journeys to the capital city.

Each presidential inauguration used to furnish a gala occasion for political celebrities, for these celebrities to meet here and boast of their official eminence, show off their fine clothes and pompous manner. These officials included the most distinguished names in the story of the Negro race. Douglass, Langston, Pinchback, Lynch, George W. Williams, J. C. Dancey, William H. Lewis, Ralph Tyler, Bishop Vernon, J. C. Napier, Judge Robert Terrell were among those who constituted the political galaxy. The story today reads like a chapter in forgotten history. All of these belonged to the Republican household of faith. When Grover Cleveland was elected to the presidency in 1884 great havoc prevailed within the ranks of political Afro-American candom. The South was swept clean, as with a broom. Restoration of Republicanism under Harrison, Roosevelt and Taft restored the former regime only in part. Taft set the policy that fixed the fate of Negro officialdom in the South.

I can also remember the time when distinguished Negroes in the North were elected to representative positions by white votes. John P. Green, Harry Smith and George W. Williams were sent to the legislature in Ohio on this basis. There were not enough Negro votes in any political unit to sustain them. Massachusetts, Michigan and other Northern states had a number of such representatives. But the reactionary wave that swept over the South had repercussions in the North. In these latter days, Negro representatives in the North, whether in the city council, state legislature or national congress, must needs rest wholly or mainly on Negro votes.

There was a long hiatus in which the race was all but wholly eliminated from elective positions, North and South. For fully a decade there was to be found not a single Negro in congress, state legislature or city council. Twenty-six years spanned the gap between George W. White, the last Negro congressman of the old regime, till the coming of De-Priest on the basis of Negro suffrage in the North. The Northern migration has shifted the center of political gravity from the South to the North. There are no longer any Negro officeholders in or from the South. Perry Howard was the only Southern Negro who functioned in the last election, and he confined his activities wholly to the North. Politicians have no use for disfranchised citizens, whether they be the blacks in the South or whites and blacks in the District of Columbia.

The recent congressional election emphasizes two important tendencies in the Negro's political history which are the most significant and far reaching of all of my political observations and recollections. First, the shift of emphasis from the South to the North, and second, the drift of Negro voters from the Republican to the Democratic party.

Macon, Ga., Telegraph
December 12, 1934

Two Political Parties for Georgia

Some of Macon's intelligentsia discussed the pros and cons of a two-party political set-up in Georgia when the Palaver Club heard last week a paper that had been prepared by Mr. Warren Grice.

The paper covered the political history of the state, and claimed that Georgia's "golden age" was during the thirties on through the sixties, when a relentless struggle was going on between two parties. It was claimed that more big men were developed during those years than at any other time, and that Georgia stood higher in the councils of the Nation by reason of the thought she devoted to politics or the science of government.

Some of the members of the club were inclined to twit the author of the paper, charging him with forgetting that he came from rock-ribbed Democratic stock and saying it sounded strange to hear him advocating anything but Democracy. He disclaimed any intention to arouse the Republican party or to create a new party, but sought to show what seemed to him an inescapable conclusion that demagoguery cannot thrive when the people divide on principles of government rather than on men. He showed in his paper why the state had to become solidly Democratic, and his audience did not take issue with him on that point.

One of the members of the club said that the reasons for a solid Democracy no longer exist, and it might be to the best interests of all concerned if an opposing party appeared. But it was stated that the Negro Republicans have controlled federal patronage in the state almost constantly since the carpetbagger days, and the corruption that was made public even during the recent Republican administration proved what could happen if the Democrats relax their grip on state affairs. Tribute had been levied on government job holders, and the Republican machine was denounced as thoroughly corrupt and dangerous; and this was taken as evidence that the united front of Democracy should be preserved if possible.

The prejudice against the Republican party in the South will never abate sufficiently to allow any considerable number of white people to ally themselves with it, except perhaps in some rare instance as when Hoover won Democratic votes or Hoovercratic votes by raising false hopes about the "noble experiment."

If another party is to thrive in the South it must have a different complexion and a different smell from the old Republican party. That party had its birth in hatred of the South and all that was Southern, except for the use it made of the Southern Negro. Ghosts would stalk from every grave of a Confederate veteran if the sons of those men should leave the Democratic fold and go Republican. The tragedies of reconstruction in the South are in too many memories. The South is solidly Democratic because all of the friend the South knew were in the Democratic party, with very rare exceptions.

In theory two parties are always better for a commonwealth, but new names and new alignments would have to be developed before the South will cease to be solid. Tradition is sacred.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

General.

Kelly Miller Says---

The Negro has at last filed his declaration of political independence. He has broken from the leash which held him bound to the Grand Old Party of long ago. For more than a decade this drift has been discernible. It has been estimated that fully a third of the Negro vote was cast for Al Smith in 1928, while as much as a half went to Roosevelt in 1932. But these are mainly estimates biased by the predilections of the estimator.

Now, in the recent Congressional election we have for the first time more definite data of determining how the black voter split his ballot between the contesting parties. Indeed undisputed facts demonstrate the New Deal drift with mathematical certainty.

Let us begin with Pennsylvania. In this commonwealth there are nearly two hundred thousand qualifiable colored voters. These were aroused, as it were, to a pitch of political fury over Roosevelt and the New Deal. Led by Robert L. Vann of the west end of the state, W. Justin Carter of the central portion and Judge Henry of the Eastern section, it did seem as if the colored voters as one man rose up in revolt against the party tyranny which had so long held the race in political bondage.

I addressed a meeting in Harrisburg at which the sister of Senator-elect Guffey, Governor-elect Earl and the local candidate for Congress were present and made addresses. Political veterans of both parties declared that they never before witnessed such an outpouring of colored people in middle Pennsylvania.

Judge Henry and Mr. Carter declared that similar enthusiasm was manifest throughout the state. Mr. Earle, expectant candidate for Governor, said that this enthusiastic gathering presaged his election and that of Mr. Guffey. His prediction was fulfilled four days later.

I might say, incidently, that in addition to Mr. Carter and Judge Henry, D. L. H. King and W. Justin Carter, esq., Jr., all graduates of Howard University, participated in the program. This occurrence was incidental but deeply significant. Howard University, the capstone of Negro education, has no political complexion. It depends upon both political parties for support. It does not, it dare not, teach any political or partizan bias.

But the true function of education is to teach the youth how to use their own intellect and judgment in reaching political decision and action. It seems to be a simple proposition that any Negro today who follows his intellect rather than his emotions will find himself in alignment with Roosevelt and the New Deal. What took place in Pennsylvania was duplicated in all parts of the free voting states of the North and West. The Negro vote figured essentially in the most strategic of all victories in the Pennsylvania election.

In the first District of Illinois, the veteran stand pat Republican Oscar DePriest was supplanted by the young heroic Negro Democrat and New Dealer, Arthur W. Mitchell. Here was a clear trial of strength between the two parties in bidding for the Negro vote. The Democrats and the New Deal won.

In St. Louis a Negro Democrat was pitted against L. W. Dyer, of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill fame. While the white Republican won, yet it is a safe bet to claim the majority of the Negroes in that district voted for the black democratic aspirant. Chicago also sent one Negro Democrat to the legislature.

Harlem sent two Negro Democrats to the legislature over their colored Republican rivals on the basis of the black vote. That there are more Negro Democrats than Republicans in Harlem was demonstrated several years ago when two colored Democratic municipal judges were chosen over their colored Republican rivals.

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and staid old Philadelphia sent each a Negro Democrat to the state assembly. Indianapolis, Ind. chose two Negro Democrats for the state legislature against colored Republican antagonists. But perhaps, most convincing of all, is what took place in the wholly Negro town of Boley, Oklahoma. All of the Democratic candidates running for office received more votes from Boley than did their Republican adversaries. In this case both sets of contestants were white, Southern men.

These instances are quite sufficient to convince us with mathematical certainty that the tide has turned. The Negro vote has drifted from the Republican to the Democratic Party.

The work of the National Non-Partizan League is finished so far as the North is concerned. The Negro voter casts his ballot for men, measures and movements and is no longer slave to party labels. But let us not deceive ourselves that all is well. The race will have to fight for its rights and privilges under the one party as vigilantly as under the other. But in the purely political sense, the fight is won.

Now turning to the South, the situation is pathetic in the last degree. All sparks of political life have died away. The new leadership in the South must arise which will have the practical wisdom to so propitiate local sentiment as to become integrated in the political and economic considerations of the New Deal. There is emerging among the young educated whites a generous sentiment that will meet the approach more than half way. The Norfolk Journal and Guide, it seems to me, points out the lines along which this much desired emancipation of the Southern Negro will take place.

"There is such a thing as being more Catholic than the pope."

Age-Herald

* * *

ONE REASON we should like to see the Republican party amount to something in the South is that a lot of Southerners whose temperaments and business interests naturally ally them with it could then afford to join it. And that, in turn, would free the Democratic party in the South of a great many lip servants. 8-28-34

* * *

The difference between the Republican and Democratic parties, as we see it today, is the difference between rugged individualism and civilized individualism, between emphasis on property rights and emphasis on human rights, between laissez faire and umpired competition, between a belief that prosperity should trickle down from the top and a belief that it should surge up from the bottom. The South has many fine men and women who hold to the Republican side of these matters and who deserve a Southern Republican party to represent them. And, much as we Democrats would miss them, their departure would make it much more possible for the rest of us to be ourselves and to understand our own meaning.

Birmingham, Ala.

Where some of the South's ultra conservatives would go if they were obliged to find a political party to fit their faith, we don't know. The complete laissez faire Southerners (and Birmingham has more than its share of these today) are so much "more pious than the pope" in their conservatism that they would be no more at home under Hoover than under Roosevelt. Many of the measures Roosevelt has taken might very probably have been taken by Hoover in his place. Certainly Mr. Hoover did enough interfering with business during his own administration to be disqualified as the adored alternative to Franklin Roosevelt in the dreams of some of Birmingham's ultras. We hate to say it but, for a certain type of die-hard reactionary existing in this city, the only possible place seems to be Carl Carmer's much-mooted book "Stars Fell on Alabama." That book, it will be recalled, was supposed to be a depository for oddities existing only in Alabama.

Why The Negro Has Become Politically Listless

KELLY MILLER

The statesmanship of the world is engrossed today with the readjustment of the usufruct of labor among the producers in light of the advanced stage of machinery and efficiency. It is easy to interpret what is going on in Russia, Italy, Germany, England, Japan and America in light of such advancement. In the language of the poet "The individual withers and the world is more and more." A hundred and fifty years ago, before the oncoming of the industrial revolution human rights constituted the all engaging theme. The American Revolution, the French Revolution, the liberation of South America and the liberalization of Europe were forthcoming in response to the onsweeping demand. The abolition of slavery in the West Indies, North and South America and in Russia followed in due time. The World War might well be taken as a marking point in the turning of the tide. What Woodrow Wilson strove so gallantly to interpret as a war for democracy, served as a staggering blow, if not knock out to the democratic idea which had dominated political thought for more than a century up to that time. Since then the economic idea has been predominant. Erstwhile free people have voluntarily surrendered their boasted liberty to the demand of the politico-economic machine. The dictator is in the saddle, put and maintained there by the voluntary surrender of hard earned rights. Neither Staling, Mussolini, Hitler, Roosevelt nor any other dictator could hold his sway one month unless it rested upon the acquiescence, avowed or tacit, of the people over whom they preside. Indeed dictatorship is essential to an age of machinery and efficiency. Henry Ford could not operate his factory on the democratic principle. America was the first nation to dramatize the democratic principle and to embody it in formal government. But this same America when confronted by the emergency which technocracy has forced upon it, elected a Congress which centralized power in Roosevelt's hands to be used by him according to his enlightened conscience and best judgment. There is no genuine protest against such concentration of power except that which comes from defeated politicians. The Republican Party, in order to keep up its organization, has seized upon this unusual grant of power and hopes to gain political advantage by the protestation. But it is more than an even bet that should the Grand Old Party, by any stroke of fortune, find itself in control of affairs, it would adopt essentially the same procedure as that against which they so bitterly complain in the hour of defeat.

Ex-President Hoover, the expiring embodiment of the doctrine of rugged indivduality, has recently eulogized liberty in term of eighteenth century panegyrics. But it should be carefully noted that his panegyrics have sole reference to the rights of the individual of rugged powers to exploit his talent to pile up unlimited millions, unhindered by governmental restraint. There was not in the remotest recesses of his mind, the thought of the right of the forgotten man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, as penned by Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence.

Now coming nearer home—how does all of this relate itself to the situation of the American Negro in the year of Our Lord, 1934? This is an evil day for strongly marked minorities in all parts of the world. The dominant forces now in control of the machinery of government are according to them only secondary consideration. The American Negro unconsciously senses this. The White Americans have grown indifferent to their claim for equal rights. They are bored with the everlasting Negro question. The fifteenth amendment intended solely for the benefit of the Negro, and that portion of the fourteenth amendment tending to the same purport no longer constitute a live issue in their minds. The N. A. A. C. P. is still hammering vigorously on cold iron. The Negro is left to himself to shift as best he may. Both parties are keenly anxious for his vote in West Virginia, Maryland and Missouri where local sentiment permits the unrestricted use of the franchise. But neither Demorcat nor Republican gives a damn for him politically in Virginia, where his elimination has been acquiesced in on all sides. There is no clarion note in the present campaign. Negro spellbinders, Democratic and Republican, are whopping up candidates of their choice on special grounds. None are expecting affirmative results. The intellectual energy of the race has turned to other fields. It is looking forward to the new order shortly to be ushered in rather than to the bygone dispensation which is either past and gone or is passing and going.

There is resident in the human soul a hope that springs forever. The bepuzzled Negro somehow hopes that in the final fetching up of things he will be found on equal terms with the rest. But how to bring about this equality he frankly does not know. Although he is listless he is still hopeful.

WHY THE NEGRO HAS BECOME POLITICALLY LISTLESS

By KELLY MILLER

The statesmanship of the world is engrossed today with the readjustment of the usufruct of labor among the producers in light of the advanced stage of machinery and efficiency. It is easy to interpret what is going on in Russia, Italy, Germany, England, Japan and America in light of such advancement. In the language of the poet, "The individual withers and the world is more and more." A hundred and fifty years ago, before the oncoming of the industrial revolution human rights constituted the all engaging theme. The American Revolution, the French Revolution, the liberation of South America and the liberalization of Europe were forthcoming in response to the onsweeping demand. The abolition of slavery in the West Indies, North and South America, and in Russia followed in due time. The World War might well be taken as a marking point in the turning of the tide. What Woodrow Wilson strove so gallantly to interpret as a war for democracy, served as a staggering blow, if not knock out to the democratic idea which had dominated political thought for more than a century up to that time. . Since then the economic idea has been predominant. Erstwhile free people have voluntarily surrendered their boasted liberty to the demand of the politico-economic machine. The dictator is in the saddle, put and maintained there by the voluntary surrender of hard earned rights. Neither Staling, Mussolini, Hitler, Roosevelt, nor any other dictator could hold his sway for one month unless it rested upon the acquiescence, avowed or tacit, of the people over whom they preside. Indeed dictatorship is essential to an age of machinery and efficiency. Henry Ford could not operate his factory on the democratic principle. America was the first nation to dramatize the democratic principles and to embody it in formal government. But this same America when confronted by the emergency which technocracy has forced upon it, elected a Congress which centralized power in Roosevelt's hands to be used by him according to his enlightened conscience and best judgment. There is no genuine protest against such concentration of power except that which comes from defeated politicians. The Republican party, in order to keep up its organization, has seized upon this unusual grant of power and hopes to gain political advantage by the protestation. But it is more than an even bet that should the Grand Old Party, by any stroke of fortune, find itself in control of affairs, it would adopt essentially the same procedure as that against which they so bitterly complain in the hour of defeat.

Ex-President Hoover, the expiring embodiment of the doctrine of rugged individuality, has recently eulogized liberty in tedm of eighteenth century panagyrics. But it should be carefully noted that his panegyrics have sole reference to the rights of the individual of rugged powers to exploit his talent to pile up unlimited millions, unhindered by governmental restraint. There was not in the remotest recesses of his mind, the thought of the right of the forgotten man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, as penned by Jefferson in the Declaration of Iidependence.

Now coming nearer home—how does all of this relate itself to the situation of the American Negro in the year of Our Lord, 1934? This is an evil day for strongly marked minorities in all parts of the world. The dominant forces now in control of the machinery of government are according to them only secondary consideration. The American Negro unconsciously senses this. The white Americans have grown indifferent to their claim for equal rights. They are bored with the everlasting Negro question. The fifteenth amendment intended solely for the benefit of the Negro, and that portion of the fourteenth amendment tending to the same purport no longer constitute a live issue in their minds. The N. A. A. C. P. is still hammering vigorously on cold iron. The Negro is left to shift for himself as best he may. Both parties are keenly anxious for his vote in West Virginia, Maryland and Missouri where local sentiment permits the unrestricted use of the franchise. But neither Democrat or Republican gives a damn for him politically in Virginia, where his elimination has been acquiesced in on all sides. There is no clarion note in the present campaign. Negro spellbinders, Democratic and Republican, are whooping up candidates of their choice on special grounds. None are expecting affirmative results. The intellectual energy of the race has turned to other fields. It is looking forward to the new order shortly to be ushered in rather than to the bygone dispensation which is either past and gone or is passing and going.

There is resident in the human soul a hope that springs forever. The bepuzzled Negro somehow hopes that in the final fetching up of things he will find himself on equal terms with the rest. But how to bring about this equality he frankly does not know. Although he is listless he is still hopeful.

Political - 1934

General

Party Affiliation

LET'S WIPE LOOKED BACK!

When the primary is over, the Negro voter has still another load in his gun for big game. The general election is his chance if he has the sense to use it and will stop seeking only revenge. To "get even" with the South, Negroes were Republicans. To rebuke Republicans, they are Democrats. They are always "agin" somebody instead of being "for" themselves. No wonder they get little.

The American people as a whole have the habit of voting their hates. But the whites can afford it. Whatever happens they win. Negroes who have the misfortune to be poor in pocket and limited in opportunity, have got to effect changes to improve their condition. Instead they are fools enough to forego planning improvement for the doubtful advantages of getting even with enemies.

Jay Gould was a Democrat among Democrats, a Republican among Republicans, but always for the Erie Railroad which he owned. Negroes think they demonstrate manliness when they pay back injuries. The truth is they are blind when they do not concentrate on advantage. Smarter men, seeing their obsession for revenge, fill them full of reasons for pursuing it. Their blind fury keeps them too busy to see how the smarter men get the profit.

The Indians selling Manhattan for $24 is the classic example of childlike ignorance of values. Bright beads are still standard coin among savages. Where are American Negroes any smarter than the savages when they sell their votes, the balance of power in every border state, simply to get even with enemies and to hear honeyed words from supposed friends?

Take the city election in progress in Kansas City! Negroes have not counselled together to demand anything. The politicians following the time honored custom feed them reasons why they shall vote. The one says "Oppose fusion because a fusionist is your enemy", and the other side says "Oppose the Democrats, their leader sells concrete." Not a word about advantage for Negroes, not even an explanation of general policies.

Like Bert Williams, Negroes need everything from an overcoat in and from a hat down. Yet with votes enough to turn many an election they look backward for revenge, not forward to see how they can get more work for themselves.

From Atlantic to Pacific, in Maryland as in Oklahoma, Negroes put far more into politics than politics gives back to them. New York and Chicago are excellent examples of what Negroes get when they make demands. We ought to learn sense.

Negroes are linked together by prejudice and limited by custom. They will not emerge from their condition by chance. It will take plan and work. No plan looks backward. Revenge is worthy only of a fool. Let them cast a "come hither' vote and drop "agin" folly. It is time for Negroes to stop going election crazy. They should be practical enough to make politics pay them as it does other people.

St. Matthews, S. C. Times
March 8, 1934

Another Colored Roosevelt

In former days it was rare for a Republican, white or black, to name his child after a Democratic president. It was practically unknown among the colored.

It is different with the present Roosevelt. Every now and then one turns up.

The latest to report to the local registrar is Isaiah Brown, tenant on the farm of W. B. Hildebrand, near St. Matthews. His boy, the 12th child, by the way, 2 weeks old, will carry the name of "Frank Roosevelt Brown." There is no doubt about the fact that Roosevelt is mighty popular among the colored people. And naturally so, as he has thrown them many a dollar.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
EVENING UNION
APR 4 1934

A Political Proposal

The Lea-Norris proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, to change the method of electing a President, may be briefly described as a scheme to thwart the will of the majority by that European device that has led to dictatorships. It has the approval of the Democratic Administration because its obvious results in a large majority of cases would be to the advantage of the Democratic party.

Under the present system, in each State the ticket of presidential electors which receives the highest number of votes is declared elected and the votes of all the electors on the ticket of the winning party go to the candidates of that party for President and Vice-President. Under the Lea-Norris amendment, if adopted, the electoral votes would be divided in proportion to the vote cast.

Thus, a State might go strongly Republican in a presidential election and yet the candidates heading the Democratic ticket would receive a large share of the State's electoral votes. In Republican States of the North this would give the Democratic party a large number of electoral votes to which, so far as the registered will of a majority of the voters was concerned, it would not be entitled.

In the Solid South, where Republicans are a rarity and the Negro citizens are almost wholly disfranchised, there would be no corresponding gain for the Republican ticket; in fact there would be no gain worth mentioning.

The whole purpose of the proposed amendment is to perpetuate the Democratic party in power. It is the sort of thing to which a pseudo-Republican like Norris might be expected to lend his name and support, but there is nothing in the proposal to make it attractive to other people. If the resolution is adopted by the Democratic Congress and submitted to the States for ratification, as it now seems likely that it may be, the chances of its ratification should be decidedly slim.

WASHINGTON, N. C.
NEWS
APR 2 - 1934

Negro Political Group to Hold State Meeting Here

The Economic and Political league of California, state-wide Negro political organization, will hold its annual spring conferences in San Berntrdino on May 30, according to announcement today by Secretary R. H. Mack of the chamber of commerce. Members of the San Bernardino committee in charge of the meeting expect a crowd of about 5,000 colored people, from practically all parts of California.

A request has been made for use of the National Orange Show building at Mill and E streets as the convention hall. One of the purposes of the rally is to discuss candidates for office in the next state elections, with official endorsements as a probable result.

Candidates for state elective offices will be invited to attend the conference, and speak briefly in their own behalf, in seeking support of the Negro organization. The committee in charge of arrangements is headed by W. W. Muckelroy of 993 Spruce street.

J. E. Muckelroy of 975 Sixth street, is state treasurer of the league, and one of its prominent leaders. He is one of the members of the committee in charge of the Memorial day rally here. The other committeemen are Thomas Hamilton, J. H. Mabra, Ralph Johnson, and the Rev. Jay Richardson.

According to plans being formulated by the committee, the San Bernardino meeting of the league will be one of the largest rallies ever staged by the Negro group. There will be a program of entertainment for the convention visitors, and they will be taken on a sight-seeing trip.

GREENSBORO, N. C.
RECORD
APR 17 1934

Lick Is the Word.

The Raleigh Times notes that the North Carolina negro who has started a campaign to win the distinction of shining the President's shoes describes himself as a straight Democrat, whereas when he was shining shoes of the previous administration he was a straight Republican. "In which," remarks the Times, "he does not differ greatly from some hundreds of thousands of would-be office holders ready to shine shoes."

To "shine" is to put it too mildly we think. Lick is the word.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
TIMES

SEP 21 1934

STATUS OF NEGRO AND POLITICS

By Ernest E. Lashalin.

The political status of the Negro is and has always been a mooted question between the Republican and Democratic parties.

While the Negro with Democratic tendencies is striving to present to the public a Democratic defense for his plight as a citizen some one is always taking up his cause and trying to persuade him to believing that the Republican party is and has always been his friend and advocate.

At election periods he is told that Abraham Lincoln was his godfather and emancipator, his political God, and anything he does that will not harmonize with the Republican ideals that Lincoln advocated would be to his political detriment. Alas! Poor Lincoln! I wonder if he would recognize present day Republicanism?

The Republican party toward election time always has made it its business to remind the Negro that all the wrongs and abuses inflicted on the Negro have been done by southern Democrats; but strange as it may seem, each and every one of those wrongs were perpetrated during Republican administrations, when a Republican congress and a Republican President could have defended the cause of the Negro, but nothing was done even as a political gesture.

I am not trying to defend politics in the south, but those of us who have lived in Indiana for any length of time surely can appreciate the difference in political recognition given the Negro by the Democratic party in contradistinction to Republican protestations of friendship based entirely on the ground of a Lincolnian proprietary indenture, political or otherwise.

NATIONAL NEGRO NON-PARTIZAN LEAGUE

By. Dr. Kelly Miller

Oct. 18-25, 1934

"What has become of the National Negro Non-Partizan League which sprang up with such flare of trumpets three years ago?" is a reasonable and expected query. But to make the inquiry complete another query should be yoked with it: "What has become of the once flourishing Negro Republican League?"

African-American

The Non-Partizan League was organized in December 1931 under the inspiration and leadership of Congressman Oscar DePriest. Its main object was to wean the Negro voter from his one-sided traditional dependence and point out the wisdom of voting for men, measures and movements best calculated to serve the race and the nation. Overtures were made to Republican and Democratic National Committees through their chief representatives, Senator Simeon Fess, of Ohio, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Mr. Jouett Shouse, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Democratc National Committee. Senator Fess' response was equivocal and unconvincing. Mr. Shouse was more direct and forthright and proffered his good offices in bringing our request to the full committee. Political exigencies of an embarrassing character arose in the meantime so that the matter was never adequately presented to either committee during the national conventions.

When the national campaign got under way, Congressman DePriest resigned from the Presidency of the League to devote his chief political energies to his own reelection and to the cause of the Republican organization. The League was thus bereft of its founder and dynamic leader. I was impressed into acceptance of the Presidency ad interim. Mr. DePriest left his political children at my doorsteps. As foster father I did the best I could. Members of the Executive Committee deserted the movement and reverted to their first political love. The organization was left on my hands with no funds, political experience, and no enthusiastic coleagues on the official staff. I carried on as best I could in the spirit of the aim and ideal of the movement. My efforts were confined wholly to the press. I contributed a weekly column to most of the leading Negro publications on the issues of the campaign. The tenor of my articles led to the support of the Democratic rather than the Republican candidate on the patriotic and race loyal ground that the Democratic candidate and platform seemed better calculated to benefit the race and the nation. How influential my preachments were I am unable to say. However, the voters acted in harmony with their principles. It is generally conceded that the colored vote split in two comparable parts in the last election. In the approaching election it now appears that the larger portion by far will follow the fortunes of the party in power. Roughly speaking, one would say that those over fifty voted for past glory that was the G. O. P. Those under fifty followed the gleam of the new light. Who can quarrel with the older generation for adhering to the party which gave the race freedom, citizenship and the franchise? But the younger issue that gained its political experience under Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover will not be guided by the traditions which captivated their elders. Since the older half of the generation must decrease while the younger half must increase, it is easy to predict our racial affiliation of the future.

Oct. 18-25, 1934

While the National Non-Partizan League has ceased to function as an organization yet the residuum of its impulse still moves forward. The resolutions adopted setting forth fundamental principles which have never been issued from any organization of color men. It stands out as the declaration of political emancipation. It sets forth the doctrines that must furnish the guiding principle of political action to contract it with the harum-scarum harangues of its then rival, the National Negro Republican League. Who among its upholders would not now willingly forget the knuckle close faith in a dependent party which it tried to inculcate. It would have the Negro place his sole dependence must not look for whatever political salvation there may be in store for him to the Northern Republican party, but a prop which has since given way.

I know that comparisons are odious, but it will heighten one's appreciation of this organization to contrast it with the harum-scarum harangues of its then rival, the National Negro Republican League. Who among its upholders would not now willingly forget the knuckle close faith in a dependent party which it tried to inculcate. It would have the Negro place his sole dependence on a prop which has since given way.

South, East or West, Republican or Democratic party, but like the kingdom of heaven his salvation lies within himself. Partizan political division is only skin deep—never race deep. Relativity of numbers constitutes the political discriminant. Where the Negro's numbers are small, his political privileges are unrestricted, but where they are large his restriction grows severe. The Democrats of the North are every whit as favorable to the political rights of the race as are the Republicans of that section. On the other hand, the white Republicans of the South (Lily Whites, all) are just as intolerant as the Southern Democrats. If the race gains its constitutional prerogatives under the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, it will be through propitiation of local sentiment, and not by outside compulsion. A politically solid minority in a democracy not only places itself in a dangerous position but is a standing menace to the whole people. This applies to the solid Negro as well as to the solid South. Such are the doctrines laid down by the National Negro Non-Partizan League which were valid not only for the campaign for 1932, but equally so for 1934, 1936, and for many a campaign yet to

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican

ST. LOUIS, MO.
GLOBE DEMOCRAT

OCT 16 1934

Negro Recommended for Committeeman of G. O. P. in 19th Ward

Candidacy Pushed as H. C. Meyers Quits in Ballot Recount Tilt.

The Republican City Committee will meet at noon today in its headquarters in the Title Guaranty Building to consider the resignation of Justice of the Peace Harry C. Meyers as committeeman from the Nineteenth Ward and the recommendation of Samuel J. Lane, Negro, by the ward precinct organization as his successor.

Lane was recommended to fill the vacancy after he had withdrawn a suit contesting the nominations for constables in the Fifth Constabulary District. The suit had been instituted originally against Gabe Roth and Ira Dorsey, who were accorded the Republican nominations on the face of the official returns, but action against Roth had been dismissed some time ago because of failure to obtain service on him.

Fred W. Pape, chairman of the Republican City Committee, received Meyers' resignation yesterday. He said there was no doubt but what it would be accepted, but he could give no intimation as to what the attitude of the committee would be toward the recommendation of Lane to fill the vacancy.

Park May Decide.

In the past it has been customary for the committee in filling vacancies to accept the recommendations of the precinct organization of the ward involved. This procedure was followed recently in the election of Thomas F. Muldoon to succeed J. N. McKelvey in the Twenty-third Ward.

It was reported in Republican circles yesterday some members of the committee might favor leaving the appointment of a new committeeman in the hands of the Governor, a plan which has been followed in filling vacancies on the Democratic City Committee. Gov. Park recently filled two vacancies o nthe Democratic committee.

Lane's explanation for dismissing his contest against Dorsey was his inability for providing additional funds with which to pay the costs.

Attorneys for the Republican candidates involved in the recount of ballots in the Fifth Justice of the Peace District expect the tabulation to be completed today. Only a few precincts have not been canvassed by the six clerks appointed by Circuit Judge Ryan.

The count is being made in secret, with attorneys for the contestants and the apparent nominees watching the tabulation. At the completion of the recount the findings of the group will require two or three days for preparation before being filed with Judge Ryan.

While it is unlikely the recount will show enough ballots miscounted to change the apparent result, attorneys have announced grave irregularities have been uncovered in virtually all precincts examined, and the mistakes are too uniform and too numerous to be classed as clerical errors.

The result of the recount when filed, however, is expected to show the race was much more hotly contested than the official figures attested.

STAR
WILMINGTON, DEL.

OCT 14 1934

COLORED VOTERS TO MEET

Under the auspices of the Youn Voters, an Eighth Ward Republica rally will be held Tuesday evening a 8.30, in Mt. Carmel Church, at Elev enth street below Lombard. Dr. Con well Banton will be the guest speaker. Candidates and their friends ar invited to attend. Refreshments wil be in the care of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Henry Steward will preside Eugene Humphrey is secretary and Edward Wilson, organizer.

MUNCIE, IND.
EVE. PRESS

OCT 11 1934

COLORED RACE OWES THANKS TO G. O. P.

Negro Lawyer Scores Demo Administration.

"Everything the colored race possesses is due directly or indirectly to the Republican party," Cornelius Richardson, colored Richmond attorney, told a crowd of 750 voters in the circuit courtroom Wednesday night.

Richardson urged every colored voter to vote the straight Republican ticket, November 6.

Attacks Demo Policies.

The speaker scored the state, national and city Democratic administrations with biting phrases. He praised John C. Hampton, Republican candidate for mayor; Judge Robert F. Murray, Republican nominee for Tenth District congressman, and Judge L. A. Guthrie, candidate for re-election as circuit court judge.

Wick Adams was chairman of the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Tom Phillips, colored Muncie orator and members of the state speakers' bureau. City and county candidates were introduced and a musical program was given by the women's quartet of the Calvary Baptist Church.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 16 1934

Port Penn Rally

PORT PENN, Del., Oct. 16—(Special).—Colored Republicans will hold rally at 8 o'clock this evening at the Thorntown colored school house here. Speakers will be Dr. John Ayers and Deputy Sheriff Charles H. Colburn.

BAYONNE, N. J.
TIMES

OCT 15 1934

COLORED REPUBLICAN BODY MEETS TONIGHT

The Hudson County Unit of the Young Colored Republicans of New Jersey will meet tonight with the State and county officers of the Young Republicans of New Jersey, at the Community Center, 37 Virginia avenue, Jersey City. A social sesion has been planned. There will be dancing and card games.

Plans to get out votes for Harold G. Hoffman, candidate for Governor, Senator Hamilton Kean and the entire Republican ticket will be outlined. Samuel C. Scott will be chairman of the meeting.

POINT PLEASANT, W. VA.
REGISTER

OCT 12 1934

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO ORGANIZE

INITIAL MEETING CALLED TOMORROW AT 2 PM AT COURT HOUSE

At least one young republican from each of the county's 36 voting precincts is expected to come here tomorrow to attend an organization meeting of Young Republican League of West Virginia, Mason county branch.

The meeting will be held at the court house beginning at 2 o'clock. Attorney Jack Johnson, League organizer, was in Akron today on business but will be here in time for the session tomorrow, he said before he left.

A president and three vice-presidents, wll be elected at the meeting tomorrow. The president will direct the general campaign activities for the younger republicans and the three vice presidents will have charge of work among the male whites, among the women and among the Negro voters.

It is the purpose of the organization to set up district branches in the county, these district units to foster precinct divisions.

Every republican in the county will be welcome tomorrow.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.
TELEGRAM

OCT 13 1934

Republicans Hold Mass Meeting In Central Auditorium

DEPRIEST IS SPEAKER

Dems Flayed For Promises "That Were Never Fulfilled"

By ARTHUR R. TODD

"The Democrats promised you the earth and gave you nothing," Oscar DePriest, only Negro member of congress, told 500 Republicans at a mass meeting here to open the state campaign in Mahoning valley.

"The Democratic party promised you economy and prosperity, but what did they save and how much prosperity is there outside of the billions in your money that is being wasted? Who is going to pay back all that money?

"The Democratic party has raised the cost of living and it has not given you a job," Congressman DePriest said last night at Central auditorium where a mixed audience of White and Negro voters cheered as he flayed the Democrats for what he styled broken promises.

The tide of Negro votes away from the Republican to the Democratic ticket was believed by G. O. P. leaders here today as a result of the DePriest meeting.

Talks On Debt

"The country does not realize the eriousness of the way the Demo-rats have been running the goernment," he declared. "We no

owe six billion dollars more tha
when the World War closed. Th
country today is 16 billion dolla deeper in debt that it was Marc
1, 1933.

"When the war closed, our n
tional debt was $27,000,000,000 an
the Republican party had reduce that debt to $17,000,000,000. Th debt today is $33,000,000,000 and the rate the Democrats are goin
we will owe 50 billions before th
close of the present administra tion. The potential bonding powe of the nation is only 60 billions
This means that either the govern ment will be forced to repudiate it obligations or drift into uncon trolled inflation. Either would ruin
the nation."

Congressman DePriest appeale
for support of Senator Simeon D
Fess and Congressman John G
Cooper for re-election. He laude
Cooper's long record in congres
and declared that no congressma ever worked more diligently for a project that Cooper has worked fo
the Mahoning-Beaver canal.

Poor Are Hungry

"The rich are poor and the poo are hungry," the speaker said as he asked the Negro voters if they were willing to "keep people in power who have given you no jobs
and raised the cost of living."

A Negro who votes for Democrats either is bought and paid for, ex pects a job or has underworl
privileges, Congressman DePriest
declared. A vote for a Democrat in the North is a vote to keep the Negroes in the South in subjection,
he said.

"In the South they pass laws and won't let you vote even the Democratic ticket," he told the Negro voters "If you are not good enough to vote for them there, you are too good to vote for them up here. I don't believe in White supremacy;
I don't believe in Black supremacy; I believe in American suprem
acy."

Congressman Cooper introduced the speaker, following a short address in which he deplored action
by the last Democratic congress
by which its powers were delegated to subordinate governmental agencies.

Need Men of Courage

"I supported the administration
in every constructive measure
based on democratic principles,"
Mr. Cooper said. "One of the most humiliating things to me in the last congress was to see congress surrender powers delegated to it by the constitution to agencies not elected by nor responsible to the people."

So autocratic has the administration become that to discuss policies of the New Deal is regarded as unpatriotic. Congressman
Cooper said. Men of courage are needed to combat this autocracy in the next congress, he declared.

Republican county leaders were guests at a dinner given last night
at the West Federal branch of the
Y. W. C. A. in honor of Congressman DePriest. Attorney Berry
Hill, who presided at the dinner also was chairman of the mass meeting.

* * *

A War Veterans Republican club
has been organized at G. O. P.
headquarters with Col. Wade C.
Christy as chairman and John J.
Holland, secretary. The club will set-up executive and general committees to aid in the campaign.
The club will name a committee to assist with arrangements to receive Clarence J. Brown, candidate for governor, here Oct. 23, and will hold a reception Nov. 2 for Paul
Herbert, former state commander of the American Legion, who is a candidate for lieutenant governor.

* * *

The Fifth war Republican com-
mitteemen's organization has elected Wendell Williams, chair man; Mrs. Minnie Hubler, vice chairman, and Chester Bailey,, sec retary. Mrs. Hubler will act as women's chairman for the ward.

* * *

The first of three campaign rallies in the Third ward will be held Monday night at Parmalee school
candidates will attend and T. La-
Mar Jackson, county vice chairman, will speak for the state ticket.

* * *

The Eagle Rock Republican club met at G. O. P. headquarters last night to discuss campaign activities
and to hear George S. Bishop, county chairman, report on the progress of the campaign.

* * *

The second of a series of Engel-hardt-for-Sheriff meetings will be held at Republican headquarters
Monday night. The choir of Central Christian church will sing and there will be other entertainment.

NEGRO G.O.P.'S ORGANIZE

Chronicle 12-13-34

Organization to Be Called Frederick Douglass Club

Boston

Roused to action by the increased activity of Democrats a group of Massachusetts Negro Republicans met
last Thursday, Dec. 6, 1934, at 355
Massachusetts ave. to formulate plans
for a permanent state-wide Republican organization. It was a most enthusiastic gathering. The concensus of opinion was that the Democratic position is untenable and the pendulum
will make a decidedly Republican swing by the next national election.

Attorney Irwin T. Dorch was made temporary chairman, Dr. Washington
of Lynn, secretary, and Harry C. Holt
treasurer. Attorney Dorch suggested that the organization take the name of the "noblest Roman of them all the sainted Frederick Douglass." The Frederick Douglass Republican Club
of Massachusetts was unanimously
adopted as the name of this organization. Plans were laid for an organization which will be state-wide and a permanent, living Republican club.

January 8, 1935, was set as the date for the next meeting when permanent officers will be elected and a permanent organization set up. They plan to meet at eight oclock that evening
at 355 Massachusetts Ave., Boston.

Those present taking part in the round table discussion included the above-named officers, and Attorneys
Neil Cropp and William W. Clark, Dr.
Clarence A. Hays, Dr. David N. Turpin and Mr. Curtis.

CONGRESSMAN TAYLOR'S POWER

John McCall, of the border-line of Mississippi, and his group of "lily-white" Republicans, will soon learn that there are certain leaders of the Grand Old Party who will not tolerate their efforts to spread the spirit of racecrate with a view of furthering their personal ambitions.

When Congressman J. Will Taylor, of the Second Tennessee District, attended the session of the State Republican Executive Committee in Nashville last week, he saw to it that justice and right prevailed to the extent of according proper recognition to Robert R. Church, Memphis Negro leader. The Church delegation was seated by the votes of a large majority of the committee. The same thing would have happened at the Chattanooga convention if the earnest and influential congressman had not been kept away because of the passing of his mother.

As for the charges hurled at the congressman by Governor Hooper, the recent candidate for senator should know, in view of his wide experience, that nothing more could have been done to cut down his vote in the Second District during the recent campaign, or in any other district where Negro Republicans vote, for that matter, by any other power, than was done by Mr. Hooper himself during the debacle staged by John McCall and his followers at the Memorial Auditorium in Chattanooga during the State Republican Convention.

As popular as Congressman Taylor is, he himself could not have persuaded the Negro voters and their friends to support any candidate who encouraged, or even stood silently by and allowed such highhanded tactics to be brought into play as existed then. Too, any candidate who is in anywise connected with John McCall or his interests is certain to experience a "thumbs down" attitude as concerns the Negro voters, and that to be from now on.

eriousness of the way the Democrats have been running the goernment," he declared. "We no
owe six billion dollars more tha
when the World War closed. Th
country today is 16 billion dolla
deeper in debt that it was Marc
1, 1933.

"When the war closed, our n
tional debt was $27,000,000,000 an
the Republican party had reduce that debt to $17,000,000,000. Th
debt today is $33,000,000,000 and the rate the Democrats are goin
we will owe 50 billions before th
close of the present administra tion. The potential bonding powe
of the nation is only 60 billions
This means that either the govern ment will be forced to repudiate it
obligations or drift into uncon trolled inflation. Either would ruin
the nation."

Congressman DePriest appeale
for support of Senator Simeon D
Fess and Congressman John G
Cooper for re-election. He laude
Cooper's long record in congres
and declared that no congressma
ever worked more diligently for a project that Cooper has worked fo
the Mahoning-Beaver canal.

Poor Are Hungry

"The rich are poor and the poor are hungry," the speaker said as he asked the Negro voters if they were willing to "keep people in power who have given you no jobs
and raised the cost of living."

A Negro who votes for Democrats
either is bought and paid for, ex pects a job or has underworl
privileges, Congressman DePriest
declared. A vote for a Democrat
in the North is a vote to keep the Negroes in the South in subjection,
he said.

"In the South they pass laws and won't let you vote even the Democratic ticket," he told the Negro voters "If you are not good enough to vote for them there, you are too good to vote for them up here.
don't believe in White supremacy;
I don't believe in Black supremacy; I believe in American suprem
acy."

Congressman Cooper introduced
the speaker, following a short address in which he deplored action
by the last Democratic congress
by which its powers were delegated to subordinate governmental agencies.

Need Men of Courage

"I supported the administration
in every constructive measure
based on democratic principles,"
Mr. Cooper said. "One of the most humiliating things to me in the last congress was to see congress surrender powers delegated to it by the constitution to agencies not elected by nor responsible to the people."

So autocratic has the administration become that to discuss policies of the New Deal is regarded as unpatriotic. Congressman
Cooper said. Men of courage are needed to combat this autocracy in the next congress, he declared.

Republican county leaders were guests at a dinner given last night
at the West Federal branch of the
Y. W. C. A. in honor of Congress-
man DePriest. Attorney Berry
Hill, who presided at the dinner
also was chairman of the mass meeting.

* * *

A War Veterans Republican club
has been organized at G. O. P.
headquarters with Col. Wade C.
Christy as chairman and John J.
Holland, secretary. The club will set-up executive and general committees to aid in the campaign.
The club will name a committee to assist with arrangements to receive Clarence J. Brown, candidate for governor, here Oct. 23, and will hold a reception Nov. 2 for Paul
Herbert, former state commander of the American Legion, who is a candidate for lieutenant governor.

* * *

The Fifth war Republican com-
mitteemen's organization has elected Wendell Williams, chairman; Mrs. Minnie Hubler, vice chairman, and Chester Bailey,, sec retary. Mrs. Hubler will act as women's chairman for the ward.

* * *

The first of three campaign rallies in the Third ward will be held Monday night at Parmalee school
candidates will attend and T. La-
Mar Jackson, county vice chairman, will speak for the state ticket.

* * *

The Eagle Rock Republican club
met at G. O. P. headquarters last night to discuss campaign activities
and to hear George S. Bishop, county chairman, report on the progress of the campaign.

* * *

The second of a series of Engel-hardt-for-Sheriff meetings will be held at Republican headquarters
Monday night. The choir of Central Christian church will sing and there will be other entertainment.

NEGRO G.O.P.'S ORGANIZE

Chronicle 12-15-34

Organization to Be Called Frederick Douglass Club

Boston

Roused to action by the increased activity of Democrats a group of Massachusetts Negro Republicans met
last Thursday, Dec. 6, 1934, at 355
Massachusetts ave. to formulate plans
for a permanent state-wide Republican organization. It was a most enthusiastic gathering. The concensus of opinion was that the Democratic position is untenable and the pendulum
will make a decidedly Republican swing by the next national election.

Attorney Irwin T. Dorch was made temporary chairman, Dr. Washington
of Lynn, secretary, and Harry C. Holt
treasurer. Attorney Dorch suggested that the organization take the name of the "noblest Roman of them all the sainted Frederick Douglass." The Frederick Douglass Republican Club
of Massachusetts was unanimously
adopted as the name of this organization. Plans were laid for an organization which will be state-wide and
a permanent, living Republican club.
January 8, 1935, was set as the date
for the next meeting when permanent officers will be elected and a permanent organization set up. They plan to meet at eight oclock that evening
at 355 Massachusetts Ave., Boston.

Those present taking part in the round table discussion included the above-named officers, and Attorneys
Neil Cropp and William W. Clark, Dr.
Clarence A. Hays, Dr. David N. Tur-
pin and Mr. Curtis.

CONGRESSMAN TAYLOR'S POWER

John McCall, of the border line of Mississippi, and his group of "lily-white" Republicans, will soon learn that there are certain leaders of the Grand Old Party who will not tolerate their efforts to spread the spirit of race hate with a view of furthering their personal ambitions.

When Congressman J. Will Taylor, of the Second Tennessee District, attended the session of the State Republican Executive Committee in Nashville last week, he saw to it that justice and right prevailed to the extent of according proper recognition to Robert R. Church, Memphis Negro leader. The Church delegation was seated by the votes of a large majority of the committee. The same thing would have happened at the Chattanooga convention if the earnest and influential congressman had not been kept away because of the passing of his mother.

As for the charges hurled at the congressman by Governor Hooper, the recent candidate for senator should know, in view of his wide experience, that nothing more could have been done to cut down his vote in the Second District during the recent campaign, or in any other district where Negro Republicans vote, for that matter, by any other power, than was done by Mr. Hooper himself during the debacle staged by John McCall and his followers at the Memorial Auditorium in Chattanooga during the State Republican Convention.

As popular as Congressman Taylor is, he himself could not have persuaded the Negro voters and their friends to support any candidate who encouraged, or even stood silently by and allowed such highhanded tactics to be brought into play as existed then. Too, any candidate who is in anywise connected with John McCall or his interests is certain to experience a "thumbs down" attitude as concerns the Negro voters, and that to be from now on.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

Republican.

Chattanooga, Tenn. News
October 25, 1934

White Leaders Place Negroes On Party Spot

Plan to Read Them Out if They Fail to "Come Through" for G. O. P.

Center on Vote for Thach

Harper, Byers and Richardson Targets of Leaders.

The Negroes in Hamilton County must come through for the Republican party in the November election.

Unless the colored people support the Republican nominees, white G. O. P. leaders plan to read the Negroes out of the party, to which most of them have nominally belonged since the right of suffrage was given them by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The Negroes will support Ben W. Hooper, candidate for the Senate. But leaders point out that in reality Hooper is not the Republican nominee, but is a candidate on the fusion ticket. The white Republicans are willing for the colored members of the party to vote for Hooper, but they also want to be sure that they support Pat H. Thach, candidate for Congress. Mr. Thach and the two legislative candidates are the only Republican nominees whose names will appear on the Hamilton County ballots next month.

Would Oust Leaders.

If the Negro wards do not go for Thach by heavy majorities on November 6, positions on the G. O. P. County Executive Committee will be lost by the Negro precinct leaders the white Republicans state. This would take away the influence of the Negro ward heelers acquired by winning seats in the party's councils.

Not only is it planned to punish the Negro leaders if they fail their traditional party, but the rank and file will be virtually excommunicated from the party. All Negroes will be banned from Republican primaries except under such rigid oaths of party fealty as are exacted by the Democrats.

This action, in effect, would make the local colored people voters without a party unless the Democrats showed more willingness than they have in the past to recognize a Negro as a member of the Democratic party.

Annoyance of Republican candidates because of deviations of Negro leaders from the party in county elections came to a head during the campaign last Summer. Some of the Negro precinct chairmen openly supported Democratic nominees and as a result several Republican candidates either lost the wards or carried them by small majorities. Sid Byers, for instance, supported only three Republicans. Doc Harper and Doodles Richardson are two others who failed to support the entire Republican ticket.

Echoes of Last Campaign.

It was charged that certain Negro ward heads took money from both sides and when the result of the election was seen, candidates who "put" made demands, accompanied by threats, that their money be paid back. They got back their money too.

In a campaign speech in Byers' precinct Judge Charles W. Lusk called upon the Negro chairman to resign because Byers was admittedly supporting Judge Lusk's Democratic opponent.

Regardless of the vote on November 6, Republican leaders have expressed an intention of getting rid of Byers, Harper and possibly other Negro leaders who went over to the Democrats. Walter Robinson, Fourth Ward boss, is not on the blacklist, as he supported the party nominees last August.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.
UNION

OCT 25 1934

NEGROES URGED TO BACK G. O. P.

George Ramsey, exalted ruler, San Diego Negro Elks lodge, and grand state deputy, yesterday urged local Negro voters to vote the straight Republican ticket at the Nov. 6 election.

"If we owe any party an obligation, we owe it to the Republicans," said Ramsey. "We have always been true to the Republican party, and we hope that it will give us a better break in the future than it has in the past. There are about 250,000 colored voters in California, and it is to them that I am addressing my appeal.

"We have never been traitors to any cause and the Negro never has joined forces with any party which would undermine the constitution of the United States. The Negro has always been known for his loyalty to everything that is under the American flag and has never let it touch the ground, even at the charge of San Juan hill and in the World war.

"In case the straight Republican ticket, with Merriam and the others elected, the Negro asks only a fair 'break.' We ask an equality in the distribution of jobs. Usually, when a job is to be filled, the Negro is the last one to be hired and the first one to be fired. We hope this will not be the case this time."

Page
11-24-34
New York
Times

WORM TURNS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

For more than forty years Pennsylvania was an impregnable Republican stronghold. In and out of season the Negro gave the G. O. P. unswerving and loyal support. But party leaders long ago assumed the same paternalistic, condescending attitude toward the race voters which had become so characteristic in other Northern commonwealths. In Philadelphia and Pittsburgh the demands that the Negro be accorded a larger and more equitable modicum of consideration for this devotion and fealty to Republicanism were received indifferently and at times contemptuously.

On November 6, Negro voters of Pennsylvania revolted against the party they had helped keep in power for nearly half a century and gave valuable assistance to the election of a Democratic Governor, United States Senator and Legislature. In Philadelphia, Negro wards which in years past had rolled up a large Republican vote went Democratic. During the campaign a Negro Citizens' Democratic Committee of One-hundred was formed and appeals made to Philadelphians of color to vote for Earle, Guffey and the other Democratic candidates.

The committee in setting forth its many grievances against the Republican Party cited among other things that:

Negroes have been slave-like in their devotion to it (Republican Party) and despite this support and loyalty, Philadelphia and Pennsylvania have become the most prejudiced and Jim-Crowed city and State in the North. Instances: Jim Crow schools and a Jim Crow teaching system; Jim Crow bus lines, Jim Crow hospitals, Jim Crow prisons, Jim Crow theatres and public places of amusement, and literal exclusion from restaurants and hotels.

Even recent Republican administrations guided and advised by the Attorney General who now seeks your vote, have killed every piece of legislation and act designed to correct these abuses and otherwise better the economic and social position of our group. The Harris Equal Rights Bill, the bill prohibiting racial discrimination in the employment of persons on public projects, and a bill for the establishment of a Negro unit of the National Guard, were all killed by the Republicans. Further instances of the antagonistic, callous attitude of Mr. Schnader towards our group may be found in his disgraceful handling of the Berwyn School case and the Washington County kidnapping case.

Last spring when the name of Attorney General Schnader was advanced for the Republican nomination for Governor, Negro leaders advised against such a selection, pointing out that Mr. Schnader was unpopular with members of the race throughout the State because of his failure to secure fair and equal treatment as provided by law for the Negro school children of Berwyn. But as party chieftains have been so used to ignoring protests against color discrimination they refused to take the warning seriously.

The school situation in Pennsylvania under Republican rule has reached a most discouraging stage. In Pittsburgh there is not a Negro teacher in the public schools. If a young woman of the group wishes to get an appointment after graduation she must leave her home town. In Philadelphia, the educational authorities are subtly abolishing mixed schools for separate schools in spite of public clamor against the new policy. Not only in its schools system but in numerous ways the coming more numerous and menacing Negro or line is drawn as vigorously and shameful-voters look to a betterment of conditions by fully in Republican Pennsylvania as in abutting another party in the saddle at Harris-Southern Democratic State. burgh. The entire country will watch future

Having been faithful so long to the Republican Party in Pennsylvania, where economic and social barriers against the race are be-

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

Chattanooga, Tenn. News
October 25, 1934

White Leaders Place Negroes On Party Spot

Plan to Read Them Out if They Fail to "Come Through" for G. O. P.

Center on Vote for Thach

Harper, Byers and Richardson Targets of Leaders.

The Negroes in Hamilton County must come through for the Republican party in the November election.

Unless the colored people support the Republican nominees, white G. O. P. leaders plan to read the Negroes out of the party, to which most of them have nominally belonged since the right of suffrage was given them by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The Negroes will support Ben W. Hooper, candidate for the Senate. But leaders point out that in reality Hooper is not the Republican nominee, but is a candidate on the fusion ticket. The white Republicans are willing for the colored members of the party to vote for Hooper, but they also want to be sure that they support Pat H. Thach, candidate for Congress. Mr. Thach and the two legislative candidates are the only Republican nominees whose names will appear on the Hamilton County ballots next month.

Would Oust Leaders.

If the Negro wards do not go for Thach by heavy majorities on November 6, positions on the G. O. P County Executive Committee will be lost by the Negro precinct leaders the white Republicans state. This would take away the influence of the Negro ward heelers acquired by winning seats in the party's councils.

Not only is it planned to punish the Negro leaders if they fail their traditional party, but the rank and file will be virtually excommunicated from the party. All Negroes will be banned from Republican primaries except under such rigid oaths of party fealty as are exacted by the Democrats.

This action, in effect, would make the local colored people voters without a party unless the Democrats showed more willingness than they have in the past to recognize a Negro as a member of the Democratic party.

Annoyance of Republican candidates because of deviations of Negro leaders from the party in county elections came to a head during the campaign last Summer. Some of the Negro precinct chairmen openly supported Democratic nominees and as a result several Republican candidates either lost the wards or carried them by small majorities. Sid Byers, for instance, supported only three Republicans. Doc Harper and Doodles Richardson are two others who failed to support the entire Republican ticket.

Echoes of Last Campaign.

It was charged that certain Negro ward heads took money from both sides and when the result of the election was seen, candidates who "put" made demands, accompanied by threats, that their money be paid back. They got back their money too.

In a campaign speech in Byers' precinct Judge Charles W. Lusk called upon the Negro chairman to resign because Byers was admittedly supporting Judge Lusk's Democratic opponent.

Regardless of the vote on November 6, Republican leaders have expressed an intention of getting rid of Byers, Harper and possibly other Negro leaders who went over to the Democrats. Walter Robinson, Fourth Ward boss, is not on the blacklist, as he supported the party nominees last August.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.
UNION

OCT 25 1934

NEGROES URGED TO BACK G. O. P.

George Ramsey, exalted ruler, San Diego Negro Elks lodge, and grand state deputy, yesterday urged local Negro voters to vote the straight Republican ticket at the Nov. 6 election.

"If we owe any party an obligation, we owe it to the Republicans," said Ramsey. "We have always been true to the Republican party, and we hope that it will give us a better break in the future than it has in the past. There are about 250,000 colored voters in California, and it is to them that I am addressing my appeal.

"We have never been traitors to any cause and the Negro never has joined forces with any party which would undermine the constitution of the United States. The Negro has always been known for his loyalty to everything that is under the American flag and has never let it touch the ground, even at the charge of San Juan hill and in the World war.

"In case the straight Republican ticket, with Merriam and the others is elected, the Negro asks only a fair 'break.' We ask an equality in the distribution of jobs. Usually, when a job is to be filled, the Negro is the last one to be hired and the first one to be fired. We hope this will not be the case this time."

WORM TURNS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Oregon

11-2-34

New York Times

For more than forty years Pennsylvania was an impregnable Republican stronghold. In and out of season the Negro gave the G. O. P. unswerving and loyal support. But party leaders long ago assumed the same paternalistic, condescending attitude toward the race voters which had become so characteristic in other Northern commonwealths. In Philadelphia and Pittsburgh the demands that the Negro be accorded a larger and more equitable modicum of consideration for this devotion and fealty to Republicanism were received indifferently and at times contemptuously.

On November 6, Negro voters of Pennsylvania revolted against the party they had helped keep in power for nearly half a century and gave valuable assistance to the election of a Democratic Governor, United States Senator and Legislature. In Philadelphia, Negro wards which in years past had rolled up a large Republican vote went Democratic. During the campaign a Negro Citizens' Democratic Committee of One-hundred was formed and appeals made to Philadelphians of color to vote for Earle, Guffey and the other Democratic candidates.

The committee in setting forth its many grievances against the Republican Party cited among other things that:

Negroes have been slave-like in their devotion to it (Republican Party) and despite this support and loyalty, Philadelphia and Pennsylvania have become the most prejudiced and Jim-Crowed city and State in the North. Instances: Jim Crow schools and a Jim Crow teaching system; Jim Crow bus lines, Jim Crow hospitals, Jim Crow prisons, Jim Crow theatres and public places of amusement, and literal exclusion from restaurants and hotels.

Even recent Republican administrations guided and advised by the Attorney General who now seeks your vote, have killed every piece of legislation and act designed to correct these abuses and otherwise better the economic and social position of our group. The Harris Equal Rights Bill, the bill prohibiting racial discrimination in the employment of persons on public projects, and a bill for the establishment of a Negro unit of the National Guard, were all killed by the Republicans. Further instances of the antagonistic, callous attitude of Mr. Schnader towards our group may be found in his disgraceful handling of the Berwyn School case and the Washington County kidnapping case.

Last spring when the name of Attorney General Schnader was advanced for the Republican nomination for Governor, Negro leaders advised against such a selection, pointing out that Mr. Schnader was unpopular with members of the race throughout the State because of his failure to secure fair and equal treatment as provided by law for the Negro school children of Berwyn. But as party chieftains have been so used to ignoring protests against color discrimination they refused to take the warning seriously.

The school situation in Pennsylvania under Republican rule has reached a most discouraging stage. In Pittsburgh there is not a Negro teacher in the public schools. If a young woman of the group wishes to get an appointment after graduation she must leave her home town. In Philadelphia, the educational authorities are subtly abolishing mixed schools for separate schools in spite of public clamor against the new policy. Not only in its schools system but in numerous ways the coming more numerous and menacing Negro or line is drawn as vigorously and shameful in Republican Pennsylvania as in a betterment of conditions by voters look to a Southern Democratic State. Having been faithful so long to the Republican Party in Pennsylvania, where economic and social barriers against the race are be- in the saddle at Harrisburgh. The entire country will watch future events with considerable interest

WHAT OF THE REPUBLICANS?

Between now and November, 1936, one of the most popular conversational subjects is bound to be: "What about the Republican Party?" Democratic stalwarts, echoing the words of Mr. Farley, will say that the party is dead; Republican stalwarts will say that it is simply lying fallow, and shows no signs of decay. The truth probably lies somewhere between these two extremes.

The Republicans took a terrific lacing in the last election—so far as carrying offices was concerned. But they did get around 46 per cent of the total vote cast. A party that gets as substantial a minority as that can't be considered dead by a long shot.

One of the principal Republican problems is dissention within the party. Henry Fletcher, Chairman of the Republican Central Committee, is a conservative—many of the principal Republican Senators, such as Borah, Johnson, Couzens and McNary are liberals of varying shades of opinion. It seems a certainty that a strong drive will be made to eliminate Mr. Fletcher and put a liberal in his place—and until the Republicans have fought their own internal battles to a finish, no one can forecast the future of the party with accuracy.

MARSHFIELD, WIS.
NEWS HERALD

NOV 30 1934

REBUILDING POLITICAL PARTIES

(From Editorial Research Reports.)

Other elections have punished political parties about as the Republican party was punished in the 1934 elections. Sometimes the party concerned revived, sometimes it did not. Survival has depended largely on whether the losers properly read the political trends evidenced in their defeat, also on how wisely the winners used the overwhelming mandate given them by the voters.

In this connection an important difference has existed between the case of the Democrats and that of the Republicans. Largely as a result of the Civil war, the Negro problem and—to a lighter extent—the tariff question, the Democrats were always able to count upon the south as a foundation on which to rebuild. Even the southern states which deserted the Smith banner in 1928 sent many Democrats to congress. But the 1932 and 1934 elections proved that there are not many states upon which the Republicans can always count as an irreducible minimum.

Afetr the Revolution the Federalist party of Washington and Hamilton did not learn the lesson of its defeats by the party of Jefferson and the Federalists passed out of the picture. The Republican-Democrats became all-powerful, but they could not maintain party unity. Their internal difficulties led first to the formation of the Whig party and then to its victory in the presidential election of 1840.

The Whigs, however, tried to straddle the slavery and secession problems, also other issues, and they fell apart by reason of their own ineptitude. So the Republican party developed strength almost from the moment of its organization, and it did well in the first presidential election it contested, that of 1856. In 1860 the divided Democrats put three tickets in the field and the unified Republicans easily won the presidency for Lincoln.

In 1920 the Republicans gained 300 of the 435 seats in the house, but two years later the Democrats almost wiped out this huge majority

CINCINNATI, O.
ENQUIRER

DEC 1 1934

COMEBACK

Is Hope Of G. O. P.

By Regaining Farmer And Negro Voters.

Loss Of Labor Admitted—Bolt By Bankers Felt As Good Riddance.

By Frank R. Kent.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Baltimore Sun)

In these days, with Mr. Roosevelt riding the crest of the wave and every publicity agent in the New Deal outfit lustily singing the Recovery hymn with the cooperation chorus, there is practically nothing for the opposition to do except amuse itself waiting for the ballyhoo to die down and the break to come. Soon or late it will, and then they think, there will be a lot of fun. It does not take a soothsayer to know that no such situation as this, with nine-tenths of the critics gone into the silence, and the unbelievers bowing low in pretended conversion, can last. It can be kept going for quite a while, but not indefinitely.

* * *

In the meantime, the dispirited and enfeebled Republicans still mark time and are without ideas, initiative, enterprise, and ambition. There is no play at all for those qualities until the edge wears off the present religious fervor. Even if they possessed such qualities, which they do not, under existing conditions they could do little with them. Actually, there is nothing for Republican politicians to do except analyze, speculate and look ahead. The wiser ones try to preserve their sense of humor, but most of them still mull mournfully over the last election and, from time to time evolve new theories concerning it which show the condition to which they have been reduced and the time they have on their hands. Some of these more recent contentions are both interesting and ingenious. For example, it is asserted they lost in the election four classes of voters, all naturally Republican, but taken away from their party by a combination of New Deal inducements, blandishments and threats which could not be resisted.

First—They lost the Negro vote—lost it because all over the country the Democratic Administration has put hundreds of thousands of Negroes on the relief rolls. Hundreds of thousands more Negroes hope to get on. The proportion of Negroes on the rolls is very much higher than whites. To many of them it is like a dream come true. In Baltimore, while the Negro population is about one in seven, the Negro percentage of relief is more than 50 per cent. The same situation exists in other cities—in Chicago, for instance, the net result, it is claimed, is that the Negroes went heavily New Deal this time. In Chicago, the Republican Negro Congressman, Oscar De Priest, supposed to be a hero of his race, was badly beaten by a Democratic Negro candidate. The Negroes left the party of Lincoln for the party of Roosevelt. There seems a lot of truth in that contention.

* * *

Second—Republicans say they lost the labor vote. Seduced by Section 7 A, won over by the way in which the unions have thrived under the New Deal sunshine and enthusiastic about the Administration drive for shorter hours and higher pay labor went almost solidly Democratic. Unquestionably, it is asserted, it was responsible for the defeat of Reed in Pennsylvania Hebert in Rhode Island, and Walcott in Connecticut.

* * *

Third—It lost the farmer vote heretofore strongly Republican Under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, however, the farmer, it is claimed, has become practically a kept man, and the farmers deserted in droves. It was impossible to expect them to stay Republican under the circumstances In the month before the election a Democratic Administration distributed many millions of dollars in farm bonuses.

* * *

Fourth—And this is the funny one—the Republicans say they lost the financial vote. Since anyone can remember, big business and the banking interests have been on the Republican side. Wall Street always was Republican. This time it went New Deal—not because of belief, but because of fear. It was clear the New Deal set-up was irresistible. Wall Street saw no nourishment in making a losing fight. Hence it not only refused to contribute to the Republican side but actually went over to the other—and is there now.

* * *

With the loss of these four groups, all normally Republican, the question arises as to who composed the 13,000,000 votes the party got, anyway. The belief is expressed that these were largely the small business men and merchants of the country, and it is conceded there were among them many Democrats. It is argued further that at least three of these groups are bound to return to the Republican fold. When that happens, it is said, the Republicans will again become the majority party. They could regain that position, it is naively said, with merely the farmers and the Negroes. As for Wall Street, the Republican attitude toward it is not without humor. "At any rate," said one Republican of national prominence, "we have deloused the party of Wall Street and the bankers. They will be a Democratic liability next time." What strange times these are. Whoever expected to hear a Republican leader talking like that.

Political-1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
INQUIRER-PUBLIC LEDGER

OCT 7 1934

SUPPORTS REPUBLICANS

Through the Citizens' Independent Republican Committee it was announced yesterday that Samuel H. Reading, a prominent Negro Democrat, has declared his support of the Republican ticket in the State campaign.

In making his decision, it was related, Reading charged members of his race had not been given a fair deal by Democratic leaders in the distribution of patronage.

"When I see professional men like Dr. J. Max Barber and Dr. R. P. Bradley," said Reading, "rewarded for putting the Democrats in power by being forced to accept jobs as messenger and elevator operator I am forced to believe that the leadership of the Democratic Party is still unaware that slavery was abolished in 1863.

"I am going to support the whole Republican ticket on November 6."

SPRINGFIELD, O.
NEWS

OCT 6 1934

THE NEGRO VOTER

To the Editor of The News:

The Republican party which in the plenitude of its power allowed the human rights of the Constitution when it affected the Negro, (who had been faithful to it since the days of Emancipation) to be trampled down with impunity now fills the air with frantic protestations of reverence and devotion, at the time of its impatience and defeat.

During the past elections we have asked of our prominent Negro Republican leaders as to what appeal they expected to use to keep the colored voters in line for the G. O. P., and they have always replied with past-gone platitudes and tried to shape the argument to the issue.

May I quote from one prominent Negro writer the following lines:

"The ancient and hoary arguments of both Howard and De Priest failed lamentably during the 1932 campaign. The colored brother decided to take the bit in his own teeth and follow his intellect instead of his emotion for political guidance."

Except for a few non-thinking voters, the fact is, the American people are no longer held in hard and fast bonds of party allegiance. There are still a considerable number of moss-back Republicans and Bourbon Democrats, but the greatest number have liberated themselves from party bonds.

The South and the Negro have been considered the unsplitable blocs in American politics, but the "28" election split the solid South, the same as the "32" election did for the Negro. The South and the Negro have long been the blockheads of National politics and will continue to be so as long as they remain solid.

But all the a[illegible]nt arguments of prominent Negro Republican leaders will never put this black Humpty-Dumpty together again, for ancient appeals to by-gone political history will fall on deaf ears.

The past glories of the G. O. P. and its by-gone benefactions to the Negro are buried in the grave with Lincoln, Grant, and Theodore Roosevelt. The Negro today is seeking that which will benefit him now and those of his people who must come after him, all that is past is well and good and served its purpose but can be of little help in solving his problems in the future. Progress is not found for any people by dwelling among the bones of their ancestors.

The traditional unfriendliness of the Democratic party and the South have faded away in the light of what is happening under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The New Deal forgetting things that are past is pressing on to conditions as they are now and must be in the future. The race question is being driven from politics. The Negro like his fellow White American must deal with the New Deal as a dominant economic principle.

That the Negro will be the victim of injustices and inequities under the New Deal as well as he was under the old order, will be expected as long as race prejudice still prevails in America. The Negro will use his ballot to wipe this out bit by bit, until it is finally eliminated.

We all know there is no human likelihood, that the Republican party will succeed or that the New Deal will be over-thrown in the fall elections. The stars never turn backward in their course. The Republican party has been reduced to a harassing, impotent, minority without any firm political or reasonable hope except its history of exploitation of the many for the enrichment of the few.

It is true and logical that from time to time resourceful and patriotic candidates will appear on the Republican ticket which must needs carry its compliment of candidates to keep up its organization regularity. Many of these candidates will command white and colored support. But any purely partisan Republican vote in the coming fall election is surely wasted devotion.

May we suggest to the prominent Negro Republican leaders both national and state that they have printed a certificate of undying fidelity to the G. O. P. to be given to every Negro who vows his undying partisanism by his vote in November. They deserve to go down to history with the Grant bloc of 306 in 1876 and it should be framed with the names of the dupable committee with whom Hoover condescended to pose just prior to the election in '32 with the White House as the background.

All the Republican noise about a return to the Constitution does not interest the Negro, on the other hand it amuses him.

The party which in the plenitude of its power allowed the human rights of the Constitution to be trampled down with impunity now fills the air with frantic protests of reverence and devotion, at the time of its impatience and defeat. Nor is that part of the Constitution which is now invoked the part that appeals especially to the Negro.

Whatever of dictatorship may be necessary to put over the New Deal has no terrors for the black voter. History and experience has taught him that he has gained most from a strong central government at Washington.

The Negro, if he is wise, will not in the Fall election, vote for a reactionary and obstructive movement against the New Deal, but rather for the members of the House and Senate who will insist that the New Deal be a Square Deal and that can never include such men as Senator Fess.

GEORGE WHITE.

President of the Union Democratic League.

Springfield, O., Oct. 5, 1934.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND
TIMES

OCT 5 1934

REPUBLICA[illegible] [illegible]ND NEGRO SITUATION DISCUSSED

By a Voter.

In The Times of Sept. 26, Benjamin A. Osborne holds himself out as the political barometer of the Negro voter.

He said:

"During the ensuing campaign the Negro voter will have the time of his life," and tries to show how "amused" the Negro voter is because the Republican party does not distinguish between the Negro of 1861 and 1934. He says that the issues of 1861 are dead.

Events of 1861 are not dead. They are perpetuated on historical pages for succeeding generations to read for enlightenment. George Washington and Abraham Lincoln are dead only to the superficial mind. The struggles of any people are not dead in the march of civilization and culture. These former struggles inspire and the Republican party looks with pride upon the part it has played in the advancement of the Negro race.

The Negro voters will show in the election that they are not ingrates. And Benjamin A. Osborne and his "intelligence" and "culture" ought to stop prating through all the city papers. He wrote:

"Observant Negroes are asking why the Republicans are working themselves into a frenzy."

It is Mr. Osborne who is in a frenzy because the Republicans take no notice of him, nor does the intelligent Negro as Mr. Osborne goes on ranting for the Democratic party.

The gist of the matter is, the Republican party does not want the Osborne vote, but it does want the votes of the Negroes who desire the perpetuation of those sterling principles for which the Republican party has alway stood, and stands today.

Benjamine A. Osborne is a good publicity man for the Republican party.

YOUNG G. O. P.'S TO INSTALL HEADS

The Central Young Men's Republican Club is holding its installation of officers at republican headquarters, 1839 Broadway tonight, it was stated by District Director, James E. Wright, today Speakers on the program will be M. C. B. Mason, Milo Murray, Gerald Gillett and Wilbur Hardaway.

Mr. Mason is Congressman Oscar DePriest's campaign manager and an eloquent speaker.

Officers to be installed by Rev. C. W. Neloms are Theodore Ross President; Reuben Minor, Vice President; George Smith. 2nd vice president; Timothy Dixon secretary, Luther Mitchall, treasurer.

The Holloway For Mayor club of which most of the young men are members, will take an important part in the big rally at Croatian Hall, 23rd and Wahsington street next Friday night, the director announced. 10-19-34

The young women will sponsor a meeting in headquarters Thursday night with a state speaker, Miss Sally Mitchell, the director said today.

The weekly meeting of the young republican will continue to be held on Tuesday of each week in the headquarters, 1939 Broadway.

They will also have important parts on the all-city boxing show at the Armory. October 29.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

OCT 5 1934

POLITICAL GROUPS HOLD GATHERINGS

Committeemen and workers from Woodside and Springfield townships met in the Republican headquarters on the west side of Lincoln square last night. Organization plans were discussed.

A meeting of the Illinois Republican Citizens league will be held in the headquarters at 8 o'clock tonight. Dr. S. A. Ware, president of the organization, will preside.

Members of the young G. O. P. Colored club met last night at the headquarters. Harrison Gorens, chairman, presided. Registration of voters was the main topic discussed during the evening. On October 18 a mass meeting will be held for all colored Republican voters at the Masonic hall, 118 South Eighth street. Donald DePriest, son of Congressman Oscar DePriest, will be the principal speaker at the mass meeting.

Members of Italian, Slovak and Lithuanian Democratic organization workers met in the headquarters in the Ridgely-Farmers bank building with Chairman Peter F. Rossiter. Harmony and registration were discussed and addresses were made by some of the candidates.

A meeting of workers is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight in the headquarters, which will end the week's activity.

SPRINGIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

OCT 6 1934

Committeemen of Republicans Meet

Committeemen from the country precincts of Sangamon county met this afternoon in the republican headquarters on the west side of the square. Campaign work was discussed and reports of prospects in the country precincts were made.

The Illinois Republican Citizens' league, an organization of colored voters, met in the headquarters last night, with State Representative Harris B. Gaines, Chicago, as principal speaker. Gaines urged colored voters to organize and support the republican ticket.

Republicans, he said, are on their way back to power. He characterized the new deal as a "bum deal." Gaines is state organizer of colored voters for the republican state central committee.

Other speakers included Dr. S. A. Ware, president of the league, and Robert Wright, secretary; Ernest A Dye, candidate for sheriff; J. B. Myers, for county clerk; Benjamin S DeBoice, for probate judge; W. O Withrow, for county superintendent of schools, and State's Attorney Alfred H. Greening.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.
TIMES UNION

OCT 9 1934

CLUB IN 19TH FORMED FOR COLORED G. O. P.

Bartscherer, District Leader, Inducts Officers.

A group of colored voters in the 19th A. D. has organized the Williamsburgh Colored Republican Club, with headquarters at 355 Bushwick ave.

Although organized only about one week, the new unit has a membership of 95 men and women. The club is affiliated with the 19th A. D. Regular Republican Organization, of which Jacob Bartscherer and Mrs. Mae K. Pisciotta are executive members.

Mr. Bartscherer recently installed officers of the club at the 19th A. D. Republican Organization headquarters, Hart st. and Myrtle ave. Officers are:

Henry M. Spear, executive member; Mrs. Ethel M. Hall, co-leader; Charles Holley, president; Mrs. Rose Jones, vice president; Henry Rabb, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Bailey, secretary; George Lovell, financial secretary; Fred Ancrum, sergeant-at-arms.

On Friday night the headquarters will be officially dedicated, with addresses by County Leader John R. Crews, Mr. Bartscherer and others.

Oklahoma City, Okla.
TIMES

OCT 5 1934

G. O. P. Utilities Post Nominee Too Nervous to Talk Politics

Wife Meets Negro Corporation Commission Candidate's Callers at the Door, But Doesn't Let Them In, So The Democrats Are Running His Campaign.

By IRVIN HURST

OKMULGEE, Oct. 5.—Ensconced in his two-room home in the Negro section here, Frank A. Anderson, Republican nominee for corporation commissioner, is denying himself to the press. In fact, he is too "nervous" and "disturbed" to see anybody, his wife insists.

"He's been threatened," she adds, with a little coaxing.

Reputedly, Anderson has his nomination certificate tacked to the wall inside. The first Negro to win nomination to high public office in Oklahoma, he also claims a diploma from Princeton university, and Okmulgee business men recall that he's sometimes identified as president of Booker T. university.

• • •

THAT'S when the "university" is short of funds, they add with a laugh. And Mrs. Anderson, who opens the door warily and blocks the crack as she talks to white callers, admits that "the university is in poor finances." It used to hold classes between Henryetta and Weleetka, but they have been disbanded.

Several years ago Anderson was listed in the city directory as a harness maker. He has a small shed back of the house with a sign, "horse collars." Neighbors say he hasn't been working in recent weeks, but he goes well dressed.

Two calls on Mrs. Anderson failed to get the front door open more than six inches. Yes, Anderson was there.

"But he's too nervous and too disturbed to talk," she parried.

A poster offering "spiritual work" and signed "Mme. R. B. Anderson," hung outside the door. It added: "I can work miles away."

Reportorial ingenuity came to the fore:

"How about giving me a spiritual reading?" the writer asked. "Suppose you tell me your husband's chances in the November election."

"I don't mixes in politics," was the reply.

• • •

A WOOLLY headed boy peeked through the crack. That offered a new tack. How about the Anderson children?

There are seven, Mrs. Anderson said, "but I don't want to talk about them."

Okmulgee, home of W. B. Pine, Republican nominee for governor, takes both its state candidates calmly. Anderson received 16 votes at the courthouse July 3, with only two Negroes voting. It wasn't generally known then he is a Negro.

John Milner, attorney and supporter of E. W. Marland, said he acknowledged a withdrawal notice for Anderson about 11 p. m. the last day for withdrawing from the runoff primary. Anderson was accompanied by James A. "Big Jim" Harris, former Republican state chairman, but it was too late for acceptance.

"We are sometimes accused of keeping him in the race, but we're not," said E. J. Gilder, another Democratic attorney and acquaintance of Anderson. Gilder disillusioned Anderson on the meaning of the nomination certificate recently when they met on the street.

"I guess I'm elected. My opponent withdrew," Gilder quoted Anderson.

"But that was only for the runoff primary, Frank," Grilde told him. "You're got another campaign ahead for November."

From appearances, however, Anderson—bane of Republicans—will let the Democrats run his campaign while he remains in doors "too nervous and disturbed."

SUN

Selma, N.C.

NOV 15 1934

COOLEY'S NEGRO CRY.

News has come to our ears that Congressman Harold D. Cooley tried to besmear the Republican party in one of his recent campaign speeches here in Johnston county, by raising the howl about the Negro. We would have given Mr. Cooley credit for exercising better judgment than to raise the Negro question as a campaign issue in the face of the modern trend of the Negro vote.

Since the votes were counted which were polled on November 6th, 1934, it develops that the Democrats elected two Justices of the Peace in the city of Durham, North Carolina; and add to this twin-victory of the Negro Democrats of Durham, we have of still greater successes by Negro Democratic politicians, reference to which may be had by reading an article in last Sunday's issue of the Greensboro Daily News, from the pen of R. R. Clark, one of the State's best known Democratic writers. His article reads in part as follows:

Oscar De Priest, negro, has represented the first Illinois district in Congress for several terms, as a Republican. Arthur W. Mitchell, negro and Democrat, defeated De Priest in the recent election and report comes from Washington that some southern Democrats are not so happy at the thought of having a negro in a Democratic caucus. It is assumed that the North Carolina delegation will make no point on that; at least those will not who are aware of the election of a negro a member of the Democratic precinct committee in a Raleigh ward and of the number of negroes who vote with the Democrats in Wake and elsewhere in the state. De Priest annoyed white congressmen most by his insistence on sending his colored friends into the house restaurant to eat. Our own Lendsey Warren, who is manager of the restaurant as committee chairman, may be able to manage the Democratic congressman of color so that he will not make himself offensive in this respect. From that angle the Democrats should welcome the change.

Political — 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

WICHITA, KANS.
BEACON

SEP 24 1934

GOP CAMPAIGN OPENS MONDAY

Republicans, not only from Wichita and Sedgwick County, but from over the entire Fifth congressional district will crowd their way into the Forum, Monday evening to hear the opening gun of the party fired.

Al F. Williams

Al F. Williams, Topeka lawyer and one of the finest orators in the state, will make the keynote speech, launching Ira Watson's campaign for Congress and also setting the county candidates off to a whirlwind start.

At 6 o'clock an indoor picnic will be held at the Forum. Tables have been arranged on the arena floor and everybody is welcome.

The Dold band is scheduled to give a concert before and after the picnic dinner and the program will be interspersed with songs by the Watson-for-Congress colored quartet. John Crawford, Republican county chairman will make a short speech and a number of party leaders including John Free, Howard Fleeson, Tom Harley and Cliff Matson, former county chairman will also give short addresses.

Ira Watson will make his opening speech of the campaign and county candidates will be introduced and permitted to say a few words in their behalf.

The speech of Mr. Williams, however, is to be the feature of the program. This able lawyer's record as a fighter in the ranks of the party has given him national recognition and it is expected his remarks will constitute in a large part the burden of the battle song of the Republicans from now until November 6.

Those who plan to attend the picnic are urged to bring well-filled baskets, so that ample food will be on hand for those who will be unable to prepare anything for the dinner.

Doors of the Forum will be thrown open at 5:30 in order to give time for the picnickers to arrange tables and attend other details incident thereto. The speaking will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and the general public, regardless of political affiliation, is invited.

DANVILLE, ILL.
COMMERCIAL NEWS

SEP 29 1934

YOUNG NEGRO REPUBLICANS HOLD SESSION

Young Negro Republican voters were urged to take a more active interest in the affairs of government by Attorney J. D. Allen Friday night during a Republican Negro rally in the community center at Union Avenue and Cherry Street.

Chairman George Glenn presided and introduced Mr. Allen. Chairman Robert Poisall of the Vermilion County Young Republican Club spoke on the set-up of the group and its future plans.

Arthur Huffman was elected financial secretary and the following to the membership committee during the business session: Samuel Price, Melvin Hamilton and Andy Offitt. Elizabeth Allen is secretary and John Buford Jr., treasurer.

The club's next meeting will be held Wednesday night.

BELLEVILLE, ILL.
ADVOCATE

OCT 4 1934

COL. SIMMONS TO SPEAK MONDAY AT REPUBLICAN RALLY

Col. Roscoe Conklin Simmons of Chicago, noted negro Republican orator, will deliver an address in the East St. Louis city hall at 8 o'clock next Monday night, it was announced today by Wilbur P. Mitchell, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee.

The county candidates, with Judge Jesse R. Brown, will attend the meeting.

BAYONNE, N. J.
TIMES

OCT 5 1934

MEETING TONIGHT BY COLORED G. O. P. UNIT

The Independent Colored Organization League will hold a regular meeting tonight at 9 o'clock at the clubrooms, 92 West Twentieth street.

Among those scheduled to speak are Paul LaBue, Bayonne Freeholder candidate: Fred Cornwell, of Jersey City, Assembly candidate, and the Rev. James Rowe, Jr., of the People's Baptist Church.

The club is supporting the Republican candidates in the November election.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.
JOURNAL

OCT 5 1934

Colored G. O. P. Will Discuss Discrimination

Racial discrimination in Hudson County will be discussed at a mass meeting sponsored by the Hudson County unit of the Colored Republican State Committee in Lincoln High School Monday night. United States Senator Hamilton F. Kean, whose efforts for passage of a Federal anti-lynching law have aroused the interest of colored persons throughout the country, and Congressman Oscar DePriest, colored Republican from Illinois, will be the principal speakers.

Fred M. Cornwell, colored Republican candidate for the Assembly, will preside. Harold Hoffman, gubernatorial candidate, has also been invited, but his acceptance hinges on later developments in this week of the campaign. This, the first of a series of such meetings to be held in the county, is under sponsorship of James W. Roberson, chairman, and a committee composed of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Thomas, Mrs. Rosa Frazier, Mrs. Madeline Mercer, Raymond Alleyne, William A. Moore, Samuel C. Scott and Arthur Upperman.

DIXON, ILL.
EVE. TELEGRAPH

OCT 3 1934

NEGRO VOTERS IN REPUBLICAN LEAGUE ELECT

Interesting Meeting of Colored Voters Held Last Eve

The Negro Votes Republican League of Dixon met last evening in the county court room at the court house, the gathering having been very well attended and a great deal of interest was shown. The league is incorporated and was organized in 1932. The present officers of the organization are as follows:

President—Barry Stewart
Secretary—Oscar Penniston.
Treasurer—Richard Burke.
Chairman of Publicity— Winston McReynolds.

The members listened attentively to short talks given by the following candidates: County Judge Wm. L. Leech, Ward T. Miller and Geo. C. Dixon. These were followed by brief remarks by Rev. C. T Stamp and Oscar Penniston. Winston McReynolds presided as chairman of the meeting and presented the several speakers. The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, the place to be announced later.

PATERSON, N. J.
CALL

OCT 8 1934

Open Headquarters For Negro G. O. P.

Opening Night Celebration Will Be Held This Evening

Campaign headquarters were opened Friday evening at 153 River street for Republican negro voters of this city to get acquainted with the candidates on the ticket.

The meeting quarters will be open each day and meetings will be held until after election. This evening will be the opening night. Wednesday evening will be freeholder's night. An interesting program has been outlined each evening.

Plans are being made for a Hoffman-Seger-Marsh, rally to be held in a larger hall on October 26. Mrs Viola Adams, president of the Passaic county colored Republican league, Charles Thomas or Soloman Hocutt will be pleased to have the new registrants come in and be instructed about prospective candidates. The hours will be from 9 each morning until 12 noon and from 1 until 12 midnight.

EVANSVILLE, IND.
COURIER

OCT 7 1934

Republicans Plan To Open Campaign In City October 15

Democratic Committeemen and Committeewomen to Meet Tomorrow Night

The second week of the fall campaign opens tomorrow with the republicans still concentrating their meetings in the country, and the democrats holding both city and county meetings.

As a gesture to show that harmony is prevailing in the democratic ranks, a meeting of committeemen and committeewomen, with all democratic workers invited, will be held tomorrow night in democratic headquarters in the basement of the Vendome hotel. John J. Nolan will preside, and speakers will be Mayor Frank W Griese, William Elmendorf, John K Jennings and Newton Thrall.

The republican city campaign will be opened on October 15 at the Dreamland ballroom with A. V. Burch, candidate for mayor, the featured speaker. Other speakers will be George Heilman, candidate for city judge, and Nat H. Youngblood, candidate for prosecutor. William H. Dress, democratic candidate for mayor, opened his campaign in the same hall last Monday night.

NEGRO TO SPEAK

Philip C. Gould, chairman of the republican speakers committee, announced that Roscoe Conklin Simmons, Chicago negro, would speak at the Agoga tabernacle the night of October 29.

A regular vaudeville entertainment has been prepared for the meeting tomorrow night of the Roosevelt Democratic club at 15 Main street, President Elmo McCollum announced. Geraldine Payne is on the program for an acrobatic dance; Edna Belle Withers, a tap dance; Mrs. Emma Jansen, piano selections, Misses Lois Stark and Martha Stroebel, tumbling act and a negro quartet with vocal numbers. The public is invited.

Democratic and republican political meetings scheduled for the coming week are:

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS

Monday, October 8—2:30 o'clock, home of Mrs. Frank Berendes, 213 Northwest Seventh street; 7:45 o'clock, democratic headquarters.

Tuesday, October 9—2:30 o'clock, home of Mrs. Remig Fehn, 123 East Iowa street; 7:45 o'clock, Campbell school.

Wednesday, October 10—2:30 o'clock, home of Mrs. Henry Zapp 616 South Fares avenue, and same time Democratic Women workers club, 15 Main street; 7:45 o'clock Coudret hall, St. Wendel.

Thursday, October 11—2:30 o'clock home of Mrs. Walter Bixby, 705 Linc street; 7:45 o'clock, Delaware schoo auditorium and Roosevelt-Garner League at Vendome hotel basement.

Friday, October 12—2:30 o'clock home of Mrs. Omer Chandler, Broadway in Howell; 7:45 o'clock, Scherer Hall, Bumb's old place in German township; Scott township at Hornville school, and precinct committeewomen at headquarters in the Vendome hotel basement.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS

Monday, October 8—7:30 o'clock, No. 8 school, German township, Charles Werner, Henry Kamman and Edgar Durre speaking; Burch-for Mayor club, Seventh and Main streets, Herbert Males, Bernard Frick, James Jordan, Paul Ashby speaking; Vanderburgh County Women's Republican club, McCurdy hotel, Charles Werner speaking.

Tuesday, October 9—7:30 o'clock, Highland school in Center township, Nat H. Youngblood and Edgar Durre speaking.

Wednesday, October 10—7:30 o'clock, Kamp school in Union township, Matt Hallenberger, John Rawlings and Edgar Durre speaking; Hebron school, Knight township, Glenn Funk and Harold J. Hendrickson speaking.

Thursday, October 11—7:30 o'clock, Kissel hall, Hornville, Armstrong township, Charles Werner and French Clements speaking.

Friday, October 12—7:30 o'clock Inglefield community house, Arthur Stone, Robert N. Tracewell and Emanuel Baugh speaking.

Tribune
TERRE HAUTE
INDIANA
OCT 5 1934

URGES NEGRO VOTERS TO STAY WITH REPUBLICANS

The progress of the negro race was traced by Col. Roscoe Simmons, colored orator and newspaper man from Chicago, who spoke to an assembly of colored and white voters at a republican rally at the Indiana State Teachers college gymnasium Thursday evening.

Preceding Simmons' talk a piano solo was given by Miss Virginia Fleming and a vocal solo by Bernice Bishop. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Shannon, pastor of the Allen chapel.

In introducing the speaker Dr. Shannon spoke of benefits that the republican party had given to the negro race and declared it could not afford to forget those benefits at this time. He outlined the three amendments which gave the negroes freedom and the rights of citizens and made a plea that they remain true to the republican party which he claimed gave them these rights.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS
OCT 12 1934

Congressman De Priest Urges Seger's Election

Negro Representative Says Any Colored Person Who Votes Democratic Ticket Is Madman

Congressman Oscar DePriest, representative of the First Congressional District of Illinois and the only Negro ever to hold a seat in Congress, had his audience in Memorial School on its feet most of the time during his address in behalf of Republican candidates last night.

It was a Negro audience he addressed, with a sprinkling of whites. Those who heard Congressman DePriest said his talk was the high-light of the present campaign.

His son, Oscar DePriest, Jr., also spoke. While the father is a knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out fighter, the son is a polished orator, but with the same power to impress and hold his audience's attention.

Both were proud to be Negroes and talked to the audience as one Negro to another. The Congressman's mother was a slave in the South before Lincoln's Proclamation of Emancipation.

Congressman DePriest invited heckling when he asked if a Negro Democrat were in the auditorium. One spoke up, whereafter Congressman DePriest made him the "stooge" for his remarks against the Democrat-controlled South.

He said the Negro in the South was still under the heels of the masters of old, was still refused the right of franchise, was not given fair and just trials, and that Negro children still received but three months teaching a year.

His main reason for coming to Passaic, Congressman DePriest said, was to aid the cause of Congressman George N. Seger, who is seeking re-election. He said Congressman Seger has been one of his staunchest supporters in the cause of the Negro race, and twice signed petitions that forced out of Democrat-controlled committees measures that the Southern Democrats had hoped to smother.

"I want to pay my respects to Congressman Seger," Congressman DePriest said. "He is always right when rights of the Negro are involved."

"The Democrats were never on the square with you and never will be," he told the Democrat.

Vice-President John M. Garner, when Speaker, did his utmost to prevent a bill appropriating funds for a Negro college from coming out of committee, Congressman DePriest charged. After the petition to bring the bill out of committee had been signed by Congressman Seger and other Congressmen, he was able to have the bill passed, said Congressman DePriest.

"Congressman Seger was one of the men who helped me to do this and that's why I am here to help him. I need his help and that's why I am asking you to send back men into Congress who will help me," he said.

"Send back Senator Hamilton F. Kean, too," Congressman DePriest continued. "Whether you like him or not, he votes with the Regular Republicans and I need his vote."

Regarding Negro Democrats, Congressman DePriest said:

"A Negro Democrat is bearing his own race down."

"My Negro brethren," Congressman DePriest continued, "we haven't many friends left in Congress. That's why you've got to send your Congressman back.

"Any Negro who votes a Democratic ticket should immediately be sent to an insane asylum. A Negro Democrat, should not be permitted in your homes; he should be tossed out of your fraternal organizations and he should be scorned upon the streets.

Immediately after Congressman DePriest concluded his speech, he left for Chicago, to speak in his own behalf. He is also seeking re-election.

The two DePriests were welcomed by Ernest H. Dickson, Negro, chairman of the meeting; and by the Rev. C. L. Leath, Negro; Edward C. Vanneman, chairman of the Passaic Republican Committee; Dr. A. K. Andrews, Negro, and James H. Penn, Negro lawyer.

Isaac H. Nutter, of Atlantic City, chairman of the State Republican Colored Committee, flayed Governor A. Harry Moore for not keeping pledges he made to the colored people of the State.

Louis Wallisch, head of the Union Republican Club, introduced Congressman Seger, who said:

"No one knows the story of the colored race and the treatment accorded it in the National Legislature better than Congressman DePriest who is regarded as an able and courageous Congressman. I have heard him in the thick of debate and I believe in giving him all the credit that is due him. By perseverance and hard work he has attained national prominence and you should be very proud of him.

"I join the Congressman each year in our hard fight to obtain appropriations for Howard University, that fine school in Washington where so many of the colored people are receiving higher education. We know it's an annual fight.

"There are phases of the New Deal program that have helped us all, there are some which have not—notably the price fixing and destruction of crop and cattle experiments. Prices are going to be way up out of sight this Winter. I propose to support every constructive relief measure—we must not let any of our people become impoverished or suffer for the lack of food, clothing, and medicines. But at the same time we must watch the reckless spending of public funds which will cause a tax burden we and our children can never bear. Congressman DePriest knows I am not a rubber-stamp Congressman and I propose to continue in just that way. I shall support constructive measures to pension our aged and extend unemployment insurance but I shall oppose further tinkering with our currency and the plan to dump the protective tariff which has meant so much to the upbuilding of our American industries and workers threatened by an influx of cheaply made foreign goods."

Alfonse J. DeRose, of Clifton, Republican Assembly candidate, spoke. County Clerk Lloyd B. Marsh, who is seeking re-election, was present but did not speak.

HERALD
Lawrence, N. Y.
NOV 17 1934

NEGRO G. O. P. TO PICK LEADERS

Enrolled Republican Voters In 4 Inwood Districts To Ballot Dec. 4

Enrolled negro Republican voters in four Inwood election districts will vote on Tuesday, Dec. 4, for leaders in their respective districts.

The poll is being sponsored by Thomas S. Alderson, who said today that the election is being held in order to further harmony among the negro G. O. P. element. "This election," Alderson asserted, "will provide a leader in each district who will be responsible for the welfare of the Republicans and will give the enrolled voters a champion of their rights, someone to guide their policies."

The districts involved are the 131st, the 62nd, the 56th and the 148th, in all of which the negro vote is large. Alderson said he planned to have the ballots delivered to the enrolled voters by party workers, who will check each ballot to prevent stuffing of ballot boxes. It is planned to have the votes tallied in the chambers of Justice of the Peace Leslie J. Ekenberg in Lawrence. Alderson said he will invite Supervisor J. Russel Sprague of Lawrence, Under-sheriff Charles Smith of Inwood and Mervin S. Doughty of Inwood to count the votes.

ers, a tap dance; Mrs. Emma Jansen, piano selections, Misses Lois Stark and Martha Stroebel, tumbling act and a negro quartet with vocal numbers. The public is invited.

Democratic and republican political meetings scheduled for the coming week are:

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS

Monday, October 8—2:30 o'clock, home of Mrs. Frank Berendes, 213 Northwest Seventh street; 7:45 o'clock, democratic headquarters.

Tuesday, October 9—2:30 o'clock, home of Mrs. Remig Fehn, 123 East Iowa street; 7:45 o'clock, Campbell school.

Wednesday, October 10—2:30 o'clock, home of Mrs. Henry Zapp, 616 South Fares avenue, and same time Democratic Women workers club, 15 Main street; 7:45 o'clock Coudret hall, St. Wendel.

Thursday, October 11—2:30 o'clock home of Mrs. Walter Bixby, 705 Line street; 7:45 o'clock, Delaware school auditorium and Roosevelt-Garner League at Vendome hotel basement.

Friday, October 12—2:30 o'clock home of Mrs. Omer Chandler, Broadway in Howell; 7:45 o'clock, Scherer Hall, Bumb's old place in German township; Scott township at Hornville school, and precinct committeewomen at headquarters in the Vendome hotel basement.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS

Monday, October 8—7:30 o'clock, No. 8 school, German township, Charles Werner, Henry Kamman and Edgar Durre speaking; Burch-for Mayor club, Seventh and Main streets, Herbert Males, Bernard Frick, James Jordan, Paul Ashby speaking; Vanderburgh County Women's Republican club, McCurdy hotel, Charles Werner speaking.

Tuesday, October 9—7:30 o'clock, Highland school in Center township, Nat H. Youngblood and Edgar Durre speaking.

Wednesday, October 10—7:30 o'clock, Kamp school in Union township, Matt Hallenberger, John Rawlings and Edgar Durre speaking; Hebron school, Knight township, Glenn Funk and Harold J. Hendrickson speaking.

Thursday, October 11—7:30 o'clock, Kissel hall, Hornville, Armstrong township, Charles Werner and French Clements speaking.

Friday, October 12—7:30 o'clock Inglefield community house, Arthur Stone, Robert N. Tracewell and Emanuel Baugh speaking.

PASSAIC, N. J.
NEWS
OCT 12 1934

Congressman De Priest Urges Seger's Election

Negro Representative Says Any Colored Person Who Votes Democratic Ticket Is Madman

Congressman Oscar DePriest, representative of the First Congressional District of Illinois and the only Negro ever to hold a seat in Congress, had his audience in Memorial School on its feet most of the time during his address in behalf of Republican candidates last night.

It was a Negro audience he addressed, with a sprinkling of whites. Those who heard Congressman DePriest said his talk was the high-light of the present campaign.

His son, Oscar DePriest, Jr., also spoke. While the father is a knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out fighter, the son is a polished orator, but with the same power to impress and hold his audience's attention.

Both were proud to be Negroes and talked to the audience as one Negro to another. The Congressman's mother was a slave in the South before Lincoln's Proclamation of Emancipation.

Congressman DePriest invited heckling when he asked if a Negro Democrat were in the auditorium. One spoke up, thereafter Congressman DePriest made him the "stooge" for his remarks against the Democrat-controlled South.

He said the Negro in the South was still under the heels of the masters of old, was still refused the right of franchise, was not given fair and just trials, and that Negro children still received but three months teaching a year.

His main reason for coming to Passaic, Congressman DePriest said was to aid the cause of Congressman George N. Seger, who is seeking re-election. He said Congressman Seger has been one of his staunchest supporters in the cause of the Negro race, and twice signed petitions that forced out of Democrat-controlled committees measures that the Southern Democrats had hoped to smother.

"I want to pay my respects to Congressman Seger," Congressman DePriest said. "He is always right when rights of the Negro are involved."

"The Democrats were never on the square with you and never will be," he told the Democrat.

Vice-President John M. Garner, when Speaker, did his utmost to prevent a bill appropriating funds for a Negro college from coming out of committee, Congressman DePriest charged. After the petition to bring the bill out of committee had been signed by Congressman Seger and other Congressmen, he was able to have the bill passed, said Congressman DePriest.

"Congressman Seger was one of the men who helped me to do this and that's why I am here to help him. I need his help and that's why I am asking you to send back men into Congress who will help me," he said.

"Send back Senator Hamilton F. Kean, too," Congressman DePriest continued. "Whether you like him or not, he votes with the Regular Republicans and I need his vote."

Regarding Negro Democrats, Congressman DePriest said:

"A Negro Democrat is bearing his own race down."

"My Negro brethren," Congressman DePriest continued, "we haven't many friends left in Congress. That's why you've got to send your Congressman back.

"Any Negro who votes a Democratic ticket should immediately be sent to an insane asylum. A Negro Democrat, should not be permitted in your homes; he should be tossed out of your fraternal organizations and he should be scorned upon the streets.

Immediately after Congressman DePriest concluded his speech, he left for Chicago, to speak in his own behalf. He is also seeking re-election.

The two DePriests were welcomed by Ernest H. Dickson, Negro, chairman of the meeting; and by the Rev. C. L. Leath, Negro; Edward C. Vanneman, chairman of the Passaic Republican Committee; Dr. A. K. Andrews, Negro, and James H. Penn, Negro lawyer.

Isaac H. Nutter, of Atlantic City, chairman of the State Republican Colored Committee, flayed Governor A. Harry Moore for not keeping pledges he made to the colored people of the State.

Louis Wallisch, head of the Union Republican Club, introduced Congressman Seger, who said:

"No one knows the story of the colored race and the treatment accorded it in the National Legislature better than Congressman DePriest who is regarded as an able and courageous Congressman. I have heard him in the thick of debate and I believe in giving him all the credit that is due him. By perseverance and hard work he has attained national prominence and you should be very proud of him.

"I join the Congressman each year in our hard fight to obtain appropriations for Howard University, that fine school in Washington where so many of the colored people are receiving higher education. We know it's an annual fight.

"There are phases of the New Deal program that have helped us all, there are some which have not—notably the price fixing and destruction of crop and cattle experiments. Prices are going to be way up out of sight this Winter. I propose to support every constructive relief measure—we must not let any of our people become impoverished or suffer for the lack of food, clothing, and medicines. But at the same time we must watch the reckless spending of pubilc funds which will cause a tax burden we and our children can never bear. Congressman DePriest knows I am not a rubber-stamp Congressman and I propose to continue in just that way. I shall support constructive measures to pension our aged and extend unemployment insurance but I shall oppose further tinkering with our currency and the plan to dump the protective tariff which has meant so much to the upbuilding of our American industries and workers threatened by an influx of cheaply made foreign goods."

Alfonse J. DeRose, of Clifton, Republican Assembly candidate, spoke. County Clerk Lloyd B. Marsh, who is seeking re-election, was present but did not speak.

Tribune
TERRE HAUTE
INDIANA
OCT 5 1934

URGES NEGRO VOTERS TO STAY WITH REPUBLICANS

The progress of the negro race was traced by Col. Roscoe Simmons, colored orator and newspaper man from Chicago, who spoke to an assembly of colored and white voters at a republican rally at the Indiana State Teachers college gymnasium Thursday evening.

Preceding Simmons' talk a piano solo was given by Miss Virginia Fleming and a vocal solo by Bernice Bishop. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Shannon, pastor of the Allen chapel.

In introducing the speaker Dr. Shannon spoke of benefits that the republican party had given to the negro race and declared it could not afford to forget those benefits at this time. He outlined the three amendments which gave the negroes freedom and the rights of citizens and made a plea that they remain true to the republican party which he claimed gave them these rights.

HERALD
Lawrence, N.Y.
NOV 27 1934

NEGRO G. O. P. TO PICK LEADERS

Enrolled Republican Voters In 4 Inwood Districts To Ballot Dec. 4

Enrolled negro Republican voters in four Inwood election districts will vote on Tuesday, Dec. 4, for leaders in their respective districts.

The poll is being sponsored by Thomas S. Alderson, who said today that the election is being held in order to further harmony among the negro G. O. P. element. "This election," Alderson asserted, "will provide a leader in each district who will be responsible for the welfare of the Republicans and will give the enrolled voters a champion of their rights, someone to guide their policies."

The districts involved are the 131st, the 62nd, the 56th and the 148th, in all of which the negro vote is large. Alderson said he planned to have the ballots delivered to the enrolled voters by party workers, who will check each ballot to prevent stuffing of ballot boxes. It is planned to have the votes tallied in the chambers of Justice of the Peace Leslie J. Ekenberg in Lawrence. Alderson said he will invite Supervisor J. Russel Sprague of Lawrence, Under-sheriff Charles Smith of Inwood and Mervin S. Doughty of Inwood to count the votes.

Political- 1934

Party Affiliation

Republican.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
NEWS

FEB 13 1934

NEGRO REPUBLICANS OBSERVE LINCOLN DAY

The 125th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth was celebrated by the Colored Republican Club of Springfield at a banquet held last night at the Worthy hotel, with many prominent men of the party in attendance, including Mayor Martens, Aldermanic President Philip V. Erard, Assistant City Solicitor Samuel L. Fein, City Prosecutor Philip Caporale, John D. Shuart and Charles R. Clason.

The principal speaker of the occasion was Atty Matthew W. Bullock of Boston, a member of the state board of parole. Mr Bullock told the large gathering that the Negro was bound to make progress, and said that long before the Negro was brought here as a slave, he had come to these shores with early explorers.

Another speaker of the evening was Atty William H. Martin, local Negro lawyer, who talked on "Rejected stones." Atty Martin deplored race discrinmation and said the Negro problem "is not a Negrom problem at all," but a white man's problem.

Among other speakers were Rev S. L. Dupree, Alex Hughes, Miss Julia Buxton and Rev Roland Heacock. The toastmaster was Benjamin Peters. Musical entertainment was given by the Jubilee singers.

Delegatino To Fort Scott, Kans

Plaindealer

Kansas City, Kansas

Fort Scott, Kansas, March 16.—Claude Jones, assistant county attorney of Wyandotte county, was the guest of honor at a G. O. P. dance gven in this city by the Young Republican Club of Bourbon county at the Redmon's hall on March 10. Attorney Jones, long a resident of Wyandotte county and a faithful worker in Republican ranks, headed a delegation from Kansas City, bringing with him attorneys M. C. Stevens, J. D. Thompson, W. Z. Woods, and Mr. Henry Monday, president of the Wyandotte County Young Republican Club. 3-16-34

The dance was attended by 115 persons, who eagerly listened to the brief, interesting and pointed remarks of Mr. Jones, who urged support of the Republican party and stressed loyalty to the local Republican club. "The Republican party has always afforded our race outstanding recognition," said Attorney Jones, and "The Republicans have proved themselves our friends many times over, and I urge you to give your support to our Republican friends in the coming elections." A hearty acclamation was accorded the speaker when he closed his remarks, and much enthusiasm, interest and optimism were in evidence.

All five visitors are well known in Kansas City, Kansas, where Jones, Thompson, Woods and Stevens are practicing law. Monday, a young business man, is widely known in Kansas City political circles.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

MAR 13 1934

Negro Republicans Hear Talks By Candidates

Frank "Hoke" Lock, candidate for sheriff, and Leo J. Scott, candidate for county judge, were the principal speakers last night at a meeting of Negro Republican voters in their headquarters at Twelfth and Madison streets. More than one hundred voters were present. Henry Stephens presided as chairman of the meeting and in addition to Lock and Scott, a short talk was made by Frank Campo. Lock, in his address, said that he was against family monopoly of public pay rolls and a select few being kept on the pay roll for their entire lives. He said he was an independent candidate and was against faction controlled politics.

NEWARK, N. J.
EVENING NEWS

MAR 19 1934

The Essex County Colored Republican Association, Inc., will meet tomorrow at 8:30 P. M. in Rutgers Hall, Rutgers and West Market streets, to select a candidate for Assemblyman to represent Negroes of the county.

The Leopard Changes His Spots

To those who attended the Republican State Convention this year it was quite evident that Negroes are losing interest in the G. O. P. Prominent leaders, from all sections of the state, who are always on hand at every state parley, were noticeable by their absence. The usual apathy of white Republicans regarding the Negro contingent was expressed this year more than ever by the utter elimination of Negroes from the comittees. This indifference was also shown in the county convention held here several weeks ago when Negro delegates failed to reach the committee room. Black Dispatch

The reason for this growing Negro indifference is obvious and apparent. Republicans in this state, and in most southern states, were aptly described by A. G. W. Sango, in the Republican convention Monday. They are in the party for revenue only. The interest of the Negro and the success of the party is a matter of minor importance with those in control. 3-30-34

You see, it is a nice thing to have a state Republican organization hanging around waiting for a Republican year, when a Republican president can appoint collectors of internal revenue, postmasters, U. S. marshals, judges, and a hundred other fine positions for the faithful. It does not matter to such a crowd whether state elections are won or not, it's just a question of being in the front line when the federal pie is cut. Oklahoma City, Okla.

This writer several years ago suggested to a certain U. S. senator that it would be a fine thing to allow some of the Negroes in Oklahoma to eat a little of this pie. We suggested that since the Democrats had certain state patronage, it would be a fine idea to appoint Negroes to federal positions over which Republicans had charge. We knew that all necessary to accomplish such an end would be for this senator to tell the men whom he had named to federal posts that he desired such policy to be established.

Some day we may print for the edification of our readers the letter we received from this senator. It was filled with the thought that "the time is not ripe for what you propose" and other similar material. You know as well as I know that Republicans in Oklahoma have never made a gesture in such direction.

There is no reason why in Oklahoma City there should not be Negroes carrying the mail. There should be two or three Negroes in the internal revenue, the U. S. marshal's office. In the federal building here and all over Oklahoma there are hundreds of Republicans employed in responsible positions where Negroes could serve with credit. In all instances Negroes have been ignored, while the organization Republicans stand around orating about Abraham Lincoln and Fort Sumpter.

On the other hand, Democrats in Oklahoma have been busy for two decades working out patronage programs for Negroes. The legislature recently authorized the building of a half million dollar insane asylum. In the patronage program at the Taft asylum there has been swallowed up one of the veteran Negro Republicans. The Boley Training school, Langston university, and the D. B. & O. institute have all furnished the Democrats of the state opportunities to proselyte Negroes. They have used the common school system for the same purpose.

There is no question but that the liberal attitude Democrats are assuming in Oklahoma towards Negroes has had its appeal. Disfranchisement as a policy in the state has been practically abandoned. Only in a few instances does it rear its ugly head. For the Negro to substitute state sanity for his former Republican emotionalism is wisdom of the first water. We have recommended and we repeat: the Negroes of Oklahoma should get on speaking terms with the party in control of this state. The Black Dispatch is pleased with the tremendous and obvious shift of the vote since this publication took its position of independence two years ago. The finest evidence of the leadership we offered was expressed in the absence of Negro Republicans in the state convention Monday.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation

Republican.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
NEWS

FEB 13 1934

NEGRO REPUBLICANS OBSERVE LINCOLN DAY

The 125th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth was celebrated by the Colored Republican Club of Springfield at a banquet held last night at the Worthy hotel, with many prominent men of the party in attendance, including Mayor Martens, Aldermanic President Philip V. Erard, Assistant City Solicitor Samuel L. Fein, City Prosecutor Philip Caporale, John D. Shuart and Charles R. Clason.

The principal speaker of the occasion was Atty Matthew W. Bullock of Boston, a member of the state board of parole. Mr Bullock told the large gathering that the Negro was bound to make progress, and said that long before the Negro was brought here as a slave, he had come to these shores with early explorers.

Another speaker of the evening was Atty William H. Martin, local Negro lawyer, who talked on "Rejected stones." Atty Martin deplored race discrinmation and said the Negro problem "is not a Negrom problem at all," but a white man's problem.

Among other speakers were Rev S. L. Dupree, Alex Hughes, Miss Julia Buxton and Rev Roland Heacock. The toastmaster was Benjamin Peters. Musical entertainment was given by the Jubilee singers.

Delegatino To Fort Scott, Kans

Plaindealer

Kansas City, Kans.

Fort Scott, Kansas, March 16.—Claude Jones, assistant county attorney of Wyandotte county, was the guest of honor at a G. O. P. dance gven in this city by the Young Republican Club of Bourbon county at the Redmon's hall on March 10. Attorney Jones, long a resident of Wyandotte county and a faithful worker in Republican ranks, headed a delegation from Kansas City, bringing with him attorneys M. C. Stevens, J. D. Thompson, W. Z. Woods, and Mr. Henry Monday, president of the Wyandotte County Young Republican Club.

3-16-34

The dance was attended by 115 persons, who eagerly listened to the brief, interesting and pointed remarks of Mr. Jones, who urged support of the Republican party and stressed loyalty to the local Republican club. "The Republican party has always afforded our race outstanding recognition," said Attorney Jones, and "The Republicans have proved themselves our friends many times over, and I urge you to give your support to our Republican friends in the coming elections." A hearty acclamation was accorded the speaker when he closed his remarks, and much enthusiasm, interest and optimism were in evidence.

All five visitors are well known in Kansas City, Kansas, where Jones, Thompson, Woods and Stevens are practicing law. Monday, a young business man, is widely known in Kansas City political circles.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
STATE JOURNAL

MAR 13 1934

Negro Republicans Hear Talks By Candidates

Frank "Hoke" Lock, candidate for sheriff, and Leo J. Scott, candidate for county judge, were the principal speakers last night at a meeting of Negro Republican voters in their headquarters at Twelfth and Madison streets. More than one hundred voters were present. Henry Stephens presided as chairman of the meeting and in addition to Lock and Scott, a short talk was made by Frank Campo. Lock, in his address, said that he was against family monopoly of public pay rolls and a select few being kept on the pay roll for their entire lives. He said he was an independent candidate and was against faction controlled politics.

NEWARK, N. J.
EVENING NEWS

MAR 19 1934

The Essex County Colored Republican Association, Inc., will meet tomorrow at 8:30 P. M. in Rutgers Hall, Rutgers and West Market streets, to select a candidate for Assemblyman to represent Negroes of the county.

The Leopard Changes His Spots

To those who attended the Republican State Convention this year it was quite evident that Negroes are losing interest in the G. O. P. Prominent leaders, from all sections of the state, who are always on hand at every state parley, were noticeable by their absence. The usual apathy of white Republicans regarding the Negro contingent was expressed this year more than ever by the utter elimination of Negroes from the comittees. This indifference was also shown in the county convention held here several weeks ago when Negro delegates failed to reach the committee room.

Black Dispatch

The reason for this growing Negro indifference is obvious and apparent. Republicans in this state, and in most southern states, were aptly described by A. G. W. Sango, in the Republican convention Monday. They are in the party for revenue only. The interest of the Negro and the success of the party is a matter of minor importance with those in control.

3-30-34

You see, it is a nice thing to have a state Republican organization hanging around waiting for a Republican year, when a Republican president can appoint collectors of internal revenue, postmasters, U. S. marshals, judges, and a hundred other fine positions for the faithful. It does not matter to such a crowd whether state elections are won or not, it's just a question of being in the front line when the federal pie is cut.

Oklahoma City, Okla.

This writer several years ago suggested to a certain U. S. senator that it would be a fine thing to allow some of the Negroes in Oklahoma to eat a little of this pie. We suggested that since the Democrats had certain state patronage, it would be a fine idea to appoint Negroes to federal positions over which Republicans had charge. We knew that all necessary to accomplish such an end would be for this senator to tell the men whom he had named to federal posts that he desired such policy to be established.

Some day we may print for the edification of our readers the letter we received from this senator. It was filled with the thought that "the time is not ripe for what you propose" and other similar material. You know as well as I know that Republicans in Oklahoma have never made a gesture in such direction.

There is no reason why in Oklahoma City there should not be Negroes carrying the mail. There should be two or three Negroes in the internal revenue, the U. S. marshal's office. In the federal building here and all over Oklahoma there are hundreds of Republicans employed in responsible positions where Negroes could serve with credit. In all instances Negroes have been ignored, while the organization Republicans stand around orating about Abraham Lincoln and Fort Sumpter.

On the other hand, Democrats in Oklahoma have been busy for two decades working out patronage programs for Negroes. The legislature recently authorized the building of a half million dollar insane asylum. In the patronage program at the Taft asylum there has been swallowed up one of the veteran Negro Republicans. The Boley Training school, Langston university, and the D. B. & O. institute have all furnished the Democrats of the state opportunities to proselyte Negroes. They have used the common school system for the same purpose.

There is no question but that the liberal attitude Democrats are assuming in Oklahoma towards Negroes has had its appeal. Disfranchisement as a policy in the state has been practically abandoned. Only in a few instances does it rear its ugly head. For the Negro to substitute state sanity for his former Republican emotionalism is wisdom of the first water. We have recommended and we repeat: the Negroes of Oklahoma should get on speaking terms with the party in control of this state. The Black Dispatch is pleased with the tremendous and obvious shift of the vote since this publication took its position of independence two years ago. The finest evidence of the leadership we offered was expressed in the absence of Negro Republicans in the state convention Monday.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
MORNING UNION

FEB 13 1934

PART OF COLORED CLUB HEAD TABLE

[Springfield Union Photo.

LEFT to right: John D. Shuart, aspirant for Republican congressional nomination; Rev. Silas L. Dupree; Julia B. Buxton, state Republican committeewoman; Atty. Charles R. Clason, aspirant for Republican congressional nomination; Mrs. Moses Heiman, vice-chairman Ward 1 committee; Benjamin A. Peters, president Colored Republican Club and toastmaster.

PREDICTS NEGRO WILL EVENTUALLY REDEEM AFRICA

Colored Republican Club's Speaker Avers Race Will Return to Its Native Land.

The eventual redemption of Africa by the Negro as his own land was predicted last night by Atty. Matthew W. Bullock of Boston, a member of the State Board of Parole, as the Colored Republican Club of Springfield met in Hotel Worthy to commemorate the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Guests of honor were Republican leaders of the city and district, including John D. Shuart nad Atty. Charles R. Clason, aspirants for the Republican nomination for congressman; Julia B. Buxton, state committeeman; Mayor Henry Martens; Philip V. Erard, president of the Board of Aldermen; Philip Caporale, city prosecutor; Samuel L. Fein and Daniel Ingve, assistant city solicitors and aldermen and councilmen.

Atty. Bullock, whose parents had been slaves, said, "We will remain in this country because we have helped to make it. No single group of white men has given as much blood, tears and labor as the Negro to this Nation."

"Did it ever occur to you?" he asked, "that the time will come when we shall compete with the white man whose heel has been so "long upon our necks? Lynching is a manifestation of the fear the white man has that we shall some day dispute his domination.

Atty. William H. Martin, eulogizing Lincoln in a treatise, "The Rejected Stone," said that justice, which had been selected as the cornerstone of the American republic by its founders had become the rejected stone because the white man's idea of justice did not include the Negro. "Lincoln," he said, "broke the chains of slavery, but they are not yet off." "Is a man of that caliber (Gov. Rolph's of California) worthy of the high office he holds," he asked referring to Rolph's approval of lynching.

Welcome was given by Rev. Silas L. Dupree. Mr. Shuart predicted the return of Massachusetts to the Republican fold; Miss Buxton was introduced; City Prosecutor Caporale decried class prejudice, against which he said, the most effective weapon is a solid organization. Atty. Clason asked the return of Coolidge prosperity and the Republican party; Atty. Fein lauded Mayor Martens' recognition of racial groups.

Benjamin A. Peters, president of the club, was toastmaster. Also at the head table were Alexander Hughes Negro leader; Mrs. Moses Heiman vice-chairman of Ward 1; and Mrs William H. Martin. The Jubilee Singers entertained with spirituals About 250 attended. The banquet was followed by dancing.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT

APR 1 1934

To Address Colored Republican Assn.

JUDGE FRANCIS A. PALLOTTI.

Prominent Republicans will be the guests of honor at the third annual anniversary celebration of the Colored Republican State Association at its headquarters, 2064 Main Street, Wednesday evening. Judge Francis A. Pallotti, Joseph B. Griffin, Attorney Emanuel Goldstein and Attorney Samuel H. Friedman will be the speakers. The association was organized three years ago. R. R. Burt is president of the association, the others officers being D. I. Fletcher, vice-president; L. O. Cushine, secretary; F. McWillie, assistant secretary, and B. F. Parker, treasurer. Charles C. Curtis and Dr. Allen F. Jackson are members of the executive committee.

Members of the reception committee for Wednesday's celebration are Sidney M. Johnson, Henry Williams, Thomas Johnson, D. McWillie and Robert Wells.

BLACKWELL, OKLA.
TRIBUNE

APR 5 1934

EQUALITY

Chicago Republicans sent a negro to congress a few years ago, not because they wanted a negro in congress but because they wanted to hold Chicago's colored vote. That negro with a French name—De Priest—is still in congress. Maybe he has done some other things, but so far as the public in general has heard his activities have been limited to attempts to demonstrate that he is the social equal of any white man that ever went to congress and to urging those of his race to claim for themselves that same equality.

DePriest probably has read in the Declaration of Independence that "all men are created free and equal," and accepted it as gospel, overlooking the fact that many of those who attached their signatures to that declaration didn't believe it themselves. How could they believe that "all men are created free and equal" when they were owning and buying and selling men and women of De Priest's race as they owned and bought and sold cattle?

All men equal? There has been no such thing as equality since there were as many as two men in world. Equal before God, yes. Equal in the inherent right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," yes, equal before the law, theoretically yes, but "created equal?" Never. There is an eternal difference, has been from the beginning of the human race and will continue to be while the human race exists.

We Americans are given to boast that their is no "aristocracy" in this country. In a sense that is true, but in another sense the boast falls down. We have no royal families, we have no orders of nobility, and every man is a "gentleman" and every woman a "lady" so long as they conduct themselves as such, but we have an aristocracy, for all that. We patriotically declare that in this country there is no such thing as "upper class" and "lower class," but we have an upper class and a lower class, for all that, and we couldn't get rid of them if we tried, any more than we could get rid of our "aristocracy."

What is our upper class? It is the upper class of intellect. What is our aristocracy? It is the aristocracy of brains. We have seen persons—adult persons—who had never walked a step or uttered an intelligible sound in their lives. Nothing the matter with their muscles and bones, nothing wrong with their vocal organs; they simply didn't have intelligence enough to either walk or speak. We maybe have never seen many "giants of intellect," but we have seen many who stood high in the scale. "Equality?" There is no such things as human equality. Men are not created that way. God has created untold numbers of human beings, but only occasionally a Moses or an Isaiah, only occasionally a Homer or a Milton or a Shakespeare, only occasionally a Washington or a Lincoln or a Gladstone and just once in a while a Newton or an Einstein. They were not all men equal? They were created that way, and no exertions on their own part can make them that way.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
MORNING UNION

FEB 13 1934

PART OF COLORED CLUB HEAD TABLE

[Springfield Union Photo.

LEFT to right: John D. Shuart, aspirant for Republican congressional nomination; Rev. Silas L. Dupree; Julia B. Buxton, state Republican committeewoman; Atty. Charles R. Clason, aspirant for Republican congressional nomination; Mrs. Moses Heiman, vice-chairman Ward 1 committee; Benjamin A. Peters, president Colored Republican Club and toastmaster.

PREDICTS NEGRO WILL EVENTUALLY REDEEM AFRICA

Colored Republican Club's Speaker Avers Race Will Return to Its Native Land.

The eventual redemption of Africa by the Negro as his own land was predicted last night by Atty. Matthew W. Bullock of Boston, a member of the State Board of Parole, as the Colored Republican Club of Springfield met in Hotel Worthy to commemorate the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Guests of honor were Republican leaders of the city and district, including John D. Shuart nad Atty. Charles R. Clason, aspirants for the Republican nomination for congressman; Julia B. Buxton, state committeeman; Mayor Henry Martens; Philip V. Erard, president of the Board of Aldermen; Philip Caporale, city prosecutor; Samuel L. Fein and Daniel Ingve, assistant city solicitors and aldermen and councilmen.

Atty. Bullock, whose parents had been slaves, said, "We will remain in this country because we have helped to make it. No single group of white men has given as much blood, tears and labor as the Negro to this Nation."

"Did it ever occur to you?" he asked, "that the time will come when we shall compete with the white man whose heel has been so "long upon our necks? Lynching is a manifestation of the fear the white man has that we shall some day dispute his domination.

Atty. William H. Martin, eulogizing Lincoln in a treatise, "The Rejected Stone," said that justice, which had been selected as the cornerstone of the American republic by its founders had become the rejected stone because the white man's idea of justice did not include the Negro. "Lincoln," he said, "broke the chains of slavery, but they are not yet off." "Is a man of that caliber (Gov. Rolph's of California) worthy of the high office he holds," he asked referring to Rolph's approval of lynching.

Welcome was given by Rev. Silas L. Dupree. Mr. Shuart predicted the return of Massachusetts to the Republican fold; Miss Buxton was introduced; City Prosecutor Caporale decried class prejudice, against which he said, the most effective weapon is a solid organization. Atty. Clason asked the return of Coolidge prosperity and the Republican party; Atty. Fein lauded Mayor Martens' recognition of racial groups.

Benjamin A. Peters, president of the club, was toastmaster. Also at the head table were Alexander Hughes Negro leader; Mrs. Moses Heiman vice-chairman of Ward 1; and Mrs William H. Martin. The Jubilee Singers entertained with spirituals About 250 attended. The banquet was followed by dancing.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT

APR 1 1934

To Address Colored Republican Assn.

JUDGE FRANCIS A. PALLOTTI.

Prominent Republicans will be the guests of honor at the third annual anniversary celebration of the Colored Republican State Association at its headquarters, 2064 Main Street, Wednesday evening. Judge Francis A. Pallotti, Joseph B. Griffin, Attorney Emanuel Goldstein and Attorney Samuel H. Friedman will be the speakers. The association was organized three years ago. R. R. Burt is president of the association, the others officers being D. I. Fletcher, vice-president; L. O. Cushine, secretary; F. McWillie, assistant secretary, and B. F. Parker, treasurer. Charles C. Curtis and Dr. Allen F. Jackson are members of the executive committee.

Members of the reception committee for Wednesday's celebration are Sidney M. Johnson, Henry Williams, Thomas Johnson, D. McWillie and Robert Wells.

BLACKWELL, OKLA.
TRIBUNE

APR 5 1934

EQUALITY

Chicago Republicans sent a negro to congress a few years ago, not because they wanted a negro in congress but because they wanted to hold Chicago's colored vote. That negro with a French name—De Priest—is still in congress. Maybe he has done some other things, but so far as the public in general has heard his activities have been limited to attempts to demonstrate that he is the social equal of any white man that ever went to congress and to urging those of his race to claim for themselves that same equality.

DePriest probably has read in the Declaration of Independence that "all men are created free and equal," and accepted it as gospel, overlooking the fact that many of those who attached their signatures to that declaration didn't believe it, themselves. How could they believe that "all men are created free and equal" when they were owning and buying and selling men and women of De Priest's race as they owned and bought and sold cattle?

All men equal? There has been no such thing as equality since there were as many as two men in world. Equal before God, yes, equal in the inherent right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," yes, equal before the law, theoretically yes, but "created equal?" Never. There is an eternal difference, has been from the beginning of the human race and will continue to be while the human race exists.

We Americans are given to boast that their is no "aristocracy" in this country. In a sense that is true, but in another sense the boast falls down. We have no royal families, we have no orders of nobility, and every man is a "gentleman" and every woman a "lady" so long as they conduct themselves as such, but we have an aristocracy, for all that. We patriotically declare that in this country there is no such thing as "upper class" and "lower class," but we have an upper class and a lower class, for all that, and we couldn't get rid of them if we tried, any more than we could get rid of our "aristocracy."

What is our upper class? It is the upper class of intellect. What is our aristocracy? It is the aristocracy of brains. We have seen persons—adult persons—who had never walked a step or uttered an intelligible sound in their lives. Nothing the matter with their muscles and bones, nothing wrong with their vocal organs; they simply didn't have intelligence enough to either walk or speak. We maybe have never seen many "giants of intellect," but we have seen many who stood high in the scale. "Equality?" There is no such things as human equality. Men are not created that way. God has created untold numbers of human beings, but only occasionally a Moses or an Isaiah, or occasionally a Homer or a Shakespeare, only occasionally a Washington or a Lincoln or a Gladstone and just once in a while a Newton or an Einstein.

All men equal? They were not only occasionally created that way, and no exertions of human beings can make them Milton or a Shakespeare, only occasionally a Washington or a Lincoln or a Gladstone and just once in a while a Newton or an Einstein.

Political- 1934
Party Affiliation.

Republican.

CONGRATULATIONS, MR. LANE

WE are on the eve of the Primaries, the time at which the party candidates that are to carry the standards into the November election are to be selected by the people. We have watched the developments of the campaigns waged by various candidates with a good deal of interest. But the candidacy of no single person has offered us more genuine pleasure than that of David E. Lane in Ward 12, who is running for the House of Representatives on the Republican ticket.

The first attractive feature about this young man is the fact that he is thoroughly prepared to give the type of service that we sorely need at this time in our government. Coming to Boston a number of years ago with a burning zeal for an education, he entered Northeastern University. Like most of our students he had neither wealthy parents or private means adequate to sustain such a venture, and thus he selected the most grueling alternative, an education by night after a long day's work. His determination was rewarded by the receipt of his Bachelor of Commercial Science degree. Not content to rest at this point and anxious to have the best possible equipment, he entered Boston University, from which institution he received his degree of Master in Business Administration.

At the completion of this splendid education he entered the employ of Spencer Trask Investment Brokers, where he worked himself to the position of one of its most trusted employees. In these years of steady growth this young man has exemplified the type of active citizen that any community might be proud of, not only by affiliating himself with public-spirited movements, but by long and persistent work with our church institutions. In other words, he is not only a gentleman of fine repute that merits any honor the citizens might confer upon him, but he has indicated his positive confidence in the Family Unit as the basis of all community progress by himself marrying and sustaining a happy family of four.

The Citizens' Committee of Ward 12 recognized the value of the above accomplishments in their endorsement of David E. Lane as their candidate. So sincerely have they believed in this man that their intense work to date has placed ultimate victory within their grasp. They have scoured every nook and corner in their efforts to line up every available vote. The victory now depends upon every man and woman of the group in Ward 12 registering their vote for this young man on next Thursday, Sept. 20.

We heartily endorse Mr. Lane, and deem it a real honor to do so. Further, we implore every man and woman to rally to the cause on the 20th, being ever mindful that every vote is the IMPORTANT VOTE.

HARTFORD, CONN.
TIMES

SEP 1 1934

COLORED REPUBLICANS WILL MEET ON MONDAY

The Colored Republican Voters league will meet Monday evening at the North End Community center No. 2078 Main street. A publicity committee will be appointed and the advisability of forming a permanent organization of all colored republican leaders will be discussed.

HARTFORD, CONN.
COURANT

SEP 2 1934

Republican Group to Meet.

The Colored Republican Voters' League will meet Monday at 8 p. m. at the North End Community Center, 2078 Main Street. A publicity committee will be appointed and the advisability of forming a permanent organization of all Negro Republican leaders, with their executive committees, will be discussed. All Negro Republicans are invited.

DECATUR, ILL.
HERALD

AUG 29 1934

G. O. P. CLUB TO MEET

Young Negro Republican club will meet Thursday in the home of G. W. Coleman, 559 North Jackson street, to plan its fall campaign. The program and membership committees will make their final reports. Charles E. Phillips of Springfield will make a short talk. All officers and members are asked to be present.

GOP MOVES TO REGAIN POWER

Enthusiasm Runs High in Ward Twelve Contest

David E. Lane

(By Special Correspondent)

Not since the days of the old West End has the enthusiasm among Negro voters run so high for one of their candidates as it is running in the House fight nomination in Ward 12. Getting off to a rather slow and cautious start the campaign committee for the candidacy of David E. Lane has gradually whipped the voters into a flame of enthusiasm that is seldom seen these days for any electoral office.

Mr. Lane with his typical business astuteness has not only conceived and developed one of the best functioning campaign machines, but he has also manifested an unusual ability to dicker with other factions of the party and secure their support.

In the latter respect there is a good deal that is strikingly analagous to the days when the Negro and the Yankee in another section of the city pooled their political strength and offered to the legislature the finest type of representation that the annals of the Commonwealth reveal. At that time there was no question of race involved but the keynote was ability and the fact that the community came first and all other things second. These were the days when one of Boston's most distinguished citizens, William L. Reed, sat in the House of Representatives.

Within the past few days it has been announced that the Yankee faction of Ward 12 under the guidance of the Meins brothers, two of the most powerful politicians in Republican ranks, have indicated their willingness to support the candidacy of Mr. Lane, and urge their constituency to do the same. This strategic move on the part of Mr. Lane completely changes the complexion of the House fight in the Primaries on Thursday and moves the possibility of his victory up to the very gates. The news of this development has swept the community like wild fire, and seemingly had the same tremendous effect upon the voters that the Maine victory of the Democrats is reputed to have had on the attitude of voters throughout the nation.

This glad news has been received with such glee that a special committee is planning a monster parade throughout the district the night before the Primaries, Wednesday, September 19.

Looking further into this new alliance between Mr. Lane and the faction led by Messrs Meins, there is every indication that this is a masterly stroke by Republicans in circles higher up. For if this group actually deliver their votes and Mr. Lane is victorious, it will mean a tremendous sweep of Negro ballots throughout the Commonwealth to the cause of Gaspar G. Bacon. In other words it may well mean the difference between his victory and defeat, for it will soothe the breach that has been steadily growing between the Negro and the Republican Party in this section. In such a case the Democrats with nothing commensurate to offer, would be entirely out of the picture with Negroes who are momentarily leaning that way.

Boston, Mass.

9-15-34

DECATUR, ILL.
HERALD

SEP 7 1934

COLORED REPUBLICAN WOMEN

Colored Republican Woman's club requests all members to attend a session at 2:30 p. m., Friday in the home of Mrs. Mollie Metlock, 1004 North Railroad avenue.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.
TELEGRAM

SEP 7 1934

NEGRO REPUBLICANS CELEBRATE TONIGHT

The Negro Republican club of Bridgeport will celebrate its sixth anniversary tonight with a reception at the 12th District Republican hall, Union avenue. Town Chairman J. Alex H. Robinson, Vice-Chairman Miss Caroline Garlick, assistant to Town Chairman John E. Cotter, Commissioners R. B. DeLacour, John L. Thornhill and Miss Maud E. Baker, Judge Raymond E. Baldwin of Stratford, and Attorney William Cohn will be present as guests of the club. Music will be furnished by Farrar orchestra.

Officers of the club are: Men's division, William Hatchett, president; Ernest Williams, secretary; George Short, treasurer; women's division, Mrs. Maud Brook, president; Mrs. Sarah B. Ross, secretary; Mrs. Marie Price, treasurer; Young Republicans, Abram Farrar, president, Miss Octava Cox, secretary; Morris Russell, treasurer. Reception committee, Mrs. Jesse Lively, Mrs. Edward Farrar, Thomas Sinclair, Charles Maddox and Joseph Kear-

DECATUR, ILL.
REVIEW

SEP 14 1934

Negro Republicans In Joint Club Meeting

Members of the Young Republican Colored club and the Woman's Colored Republican club held a joint meeting Thursday night in the home of Mrs. E. W. Coleman, 559 North Jackson street. Jean Cochran, newly elected president of the Young Republican club, gave a short talk. The club members made plans at last night's meeting for a rally of the organizations, to be held Sept. 20.

BLUEFIELD, W. VA.
TELEGRAPH

AUG 30 1934

COLORED REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION TO MEET

A meeting of the McDowell county colored Republican organization has been called for next Monday, September 3 at 1 o'clock, in the circuit court room.

W. M. Jones, of Gary, will preside.

This is the annual meeting, and officers will be elected. Plans for participation in the coming campaign also will be discussed.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.
JOURNAL

SEP 12 1934

Young Colored G.O.P. Hear County Head

The Bayonne unit of the Young Colored Republicans of New Jersey met last night at the headquarters, 518 Boulevard, with Malcolm Yelverton presiding. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and seven new members were enrolled.

Samuel C. Scott, county chairman of the Young Colored Republicans, appealed to them to waste no time in working to perfect the organization, and to insure victory for the Republican party in November.

Mrs. La Bella Ortiz, vice-county chairman, gave a talk.

ANNAPOLIS, MD.
CAPITAL

SEP 7 1934

NICE TO VISIT NEGRO VOTERS OF A. A. COUNTY

Harry W. Nice, Republican Gubernatorial candida paign to the voters of Anne Arundel county today.

The candidate will speak at four points in the county, principally to Negro voters. His first stop will be at Furnace Branch. Visits will be made to Town Neck and Broad Neck before the party arrives in Annapolis.

OSSINING, N. Y.
REGISTER

OCT 1 1934

Candidates Will Speak Tonight

Republican Club "House warming" To Take Place

G. O. P. candidates, local leaders and representatives of a number of clubs will attend the official housewarming of the new clubhouse of the Ossining Young Men's Republican Club at 28 Croton Avenue tonight.

The principal speaker will be John P. Powers, a member of the club and Republican candidate for Assemblyman. Congressman Charles D. Millard, Walter A. Ferris, candidate for District Attorney, and Bernard A. Koch, candidate for County Clerk, will also speak.

Albert E. Tompkins and other members of the Republican Town Committee have been invited as well as members of the Republican Women's Campaign Committee, Republican Colored Welfare Club and the Colored Women's Republican Club.

Thomas A. Reynolds is chairman of the house committee.

WICHITA, KANS.
EVENING EAGLE

SEP 25 1934

COLORED G.O.P. RALLIES

Landon-for-Governor Club Sponsors Meeting Thursday

The colored Landon-for-Governor club will stage a Republican rally Thursday night at the New Hope Baptist church, Ninth and Ohio starting at 7:45. It will be the first meeting of this group and will mark the start of general election campaign activities.

There will be a musical program including some of the best negro talent of the city. William B. Bradshaw, vice chairman of the state central committee, and Mrs. Tracy Mitchell, both of Topeka, are scheduled for the principal addresses. Attorney B. H. Brown, Mrs. Mamie Moore, president of the women's club, and other prominent local speakers will appear. All party candidates are invited to attend and will be introduced.

Arrangements for the meeting are being handled by B. F. Johnson, club president, Charles Perry, secretary, P. Cash, Mrs. Barbara Perry, Mrs. M. C. Berry, Mrs. Alice Curtis, E. Duke, H. Holt, B. H. Brown and James Maurice.

NEWARK, N. J.
NEWS

AUG 4 1934

Kean and Hoffman Group Declare Negroes United

The Kean-Hoffman campaign committee declared today that Negro Republican leaders have patched up factional differences and agreed to work in unison for the entire state and county ticket. George E. Bates of Montclair has been elected chairman of a special Negro committee, the campaign committee announced, with Dr. E. S. Ballou as secretary and J. H. Scotland as treasurer.

Leaders participating in the harmony agreement are J. Mercer Burrell, Clean Government Assembly candidate; Assemblyman Hargrave and George E. Bell of Montclair. Registration and transfer work will be handled until the active campaign starts after Labor Day.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 27 1934

Plan Series of Rallies For Repubs Next Week

A series of Republican rallies to be held next week was announced today by A. James Gallo, secretary of the New Castel County Republican executive committee, as follows:

Monday—Republican First District Committee Republican headquarters, 810 King street, former Congressman William H. Heald and George N. Davis, attorneys, with Walter W. Bacon, chairman, presiding.

Tuesday—Welsh Tract School, former Deputy Attorney-General Leonard G. Hagner; National Theatre, under auspices of colored Young Republican Organization, H. Albert Young, attorney, speaker.

Wednesday—Fourth Ward Republican Club, Fifth and Lombard streets, former City Councilman R. Bruce Clark, chairman; Frankford.

Thursday — Marshallton school house, with United States Senator Daniel O. Hastinsg as the speaker; Mt. Joy Church.

Friday—Richardson Park; Kirkwood school, Deputy Attorney-General Howard A. Miller and Middletown, with Thomas S. Fouracre presiding.

VOTE REPUBLICAN

The Bystander has been a consistent supporter of the Republican party; it sees no reason to change at this time. And while other parties have some splendid men running for office, party regularity goes hand in hand with party responsibility so that when results are to be determined there is no question about placing that responsibility.

This campaign has been most unusual in that the Democrats have used the National Administration as their chief talking point for every candidate on the ticket. That argument to the Negro voter does not work well. If we think of the rock-ribbed Democrats of the South who have had a strangle hold on the party, we must know full well that such leaders as Bilbo of Mississippi, Robinson of Arkansas et al, could not work well with Negro Democratic leaders even though President Roosevelt might desire it. Except for a few jobs provided by adding thousands to the pay roll, Negroes have had nothing better in the way of jobs or other consideration under the New Deal.

Iowa has received millions in federal money but about all the Negro got was relief or CWA—no white collar jobs. Not one single step further has been made toward giving Negroes more representation over that originally provided by Republicans.

It is easy to see how one may shift to an improvement over bad conditions but since the Democrats offer nothing better nor indicate any chance of bettering the situation, we say VOTE THE REPUBLICAN TICKET STRAIGHT, NOVEMBER 6th.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

BOB CHURCH DEFY ISSUED BY M'CALL

Won't Enter Primary Unless Foe Is Granted Recognition

Unless the Bob Church faction of Shelby County Republicans is recognized at the state convention in Chattanooga May 15, John E. McCall, Republican candidate for governor in 1932, will not enter this year's primaries, he announced yesterday.

Mr. McCall and Church were leaders of the opposing factions in the recent county convention when each faction held a convention in the same room and each chose a set of convention delegates.

Mr. McCall said:

"My name will not be placed before the Republican convention at Chattanooga as a candidate for the nomination for governor.

"Literally hundreds of my friends throughout the state have urged me to become a candidate for the nomination, and have assured me that I can be nominated and elected. To these loyal friends I want to express my thanks and appreciation of their support, and hope that I may continue to merit their confidence.

"At Chattanooga it will be my purpose to rid the people of Tennessee and the Republican party of the iniquitous influence of Bob Church, and to take from his hands the power to again betray the Republican party as he has done so many times in the past. My efforts at Chattanooga will be confined entirely to this end, and unless the Chattanooga convention recognizes the rump convention led by Bob Church in Shelby County, I will not enter the Republican primary."

Bob Church, whose name is often mentioned in politics, is seldom seen and never heard. Rich, cultured, quiet and unassuming, he ranks first among negro leaders in the national Republican party. His assistance is eagerly sought in national campaigns, and during the last three Republican administrations he was a welcomed visitor to the White House. He makes no speeches, has never been known to answer a criticism and seldom appears on the scene of political action. He does not seek publicity and has never by act or word encouraged race prejudice.

Negro Delegation Seated In G.O.P. Tennessee Body

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., May 14.—(AP)—The Republican State Executive Committee voted 26 to 3 late today to seat the Bob Church Shelby County delegation at the party's convention here tomorrow.

John E. McCall, leader of a contesting delegation and the 1932 Republican candidate for governor, told reporters that he would carry the contest to the convention floor.

Arguments lasting more than an hour and a half were heard by the committee before a vote was taken, with each side voicing bitter denunciation of the other.

The name of Congressman Ed Crump, a Democrat, frequently figured in the arguments, with McCall asserting that the Church faction was in league with Crump's political organization.

Charles H. King and Bailey Walsh, both of Memphis, defended the Church leadership and denied the charges of affiliation with Democrats.

King said that the contest was "based on the same old grounds" and described the meeting at which Shelby delegates were chosen as "a typical Shelby County political convention."

McCall had asserted that peace officers stormed the convention hall with tear gas bombs.

Denouncing what he described as "a practice of Democratic papers" to term the warring Shelby factions the "lily whites" and the "black and tans," McCall said that his delegation was composed half of whites and half of negroes and that "there is no racial question involved here."

Church is a negro.

A move by Arthur Rogers, of Gibson County, to seat both delegations failed when McCall opposed it, saying that "we're either right or wrong. We can't be half way and we won't be half way."

CHURCH AND TAYLOR LOSE G. O. P. CONTROL

McCall Victory May Mean Race for Governor

30-YEAR RULE IS ENDED

Attempt to Put Over Plank So Dry That It Would Also Take Away Beer, Fails at

Chattanooga

BY HILTON BUTLER

Commercial Appeal Staff Correspondent

CHATTANOOGA, May 15.—The famous "Old Guard" faction of the Tennessee Republican party—led for the past 30 years by Congressman J. Will Taylor of Knoxville, and Bob Church of Memphis—was swept out of control today in a tumultuous state convention that at times threatened to develop into a fistic free-for-all.

Not only did the convention, by a vote of 649 to 446, unseat the Church delegation from Shelby County, after the Taylor-Church controlled executive committee had voted 26 to 3 against the John E. McCall delegation, but McCall himself emerged with a personal victory of such proportions that it probably will find him in the Republican primary Aug. 2 in another race for governor.

Beaten At Every Turn

Defeat after defeat marked the crushing loss of power today of the group that has dominated the Republican party in Tennessee since the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

The Taylor-Church faction wanted the convention to indorse candidates today for governor and the U. S. Senate, avoiding the necessity of a primary battle. But the "youth movement"—taking a Democratic appellation today as a "new deal" faction within the Tennessee Republican ranks—blocked it by a vote of 6 to 2 in the executive committee. The convention upheld the action by a roaring chorus of ayes.

The "Old Guard" wanted a prohibition plank in the platform so dry that it would include a recommendation for repeal of the 3.2 per cent beer law that the Assembly authorized last session under the administration of Governor McAlister.

Beer Stays In

"Let the beer stay in!" shouted the youth movement leaders. It stayed. The Old Guard never had a chance when the resolution was put. Its plank merely reaffirms a general belief in national and local prohibition.

Only in the executive committee did the Taylor-Church faction have a majority. When any matter went to the floor, the cheering stampeding delegates, more than 1,200 in number, followed the leadership of the new group within the party ranks—a group that, judging from the wild ovations given to him today, is quite willing to give John E. McCall of Memphis an opportunity to demonstrate whether he can maintain the control that swung into his hands today.

Disturbed by the sudden clipping of their wings—attributed principally to the action of the executive committee in seating the Bob Church delegation—older leaders of the party were in a closed-door conference here tonight planning some movement to get back into the saddle.

None of the McCall faction members was invited, nor would those attending the private session—including Ben W. Hooper, former governor; C. N. Frazier of Camden; A. V. McLane, Nashville, and Hal Clements of Knoxville—admit that they were in conference for anything other than "merely saying good-bye."

Loss of their strength by the action of the convention today in tossing overboard their main suggestions and reading Church's delegation out of the recognized party ranks, was laid by many of the "Old Guard" members to the fact that Congressman J. Will Taylor, Republican national committeeman, was unable to attend the convention. The death of his mother in La Follette yesterday forced his absence.

Taylor plans "an inventory meeting" in Knoxville later this month, it was reported here tonight.

Only on such simple matters as the advocacy of free text books, legislative redistricting and an eight months' school term did the new controlling movement within the party join hands with the ousted faction today.

Ask Revamping of Court

They were also in accord on a demand that the supreme court in Tennessee be revamped to make it mandatory that it and the courts of appeal be non-partisan. Under the present districting arrangements, Democrats usually have the entire appellate courts membership.

Taylor-Church faction members joined hurriedly with the new dominating force today when they discovered that the resolution to make no indorsements of candidates at the primary was slated for an overwhelming approval.

This action means that if Ben W. Hooper, former governor, cares to carry out his announced intention to seek the long-term election to the United States Senate against the Democratic incumbent, Senator McKellar, he must get into a primary race Aug. 2.

It also means that if C. N. Frazier, of Camden, who had been slated for the short term senatorial nomination for the place now held by Senator Bachman, must make a primary battle.

"I probably will run," he said tonight.

Hooper said that he would run if it appeared that the nomination could be obtained in the primary without "causing trouble in our own ranks." His faction, it was evident, had enough trouble on its hands today.

McCall Best Prospect

As for the Republican nominee for governor, the manner in which the favored sons of the Old Guard, including Major Shofner of Nashville and Col. Olin Berry of Knoxville, were bolting away last night and today from the issue, was regarded here today as an indication that McCall now emerges as the No. 1 prospect for the G. O. P. nomination in the Aug. 2 primary.

It was his convention floor fight with the Church delegation that was the whole show for four hours out of the six of the stormy sessions that ended at dusk today after beginning at noon with keynote speeches from Hooper and former Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky.

When McCall walked toward the platform, the crowded auditorium started cheering. A few minutes later, Bob Church came in and took a seat quietly on the side occupied by the negro delegates, who composed about one-fourth of the 2,000 attendance.

Tom Taylor, young Athens attorney for whom a gubernatorial nomination boom made strong headway early in the convention, presented the minority report demanding that the Church delegation be denied the recognition granted by the executive committee.

Demands Adoption

"Out of deference to the 130 Tennesseans who voted for John McCall in 1932, adoption of this minority report is demanded," Taylor shouted to the delegates. McCall given an ovation when he took the floor, renewed charges that the Church faction was in "open alignment" with the Shelby County Democratic organization.

"I'm not staging this contest to blackmail myself into this convention as a delegates," McCall shouted, "but merely to vindicate the 75 per cent of those in attendance at the Shelby County convention who elected Dr. Carroll Morgan our chairman and legally selected this faction to go to the state convention."

Mrs. Mary Morrow Nicholson of Memphis, niece of former Governor Morrow of Kentucky, characterized the Church faction of the Republican party as "merely the left wing of the Crump Democratic organization in Memphis, sitting on the fence to flop to whatever side may mean most to them."

Order Gives Away

When Mrs. Nicholson had concluded, all orderly aspects of the convention gave way. Shouts of "vote! vote!" began ringing out and Chairman Hooper failed to bring the convention back to order for several moments. Only when McCall arose from his seat with a request for quiet did the delegates permit the speaking to continue.

The delegates merely glared at Bailey Walsh of Memphis took shouted. They glared a moment, up the cudgel for the Church delegation, and got through his remarks without difficulty until he was interrupted by the pounding of a cane in the hands of Chairman Hooper, who charged that McCall had gone to his Bob Church with a request for his support to get McCall appointed federal attorney some years ago when Dwayne Maddox of Hunting-don got the job.

"That is not true!" shouted McCall.

Shout Him Down

Foster V. Johnson, Chattanooga, Republican member of the Hamilton County election commission, a husky-shouldered youngster, jumped up.

"If any of you yokels who are making this noise will stand up, I will throw him out."

A few from the front rows who had heard him in the din shouted back: "Tell it to Bob Church back downtown!"

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

BOB CHURCH DEFY ISSUED BY M'CALL

Won't Enter Primary Unless Foe Is Granted Recognition

Unless the Bob Church faction of Shelby County Republicans is recognized at the state convention in Chattanooga May 15, John E. McCall, Republican candidate for governor in 1932, will not enter this year's primaries, he announced yesterday.

Mr. McCall and Church were leaders of the opposing factions in the recent county convention when each faction held a convention in the same room and each chose a set of convention delegates.

Mr. McCall said:

"My name will not be placed before the Republican convention at Chattanooga as a candidate for the nomination for governor.

"Literally hundreds of my friends throughout the state have urged me to become a candidate for the nomination, and have assured me that I can be nominated and elected. To these loyal friends I want to express my thanks and appreciation of their support, and hope that I may continue to merit their confidence.

"At Chattanooga it will be my purpose to rid the people of Tennessee and the Republican party of the iniquitous influence of Bob Church, and to take from his hands the power to again betray the Republican party as he has done so many times in the past. My efforts at Chattanooga will be confined entirely to this end, and unless the Chattanooga convention recognizes the rump convention led by Bob Church in Shelby County, I will not enter the Republican primary."

Bob Church, whose name is seldom mentioned in politics, is seldom seen and never heard. Rich, cultured, quiet and unassuming, he ranks first among negro leaders in the national Republican party. His assistance is eagerly sought in national campaigns and during the last three Republican administrations he was a welcomed visitor to the White House. He makes no speeches, has never been known to answer a political foe and seldom appears on the scene of political action. He does not seek publicity and has never by act or word encouraged race prejudice.

Negro Delegation Seated In G.O.P. Tennessee Body

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., May 14.—(AP)—The Republican State Executive Committee voted 26 to 3 today to seat the Bob Church Shelby County delegation at the party's convention here tomorrow.

John E. McCall, leader of a contesting delegation and the 1932 Republican candidate for governor, told reporters that he would carry the contest to the convention floor.

Arguments lasting more than an hour and a half were heard by the committee before a vote was taken, with each side voicing bitter denunciation of the other.

The name of Congressman Ed Crump, a Democrat, frequently figured in the arguments, with McCall asserting that the Church faction was in league with Crump's political organization.

Charles H. King and Bailey Walsh, both of Memphis, defended the Church leadership and denied the charges of affiliation with Democrats.

King said that the contest was "based on the same old grounds" and described the meeting at which Shelby delegates were chosen as "a typical Shelby County political convention."

McCall had asserted that peace officers stormed the convention hall with tear gas bombs.

Denouncing what he described as "a practice of Democratic papers" to term the warring Shelby factions the "lily whites" and the "black and tans," McCall said that his delegation was composed half of whites and half of negroes and that "there is no racial question involved here."

A move by Arthur Rogers, of Gibson County, to seat both delegations failed when McCall opposed it, saying that "we're either right or wrong. We can't be often half way and we won't be half way."

Chattanooga Memphis Press

BY HILTON BUTLER

Commercial Appeal Staff Correspondent

CHATTANOOGA, May 15.—The famous "Old Guard" faction of the Tennessee Republican party—led for the past 30 years by Congressman J. Will Taylor of Knoxville, and Bob Church of Memphis—was swept out of control today in a tumultuous state convention that at times threatened to develop into a fistic free-for-all.

Not only did the convention, by a vote of 649 to 446, unseat the Church delegation from Shelby County, after the Taylor-Church controlled executive committee had voted 26 to 3 against the John E. McCall delegation, but McCall himself emerged with a personal victory of such proportions that it probably will find him in the Republican primary Aug. 2 in another race for governor.

Beaten At Every Turn

Defeat after defeat marked the crushing loss of power today of the group that has dominated the Republican party in Tennessee since the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

The Taylor-Church faction wanted the convention to indorse candidates today for governor and the U. S. Senate, avoiding the necessity of a primary battle. But the "youth movement"—taking a Democratic appellation today as a "new deal" faction within the Tennessee Republican ranks—blocked it by a vote of 6 to 2 in the executive committee. The convention upheld the action by a roaring chorus of ayes.

The "Old Guard" wanted a prohibition plank in the platform so dry that it would include a recommendation for repeal of the 3.2 per cent beer law that the Assembly authorized last session under the administration of Governor McAlister.

Beer Stays In

"Let the beer stay in!" shouted the youth movement leaders. It stayed. The Old Guard never had a chance when the resolution was put. Its plank merely reaffirms a general belief in national and local prohibition.

Only in the executive committee did the Taylor-Church faction have a majority. When any matter went to the floor, the cheering stampeding delegates, more than 1,200 in number, followed the leadership of the new group within the party ranks—a group that, judging from the wild ovations given to him today, is quite willing to give John E. McCall of Memphis an opportunity to demonstrate whether he can maintain the control that swung into his hands today.

Disturbed by the sudden clipping of their wings—attributed principally to the action of the executive committee in seating the Bob Church delegation—older leaders of the party were in a closed-door conference here tonight planning some movement to get back into the saddle.

None of the McCall faction members was invited, nor would those attending the private session—including Ben W. Hooper, former governor; C. N. Frazier of Camden; A. V. McLane, Nashville, and Hal Clements of Knoxville—admit that they were in conference for any-thing other than "merely saying good-bye."

Loss of their strength by the action of the convention today in tossing overboard their main suggestions and reading Church's delegation out of the recognized party ranks, was laid by many of the "Old Guard" members to the fact that Congressman J. Will Taylor, Republican national committeeman, was unable to attend the convention. The death of his mother in La Follette yesterday forced his absence.

Taylor plans "an inventory meeting" in Knoxville later this month, it was reported here tonight.

Only on such simple matters as the advocacy of free text books, legislative redistricting and an eight months' school term did the new controlling movement within the party join hands with the ousted faction today.

Ask Revamping of Court

They were also in accord on a demand that the supreme court in Tennessee be revamped to make it mandatory that it and the courts of appeal be non-partisan. Under the present districting arrangements, Democrats usually have the entire appellate courts membership.

Taylor-Church faction members joined hurriedly with the new dominating force today when they discovered that the resolution to make no indorsements of candidates at the primary was slated for an overwhelming approval.

This action means that if Ben W. Hooper, former governor, cares to carry out his announced intention to seek the long-term election to the United States Senate against the Democratic incumbent, Senator McKellar, he must get into a primary race Aug. 2.

It also means that if C. N. Frazier, of Camden, who had been slated for the short term senatorial nomination for the place now held by Senator Bachman, must make a primary battle.

"I probably will run," he said tonight.

Hooper said that he would run if it appeared that the nomination could be obtained in the primary without "causing trouble in our own ranks." His faction, it was evident, had enough trouble on its hands today.

McCall Best Prospect

As for the Republican nominee for governor, the manner in which the favored sons of the Old Guard, including Major Shofner of Nashville and Col. Olin Berry of Knoxville, were bolting away last night and today from the issue, was regarded here today as an indication that McCall now emerges as the No. 1 prospect for the G. O. P. nomination in the Aug. 2 primary.

It was his convention floor fight with the Church delegation that was the whole show for four hours out of the six of the stormy sessions that ended at dusk today after beginning at noon with keynote speeches from Hooper and former Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky.

When McCall walked toward the platform, the crowded auditorium started cheering. A few minutes later, Bob Church came in and took a seat quietly on the side occupied by the negro delegates, who composed about one-fourth of the 2,000 attendance.

Tom Taylor, young Athens attorney for whom a gubernatorial nomination boom made strong headway early in the convention, presented the minority report demanding that the Church delegation be denied the recognition granted by the executive committee.

Demands Adoption

"Out of deference to the 130 Tennesseans who voted for John McCall in 1932, adoption of this minority report is demanded," Taylor shouted to the delegates. McCall given an ovation when he took the floor, renewed charges that the Church faction was in "open alignment" with the Shelby County Democratic organization.

"I'm not staging this contest to blackmail myself into this convention as a delegates," McCall shouted, "but merely to vindicate the 75 per cent of those in attendance at the Shelby County convention who elected Dr. Carroll Morgan our chairman and legally selected this faction to go to the state convention."

Mrs. Mary Morrow Nicholson of Memphis, niece of former Governor Morrow of Kentucky, characterized the Church faction of the Republican party as "merely the left wing of the Crump Democratic organization in Memphis, sitting on the fence to flop to whatever side may mean most to them."

Order Gives Away

When Mrs. Nicholson had concluded, all orderly aspects of the convention gave way. Shouts of "vote! vote!" began ringing out and Chairman Hooper failed to bring the convention back to order for several moments. Only when McCall arose from his seat with a request for quiet did the delegates permit the speaking to continue.

They glared a moment, merely shouted. The delegates concluded his remarks and sat down. Five minutes later, at Walsh down. It was then that the con- Bailey Walsh of Memphis took vention went into uncontrollable his re-personal request of McCall, and got up the cudgel for the Church delegation, flatly refusing to the pounding of a convention demonstration, a marks without difficulty until he shouted. Foster V. Johnson, Chattanooga, gation, and got through the hands of Chairman Hooper, a member of the Hamilton County Republican committee, a former state senator for Knoxville, who was attempting to speak for the Church faction, flatly charged that McCall had gone to in the Clements, who was at- Bob Church with a request for his husky-shouldered youngster, jumped up. support to get McCall appointed. He took quick advantage of it. federal attorney some years ago "Quit being a mob like a bunch when Dwayne Maddox of Hunting- "Stop demonstration." he shouted. don got the job. "If any of you yokels who are this giving the Democratic press a chance to say our party busted up, I'll tell you something!" shouted Mc- "Shut up and I'll tell you some- Call. "That is not true!" shouted McCall. today and I'll stand up, I making this noise will stand up, I shouted Clements. "That is not true!" shouted Clements. a receiver." from the front rows who will throw him out."

CHURCH AND TAYLOR LOSE G. O. P. CONTROL

McCall Victory May Mean Race for Governor

30-YEAR RULE IS ENDED

Attempt to Put Over Plank So Dry That It Would Also Take Away Beer, Fails at

Commercial Appeal 5-16-34

Memphis Press Scimitar 5-16-34

Memphis Press Scimitar 5-15-34

Commercial Appeal

Commercial Appeal

Memphis Press Scimitar

DEC 17

Knox County G. O. P. Leads Forces Against Church

East Tennessee News 5-17-34

Knoxville, Tenn.

McCALL FACTION OVERIDES NEGROES' FRIENDS AT HEATED MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM MEET

(By Webster L. Porter.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Negroes of Tennessee were given to understand in no uncertain terms that they are persona non grata in the party of Abraham Lincoln if the vote of a majority of the delegates attending the State Republican Convention held in the magnificent Memorial Auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, is sufficient indication. Negroes from Shelby to Sullivan and from the border line of Kentucky to where the Georgia line runs had witnessed the fight made on Robert R. Church, leader of the Republican majority from Memphis by John McCall, Bruce and others of their followers, two years ago. Again this year, on the eve of the Chattanooga convention, they had looked seriously upon the ultimatum of Mr. McCall, in which he declared war on Church, resultant in the Negro racial group announcing in definite terms their belief that the fight directed at Church was nothing more nor less than a desire to stamp out Negro participation and recognition in affairs of the Republican Party in Tennessee on the part of advocates of that obnoxious attitude—"lily-whiteism." The Memphis Journal as well as the East Tennessee News printed editorials in which they declared that the fight directed at Mr. Church was considered a thrust at the entire Negro racial group and further outlined that any support given the fight of Mr. McCall on the Memphis Negro leader would be viewed as coming from forces desirous of eliminating the Negro from participation in Republican affairs. The Chattanooga Times, morning newspaper, printed excerpts from both editorials and when the several hundred delegates assembled about the convention hall, they knew of the attitude of the Negro racial group and could not possibly have been mistaken as to just what Negroes of Tennessee were thinking.

Knox County Leads Opposition

The greatest surprise of the entire situation developed when it was shown that leaders of the delegation from Knox County lead the opposition to Church and his delegation from Memphis. It appeared a well designed plan that several Republican leaders from Knoxville, a section where harmony within the ranks, especially as concerns the races, has always prevailed, would be invited to toss the firebrand of race discrimination and hate into the faces of Tennessee Negro Republicans. At a meeting of the executive committee held in the Read House Monday, that body voted by a large majority to seat the Church delegation, procedure at the time of their county convention having been shown to be unquestionably regular. This action by the executive committee seems only to have served to further inflame the McCall faction. In that meeting the opposition sprang from the delegation from Knox County, who voted with the small majority in support of the McCall forces.

On Tuesday when the committee on credentials held their meeting, seven of the nine members voted in support of the Church group and when General McClain, of Nashville, United States District Attorney and veteran leader of Republicanism in Tennessee, appeared before the convention, his report recommended the seating and complete recognition of Robert R. Church and his followers.

Hartman Opposes

Then it was that Attorney Andy Hartman, member of the Knoxville law firm of Hartman, Hartman and Doughty,, offered the minority report showing that two members of the committee were opposed to recognizing the Church group and favored seating the McCall faction.

Ex-Governor Edwin P. Morrow, of Kentucky, candidate for the United States Senate had just delivered the keynote address and took his seat 'mid the applause of Negro as well as white persons who filled the spacious auditorium. It was plain that he had won favor of all his hearers. The veteran Kentuckian left the building only a few minutes before John McCall requested Presiding Officer Ben W. Hooper to allow Mrs. Mary Morrow Nicholson,ne niece of Govornor Morrow, to speak in support of the McCall forces.

Clements Supports Church

Attorney Hal Clements, of Knoxville was loyal to the Church group from the very beginning and vigorously supported the regular group from Shelby before the executive committee and on the floor of the convention.

Mr. Clements pleaded for recognition for Negroes and despite efforts of the McCall supporters to hoot him down, when sufficient quiet prevailed, he got in the statement:

"Abraham Lincoln was similarly booed and jeered by the mob as he declared in favor of the abolition of slavery," which brought forth long applause from the Negro delegates and their friends.

Defeated Unit Vote

It was first announced by several of the Knox delegation that the entire ninety - eight votes would be cast as a unit. When Attorney W. L. Porter, leader of the Negro delegation discovered the trend toward the McCall faction, he immediately called to his assistance Messrs. Clements, Frank Bowen and others, resultant in a conference of the delegates having been immediately called and a division of the votes announced as follows:

FOR CHURCH: Hal Clements Webster Porter, W. C. Burton, Frank Bowen, W. S. E. Hardy, J C. Machamer, giving the Memphis Negro leader forty-two of the ninety-eight votes.

FOR McCALL: Andy Hartman Mrs. Carter Hartman, Wilbur Piper, H. Guinn, Aaron McCarter, Ray H. Jenkins, Judd Acuff, A. Goolsby and Luther Ward. This group voted fifty-five for McCall.

Ira Giffen and J. Arthur Atchley who attended as delegates did not vote either way.

Following the reports of all counties the vote showed 649 votes for McCall and 446 for Church

But when Clements called those who were shouting against him "a bunch of hoodlums," pandemonium broke loose again, and it was another five minutes before he got a chance to shout:

"I'm here to represent Bob Church!"

Another Demonstration

There the house broke into demonstration again—the shouts and the boos closely divided.

To make a more palpable presentation of what he was trying to say in the midst of the disorder Clements called for George Bell Memphis negro member of the McCall delegation, to come to the platform. Bell did, taking a seat by the side of McCall and Mrs. Nicholson.

"Now let Judge Harry Anderson's son stand up," shouted Clements. Seneca Anderson, Memphis, walked up the aisle, taking a seat by the side of the Bob Church group on the platform.

"Now this gives you an idea of the two delegations," shouted Clements. "It's no racial controversy. It's a simple question of a political fight between Republicans, not between lily whites and blacks and tans!"

"Question!" came the shouted demand.

"Oh, please let me finish!" begged Clements.

"Drew the Color Line"

Another demonstration—the boos and the applause still about evenly divided—prevented Clements from concluding. A. V. MacLane, Nashville, former federal attorney, rushed forward with a charge that when McCall went to the Nashville Republican convention in 1932, "he drew the color line!"

McCall jumped up from his seat and started toward MacLane with a protest that was drowned out in the noise. When MacLane attempted to resume, the clamoring delegates kept him standing several moments, absolutely unable to make himself heard.

Even when he shouted some reference to J. Will Taylor—veteran Republican leader, who was prevented from attending the convention because of the death of his mother—there were renewed catcalls and boos.

MacLane gave it up with a weary wave of his hand and Hooper, taking advantage of temporary order, ordered the secretary to call the roll.

Political-1934

Party Affiliation

Republican

Chattanooga, Tenn.
NEWS

MAY 16 1934

G.O.P. "Old Guard" Given Setback By Church Overthrow

Wins Hard Battle to Convention Floor and Win by Big Majority.

JOHN E. M'CALL

Mr. McCall, 1932 candidate of the Republican party for Governor, was victor Tuesday in his battle to unseat the Shelby County delegation headed by Bob Church, Negro politician and close associate of Congressman J. Will Taylor.

State Convention Unseats "Black and Tan" Delegation After Wild Debate.

McCall Is Favored

"Lily Whites" Carry Fight

Tennessee's Republican "old guard" of which Congressman J. Will Taylor is the head, suffered its first major defeat in years Tuesday afternoon when the State Republican convention, by a vote of 649 to 446, unseated the Bob Church delegation from Shelby County and gave recognition to John E. McCall, 1932 nominee for governor.

The Taylor-Church defeat came after almost three hours of wild debate, shouting, booing and strife. The delegates ignored pleas of Temporary Chairman Ben W. Hooper to permit the debate to proceed in an orderly fashion and administered to Hal Clements, former State senator, a rebuke seldom seen in any meeting.

Election of a temporary chairman, his address, the keynote speech of former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky and the usual convention preliminaries proceeded in orderly fashion until the report of the credentials committee ignited the fuse that set off the explosion.

The credentials committee majority report sustained the action of the executive committee, which on Monday had seated the Bob Church delegation by a vote of 26 to 3. A minority credentials committee report, however, submitted by Andy Hartman of Knoxville favored the McCall delegation from Shelby.

Youthful J. Tom Taylor of McMinn County moved adoption of the minority report and in a vigorous address denounced the Bob Church-J. Will Taylor combination. He then yielded the floor to McCall, who was seated on the stage, and the convention listened attentively to a speech from the 1932 Republican nominee for governor as he discussed the details of the Shelby County convention.

The Storm Breaks.

When Bailey Walsh, former assistant district attorney at Memphis, speaking from the stage, sought to defend the Bob Church faction the storm broke. Shouts were heard from all sections of the convention hall, and it was only with difficulty that Walsh was able to proceed even with Chairman Hooper and McCall pleading with the delegates to be heard.

When Walsh had finished, Hal Clements came forward, but before he could start his speech beyond the point of saying "I am here to defend Bob Church," the booes, hisses, catcalls and shouts drowned out anything he tried to say.

Chairman Hooper pounded upon the rostrum time after time in his efforts to let Clements talk. On three separate occasions John McCall rose to his feet and quieted the shouting, begging them to hear Clements. Finally, a motion was made to give Clements ten minutes and McCall five minutes before the vote was taken. Even then it was with difficulty that Clements was able to talk.

After designating the shouting delegates as "hoodlums and yokels," Clements finally gave up the idea of making himself heard and left the platform. He was immediately followed by A. V. McLane, former district attorney for the Middle District of Tennessee, an "old guard" stalwart for many years.

McLane's mention of J. Will Taylor's name evoked a storm of boos, despite the fact that just a short time earlier announcement had been made that the aged mother of the national committeeman had died. Foster V. Brown, Paul J. Kruesi and R. S. Hopkins called for a point of order, citing the convention action limiting the speeches to Clements and McCall. McLane, however, continued talking despite the shouting and tumult that prevailed and in the din could scarcely be heard beyond the front row seats.

McCall closed the debate briefly, calling upon the convention to sustain his claim to recognition and aid in "ridding the party of the iniquitous influence of Bob Church and his adherents who are in reality the Democratic wing of the party in Shelby County."

Roll Call Brings Strife.

The roll call of counties on the vote between the contesting delegations brought forth other scenes of strife and confusion. Delegations were split in several instances, including the Hamilton and Knox deelgations delays were taken in order for the delegations to adjust their differences.

Several counties were not represented, others had not complied with the rules and their votes were thrown out. Anderson County started the ball rolling when its delegation shouted 19 votes for McCall. Benton County was the next to vote and its 6 votes went for Bob Church, Bledsoe followed with 8 for McCall and a thunderous cheer echoed through the auditorium when Blount County's 33 votes went into the McCall column, Bradley came next with 17 for McCall and when the first twelve counties had cast their votes McCall had received 146 votes to 81 for the Church faction.

Adherents of the two factions crowded the stage as Reece Macey, 1932 candidate for railroad and utilities commissioner, shouted the county names and the number of votes allotted each. Challenges flew thick and fast and the milling throng of men and women, white and Negro milled about the space in front of the stage.

When Hamilton County was called the vote was passed in order that the delegation could be polled. Passed until all other counties had voted the total of 63 votes was divided and 42 went to Church and 21 to McCall, the large Negro representation from Hamilton headed by Walter Robinson, Sid Byers and Doc Harper, voting for Church, while the white Hamilton delegates voted for McCall.

Before the roll call had been completed it was evident that McCall had won and Bob Church, together with Lester H. Brennen, Dave Marks and other members of the Church faction left the convention floor.

New York Times

MAY 21 1934

CHURCH GROUP ASKS NEW DEAL FOR NEGRO

500 at Meeting of Catholic Interracial Body Hear Appeals to End Discrimination.

More than 500 persons assembled yesterday afternoon at Town Hall at a mass meeting called by the Catholic Interracial Association. Michael Williams, editor of The Commonweal, declared that the problem of the Negro in the United States has more claims to be considered as one of the perplexing social problems of an ever liberalizing modern civilization than any other.

"That problem cannot possibly be solved except through the proper application of those laws," he said, referring to the laws laid down on the first Pentecost.

The Rev. James M. Gillis of the Paulist Fathers, editor of The Catholic World, decried "man's inhumanity to man." He said that some of the cruelest pages in history include the record of the treatment accorded Negroes by the "dominant" race that achieved and maintained its dominance with injustice, brutality, falsehood and hypocrisy. He deplored the data which reveal that it required more than seventeen centuries for Christians to realize the brotherhood of man.

Mrs. E. P. Roberts of the New York Urban League said that the average wage of the Negro is less than two-thirds that of white workers for the same tasks. She also pointed out that the average rent paid by Negroes in New York was higher than that paid by white families.

The Rt. Rev Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle gave an account of the work being done in Catholic parishes. Elmo M. Anderson, president of the Laymen's League, also spoke.

ROME, GA.
NEWS TRIBUNE

MAY 20 1934

"LILY [illegible] HEARD FROM

THAT far [illegible] in the flesh of the G. O. P. [illegible], known as the "lily white movement," is thrust forth with a regularity that undoubtedly causes deep pain in the upper circles of the party.

The latest manifestation of the desire of certain white elements within the Republican party to build up a white G. O. P. organization in the South, crops out in Tennessee where, for the moment, the "lily whites" are on top.

In the defeat of the "black and tan" element at the Tennessee state convention in Chattanooga last week, the Republicans of the "lily white" complexion threw over board Bob Church, colored, notorious G. O. P. boss of Memphis, ~~doing~~ it after Church and his delegation had received the O. K. of the credentials committee. The Church followers, incidentally, were so mad that the whole congregation passed out of the meeting. But unquestionably they will be heard from when the next election comes around.

In splitting upon the rock of racial prejudice, the Republicans of Tennessee have placed themselves where any remote chance they might have had of winning now melts into thin air. The Republicans in no Southern state can win without the negro vote.

As a matter of fact, efforts to build a white Republican party in the South by excluding the blacks, are futile and highly dangerous to the G. O. P. organization. Theodore Roosevelt tried it while president of the United States and was forced to beat a hasty retreat, and there doesn't seem to be much use in any lesser persons attempting it.

The trouble lies, not in the South, but in the North and middle West, where the negro vote is a huge factor and where wrath burns hotly every time the negro in the South is discriminated against by Southern Republican organizations. This is why the national organization will not stand for it.

UNUSUAL TRIBUTE PAID BOB CHURCH AS REBEL G. O. P. BOLT NEGRO CONTROL AT MEMPHIS

Black Journal 5-26-34

LILY-WHITES JUBILANT OVER McCALL'S ELECTION

Bluehouse City Press

Followers of Bob Church Still Hopeful

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 24.—(ANP)—Last Monday and Tuesday at the Republican state convention in Chattanoogo, they nailed Bob Church to the Cross.

The door was closed to reason and to the demands of practical politics and the veteran political strategist was thrown to the mob.

In one of the wildest and most riotous conventions in the history of the party, the political mob took church in its mouth, broke his bones, slammed him against the floor until he was inert, then cast him aside.

And when the mob had finished, it was declared that a glorious reign in Republican politics which began with Roosevelt back in 1905 had come to an end.

The white mob exulted because, if just for a space, they had shaken off the wise contralling hand of a dictionary Negro.

The fight which ended with defeat for Mr. Church last Tuesday, was the culmination of years of envy and jealousy on the part of peanut white politicians who have resented the ability of Bob Church to exercise leadership in the party councils and to dominate the Republican organization in Shelby county.

One of the anomalies of southern politics has been the fact that for many years, Church, because of his wisdom, the position he held and his influence, has been able to make big white men out of little white men. He has carried the Negro vote in his pocket.

He has used the Negro vote to keep in line white friends for the Negro.

The combination of the strength of the Negro Republican vote and of white allies whom he has bound to him by advancing them in political life for thirty years, has kept the Church organization supreme.

But always, there have been other jealous whites who were eating their hearts because a Negro was the power behind the throne in Republican party politics. They could not deny that he represented strength and wisdom, but they just did not want a Negro. They have hated Church all the more because of their secret admiration of his fine qualities.

Even the rate-baiting, democratic Commercial-Appeal was forced to comment Thursday:

"For many years J. Will Taylor of La Follette, one of Tennessee's two Republican members of Congress, and Bob Church, of Memphis, have held the fate of the Republican party in Tennessee in the hollow of their hands. The Old Guard had been swept out of control with John E. McCall, Memphian, in the ascendancy as the new leader.

Black Newspaper 5-26-34

"Bob Church, whose name is often mentioned in politics, is seldom seen and never heard. Rich, cultured, quiet and assuming, he ranks first among Negro leaders in the national Republican party. His assistance is eagerly sought in national campaigns and during the last three Republican campaigns and during the last three Republican administrations he was a welcomed visitor to the White House. He makes no speeches, has never been known to answer a criticism and seldom appears on the scene of political action. He does not seek publicity and has never by act or word encouraged race prejudice."

That—from his enemies.

Even the issue upon which the demogogues at the state convention appealed to the mob to uproot Church from power reflected the astuteness of Church. They accused him of playing ball with the Democratic organization in Shelby county.

No one with an eye to the situation would deny that this is true. But his traffic with the Democrats, with Congressman Ed Crump, to be specific, served two purposes. Church's job was to make the Republican party a factor in the politics of the state. He made Democratic leaders recognize his faction of the Republican party as a power. Second, Church had to always fight the lily-white element in the Republican party, an element disposed to push the Negro in the background. Most of the honors Church won for the party were given to white men, but he kept things in such shape that power was given only to white men who could be trusted to help the Negro. He fought the lily-whites off because they would have ignored the Negro.

Was the policy of Church effective? When the DePriest resolution on discrimination in the House restaurant at Washington came up, only two southern congressmen voted for that resolution. They were Church Republicans: J. Will Taylor and B. Carroll Reece.

In the last gubernatorial election, Church was accused of trading with the Democrats. John McCall, whose faction has succeeded temporarily to power, was the Republican candidate. But his record insofar as Negroes are concerned, was not one that Church could endorse. Even if it had been, there was no chance for McCall to be elected. Good politicians play winners. Lewis E. Pope, one of the Democratic candidates, was openly opposed to Negro suffrage. Hill McAlester, the Democratic candidate who was elected, showed a disposition to be fair. Church is reported to have supported him, the obvious purpose bein gto keep his forces lined up with the most powerful Democratic forces in the state.

At the county convention here in April, the Church forces won after a bitter struggle. But John McCall, the white Republican from Memphis, who has been most jealous of Church's power, went to Chattanooga determined to make an issue of Church, Each man fought for the recognition of his delegation.

The executive committee, composed of the party strategists, men who knew what it was all about, voted 26 to 3 to seat the Church delegation on Monday.

But on Tuesday, the McCall forces appealed to the one thousand delegates present, went to the floor and appealed to the mob. Most of the mob was white.

Of course, Mr. Church did not try to speak for himself. White men whom he had befriended, sought to speak for him, but they were howled down. The mob was out for blood. A former fiovernor, Ben Hooper; a former state senator, Hal Clements, sought to reason with the mob, but all to no avail. Ias frenzy had been fired.

Congressman J. Will Taylor, the party leader, along with Church, could not be at the convention, due to the death of his mother.

After four hours of wrangling the mob took the Church they knew and nailed him to the cross. McCall was placed in the saddle.

McCall says he is not a lily-white Republican. That there is no race in the fight. To prove it, he brought with his delegation some Negroes, the sort who are always willing to be used to confuse an issue.

Today the McCall forces are exulting.

But wiser political observers are not so sanguine concerning the ultimate success of the rebel group. They hold that the Church group is too strongly entrenched to be brushed aside by the mob, that between now and election time the hand of the Church forces will be shown and the so-called simon-pure Republicans will have it demonstrated to them once more that the kind of horse sense used by Church is one of the most valuable assets in practical politics.

JOHNSON CITY RACE LEADER URGES RECOGNITION FOR NEGRO IN AFFAIRS OF GRAND OLD PARTY

Bluehouse Tennessee Leader 5-26-34

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn.—Hon. Horace R. Ryan, head of the old established People's Undertaking establishment and one of the most influential Negro leaders in this section recently directed a communication to leaders of the Republican party in Washington county in which he tells of a flagrant discriminatory attitude as concerns according the Negro any recognition in party affairs.

In his communication addressed to the chairman of the G. O. P. in Washington county, Mr. Ryan outlines:

"For some time I have noticed that no recognition has been accorded colored voters in our conventions and other affairs of the Republican party until the time rolls around to vote, then the cry is raised by friends of the several candidates, 'Come boys, let's put so and so in office; he is the man we want. You boys can't afford to vote against him for he is a Republican."

"It is true that he is a Republican, but what recognition has the colored brother had from this candidate or any of his friends? It is true that we should stick to our party if we have any party, but if our party feels that we are citizens entitled to recognition in public affairs they should call on Negroes to take part at other times than merely at the polls.

"Years ago, in our good old Washington county, men were active in the party who accorded the colored citizenship fair and equal recognition in the affairs of the party.

"There is positively no tendency to take the leadership of the party from the whites, but if the Negro is to vote and encourage his race members to take an active part in selecting the best fitted men for office, certainly he should have some part in the conventions and other deliberations.

"At no time has a Negro been appointed to hold elections in city or county, yet he is ever ready and willing to cast his vote without seeking reward.

"The idea may prevail that the Negro has never asked for such recognition and the excuse may be offered that the race members have not requested appointments. If that is the case, we are now requesting that our white party leaders accord us the recognition due us as citizens and taxpayers in our good old Washington county."

Political - 1934

Republican.

Party Agtiliation.

Chattanooga, Tenn.
TIMES

APR 13 1934

REPUBLICANS FACE CONVENTION SCRAP

Hopes for Harmony Tomorrow Grow Less Probable.

Springfield - Crutchfield Tilt May Explode — Negroes Another Hard Puzzle.

On the eve of the republican precinct mass primaries several heated controversies in the ranks of the party have developed which threaten to disturb the "planned for harmony" convention tomorrow morning.

A strenuous campaign was under way yesterday between the Springfield and Crutchfield elements to gain control of the Hamilton county republican executive committee and subsequently the convention. This battle primarily must be fought out in today's and tonight's precinct meetings.

Also menacing the much desired harmony program of the republicans was a threat of revolt in the city's seven heavy Negro precincts.

While former Postmaster Springfield made no commitments yesterday, close friends of the former postmaster said he would decline any nomination at the hands of the convention Saturday and throw his full support behind a movement to retain the county organization which he built up within the past decade while serving as postmaster of Chattanooga under republican presidents. His grasp on the party machinery is being sought by the Crutchfield-Lusk-Anderson wing of the party and candidates are in the field in most of the county's precincts seeking to overthrow Springfield committeemen.

Wednesday night Carlyle Littleton, one of the mainstays in the party who has not allied himself in its factional battles, made a stagger at trying to get the two elements harmonized. Both Springfield and Crutchfield were at the conference and later McKinley Hays was called in to confer. Mr. Littleton was acting in the capacity of an adjuster. When the conference finally ended, however, very few of the major issues had been settled, it was reported.

The control of the powerful credentials committee is the one thing both factions are after.

A group of Negro politicians under the leadership of Bill Grossman, Third ward and west side politician, are attempting to unhorse Walter Robinson, Fourth ward colored leader, and his Greater Chattanooga Colored Voters' league. Grossman and his cohorts have put out candidates in every Negro precinct, hoping to be able to beat the Robinson-Harper-Byers combine. This combine has been in control in the Negrop recincts for several years. Irrespective of the results of the mass primaries and conventions tonight in the Negro wards, two delegations are expected to be present Saturday morning contesting for seats in the convention. The credentials committee will pass upon the delegates. The Robinson following is threatening the opposition with an open revolt in the event Robinson delegates are not seated in the convention. Republican leaders last night conceded that the Negro controversy is threatening the success of the republican ticket in the August election.

Measures were being taken yesterda to avoid any violent outbreaks in th Negro precincts as the fights in som are intense. In the Third ward, Butler ("Doodle") Richardson is seekinin re-election to the committee on th Robinson ticket. The Grossman candidate is Walter Kendricks, who ha been vigorous in his assault upon the Robinson league of voters for severa years. Against Robinson in the Fourt ward is W. H. Tipton. In the Firs precinct of the Seventh ward Jim Hogarth is attempting to unhorse Burr Lowe, a Robinson cohort.

In the Second precinct of the Seventh D. C. Harper is battling wit Glenn Hawkins. The battle in this precinct has become embittered. "Goose" Garrett is trying to unhorse Sid Byer in the Fourth precinct of the Twelfth ward (Bushtown). Four years ago Byers carried the precinct by 400 or more votes, but the committee refused to seat Byers and seated Garrett. In the August election which followed the democrats carried the precinct.

In the Eighth ward Prof. J. W. Williams has been selected by the anti-Robinson faction to contest with Luther Blake for the committeeman's post, and Prof. A. G. King is contesting in behalf of the anti-Robinson forces for the committeeman's place in the First precinct of the Thirteenth ward (Fort Cheatham). The Robinson group has Harry Patton in the race.

While the name of H. B. Caulkins former member of the county court was being noised around yesterday as a possible candidate for county judge against United States Commissioner James H. Anderson, nothing developed that would indicate that the former member of the county court will allow his name presented to the convention against Anderson, and it appeared that Commissioner A[illegible] nominated without [illegible] likewise, Crutchfield and [illegible] Lusk are expected to [illegible] for attorney-general and criminal judge, respectively.

Frank Mosier, former chief deputy sheriff under Sheriff John K. Tate, is delaying his formal announcement for the criminal court clerk's race, although he has no announced opposition thus far. Ross McNabb and George Hall are contesting for the circuit court clerk's nomination. Ed Conner is the "lone wolf" in the race for the nomination for county court clerk. For county register the names of former Sheriff Horace Humphreys, Fred Broyles, Springfield and Mrs. Elizabeth Buchholtz are being discussed.

Judge Oscar Yarnell and Chancellor J. Lon Foust, democratic nominees for re-election, are not expected to have opposition from the republicans for re-election. J. C. Nipper and E. Stuart Gill are considering asking the republicans for the nomination against Judge L. D. Miller, democratic nominee for judge of the circuit-criminal court. Judge Miller, however, has influential friends in the republican party who may be able to head off opposition to his candidacy.

Louisville, Ky., Irish American
April 21, 1934

LOCAL REPUBLICANS GET NEW DEAL.

When Constable Jim Mulligan, ex-Deputy Sheriff Mike Cissell and Goat Ware, Negro political leader, pleaded guilty in the Criminal Court this week on the charges of political conspiracy, it meant the dawn of a new deal in local republican affairs. The three guilty ones were closely allied with the Harrison-Coleman faction and that faction goes into the discard with their agents. This brings Charley Ryans and his friends back in the political picture as the real Republican leaders. With Mr. Ryans comes Jouett Ross Todd and the others who opposed the Harrison-Coleman-Mulligan faction in the primary. The latter realize that the Criminal Court fiasco made Charley Ryans and a few of the discarded ones and are now trying to enlist under the new leader. It is said that former boss Ches Searcy has tried to jump on the bandwagon and is suggesting that Charley Ryans declare for Congress without further delay. Charley is aware of the old adage of "beware of the Greeks when they come bearing gifts," and refuses to fall for the suggestion.

Mr. Ryans is smart enough politically to know that the party is pretty badly hurt just now, and not fit to stage a gruelling race for Congress. If he lost this year it would mean that his G. O. P. rivals would then jump back into the picture in the governor's race next year, and he will bide his time until then. It is probable that the winning combination of Ryans-Petty-Todd will be to the front again, and that the gate will be given Ex-Mayor Harrison, Ex-County Attorney Coleman, Good Man Quin, Cap Huhlein, Wm. Heyburn, John Barr and the others who are charged with the low stage of the party just now.

COLORED BROTHERS GET THE JOLT.

Another aftermath of the Criminal Court trial is that Negro Republicans have been left to bear the brunt of the last disastrous rout. Seventeen Negro Republicans are now left to face court trials for election offenses and there will be no high-priced attorneys to aid them. It is safe to say that there will be no funds from the former administration headquarters to use in their behalf. The Negro preachers and teachers who were on the stump at so much per speech, will be silent now when the fate of their Republican brothers is at stake. Already delegations of these are waiting on the Democratic administration suggesting that they be allowed to name "prominent Negroes" to positions, and trying to jump over the heads of the Negro Democrats who were beaten and battered on last election day, with never a protest from the supposedly higher-class members of their own race.

In every local campaign these same Negro preachers and teachers have followed the Searcy-Chilton machine, the Harrison-Coleman machine and other discredited Republican machines with campaign money for their efforts. On the stump, and in their church pulpits they exhorted the Negroes to not forget Abe Lincoln, who freed 'em, nor forget Ches, Matt, Little Boy Blue and the Country Attorney who were doing so much for them now. This old racket worked for a considerable length of time, and up to the last campaign, when Negroes by the hundreds rebelled and refused to follow the instructions of the bribed leaders. Today, these same rebels are pointing to the fate of the seventeen Negro tools who are now faced with the trial of trying to explain why they had to slug members of their own race in the interest of the Grand Old Party. While there is a new deal for the unsullied members of the white Republican wing, there has been a new deal for the Negroes, and many of them have cut their registration cards for a new deal in the Democratic party.

Party Affiliation.

Chattanooga, Tenn.
TIMES

APR 13 1934

REPUBLICANS FACE CONVENTION SCRAP

Hopes for Harmony Tomorrow Grow Less Probable.

Springfield - Crutchfield Tilt May Explode — Negroes Another Hard Puzzle.

On the eve of the republican precinct mass primaries several heated controversies in the ranks of the party have developed which threaten to disturb the "planned for harmony" convention tomorrow morning.

A strenuous campaign was under way yesterday between the Springfield and Crutchfield elements to gain control of the Hamilton county republican executive committee and subsequently the convention. This battle primarily must be fought out in today's and tonight's precinct meetings.

Also menacing the much desired harmony program of the republicans was a threat of revolt in the city's seven heavy Negro precincts.

While former Postmaster Springfield made no commitments yesterday, close friends of the former postmaster said he would decline any nomination at the hands of the convention Saturday and throw his full support behind a movement to retain the county organization which he built up within the past decade while serving as postmaster of Chattanooga under republican presidents. His grasp on the party machinery is being sought by the Crutchfield-Lusk-Anderson wing of the party and candidates are in the field in most of the county's precincts seeking to overthrow Springfield committeemen.

Wednesday night Carlyle Littleton, one of the mainstays in the party who has not allied himself in its factional battles, made a stagger at trying to get the two elements harmonized. Both Springfield and Crutchfield were at the conference and later McKinley Hays was called in to confer. Mr. Littleton was acting in the capacity of an adjuster. When the conference finally ended, however, very few of the major issues had been settled, it was reported.

The control of the powerful credentials committee is the one thing both factions are after.

A group of Negro politicians under the leadership of Bill Grossman, Third ward and west side politician, are attempting to unhorse Walter Robinson, Fourth ward colored leader, and his Greater Chattanooga Colored Voters league. Grossman and his cohorts have put out candidates in every Negro precinct, hoping to be able to beat the Robinson-Harper-Byers combine. This combine has been in control in the Negrop recincts for several years. Irrespective of the results of the mass primaries and conventions tonight in the Negro wards, two delegations are expected to be present Saturday morning contesting for seats in the convention. The credentials committee will pass upon the delegates. The Robinson following is threatening the opposition with an open revolt in the event Robinson delegates are not seated in the convention. Republican leaders last night conceded that the Negro controversy is threatening the success of the republican ticket in the August election.

Measures were being taken yesterda to avoid any violent outbreaks in th Negro precincts as the fights in som are intense. In the Third ward, Butler ("Doodle") Richardson is seekin re-election to the committee on th Robinson ticket. The Grossman candidate is Walter Kendricks, who ha been vigorous in his assault upon the Robinson league of voters for severa years. Against Robinson in the Fourt ward is W. H. Tipton. In the Firs precinct of the Seventh ward Jim Hogarth is attempting to unhorse Burr Lowe, a Robinson cohort.

In the Second precinct of the Seventh D. C. Harper is battling wit Glenn Hawkins. The battle in this precinct has become embittered. "Goose" Garrett is trying to unhorse Sid Byer in the Fourth precinct of the Twelfth ward (Bushtown). Four years ago Byers carried the precinct by 400 or more votes, but the committee refused to seat Byers and seated Garrett. In the August election which followed the democrats carried the precinct.

In the Eighth ward Prof. J. W. Williams has been selected by the anti-Robinson faction to contest with Luther Blake for the committeeman's post, and Prof. A. G. King is contesting in behalf of the anti-Robinson forces for the committeeman's place in the First precinct of the Thirteenth ward (Fort Cheatham). The Robinson group has Harry Patton in the race.

While the name of H. B. Caulkins former member of the county court was being noised around yesterday as a possible candidate for county judge against United States Commissioner James H. Anderson, nothing developed that would indicate that the former member of the county court will allow his name presented to the convention against Anderson, and it appeared that Commissioner A[illegible] nominated without [illegible] Crutchfield and [illegible] Lusk are expected to [illegible] for attorney-general and criminal judge, respectively.

Frank Mosier, former chief deputy sheriff under Sheriff John K. Tate, is delaying his formal announcement for the criminal court clerk's race, although he has no announced opposition thus far. Ross McNabb and George Hall are contesting for the circuit court clerk's nomination. Ed Conner is the "lone wolf" in the race for the nomination for county court clerk. For county register the names of former Sheriff Horace Humphreys, Fred Broyles, Springfield and Mrs. Elizabeth Buchholtz are being discussed.

Judge Oscar Yarnell and Chancellor J. Lon Foust, democratic nominees for re-election, are not expected to have opposition from the republicans for re-election. J. C. Nipper and E. Stuart Gill are considering asking the republicans for the nomination against Judge L. D. Miller, democratic nominee for judge of the circuit-criminal court. Judge Miller, however, has influential friends in the republican party who may be able to head off opposition to his candidacy.

Louisville, Ky., Irish American
April 21, 1934

LOCAL REPUBLICANS GET NEW DEAL.

When Constable Jim Mulligan, ex-Deputy Sheriff Mike Cissell and Goat Ware, Negro political leader, pleaded guilty in the Criminal Court this week on the charges of political conspiracy, it meant the dawn of a new deal in local republican affairs. The three guilty ones were closely allied with the Harrison-Coleman faction and that faction goes into the discard with their agents. This brings Charley Ryans and his friends back in the political picture as the real Republican leaders. With Mr. Ryans comes Jouett Ross Todd and the others who opposed the Harrison-Coleman-Mulligan faction in the primary. The latter realize that the Criminal Court fiasco made Charley Ryans and a few of the discarded ones and are now trying to enlist under the new leader. It is said that former boss Ches Searcy has tried to jump on the bandwagon and is suggesting that Charley Ryans declare for Congress without further delay. Charley is aware of the old adage of "beware of the Greeks when they come bearing gifts," and refuses to fall for the suggestion.

Mr. Ryans is smart enough politically to know that the party is pretty badly hurt just now, and not fit to stage a gruelling race for Congress. If he lost this year it would mean that his G. O. P. rivals would then jump back into the picture in the governor's race next year, and he will bide his time until then. It is probable that the winning combination of Ryans-Petty-Todd will be to the front again, and that the gate will be given Ex-Mayor Harrison, Ex-County Attorney Coleman, Good Man Quin, Cap Huhlein, Wm. Heyburn, John Barr and the others who are charged with the low stage of the party just now.

COLORED BROTHERS GET THE JOLT.

Another aftermath of the Criminal Court trial is that Negro Republicans have been left to bear the brunt of the last disastrous rout. Seventeen Negro Republicans are now left to face court trials for election offenses and there will be no high-priced attorneys to aid them. It is safe to say that there will be no funds from the former administration headquarters to use in their behalf. The Negro preachers and teachers who were on the stump at so much per speech, will be silent now when the fate of their Republican brothers is at stake. Already delegations of these are waiting on the Democratic administration suggesting that they be allowed to name "prominent Negroes" to positions, and trying to jump over the heads of the Negro Democra[illegible] who were beaten and battered on last election day, with never a protest from the supposedly higher-class members of their own race.

In every local campaign these same Negro preachers and teachers have followed the Searcy-Chilton machine, the Harrison-Coleman machine and other discredited Republican machines with campaign money for their efforts. On the stump, and in their church pulpits they exhorted the Negroes to not forget Abe Lincoln, who freed 'em, nor forget Ches, Matt, Little Boy Blue and the Country Attorney who were doing so much for them now. This old racket worked for a considerable length of time, and up to the last campaign, when Negroes by the hundreds rebelled and refused to follow the instructions of the bribed leaders. Today, these same rebels are pointing to the fate of the seventeen Negro tools who are now faced with the trial of trying to explain why they had to slug members of their own race in the interest of the Grand Old Party. While there is a new deal for the unsullied members of the white Republican wing, there has been a new deal for the Negroes, and many of them have cut their registration cards for a new deal in the Democratic party.

MEMPHIS, TENN.
COMMERCIAL APPEAL

APR 30 1934

TIPTON G. O. P. IN FIGHT

Lily Whites and Black and Tans to Demand Recognition

COVINGTON, Tenn., April 29.—There will likely be contesting delegations from Tipton County at the Republican State convention at Chattanooga, May 15, and also at the Eighth District Congressional convention at Edgewater Beach May 22.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock pursuant to a call issued by the Tipton County Republican executive committee, of which J. W. Cole, negro, is chairman, and William Thompson, negro, is secretary a mass meeting of Repubicans was hed at the courthouse here. Nearly all of the civil districts were represenuted.

After reaffirming their allegiance to the Republican party and its principles, delegates were elected to the Republican state convention and to the Republican congressional convention.

A Republican county executive committee was elected, of which J. W. Cole was re-elected chairman and William Thompson was re-elected secretary.

A call has been made by W. A. Brown, chairman of the lily white Tipton County Republican executive committee, and J. M. Stuart, secretary, for a meeting of Republicans at the courthouse next Saturday afternoon to elect delegates to the state and district conventions.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.
JOURNAL

MAY 8 1934

Young Colored G.O.P. Endorses Hoffman

The Young Colored Republicans of Hudson County, meeting last night in the headquarters on Union Street, endorsed Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman for governor. The meeting was presided over by Raymond Alleyne. He addressed the members and urged them to make every effort to have their friends support Commissioner Hoffman. He said in the Commissioner the colored people have a fast friend.

Alleyne pointed out that Commissioner Hoffman had established a motor vehicle agency in Newark for the colored people. He said every colored organization and colored veterans' post are being besought to get behind the Hoffman candidacy. He declared that a goal of 8,000 votes for the Commissioner has been set.

The officers of the organization are Raymond Alleyne, president; Luther Carn, vice-president; Alfred Thomas, secretary and Mattie Wells, treasurer.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER

MAY 3 1934

Demarest Endorsed By Colored Republicans

W. Howard Demarest, independent Republican candidate for Surrogate, was endorsed by the Independent Republican Colored Club, Montclair, last night.

Demarest also spoke before the Bloomfield Young Republican Club last night in the home of Mayor Charles Demarest, 33 Clarendon place, Bloomfield, and the Halpin Association, 260 Washington street.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.
UNION

APR 29 1934

Negro Republicans To Join State Group

Membership in the Young Men's Republican assembly of California will be sought by the San Diego Young Men's Negro Republican club, according to William Bolden, club president. More than 300 members of the local organization met Friday night and voted to join the assembly, which includes young men's Republican clubs throughout the state.

Speakers were O. C. Heitman, president of Federated Trades council; District Attorney Thomas Whelan, Justice Philip Smith, George W. Fisher, attorney, and Oliver E. Owen. Fisher and Owen represented the Men's Republican league of San Diego county. O. A. Fitch, vice president of the club, presided.

Chattanooga, Tenn.
NEWS

MAY 16 1934

Fall of Bob Church

AMID the tumultous shouting of delegates, the leadership of Bob Church, Memphis Negro, in Republican politics of Tennessee was overthrown yesterday afternoon. After two committees had recommended that the Black and Tan delegation led by the Negro be seated in the Republican convention, the delegates from the convention floor seated the Lily White group led by John E. McCall, legionnaire and Republican candidate for Governor in 1932.

If not the potentate, at least a sort of keeper of the royal bedchamber, Church has played an important part in Republican circles for many years. Time and again, his delegation has been seated in place of the Lily Whites. He has lifted a sonorous voice in deciding patronage spoils. White Republican leaders have kowtowed to him and he has waxed powerful with his own race.

The overthrow of Church, aside from the salutary effect of ridding the Republican party in Tennessee of this stigma of its bossism, is significant in another way. It indicates that the rank and file of the party are wearied unto rebellion at the type of leadership which they have been given for the past several years. The cries of "betrayal," of a Judas within their own inner circle, ring loudly in their ears. They have had enough of trades and manipulations which benefit none but the bosses.

Unshackled delegates let themselves go in their rage at the bosses. The Taylor-Clements-Church faction was hooted and jeered at every turn. On the other hand, the cheering for the other group was loud and prolonged. Former State Senator Hal Clements endeavored to speak in behalf of seating the Church delegation. He was greeted with catcalls and Bronx cheers. His partisans could hurl back that awful term of "yokels" but that did not quiet them. He had a difficult job in saying his say.

When the roll call was finally made, the Church faction had been rejected by a vote of 649 to 446. It is a good beginning toward cleaning up the party.

Perhaps the King will fall next.

TENNESSEE GOP UNSEATS BOB CHURCH GROUP

Votes 649-446 for Lily White Faction of John McCall.

2 COMMITTEES ARE OVERRULED

Charge Memphis Minister was "Hired."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—By a vote of 649 to 446 the Bob Church faction was unseated by the lily-white faction led by John E. McCall at the state Republican convention held here Tuesday.

BOB CHURCH

While this unprecedented action widened the breach between the opposing GOP camps in Tennessee, political observers are of the opinion that the Church faction and the Taylor - Reece - Clements forces combined, control about 50,000 votes which in the coming election will obviously not go to McCall for governor.

Override Committees

In seating the McCall delegation the convention overrode recommendations of the executive committee which voted 6-3 to seat the Church delegation, and the credentials committee which by a vote of 7-2 recommended the seating of the Church group.

McCall, it is charged, has consistently denied that he is a lily-white. The Rev. George Bell, a McCall delegate from Memphis, was present. It was to the Rev. Mr. Bell that Gen. A. V. McLane, chairman of the credentials committee, turned and charged that McCall "hired" him to come to the convention as "Exhibit A" that his group knew no color line.

Congressman J. Will Taylor, national comitteeman, could not be at the convention due to the death of his mother. His home county, Campbell, however, remained in the Church ranks.

Walter Robinson, veteran political leader of Hamilton County, assisted by Dock Harper and Sid Byers, carried his county for Church.

Wrangle Four Hours

Ben Hooper, former Governor, Hal Clements, former state senator, and a number of other Church supporters sought to speak in behalf of the Church delegation, but were howled down. After about four hours of wrangling, the McCall forces were seated.

At the county convention here in April, the Church forces won after a bitter struggle. In the last gubernatorial election, Church is reported to have supported Hill McAlester, white, Democratic candidate. For many years he and Mr. Taylor have held the fate of the Republican party in Tennessee in their control.

The Republican party in this state has never been a cohesive organization. Success of one faction in nominating a candidate for governor or senator has always resulted in the other faction's voting for the Democratic candidates.

Logan, W. Va. Democrat
June 7, 1934

SOUTHERN NEGRO DEMOCRATS WILL MEET IN LOGAN

District Convention Scheduled to Be Held in This City on July 21 Under Auspices of Logan League

What is expected to be the largest assemblage of Negro democrats ever witnessed in the state is scheduled for Logan on July 21, when the Southern West Virginia Negro League will hold its annual convention in this city as the guests of the Logan Negro Democratic League whose invitation to the district association to hold its meeting here was recently accepted at an an executive meeting held in Beckley.

Plans and preparations for the big event are now well underway by the leaders and committes of the Logan League, and the tentative program provides for speeches by noted national, state and local officials; varied amusements and a big reception and dance in the evening.

All "New Deal" democrats are invited to attend and participate in the event, and those in charge of the arrangements are confident that more than a thousand negro democrats will be here for the affair.

Political – 1934
Party Affiliation –

Republican.

SCRANTON, PA.
REPUBLICAN

OCT 11 1934

Endorse G. O. P. Ticket

The Republican ticket was endorsed last night at a meeting of the Lackawanna County Colored Republican Club. President T. J. Franklin presided. The next meeting will be held Oct. 22.

PASSAIC, N.J.
NEWS

OCT 15 1934

Smith Urges Negroes to Attend Republican Rally

William Smith, president of the Southern Negroes Association, of Passaic, today urged all members and friends of the association to attend the Republican mass meeting which will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Ritz Ball Room, Main Avenue and Henry Street.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

OCT 8 1934

CLAIMS G. O. P. STRAYED FROM LINCOLN IDEALS

Indiana Legislator Urges Voting of Straight Democratic Ticket

Several hundred persons who attended the colored democratic rally Sunday afternoon in the Masonic hall, 119 North Eighth street, were urged by the principal speaker, Henry J. Richardson, an Indianapolis colored legislator, to vote the straight democratic ticket.

Lincoln, the speaker said, today would "revolt against the republican organization because that organization has strayed far away from his ideals."

The Negro, he said, has helped himself by joining the ranks of the democrats—"the party which in turn has helped him and helped him willingly and abundantly. And the Negro will continue to help himself by voting the democratic ticket as long as the party is fair and just.

"Today, he is walking down the street of democracy with the democratic party which leads to a victorious end with President Roosevelt as his savior."

Richardson asserted that whereas Lincoln emancipated the Negro, economic emancipation is being effected under the Roosevelt administration.

During the morning Richardson placed a wreath at Lincoln's tomb and visited the capitol grounds and Lincoln's home.

The meeting was opened by J. S. LeVine, president of the Harmony club. Attorney William B. Bruce was permanent chairman. Democratic candidates were introduced by Dr. R. H. Beverly.

Louis H. Moore, representing the state democratic central committee, was introduced. Other speakers included C. W. Tinsley, Dr. Beverly, Horace Adams of East St. Louis, F. M. Summers of East St. Louis and Attorney A. Morris Williams.

There was a program of music. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

WHEELING, W. VA.
NEWS

OCT 14 1934

G. O. P. Committeemen At Rally of Republicans

Republican colored voters of Weirton held an enthusiastic rally at the Carroll club in Weirton last night.

Hon. Perry W. Howard, Republican national committeeman from Mississippi and for years the champion of negro rights in the south, tiraded the crowd on Republicanism. A fearless defender of his race and an exponent of the Republican party, Mr. Howard was extended a cheering welcome to the city.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS
NEWS

OCT 12 1934

COLORED CLUB TO MEET

Party Candidates to Address Republican Group

The Colored Republican club will sponsor a political meeting tonight at 8 at 1200 Main street, eighth floor where a number of the party candidates will appear as speakers. Atty William H. Martin will preside, and R. W. Elder will serve as secretary. Candidates who have accepted invitations to speak are Atty Charles R. Clason, Republican nominee for Congress; Atty Charles W. Bosworth, candidate for district-attorney, and Senator Russell D. Chase, candidate for reelection. The public is invited.

DES MOINES, IA.
TRIBUNE CAPITAL

OCT 18 1934

Simmons to Talk At Rally in City

Nephew of Booker Washington Here Saturday.

Roscoe Conkling Simmons, Negro orator and writer, will speak at 8:15 p. m. Saturday at the Princess theater, the Negro voters division of the Republican state and county central committees announced Thursday.

He is political editor of the Chicago Defender and seconded the nomination of Herbert Hoover at the Republican national convention in 1932. He is a nephew of Booker T. Washington and had his early training under him. He is a resident of Chicago and a member of the speakers bureau of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

CHARLSTON, W. VA.
MAIL

OCT 15 1934

G. O. P. Rally to Hear Colored Committeeman

Perry W. Howard, of Washington, Negro member of the Republican national committee from Mississippi, will address a Republican rally at the Kanawha county courthouse at 8 p. m. Monday.

Howard served for eight years as an assistant to the United States attorney general, under Presidents Harding and Coolidge. He is a member of a Washington law firm.

The meeting, which is the first large Republican rally of the campaign, will be preceded by a parade. Other speakers will be on the program.

Two organization meetings will be held Wednesday evening at county Republican headquarters. One will be a meeting of Republican women from Wards Nos. 1 to 6 on the West Side, and the other of young Republicans from the West Side.

Also announced Monday was the appointment of W. H. Perry as director of the veterans' division of the county headquarters.

HOBOKEN, N. J
OBSERVER

OCT 16 1934

Colored Voters Hear Kean

Meeting in Lincoln High School Preceded by Parad —Senator Sees Doom of Individual Liberty, Equal Opportunity.

Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican candidate for reelection, carried forward his attack on the policies of the Roosevelt administration in an address at a rally of negro voters in Lincoln High School, Jersey City, last night. The rally, at which Raymond Alleyne was chairman, was preceded by a parade of negro and independent Republican units.

Senator Kean charged that the New Deal program of the Democratic administration would spell the doom of individual liberty and equal opportunity. He said:

"People came from foreign shores to this country to find liberty. They came to seek the opportunities that were guaranteed under our constitution.

"That is what we still want. That is what we are fighting for—equal opportunity for all—equal jjustice for all, black and white.

"That is good democratic doctrine. Good Democrats were for that doctrine for many years. Now they are going to regiment the people. It means that if a man is a shoemaker he remains a shoemaker all his life. It means that not only will a man be forced to remain in his same job all his life, but that, also, his children will be destined to the same work.

"People came here for American opportunity to better themselves. Now they find not the American plan, but the European plan. I want to see the broad road of individual opportunity which America has followed for 147 years kept open. That is what I am fighting for. That is why I think you should vote for me."

Anti-Lynching Bill

Senator Kean spoke, also, of his efforts to obtain passage for his anti-lynching bill and other measures to aid the negroes. He received a warm greeting from the crowd.

In the absence of Harold G. Hoffman, gubernatorial candidate, State Senator John C. Barbour, of Passaic, spoke in his behalf. The state Senator chided Judge William L. Dill on the jjury reform issue, claiming that the Democrats had constantly blocked real jury reform.

The speaker declared, also, that Judge Dill had borrowed from his own and other Republicans' tax relief plans to build up his tax program. He charged that Dill would find it impossible to make the 21 per cent reduction in taxes he promised and still raise $10,000,000 more per year.

He commended Hoffman's declaration that he would agree to new taxes before he would let anyone starve.

Other speakers at the rally included: J. Owen Grundy, candidate for the Boulevard Commission; Anthony L. Montelli, candidate for Congress; George M. Eichler, candidate for State Senator, and several Negro leaders.

A group of Grundy supporters numbering about 500, formed the largest single unit in the parade. They marched from Grundy's home on Park street, to Union street where the parade formed. There was a noisy demonstration when the paraders reached the hall.

CHICAGO, ILL.
NEWS

OCT 20 1934

TWO ALABAMANS STAGE FIGHT FOR CONGRESS HERE

Oscar DePriest Engaged in Hot Battle with Arthur Mitchell.

BY PAUL R. LEACH.

Two native Alabamans are staging one of the hottest political campaigns in the United States on Chicago's near south side for the 1st district Illinois seat in the national congress.

Congressman Oscar DePriest, old time republican leader of the colored wards, elected to congress first in 1928, and reelected in 1930 and 1932, is having the fight of his political life, a fight of which he had no slightest expectation at the time of the April primaries. And it is a fight, too, which is not without those touches of humor which make it worth while—at times.

Always, heretofore, Congressman DePriest has been opposed in his district by a white democrat. That has resulted, even in the 1932 landslide year, to what is commonly known as a "pushover" for DePriest, for the district is overwhelm-

Political – 1934
Party Affiliation

Republican.

SCRANTON, PA.
REPUBLICAN

OCT 11 1934

Endorse G. O. P. Ticket

The Republican ticket was endorsed last night at a meeting of the Lackawanna County Colored Republican Club. President T. J. Franklin presided. The next meeting will be held Oct. 22.

PASSAIC, N.J.
NEWS

OCT 15 1934

Smith Urges Negroes to Attend Republican Rally

William Smith, president of the Southern Negroes Association, of Passaic, today urged all members and friends of the association to attend the Republican mass meeting which will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Ritz Ball Room, Main Avenue and Henry Street.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.
REGISTER

OCT 8 1934

CLAIMS G. O. P. STRAYED FROM LINCOLN IDEALS

Indiana Legislator Urges Voting of Straight Democratic Ticket

Several hundred persons who attended the colored democratic rally Sunday afternoon in the Masonic hall, 119 North Eighth street, were urged by the principal speaker, Henry J. Richardson, an Indianapolis colored legislator, to vote the straight democratic ticket.

Lincoln, the speaker said, today would "revolt against the republican organization because that organization has strayed far away from his ideals."

The Negro, he said, has helped himself by joining the ranks of the democrats—"the party which in turn has helped him and helped him willingly and abundantly. And the Negro will continue to help himself by voting the democratic ticket as long as the party is fair and just.

"Today, he is walking down the street of democracy with the democratic party which leads to a victorious end with President Roosevelt as his savior."

Richardson asserted that whereas Lincoln emancipated the Negro, economic emancipation is being effected under the Roosevelt administration.

During the morning Richardson placed a wreath at Lincoln's tomb and visited the capitol grounds and Lincoln's home.

The meeting was opened by J. S. LeVine, president of the Harmony club. Attorney William B. Bruce was permanent chairman. Democratic candidates were introduced by Dr. R. H. Beverly.

Louis H. Moore, representing the state democratic central committee, was introduced. Other speakers included C. W. Tinsley, Dr. Beverly, Horace Adams of East St. Louis, F. M. Summers of East St. Louis and Attorney A. Morris Williams.

There was a program of music. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

WHEELING, W. VA.
NEWS

OCT 14 1934

G. O. P. Committeemen At Rally of Republicans

Republican colored voters of Weirton held an enthusiastic rally at the Carroll club in Weirton last night.

Hon. Perry W. Howard, Republican national committeeman from Mississippi and for years the champion of negro rights in the south, tiraded the crowd on Republicanism. A fearless defender of his race and an exponent of the Republican party, Mr. Howard was extended a cheering welcome to the city.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS
NEWS

OCT 12 1934

COLORED CLUB TO MEET

Party Candidates to Address Republican Group

The Colored Republican club will sponsor a political meeting tonight at 8 at 1200 Main street, eighth floor where a number of the party candidates will appear as speakers. Atty William H. Martin will preside, and R. W. Elder will serve as secretary. Candidates who have accepted invitations to speak are Atty Charles R. Clason, Republican nominee for Congress; Atty Charles W. Bosworth, candidate for district-attorney, and Senator Russell D. Chase, candidate for reelection. The public is invited.

DES MOINES, IA.
TRIBUNE CAPITAL

OCT 18 1934

Simmons to Talk At Rally in City

Nephew of Booker Washington Here Saturday.

Roscoe Conkling Simmons, Negro orator and writer, will speak at 8:15 p. m. Saturday at the Princess theater, the Negro voters division of the Republican state and county central committees announced Thursday.

He is political editor of the Chicago Defender and seconded the nomination of Herbert Hoover at the Republican national convention in 1932. He is a nephew of Booker T. Washington and had his early training under him. He is a resident of Chicago and a member of the speakers bureau of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

CHARLSTON, W. VA.
MAIL

OCT 15 1934

G. O. P. Rally to Hear Colored Committeeman

Perry W. Howard, of Washington, Negro member of the Republican national committee from Mississippi, will address a Republican rally at the Kanawha county courthouse at 8 p. m. Monday.

Howard served for eight years as an assistant to the United States attorney general, under Presidents Harding and Coolidge. He is a member of a Washington law firm.

The meeting, which is the first large Republican rally of the campaign, will be preceded by a parade. Other speakers will be on the program.

Two organization meetings will be held Wednesday evening at county Republican headquarters. One will be a meeting of Republican women from Wards Nos. 1 to 6 on the West Side, and the other of young Republicans from the West Side.

Also announced Monday was the appointment of W. H. Perry as director of the veterans' division of the county headquarters.

HOBOKEN, N. J
OBSERVER

OCT 16 1934

Colored Voters Hear Kean

Meeting in Lincoln High School Preceded by Parade —Senator Sees Doom of Individual Liberty, Equal Opportunity.

Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican candidate for reelection, carried forward his attack on the policies of the Roosevelt administration in an address at a rally of negro voters in Lincoln High School, Jersey City, last night. The rally, at which Raymond Alleyne was chairman, was preceded by a parade of negro and independent Republican units.

Senator Kean charged that the New Deal program of the Democratic administration would spell the doom of individual liberty and equal opportunity. He said:

"People came from foreign shores to this country to find liberty. They came to seek the opportunities that were guaranteed under our constitution.

"That is what we still want. That is what we are fighting for—equal opportunity for all—equal jjustice for all, black and white.

"That is good democratic doctrine. Good Democrats were for that doctrine for many years. Now they are going to regiment the people. It means that if a man is a shoemaker he remains a shoemaker all his life. It means that not only will a man be forced to remain in his same job all his life, but that, also, his children will be destined to the same work.

"People came here for American opportunity to better themselves. Now they find not the American plan, but the European plan. I want to see the broad road of individual opportunity which America has followed for 147 years kept open. That is what I am fighting for. That is why I think you should vote for me."

Anti-Lynching Bill

Senator Kean spoke, also, of his efforts to obtain passage for his anti-lynching bill and other measures to aid the negroes. He received a warm greeting from the crowd.

In the absence of Harold G. Hoffman, gubernatorial candidate, State Senator John C. Barbour, of Passaic, spoke in his behalf. The state Senator chided Judge William L. Dill on the jjury reform issue, claiming that the Democrats had constantly blocked real jury reform.

The speaker declared, also, that Judge Dill had borrowed from his own and other Republicans' tax relief plans to build up his tax program. He charged that Dill would find it impossible to make the 21 per cent reduction in taxes he promised and still raise $10,000,000 more per year.

He commended Hoffman's declaration that he would agree to new taxes before he would let anyone starve.

Other speakers at the rally included: J. Owen Grundy, candidate for the Boulevard Commission; Anthony L. Montelli, candidate for Congress; George M. Eichler, candidate for State Senator, and several Negro leaders.

A group of Grundy supporters numbering about 500, formed the largest single unit in the parade. They marched from Grundy's home on Park street, to Union street where the parade formed. There was a noisy demonstration when the paraders reached the hall.

CHICAGO, ILL.
NEWS

OCT 20 1934

TWO ALABAMANS STAGE FIGHT FOR CONGRESS HERE

Oscar DePriest Engaged in Hot Battle with Arthur Mitchell.

BY PAUL R. LEACH.

Two native Alabamans are staging one of the hottest political campaigns in the United States on Chicago's near south side for the 1st congressman from Illinois seat in the national house of representatives, and it is a fight, too, which is not without those touches of humor which make campaigns worth while—at times.

Congressman Oscar DePriest, old-time republican leader of the colored wards, elected to congress first in 1928, and reelected in 1930 and 1932, is having the fight of his political life, a fight of which he had the slightest expectation at the time of the April primaries. And it has resulted, even in the 1932 landslide year, to what is commonly known as a "pushover" for DePriest, for the district is overwhelmingly colored in population.

Sentiment Is Changed.

But things have been happening to the political sentiments of Chicago's colored folk. Traditionally republican since emancipation days, they and their fathers have voted the straight republican ticket almost without exception, election after election. They have leaders today who are telling them they will do better for themselves by splitting tickets.

In the April primary DePriest was renominated handily by the republicans, having 18,054 votes to 1,034 for Chandler Owen, who was backed by John H. Lyle's primary organization. In a field of five candidates Harry Baker, a white man and regarded as a protege of 1st ward Committeeman Michael Kenna, was nominated by the democrats with 7,236 votes. DePriest had defeated Baker in 1932 by 6,713 plurality, and anybody in the 1st district would have said at the time—and did say it—that DePriest would win again when November of 1934 rolled around. The total democratic primary vote was 16,150 to 19,088 total republican.

The Unexpected Happens.

But the unexpected thing happened. Mr. Baker died. Democratic committeemen of the 1st, 2d, 4th and 11th wards making up the district canvassed the situation when it came time for them, as the congressional district committee, to nominate a successor to Baker. Various men, white and colored, sought the nomination, but the committeemen decided upon Arthur W. Mitchell, a colored lawyer and educator, who had run second in the primary, with 6,812 votes to Baker's 7,236.

And Mitchell has proved himself a serious opponent for DePriest since. Both have been campaigning actively, both have had large meetings, and are having big meetings every night, for colored people are much more tolerant about listening to their own orators than are their white friends. Both are good speakers, and both love to take pot shots at the opposition.

Sends DePriest Challenge.

Mitchell wrote a letter to DePriest recently, challenging him to a duel of words, to debate the issues. DePriest waited two weeks before replying. At one of Mitchell's meetings night before last, the democratic candidate told of his challenge. He paused, smiled, and reached into his pocket.

"I have this reply from Mr. DePriest," Mitchell said, and, quoting from the letter, he read: "'Dear Mr. Mitchell: I understand that you are a candidate for congress and believe in my district——'"

That brought a howl of delight from the crowd.

"Mr. DePriest," Mitchell said sadly, "has just discovered that I am running. I feel sorry for him."

DePriest, who is 63 years old, was born in Florence, Ala., moved to Kansas with his parents when he was 7 years old, was educated through normal school at Salina and learned the painting and decorating trade, a business he engaged in when he came to Chicago more than twenty years ago.

Mitchell Also Alabaman.

Mitchell, who is just turning 50 years of age, was born on a farm in Randolph county, Alabama, attended Tuskegee college, taught public school in Georgia and Alabama, continued his education at Talladega college, and later did graduate work at Harvard and Columbia.

For ten years he was president of the Armstrong agricultural college in the heart of the black belt of Alabama—named for the color of its soil—a school he founded. He went to Washington after the war, studied law and was admitted to practice there. He came to Chicago in 1927 and has been active in the practice of law here since.

NEWARK, N. J.

LEDGER

OCT 14 1934

Kean Knows His Economics, Scott Avows

Senator Experienced in Finance and Industry, Says Manager

Supporting attacks made on the New Deal by United States Senator Hamilton F. Kean, Republican candidate for re-election, John H. Scott, the senator's campaign manager, called attention last night to Kean's experience in the fields of finance, industry and agriculture.

Scott maintained that Kean had acquired his knowledge on these subjects in the "hard school of experience" and not from textbooks.

"When Senator Kean attacks the Roosevelt administration on its monetary, industrial or agricultural policy," said Scott, "it must be realized that he is motivated wholly by his interest in those three avenues of approach to national recovery.

"What he may have to say in relation to at least these three points of difference in public opinion he says with authority and when he speaks he does so in the public interest and not as mere propaganda or vote-getting purposes.

"Senator Kean probably is one of the greatest authorities on finance in this country. He knows the historic background of every experiment made with respect to monetary systems throughout the world.

"Kean knows the difficulties that industry experiences with labor and that labor experiences with industry. He knows that both sides must be brought into sympathetic understanding. It was Kean who suggested to President Roosevelt the manner in which the recent textile strike was brought to an amicable adjustment.

Is Dirt Farmer

"As a dirt farmer and livestock breeder, Kean knows from first hand all the problems of the agriculturist. He knows that the farmer must look to the soil for his sustenance and he knows that the farmer cannot live unless he receives for his products a sufficient margin of profit to make it possible for him to equip himself for further production.

"He also knows that no real farmer subscribes to the theory that he can hope to increase his wealth by destroying the source of his income. No real farmer would ever think of killing off his livestock to stimulate the price of pork chops or loin steaks. No real farmer would think of plowing under his grain in an attempt to boost artificially the price of his crop."

Kean-Hoffman day will be celebrated in Essex County October 25 Republican state and county leaders will make a whirlwind tour of the county and conclude the day with an automobile parade at night and a mass meeting at the Mosque Theater.

Senator Kean and Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman, Republican nominee for Governor, will be entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Duffield. Duffield will be one of the principal speakers at the Mosque.

William E. Seeley is chairman of the committee in charge of the Mosque meeting, with City Commissioner Anthony F. Minisi as chairman of the committee on arrangements and A. B. Herman as chairman of seating arrangements.

Edge Club Opened

Campaign headquarters of the Walter E. Edge Republican Club were opened yesterday at 776 Broad street. A formal opening will be held during the week. The club has a membership of more than 2,500.

The Kean-Hoffman Colored Republican committee will hold a mass meeting Friday at Dreamland Academy, 28 Beacon street, in honor of Senator Kean and Hoffman. George E. Bates will preside.

The Newark Young Republicans colored division, will meet Wednesday night at their headquarters, 368 Washington street.

Hartley Boosters of the Eighth Ward will meet Thursday night at the North End Club to perfect a Ward organization in behalf of Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., Republican candidate for re-election.

A special labor committee has been appointed by the Citizen's Republican Association to make a tour of labor groups in Essex County in behalf of the Republican candidates. Daniel Klockner, Jr. is chairman of the committee. The other members are William Baumgartner, Charles Miller, Charles R. Bryant and Albert Hutloff and Richard J. Ryan.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

STATE JOURNAL

OCT 6 1934

RURAL GROUP OF REPUBLICANS TO MEET TODAY

Various Candidates Will Address Committemen At Headquarters.

A meeting of Republican committeemen from the rural districts of Sangamon county will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the headquarters on the west side of the square. The meeting will be called to order by the chairman of the county committee, and the various candidates on the county ticket will make short addresses.

It will be the first gathering of the country committeemen since the body was organized last April. Reports on the political outlook from the various townships will be received.

State Representative Harris B. Gaines, Chicago, urged colored voters of Sangamon county to organize and support the Republican ticket in an address in the headquarters last night.

Gaines, state organizer of colored voters for the state committee, said that Republicans are on the way back to power and that, in his judgment, the new deal is a "bum deal" for members of his group. The Chicago legislator spoke at a meeting of the Illinois Republican Citizens' league, of which Dr. S. A. Ware is president and Robert Wright is secretary.

Other speakers of the evening were Doctor Ware, Wright, Ernest Dye, nominee for sheriff; Ben Myers, for county clerk; Judge Benjamin De Boice, candidate for probate judge; W. O. Withrow, for superintendent of schools, and State's Attorney Alfred H. Greening.

The Republican barbecue, which was to have been held on the farm of Milton E. Jones, Republican nominee for congressman-at-large, at Williamsville today, has been postponed. The event was called off several days ago because a barbecue had been previously arranged in LaSalle county.

A group of Democratic workers met with Chairman Peter F. Rossiter in the headquarters in the basement of the Ridgely-Farmers bank building. Organization and registration were the subjects discussed by Rossiter and a group of the candidates.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

Republican State Convention Inserts Plank on Negro Rights; 23 Colored Delegates Present

Age 10-6-34

Rochester, N. Y.—Aside from being the most spirited convention since 1910, the Republican State Convention which convened here September 27, 28 was noteworthy in that there were twenty-three Negro delegates—21 from greater New York and 2 from Buffalo—Unfortunately, all of the four Negro members of the State Committee who were elected in Manhattan were not able to be present for the meeting of the state committee would have also been noteworthy as far as the race is concerned.

The followng plank was unanimously adopted at the convention through the efforts of the Negro delegates:

"We condemn all practices that tend to deny to our colored citizens of State and Nation the equality of opportunity and the full protection guaranteed to them by the Constitution of the United States and the State of New York, and reaffirm our pledge of sympathetic interest and cooperation in their struggle upward."

The Negro delegates at the convention were: Edward A. Dixon and Dr. Myron McGuire of Buffalo; Mrs. Anna V. Barnes, Mrs. Mamie E. Graves, Hugh Shipley, Dr. Albert Reed and Dr. Milton C. Wilson, all of Queens; Dr. George Wright and Arthur Q. Martin of Brooklyn. From Manhattan the delegates were: George Nash of the 11th Assembly District; Ludlow W. Werner, 13th Assembly District; Mrs. Blanche Bond, Mrs. Sarah Speaks, Attorney Francis E. Rivers, Michigan C. Brown, Samuel Holman and Assistant Corporation Counsel Eardlie Johns of the 19th Assembly District; Alderman Conrad Johnson, Charles W. B. Mitchell, Hamilton J. Travis and Dr. Henry Harding of the 21 Assembly District and Mrs. Lillian Bradley and Frank H. Gordon of the 22nd Assembly District.

The convention would not have been deadlocked Friday afternoon in the contest for the gubernatorial nomination had the Negro delegates united firmly behind the candidacy of the successful nominee, Park Commissioner Robert E. Moses of New York City, who on the first ballot only lacked 8 votes for the nomination. Mr. Moses was finally nominated on the third ballot.

On the first two ballots the Negro delegates voted for the candidates for the gubernatorial nomination as follows: 3 votes for Marvin, 8 for Seabury and 12 for Moses. On the final ballot, the delegates revealed that they had voted as follows: 3 for Marvin, 14 for Moses and 6 for Seabury.

The Negro members of the state committee who were elected last month from Manhattan are: Dr. Mark E. Rivers and Mrs. Blanche Bond of the 19th Assembly District; Mrs. Hester Greene of the 21st Assembly District and Mrs. Sarah Speaks of the 22nd Assembly District.

At the meeting of the committee, held immediately after adjournment of the state convention, the State Chairman, W. Kingsland Macy, was decisively defeated for reelection by Melvin C. Eaton. The issue was raised against Macy that because of his high handed methods, intolerance of the older members of the party, and his "reading out of the party" of Old Guard stalwarts, he had greatly harmed the party. With the election of Eaton as the new state chairman, it is expected that a vigorous campaign of upbuilding and revitalizing the party will be waged to the end that once again the Republican party will be able to elect its candidates on the statewide ticket.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
NEWS

SEP 27 1934

The Negro's Development

To the Editor of The News:

During the present campaign the Negro voter is having the time of his life. What amuses him is the failure of high Republican partisans to differentiate between the Negro of 1861 and the Negro of 1934. Our Republican friends don't seem to realize that the issues of 1861 are dead. They seem to forget that the Negro of 1861 was an untutored slave who could not decipher his own name, whereas the Negro of today represents the highest in culture and the highest in civilization. The Negro has changed from an untutored slave to one of the most intellectual of men and of races; he is able to match his culture with the culture of any other race. He is able to match the ideals of the twentieth century civilization with that of any other race. Republicans should realize the difference in the position of the Negro. You can not very well educate a man and continue to underestimate his intelligence. What the Negro was satisfied with eighty or sixty years ago does not satisfy him now. The Negro is looking forward to the highest goal. What is good for others also is good for him; but the straw that breaks the camel's back is the Republican orator who dares to give the Negro a lecture on the Constitution of the United States. Observant Negroes are asking, "Why are Republicans working themselves into a frenzy about the Constitution?" Is it because the sacred document has been woefully neglected during the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover administrations? Or is it because a Democratic President is successfully applying the constitutional ideal, "equal rights to all and special privileges to none"?

BENJAMIN A. OSBORNE.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
TIMES

SEP 26 1934

NEGRO'S POLITICAL POSITION STATED

By Benjamin A. Osborne.

During the ensuing campaign the Negro voter will have the time of his life. What really amuses him is the apparant failure of high Republican partisans to differeniate between the Negro of 1861 and the Negro of 1934. Our Republican friends don't seem to realize tha the issues of 1861 are dead.

They seem to forget that the Negro of 1861 was an untutored slave who could not decipher his own name, whereas the Negro of today represents the highest in culture and the highest in civilization.

Believe it or not, the Negro has changed himself from an untutored slave to one of the most intellectual of men and of races; he is able to match his culture with the culture of any other race.

You can not very well educate a man and continue to underestimate his intelligence. What the Negro was satisfied with eighty or sixty years ago does not satisfy him now. The Negro is looking forward to the highest things, looking forward to the highest goal. What is good for others is also good for him, but the straw that breaks the camel's back is the Republican orator who dares to give the Negro a lecture on the Constitution of the United States.

Observant Negroes are asking, "Why are Republicans working themselves into a frenzy about the Constitution? Is it because the sacred document has been woefully neglected during the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover administrations, or is it because a Democratic President is successfully applying the constitutional ideal, 'Equal rights to all and special privileges to none?'"

CAMDEN, N. J.
COURIER

SEP 25 1934

COLORED G. O. P. VOTERS PLEDGE PARTY SUPPORT

A resolution endorsing the Republican ticket for the November election was adopted at a meeting last night of the Third Ward Colored Regular Republican League at its headquarters, 12 South Second street.

The meeting, which according to W. B. Adams, president of the organization, was attended by 75, was addressed by Mansfield Finney, a graduate of Lincoln University, representing the Literary Society of Camden. Other speakers were Rev. M. Bailey, A. M. Young, Mrs. E. V. Sheppard and L. Allen.

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER

SEP 29 1934

Colored G. O. P. Group Set Rally For Monday

A Republican rally will be held Monday night in Essex Hall, Rutgers and West Market streets, under the auspices of the Seventh Ward Colored Republican Association.

Thomas E. Russ, president, will introduce the candidates.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.
UNION

SEP 18 1934

Negro Republican Club Report Is Corrected

A statement in The Union yesterday that "charges were heard" against Charles Williams of the Young Men's Negro Republican club at the club's meeting Sunday was incorrect.

Williams said yesterday that it was he who brought charges of malfeasance in office against William Bolden, former president of the club. At Sunday's meeting Bolden, by a vote of the executive committee and club members, was deposed from office, and Owen Alonzo Fitch was named president, Williams said.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

SEP 29 1934

Urged to be Loyal

Negro voters of the lower end of the Ninth ward, at a meeting of the Ninth Ward Republican Club in the East End Republican Club Fourteenth and Claymont streets were urged to remain loyal to the Republican party and to work for victory at the polls in November William Wahle sponsored the meeting.

Speakers in addition to Mr Wahle, included Joseph Matthews and Edward Chippey.

Officers were elected as follows: Isaac Scott, president; Sidney Ross, vice-president; Miss Eva Walker, secretary; Mrs. Mamie Lafatte, assistant secretary; Miss Norah Laws, treasurer and Henry Williams, chaplain. The club will meet again next Friday, October 5.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND
STAR

SEP 22 1934

COLORED VOTE FOR G. O. P.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis Star:

Apropos your editorial of Aug. 31 on the franchise of the colored voter in Mississippi, South Carolina, the new deal and the 50,000 colored voters of Indianapolis:

This was not "a cruel attempt to inject the race question into Marion county politics," as Benjamin A. Osborne would have the public believe. You placed irrefutable facts before your readers whose minds are fixed on the Republican party.

Benjamin A. Osborne undertakes very much when he assumes the task of speaking for the political party inclinations of the colored voters of Indianapolis or Marion county, or assuming that he can control the colored vote and deliver it to the Democratic party on election day.

The editor can see why a majority of the colored voters of Indianapolis will not vote against the Democratic party on election day, so says Osborne. Let him come out on election day to see. He will see that the colored vote for the Republican party will bury him and his "apple sauce."

Indianapolis. ARGUS.

DES MOINES, IA
REGISTER

OCT 5 1934

M. F. FIELDS IS NOMINATED

Heads Negro Voters Branch of G. O. P. Committee.

M. F. Fields, Waterloo, Ia., attorney, has been nominated as head of the Negro voters division of the Republican state central committee, it was announced Thursday.

Mr. Fields said he had assumed his duties at the committee's headquarters. His task, he said will be to co-ordinate the political activities of Negro voters throughout the state with those of regular county organizations. Mr. Fields served as campaign speaker and executive committeeman of the Negro division in 1928 and 1932.

HOBOKEN, N. J.
OBSERVER

OCT 11 1934

CANDIDATE SAYS HE WILL PROTECT NEGRO

Addressing a group of colored voters meeting Tuesday night at Jordan avenue, Jersey City, Anthony L. Montelli, Republican congressional candidate from the Thirteenth District, reiterated a promise affecting the race made Tuesday night at a colored G. O. P. rally in Lincoln High School, declaring that he will protect strongly the rights of the American negro.

"In voting for me," Montelli said, "you may be positively sure that you are voting for a man who has always befriended the negro; one who never strayed from the fact that every man is born on an equal plane socially, regardless of race, color or creed. I stand pledged to maintain equal opportunity and rights of the negro and battle with all my heart all attempts at racial discrimination."

Fred Conwell, Republican negro Assembly candidate, was another speaker.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 11 1934

Republican Speakers Urge Voters to Register

Registration of all voters on Saturday, October 20, and support of the entire Republican ticket on Tuesday, November 6, were urged last evening at several G. O. P. rallies held in this city.

The importance of Republican victory was stressed by speakers at a meeting at the Eleventh Ward Club at its quarters on Oak street last evening.

Speakers included Attorney General P. Warren Green, nominee to succeed himself; Recorder of Deeds Albert Stetser, nominee for re-election; Walter W. Bacon, chairman of the Republican First District Committee; Harry Clark, nominee for sheriff, City Councilman James B. McManus, and Frank Schroeder, secretary of the Republican Second District Committee. John Grabkoski, chairman, presided.

The same speakers also addressed a meeting of the young colored voters organization of the Twelfth Ward.

The young voters of the Eighth Ward also met last night at 810 King street, presided over by John Hahn. The speakers included Councilman McManus, John Leach chairman of the Young Men's Republican Organizations; Thomas Herlihy, Jr., attorney, John Anderson, Robert Forster, John Hahn and Harry Thomas.

The Colored Republican First Voters of the Fifth Ward held a rally last night at the Young Men's Progressive Club, 300 North Scott street. The meeting was in charge of William Dorsey, president of the club. Speakers who urged the voters to support the Republican party at the coming election were Montrose Bivens, secretary of the First Colored Voters League; Edward Abrahams, chairman of the Fifth Ward Republican Committee; City Councilman Charles S. Lednum, Mr. Stetser. Mr. Bacon, Attorney-General Green, Mr. Clark, Dr. John Ayers, Edgar Starling and Frank Corsano.

of Alton, candidate for congressman from this district, and Roscoe Simmons, well-known Chicago Negro attorney. According to Republicans, the meeting was the largest G. O. P. rally here this year, several hundred being reported to have been turned away.

Taking the Constitution as his subject, Simmons appealed to Republican voters to again restore constitutional rights in the United States. Simmons, who is regarded as one of the outstanding Negro orators in the country, is well-known for his speech at the 1932 Republican convention in Chicago seconding the nomination of Herbert Hoover.

Judge Brown repeated his attacks on the Democratic administration, urging voters to return a Republican Congress in the November elections. William Teer, local Negro politician, was in charge of the meeting. The meeting was attended by all local Republican candidates.

CHARLSTON, W. VA.
MAIL

OCT 8 1934

Negro Campaign Worker Arrives From Washington

Perry W. Howard, Negro member from Mississippi of the Republican national executive committee, arrived in Charleston Monday from Washington. He will be under the direction of the state Negro Republican headquarters and will speak in Raleigh, Cabell, Logan, Marion, Fayette, Ohio, McDowell, Mercer, and Kanawha counties. His first assignment will be at Beckley on Tuesday night.

The Charleston Negro Business Men's league will give a smoker Monday night at the Mattie V. Lee home in honor of Howard.

CHARLSTON, W. VA.
MAIL

OCT 7 1934

Chairman for Negro G. O. P. Group Named

S. R. Anderson, of Bluefield, has been appointed director of the state Negro Republican headquarters which has been opened at 106 Washington street in Charleston.

Anderson has named three headquarters staff assistants and said an advisory council and an executive committee would be appointed immediately. G. E. Ferguson, of Charleston, will head the speakers' division. Dr. William Morris, of Charleston, will be in charge of the young voters' division, and William Sprigg, of Charleston, will serve as headquarters secretary.

BUFFALO, N. Y.
COURIER EXPRESS

OCT 13 1934

Negro Voters Meet

William Perry, H. M. Brockington and Robert P. Edwards addressed a meeting of the Colored Republican & Voters' Club in the home of Richard B. Laws, 401 Clinton Street yesterday. Edwards' subject was: Why I Am a Republican. Perry outlined plans for the present campaign.

JERSEY CITY, N. J
JOURNAL

OCT 10 1934

Colored G. O. P. To Greet First Voters

The Hudson County Unit of the Young Colored Republicans of New Jersey, met last night in the headquarters at 29 Bay View Av., with Samuel G. Scott presiding.

Plans were made for a reception to first voters, to be held in the Colored Community Center, 37 Virginia Av. Monday night. Senator Hamilton F. Kean and Harold G. Hoffman, have expressed their intention of being present at this meeting and other speakers will also be there to address the members, it is declared.

DANVILLE, ILL.
COMMERCIAL NEWS

OCT 4 1934

G. O. P. CLUB TO MEET

Vermilion County Young Republican Negro Club members will meet Thursday night at the Panama Tea Garden, North Washington Avenue, at 7:30 o'clock. Chairman George Glenn said Thursday that the public was invited.

MOLINE, ILL
DISPATCH

OCT 10 1934

COLORED REPUBLICANS TO MEET THIS EVENING

Joseph Mitchell was named chairman of the men's division of the Moline colored republican club and Mrs. William A. Stewart was chosen chairman of the women's division of the organization today by Ben Wood, chairman of the Moline republican central committee.

An organization meeting of the colored republicans will be held at 8 tonight in the Tabernacle Baptist church, 2601 Fifteenth street, Moline.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.
JOURNAL

OCT 10 1934

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS IGNORED REPUBLICANS TOLD

Approximately 600 persons, 95 per cent of whom were Negroes, attended a Republican rally Monday night in the City hall auditorium to hear addresses by Judge Jesse R. Brown

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 23 1934

Rally at Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Del., Oct. 23—(Special).—Speakers urged harmony and loyalty to the Republican party at a rally last evening of colored voters in the Knights of Pythias Hall here. George Hayes presided.

Speakers included: J. Irvin Dayett, nominee for the Levy Court in the Sixth district; Frank Poole, nominee for representative from the Thirteenth district; Thomas Fouracre, committeeman, Joseph Matthews, Howard Simpson and Edward Chippy. More than 200 persons were present.

MOLINE, ILL.
DISPATCH

OCT 26 1934

URGE NEGROES TO VOTE REPUBLICAN

Hope of Race Lies in G. O. P. Says Lawyer Member of Race at Rock Island.

Warren B. Douglas of Chicago, negro lawyer and for a number of terms a member of the Illinois house of representatives, declared in an address last evening before the Progressive Social club in Workmen's hall in Rock Island that the only hope of political liberty for the negro lies in the republican party. He spoke of the problems of the colored race, and said emphatically that he was not raising a race issue. The party that enslaved his mother and father could never merit support of the negro, he said. "The republican party is the bulwark of safety for people of my race," he said.

"I do not know what I may become, but I know that no matter what I become I shall never be a democrat," he declared. "I would rather be the most humble worker in the ranks of the republican party of Lincoln than be an associate of Bilbo of Mississippi, a Hoke Smith of Georgia, or even the governor of the whole state of Georgia. On things that concern you and me, the republican party is right."

Asks Vote for Allen.

The speaker spoke with feeling of the fight of Oscar DePriest, Chicago colored congressman, to break the color line in the restaurant of the house of representatives in the national capital. He urged support of John C. Allen of Monmouth, and said that he voiced the personal appeal of Congressman DePriest in asking his people to vote for Mr. Allen.

With thrilling oratory Mr. Douglas pictured his boyhood home in Tennessee and his parents in the cotton fields, and said he believed the negro owes unwavering loyalty to the party that "picked my father up and changed him from a common chattel to a man." Mr. Douglas declared that America will never be truly a land of the free until the disenfranchisement of the negro in southern democratic states can be ended, and declared it idle to hope that the democratic party will aid the cause of the colored people. It takes seven to fourteen Illinois votes to equal one vote of certain southern states, the speaker pointed out.

Questions Their Sanity.

Mrs. Annette H. Officer of East St. Louis, director of women's activities of the colored division of the state republican organization, declared that the colored voter who enlists as a democrat "should be hustled to the insane hospital at once without examination; he has demonstrated there is something wrong with his head." Mrs. Officer said, "The heart of the democratic party is in the south. A negro who becomes a democrat should be advised by his own people to hurry back south where his heart is. It isn't understandable that any of my race should desert, even for a moment, the party of Lincoln."

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Douglas and Mrs. Officer spoke before a similar rally for colored voters in the Friend Circle hall in Moline.

BALTIMORE, MD.
EVENING SUN

OCT 19 1934

Callis Is Realty Operator

ULYSSES S. CALLIS, Republican, is the second of the Negro candidates in the Fourth Legislative district. He is 39 years old, a real estate operator and a trucking contractor.

U. S. Callis

A native of Baltimore, he was educated at St. Paul's Normal and Industrial School at Lawrencevillle, Va. He lives at 2013 McCulloh street.

His legislative platform includes "fair treatment of veterans, school teachers, policemen, firemen and all civil servants, assistance to the destitute and work for the unemployed." Other items in the program are old age pensions, children's and mothers' relief, relief for the automobile owner by a reduction in the cost of tags, and non-discrimination against women for public office.

COLUMBIA, PA.
NEWS

OCT 23 1934

COLORED VOTERS SHOWING RIVALRY

Republican Chairman Disputes New Dealers' Claim to Membership

Preliminary interest in the political situation in Columbia centers for the present in keen rivalry created among the Negro voters of the Fifth, Eighth, Second, Third and First wards.

Both factions have formed clubs—one the Colored Republican club of Columbia and the other the Roosevelt New Deal Colored Club. Both plan an active campaign.

The rivalry reached a new point today when William Jenkins, chairman of the Republican club, disputed the claim of the New Dealers of a membership of more than 100. "There's not that many Colored-Democrats in Columbia," Jenkins declared. "It looks to me like a lot of Republican folk are more interested in a free ride to Harrisburg November 1, than they are in politics." Jenkins says his club has about 153 members.

Meanwhile, plans were being made for two rallies. The Roosevelt club will meet tonight in Bittner Hall while the Republican Colored club will hold an old fashioned rally in the Opera House, Friday night.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 27 1934

Bramhall Urges State Republicans' Election

GEORGETOWN, Del., Oct. 27—(Special).—Election of the entire Republican State and county tickets was urged by Howard W. Bramhall secretary of the Sussex County Republican Committee, and Edward Morris, in addresses last evening before the Young Republican Club of Georgetown which met in the Lacey Building. Irvin Burton presided.

Both urged the members to work individually as well as collectively to insure the election of all the Republican state and county candidates.

Two large meetings of Negro Republicans of the county were also held last night. The first was at Ingram's Hall, here, where more than 500 persons, both white and Negro, attended.

Dr. Conwell Banton, of Wilmington, told of the benefits enjoyed by his race through the Republican party. He told especially of the Edgewood Sanitarium where Negroes are treated for tuberculosis. When valuable equipment was needed, he said, such as X-ray and violet ray machines, the Republican administration supplied them. He said the Republican party always looked out for the welfare of the Negro race.

Deputy Sheriff Charles H. Coulbourn, also of Wilmington, attacked the Democratic party for the high Federal taxes and said the taxes were being levied without the knowledge of many of the people. Another speaker was Dr. Philip Sadler, of Wilmington. The Rev. James Daniels presided at the meeting after which refreshments were served.

The same speakers addressed a large throng at Milton following the meeting here. All the county candidates were present.

LANCASTER, PA.
INTELLIGENCER

OCT 19 1934

EXTOL CANDIDATES AT COLORED RALLY

G O P Club Hears Local Leaders, Four Philadelphia Speakers

Qualifications of Republican candidates who are aspiring for state and legislative offices in the present campaign were extolled Thursday evening by speakers at a well attended meeting sponsored by the Colored Republican club and held in the Colored Odd Fellows Hall on Chester st.

C. Maurice Hershey, register of wills and secretary of the Lancaster County Republican committee; H. Earle DeHaven, candidate for state legislature from the city district, and Robert Groh, former recorder of deeds, were the Lancastrians who spoke on behalf of the Republican ticket.

Robert J. Nelson, director of activities of the Colored Voters of Pennsylvania and a Boxing Commissioner; Robert E. Millen, a native of Lancaster who is now an attorney in Philadelphia and the county chairman there of the Republican State Committee for Colored Voters and a special deputy attorney general of the state; E. Washington Rhodes, editor of the Philadelphia Tribune and a former assistant United States Attorney General, and Bernard H. Nichols, Philadelphia, secretary of the Citizens' Republican club of Philadelphia, were the four colored speakers from Philadelphia who addressed the meeting.

Dr. J. C. Brenby, president of the Colored Republican club, arranged the meeting and sang a musical number between two addresses, while Albert Wilson acted as chairman until the four colored Philadelphians began to speak. Then Millen served as chairman, introducing each of the speakers.

Another meeting will be held Thursday, November 1, at which Mrs. Alice Dunbar Nelson, wife of the boxing commissioner, and Maud Coleman, of the State Department of Welfare at Harrisburg, are scheduled to speak.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 23 1934

Rally at Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Del., Oct. 23—(Special).—Speakers urged harmony and loyalty to the Republican party at a rally last evening of colored voters in the Knights of Pythias Hall here. George Hayes presided.

Speakers included: J. Irvin Dayett, nominee for the Levy Court in the Sixth district; Frank Poole, nominee for representative from the Thirteenth district; Thomas Fouracre, committeeman, Joseph Matthews, Howard Simpson and Edward Chippy. More than 200 persons were present.

MOLINE, ILL.
DISPATCH

OCT 26 1934

URGE NEGROES TO VOTE REPUBLICAN

Hope of Race Lies in G. O. P. Says Lawyer Member of Race at Rock Island.

Warren B. Douglas of Chicago, negro lawyer and for a number of terms a member of the Illinois house of representatives, declared in an address last evening before the Progressive Social club in Workmen's hall in Rock Island that the only hope of political liberty for the negro lies in the republican party. He spoke of the problems of the colored race, and said emphatically that he was not raising a race issue. The party that enslaved his mother and father could never merit support of the negro, he said. "The republican party is the bulwark of safety for people of my race," he said.

"I do not know what I may become, but I know that no matter what I become I shall never be a democrat," he declared. "I would rather be the most humble worker in the ranks of the republican party of Lincoln than be an associate of Bilbo of Mississippi, a Hoke Smith of Georgia, or even the governor of the whole state of Georgia. On things that concern you and me, the republican party is right."

Asks Vote for Allen.

The speaker spoke with feeling of the fight of Oscar DePriest, Chicago colored congressman, to break the color line in the restaurant of the house of representatives in the national capital. He urged support of John C. Allen of Monmouth, and said that he voiced the personal appeal of Congressman DePriest in asking his people to vote for Mr. Allen.

With thrilling oratory Mr. Douglas pictured his boyhood home in Tennessee and his parents in the cotton fields, and said he believed the negro owes unwavering loyalty to the party that "picked my father up and changed him from a common chattel to a man." Mr Douglas declared that America will never be truly a land of the free until the disenfranchisement of the negro in southern democratic states can be ended, and declared it idle to hope that the democratic party will aid the cause of the colored people. It takes seven to fourteen Illinois votes to equal one vote of certain southern states, the speaker pointed out.

Questions Their Sanity.

Mrs. Annette H. Officer of East St. Louis, director of women's activities of the colored division of the state republican organization, declared that the colored voter who enlists as a democrat "should be hustled to the insane hospital at once without examination; he has demonstrated there is something wrong with his head." Mrs. Officer said, "The heart of the democratic party is in the south. A negro who becomes a democrat should be advised by his own people to hurry back south where his heart is. It isn't understandable that any of my race should desert, even for a moment, the party of Lincoln."

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Douglas and Mrs. Officer spoke before a similar rally for colored voters in the Friend Circle hall in Moline.

BALTIMORE, MD.
EVENING SUN

OCT 19 1934

Callis Is Realty Operator

ULYSSES S. CALLIS, Republican, is the second of the Negro candidates in the Fourth Legislative district. He is 39 years old, a real estate operator and a trucking contractor.

U. S. Callis

A native of Baltimore, he was educated at St. Paul's Normal and Industrial School at Lawrencevillle, Va. He lives at 2013 McCulloh street.

His legislative platform includes "fair treatment of veterans, school teachers, policemen, firemen and all civil servants, assistance to the destitute and work for the unemployed." Other items in the program are old age pensions, children's and mothers' relief, relief for the automobile owner by a reduction in the cost of tags, and non-discrimination against women for public office.

COLUMBIA, PA.
NEWS

OCT 23 1934

COLORED VOTERS SHOWING RIVALRY

Republican Chairman Disputes New Dealers' Claim to Membership

Preliminary interest in the political situation in Columbia centers for the present in keen rivalry created among the Negro voters of the Fifth, Eighth, Second, Third and First wards.

Both factions have formed clubs—one the Colored Republican club of Columbia and the other the Roosevelt New Deal Colored Club. Both plan an active campaign.

The rivalry reached a new point today when William Jenkins, chairman of the Republican club, disputed the claim of the New Dealers of a membership of more than 100. "There's not that many Colored-Democrats in Columbia," Jenkins declared. "It looks to me like a lot of Republican folk are more interested in a free ride to Harrisburg November 1, than they are in politics." Jenkins says his club has about 153 members.

Meanwhile, plans were being made for two rallies. The Roosevelt club will meet tonight in Bittner Hall while the Republican Colored club will hold an old fashioned rally in the Opera House, Friday night.

WILMINGTON, DEL.
JOURNAL—EVERY EVENING

OCT 27 1934

Bramhall Urges State Republicans' Election

GEORGETOWN, Del., Oct. 27—(Special).—Election of the entire Republican State and county tickets was urged by Howard W. Bramhall secretary of the Sussex County Republican Committee, and Edward Morris, in addresses last evening before the Young Republican Club of Georgetown which met in the Lacey Building. Irvin Burton presided.

Both urged the members to work individually as well as collectively to insure the election of all the Republican state and county candidates.

Two large meetings of Negro Republicans of the county were also held last night. The first was at Ingram's Hall, here, where more than 500 persons, both white and Negro, attended.

Dr. Conwell Banton, of Wilmington, told of the benefits enjoyed by his race through the Republican party. He told especially of the Edgewood Sanitarium where Negroes are treated for tuberculosis. When valuable equipment was needed, he said, such as X-ray and violet ray machines, the Republican administration supplied them. He said the Republican party always looked out for the welfare of the Negro race.

Deputy Sheriff Charles H. Coulbourn, also of Wilmington, attacked the Democratic party for the high Federal taxes and said the taxes were being levied without the knowledge of many of the people. Another speaker was Dr. Philip Sadler, of Wilmington. The Rev. James Daniels presided at the meeting after which refreshments were served.

The same speakers addressed a large throng at Milton following the meeting here. All the county candidates were present.

LANCASTER, PA.
INTELLIGENCER

OCT 19 1934

EXTOL CANDIDATES AT COLORED RALLY

G O P Club Hears Local Leaders, Four Philadelphia Speakers

Qualifications of Republican candidates who are aspiring for state and legislative offices in the present campaign were extolled Thursday evening by speakers at a well attended meeting sponsored by the Colored Republican club and held in the Colored Odd Fellows Hall on Chester st.

C. Maurice Hershey, register of wills and secretary of the Lancaster County Republican committee; H. Earle DeHaven, candidate for state legislature from the city district, and Robert Groh, former recorder of deeds, were the Lancastrians who spoke on behalf of the Republican ticket.

Robert J. Nelson, director of activities of the Colored Voters of Pennsylvania and a Boxing Commissioner; Robert E. Millen, a native of Lancaster who is now an attorney in Philadelphia and the county chairman there of the Republican State Committee for Colored Voters and a special deputy attorney general of the state; E. Washington Rhodes, editor of the Philadelphia Tribune and a former assistant United States Attorney General, and Bernard H. Nichols, Philadelphia, secretary of the Citizens' Republican club of Philadelphia, were the four colored speakers from Philadelphia who addressed the meeting.

Dr. J. C. Brenby, president of the Colored Republican club, arranged the meeting and sang a musical number between two addresses, while Albert Wilson acted as chairman until the four colored Philadelphians began to speak. Then Millen served as chairman, introducing each of the speakers.

Another meeting will be held Thursday, November 1, at which Mrs. Alice Dunbar Nelson, wife of the boxing commissioner, and Maud Coleman, of the State Department of Welfare at Harrisburg, are scheduled to speak.

ST. LOUIS, MO.
GLOBE DEMOCRAT

OCT 22 1934

G. O. P. Says Poll Shows Party Will Win in St. Louis

Leaders Confident Newton and Dyer Will Carry Congress Contests.

Republican workers, Committeemen, Committeewomen and ward canvassers have reported that a partial poll of the city indicates a local Republican victory in the November election. The partial canvass, they believe, shows that the city ticket will win in the First, Second, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth Wards.

The Third, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-second are listed as Democratic, with the Fifth and Sixteenth doubtful.

They are sure of electing Cleveland A. Newton to Congress in the Twelfth District, confident of electing L. C. Dyer in the Eleventh and hopeful of winning with George W. Strodtman in the Thirteenth District. Strodtman's friends predict he will poll a big soldier vote.

One Section Uncertain.

The Republican statisticians are not worrying over North and South St. Louis and the West End, but hesitate to prophesy what will happen to their ticket in the territory bounded by Cass avenue on the north, Chouteau avenue on the south, Grand avenue on the west and the river on the east.

Republican leaders predict the St. Louis Bar Association indorsement will elect five of their Circuit Judges: E. E. Butler in the Court of Criminal Correction; Probate Judge Charles E. Holtcamp and Prosecuting Attorney Harry P. Rosecan. It also is the general consensus of opinion that Edmond Koeln will poll a considerable independent Democratic vote, enough to enable the Collector to lead the Republican ticket.

Crowds Turn Out.

Chairman Fred W. Pape of the Republican City Central Committee is highly pleased with the splendid attendance accorded local Republican meetings. Unusually large meetings were held by the Republicans the past week in the Eleventh, Thirteenth, Seventh Ninth and First wards.

Two meetings are scheduled for the Twenty-fourth Ward in Southwest St. Louis, with over 30,000 registered voters, starting tomorrow night, October 23, at Forest Park Temple hall, Bruno and Forest avenues. William Fitzmaurice, president of the Central Trades and Labor Union; Newton and Rosecan will talk.

Wednesday the regular Republican club of the ward will meet at Swedish Hall, Kingshighway and Berthold avenue. Newton, Rosecan and other candidates will talk.

Richard E. Gruner, Committeeman in the Twenty-fifth Ward, will have Laurence Hyde or Walter Higbee, Republican candidates for the State Supreme Court, speak at Reen Memorial Church, Kingshighway and Gibson, tomorrow night. Other speakers will include Judge Butler, Dyer and Rosecan.

Speaker for Negroes.

In an effort to round up the Negro vote, the Republican city organization will bring Roscoe C. Simmons here for an address at Pythian Hall, 3137 Pine street, Friday. This meeting will be conducted under the auspices of the Sixth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth Ward Republican organizations.

Miss Eva Marie Schopp, directing activities in the Fifteenth Ward, is arranging for a meeting Thursday at Liederkranz Hall, 2163 South Grand boulevard. Newton, Koeln, John Schmoll and other candidates will talk.

Seventeenth Ward Republicans will meet tonight at 3137 Pine street. Dyer, Robert Walker, John Schmoll and other candidates are scheduled to talk.

CAMDEN, N. J.
COURIER

OCT 23 1934

DENIES G.O.P. CLAIM TO COLORED VOTERS

Democratic Woman Worker Tells of Party's Friendship

"The Democratic party has always been a friend of the colored voter," Miss Bella Morris, prominent colored Democratic worker and Camden school teacher, declared last night.

"Statements made last week by Robert B. Johnson, colored member of the Board of Education, are absolutely unfounded," Miss Morris said.

"To prove my contention, during the special session of the legislature in September, when the bill for a $5000 appropriation to outfit colored state militia companies in Camden and Atlantic City was introduced, Senator Dryden Kuser, Republican, delivered one of the strongest orations ever heard against the measure.

"Several Democratic Senators spoke in favor of the bill and it was finally conceded that from a political standpoint, both parties held the colored voter in the highest respect.

Points to Board

"Johnson declared that Democratic leaders have no respect for colored voters, but why is it that the Republican party in the 12 years it was in power, failed to recognize the colored race?

"February 19, Senator Stout Democrat, introduced a bill prohibiting propaganda tending to excite religious or racial prejudice. This measure was passed in the House with every Democrat member voting for it, but never came to a vote in the Senate. Does this show the prejudice of which Johnson speaks?

"Two Republican Assemblymen, Higbie and King, voted against the measure authorizing organization of the colored national guard while Assemblyman Marvel voted for the bill. No member of the Senate opposed the bill.

Forgot Promises

"Republican leaders, in 1931, promised colored voters in Camden and Atlantic City that they would institute a Negro National Guard unit in each city if they were victorious in the election. They forgot their promise until the special session in September, called to enact legislation to aid needy residents of New Jersey.

"It took nearly three years for Republican leaders to remember their promise and it is doubtful if they would have introduced the bill at the special session, except that election time was again drawing near and they needed the votes of the colored residents of Camden.

"Democratic leaders and legislators have never discriminated against the colored voters, despite all Johnson may say to the contrary.

"To show you the manner in which the colored resident of Camden is held by the Republican leaders, John Lightfoot, a janitor at the city hall, was discharged several weeks ago because he worked for Senator Woodruff at the primary election.

"This was in opposition to the statement of David Baird, G. O. P. boss, that 'no small workers' would be dismissed, no matter how they voted or whom they favored."

NEWARK, N. J.
LEDGER

OCT 20 1934

Essex G. O. P. Candidates Opposed to Price Fixing

By EMMET CROZIER

The Essex County Republican Assembly candidates declared themselves opposed to price-fixing and limitation of production in a statement issued last night on State codes.

Replying to a questionnaire submitted by the New Jersey Conference of Trade Associations, asking their views on the controversial code issue, the candidates stated:

"If the State codes are a legislative issue in the next session, we will, if elected, do our best to act in the interest of the public, which we believe are not served by price fixing or limitation of production.

Policies Seem Uncertain

"In view of the fact that the purposes and policies of the code making authorities at Washington seem at this time to be rather uncertain, that the present National Recovery Act expires next June, that the question of what Congress will do about re-enacting it is wholly conjectural, and that the whole future of the codes is so much in doubt, we are unable to make any definite statement at this time of what the exigencies of the situation may require our attitude and vote to be several months from now."

This reply, which gave little encouragement to the proponents of the State recovery program, left no doubt that the Assembly candidates would oppose the continuance of State codes as they now exist.

Vital to Trade Groups

In a statement accompanying the questionnaire, the Trade Association group, through its president, James Kelly, Jr., presented the question as follows:

"This matter is of such vital concern to the 70,000 units of business represented by these trade organizations and their more than 200,000 employes, that they are determined to place their full voting strength behind those candidates who pledge themselves to support the State recovery legislation."

The Retail Grocers' Association also sought the candidates' views on State codes, and in addition asked them to pledge themselves to vote for a law making it mandatory for municipalities to grant limited retail beer licenses, to give the retailers a representative on the State Milk Control Board, to prohibit the giving away of trading stamps, coupons and premiums, to support a fair trade act permitting manufacturers to establish and maintain resale prices and to pledge themselves to oppose a retail sales tax.

Codes Are In Doubt

To this document the candidates replied:

"Some of these issues are involved in the future of the NRA and the Federal codes, which are very much in doubt at this time. Because of our honest desire to be in a position to represent the best interests of the public in our vote on every legislative question, we are unwilling to pledge our support for or against specific bills and measures, especially those which involve technical and highly controversial questions.

"If elected we will approach all these matters with open minds willing and anxious to consider them on merits, and our final action will be guided only by our earnest desire to be fair and just to all and to serve the welfare of the public to the utmost of our understanding and intelligence."

The Clean Government group's campaign strategy was switched yesterday from an attack on the Dill tax relief program to a renewed plea for economy in government. Hereafter, local Republican speakers will concentrate on reduction in the cost of government leaving Harold G. Hoffman, the gubernatorial candidate, to handle the Dill plan, and present his own tax program.

Republican Assembly and Freeholder candidates spoke last night at meetings of the Negro Voters Association of East Orange, the Eleventh Ward Republican Executive Committee, the Fifteenth Ward Colored Republican Club and a Kean-Hoffman colored Republican meeting at Dreamland Academy in Beacon street.

County headquarters for the Young Republicans of Essex were opened yesterday in the National Newark & Essex Building, the present campaign office of the Clean Government group being enlarged by 4,500 feet of floor space to accommodate new activities.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Republican.

Louisville, Ky., Irish American
November 3, 1934

DESERTION OF THE NEGRO REPUBLICANS.

The greatest blow received by the Republican party in Louisville and out in the State has been the wholesale desertion of the Negroes, who have been flocking to the Democratic party by the thousands. From time memorial the Negro voter in this section has been an asset of the Republican Party. The Republicans never worried about holding that vote and year in and year out made nominations without consulting the Negroes who comprised fifty per cent. of the Republican vote in Louisville alone. No matter whom the candidate, just two or three weeks previous to election day Republican speakers would go into the Negro sections and tell the Negroes that they must never forget Abe Lincoln, who freed 'em. On election day all the Republican machine had to do was to see that the Negro voters got to the polls and they were a sure shot to vote the ticket straight.

In the last few campaigns the Negroes began to murmur against the brutal treatment given them by the Republican police, who established an all-time record in killing Negroes, one unarmed Negro boy being shot and killed in the police station. The Abe Lincoln strategy began to slip and last year the Negroes deserted by the thousands. For that rebellion many of them were beaten up and abused on election day, one being killed. Today Candidate Drake is trying to win them back, boasting that he aided Negroes in the 1927 campaign against Democratic policemen, but didn't explain where he was when Republican policemen were slaughtering Negroes who bolted the Republican ticket. Attention was also called to the activity of Drake's prosecution of Murphy, the Negro Democratic detective, who was an outstanding and upright Negro, who died following his many trials, and it was said he died of a broken heart.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
TIMES

OCT 25 1934

Klan Control of G. O. P. Would Have Alienated Lincoln. Brennan Charges

"IF Abraham Lincoln were living he would be stumping the state for the straight Democratic ticket," a mixed white and Negro Democratic rally at 2950 Martindale street, was told last night by Edward Brennan, Marion county deputy prosecutor.

"When the Republican party went over to the Ku-Klux Klan, it forfeited any claim it had on the colored vote, and if Lincoln had been living in the days of D. C. Stephenson and the fiery cross, he would have become a Democrat," Mr. Brennan maintained.

As the deputy prosecutor warmed to his work, scattered and then more enthusiastic applause greeted his efforts. He polished off Herbert Hoover with a few well-turned phrases to thunderous handclapppings and much nodding of heads in agreement. Throughout the meeting, mention of the former President was a sure guarantee of aroused distaste.

Mr. Brennan, who made the major speech of the evening, described in some detail the career of Senator Arthur R. (Lil Arthur) Robinson. Calling attention repeatedly to the senator's Klan connections, he asserted that it was the original intention to have Ed Jackson resign as Governor and take the senate appointment; but that, at the last moment, Robinson made a deal with D. C. Stephenson, while the latter was in jail in Noblesville, through which Robinson got the appointment.

The speaker drew perhaps his most enthusiastic applause for his picture of drinking conditions in Indianapolis in the Republican prohbition era. He pictured idle rich lolling in luxurious ease in the Columbia Club and palatial north side homes without interference with their indulgence in liquor.

If, however, a Negro or white laborer procured a bottle of what it takes and repaired to home and hearth for an evening's relaxation, then according to the Mr. Brennan, police, egged on by a Republican administration, smashed in his door and dragged him off to jail.

The deputy prosecutor offered a spirited defense of Governor Paul V. McNutt. He pointed out that few in the audience made $1,000 a year and that, therefore, they were exempt from the gross income tax. He asserted, however, that most were homeowners and that if it were not for gross income tax returns, they would be carrying a heavy load in property taxes.

"In one building downtown," he said, "there are twenty-seven men making $5,000 or more a year, only four of whom own homes, and all but five of whom are exempted from automobile taxes. These men can be reached only by the gross income tax."

Other speakers were Otto Ray Democratic candidate for sheriff and James Cunningham, Democratic candidate for Center township assessor.

Said Mr. Ray, "Ira Holmes is promising jobs on the police and fire departments to every one in sight."

The sheriff candidate described how he had brought together two Republicans who, he said, had been promised the identically same job, one by Walter Pritchard and the other by Wayne Emmelman.

HOW ABOUT THE G. O. P.

Calls are being heard from many quarters for a reorganization of the Republican party. Most of them are timely but we doubt if this is what the G. O. P. in Iowa needs. The party is alright; the organization likewise but it does need a constructive program evolved in the light of present day needs and a beginning now to put it to work.

This was talked following the 1932 campaign but the state central committee had poor leadership and very little initiative. Heretofore the Republicans have been able to do politics in September and October and win elections handily. Not only have the Democrats become hard to beat, but they have shown that long steady work gets results even in politics.

The Republicans had a good organization this year with a chairman who knows what to do and goes at it. With good support Chairman Frank is capable of doing the job right.

ROCK ISLAND, ILL
ARGUS

OCT 26 1934

SAYS COLORED VOTER LOSES IN SHIFT OF PARTY

Warren B. Douglas, Former State Representative, Urges Support for John C. Allen.

Warren B. Douglas of Chicago, colored attorney and formerly for a number of terms a member of the Illinois house of representatives, declared in an address last night before the Progressive Social club in Workingmen's Circle hall, Rock Island, that the only hope of political liberty for the negro lies in the Republican party. He spoke of the problems of the colored race, and said emphatically that he was not raising a race issue. The party that enslaved his mother and father could never merit support of the negro, he said. "The Republican party is the bulwark of safety for people of my race," he said.

"I do not know what I may become, but I know that no matter what I become I shall never be a Democrat," he declared. "I would rather be the most humble worker in the ranks of the Republican party of Lincoln than be an associate of Bilbo of Mississippi, a Hoke Smith of Georgia, or even the governor of the whole state of Georgia. On things that concern you and me, the Republican party is right."

The speaker spoke with feeling of the fight of Oscar DePriest, Chicago colored congressman, to break the color line in the restaurant of the house of representatives in the national capital. He urged support of John C. Allen of Monmouth, and said that he voiced the personal appeal of Congressman DePriest in asking his people to vote for Mr. Allen.

Mr. Douglas pictured his boyhood home in Tennessee, and his parents in the cotton fields, and said he believed the negro owes unwavering loyalty to the party that "picked my father up and changed him from a common chattel to a man." Mr. Douglas declared that America will never be truly a land of the free until the negro in the state Republican organization, disfranchisement of the colored division of the Republican party in southern Democratic states can be ended, and declared it idle to hope that the colored voter should be ignorant and easy prey for the demagogues as a Democrat "should benefit from the party of Lincoln." Mr. Douglas said the colored voter whom he spoke for is destroyed while people are hungry, and when cotton is plowed under. Twelve candidates on the Republican ticket were introduced and while people cannot obtain work south where his heart is. Justin A. Washburn declared it as understandable that any of the problems in the county welfare department, as did William Bolothing. The constitution, he said, should be amended, and State Representative McCaskrin, County Judge Schroder and State Representative Harry M. McCaskrin, County Judge the supreme school board of the state, and the legislative power of D. Long thanked the counstate, and the legislative power of the state, the speaker pointed out. "The heart of the Democratic party is in the south. A negro who be-George D. Long for making possible schools rests with local district boards. The school board is subject to the state board of education, he said.

Woman Leader Is Heard.

Mrs. Annette H. Officer of Eastomes a Democrat should be ad-y board for dealing with childoards. The school board is su-
St. Louis, director of women's ac-ised by his own people to hurryroad policy in

Republican.

Political - 1934

Party Affiliation.

Louisville, Ky., Irish American
November 3, 1934

DESERTION OF THE NEGRO REPUBLICANS.

The greatest blow received by the Republican party in Louisville and out in the State has been the wholesale desertion of the Negroes, who have been flocking to the Democratic party by the thousands. From time memorial the Negro voter in this section has been an asset of the Republican Party. The Republicans never worried about holding that vote and year in and year out made nominations without consulting the Negroes who comprised fifty per cent. of the Republican vote in Louisville alone. No matter whom the candidate, just two or three weeks previous to election day Republican speakers would go into the Negro sections and tell the Negroes that they must never forget Abe Lincoln, who freed 'em. On election day all the Republican machine had to do was to see that the Negro voters got to the polls and they were a sure shot to vote the ticket straight.

In the last few campaigns the Negroes began to murmur against the brutal treatment given them by the Republican police, who established an all-time record in killing Negroes, one unarmed Negro boy being shot and killed in the police station. The Abe Lincoln strategy began to slip and last year the Negroes deserted by the thousands. For that rebellion many of them were beaten up and abused on election day, one being killed. Today Candidate Drake is trying to win them back, boasting that he aided Negroes in the 1927 campaign against Democratic policemen, but didn't explain where he was when Republican policemen were slaughtering Negroes who bolted the Republican ticket. Attention was also called to the activity of Drake's prosecution of Murphy, the Negro Democratic detective, who was an outstanding and upright Negro, who died following his many trials, and it was said he died of a broken heart.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
TIMES

OCT 25 1934

Klan Control of G. O. P. Would Have Alienated Lincoln. Brennan Charges

"IF Abraham Lincoln were living he would be stumping the state for the straight Democratic ticket," a mixed white and Negro Democratic rally at 2950 Martindale street, was told last night by Edward Brennan, Marion county deputy prosecutor.

"When the Republican party went over to the Ku-Klux Klan, it forfeited any claim it had on the colored vote, and if Lincoln had been living in the days of D. C. Stephenson and the fiery cross, he would have become a Democrat," Mr. Brennan maintained.

As the deputy prosecutor warmed to his work, scattered and then more enthusiastic applause greeted his efforts. He polished off Herbert Hoover with a few well-turned phrases to thunderous handclapppings and nodding of heads in agreement. Throughout the meeting, mention of the former President was a sure guarantee of aroused distaste.

Mr. Brennan, who made the major speech of the evening, described in some detail the career of Senator Arthur R. (Lil Arthur) Robinson. Calling attention repeatedly to the senator's Klan connections, he asserted that it was the original intention to have Ed Jackson resign as Governor and take the senate appointment; but that, at the last moment, Robinson made a deal with D. C. Stephenson, while the latter was in jail in Noblesville, through which Robinson got the appointment.

The speaker drew perhaps his most enthusiastic applause for his picture of drinking conditions in Indianapolis in the Republican prohbition era. He pictured idle rich lolling in luxurious ease in the Columbia Club and palatial north side homes without interference with their indulgence in liquor.

If, however, a Negro or white laborer procured a bottle of what it takes and repaired to home and hearth for an evening's relaxation, then according to the Mr. Brennan, police, egged on by a Republican administration, smashed in his door and dragged him off to jail.

The deputy prosecutor offered a spirited defense of Governor Paul V. McNutt. He pointed out that few in the audience made $1,000 a year and that, therefore, they were exempt from the gross income tax. He asserted, however, that most were homeowners and that if it were not for gross income tax returns, they would be carrying a heavy load in property taxes.

"In one building downtown," he said, "there are twenty-seven men making $5,000 or more a year, only four of whom own homes, and all but five of whom are exempted from automobile taxes. These men can be reached only by the gross income tax."

Other speakers were Otto Ray Democratic candidate for sheriff and James Cunningham, Democratic candidate for Center township assessor.

Said Mr. Ray, "Ira Holmes is promising jobs on the police and fire departments to every one in sight."

The sheriff candidate described how he had brought together two Republicans who, he said, had been promised the identically same job, one by Walter Pritchard and the other by Wayne Emmelman.

HOW ABOUT THE G. O. P.

Calls are being heard from many quarters for a reorganization of the Republican party. Most of them are timely but we doubt if this is what the G. O. P. in Iowa needs. The party is all right; the organization likewise but it does need a constructive program evolved in the light of present day needs and a beginning now to put it to work.

This was talked following the 1932 campaign but the state central committee had poor leadership and very little initiative. Heretofore the Republicans have been able to do politics in September and October and win elections handily. Not only have the Democrats become hard to beat, but they have shown that long steady work gets results even in politics.

The Republicans had a good organization this year with a chairman who knows what to do and goes at it. With good support Chairman Frank is capable of doing the job right.

ROCK ISLAND, ILL
ARGUS

OCT 26 1934

SAYS COLORED VOTER LOSES IN SHIFT OF PARTY

Warren B. Douglas, Former State Representative, Urges Support for John C. Allen.

Warren B. Douglas of Chicago, colored attorney and formerly for a number of terms a member of the Illinois house of representatives, declared in an address last night before the Progressive Social club in Workingmen's Circle hall, Rock Island, that the only hope of political liberty for the negro lies in the Republican party. He spoke of the problems of the colored race, and said emphatically that he was not raising a race issue. The party that enslaved his mother and father could never merit support of the negro, he said. "The Republican party is the bulwark of safety for people of my race," he said.

"I do not know what I may become, but I know that no matter what I become I shall never be a Democrat," he declared. "I would rather be the most humble worker in the ranks of the Republican party of Lincoln than be an associate of Bilbo of Mississippi, a Hoke Smith of Georgia, or even the governor of the whole state of Georgia. On things that concern you and me, the Republican party is right."

The speaker spoke with feeling of the fight of Oscar DePriest, Chicago colored congressman, to break the color line in the restaurant of the house of representatives in the national capital. He urged support of John C. Allen of Monmouth, and said that he voiced the personal appeal of Congressman DePriest in asking his people to vote for Mr. Allen.

Mr. Douglas pictured his boyhood home in Tennessee, and his parents in the cotton fields, and said he believed the negro owes unwavering loyalty to the party that "picked my father up and changed him from a common chattel to a man." Mr. Douglas declared that America will never be truly a land of the free until the negro is franchisement of the negro in the southern Democratic states can be ended, and declared it idle to hope that the Democratic party will aid the cause of the colored people. It takes seven to 14 Illinois votes to equal one vote of certain southern states, the speaker pointed out.

Woman Leader Is Heard.

Mrs. Annette H. Officer of East St. Louis, director of women's activities of the colored division of the colored organization, said the colored voter whom people are hunted while people are plowed under while people cannot obtain the constitution, he Illinois legislature supreme school board of the legislative power of with local district school board is sue welfare problems in the county Justin A. Washburn declared it ai of ignorance when food is destroyed while people are hun- Repubgry, and when cotton is plowed un- obtain introduced under while people cannot obtain Clothing. The constitution, he Representativesaid, makes the Illinois legislature State Representative said, the supreme school board of the Judgthe legislative power of counstate, and the legislative power of schools rests with local district boards. The school board is su- policy in dealing with childboards.

preme on questions of salary, hiring of teachers, construction of buildings, and other matters. No county superintendent could hope to usurp any of the prerogatives of the school boards. Judge Ben D. Farrar spoke of the functions of the probate court with reference to settlement of accident claims in which minor children are concerned. Ray Hasson, Elmer L. Ranson and Frank E. Crompton, Jr., spoke briefly.

Mrs. C. C. Detwiler, city women's chairman, was introduced. Roy A. Sears presented an explanation of the election proposition for renewal of the special county sanatorium tax.

Robert Moore presided, and vocal solos were given by Charles Gatewood. Refreshments were served.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Douglas and Mrs. Officer spoke before a similar rally for colored voters in the Friends circle hall in Moline.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND
NEWS

OCT 20 1934

WAYNE COUNTY OFFICIAL TALKS AT NEGRO RALLY

A large and enthusiastic audience attended the Frederick Douglass Republican club rally in the court house auditorium Friday night and heard Cornelius R. Richardson, deputy prosecutor of Wayne county speak.

Mr. Richardson is recognized throughout the state as one of the outstanding race leaders and when he appeared on the stage he was greeted by a tremendous burst of applause. From his first few sentences his hearers realized why he exercises such powerful influence over his people. With his trained legal mind he handled the conditions which produced political disaffection in his race in a masterly fashion, punctuating his talk with many humorous anecdotes.

As one in the audience expressed it, "He hit and hit hard not only at the mis-guided masses but at the so-called intelligensia of his people who influenced by specious promises and tail-end candidates who are put up merely to be knocked down."

Many city and county candidates were present and responded with short talks when introduced. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed at the HofBrau following the address.

WICHITA, KANS.
BEACON

OCT 16 1934

CAPACITY CROWD HEARS SIMMONS

Far exceeding all expectations in attendance, the colored Republican rally addressed by Col. Roscoe Conklin Simmons Monday night overflowed St. Mark's M. E. Church and scores were turned away, unable to find seats or standing room.

Colonel Simmons, one of the outstanding orators of the colored race, left Wichita shortly after his address here, being escorted by a delegation of Atchison men to that city for an address there Tuesday evening. He will speak on the same program with Governor Alf Landon in Kansas City Wednesday and then will proceed to Pittsburgh, Pa. to appear with Senator Reed in a large political meeting there.

Early arrivals filled all the available seats in St. Mark's church. Additional chairs were obtained from other sections of the church and from neighboring homes. When these were exhausted the crowd filled all available standing room and late covers were forced to leave without hearing the noted Chicagoan.

State and county candidates were introduced by Capt. Sam W. Jones as were John H. Crawford, county chairman; Dr. P. M. Bell, chairman of the Republican colored congressional committee Tom Johnson, Lieut. W. A. Bettis, Dr. Greeder, T. W. Fines and other party leaders.

Officers of the colored Republican club who sponsored the meeting included Maurice Jones, president; Mrs. Mamie Moore, vice president; Mrs. Alice Curtis, secretary; Dr. W. H. Wilson, treasurer, and Shad Jones, chairman.

One of the features of the entertainment was the Burleigh Singers of North High who sang three spirituals.

COLUMBUS, O.
DISPATCH

OCT 28 1934

Negroes Support Brown's Candidacy

Republican Lauded For Ideas on Racial Problem.

"Reports from every corner of Ohio," John H. Rives, director of Negro Bureau of the Ohio Republican Campaign committee, asserted Saturday, "show an almost unanimous determination of Negro voters to support Clarence J. Brown for governor.

"Negroes have found Mr. Brown all right on the race questions," said Rives. "He has proven himself a friend to the Negro. The only colored stenographer ever employed in the Ohio statehouse worked in Mr. Brown's office. The statistician in the office of the secretary of state during the administration of Mr. Brown was Carl Jenkins, a Negro. Other Negroes were employed by Mr. Brown while secretary of state, including automobile inspectors, seven employes in his office and several in the motor vehicles division.

"Mr. Brown employs a Negro pressman in his printing plant and this man has been held on the pay roll all through the depression. When Mr. Brown was secretary of state, he employed in his own office more Negroes than now are employed in the Democratic state administration," Rives stated.

"The Democratic propaganda in reference to Blanchester," continued Rives, "has proven a boomerang to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. Mr. Brown will receive almost a solid Negro vote."

Tribune
TERRE HAUTE
INDIANA

AUG 2 1934

COLORED VOTERS' CLUB ENDORSES CUTHBERTSON

A few days ago in the list of names of republicans protesting against County Chairman Hugh Cuthbertson, appeared those of Rev. J. H. Johnson and P. W. Corley, who were listed as "representing the Colored Ministerial association, and member of the steering committee."

The Vigo County Colored Republican Sam Beecher-for-Mayor club Thursday issued a statement saying:

"The statement that this organization is opposed to the present county leadership is a mistake. It may be the opinion of individuals but not the organization of this club whch has fifteen hundred members and is the only colored republican organization in this county at present. We are with the county organization in its entirety. Signed Lloyd Cottee, president; Nellie Ligon, secretary."

Mr. Corley was quoted as saying at the protest meeting that during the term of Cuthbertson's chairmanship eleven democratic clubs have been formed among the negro voters, and that because of the manner in which the election boards were handled in colored precincts, that many negro voters had left the party.

REPUBLICAN BICKERINGS

Rumblings of discord within the ranks of upper bracket G. O. P. leaders continue to give cause for worry as to just what the sum total result of it all will be.

Added to this is Senator Borah's recent threat to bolt the party unless House Republicans support a "progressive" candidate for the speakership.

12-29-34

And it is significant to note that the latter is only one of other such demands which the Idaho Independent Republican has seen fit to unload at the doorsteps of rangling leaders for a G. O. P. organization

Indianapolis

Meanwhile, a call has been sent out to the Republicans to meet January 2 for the purpose of selecting their speakership nominee.

Indications are that there is still more bitter conflicts ahead for bickering Republicans everywhere, including our own Indianapolis.

And it can not be truthfully said that the party it totally unmindful of this unpleasant fact.

This being the case, it is incumbent upon all G. O. P. stalwarts in duty bound to the organization to look to their laurels if another ignominious defeat is not to be administered to the Republican party in 1936.

It is particularly essential that the party of Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt should stage a very definite comeback at the earliest possible time.

But such an accomplishment is hardly possible under present warring conditions in inner G. O. P. circles.

Republican leaders should know this and put a stop to their wrangling.

Political - 1934
Party Affiliation.

Republican.

TURMOIL REIGNS IN G.O.P. RANKS BECAUSE NEGRO RUNS IN RACE FOR CORPORATION COMMISSION

Black Dispatch 7-4-34

Oklahoma City Okla.

HARRIS SAYS COLORED CANDIDATE INJURES PINE'S GUBERNATORIAL RACE

Hughes Quits In Indignation; Anderson Says He's In The Race To Win

Frank A. Anderson, Okmulgee, president of Booker Washington college at Bookertee, Okla., in a telephone conversation with the Black Dispatch charged Wednesday that James A. Harris, Wagoner, formerly Republican national committeeman, approached him Monday and demanded that he withdraw from the race for corporation commissioner.

Says It Will Hurt Pine

Anderson said that Harris came in company with J. A. Roper, Negro, the first postmoster of Okmulgee, and that both persuaded him to get off the ticket. "It will hurt Senator Pine in his race for governor and you'll just have to get off," so Anderson says Harris said.

Will Stay In Race

"I told them that I was an American citizen and had just as much right to run for corporation commissioner as Senator Pine had to run for governor," declared Anderson. "You can just tell the people of the state that I'm in the race to win and will not get off for anyone, even though suggestions were made that I would be compensated," Anderson said. He said that Harris and Roper remained at his home from 5:30 in the afternoon until 11:30 that night. Anderson said the most humiliating part of the conversation came when he was told that his presence on the ticket was a disgrace.

Applyby Irate

According to Anderson, John D. Appleby, former secretary of the Republican State Central Committee came to his home last Monday and following Anderson's refusal to get off the ticket, is alleged to have said, "I'll cause you plenty of trouble." Appleby also is alleged to have declared that Anderson's presence on the ticket would endanger the chances of Senator Pine.

Hughes Quits In Huff

E. R. Hughes, Republican member of the corporation commission, quit the race in a great huff this week, following an ultimatum to the Republican State Central Committee last Saturday in which he said unless Anderson was gotten off the ticket he would not remain in the runoff with a Negro.

"I'm not going to run against a Negro," Hughes declared emphatically at the capitol.

Hughes would not elaborate on a conference with members of the central committee Saturday morning, but following the unsuccessful efforts of Jim Harris and John Appleby, quit the race.

Tabulations by the state election board revealed Frank A. Anderson, Negro school teacher from Okmulgee, held second position in a field of four Republican candidates for the commission. Hughes was in first place but with a vote insufficient to give him a majority.

Anderson said he would be in Oklahoma City Thursday morning and would come direct to the Black Dispatch office and pose for a picture.

ST. CHARLES, MO.
COSMOS MONITOR
JUL 4 1934

A state meeting of Negro Republicans was held on June 16th in Jefferson City, and was attended by a large number of enthusiastic leaders, who plainly see the interests of their people endangered by the activities and policies of the present Democrat national and state administrations. A state organization was perfected, and plans made for active and aggressive work in the coming campaign. J. C. Caston of St. Louis was elected president; R. S. Cobb of Jefferson City vice president; Joe Harris of St Louis, secretary; and Duke Diggs of Jefferson City, treasurer.

"LILY WHITEISM" IN TENNESSEE.

"Lily Whiteism" appears to be dead in Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina and other states where, during the Hoover Administration, and apparently under White House sanction, strenuous efforts were made to oust true and tried Negroes from party leadership. In Tennessee, however, "Lily Whiteism" is to be an important issue among Republicans in 1934, with John E McCall, candidate for Governor, assuming command of the "Lily White" faction.

McCall ran for Governor on the Republican ticket in 1932. He was a "Lily White" then as now and the Negro voters properly remembered his obnoxious and unfriendly affiliations at the polls, voting for Governor McAlister in large numbers and making possible the Democratic nominee's election. Naturally, McCall does not think kindly of Bob Church and his large following and is conducting a campaign for nomination based on racial hatred which has incurred the hostility of all intelligent, self-respecting Negro voters

McCall is bitter because thousands of Negro voters refused to support him two years ago. Why he should expect a racial group to espouse his cause when he publicly assails them and denounces Negro leadership is one of the inconsistent characteristics so mystifying to those who think logically and straight. How he hopes to win without receiving a large proportion of the race vote this year is equally as puzzling.

There are many reasons why Bob Church has remained in the saddle as G. O. P. leader in Tennessee. He has never been a candidate for office, like McCall; he has spent more money in building and maintaining an organization in the State than any other Republican; he has taken obscure, loyal white men, and projected them into political positions of power and prestige; he has never preached Negro domination, but has always encouraged cordial relations and cooperation between colored and white Republicans.

One New York daily declares in headlines that Republican hopes rise in Tennessee because McCall has thrown his hat into the ring for the G O. P. nomination for Governor on "Lily White" platform. From all indications at present, McCall will suffer a more disastrous defeat if nominated than in 1932.

REPUBLICANS NAME EMMETT STEWART TO LEAD NEGROES BACK TO OLD STAMPING GROUNDS

Black Dispatch 9-1-34

SANGO, CHIEF LIEUTENANT OF MUSKOGEE LAWYER, IN DRIVE FOR NOVEMBER

State To Be Blanketed With Story of "New Deal" By New Dealers

Girding themselves for the November struggle, Republicans of the state named R. Emmett Steward, Muskogee, as chairman of the campaign among the Negro voters of the state in a Wednesday meeting in the Perrine Building, where the most elaborate offices ever maintained by the Republican organization have been established.

Sango To Assist

Stewart, a veteran Negro lawyer of the state, will be assisted by A. G. W. Sango, Tulsa, a former banker of Muskogee. Sango is now practicing law in the oil capital. Sango has been in the city for several days.

9-1-34

Many Speakers

According to Stewart, an avalanche of speakers will be sentout over Oklahoma preaching the gospel of the Republican party, and urging the election of W. B. Pine, republican candidate for governor.

Chairman Confident

"We are confident that we will win in November," said Stewart, in discussing his plans, 'and I have had assurances of support from all over Oklahoma. We think we will be able to explain an entirely "new deal" to the voters, and in a very convincing way. It will be interesting to know the line of campaign we will follow, but it will not be the mud-slinging kind. We shall rather present a constructive program in our new deal which we believe the voters and citizens will accept," he continued.

Some Surprises

Rumors that a number of surprises will immediately develop are afloat. It is said that the Republican organization plans to offer an unusual program to the Negro voters in order to off-set the many liberal programs suggested by democrats in the recent primary campaign.

May Have Trouble

One Negro republican who has always been staunch in his support of the G. O. P., declared Wednesday that something out of the ordinary would have to be done to offset the resentment of many Negro republicans, who have become enraged because of the attitude of the republican organization towards a Negro now on the ticket, and running for corporation commissioner.

Iowa Negro Republicans Pledge Support to Party in Fall Elections

TURNER PLEDGES

"FAIR DEAL"

J. G. Browne Re-elected Head

The Negro Republican Voters League of Iowa, met in a statewide convention Monday in the state Republican central committee headquarters with thirty-five delegates present representing every town of any importance to the Negro group. The meeting was called to order by chairman J. G. Browne and report was read by Harry E. Wilson, secretary. The following committees were appointed and reported: executive, credentials, time and resolution. Talks were made by Secretary George Lloyd of central committee, and Wallace, chairman of Polk County Central Committee.

The meeting adjourned to attend the East Des Moines Booster picnic at Union Park. Former Governor Dan W. Turner was the main speaker to an audience of 1,500 persons. He was introduced by Rep. C. C. Dowell. After pledging a "fair deal" to the Negroes of Iowa in a brief address, State Senator Beardsley of Clarke County and Mrs. Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction, followed with speeches. Several county candidate were present. Due to an attack of tonsilitis, the former governor was obliged to shorten his talk and his other speaking engagements for the week.

The following officers were re-elected: J. G. Browne, Des Moines, Chairman; Mrs. Mable Fletcher, Council Bluffs, co-chairman; Harry E. Wilson, Des Moines, secretary and J. O. Winston, Ottumwa, treasurer. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the colored G. O. P. and forwarded to the state central committee and the newspapers:

Report of Resolutions Committee

WHEREAS, we feel that the Democratic administration has not materially improved our economic and social condition, and

WHEREAS, we feel that the State of Iowa needs the Republican party to control the government of the State in order to relieve our present situation, and

WHEREAS, we feel that the Republican party has a more sympathetic understanding of the position and condition of the Negro,

BE IT RESOLVED; That the Negro Republican Voters League of Iowa squarely endorse the program, platform and policies of the Iowa State Republican organization and pledges its fullest support in its efforts for victory in the coming election.

That we pledge our support to the Republican State Ticket and to the various candidates from township trustee to governor.

That feeling that patronage is the proper reward for the work and struggle in attaining victory, we urge upon the State Central Committee and the elective officers in the State that the Negro voters be given more and better consideration in the matter of patronage and in sharing in the rewards of victory.

That this organization shall extend all of its energies from now until November 6th to the end that the "Grand Old Party" shall be victorious.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Secretary be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the Chairman of the State Central Committee and a copy to the press.

Rev. J. A. Alexander, Chairman,
1086 13th St., Des Moines, Iowa.
Mrs. A. A. Alexander, Secretary,
2901 5th Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.
Wallace Davis, Ottumwa, Iowa.
Rev. A. M. Smith, 1125 6th St., S.E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa . .
M. F. Fields, Waterloo, Iowa.
Resolutions Committee.

NEWTON, KANS.
EVE. KANSAN-REPUBLICAN
AUG 22 1934

Young Republican Colored Club Meets

The Young Republican Colored Club of Harvey county held a meeting Monday evening at the C. M. E. church, Floyd Taylor, Jr., presided.

The constitution of the club was read and after some discussion was referred over until the next meeting.

The group decided to conduct a registration drive to try to get all colored voters' names on the city books, and also a membership campaign for the club.

TERRE HAUTE
INDIANA
AUG 30 1934

COLORED REPUBLICANS MEET

The No. 2 Vigo County Colored Republican club of the Seventh ward will meet Thursday evening, Aug. 30, at the home of Mrs. Haskins, 2122 North Twenty-first street.

Bob Church Wins Again In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 7.—Robert Church, astute politician and for many years in control of the Republican organization in Shelby county, emerged victorious this week in a heated battle with John E. McCall young white attorney.

McCall's defeat was effected completely at least for another general election, when the Republicans decided not to call a new state executive committee into session until after the November 6th general election.

The young white attorney had tossed away his nomination for governor to pave the way for a fusion ticket in the fall, but the Church maneuver leaves the fusion ticket with no assurance of what would happen insofar as Republican votes in Shelby county are concerned.

Church, aligned with Congressman J. Will Taylor in the "Old Guard" Republican ranks, was among those missing when the Republicans, under leadership of ex-Governor Ben W. Hooper, went into alliance with the rebellious wing of the Democratic party under leadership of Lewis S. Pope.

No Chance for McCall

Neither Taylor nor Church has indicated that the fusionists are basking in the sunshine of their smile. In fact, Taylor has almost leaned to the other direction in comments thus far made upon the movement. Church has maintained his customary silence.

Major Shofner said tonight that "Republican leaders will gather here Saturday," but in an entirely unofficial capacity. Since the old state committee left the Church faction in power in Shelby county, McCall will have no chance to seat his committee until the new state executive body decides to meet.

Although numerous reports hit political circles as to what considerations entered into the McCall agreement to give up his nomination for governor in favor of the fusion ticket candidate, one given greatest credence was that he demanded control of the Shelby committee and received a promise to that effect, contingent upon the meeting of the new state committee.

BOB CHURCH TRICKS LILY WHITES AGAIN

Astute Memphis Politician Scores Another Victory Over Foes

MEMPHIS. —(ANP) —Bob Church, astute Republican leader, stuck his foot out last week and young John E. McCall, the noise-making leader of the lily whites, tripped over it again.

Like Little David of Biblical lore, Young John has vowed on all and sundry occasions that he will destroy the Goliath which is silent Bob Church.

In their fight to the finish this year, Church has scored three knockdowns to one for McCall.

At the Shelby county convention both factions of Republicans were represented and the McCall forces sought to take the main, but the Church group stood pat and McCall was knocked groggy.

Make Grand Rush

Later at the state convention, the McCall forces rushed Church and pushed him over when the mob of delegates voted to recognize the McCall delegation.

